QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Contribute! Like us at facebook.com/citruscountychronicle and respond to our Question of the Week.

Hurricane season has begun — how do you prepare for it each year? Have we been lulled into a false sense of security that ... we're "safe"?

Jessica Roman
With HAARP, none of us are safe. (Editor's note: HAARP is the High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program with the goal of learning about the physical and electrical properties of the Earth's ionosphere that can affect military and civilian communication and navigation systems.)

Mary Jo O. Tevlin
I take the HURRICANE GUIDE insert from the paper and follow what is needed and fill a Rubbermaid tub with items and mark the top HURRICANE SUPPLIES. Never take for granted that we will be passed over. We have shutters for the back and plywood and brackets for the front and side windows should they be needed. Stocking up on water and non-perishable foods and making a plan on where to go in case of evacuation is essential. Stay safe and follow the advice of the authorities!

Diane Fuller
Everything is ready except for sending out the invites for the party! Just kidding. Be safe and ready.

POLL

ONLINE POLL:
Your choice?
Where do you stand on the War on Terror?
A. We should be deploying more forces to Afghanistan and elsewhere in the region to combat terrorism.
B. Bring all the troops home.
C. With allied forces, we need to keep a troop presence overseas but put an increased emphasis on domestic terrorism.

Monday CONVERSATION

'More responsibility'

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

Michael Lusk says he is up to the management challenge

A.B. SIDIBE
Staff writer

When Michael Lusk became manager of the Crystal River National Wildlife Refuge four years ago, little did he know a pair of issues would pervade his initial tenure — Three Sisters Springs and new federal rules of conduct in King's Bay, which in turn was designated a manatee protection refuge in 2012 as part of a rules overhaul.

While the rules issue has been settled, Three Sisters Springs continues to tug at Lusk and the other stakeholders responsible for its development.

Lusk said his office has 10 employees and the office is responsible for five refuges between here and Egmont Key, at the mouth of Tampa Bay.

Only two of those employees are law enforcement officers.

"In a place like Egmont Key, it is not unusual during the summer to have up to 600 boats on a weekend. And don't forget, we have 32,000 acres of marshland to deal with in Chassahowitzka. So, when people say, 'why don't we bring more resources to King's Bay,' they don't know we have all these other places we have to cope with," Lusk said.

He said funding has been curtailed because of the federal sequester, and a place like the waterway in front of Three Sisters Springs has become a safety nightmare of overcrowding and potential disaster — especially during the winter tourist season — and some residents are agitating for access to the property.

Lusk has slated a public meeting July 11 to discuss the overcrowding issues in the canals next to Three Sisters Springs and inside the property. He said his agency has purview over what happens inside the boundaries of the property, and the city of Crystal River's Waterfronts Advisory Board has taken over the task of coming up with a solution to the clogged navigable canals fronting Three Sisters Springs.

"However, I don't know if we will be able to come up with a concrete plan before the beginning of 2013 winter season. It's like the Wild West, we are going

If a hurricane or tornado hit, he'd pack his truck with supplies and go.

As a Citrus County Sheriff's Office chaplain and honorary deputy, he has offered comfort and solace to crime victims and law enforcement alike.

He loved going to rock concerts, standing in the parking lot, never judging, but always wanting to tell teens that God loved them.

His heart has always been for young people, especially the ones most people didn't want to deal with. Together with his wife JoAnn, he has loved and opened his home to outcasts, having taken in

BOCC to adopt $60 fee for fire service

CHRIS VAN ORMER
Staff writer

INVERNESS — The new $60 per residential unit fee to fund the fire service will be taken through the next step at Tuesday's meeting of the Citrus County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC).

The board will hear the resolution establishing the fire service municipal service benefit unit (MSBU) from County Attorney Richard Wesch, who will ask the board to adopt and authorize the resolution to provide the services, facilities and programs in the unincorporated areas of the county and the city of Inverness. The resolution, which is available on the county's website, will establish the cost and parcel apportionments and rate assessments for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

Staff will be directed to prepare an assessment roll and set a public hearing at 2:30 p.m. July 23.

Regardless of property size, the proposed fee of $60 would apply to all. According to the ordinance: "Neither the size nor the value of the residential property determines the scope of the required fire protection response. The potential demand for fire protection services is driven by the existence of a dwelling unit and the anticipated average occupant population."

Non-residential property is to be assessed by actual square footage "because the demand for fire protection service, fire flow, fire fighters, quantity and size of apparatus and other special fire fighting equipment is determined and measured by the square footage of structures and improvements within benefited parcels."

Non-residential property would be assessed at $0.06 per square foot for commercial space, $0.01 per square foot for industrial or warehouse space and $0.09 per square foot for institutional space.

Agricultural or vacant land would be assessed at $3.10 per parcel of land that is less than or equal to 160 acres and $0.02 per acre beyond 160 acres.

Also on the agenda:

- At 2 p.m., the board will conduct a public hearing regarding the ordinance for the collection of service assessments.
- At 2:30 p.m., the board

ERYN WORTHINGTON
Staff writer

Coach, Neiman Marcus, Dooney & Bourke and many more were honored guests Saturday at an elite ladies luncheon.

Designer purses were auctioned to women attending the inaugural United Way Power of the Purse event at Black Diamond Ranch.

The themed affair is a national United Way Women's Leadership Council signature campaign to empower women and harness their energy. Power of the Purse was the kickoff event for the county's United Way Women's Leadership Council, which will embrace social philanthropy while assisting women and children within Citrus County.

"Since Citrus County does not have a Women's Leadership Council, we decided to focus and create one," United Way board member Ellen Zane said. "Power of the Purse is a United Way signature event. Many of the larger United Way organizations have a Women's Leadership Council. Every year they do the Power of the Purse event."

She said the occasion was more than social time.

"This leadership group will be an organization that typically raises money under the guidelines of United Way," Zane said. "But, we will be raising money to address women and children's' needs in the community."

The luncheon featured live and silent auctions as well as a raffle.

More than 100 women attended. Forty-five purses were available in the silent auction, eight in the live auction and two were raffled. Purses and bags were paired with trinkets and tickets to events and places.

"This initiative reflects the reality that women in our community have a strong impact on economic and quality-of-life issues," United Way CEO Amy Meek said.

Donors to the event were: Amy Mangan, Duke Energy; Amy Meek; Belk; Connors Gifts; Cotton Club; Daisy Bazo; Donna Pearcy; Dr. Marion Chirayath; Ellen Zane; Homosassa Wildlife State Park; Glenda Faye Photography; Gwen Galpin; Hailey Barber; Insight Credit Union; Jeanne McIntosh; Jamie Lemar; Jill Ludowese; Key Thrift Store; Lisa Esteves; Lynn Williams, Lynn's Just Gotta Have It; Marie Straight; Mary Ann Virgillio; Melissa Benefield, Abitare; Off the Cuff & On the Fly; Publix; Susan Gill; Susan Grant; Tally Ho Travel; teachers at Citrus Springs Elementary; Tobey Phillips; Walmart; Zana Ennis; and the Citrus County Chronicle.

Janis Stacey places a bid on a purse at the silent auction for the United Way Power of the Purse auction at Black Diamond Country Club.

Parents start petition for tolerance training

ST. PETERSBURG — The parents of a Tampa Bay student have started an online petition asking for improved tolerance training after their son was castigated for wearing makeup on the last day of school.

The Tampa Bay Times reported Chris Martin decided to wear black eyeliner, eye shadow and lipstick on the last day of eighth grade at Meadowlawn Middle School in St. Petersburg.

Administrators told the 14-year-old boy he was violating the dress code.

The parents started a petition on moveon.org to improve tolerance training for teachers and administrators.

Restaurant evacuated after possible sinkhole

SEFFNER — A Bob Evans restaurant was evacuated Sunday after employees discovered cracks that could be evidence of a sinkhole in the same town where a man disappeared in February after a sinkhole opened beneath his home.

Workers spotted the cracks on the restaurant's outside walls as they arrived at about 6 a.m., Hillsborough County Fire and Rescue spokeswoman Nacole Revette said.

County engineers were working throughout the afternoon to determine the cause of the cracks.

HOW YOUR LAWMAKERS VOTED

Key votes for the week ending June 7 by Voterama in Congress

■ Homeland Security budget: Voting 245 for and 182 against, the House passed a bill to appropriate $45 billion for the Department of Homeland Security in fiscal 2014. A yes vote was to pass a bill that raises spending for border and immigration enforcement while cutting the transportation-security budget. (HR 2217). Rich Nugent, yes.

Rich Nugent

■ The Dream Act: Voting 224 for and 201 against, the House approved a bill to block an administration policy that achieves goals of the Dream Act, which is stalled in Congress. The policy bars deportation of those under 31 who entered the U.S. illegally as children, have clean records and have met certain educational or military criteria. (HR 2217) Rich Nugent, yes.

