Other observers said that Premier Khrushchev may not have meant this in his statement.

NEW JERSEY: F.B.I. agents arrested an American engineer and a Russian chauffeur on charges of passing classified data to members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

The American 38 and the Russian 33 on Wednesday were ordered held under $100,000 each on espionage charges. Both have pleaded innocent.

Two members of the Soviet delegation also were detained, but were released because they had diplomatic immunity.

The four men were held at a railroad station together with a briefcase full of Air Force contract secrets. The F.B.I. said their meeting at a parking lot of the railroad station, was the last of a series that went at least as far back as April 21, 1963.

All were observed by F.B.I. agents. The American who is of Russian parentage, had top secret clearance giving him access to highly classified information, about an Air Force contract with his employer, the International Electric Cooperation. His $14,700 a year job was to maintain a master schedule concerning the contract.
