Miss Jenney informs us that after reaching New York, the temperature was anything but agreeable, and in order to be at all comfortable, doors and windows in coaches were closed and good weight wraps a necessity.

The following clipping dated July 1, Piqua, Ohio, may prove interesting to many of the lady's friends, as she is well-known in Walton, having passed several winters with her sister, Mrs. Rollin V. Ankeney, at Ankona: "As Miss Merle Pease, of Columbus, was sinking a second time in the reservoir below Loramie dam today, Leegon Lam, of Piqua, her escort, exhausted himself, and cried for help. Warren Hunt, a stranger, swam to them, dragging the girl to the dam by her apron, when John Nollinger and William Edge drew them to shore."

A FRIEND'S TRIBUTE

The many friends of Augustus W. Emanuel were inexpressibly shocked and grieved to learn of his tragical death some days ago at Sumpterville, Fla.

The papers have related how he was thrown from the rear of his cab while performing his duties as conductor, and how eight loaded cars passed over his body, mangling him almost beyond recognition, but no paper can in the smallest measure portray the grief and deep sorrow felt by every person who enjoyed the pleasure of his acquaintance.

He was well known in this section of the East Coast, having spent much of his time here as a young man, and for years he was a trusted employe on the East Coast railroad; popular alike with his employers and fellow-workmen, and truly may it be said of him that he numbered his friends by his acquaintances.

His sunny disposition, unswerving integrity and noble character endeared him to all who knew him and his terrible death leaves in many a heart an aching void that can only be felt by the loss of a dear and valued friend.

He leaves a little orphan daughter, an aged mother and a large circle of heart-broken relatives to mourn his loss and his every friend feels and extends to them deepest sympathy and warmest compassion in their terrible affliction.

May the rememberance of the Haven their dear one has surely found prove a soothing consolation to them in this, their hour of need. H. P. O.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Seasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." Sold by St. Lucie Drug Co.

One of the largest sales of Everglade lands recorded recently is that of 13,000 acres, sold by J. H. Tatum & Company to the Richardson-Kellett Company (incorporated) of Minneapolis, Minn. The land lies directly in front of the Dredge "Miami," and in the course of time the boat will plough through the center of the tract.