■ Flood-Insurance Premiums: Voting 281 for and 146 against, the House passed a bill to amend HR 2217 (above) to delay for one year higher National Flood Insurance premiums for many of America's most flood-prone properties. A yes vote was to blunt a key, market-based reform that Congress added to the program last year. Rich Nugent, no.

■ Guantanamo Bay Detainees: Voting 170 for and 254 against, the House refused to clear the way for closing the U.S. military prison at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The underlying bill (HR 2216) effectively bars the transfer of detainees from Guantanamo to maximum-security military or civilian U.S. prisons. A yes vote was to strip the bill of that prohibition. Rich Nugent, no.

Marco Rubio

■ Veterans Claims Backlog: Voting 198 for and 227 against, the House defeated a Democratic bid to add $9.2 billion to HR 2216 for hiring staff to help reduce the backlog of 900,000 veterans' disability claims. A yes vote was to add the funds over GOP arguments the bill already funds 21,000 claims processors. Rich Nugent, no.

■ Democratic Student-Loan Plan: Voting 51 for and 46 against, the Senate failed to reach a supermajority for passing a Democratic bill to extend for two years the 3.4 percent interest rate on newly issued Stafford student loans. That rate will double July 1 unless Congress intervenes. A yes vote supported S 953. Marco Rubio, no, Bill Nelson, yes.

Bill Nelson

■ GOP Loan Plan: Voting 40 for and 57 against, Senators rejected a GOP bill to avert a doubling of interest rates on Stafford student loans July 1. A yes vote backed a bill (S 1003) setting the rate at the 10-year Treasury-note rate (now just above 2 percent) plus 3 percentage points for the duration of the loan. Marco Rubio, yes, Bill Nelson, no.

■ Key votes ahead: In the week of June 10, the Senate will complete work on a five-year farm bill and take up immigration reform, while the House will debate the fiscal 2014 military budget.

Today's HOROSCOPES

Birthday — Prepare for some strong and serious realizations in the year ahead. If you take things in stride, your "coming of age" will do wonders for your self-esteem.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) — Should you agree to participate in a friend's endeavor, make sure it has strong potential for success. Otherwise, your hard work could be for naught.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) — A friend's innovative idea might have every chance of success. But you'll need to be careful not to use tactics that could hurt your reputation.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Instead of figuring out a new method to get around some obstacles, try the old way. Sticking with what works should be your strategy.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Although you believe it to be a seller's market, you should still conduct your business with care. You could be more vulnerable than you realize.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — As long as you don't allow your emotions to overrule your logic, you could fare very well. Make sure you view all new developments from a realistic perspective.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Be sure to keep your mind on the task at hand in your professional involvements, especially if you have to contend with some unusual distractions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — There are some people within your social circle who could help you achieve an important objective.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Guard against an inclination to try charting a different course from your usual route. There is a strong chance that any variation will work against you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — A clever friend might be able to help you resolve a complicated matter. However, be careful about blindly accepting just any solution.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) — It's OK to feel you can't lose, as long as you study matters and don't carry things to the extreme.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Once you make a commitment, you will be expected to keep it. If you back out, others will lose respect for you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Don't betray the trust of someone who expects you to abide by your word. If for some reason you find it necessary to do so, you'd better have a darn good excuse.

Grant Hill supports wife at concert

NEW YORK — A week after he retired from the NBA, Grant Hill celebrated with his wife as she performed for a feverish crowd in New York City on Saturday night.

Hill and New York Knicks' Amar'e Stoudemire watched from the VIP section of the Highline Ballroom as Tamia sang R&B tunes for a few hundred people.

Hill last played for the Los Angeles Clippers. The 40-year-old also played for Detroit, Orlando and Phoenix in his 19-season career.

Tamia gave Hill a shout-out before singing the song "Still" saying, "We're celebrating almost 15 years of marriage."

Her fifth album, "Beautiful Surprise," was nominated for two Grammy Awards this year. She performed with ease Saturday, singing R&B jams like "Stranger In My House," "Imagination," "So Into You" and "Officially Missing You."

Olympic champion alleges racism at bar

PARIS — The Buddha Bar has fired a waitress for improper behavior toward Olympic champion judoka Teddy Riner, who lashed out about alleged racism at the upscale Paris bar-restaurant.

On Facebook, the 24-year-old London Games gold medalist described how he had momentarily left his table one evening to get a better look at a Brazilian-themed show, and a waitress asked for his credit card and grabbed his arm "firmly."

Riner suggested other patrons didn't receive similar treatment because they were white, writing: "Never go to Buddha-bar if you're BLACK!!!!"

Buddha Bar spokesman Laurent Guyot denied any racist motive. He said Sunday the waitress didn't recognize Riner and was fired for having grabbed his arm inappropriately.

Associated Press

The suspense thriller "The Purge" topped the weekend box office with a shocking $36.4 million that doubled industry expectations, according to studio estimates Sunday. The film's strong opening performance minted another box-office hit for "Paranormal Activity" producer Jason Blum. Like that horror franchise, "The Purge" was made for relative peanuts — just $3 million — making it an extremely lucrative release for Universal. The studio had expected it to open in the high teens.

Bolshoi won't renew star's contract

MOSCOW — The Bolshoi Theater won't renew the contract of Nikolai Tsiskaridze, a veteran principal dancer and teacher who for years has been in open conflict with managers at the celebrated Russian theater.

The dispute intensified after the Bolshoi ballet's artistic director was attacked in January by a man who threw acid in his face.

Bolshoi managers accused Tsiskaridze of inciting tensions within the theater that led to the attack, while Tsiskaridze portrayed the attack as the result of corruption and unfair treatment of dancers.

Bolshoi spokeswoman Katerina Novikova said Sunday that Tsiskaridze was told his contract won't be renewed when it expires at the end of June.

Penn charity helps Haiti race winners

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Haiti has held a rare half-marathon with the participation of Hollywood actor Sean Penn's charity, which has set aside spots to send the top five finishers to the ING New York City Marathon on Nov. 3.

Three men and two women will receive support from Penn's J/P Haitian Relief Organization, pending approval of the results from the Haitian Amateur Athletics Federation.

The decision to sponsor the runners stems in part from an Associated Press story that featured a Haitian distance runner who overcame obstacles running through Port-au-Prince three years after the 2010 earthquake.

Today in HISTORY

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 10, 1963, President John F. Kennedy signed into law the Equal Pay Act of 1963, aimed at eliminating wage disparities based on gender. The same day, Kennedy delivered a commencement address at American University in Washington, D.C., in which he declared, "If we cannot end now our differences, at least we can make the world safe for diversity."

On this date:

In 1692, the first official execution resulting from the Salem witch trials in Massachusetts took place as Bridget Bishop was hanged.

In 1935, Alcoholics Anonymous was founded in Akron, Ohio by Dr. Robert Holbrook Smith and William Griffith Wilson.

In 1940, Italy declared war on France and Britain; Canada declared war on Italy.

Ten years ago: Israeli helicopters fired missiles at a car carrying Abdel Aziz Rantisi, a senior Hamas leader, wounding him and killing two others. (Israel succeeded in killing Rantisi in April 2004.)

Five years ago: A Sudanese jetliner skidded off a runway and crashed into airport lights after landing in Khartoum, killing 30 of the 214 people on board.

One year ago: Parts of northern Colorado and southern New Mexico battled wildfires that were spreading rapidly through mountainous forest land, forcing hundreds of evacuations.

Today's Birthdays: Britain's Prince Philip is 92. Columnist Nat Hentoff is 88. Attorney F. Lee Bailey is 80. Rock musician Kim Deal is 52. Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal is 42. Actress Leelee Sobieski is 31.

Thought for Today: "I am firm. You are obstinate. He is a pig-headed fool." — Katharine Whitehorn, British newspaper columnist.

from no rules to trying to come up with rules that will make sense and try to make many people happy."

Lusk has a master's degree in wildlife biology and has been with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for 17 years and has worked in places including Arizona; Washington, D.C.; and Hawaii, but contends this is the most challenging place he has ever worked.

"In Arizona, I worked at a refuge right on the border and we had a lot of challenges there with illegal immigrants, but I have never worked in a place as challenging as here."

CHRONICLE: Michael, when did you get to Crystal River and what did you do before coming here?

LUSK: I started work here in the summer of 2009. So, this summer I will have been here four years.

I have been in a variety of stations before coming here. I was in our national office (Washington, D.C.), where I was invasive species coordinator for our entire nationwide refuge system. So that gave me an overview about how the refuge system works at a national level and I think that helped me to come here — I was able to understand how and what we do locally fits into the bigger picture.

CHRONICLE: As soon as you got here, things changed pretty quickly for you?

