Fredna Wilkerson

New principal at DES

MICHEL NORTHSEA
Special to Riverland News

With the first day of summer school earlier this week, Fredna Wilkerson started her new job as principal at Dunnellon Elementary School.

She replaces Patricia Hornsby at Dunnellon Elementary School. Hornsby will become principal of Marion Oaks Elementary that opens in August.

Wilkerson started her career in Marion County a "long-time" ago, she quipped, adding it had been more than 25 years.

She has taught at Ft. King Middle, Anthony Elementary and College Park.

Teaching wasn't her first career choice.

At first, she imagined herself as a counselor for delinquent youth, but jobs weren't forthcoming. Following that dream, she earned her degree in sociology and physiology from the University of South Florida.

"Back then, I used to be real thin," she said, suggesting her petite size

Kasey Fagan named

National Softball Player of Year

Kasey Fagan has been named 2009-10 Gatorade Florida Softball Player of the Year for the second consecutive year. She is now a finalist for the prestigious Gatorade National Player of the Year Award.

SANDRA S. KOONCE
and LARRY BUGG

For those following the sports achievements of Kasey Fagan, the announcement yesterday that she had been named the best softall player in the nation came as no surprise.

Just a week ago, she was named as the Gatorade Softball Player of the Year for the State of Florida, an honor the star pitcher thought would go to someone else. Following that state award, however, speculation was high that she would also garner the national honor.

And, she did.

In between the two sports awards, she also graduated from high school (Thursday night) as salutatorian of her class.

Fagan received the 2009-10 Gatorade National Softball Player of the Year award at an official ceremony at Dunnellon High School yesterday,

Although a surprise to the recipient, word of the honor spread fast throughout the community after an early announcement was sent by the Gatorade public relations team and a large contingent was present to show their support and community pride.

NCAA Softball World Series Champion and former U.S. National Team pitcher Alicia Hollowell, who earned the Gatorade National Softball Player of the Year honors in 2001-02, was present to make the award to Fagan on behalf of Gatorade.

The Gatorade Player of the Year program annually recognizes one winner in the District of Columbia and each of the 50 states that sanction high school football, girls volleyball, boys and girls cross country, boys and girls basketball, boys and girls soccer, baseball, softball, and boys and girls track and field, and awards one National Player of the Year in each sport. In addition to athletic excellence, the award recognizes academic achievement and exemplary character on and off the field.

This year celebrates the program's 25th anniversary. In that time, Gatorade has honored more than 10,550 State Players of the Year and 218 National Players of the Year, including many of today's top professional athletes, such as Peyton Manning,

Riverland editor moves to new post

Pat Faherty, editor of the Riverland News since October 2007, has taken a new job with a sister newspaper in Quincy.

He began his duties as general manager of the Gadsden County Times on Monday. The weekly newspaper has more than 1,000 subscribers and a larger staff than the News.

A farewell column by Faherty is on today's editorial page.

The north Florida newspaper is, like the Riverland News and the Citrus County Chronicle, owned by Landmark Community Newspapers, headquartered in Shelbyville, Kentucky. Landmark has 54 paid circulation newspapers in 13 states, 40 free newspapers and shoppers, 16 offset commercial printing plants, seven collegiate sports publications, and 30 special publications

Despite legal costs, city in good fiscal shape

PAT FAHERTY

The city received good marks for its 2008-2009 fiscal year audit by Powell & Jones.

Dunnellon "performed well" for the fiscal year and finished with substantial equity for a small city. During the year it increased its total assets by approximately $437,000.

The city has total assets of approximately $23.6 million against total liabilities of approximately $5.5 million.

However, the firm pointed out that Dunnellon expenses for the year did exceed revenues due to "unusual excess legal expenses." The city had budgeted $56,800 for legal expenses that year, but actually spent $439,821, a difference of $383,021.

Law enforcement personnel was another area where costs significantly exceeded budget. The city had budgeted $387,633 but spent $495,071, a difference of $107,438.

In all, the city spent about $2.75 million while taking in about $2.55 million. The actual difference was $192,155.

But auditors took the position, that overall the city was better off at the end of the year than at the beginning.

Dunnellon's sewer fund however, continues to be a concern.

