Answers to want ads. at this office to be called for: "B. E. L.," "F.," "A. B. C.," "Housekeeper," "House," "N. P.," "S. R. Co.," "R. L. D.," "Woodsman," "Filer," "Reference," "E.," "Labor," "J. E. C."

H. J. Breett, of Caryville, Fla., was a business visitor to the city yesterday.

Thoms W. Griffith, of Bonifay, was among the business visitors here yesterday.

J. H. Spivey, of Moultrie, Ga., a prominent naval stores man of that place, is in the city.

Tomorrow's edition of The Journal will be the largest paper ever printed in West Florida and possibly the largest ever gotten out in the entire State.

C. J. O'Ferrall, traveling representative of the Atlanta Journal, was in the city yesterday looking after his paper's interests here.

W. F. Moss, O. C. Pennell and J. C. McKinnin, of Marianna, were among the business visitors in the city yesterday.

The Uurguayan bark Lluis has arrived at quarantine from Havana, where she will be detained for inspection.

The fishing schooner Carrie B. Welles, of the fleet of Saunders & Co., arrived in port yesterday with a cargo of 3,000 pounds of snappers.

J. E. Goodwin, of Cottondale, one of West Florida's well known naval stores men, was in Pensacola yesterday. Mr. Goodwin is one of The Journal's regular readers and best friends.

Miss Viva Herriman, milliner for the Forbes Department Store, who made so many friends in Pensacola during the past two years, has returned and will again serve them for a third season.

Send in your want ad copy early to-day for to-morrow's big edition. You must have an ad in it, as it will pay you. Strangers are already making arrangements for rooms and board for the winter.

Tomorrow's paper will contain 48 pages—so large an edition that mail subscribers will have to be served by two separate dispatches. Both of these mail dispatches will be received in the same mail, but in different wrappers, as it will be necessary to make up about 32 pages of the edition and get them into the post office to-night, the other 16 pages following tomorrow morning.

W. J. Forbes, who returned a day or two ago from New York, where he spent about a month and was present at the Bryan reception, says that Pensacola looks good to him and that indications point to a big business this fall. He says that people everywhere are talking about the Deep Water City. You hear it in the hotels, on the trains, and in business houses wherever one goes. Mr. Forbes' own enthusiasm for his home city has been stimulated to even greater warmth by his recent trip to the East.

It is unfortunate for the advertisers whose ads will be left out of tomorrow's edition, but The Journal does not wish to shoulder the blame. Ample notice was given to all. So far The Journal has been able to take care of all the advertisements sent in, and may be able to handle some of those that come in early to-day.

INTERESTING SESSION OF SUNDAY SCHOOL COUNCIL

Many Papers Read Before the Institute, and the Attendance Large.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS SHOWED ENTHUSIASM AND THE SUCCESS OF THE RECENTLY ORGANIZED INSTITUTE IS ASSURED.

The sessions of the Pensacola Sunday School Council yesterday were most interesting, and largely attended. Much interest was shown by those in attendance and the papers read were listened to attentively.

The morning session was well attended, and one of the interesting features was the lecture of W.C. Mackey on "The Home Department." Miss Kate Connor also read a most interesting paper on the "Primary Department."

Afternon Session.

The afternoon session of the institute was opened at 4 o'clock with Rev. F. A. Rogers presiding.

After devotional exercises led by Rev. Senterfit, the first topic, "Teacher Training" was presented by Rev. T. M. Calloway who said in part:

"In the outset I will say there are some things every Sunday School teacher should know. First, he should know that he occupies a most important and responsible position and one which requires the best of training and equipment. The world is calling for trained men and those who are best trained are filling the important places in business and professional life while the untrained are falling to the rear. Should not our churches keep pace by demanding trained Sunday school teachers?

"No railroad entrusts a fine engine to an incompetent man. The Sunday school class is more important, for it is not a thing of clay, or wood, or iron, but deals with human lives and which other forces are also at work. A very large part of the responsibility rests upon the teacher as to the success or failure of the life committed to his care.

"Second. The teacher should study to know the Bible—he is to teach. The ideal teacher will not be satisfied with simply knowing about the Book or what others have said about it, but will seek earnestly for a personal knowledge of the Bible as a whole and in its separate parts.

"A teacher may be well versed in history, science, literature, philosophy and all human knowledge, but if he is ignorant of God's truth as revealed in His word, his mission as a teacher will be a failure. But an intellectual knowledge of the Book is not enough. The true teacher must have an experimental knowledge of the truth. You notice I do not say should have or ought to have, but must have. The Book must not only be in the head but in the heart.