LUSK: Yeah, basically what happened was I got here right in the middle of them acquiring Three Sisters Springs (the city of Crystal River, Southwest Florida Water Management District and Florida Communities Trust purchased the property, but U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service manages the property). So within a year of getting here, we took over management of Three Sisters and that's also when Ecological Services out of Jacksonville decided to change the speed zones in the bay (King's Bay). So, (laugh) both of those came together at the same time and have been talked about for a long time. So, about a year after taking over management of Three Sisters, the speed zones were changed.

Both of those were game-changers for how this refuge was operated. This refuge is completely different from what it was four years ago — a lot more responsibility.

CHRONICLE: What would you say was the biggest issue you had to confront right off and what continues to be an issue that keeps you up at night?

LUSK: Well, without doubt it is Three Sisters Springs — without a doubt. The speed zones in the bay are already set and they are done. They are not going to be changed anymore. I realize there is lingering resentment about that, but there is nothing I can do about that anyway. But Three Sisters Springs is only in the development stage and without a doubt that is the issue and people are very emotional about Three Sisters Springs.

CHRONICLE: Can you go more into that — people have been asking and agitating of late to have it open to the public, or at least to have access to it?

LUSK: Yeah, OK, when it comes to Three Sisters, there are two different issues. There is the issue of the opening of the land portion of it and getting more people onto it and there is controlling the water access to it. So it is quite an interesting contrast. The water has too many people on it in the winter and the land now isn't open enough. So, what we are trying to do is trying to deal with that double-headed hydra, if you will, at the same time. Opening up the land while controlling what is going on in the water. And, we are trying to do it both at the same time and that is very, very difficult.

And what makes this whole thing really, really difficult is the lease agreement we have with the city and SWFWMD. As you know, 70 percent is owned by the city and 30 percent by SWFWMD. The lease agreement said any changes we make to the management plan or about access to the property, we have to get written permission from the city council. I don't know of any national wildlife refuge in the whole country that has an agreement like that, where you had to get written permission from the city council. That's completely different than anything else.

CHRONICLE: So does that make your job more difficult?

LUSK: Let's say it makes it more challenging, because it adds a layer of more approval. Now, we all have to do public input and public process, that's normal, but this idea of the city council having to do their own public input and then they have to vote on it and approve it — that adds a whole layer of complexity that I have not found in other federal lands ... I don't think the city and the feds knew how challenging it was going to be when they came up with the lease agreement, but it was put in there as a safeguard because the city feared the federal government will come in and shut everything down. That's why it's in there.

CHRONICLE: Going back to the speed zones issue, how much residual resentment and fear is out there, especially about the possibility that the feds will come back and establish new speed zones for Crystal River and all the way to the Gulf of Mexico?

LUSK: The whole thing about the speed zones is over and done. I have heard absolutely no more talk about changing anything else in King's Bay. The service feels like what's been done is adequate and there have been no more discussions about making any more changes. Having said that, I think there will be lingering questions about this issue for years to come.

Death ELSEWHERE

Iain Banks, 59

AUTHOR

LONDON — Iain Banks, a Scottish writer known for his general and science fiction, has died. He was 59.

Iain Banks

Banks' publisher said Sunday the author died two months after announcing that he was diagnosed with late-stage gall bladder cancer.

Banks published his first novel "The Wasp Factory" in 1984. His first science fiction novel, "Consider Phlebas," was published in 1987.

In 2008, he was named one of the 50 greatest British writers since 1945 in a list compiled by The Times of London.

No further details were available Sunday.

Save Money on Bundled Cable

Special Correspondent

Many Florida seniors now bundle services to save money. The promotional rates are designed to get you hooked. Then once you are, the rates go up to "normal" which are often very high. Consider this a reminder to always do the math and not assume something is cheaper simply because it is bundled on one bill.

Your cable company is betting against you

" They bring you in at a low price for all three services and then raise the rate on everything and assume you wont change" While this may seem almost unbelievable it is the truth. Bundling was designed to surgically remove as much money from consumers over the long haul.

You can start saving as much as 40 percent on your current bundled plan. With ala Carte, bundle prices you get the maximum discount on each service regardless of how many services you have. It is an absolute no brainier. You would never pay $7.00 a gallon for gas if you could fill up across the street for $3.00 so why pay more for your TV/PHONE and Internet.

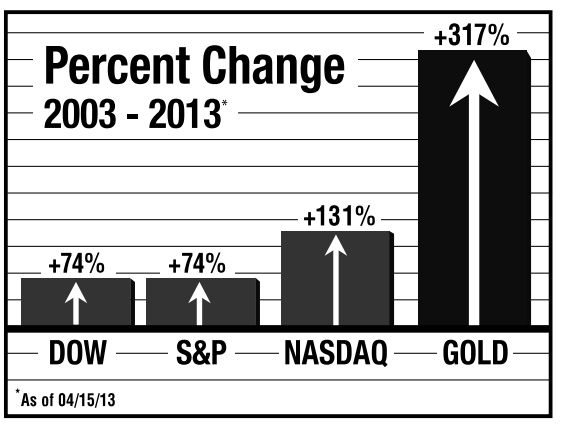
$50,000 IN GOLD COULD BE WORTH $170,000

U.S. GOVT GOLD COIN SPECIAL VAULT RELEASE

The U.S. Money Reserve Main Vault Facility today announces what could be the final release of U.S. government-issued gold coins previously held in the West Point Depository/U.S. Mint. For the first time in recent history, U.S. citizens can buy these 2013 government-issued $5 gold coins at an incredible at-cost price of only $159.00 each. An amazing price because these 2013 U.S. government-issued gold coins are completely free of dealer markup. That's correct—our cost. Gold, which is currently around $1,400 per ounce, is predicted by experts to have the explosive upside potential of reaching up to $5,000 per ounce in the future. Please be advised: Our U.S. government gold inventory will be priced at $159.00 per coin while supplies last or for up to 30 days. Call now to avoid disappointment! Orders that are not immediately received or reserved with the order center could be subject to cancellation and your checks returned uncashed. Good luck. We hope that everyone will have a chance to purchase this special U.S. government gold at this price because it could be going to $5,000 per ounce. Order immediately before our vault sells out completely! Call Toll-Free 1-800-919-1425 today.

AUTHORIZED BY U.S. CONGRESS

By Executive Order of Congress Public Law 99-185, Americans can now buy new government-issued gold. Congressionally authorized United States gold coins provide American citizens with a way to add physical gold to their financial portfolios. Gold American Eagles are made from solid gold mined here in America, struck at the U.S. Mint at West Point and produced with an official U.S. dollar denomination... making them legal tender United States gold coins.



SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS CAN BE MADE FOR GOLD ORDERS OVER $50,000

- Many experts are predicting gold to skyrocket past $5,000 per ounce in the future.
- Gold has outperformed the Nasdaq, Dow and S&P 500 over the past 10 years.
- In our opinion, smart individuals are moving up to 30% of their assets into U.S. government gold coins. American citizens may never again have the chance to buy gold at this price. This could be a once in a lifetime opportunity.
- Now could be the best time to take your money out of the bank and transfer it into U.S. government gold coins.
- With the national debt at $16 trillion and rising, gold may have an upside potential not seen since the 1980s.
- Our U.S. government gold inventory will be priced at $159.00 per coin while supplies last or for up to 30 days. Call now before these U.S. gold coins sell out.

GOLD MAY OUTPERFORM MONEY IN THE BANK

If you had $50,000 in the bank and you transferred it into gold at today's prices, your money could potentially grow to more than three times its current value—$170,000. On the other hand, if you leave that same $50,000 in the bank for 10 years, chances are, it's only going to be worth the same $50,000. Unfortunate... but true. When you convert money to gold, you haven't spent your money but have transferred its value from a declining paper currency to a precious metal that is rising in both market and numismatic value. This is how the genius of owning gold may protect your money in today's very volatile market. Thousands of individuals have lost their entire fortunes overnight. Don't let it happen to you. The gold market is currently very explosive, with predictions of its price rising to as high as $5,000 per ounce in the future. In our opinion, smart individuals are currently moving up to 30% of their assets into gold.

SHAMEFUL INACTION

State lawmakers could spoil Medicare plans

It's much easier to critique lawmakers than it is to be one. But sometimes, when they so clearly place ideology above the common good, it's impossible not to roundly condemn lawmakers' actions.

A case in point — playing out not just in Florida, but all around the nation — is the expansion of Medicaid for low-income, uninsured adults.

THE ISSUE:
When ideology rules, people lose.

OUR OPINION:

The federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) has been phasing in since becoming law in 2010, its goal to provide affordable health coverage options to everyone. While certain segments of the ACA must be implemented everywhere, one part of it — expansion of Medicaid to uninsured adults earning up to 133 percent of poverty — is optional for states. The increased costs to states that adopt it would be covered 100 percent by the federal government for the first three years, then reduced over the following years to 90 percent.