As an enterprise fund, it is supposed to pay its way and be operated similar to a private business. But for the fiscal year, the sewer fund had operating revenue (charges for service) of $569,394. And it had operating expenses of $849,570 for a deficit of $280,176.

For the water, also an enterprise fund, rev-

Board revisits septic system requirements

The Marion County Springs Protection Ordinance, adopted last year, marked a significant step in Marion County's ongoing actions to protect and preserve local water resources. And, on the one-year anniversary of this landmark decision, county staff is working to re-evaluate septic system requirements detailed in the ordinance.

Some of the requirements have raised concerns because of discrepancies between the county's current ordinance and the State Department of Health, or DOH, code for construction and operation of low pressure dosing systems. Low pressure dosing systems are similar to traditional septic systems but add a pump to more effectively distribute outflow to a system's drain field.

Currently, the ordinance states that septic systems installed or replaced after Jan. 1, 2011, must be low pressure dosing systems. However, the DOH oversees septic system permitting as required by the State of Florida and is responsible for implementing this portion of the ordinance. Also, recently passed state legislation requires the DOH to administer a state-wide septic system inspection program beginning Jan. 1, 2011, which eliminates the need for similar language in the county's ordinance.

County staff requested that the commission schedule a public workshop on June 3, 2010, to discuss these issues. At that workshop, commissioners directed staff to re-evaluate septic system requirements and provide recommendations for changing some of those standards. Staff is expected to present recommended changes to commissioners within 60 days.

For more information, contact the Office of the County Engineer Water Resources Program at 352-671-8686. To view the current ordinance, visit www.marioncountyfl.org and enter "Springs Protection Ordinance" in the search box.

In other county action Purvis Gray & Company, LLP, of Ocala, audited Marion County's financial statements starting in January 2010 for the 2008-2009 fiscal year and found that Marion County meets all professional standards for how it manages financial accounts. During last week's board meeting, a representative from Purvis Gray & Company released the auditor's findings.

The audit, required annually by Florida Statutes in accordance with Government Auditing Standards, included evaluating governmental and business activities as well as each major fund. The audit also included an analysis of Marion County's internal control over financial reporting and compliance with various laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements.

"Our audit did not identify any significant deficiencies required to be reported in accordance with Government Audit Standards," Certified Public Accountant Tim M. Westgate said. "We found no financial emergencies or trends indicating a deteriorating financial condition. Having no reportable items is a very good thing, especially considering the impacts the current economy could have on your financial statements or financial reporting system."

Preliminary work on the current 2009-2010 fiscal year will start in June 2010, and the outside auditor will start reviewing financial statements for this fiscal year in January 2011.

The Dunnellon High School Air Force Jr. ROTC held its annual cadet recognition ceremony toward the end of the school year. Cadets were honored with a variety of individual awards for community service, academic achievement and program excellence.

OUR VIEW

Fathers play important role

We often hear about the bad fathers, those who couldn't care less about their children, who treat them as a biological accident, or who leave and put them out of their minds or, worse yet, physically and mentally abuse those little ones.

But across the country, there are millions of fathers who take their responsibility toward their children seriously, who work without much fanfare to make sure their youngsters become good, strong, moral adults.

This Sunday is their day to shine, their day to be recognized for the good that they do in forming the future leaders of our nation.

It wasn't until the mid 1960s that President Lyndon Johnson officially proclaimed the third Sunday in June as Father's Day. The day first made its appearance in the first decade of the 20th Century when a Washington state woman wanted to honor her father, who had raised the family by himself following the death of his wife in childbirth.

Even now, the day takes a back seat to Mother's Day in May, which receives a lot more notoriety and public comment.

But that's what a lot of good fathers do – sit back and watch the mother and the children get a lot of the credit.

This weekend, though, give him his due. If you're fortunate enough to have your dad still around, don't e-mail him, don't text him. If you want to send him a card, that's OK. But most importantly, give him a phone call (you know, those old-fashioned things with a dial tone and push buttons). Let him hear your voice saying "Happy Father's Day" live and in person.

Even if your dad is still around but not a part of your life, give him a call anyway. Time has a way of healing all wounds, and if it's been a long time since you had any contact, it could be beneficial for both of you.

