THE TRUSTEES' PLAN

Ask to pay for drainage only those people who will be benefited; not those living outside the drainage district.

THE OPPOSITION PLAN

Make the whole state pay for draining lands belonging to rich land syndicates.

WHICH IS THE FAIR PROPOSITION?

The first one, of course. Vote for the Drainage Amendment.

EDWIN W. DAVIS

State's Attorney for the Fifth Judicial District

Edwin W. Davis was born in 1869, near St. Paul, Minn. He received a common school education in Ohio, where his parents had moved. He came to Spring Park in 1886, where he spent several years, when he moved to Ocala and began the study of law in 1888 in the office of Attorneys Miller and Spencer, which he pursued with diligence, and was admitted to the bar in 1892, after a most satisfactory examination, and ever since has followed his profession with a singleness of purpose and strict conscientiousness to duty, and his ability has made him rank as one of the foremost attorneys at the bar. Several years ago he formed a partnership with Mr. Neill M. Allred, who had been elected district attorney, but owing to the failing health of his partner, assumed his duties, and for several sessions so acceptably filled the office that Mr. Allred, whose health compelled him to be absent from the state, resigned, and Mr. Davis was appointed in his stead. In the late democratic primary Mr. Davis was a candidate to succeed himself, and the enviable record he had made while administering the office so won on the minds of the voters of the district that they elected him with a handsome majority, notwithstanding the strong opposition he had to contend against. It was a compliment he deserved and one he has reason to be proud of.

Mr. Davis is a self-made man; a poor boy, with no means or friends to assist him, he determined to become a disciple of Blackstone, and a worthy one, and with a will that knew no turning he set to the task, endured privations and hardships, denied himself the ordinary gratifications of young men, that he might attain the object of his commendable ambiton, and today is a bright and shining light to the youth of our county, demonstrating what can be done and won if the object is a proper one and the aim true.

Mr. Davis is happily married and has an interesting family.

CHARLES M. WHITESIDE

Manager of the Ocala House

The able, efficient, genial and successful manager of the Ocala House was born in Anniston, Ala., forty years ago. He spent his youth and young manhood in that city, where he attended the public schools. He had ben reading about the glorious climate of Florida and the golden fruit that shone so resplendently among the olive leaved citrus trees in the light of the moon and he could not resist the enticing picture and so came to Marion county, resolved to be a citrus fruit Croesus.

Youth is exuberant in its expectations and with that spirit Mr. Whiteside located in the S. R. Pyles settlement, five miles south of town, planted and watered and his success was most gratifying, only to find the icy finger of the freeze of 1895 touching to death the labor, hopes and expectations of ten years of creation. With the disaster that befel the whole country Mr. Whiteside abandoned the cultivation of citrus fruits and for a year or so followed commercial pursuits, when in 1896 he took service under Phil H. Brown, who was the first manager of the Ocala House after Mr. H. P. Plant purchased it of the Ocala Improvement Co., and remained with him the five years that he successfully conducted it. When the Plant System hotels of Florida were disposed of, after Mr. Plant's death, and Mr. J. F. Edwards, of Gainesville, became the owner, Mr. Brown retired and Mr. Whiteside, who proved an apt pupil and had learned all the details of the hotel business, was placed in charge, and how well he has served the public is as well known as we could tell it. His management has been highly satisfactory and very gratifying to his host of friends in Ocala and over the state. He is another shining example of attention to business with a purpose to achieve success by honorable and upright methods.

Mr. Whiteside is heart whole and fancy free at forty and a worthy subject for Hymen's blessings.

Saturday last the teachers of Citrus county met in convention at Lecanto, and carried out a very interesting and instructive program. A paper was read by Prof. E. L. Cowden, principal of the Inverness school, on "Duties and Qualifications of a Principal." The report speaks of the paper as a treat. Professor Cowden, having taken the superintendent's course at the Peabody Normal at Nashville the past summer, was well qualified to speak on the subject chosen. Professor Cowden was assistant principal of the Ocala High School, and his many friends here are pleased to know of his good educational work in Citrus.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff Is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. JOHN W. PEARSON