State legislatures all over the country have been addressing this expansion. Earlier this year, Gov. Rick Scott came out in favor of adopting it for Florida, a surprising about-face since he campaigned for office opposing the ACA. However, his fellow Republicans in the state legislature didn't go along — the Senate wanted to take the $50 billion in federal money but craft its own plan, and the House just said "no."

Thus, we still have nearly one million uninsured residents who can't afford health care. There's been talk of the Governor calling a special session to address this issue, but it hasn't happened yet.

This is a new breed of political gridlock. Instead of simple partisan politics, nationwide this is shaping up to be a major scrap among Republicans. Many of them, following the 2012 U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the ACA, have taken a practical view and found ways to support the health legislation, which includes health insurance exchanges that will open this October as well as the optional Medicaid expansion.

Others still stand on their avowed principles of less government being better, and their contention that people should find their own health insurance instead of relying on government-backed programs. Just to put this in perspective: Some of the same folks who turned down the Medicaid expansion in Florida, and also failed to come up with a better program, pay less each month for their health insurance than you might pay for dinner at a restaurant.

This is shameful. When ideology rules, people lose. We can't allow this to continue.

Take Obama at his word?

Nat Hentoff
OTHER VOICES

In a somersault of a speech, President Barack Obama, sounding like he did when he first ran for the Oval Office, recently declared that "a free press is also essential for our democracy. That's who we are" ("Obama, in Nod to Press, Orders Review of Inquiries," The New York Times, May 24).

He subsequently ordered a review of his Justice Department's subpoena of the phone records of Associated Press reporters and editors during an investigation of national security leaks. This, of course, affects any of us who care about a free press.

"I am troubled by the possibility that leak investigations may chill the investigative journalism that holds government accountable," the president orated.

It seems there are at least two Obamas — one who is wary of press disclosures of any leaks from the White House, and another who supports freedom of the press.

Even those Americans who still trust the president must have been jarred by his choice of who would conduct this review: Attorney General Eric Holder, who oversaw the Justice Department's undermining of press freedom.

The New York Post's Michael A. Walsh reminds us of what my First Amendment hero, Justice Hugo Black, once said: "Only a free and unrestrained press can effectively expose deception in government" ("The 'Criminal' Press," Walsh, New York Post, May 23).

Even more jarring to continuing admirers of Obama, as well as his rising number of unbelievers, were the ground rules laid out for those representatives of major news outlets who were invited to privately discuss the proceedings with the attorney general.

Dig this: The meetings, concerning the administration's government violations of the First Amendment, were to be "off the record."

In other words, you citizens are not entitled to know what was said. How could a journalist, a member of what constitutionalists used to call "The Fourth Estate," attend such a gathering, only to be utterly silenced?

Refusing to attend the meetings out of self-respect were the AP (of course), CBS News, Fox News, CNN, The New York Times and the New York Post.

So what are some of the news organizations that went, thereby agreeing to classify their reactions in accordance with the very government they were investigating?

The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal and ABC News, which, in an ironic bow to the First Amendment, "would press for the meeting to be held on the record" ("Fox News, other media outlets refuse off-record meeting with Holder," foxnews.com, May 31).

But what if Attorney General Holder threw that demand back in ABC News' face? Would its journalists still agree to gag their First Amendment rights at the investigation?

What all of this comes down to, as it may affect future administrations as well as generations of Americans, has been precisely underlined by Glenn Greenwald, an incisive journalist who would have given James Madison hope for the First Amendment's future.

Writing about how "media outlets and journalists have finally awakened to the serious threat posed by the Obama administration to press freedoms, whistle blowing and transparency," the question now, Greenwald demands, is:

"What, if anything, will they (journalists) do to defend the press freedoms they claim to value? ... Thwarting government attacks like these ... requires a real adversary posture, renouncing their subservience to government interests and fear of alienating official sources.

"It remains to be seen whether any of that will happen" ("Will journalists take any steps to defend against attacks on press freedom?" Greenwald, guardian.co.uk, May 29).

As Ann Compton, the ABC News White House correspondent, explained: "White House briefings are not advocacy sessions," later adding that the "strongest voices in journalism for protecting press freedoms remain the collective Washington bureau chiefs" and "independent reporters' organizations, which do lobby for such issues as shield laws (protections for journalists who refuse to identify confidential sources without firm due process before a court of law)."

The Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, whose Steering Committee I belong to, works to do just that, representing 51 media organizations in this crisis. But the federal shield law compromise it supports still provides openings for any administration to do what Obama and Holder have triumphantly done in controlling the press.

We need a shield law with teeth!

Reporters and editors also must organize to use the First Amendment for what the Framers intended: to prevent the government from protecting itself at the expense of keeping We The People ignorant and powerless. We must make sure candidates for every office agree to protect and represent the right that constitutes the very essence of who we are as Americans: freedom of speech.

Nat Hentoff is a nationally renowned authority on the First Amendment and the Bill of Rights. He is a member of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, and the Cato Institute, where he is a senior fellow.

LETTERS to the Editor

Disputes death report

I lost my daughter four months ago and I was wondering how do you go about getting an autopsy report reread? I'm not happy with it. I don't understand it. The hospital records don't match up with the autopsy report. So how do you go about it? Where would I call? Anybody (who) answers, I'd really appreciate it.

Traffic relief?

SOUND OFF
CALL 563-0579

In Tuesday's Sound Off (May 28), the writer thinks it's stupid not to four lane (County Road) 491 all the way to (County Road) 486. Have they forgotten that the commissioners originally spent over $2 million to buy Ottawa Road to lessen the traffic on that section of (C.R.) 491? When you have the time, I would suggest you go over to Ottawa and watch the heavy traffic which now uses that stretch — at least 75 to 100 cars a day. Good choice by the commissioners, yes?

Reporting scandals

Hey, it's good to see you're finally making an effort to report on the scandals. Good job.

Please reread article

I'm calling in regards to the lady who sent in the Sound Off in today's paper (May 29), "Health care payments." Unfortunately, she's incorrect. She wasn't talking about state employees that are paying these dollars a month; it's actually our state legislators. So I hope she'll go back to the article she read and reread it. It's not the state employees; it's the state legislators.

Ponzi scheme

That's a pretty good Commentary in Sunday's paper (June 2) on the Social Security. It's a Ponzi scheme. The whole system has been a Ponzi scheme. I didn't ask somebody to take money out of my check every week. I was forced to. And now the money, it never was going to be there. When Nixon took us off the gold standard and they started printing money out of thin air that nothing backs it, who knew? They did.

Thanks purse return

To the lady who found my purse in the Sweetbay parking lot: God bless you. May the good Lord bless you 100 fold. Thank you again so very much.

Mistaken identity

This is in response to "Hungry thief." A friend volunteers at Daystar five days a week. Because some volunteers drive vans or pickup trucks, they were asked to help pick up the food and bring it to Daystar. Perhaps this is what you saw.

Saving diplomats

Diana West begins her May 22 article by referring to the Benghazi tragedy of last year. Officials have used solemn occasions such as this, she reasons, "less to comfort grieving families" but to "lay blame" and "to lie." The internal review board's report on Benghazi contains the facts as are known even if they do not satisfy scandal seekers in and out of government. Their recommendations include more money for embassy security, a measure that will provide only limited benefits. The thought that military action or additional security officers would result in fewer causalities in this instance is misguided. During such emergencies, embassies are even more dependent on the host government for physical security.

Personal experience tells me that when militias are used instead of host-country police or military, security is only marginally increased. Fewer personnel and a lower profile may have avoided the events in Benghazi regardless of the reasons for the assault. Still, the next time (and there will be a next time), the same questions will arise and similar corrective actions will be proposed. The truth is that diplomats cannot be protected fully while serving abroad. They know this before taking assignments and yet they volunteer. If anything, Ambassador Stevens and his team should be credited for saving lives of those remaining staff on the compound. You will not hear those people complain.

Beauty unnoticed

They say you can't see the trees for the forest. I believe that is one problem in Citrus County. I just read in Thursday's paper they're trying to draw attraction to the county. When you enter Mount Dora the back way you can see the beautiful lakes. Well, when you come into Citrus County from I-75 or State Road 44, most of the lakes are hidden with trees and bushes they keep planting. You can't see the beauty we have to offer by hiding it. Our golf courses and chain lakes are the best attraction we have to offer. Let's make them visible.

MINISTER

hundreds of discarded teens over the years. He cared for a young man dying of AIDS.

He has spent most of his adult life visiting juveniles and adults behind bars, mailing thousands of Bibles, Bible studies and Christian literature to anyone who wrote to him and asked.

He has freely given away his money and possessions, all in the name of Jesus.

Now 77 with Alzheimer's taking its toll on his health, "Brother Woody," as he's called, is unable to do all he used to.

On Tuesday, friends and family gathered to celebrate his life and the impact he has had on the community and beyond.

