Torture of Women.

It was a terrible torture that Mrs. Gertie McFarland, of King's Mountain, N. C., describes as follows: "I suffered dreadful periodical pain, and became so weak I was given up to die, when my husband got me Wine of Cardui. The first dose gave me relief, and with 3 bottles I am up doing my work. I cannot say enough in praise of Cardui." A wonderful remedy for women's ills. At druggists; $1.00. 47-1t

Three Prominent Citizens of Long Island Visit Mr. John Costa.

Three of the cleverest of gentlemen have been visiting Mr. John T. Coats for the past two weeks, and although they are now gone, they will always be referred to with the greatest pleasure.

D. K. Morrell, Jr., a wholesale merchant; Warren B. Ashmead, postmaster; and John R. Higgins, Architect, all of the city of Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., were the visitors.

On the deer hunt, which was a novelty as well as a pleasure, lucky Ashmead killed the deer, although Higgins, Morell and Costa were near enough to shoot. The fox chase, headed by Frank Winthrop and Glover Johnston, two old timers, not in age, but in experience, was closely contested by the others, including Trainer Jacobie. The snipe, also, were not forgotten, and in the quail hunts the limits was reached several times.

The two dinners at the Leon hotel, given by Mr. Frank C. Keene and Joe Hugh Reese, to the visitors and their friends here, were enjoyed to the fullest, and when the saddest of words, "good-bye" was said at the station last Monday, a pleasant chapter in the lives of the visitors and their friends was closed. But let it be known that another chapter will be added next season.

Many forms of nervousness, headaches, insomnia and cross eyes can be overcome without drugs or operation by the proper action to the eyes. Dr. Armstrong, Specialist of Jacksonville, can be seen at the Bloxham on first Monday in February (the 3rd). One day only. 49

Capt. J. H. Law, was called back to his St. Louis home, last week on account of the sickness of Mrs. Law. His son remained at the pleasant hunting lodge, Lake Hall, and our citizens hope Mrs. Law will soon be well enough to accompany Mr. Law back to Tallahassee for a season.

Orders for Spring and Summer Suits are now being taken by Burns & Co. Prices right and fit guaranteed. 48

College Notes.

The College for Wemn has been in a ferment all the week. "Exams" are on, and the girls are making much ado over them and crossing many imaginary bridges. Some of the students, too, have the additional work of preparing essays for the Student-help Fair Association prize competition, and the musical contingency is getting ready for next Sunday's Vesper service.

Friends of the College will be glad to know that the building material for the new dormitory are being fast collected, and necessary preliminary preparations for actual construction are being rapidly concluded. The present cottage-accomodation system has many disadvantages, and the girls will be glad to be comfortably housed under one roof.

Card of Thanks.

The firm of W. R. Wilson desires to thank their friends and the public generally, for the liberal patronage accorded them at the recent sale. The new firm, "P. W. Wilson, successor to W. R. Wilson," hopes to have a continuation of this patronage, and assures the people of Tallahassee that no effort will be spared to give them prompt and painstaking service. 49-1t

Spoiled Their Waltzing.

In her memoirs Mme. de Boigne gives some interesting glimpses of English social life. For instance, she writes:

"In 1816 no young English lady ventured to waltz. The Duke of Devonshire returned from a tour in Germany and observed one evening at a large ball that a woman was never seen to better advantage than when waltzing. I do not know whether he was anxious to play a trick, but he repeated this assertion several times. It was passed from mouth to mouth, and at the next ball all the young ladies were waltzing. The duke admired them greatly, said that it was delightful and gave proper animation to a ball. He then added carelessly that he, at any rate, had decided never to marry a lady who waltzed. It was to the Duchess of Richmond and at Carlton House that he saw fit to make this revelation. The poor duchess, the most clumsy of matchmaking mammas, nearly fell off her chair with horror. She repeated the statement to her neighbors, who passed it on, and consternation spread from seat to seat. The young ladies continued to waltz with clear consciences. The old ladies were furious, but the unfortunate dance was concluded. Before the end of the evening the good Duchess of Richmond was able to announce that her daughters felt an objection to waltzing which no persuasion of hers could ever overcome. Some few girls of more independence continued to waltz, but the majority gave it up."

After the Honeymoon.

"Pa," inquired a small boy on the Oakland boat, "what's a simoon?"

"Huh!" grunted the man without looking from his paper. "Simoon's sand storm on the dessert, dreaded by travelers."

"And, pa, what's a honeymoon?"

"Honeymoon's rice storm on a train, enjoyed by travelers."

"Then a honeymoon's something like a simoon, ain't it, pa?"

"Guess so. Keep quiet. Don't ask so many fool questions. Look at the sea gulls."

"But ain't they a good deal alike, pa—simoons and honeymoons?"

"Ugh, huh, both full of hot air! Most honeymoons become simoons in a few years. When the honey's gone the sigh's left."

"Pa, were you ever on a honeymoon?"

"Percy, if you don't stop pestering me with questions I'll never bring you over to the city again."

"Well, ma said she had a honeymoon, and it was like a dream, and all the rest of it's been a nightmare."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Life Saving and Law.

The Roumanians are as curious in some things as the Chinese. A girl who fell into the river and was swept down by the current finally seized a bush on the bank and drew herself to shore. The owner of the land on which the bush grew immediately claimed a reward of 4 shillings because his bush was there and had saved her. Her father refused to pay, and there was a lawsuit. What the law has to decide is whether drowning people can make use of bushes on the bank without paying for the same or whether the assistance of the said bush is worth a certain sum of money.

In China if a person falls into the water no one must help him out, but at the same time a spectator can be imprisoned for not advising the victim to stay on dry land.

The Navel Orange.

For a product of nature a California navel orange as it graces the breakfast table or the push cart is about the most artificial thing in the world. It is also a very striking illustration of the fact that while beauty may be only skin deep it counts for a whole lot. To begin with, the navel orange of California is an exotic, reaching its present habitat after devious wandering. And, be it ever so sweet tasting, if its skin has had its beauty marred it scarcely ever gets farther than the orchard where it grew. Not only that, but even the most comely ones before they are boxed and shipped are brushed by machinery and polished and otherwise fussed with to give them a beauty which mere nature never would have provided.—William R. Stewart in Technical World.

Ignorance Not Bliss.

"There is a certain gnawing uncertainty about calling on people who speak a different language from their servants," remarked the woman who does. "You can never tell whether they are saying, 'Make another cup of tea, Katie; I have company,' or 'She always drops in about tea time, confound her! Pour some more hot water in the pot.'"—New York Press.

Saw For Himself.

A man carrying a looking glass said to a newsboy, "Come here and look into this glass and you will see a donkey."

"How did you find that out?" retorted the boy.—London Express.

A Word About Prescriptions.

We are compounding more and more each week. Many people have found that here they can always get just what the prescription calls for, just at the time we promise, and that the price is reasonable. All druggists use pure drugs, but we go further, and use pure drugs of the best quality. Even the very cheapest drugs may be the purest of their kind—we don't use that kind. Try us.