"Third. The teacher must know the pupil. There are no two things in nature exactly alike, so every person is marked with individuality. The wise teacher will seek to gain a knowledge of his pupil's ignorance of his interests, his aims, his ambitions of his very nature and needs.

"Fourth. The teacher should be trained not only to know what to teach, and whom he is teaching but also how to teach. Simply telling—not teaching.

"One may say the idea is too high. The cry of the Lord in the Sunday school is 'We have incompetent teachers.' What are we to do?. Lower the standard or seek to elevate the teachers? By all means the latter. Let us use what facilities we have and strain to make those facilities better."

"Let us lay greater stress upon training teachers, upon the teachers meetings, normal classes, and above all put ourselves close under the instruction of the Teacher of Teachers who said 'Come, learn of me,' for after all he who has come into true heart knowledge of the Great Teacher and Savior and King will be blessed in his efforts to make Him known to others."

After the paper there was a animated discussion as to the adoption of some further practical means of training teachers for the Sunday school.

It was finally suggested that since none of the Sunday schools were quite large enough to conduct a special department for this purpose that the various Sunday schools cooperate with the Y. M. C. A., in conducting such a class in which male teachers could be trained for service in the various churches.

This suggestion was heartily approved.

An Excellent Paper.

Following this discussion Miss Emily Morley presented a paper upon "The Graded Sunday School," which was in part as follows:

"If the day school should be graded, so should the Sunday school. There are many weighty reasons why the Sunday school should be at least equal, if not superior, to the day school in its working efficiency. It has a more important mission; inasmuch as the spiritual is more important than the merely intellectual. One of the greatest sources of efficiency in the day school is its graded system. The Sunday school must likewise be graded to do its best work. If it is a sound principle in one case it is certainly so in the other. The following plan for grading a Sunday school has been devised with great care and with the help of leading educators and Sunday school workers.

The plan is to have a course of Bible lessons supplementary to the regular international lessons, which shall grow in difficulty and comprehensiveness as the pupil advances. It includes the years between three and twenty (approximately) and is intended to afford the pupils a symmetrical course of Bible instruction, preparing them for their place in the church. A drill in these lessons will occupy a part of the recitation home (say five or ten minutes) each Sunday and of course the supplemented work necessarily includes such home study as the case may require.

"The school is divided into four departments as folloys: Primary, five years, (from 4 to 8 inclusive); Junior, four years, (9 to 12); Intermediate, four years (13 to 17); Senior, three years (17 and up). After the Senior class, comes the Normal Advanced Bible classes, which may be organized as the pastor and superintendent may elect. Before the primary is the Cradle Roll department, which has been found to be very useful.

"One each year, preferably in the spring, the school will have a 'Promotion Day,' at which exercises, diplomas and promotion certificates will be awarded to those who are ready to advance into another class or department and formal announcement of this fact will be made. Promotion Day should be made an 'event' in the school year. The church auditorium should be used and decorated, special music prepared and the whole morning hour given to it. The program should consist in part of recitation and drill in selected portions of supplemental work and the pastor could readily be induced to preach an appropriate short sermon.

"When the pupils pass from one department to another they are given a diploma. As they pass from one year to another within a department they are given a promotion certificate. Handsome diplomas and certificates, especially adapted to the purpose may be had from the publishing houses.

"A 'Superintendent of Classification' should be appointed or elected who will be given the responsibility not only of welcoming and knowing new pupils and of placing them in their proper classes, but who will also attend to all promotions and changes from one class or department to another. A wise superintendent will judiciously divide the work of his school among his several workers.

"It is generally thought to be wise to promote the teacher with the class, though there is often a temptation to do so. Certainly under no circumstances, should a teacher in the primary department be promoted beyond a department, for they thus lose the benefit of their experience."

The plan was highly commended in the discussion that followed, and was highly recommended for gradual adoption in the Sunday school.

Evening Session.

At the evening session after devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. S. Sibly, the first subject presented was "Use of Maps in Sunday Schools," by R. M. Bushnell.

This proved to be one of the interesting subjects of the evening, and was listened to attentively by those present.

This topic was followed by an interesting and instructive simposium of chalk talks by various Sunday school superintendents.

The question box brought out lively discussions.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"The first institution under the Pensacola Sunday School Council was a success and there is no doubt that this institute will result in better work in all the Sunday schools and that the Pensacola Sunday School Council will be of church usefulness."

Membership in this council is open to all officers and teachers in any Sunday school of Pensacola or vicinity. The prayer meetings are bimonthly, beginning the second Tuesday in August and the meeting place is the Y. M. C. A.

Ladies Make Complaint.