"Alan Woody taught me a lot about going out of your way to help a person in need," said CCSO Capt. Doug Dodd. "He's one of the most generous people I've known. I've watched how he interacts with people and his love and acceptance of them regardless of their situation or condition.

"His ministry was about helping those kids who have made bad choices and sharing with them God's forgiveness, no matter what they had done. I'd go into detention centers and prisons with him, and the love he had for them was genuine, and they could see it," he said.

The Rev. Doug Alexander recalled meeting Brother Woody when he was a CCSO deputy and Woody was a volunteer chaplain.

"He's been a blessing to me and to so many," Alexander said. "He's helped so many of us in our ministry."

Bob Spaulding, operations manager at The Path, said he used to have an appliance store and Brother Woody was always in there buying appliances to give away to people.

"We think of him as a soul winner, but he's also a man of faith," Spaulding said. "He'd hear of a need and he'd say, 'Well, I better go to the post office.' He believed if there was a need, God would meet it, and wouldn't you know, there would be checks in the box, always enough to meet the need."

Mike Maddox, a fellow prison ministry partner, said he never left Alan Woody's house empty-handed. If he came to pick up Bibles, Brother Woody would always try to slip $20 or $50 in his pocket — he did that with everyone.

"You don't know the legacy you've had," Maddox said, addressing the man of the hour. "I owe my ministry — my life — to you."

Although Brother Woody is unable to communicate as he once did, he was visibly moved by the presence of his friends.

College president finds lost Lincoln document

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — A central Pennsylvania college is losing a president but regaining a piece of its history.

Retiring Lycoming College President James Douthat was cleaning out his office when he stumbled on a historical document stored in the back of a closet shelf.

The certificate signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1863 named the college's founder as Benjamin Crever, a Civil War chaplain.

College officials said they always knew the document was on campus. Somewhere.

But there are varying theories on how it might be have misplaced.

Douthat said he had never seen the document during his 24 years in office, but had heard about it.

Police ID gunman in deadly Santa Monica rampage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Police have identified the gunman who went on a shooting rampage in Southern California that left five people dead.

Santa Monica police Sgt. Richard Lewis said Sunday that 23-year-old John Zawahri killed his father and older brother at their home Friday before going on a shooting spree in the streets and at a nearby college.

The violence ended after the gunman was shot to death by police in a chaotic scene at the Santa Monica College library.

A woman who was critically wounded in the shooting spree died Sunday, bringing the total number of victims killed by the gunman to five.

Marcela Franco, 26, died of her injuries at UCLA Medical Center, according to Santa Monica College spokeswoman Tricia Ramos.

Body found in river is abducted Iowa teen

DES MOINES, Iowa — Iowa authorities have identified a body found in a river as that of a 15-year-old girl who was abducted with another girl after getting off a school bus last month.

Officials said Sunday that an autopsy confirmed the body found Friday night in the Des Moines River under a bridge near Boone is Kathlynn Shepard's.

Chief State Medical Examiner Dr. Julia Goodin said Kathlynn died of "multiple sharp- and blunt-force injuries."

Investigators expressed confidence the body was Kathlynn's hours after a fisherman discovered it.

Authorities said Michael Klunder kidnapped the girls and committed suicide after the younger girl got away.

Family visits Mandela

Former leader in serious condition

Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG — Nelson Mandela received visits from family members on Sunday at a hospital where the former president and anti-apartheid leader was being treated for a recurring lung infection, while South Africans expressed their appreciation for a man widely regarded as the father of the nation.

There was no official update on 94-year-old Mandela after his second night in the hospital. His condition was described as "serious but stable" on Saturday.

The office of President Jacob Zuma had said that Mandela was taken to a Pretoria hospital after his condition deteriorated at around 1:30 a.m. on Saturday.

The anti-apartheid leader has now been taken to a hospital four times since December, with the last discharge coming on April 6 after doctors diagnosed him with pneumonia and drained fluid from his lung area.

Members of Mandela's family on Sunday were seen visiting the Pretoria hospital where he is believed to be staying. They included Makaziwe Mandela, the eldest of the ex-leader's three surviving children, and Ndileka Mandela, one of his 17 grandchildren.

Worshippers at a Sunday church service in the Johannesburg township of Soweto prayed for the recovery of Mandela, who was freed in 1990 after 27 years as a prisoner of white racist rule and won election to the presidency in all-race elections in 1994.

National Security Agency plaques are seen at the compound at Fort Meade, Md. The NSA was founded in 1952 but only publicly acknowledged years later, which explains its nickname "No Such Agency." It includes the Central Security Service, the military arm of code breakers who work jointly with NSA. Visible from a main highway, the tightly guarded compound requires the highest of clearances to enter, and is equipped with various electronic means to ward off an attack by hackers.

NSA contract worker is surveillance source

Former contract worker will seek asylum

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A 29-year-old contractor who claims to have worked at the National Security Agency and the CIA allowed himself to be revealed Sunday as the source of disclosures about the U.S. government's secret surveillance programs, risking prosecution by the U.S. government.

The leaks have reopened the post-Sept. 11 debate about privacy concerns versus heightened measure to protect against terrorist attacks, and led the NSA to ask the Justice Department to conduct a criminal investigation into the leaks.

The Guardian, the first paper to disclose the documents, said it was publishing the identity of Edward Snowden, a former technical assistant for the CIA and current employee of defense contractor Booz Allen Hamilton, at his own request.

"My sole motive is to inform the public as to that which is done in their name and that which is done against them," Snowden told the newspaper.

The Guardian* newspaper identified Edward Snowden as a source for its reports on intelligence programs after he asked the newspaper to do so on Sunday.

Stories in The Guardian and The Washington Post published over the last week revealed two surveillance programs, and both published interviews with Snowden on Sunday.

One of them is a phone records monitoring program in which the NSA gathers hundreds of millions of U.S. phone records each day, creating a database through which it can learn whether terror suspects have been in contact with people in the U.S. The Obama administration says the NSA program does not listen to actual conversations.

Separately, an Internet scouring program, code-named PRISM, allows the NSA and FBI to tap directly into nine U.S. Internet companies to gather all Internet usage — audio, video, photographs, emails and searches. The effort is designed to detect suspicious behavior that begins overseas.

Snowden said claims the programs are secure are not true.

"Any analyst at any time can target anyone. Any selector. Anywhere. Where those communications will be picked up depends on the range of those sensor networks and the authority that that analyst is empowered with," Snowden said, in accompanying video on the Guardian's website. "Not all analysts have the power to target anything. But I, sitting at my desk, had the authority to wiretap anyone, from you or your accountant to a federal judge to even the president if I had a personal email."

He told the Post he would "ask for asylum from any countries that believe in free speech and oppose the victimization of global privacy" in an interview from Hong Kong, where he is staying.

"I'm not going to hide," Snowden told the Post. "Allowing the U.S. government to intimidate its people with threats of retaliation for revealing wrongdoing is contrary to the public interest."

Explosions heard from NATO site at Afghan airport

KABUL, Afghanistan — Large explosions were heard around dawn Monday at the military side of Kabul's international airport, which houses a NATO headquarters, but the cause was not immediately clear.

Insurgents in Afghanistan usually carry out their attacks in the early morning.

The head of the Kabul police criminal investigation division, Gen. Mohammad Zahir, said an "incident has occurred at Kabul airport" and police were headed to the scene.

The explosions began about 4:20 a.m. and residents heard what sounded like a dozen explosions.

Egypt villagers kill man in latest lynching

CAIRO — A security official said villagers abducted a man in northern Egypt and beat him to death on Sunday, the latest vigilante attack in the country.

The incident occurred in the governorate of Damietta. The villagers killed a carpenter they accused of killing a minibus driver, according to the official.

It was the latest example of citizens taking the law into their own hands after a breakdown in security more than two years after the ouster of longtime President Hosni Mubarak.

The man killed had allegedly been fighting over financial issues with the minibus driver, according to police who heard the account from the driver's brother.

Ex-official seized in Mexican corruption case

MEXICO CITY — Officials said the former treasurer of the state of Tabasco has been arrested on the U.S. border in an embezzlement investigation after nearly $7 million in cash was found in his office.

A Mexican official speaking on condition of anonymity said Jose Saiz was detained Saturday after he attempted to cross from the city of Reynosa, across the border from McAllen, Texas.

Saiz's attorney, Xavier Olea, confirmed the arrest in comments to Mexican media. Calls to Olea's office went unanswered Sunday.

State prosecutors said last month they found 88.5 million pesos in an office used by Saiz, who served under former Gov. Andres Granier. The state's current governor has accused his predecessor of embezzling millions, claims strengthened by reports of extravagant spending by Granier and his inner circle.

Former Hurricane wins Amateur Public Links Championship

Crystal River resident and former Citrus High School standout Nick Brothers won the Florida State Public Links Championship Sunday, besting Naples resident Edward Figueroa on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff at the Lake Jovita Golf & Country Club in Dade City.