Finally, to all the fathers out there, even if you're not in a position to get greetings from your children, know that society appreciates the good work that many dads have done over the years, and enjoy the day.

Happy Father's Day to all.

LETTERS

Change you can count on

In a June 3, 2010, letter the writer stated that my letter of May 27, 2010 "obfuscated" (render indistinct) the data and was "out of context pap". (I do not know what this means).

Let's unobfuscate it.

First it is important to understand that Congress, not the President, controls authorization of funding. Congress is also responsible for oversight of various matters in our society and economy. Next we need to understand that the Democrats controlled Congress for the last four years and there is now a Democrat in the White House. These folks campaigned on "Change you can count on".

Well, the debt changed to $13 trillion, $3 trillion of this added by the Democratic controlled Congress in the last two years of Mr. Bush's presidency and most of the rest during Obama's tenure. Change you can count on.

He stated that Obama's budget fully accounts for all items of expenditure yet in the very next paragraph he admits that the budget has not yet been submitted. So how do we know what is accounted for? Change you can count on.

He admits that some major corporations are planning to drop medical care but says "This has not happened yet" A Wall Street Journal article states 12 percent will drop all coverage for all employees and 43 percent of employers will reduce or eliminate coverage for retirees. Change you can count on.

He stated the Mineral Management Services fiasco in handling the Gulf oil spill is due to Mr. Bush not properly funding the group. Democrats have been in control for four years and Mr. Bush is out of office two years. What did the Dems do for those four years? Oh, I know—they were content to bash Mr. Bush. Change you can count on.

In Pennsylvania and Colorado, two we know about, may be more, the White house tried to buy the elimination of competition to elected office for their favorites. Change you can count on.

The SEC is now under investigation because it is alleged that key personnel spent most of their day reviewing porn and not Wall Street. Under the Dems watch Wall Street Collapsed. Change you can count on.

After four years they did nothing to secure our border. Unchange you can count on.

And, of course, the president had plenty of time to welcome visiting athletes to the White House but no time to get on top of that oil spill. More change we can count on.

I hope this unobfuscates my earlier memo.

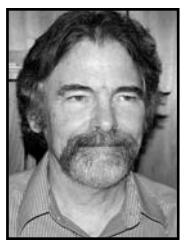
EDITOR FAREWELL

Leaving an interesting and charitable community

For a small city, with sparsely populated suburbs by Florida standards, Dunnellon has a lot of news.

Even as mainstream America slows down for the summer, Dunnellon remains a busy place.

The city is considering offering broadband access, there is pending litigation, the community is getting ready to recognize the high school softball and baseball teams, Dunnellon Elementary school has a new principal and local elections are coming.



Pat Faherty
Editor

So leaving Dunnellon and Riverland News was not an easy choice. In addition to always having plenty of news there are plenty of "newsmakers," unlimited photo opportunities and many well-informed opinionated readers.

There are also plenty of issues and interesting people who have not made it into the news yet, but sit like an untapped treasure trove waiting for the next editor.

But community newspaper editors always move on with a sense of stories untold, hoping the next person in that position finds a little more time or maybe just writes a little faster.

Having worked at newspapers in a variety of communities, I can honesty say Dunnellon has a greater proportion of people who are genuinely concerned about this area than most places I have worked. And that is not just in terms of natural resources, which are extremely important, but people here are also very concerned about other people.

When the occasion arises, they volunteer, donate, collect food and pitch in any way they can to help out others. Charity is a local characteristic that seems to span all age groups.

Dunnellon is also blessed with a resilient business community – entrepreneurs who have adjusted to a different type of economy – who still continue to support numerous activities while providing small town service.

So Dunnellon set a pretty high standard as I compare it to my next location. This was my last issue at the Riverland News. I am transferring to take advantage of a new opportunity at another Landmark Community Newspaper.

Now if you're ever in the Panhandle, just northwest of Tallahassee, stop by the Gadsden County Times in downtown Quincy and say hello.

TIME TO SMILE

Father's Day Remembrance: Oh My Pa Pa

I sure miss my Pop. He's been gone 10 years. I am glad he wasn't here for Sept. 11. It would have broken his heart. It is a whole different war than the one he fought in. He would find it all very disturbing. My Dad would have been on June 19. His birthday always fell on or around Father's Day. The birthdays that fall near a holiday sometimes get short changed. His often did.