Two ladies residing on East Intendencia street, called upon Marshal Schad yesterday afternoon and entered complaint regarding the conduct of children on that street who, it seems, have been making a great deal of noise. The marshal promised them that the matter would have immediate attention, and would see that in future no law was violated.

THE RESIDENT ENGINEER HERE

And It Is Possible That the Sewer Work Will Commence Monday.

Civil Engineer Rommel, assistant to T. Chalkly Hatton, the engineer employed to supervise Pensacola's sewerage and drainage system, reached the city yesterday, and during the forenoon called upon members of the Board of Bond Trustees. Mr. Rommel came from Wilmington, Del., where he has just completed the supervision of a large contract, and will be in charge of the Pensacola work.

It is anticipated that the sewerage work will be commenced Monday morning, as the superintendent for R. C. Storrie is expected today, as is also material for the commencement of the big job.

GRAND RIDGE

Special to The Journal.

Grand Ridge, Sept. 21.—Our great village moves on with manifest progress. Good health is the rule and no exception at this writing.

The Jones Mill Company is idle at present because of delay in some repairs.

The McCranie Mercantile Co. and Mr. Henry Wester, Jr., have purchased the Haven cotton gin, and are also delayed in getting an engine.

The Farmers' Association is building saw and grist mills and a ginnery at Shady Grove, about five miles south of this place. They have hauled out a large amount of machinery, and will be ready for business when completed, and their products will be brought to the railroad at this place.

Whooping cough has invaded the local school, and the teacher and a good portion of the pupils are keeping up a chorus in several keys. For a time it was feared that school would have to be suspended.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Porter have returned from their four weeks' visit at Birmingham, Memphis, Pittsburg, Kansas City and Topeka. Both enjoyed their trip, and Mrs. Porter's health was greatly benefited.

Judge and Mrs. Porter are also at home, and in a brief trip of less than three weeks traveled over 2,000 miles. They visited each of their three absent children, and found them all well and prospering.

Grand Ridge has three graphophones; one on north side, one on south side and one near the center, and a few nights since two gave a free concert from their homes, playing alternate selections, which were loudly applauded by the citizens.

Scarcely a home in our town is without an organ or piano, and one old couple who once did sing, and had an organ, and children to play and sing with them, but now all the birdlings have left the parental nest and the organ has been donated to the oldest granddaughter, and the "old folks" are alone, and their voices are now too "cracked" to sing as they did 50 years ago; and so the graphaphone is called in to sing at their evening devotions and "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Surely the graphaphone is a wonderful instrument and the storing up, and giving out of the exact human voice is the most wonderful of all the great discoveries of the past; and its utilities are the greatest and above, and beyond all pictures or mementoes of our dear departed, and may be a parting or farewell addres, and truly "he being dead, yet speaketh."

FAMILY RUNT

Kansas Man Says Coffee Made Him That

"Coffee has been used in our family of eleven—father, mother, five sons and four daughters—for thirty years: I am the eldest of these boys and have always been considered the runt of the family and a coffee toper.

"I continued to drink it for years until I grew to be a man, and then I found I had stomach trouble, nervous headaches, poor circulation, was unable to do a full day's work took medicine for this, that, and the other thing, without the least benefit. In fact I only weighed 116 when I was 28.

"Then I changed from coffee to Postum being the first one in our family to do so. I noticed, as did the rest of the family, that I was surely gaining strength and flesh. Shortly after I was visiting my cousin who said, 'You look so much better—you're getting fat.'

"At breakfast his wife passed me a large sized cup of coffee, as she knew I was always such a coffee drinker, but I said, 'No, thank you.'

"'What!' said my cousin, 'you quit coffee? What do you drink?'

"'Postum,' I said, 'or water, and I am well.' They did not know what Postum was, but my cousin had stomach trouble and could not sleep at night from drinking a large cup of coffee three times a day. He was glad to learn about Postum but said he never knew coffee hurt anyone.

"After understanding my condition and how I got well he knew what to do for himself. He discovered that coffee was the cause of his trouble as he never used tobacco or anything else of the kind. You should now see the change in him. We both believe that if persons who suffer from coffee drinking would stop and use Postum they could build back to health and happiness." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Your Food

must be properly digested and assimilated to be of any value to you, otherwise it is a source of harm instead of good.

If not digested, it ferments and decays, causing "sour stomach," "heart burn," nausea, headache, flatulence, bad breath and other discomforts.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

compels proper digestion of the food and sends the food nutriment through the blood into all parts of the body.

The tissues are thus built up and every organ is restored to health and strength and put in perfect condition.

Disease is driven out to stay out—the cause is removed.