Nick Brothers

Brothers took a two-stroke lead into the tournament's second round, but found himself in a five-way tie headed into Sunday's final round.

Figueroa, playing ahead of Brothers, shot a four-under-par 68 final round to take the clubhouse lead, and Brothers found himself in need of a birdie on the final hole. He got it, and came up with another big birdie on the second playoff hole to cinch the tournament. He finished with rounds of 65, 73 and 70 on the 72-par course.

For his win, Brothers will get an opportunity to play in the 96th State Amateur Championship on June 20 to 23 at the Jupiter Hills Club in Tequesta.

Iowa sweet to Bayne on his honeymoon

NEWTON, Iowa — Trevor Bayne spent the first weekend of his marriage stuck in a rain-soaked racetrack in the middle of Iowa.

The 22-year-old newlywed made the most of his unorthodox honeymoon, taking his bride to victory lane for the first time.

Bayne rallied to win the rain-plagued NASCAR Nationwide race in Iowa on Sunday, his second career win in the series.

The victory capped a memorable week for Bayne, who got married on Tuesday in North Carolina. His wife, Ashton, wasn't with him for his first career Nationwide victory in Texas in 2011, but she was right by his side at Iowa Speedway.

Indiana beats FSU 11-6 to reach first CWS

TALLAHASSEE — Sam Travis hit a tiebreaking two-run homer, and Indiana beat Florida State 11-6 on Sunday to reach the College World Series for the first time in school history.

The Hoosiers (48-14) made the NCAA tournament for just the third time and were in their first super regional. But they played with plenty of poise on the road, sweeping the Seminoles.

Will Coursen-Carr (5-0) pitched four innings of relief for Indiana, allowing just one earned run. Coursen-Carr earned the win in the Big Ten tournament final, regional title game and super regional clincher.

After Florida State (47-17) scored three runs in the top of the fifth to tie the game 5-5, Travis gave the Hoosiers the lead for good in the bottom of the inning.

Scott Sitz (10-2) allowed seven runs, six of them earned, in 4 1/3 innings.

Vettel wins Canadian Grand Prix handily

MONTREAL — Sebastian Vettel has won the Canadian Grand Prix, leading almost the entire way to extend his lead in the Formula One points race.

Starting from the pole position, Vettel finished 14.4 seconds ahead of Fernando Alonso's Ferrari on Sunday. Lewis Hamilton, the 2012 winner, was third after holding the lead for three of the 70 laps after Vettel made an early pit stop.

After practice and qualifying were slowed by rain, the sun came out Sunday for a warm and dry race on the Ile Notre Dame.

Vettel, of Red Bull, picked up 25 points in the championship standings to extend his lead over Lotus' Kimo Raikkonen.

Orioles hammer Moore to avoid sweep

Rays four games back of inbound Red Sox

Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG — J.J. Hardy, Adam Jones, Alexi Casilla and Nick Markakis had two RBIs apiece and the Baltimore Orioles hammered eight-game winner Matt Moore in beating the Tampa Bay Rays 10-7 on Sunday.

Baltimore, held to one run and six hits in losing the first two games of the series, had 16 hits Sunday.

Moore (8-2) allowed career highs of nine runs and 12 hits over five innings in his second consecutive loss.

Chris Tillman (6-2) gave up three runs and four hits in six innings. The Baltimore right-hander has won all five of his road decisions this year.

Jim Johnson entered in the ninth with two on and two outs and gave up an RBI single to Jose Labaton that got Tampa Bay to 10-7 — they trailed 9-1 in the fourth.

Johnson had a run-scoring hit in the sixth for the Rays, who lost for just the fourth time in the last 14 games.

Ben Zobrist hit his first homer since May 1, a solo shot in the fourth off Tillman.

Sam Fuld helped cut the Rays deficit to 10-6 during the eighth on his first homer since May 27, 2011, a two-run shot against Brian Matusz, who gave up three runs and five hits in two-thirds of an inning.

Bursting fourth

Heat hit the gas late in the third, outscore Spurs 28-19 in fourth

Associated Press

MIAMI

LeBron James overcame a terrible start to finish with 17 points, eight rebounds and seven assists and the Miami Heat rolled to a 103-84 victory over the San Antonio Spurs on Sunday night to even the series at a game apiece.

Mario Chalmers scored 19 points for the defending champion Heat, who trailed late in the third quarter before going on a 30-5 run to take control. Chris Bosh added 12 points, 10 rebounds and four assists.

Danny Green scored 17 points on 6-for-6 shooting and Tony Parker had 13 points on 5-for-14 shooting with five assists for the Spurs, who turned the ball over 17 times.

Game 3 is Tuesday night in San Antonio.

Dwyane Wade added 10 points and six assists for the defending champion Heat, who were down 62-61 with under four minutes to play in the third quarter and in danger of falling into a serious hole in their bid to repeat.

Tim Duncan and nine points and 11 rebounds, and Kawhi Leonard had 14 rebounds, including eight on offense, for the Spurs, who shot 41 percent.

James had a triple-double in Game 1 with 18 points, 18 rebounds and 10 assists. But his scoring total was the lowest in these playoffs, and again there was chatter that the four-time MVP somehow needed to do more. James brushed those suggestions off, saying it was important to get guys like Bosh and Wade going early to get them into the game.

Actually, it was Chalmers who ended up being the one to get James going.

James missed eight of his first 10 shots and was 3 for 13 after three quarters, and the Spurs led 62-61 on a layup from Green with less than 4 minutes to go in the third.

Green, who was cut twice by the Spurs and once by the Cavaliers during an early portion of his career that took him to Slovenia and Reno in the NBA's developmental league, was flawless in the first three quarters after playing a big role in the Game 1 victory.

Johnson cruises to victory at Pocono

Associated Press

LONG POND, Pa. — Jimmie Johnson absolutely dominated Sunday at Pocono Raceway for his third victory of the season.

The Sprint Cup points leader, Johnson pulled away on both of the last two restarts over the final 10 laps to pull into Victory Lane at Pocono for the first time since he swept both races in 2004.

Johnson also won the Daytona 500 and at Martinsville Speedway this season. He led 128 of 160 laps for his 63rd career Cup victory, and was never seriously challenged a week after his run at a possible win at Dover International Speedway was taken away by a penalty off a restart.

Greg Biffle was second and Dale Earnhardt Jr., Johnson's teammate, was third. Dover winner Tony Stewart was fourth, followed by fellow Stewart-Haas Racing driver Ryan Newman.

"I really didn't have anything for Jimmie," Biffle said. "Jimmie was in a league of his own."

Johnson started first and won from the pole after rain washed out qualifying Friday.

He could be celebrating back-to-back wins had it not been for a pass-through penalty last week in the final laps at Dover. NASCAR penalized him for jumping leader Juan Pablo Montoya off the restart with 19 laps left and he finished 17th.

After only one caution in the first 125 laps, they came in bunches over the last 35. Johnson held off Earnhardt with nine laps left and pulled away one more time with four to go.

"He's one of the best drivers this sport has ever seen," Earnhardt said.

Nadal masterful in record eighth French Open win

Associated Press

PARIS — If Rafael Nadal truly was going to be challenged, if his bid for an unprecedented eighth French Open championship would be slowed even a bit, this might have been the moment.

Leading by a set and a break 70 minutes into Sunday's final against David Ferrer, another generally indefatigable Spaniard, Nadal faced four break points in one game. The last was a 31-stroke exchange, the match's longest, capped when Nadal absorbed Ferrer's strong backhand approach and transformed it into a cross-court backhand passing shot.

Ferrer glared at the ball as it flew past and landed in a corner, then smiled ruefully. What else was there to do? Dealing with Nadal's defense-to-offense on red clay is a thankless task. His rain-soaked 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 victory over Ferrer was Nadal's record 59th win in 60 matches at the French Open and made him the only man with eight titles at any Grand Slam tournament.

"I never like to compare years, but it's true that this year means something very special for me," Nadal said, alluding to the way he managed to come back from a left knee injury that sidelined him for about seven months.

Spain's Rafael Nadal holds the trophy with seven inscriptions of his name Sunday after winning the French Open for the eighth time, defeating compatriot David Ferrer in three sets 6-3, 6-2, 6-3, in the final of the French Open tennis tournament at Roland Garros stadium in Paris.

"When you have a period of time like I had," he said, "you realize that you don't know if you will have the chance to be back here with this trophy."

But he does it, year after year.

He won four French Opens in a row from 2005-08, and another four in a row from 2010-13.

"Rafael was better than me," said Ferrer, who had won all 18 sets he'd played the past two weeks to reach his first Grand Slam final at age 31. "He didn't make mistakes."