Kathleen Wallace

On bright sunny days, I often wonder what he is up too. If there is a heaven he would be coaching Babe Ruth, Joe DeMaggio and other assorted Yankees. That is of course if he wasn't busy coaching basketball. He was always going to retire from coaching. That day never seem to come. He would retire for two months and then he would be back at it.

He is lucky he got to do something that he loved all his life. These coaching jobs were all pro bono.

Work gave him indigestion. Actually everything gave him indigestion.

We dread getting the "Wallace stomach. My Dad worked for his uncle as a general manager in a paint shop. His uncle invented the large paint booths and sprayers used to paint appliances. A co-worker stole the patent from him. It was a never-ending saga of court cases that left my uncle bitter. My father's work environment was unpleasant.

It was also back in the day when everyone smoked in the office. My Dad would come home reeking of cigarette smoke. As a non-smoker he hated it. Once he put on a baseball cap and had a ball in his hand hewas a different man. Life was pleasant again.

My Pop had a great sense of humor. Through all the misery that fell on his doorstep he always had a good laugh. I think that is what I loved most about him. He would go off on tirades and then he would end his ranting with a wise crack. It was as if he saw himself in the mirror and he laughed at how silly he was acting. You have to be able to laugh at yourself. Life is way too long to take it seriously.

I remember when I was about 7 I had seen the Pink Panther movies.

One day I was practicing my Kato karate moves. Just as he walked around the corner I karate chopped him right where it hurts! He laughed even though he was rolled over in pain.

He and my mom were married over 54 years. He adored my mother. I have many fond memories of him putting his records on the stereo and dancing in his underwear with my mother. I think that is why I love music from the '40s. It brings back memories of my parents when they were young. He would do a little tap dance number with his skinny legs like the Straw Man in The Wizard of Oz.

For good or for bad I am very much my Father's Daughter. I definitely inherited his temperament, pessimistic out look and luckily for me his sense of humor. I wish he were here to share my stories. Having found his diary from World War II I know where my writing skills came from.

Unfortunately I have his bad spelling habit too.

Happy Father's Day to all Dads! Appreciate him while you have him.

Editor's Note: Larry Bugg, News correspondent who has followed Fagan's career, wrote the following after she received the state award. This award preceded yesterday's award in Dunnellon.

It may have been her considerable humility but Kasey Fagan was surprised.

The recent Dunnellon High graduate found out she was chosen as 2009-10 Gatorade Softball Player of the Year.

The 5-foot-11 senior pitcher and third baseman batted .574 with eight home runs, 53 runs and 61 runs batted and had a 26-1 pitching record with an 0.57 earned run average and 239 strikeouts.

The award honors not only outstanding athletic achievement but also academic achievement and character excellence. As a student, she had a weighted 4.74 grade point average. She will be attending and playing softball next year on scholarship for the University of Florida.

She also was a key figure as the Dunnellon High softball team won the Class 4A state title for the second straight year with a 33-1 record.

However, there was this other player, Jacqueline Traina of Naples. Fagan thought Traina was likely to scoop the Gatorade honors.

"I was pretty surprised because I was going against Jacqueline," said Fagan. "A lot of people had some good things to say about me."

Fagan knows she and her sisters, Sami and Haley, had a real tough coach to please in their father, Kevin.

Dad Fagan played in two Super Bowls as a defensive lineman for the San Francisco 49ers. He knows a thing or two about a hard work ethic and putting in the effort it takes to win.

Good old Dad definitely pushed everyone on the team, especially his daughters.

"He knows that softball is a game of failure," Kasey said. "He expects more of us. He knows what we can do."

Kasey is grateful that she has lived in Dunnellon and played at Dunnellon High School.

"I am really happy I ended up at Dunnellon," she said. "It's a great school and a great community. I am thankful I could play for a group of girls who love each other and put the team before themselves."

She is going to be a Gator softball player and would love to make a national softball team.

"It would be an honor to be asked to try out for them," said Kasey.

Her senior year was a remarkable experience for her.

