

paper in the Windward Islands) from covering the story of the Princesses' visit, as well as from taking pictures of the Princesses (Jose Lake is a member of the Windward Islands People's Party)

From the above it would appear as though a certain political group was discriminated against; on the other hand this could have been a coincident - We do not know what "yard-stick" was used by Mr. Beaujon; but one thing we do know, and that is, that a large part of the community was prevented, because of Mr. Beaujon from seeing the Princesses, and this is a regrettable affair - It is now past, and we can only hope that when Capt. J.J. Beaujon is no longer Lt. Governor of the Windward Islands, our Princesses may see it fit to make another visit to St. Maarten in order that D.P., N.V.P., W.I.P.P. or any other political group may have an equal chance to see them.

Even worse is the fact that by all appearances it can also be interpreted that there was not only political discrimination but also religious discriminations. It is a well-known fact that the Beaujons boast of being Huguenots, and the fact that it was so arranged that the Princesses neither visited the St. Rose Hospital nor the Sweet Repose (Home for the Aged) both operated by the Roman Catholic Mission, reflects discrimination.

SUCCESS CONCERT AT COLOMBIER

On Friday night July 13, a concert was given at Colombier by the people of that village. Many people from other districts were present, and all the seats were filled.

Both young and old people took part in this concert, and all the parts; plays, songs and recitations were well rendered. Highlights of the concert were: A recitation in French by Miss Vivian Gumbs, songs by the charming Gibbs sisters, and the part played by little Miss Christine Brooks, age 8.

This concert which was a great success went on until 1 o'clock in the morning, and Mr. Gerville F. Gibbs who is at present vacationing on the island did a good job as Master of Ceremony for the occasion.
