ANKONA

Rollin Ankeny spent Monday in Fort Pierce.

Mrs. Fletcher Russell will be at home to her women friends, Wednesday, at Applethorpe plantation.

Mrs. L. Ankeny, whose present headquarters are at Fort Pierce, spent a few days with the Rollin Ankeny's last week.

Mrs. Tancre has been spending a week with the Rollin Ankenys, arranging the sale of her Ankona property. She returned to Jacksonville early in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woolnough, of Minneapolis, returned from Fort Lauderdale last week, and are visiting the Chamberlains, pending the completion of business relative to the purchase of a home in middle Ankona. It is hoped that all may be satisfactorily arranged, as Ankona covets this charming couple.

Mrs. Rollin Ankeny gave a charming "at home" last Wednesday afternoon. Youth and middle age were forgotten and all joined in children's games with a zest that was truly juvenile. "Managerie" "Pig-in-the Poke" and nursery rhymes puzzled the brain, taxed the eye and wooed the muse. Pretty prizes were won by Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Hamor.

Mr. and Mrs. Suman Simons, of Minneapolis, Minn., are spending a week with the Chamberlains, at Del Cerro Grove. They express themselves as having been much disappointed in Florida, until they alighted from the train at Fort Pierce, which city they unhesitatingly pronounced the most wholesome attractive and business like town they had yet visited. The river trip down to Ankona— a panorama of prosperous-looking dwellings and plantations—filled them with enthusiasm; but it took the River drive to capture them completely, and make them know where paradise really is. Many thanks for the good opinion: We quite agree with them.

What came near being a serious accident, occurred about eight o'clock last Friday evening on the River drive. As Mrs. Edgar Lewis and party were driving peacefully around a curve, they were suddenly confronted by a large touring car, driven at terrific spead, in the hands of a tourist, who was too indifferent to sound his horn in warning. The horse plunged aside just in time to prevent a head on collision. It was no thanks to the chaffeur that the entire party were not instantly killed. The greatest indignation prevails throughout Ankona, and the edict has gone forth that this must not occur again. There is absolutely no excuse for this high handedness and it will not be tolerated.

When the Ankona Euchre Club was born, its horoscope was read, and from the lips of the peerless Cassandra herself, fell these magic words:

"When the Saegers entertain
That's the time to look for rain.
Cloud of black and mist of brown
Patter come the wet drops down.
Be advised, this is no bosh,
Better wear your mackintosh.
When the Saegers entertain
That's the time you get the rain."

All of which came to pass, as usual, when the club members gathered at the Saeger residence last Friday evening. But it takes more than a downpour of rain to discourage this organization, and there was an unusually large attendance, despite the inclemency of the weather. Everybody and his guest was present and although each member stoutly averred that "he hadn't a hand he could bid on all evening," there was no dearth of fun. The ribbon was captured by George Chamberlain, who felt almost ashamed to accept the honor on a total of 247. After sumptuous refreshments, the members were delighted with some up-to-date records, and it was unusually late before it was discovered that the clouds had rolled away, and the moon in readiness to light the tired ones on their homeward trip. If the weather is unusually dry, the Saegers will undoubtedly be requested to entertain again.

The change of date of Mrs. McCarty's bi-weekly hop at the Improvement Hall, Fort Pierce, attracted the terpsichoreans of Ankona, last Thursday evening. The Saylors with their accustomed generosity, made the trip up in the good ship Isabel, taking on passengers at every pier, until the craft was filled with merry makers, bent upon being "noticed" at the hall. As they ascended the stairs to the ball room the stirring strains of a familiar overture played by the Fort Pierce band hastened their footsteps. Many fancied that the orchestra were to furnish music; but they ended their overture with a crash and stole away. Their places were taken by Messrs. Pomeroy, violin, and Gunst, piano. A crowd which comfortably filled the hall was attracted by the alluring strains that floated from the upper windows, and the dance was soon on in full swing. Never did imprenario get together a more select company than Mrs. McCarty lured about her that night. The ladies were daintily gowned, and many bewitching costumes floated in and out amongst the dancers. Refinement and good taste characterized the evening, with an extra modicum of the latter distinctly noticeable in the refreshments, which were served in one end of the hall. Mrs. McCarty is a past master at "managing," and as the party turned homeward, weary and footsore but happy, they expressed the belief that the affair was a financial, as well as an artistic success. A vote to come again passed by acclamation. Ankona will be there again.

A dance was given in the Hardee hall Saturday evening. Music was furnished by two violins and guitar. Those that attended report a very pleasant time.

Quite a crowd from here attended the dance at the Fellsmere hotel Friday night. The trip was made by flatcar over the new railroad. Everybody reported a jolly time and wish for like occurrence again soon.

A party from here spent Thursday picnicing and watching the excavators at work. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. G.A. Braddock, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vickers, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Braddock.

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good VINOL has done me. I was told that Cod Liver Oil was the medicine I needed for my weakened condition and poor blood. I could not take the greasy mixture, and when our druggist told me that VINOL contained not only tonic iron but all the medicinal properties of Cod Liver Oil without the grease or oil or bad taste, I made up my mind that was the medicine for me. I tried it and to-day am strong and well."

MRS. J. T. SNYDER,

We guarantee the genuineness of the above testimonial.

We sell VINOL with the understanding that if it does not give the purchaser perfect satisfaction, we return his money without question. Will you try a bottle under these conditions?