"I think last year as a person and a player, I have grown a lot," she said. "I mean spiritually. I have tried to make my game about playing for God. I think that he wants me to spread the word."

She is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, is active at the First United Methodist Church and is a member of the National Honor Society.

As both father and coach, Dad Fagan is elated that Kasey has become this high school super overachiever.

"It's quite an honor because the state of Florida is one of the best states in the nation for softball," he said. "Kasey is so strong academically. You have to have really strong character. It's really a well-rounded award. It's the best overall combination of player-student and good character. The fact that she won it is really an honor.

"The stuff they had to say about Kasey was really incredible. That's exciting to hear. My wife, Nancy, and I couldn't be prouder of her."

He also gave a nod to the Tigers' team.

"I don't think any of these accolades would be possible without having a great team," he said. "Some credit needs to go to the team. It's important that she was surrounded by players with good character."

And, he didn't leave out the parents.

"If you have good parents, you have good kids. We have a good group of parents who are dedicated to their children and that has made this possible."

didn't instill lots of confidence in those making the hiring decision.

A friend of her father's told her that she needed to gain some classroom experience before continuing on her counselor path.

So Wilkerson went back to school for a degree in elementary education.

Once in the classroom, the Marion County-born Wilkerson found she loved teaching so much she thought she would want to stay in the classroom throughout her career.

But when her own three children became school-age, Wilkerson decided to work on her master's degree in educational leadership at the University of Central Florida.

In 2000, she was selected as assistant principal at Harbour View Elementary, near The Villages. Three years ago, she transferred to Saddlewood Elementary.

Although Wilkerson has enjoyed her days at Saddlewood, she is looking forward to working in Dunnellon.

When she first applied for a principal's job in the county earlier this year she knew there were four openings, including Sparr Elementary and Dunnellon Elementary.

If she had been hired for Sparr, she would have been principal for the school she had attended herself.

But she was assigned to Dunnellon by School Supt. Jim Yancey.

Wilkerson said Yancey told her when they talked about the job he was going to send her to Dunnellon.

Wilkerson is pleased with the decision.

While waiting for the county office to make a decision, she said her mind would wander over to Dunnellon Elementary.

Yancey's decision was confirmation to her feeling.

Hanging on the bulletin boards of her office in Saddlewood is a note on the habits of effective managers, including the need to have "me" time.

Wilkerson's finds her "me" time while she's driving.

She enjoys listening to music and even singing along. Gospel music is her favorite, both contemporary and old-time. She's a member of a church choir and the drive time gives her the opportunity to learn the songs she needs to sing on Sunday.

On Saturdays, there are family functions to attend and community projects that Wilkerson lends a hand with.

And there's her job to at DES that she has to think about, the job she has been "totally looking forward too."

Wilkerson said she felt schools in more rural settings, such as Dunnellon, are able to "grab hold of the community" and relationships can be built.

enues of $334,296 exceeded expenses by $32,206.

For the fiscal year ending in 2009 the city received approximately $1.694 million in total taxes. Of that amount, $743,786 was in property taxes and the rest came from gas taxes, franchise taxes and utility taxes. Taxes on electricity came $89,265 more than expected.

Intergovernmental revenue, which includes state and federal grants and various state revenue sharing, came in much lower than expected that year. The city had anticipated $628,528 but only received $258,005 for a difference of $370,523.

"It was a good audit," said City Manager Lisa Algiere. "But we do need to address sewer rates." She added they would probably finish the current sewer project to determine what those rates should be.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

by M. E. Hampton, D.D.S.

PROFESSIONALLY SUPERVISE TOOTH WHITENING

Even if you're considering using an over-the-counter tooth whitener, the American Dental Association recommends that you consult with your dentist. This recommendation is made because tooth-whitening systems containing carbamide peroxide or hydrogen peroxide can be uncomfortable for those with sensitive teeth or gum recession. In addition, most products will only whiten natural tooth enamel, which means that the presence of tooth-colored fillings, veneers, crowns, or partial dentures may yield uneven results. With this in mind, the dentist can evaluate whether tooth-whitening is a good idea for your teeth. While tooth whitening usually reduces most stains caused by age, smoking, and regular coffee/tea drinking, it will not remove tooth discoloration caused by the use of tetracycline in children under age 8.