A week past his 27th birthday, Nadal now owns 12 major trophies in all — including two from Wimbledon, one each from the U.S. Open and Australian Open — to eclipse Bjorn Borg and Rod Laver and equal Roy Emerson for the third-most in history. Nadal trails only Roger Federer's 17 and Pete Sampras' 14.

"Winning 17 Grand Slam titles, that's miles away," Nadal said. "I'm not even thinking about it."

Miami Marlins Miguel Olivo watches his 10th-inning, two-run home run off New York Mets relief pitcher Robert Carson on Sunday in the Marlins' 8-4 victory over the Mets in New York.

How about another?

After Saturday marathon, Mets and Marlins go back to extras

Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Miami Marlins needed extras to beat the New York Mets again, but only 10 innings instead of 20.

Derek Dietrich hit a tying home run in the eighth and second baseman Daniel Murphy's 10th-inning error allowed Logan Morrison to score the go-ahead run in his first game in 11 months, boosting the Marlins to an 8-4 victory.

Greg Dobbs added a sacrifice fly off Rob Carson and Miguel Olivo followed with a two-run homer in the four-run 10th, eliminating the need for a repeat of Saturday's 6-hour, 25-minute marathon, won by the Marlins 2-1.

The last-place Marlins outhit the Mets 17-6, rallied from a 4-1 deficit and improved their record against New York this year to 8-3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves 8, Dodgers 1

LOS ANGELES — Dan Uggla had two homers and four RBIs, Freddie Freeman drove in three more runs with a double, and Mike Minor kept the Atlanta Braves' rotation rolling with six solid innings in an 8-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Minor (8-2) allowed a run and six hits, struck out six and walked three while helping the NL East leaders gain a split of the four-game series. The left-hander is 5-0 with a 1.76 ERA over his last seven starts.

Giants 6, Diamondbacks 2

PHOENIX — Chad Gaudin pitched six strong innings, Marco Scutaro and Brandon Belt homered and the San Francisco Giants beat the Arizona Diamondbacks 6-2.

Gaudin (2-1) had his second good start in place of the injured Ryan Vogelsong, allowing two runs on five hits in six innings. The Giants right-hander, normally a long-relief specialist, struck out seven and walked one intentionally. One of Arizona's runs scored on Gaudin's balk. Scutaro and Belt each had a solo shot off Tyler Skaggs (1-1), who gave up five runs on eight this in five innings.

Rockies 8, Padres 7 (10 innings)

DENVER — Dexter Fowler's single with two outs in the 10th inning scored DJ LeMahieu from third base and the Colorado Rockies rallied for an 8-7 win over the San Diego Padres.

Fowler finished with four hits and Troy Tulowitzki had two, including his 16th home run.

Nick Hundley, Cameron Maybin and Mark Kotsay homered for the Padres.

Rex Brothers (2-0) pitched the 10th for the win.

Brewers 9, Phillies 1

MILWAUKEE — Carlos Gomez hit a two-run homer on his bobblehead day, Scooter Gennett had a two-run triple and Kyle Lohse pitched eight strong innings for his first win in eight starts to help the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-1.

Milwaukee slugger Ryan Braun left after the third inning with a sore right thumb, which has been a lingering problem for him.

Cubs 4, Pirates 1

CHICAGO — Cody Ransom hit a tiebreaking, three-run homer in the seventh inning and Edwin Jackson pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ransom connected off reliever Justin Wilson for his sixth home run of the season. Darwin Barney and Julio Borbon were on base after the Cubs were held hitless for 5 2-3 innings by Pirates starter Jeff Locke.

Kevin Gregg pitched the ninth for his seventh save, completing a six-hitter.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Red Sox 10, Angels 5

BOSTON — David Ortiz hit a three-run home run and Jarrod Saltalamacchia connected twice, the first coming one pitch before Mike Carp homered, and the Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Angels 10-5.

Ryan Dempster (4-6) got his 2,000 career strikeout when he fanned Alberto Callaspo to open the sixth.

Royals 2, Astros 0

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Alex Gordon and Eric Hosmer each had run-scoring singles in the eighth, Luis Mendoza pitched seven innings of four-hit ball and the Kansas City Royals beat the Houston Astros 2-0 for their fifth straight win.

Greg Holland pitched a spotless ninth for his 12th save in 14 opportunities.

White Sox 4, Athletics 2

CHICAGO — Alex Rios and Tyler Flowers homered, Hector Santiago pitched into the seventh inning and the Chicago White Sox beat the Oakland Athletics 4-2 to salvage a split of their four-game series.

The White Sox appear to be waking up after falling into last place in the AL Central. They've won two in a row behind strong starts from Santiago (2-4) and John Danks, and their bats are showing some life as well.

Tigers 4, Indians 1

DETROIT — Jose Alvarez pitched six impressive innings in his major league debut, and Don Kelly hit a tiebreaking three-run homer in the sixth to help the Detroit Tigers finish a three-game sweep of the Cleveland Indians with a 4-1 victory.

Drew Smyly pitched two innings of relief. Joaquin Benoit finished for his third save.

Rangers 6, Blue Jays 4

TORONTO — Adrian Beltre hit a tiebreaking home run in the seventh inning, Nelson Cruz and David Murphy also connected and the Texas Rangers rallied from a four-run deficit to beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-4.

Beltre hit an opposite-field shot to right off Neil Wagner for his 14th homer of the season. That helped the Rangers avoid a three-game sweep and their first four-game losing streak of the season.

Yankees 2, Mariners 1

SEATTLE — Chris Stewart had a tiebreaking RBI single in the ninth inning and David Phelps matched efforts with Felix Hernandez for six innings to help the New York Yankees beat the Seattle Mariners 2-1.

Ichiro Suzuki drew a walk from Yoervis Medina (1-2) to open the ninth. Jayson Nix sacrificed him to second. Then with two outs, Stewart bounced a grounder to through the left side as Suzuki, the former Mariners star, scored easily to help New York take three of four from Seattle.

INTERLEAGUE

Nationals 7, Twins 0 (Game 1)

WASHINGTON — Jordan Zimmermann pitched seven scoreless innings to get his ninth win, tying him for most in the majors, and the Washington Nationals' bats showed signs of life in a 7-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins in the first game of a doubleheader.

Nationals 5, Twins 4 (Game 2)

WASHINGTON — Ian Desmond doubled home the go-ahead run in the seventh inning and the Washington Nationals made manager Davey Johnson's "fun day" even better with a 5-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins to complete a sweep of a doubleheader.

Desmond's drive to left-center completed a comeback from a three-run deficit and pulled Washington back to .500 after a 3-2 homestand.

Harris English hits from under a tree Saturday on the sixth hole during the third round of the St. Jude Classic in Memphis, Tenn.

English wins St. Jude for first PGA Tour title

Park wins in playoff at LPGA Championship

Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Harris English won the St. Jude Classic on Sunday for his first PGA Tour title, birdieing two of the final three holes to hold off Phil Mickelson and Scott Stallings by two strokes.

The 23-year-old former Georgia star in his second year on tour survived a final round where he had six birdies and five bogeys. He finished with a 1-under 69 for a 12-under 268 total.

English made a 5-foot birdie putt on No. 16 to tie Stallings for the lead, but Stallings bogeyed No. 18 to give English the lead to himself. English made a 17-foot birdie putt on No. 17, and two-putted No. 18 to pick up the winner's check of $1,026,000.

Mickelson shot a 67, and Stallings had a 68.

English became the fourth player to win the event in his first start since the tournament moved to TPC Southwind in 1989 and the second straight after Dustin Johnson a year ago.

The final round returned to normal Memphis weather with the temperature reaching the high 80s along with the wind blowing from the south at 10-15 mph as it usually does at Southwind.

English won the Southern Amateur in 2011 and was an amateur when he won on the Web.com Tour at the Nationwide Children's Hospital Invitational in July 2011. He moved to the PGA Tour in 2012 and finished 79th on the money list. Now he has his fourth top 10 this year.

Frost holds off Couples for Regions Tradition win

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — David Frost never flinched in his showdown with Hall of Famer Fred Couples even with his first major championship on the line and a late rain delay to ponder the stakes.

Frost parred the final two holes to hold on for a one-stroke victory over Couples on Sunday in the Regions Tradition, the South African's first major title in 17 attempts on the Champions Tour.

"We came in from the break and I said to myself, 'It's not going to be easy,'" Frost said. "Freddy's got nothing to lose. He's going to go out there and hit the shots and fire at the pins. I've just got to kind of accept it and be up to the challenge."

Both birdied No. 16 after play resumed with the sun shining after a delay of 1 hour, 8 minutes for lightning in a round played at times in driving rain.

Couples and Frost both shot 4-under 68, and Frost finished at 16-under 272.

It was Frost's second victory of the season and fifth career win on the 50-and-over tour.

Park wins playoff to claim LPGA Championship

PITTSFORD, N.Y. — Inbee Park birdied the third hole of a sudden-death playoff with Catriona Matthew to win the rain-delayed LPGA Championship on Sunday.