Promoter, Real Estate Dealer and Phosphate Man

John W. Pearson was born in 1861, near Harrisonville, Mo., on a farm. At the breaking out of the civil war his parents moved to St. Joseph, Mo., and remained there until 1865, when they returned to their old home. He attended the country school a few years and worked on the farm until 1869, when his independent nature and desire to shift for himself sent him to Texas, where for nine years he resided, at first at Paris and later at Brownwood. H took to herding cattle, becoming a typical cowboy of that then undeveloped country, for in those days railroads had not entered Dallas, and the country was an almost unbroken or thinly settled section. In a few years he began trading cattle and ponies and later established a ranch. He was quite successful, but an affair of the heart at home induced him to return to his old stamping grounds, and he sold out. On his return he was married to the present Mrs. Pearson, which happy event took place in 1877, and then he, with his young bride, decided to go West, and landed at Medicine Lodge, Kan., the home of the populistic statesman, the late Jerry (Sockless) Simpson. Here he indulged his fondness for trading in live stock and real estate, and was doing nicely when the severities of the long winters on the trackless plains drew him to Sunny Florida in 1886, locating at what is known as Gum Swamp Scrub, where he set to work to create an orange grove, but a year at that demonstrated that life was too short for that experiment, so he "threw up the sponge," came to Ocala and set to work bringing in an occasional car of Texas ponies, breaking them and selling the same and buying more or less Ocala sand, and tossing it over to some one who desired it more than he did. This he continued for several years, until phosphates were discovered in Marion, when he was one of the pioneer prospectors and dealers, and did it to so good a purpose that he greatly augmented his bank account, and finally was recognized as one of the best posted, shrewdest and most successful operators in the business and had to his credit phosphate lands and mines that were second to none in the country, disposing of his valuable Alta mine, named in honor of his charming daughter, now a student at Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga., quite recently, and which has put Mr. Pearson on "Easy Street."

Mr. Pearson is a born trader and promoter, and it is largely to this native talent and rare good business judgment and hard common sense that has enabled him to interest men of means, looking for profitable investments, with him in large deals that has proved profitable to all parties at interest. Mr. Pearson is the original prospector and promoter with a view to finding oil in Florida. He began his operations near Bushnell, in Sumter county in June, 1901. He sank several wells, secured evidences of the oleaginous product, and unforseen obstacles in the geological formation of the earth and the immense pressure of the flow of water, caused him to abandon that site and take up the work in Citrus county near Stage Pond, and while he has not yet attained a gusher he is as sanguine as ever that he will strike it and with faith will soon resume boring operations.

Mr. Pearson was recignized as possessing fine business ability by his fellow citizens of the Brick City and was elected for several terms to the common council, where he served faithfully and to the best interests of the city, being made chairman of the police and street committee, and during his service was the builder of more permanent hard streets than any man who has ever sat on the city council. They are with us today as a desirable city asset. He owns a fine home on Fort King avenue, one of the really desirable residence streets of the city. Mr. Pearson is the kind of a settler that promotes and builds up. May his tribe increase.

HERBERT C. JONES

Manufacturer of Mineral Waters in Ocala

Herbert C. Jones was born in Lawrence, Mass., in 1867, and attended the public schools of his native city. At the age of 17 he came to Marion county, Fla., and settled near what is now known as Calvary, some seven miles southwest of Ocala, and embarked in the orange industry, which met a disastrous end in the severe freeze of 1886, when he concluded he would come to Ocala and embark in the manufacture of soda waters, being associated with his brother-in-law, Mr. E. C. Smith, at present the senior partner in the business known as the Ocala Furniture Company, and in which industry he has been engaged ever since, recently purchasing his partner's interest. He has been substantially located all these years on the same spot of ground.

Mr. Jones has proved himself a careful and conservative business man, taking his earnings and putting them in Ocala realty, at present owning the double brick building on North Magnolia street, the north half of which being occupied with his factory and sales room, while the remainder of the edifice has been fitted up and is now known as Hotel de Kaiser. The residence north of his place of business is also owned by Mr. Jones, which for a number of years he occupied as a home, but several years ago he purchased an entire block in the second ward, the south half of which contains four residences. The corner one on the east is now his home. Mr. Jones' interest in the city and his business ability is recognized by his friends. He was twice elected alderman from the fourth ward, and served the city faithfully and well.

Mr. Jones is also one of the stockholders of the Lemon Bay Fruit Company, which owns a desirable grove of ninety acres at Venice, Manatee county, and of which company he is treasurer.

Mr. Jones has twice been married. His first wife was Miss Mattie E. Tucker, and the nuptial ceremony was consummated in 1892. Three happy years sped, when the Angel of Death invaded his home. His second marriage took place in 1898, when he led Miss Bertha Marshall of San Antonio to the altar, and their union has been blessed with two interesting children.

The subject of these lines has ever been a firm believer in fraternal and benevolent orders, and he is now allied with the following orders, namely, Elks, Masons, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Fraternal Union of America and Beavers, and his interest is so deep in them that he has been shown the highest honors in all of them, and has represented them in the meetings of the respective grand lodges in the state.

Mr. Jones is a liberal, public spirited citizen, a member of the Ocala board of trade, and no movement that has for its object the bettering of the city's best interests ever arises but which meets his hearty endorsement and financial co-operation.