We'll be happy to answer any questions you may have on the subject of tooth whitening. Your smile care needs deserve an exceptional dental office, with a professional care team who provides leading-edge care and more comforts than you ever thought possible in a dentist's office. At the office of Mark E. Hampton, D.D.S we want to do more than meet your expectations - we want to exceed them. We're located at 11902 Illinois Street, Dunnellon, where we make it a point to get to know you and the specific needs of your family. It's important to us. Please call 352-489-5071 to schedule an appointment. Having nice looking teeth gives a boost to health and happiness. "We're Dedicated to Excellent Dentistry."

P.S. Tooth-whitening products are not recommended for children under age 16; pregnant women (or women who are breast-feeding): or people with sensitive teeth, gum disease, or worn tooth enamel.

Summertime reading takes to the outdoors

Summer has arrived and the Florida Department of Education (DOE) and the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) are encouraging students to head outdoors with a book from DOE's 2010 recommended summer reading list. The annual reading list, part of DOE's Just Read, Florida! mission, is designed to promote nature-based literature while fostering in students an appreciation for the both reading and the outdoors.

"Reading outdoors is a great way to foster environmental stewardship in Florida's students," said DEP Secretary Michael W. Sole. "By promoting literature focused on Florida's diverse natural resources, we hope to harness students' interest in academic success as well as environmental protection."

One of the suggested summer reads for 2010 is Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings' Pulitzer prize-winning novel, The Yearling. This story takes readers back in time to Rawlings 1930s farm life. A visit to Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings Historic State Park offers a glimpse into the setting that inspired the book. Florida's 160 state parks, which cover more than 700,000 acres of Florida's natural environment, also make a perfect backdrop for reading.

Other examples of Florida State Parks and nature-based selections on the 2010 summer reading list include:

■ Grades K-3: Pancakes for Breakfast, Tommie DePaola. Visit De Leon Springs State Park in De Leon Springs where you can make your own pancakes at the table.

■ Grades 4-5: The Birchbark House, Louise Erdrich. Visit Collier-Seminole State Park in Naples on the edge of the Everglades rich with Native American history.

■ Grades 6-8: Forever Forest, Kristin Joy-Pratt Serafini. Visit Homossassa Springs Wildlife State Park to learn about protection and conservation of Florida wildlife.

■ Grades 9-12: Southern Comforts: Rooted in a Florida Place, Sudye Cauthen. Visit Paynes Prairie Preserve State Park, Florida´s first state preserve and a National Natural Landmark.

"Promoting summer reading to students has always been a primary mission of ours, but now the opportunities are right at their fingertips," said Education Commissioner Dr. Eric J. Smith. "Our recently launched book search offers ease and accessibility in finding that perfect read for a beautiful summer day."

Research shows that children who continue to read during the summer months are more likely to retain progress made throughout the school year. In addition to the Just Read, Florida! summer reading list, DOE also recently partnered with the Department of State (DOS) and MetaMetrics, Inc. to launch 'Find a Book,' a search tool that identifies the appropriate books for each student's reading level. This technology allows students and their families to personalize their book list according to preference and reading level.

To view all of DOE's summer reading suggestions, visit www.justreadfamilies.org/SummerReadingList.pdf. To learn more about 'Find a Book,' visit www.lexile.com/findabook. For more about Florida State Parks, go to www.FloridaStateParks.org or follow on Twitter at www.twitter.com/FLStateParks.

Side by side for 65

SANDRA KOONCE
Interim Editor

Margaret and Fred Brookshier

A young sailor and a secretary for the war department met on Christmas Eve 1944. They married on June 16, 1945 and have traveled side by side for 65 years, living in four states and Washington, D.C. They've not only made each place a home, they've built four of their homes. And they remodeled another.

Those projects were not just contracted to someone else. The couple literally installed plumbing and poured foundations. Fred obtained a contractor's license to do the work.

"We've always worked together," said Margaret Brookshier last week as she and her husband, Fred, recalled memories of the roads they've taken since they exchanged wedding vows at the First Methodist Church in Leonardtown, Maryland.

Since moving to Dunnellon in 1987 – and building their home in the Woodlands of Rainbow Springs – their life has revolved mostly around the First United Methodist Church of Dunnellon where they have been involved in several church ministries, among them the Prayer Ministry, the library committee and the building committee.