Park made a 20-foot putt on the par-4 18th to go 2-for-2 in LPGA Tour majors this season. She rebounded in the playoff after relinquishing a three-shot lead with a final-round 3-over 75. Park bogeyed three of her final five holes in regulation.

Matthew shot a bogey-free 68 to match Park at 5-under 283 at Locust Hill.

After both made par on the first two playoff holes, Matthew struggled off the 18th tee. After having difficulty advancing the ball out of the rough just below the green on her third shot, Matthew missed a 50-foot par chip.

Park also won the Kraft Nabisco in California in early April and has four victories this year. With the victory, Asian players have won nine straight majors.

HEAT

But Chalmers seemed to have an answer every time. Often the brunt of harsh prodding from James and Wade on the court, the former Final Four hero from Kansas kept the Heat going in this one. His three-point play gave Miami a 64-62 lead in response to Green's layup, Ray Allen hit a 3 and James finally converted on a tough drive to the rim for a 69-62 lead, eliciting a roar from the white-clad crowd.

James scored two more layups on a 7-0 run to start the fourth, stuffed Tiago Splitter on a dunk attempt and then fed Mike Miller for a corner 3. James capped the staggering Heat surge with a soaring tomahawk dunk for a 91-67 lead, prompting Spurs coach Gregg Popovich to pull his starters and start thinking about Game 3 back home.

PHILLIP ALDER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Will Rogers said, "An economist's guess is liable to be as good as anybody else's."

A bridge expert's guess is liable to be better than a lesser player's. In this deal, how should South plan the play in four spades after West leads the club queen?

South's jump to four spades is normal, but he might guess to rebid three no-trump. North would then have to guess whether to pass (he has 4-3-3-3 distribution) or to remove to four spades (he has four trumps). Here, three no-trump has nine easy tricks.

South has four potential losers: three hearts and one diamond. In real life, he might guess that either East has the heart ace or West has the diamond king. But in a lesson setting or a newspaper column, declarer should know that East will have the diamond king and West the heart ace. How can South still survive?

If declarer wins the first trick, draws trumps, and takes the diamond finesse, East wins with his king and shifts to the heart queen — the contract is kaput.

Instead, South should duck the first trick. He takes the club continuation with his ace, draws trumps ending on the board, throws a diamond on the club king, cashes the diamond ace, and continues with the diamond jack.

If East plays low, declarer discards a heart and has 10 tricks (six spades, two diamonds and two clubs), even if West produces the king. If East covers, declarer ruffs, returns to dummy with a trump, and cashes the last diamond. He is home with no guesswork.

ANNIE'S MAILBOX

Dear Annie: In January, my boyfriend and I moved in together after four months of dating. We both have young daughters, and we love all of them. His ex took off two years ago and has no interaction with the children. Their grandmother and great-grandmother, however, have played an active role in the girls' lives. Due to my boyfriend's work schedule, the girls stay overnight with his mother several nights a week.

Here's the problem: His family does not approve of me. They haven't said so to my face, but I know they have hated me since Day One, mainly because of my tattoos and lip ring. I have a great job, pay all of my bills and am very responsible. I removed the lip ring in order to gain their acceptance, but it made no difference. They badmouth my daughter and me to his girls. It's become so difficult that his girls don't want to be near me. His 3-year-old told my daughter she is "dumber than a box of rocks." We found out that Grandma taught her that.

My boyfriend and I only want what's best for our children and have been discussing breaking up, which neither of us wants. I have tried to talk to his family, but they refuse to answer my calls. I don't know what to do. I want to keep our family together and our children happy. — N.Y.

Dear N.Y.: This is primarily up to your boyfriend. He needs to make it clear that such behavior will not be tolerated. Would he be willing to put the children in daycare so that his mother and grandmother have less influence? Would the threat of doing so stop them from denigrating you in front of the children? Frankly, we think moving in after four months was a bit premature, and it wouldn't hurt to take things more slowly. But whether or not you are living together, unless your boyfriend puts his foot down with his mother and grandmother, the situation will not improve.

Dear Annie: My husband dropped me off in front of a store so I could buy one item. He was in a golf cart and said, "I will be on this end when you come out."

My shopping took less than two minutes because they didn't have the item I needed. When I came outside, my husband was not where he said he would be. I waited in clear view in front of the store, but when he didn't come after five minutes, I began to walk toward where he said he would be waiting. He wasn't there, so I turned around and walked the other way, thinking I must have misunderstood him. I did this back-and-forth three times and then just waited in front of the store for another 20 minutes.

My husband insists he stayed in the same spot the entire time and didn't see me. He said I should have come looking for him in the crowded parking lot.

I feel he should have been looking for me since he was the one driving. Where he was parked was obscured from my vantage point.

He also knows I have poor vision. Who is right? — Wife Left at the Door

Dear Wife: The spot your husband picked made him invisible to you and vice versa. He should have been waiting where he said he would be, and you should have looked for him there and then waited where he dropped you off. You absolutely should not have been searching a crowded parking lot. (This is one advantage of having a cellphone.)

Dear Annie: I'm writing in favor of potlucks. They are wonderful — fun, interesting and tasty.

My group of friends selects a category of meal (which changes each time), so a certain amount of research is involved, and we bring copies of the recipes to share with others. — Omaha, Neb.

HONCHO
Honcho, a 3-y.o. American Bulldog mix, had a condition called Entropion, had surgery & is now recovered & needing a home. Neutered. A very sweet dog, a 65-lb "lapdog", gets along w/all other dogs, good w/kids, but could knock small kids over because he is so strong, best w/fenced yard. Loves activity and exercise. Beautiful brown & white in color.
Call Kathy @ 352-895-1218.

KENZIE
Kenzie, one & one half -y.o. Hound mix female, beautiful girl, playful, gets along w/people & other dogs. Wt. 35 lbs. Full of fun, gives lots of kisses, would be a great family dog, very agile, could be agility dog with training. Very alert & listens closely. At Citrus County Animal Shelter. Call Pat @ 352-586-9344. "

Pets

MILEY B
Miley B, an approx. 9-month-old bulldog/hound mix, tan in color, weight 48 lbs. Spayed & HW-negative. Originally adopted from shelter & returned because of the health of the owner. Housebroken, gentle, affectionate, beautiful. Gets along with other dogs well, walks well on leash.

Attention Consumers!
Please make sure you are using a licensed and insured service professional. Many service advertisers are required by state law to include their state license number in all advertisements. If you don't see a license number in the ad, you should inquire about it and be suspicious that you may be contacting an unlicensed business. The Citrus County Chronicle wants to ensure that our ads meet the requirements of the law. Beware of any service advertiser that can not provide proof that they are licensed to do business. For questions about business licensing, please call your city or county government offices.

Montana, Rudolph 2013-CP-166 Notice of Administration
PUBLIC NOTICE
IN THE FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT COURT FOR CITRUS COUNTY, FLORIDA
PROBATE DIVISION
File No. 2013-CP-166

IN RE: ESTATE OF RUDOLPH MONTANA
Deceased.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION

The administration of the estate of Rudolph Montana, deceased, is pending in the Circuit Court for Citrus County, Florida, Probate Division, the address of which is 110 N. Apopka Avenue, Inverness, Florida 34450. The estate is: (check one)

___ Intestate.
X Testate. If the estate is testate, the date of the decedent's Will is May 18, 2004.

The names and addresses of the personal representative and the personal representative's attorney are set forth below. The fiduciary lawyer-client privilege in Florida Statutes § 90.5021 applies with respect to the personal representative and any attorney employed by the personal representative.

Any interested person on whom a copy of the notice of administration is served who challenges validity of the will or any codicils, qualifications of the personal representative, venue, or jurisdiction of the court is required to file any objection with the court in the manner provided in the Florida Probate Rules WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY LAW, which is on or before the date that is 3 months after the date of service of a copy of the Notice of Administration on that person, or those objections are forever barred.

A petition for determination of exempt property is required to be filed by or on behalf of any person entitled to exempt property under § 732.402 WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY LAW, which is on or before the later of the date that is 4 months after the date of service of a copy of the Notice of Administration on such person or the date that is 40 days after the date of termination of any proceeding involving the construction, admission to probate, or validity of the will or involving any other matter affecting any part of the exempt property, or the right of such person to exempt property is deemed waived.

An election to take an elective share must be filed by or on behalf of the surviving spouse entitled to an elective share under §§ 732.201-732.2155 WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY LAW, which is on or before the earlier of the date that is 6 months after the date of service of a copy of the Notice of Administration on the surviving spouse, or an attorney in fact or a guardian of the property of the surviving spouse, or the date that is 2 years after the date of the decedent's death. The time for filing an election to take an elective share may be extended as provided in the Florida Probate Rules.