If they aren't on a committee together, the other is in the background giving support. Presently, they are both working in the Forget-Me-Not program of the church, which involves care for the elderly as well as for those with Alzheimer's.

They've also been active volunteers in their communities. Fred was a 20-year member of the Lions' Club; she was in the Lions' Auxiliary. He helped to start a volunteer fire department in one community and eventually became the chief of the volunteers, watching the department grow to include four stations. Margaret was there all the way, working with the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Avid campers throughout their lives, they explained that camping is what brought them to Dunnellon.

"We camped on the river once and fell in love with Dunnellon," said Fred. "And then we started coming back."

They are the parents of Robert, who lives in Dunnellon, and Phyllis, who lives in Clearwater. They have four grandchildren, three of whom have served in the military, emulating their grandfather's patriotism; and eight great-grandchildren.

For their 50th wedding anniversary, their children treated them with a trip to Puerto Rico, where a granddaughter was stationed at the time. For the 65th, they are content in Dunnellon, still staying close to one another and working together — side by side.

Celebrating 10-year Anniversary

This week's business spotlight is on Carmela's Restaurant.

Q. How long has your business been in operation?

10 years - since June 12, 2000.

Q. What is a typical day like at your business?

I get here early to make the sauce, soups, meatballs and prep. I start cooking breakfast at 9:00, then lunch and dinner.

Q. What do customers like best about your business?

That my wife and I work right along with our employees to make their experience at Carmela's wonderful.

Q. How many employees work at your business?

We have 10 employees.

Q. What is something your business offers that people don't expect?

That we don't have just Italian food. We have a wide variety. If someone has a special diet or need, we try to accommodate.

Q. Why did you choose this business?

Restaurants are one of the last businesses with that human touch. You get to know your customers, laugh with them, and see them through good times and bad times. I like to feed each person coming into my restaurant like they are coming to my house for dinner.

Q. What is your business address, phone number and email?

Bay scallop season opens tomorrow

Continuing his commitment to assisting businesses and individuals impacted by the Deepwater Horizon oil spill, Governor Charlie Crist announced this week that the 2010 recreational harvest season for bay scallops will open nearly two weeks early.

"In an effort to continue alleviating the economic distress this oil spill is causing to Florida's fishing community, we are proud to amend policies that will allow our fishers to capitalize on our clean and clear waters," said Governor Crist, "Thankfully, our beaches are still clear, the fish are biting, and these measures will allow us to continue offering our neighbors and visitors delicious Florida seafood."

This extension will allow fishers to harvest, purchase, sell or transport saltwater products after July 1, 2010, in accordance with their 2009-2010 licenses until their licenses are renewed for the 2010-2011 year or until Sept. 30, 2010, whichever is sooner. The 2010 bay scallop harvest season will now begin on June 19 instead of July 1. These accommodations to relieve economic hardships on fishing communities in Florida are made possible by Executive Orders issued by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission.

Residents can be confident that the licenses' extension will be honored by retailers and law enforcement. While the bay scallop harvest season will begin early, all other provisions governing harvest of bay scallops in Florida remain in effect.

Go to www.MyFWC.com/Fishing to learn about fishing regulations in Florida.

Bring sherry and 1/2 cup water to a boil in a 2-quart saucepan. Add scallops, salt and pepper. Poach for 5 to 7 minutes. Remove scallops, to a 2-quart casserole or individual baking dishes, draining and reserving the liquid. Saute onion and garlic in 1 tablespoon butter for 3 to 5 minutes. Add mushrooms and parsley and saute an additional 3 minutes. Add remaining cup of water and lemon juice to garlic, onions, mushrooms and parsley, bring to a boil. Drain and set aside. Melt remaining butter. Add the flour stirring constantly and cook for 1 to 2 minutes. With a wire whisk, blend in reserved poaching liquid and cook until sauce thickens. Add vegetable mixture and hot cream. Season to taste if necessary. Pour sauce over scallops. Top with Gruyere and Parmesan cheeses and paprika. Cover and refrigerate or bake immediately in 350-degree F oven for 30-40 minutes or until golden and bubbly.
