

 Spring 2012 ***
Humanities Grant-Writing Activities

Graduate Fellowship-Writing in the Humanities

Monday, 27 February, 1:00-3:00pm

Library West, 212

Prof. Bonnie Effros and Dr. Sophia Acord will introduce humanities graduate students to the process of applying for external research funding and discuss strategies for developing competitive funding proposals. Suitable for graduate students at all stages.

Please RSVP by Feb. 22nd to Sophia Acord (skacord@ufl.edu)

Presentation by Brett Bobley, Director, NEH's Office of Digital Humanities

Monday, 19 March, 4:00-5:00pm

Smathers Library, 1A

All faculty, students, and staff are invited to a virtual presentation and Q&A with Brett Bobley, Director of the NEH's Office of Digital Humanities (ODH), who will speak about the development of the ODH, its current funding programs, and future trajectories.

Summer Grant Proposal Review Opportunity

Faculty and graduate students in the humanities are invited to submit polished draft grant and fellowship proposals (minus reference letters) by July 1st for single-blind review by three UF referees with experience serving on national review panels. Feedback will be returned by August 20th, to enable revision for fall deadlines. This opportunity is limited to 15 individuals; in the case of over-subscription, preference will be given to those who have not participated in prior review opportunities.

To participate, please RSVP by June 1st to Sophia Acord (skacord@ufl.edu)

Humanities Grant Support and Databases

Individuals at the UF Humanities Center are available by appointment to meet with faculty to discuss funding opportunities and review draft funding proposals. Please give us sufficient notice so that we can accommodate you: humanities-center@ufl.edu. View our growing funding databases and other grant-writing support services at: www.humanities.ufl.edu/grant-writing.html

(Spring 2012 digital humanities activities listed on the reverse)

 More details on all events can be found at: www.humanities.ufl.edu

* These activities are made possible by support from the CLAS Dean's Office and UF Office of Research, in collaboration with the UF Smathers Libraries

Spring 2012 - Digital Humanities Activities

All are invited to join the Digital Humanities Working Group (DHWG), an interdisciplinary group of faculty, staff, and graduate students who meet monthly to discuss specific issues and brainstorm paths forward for the humanities in a digital age. Join the Digital-Humanities-L listserv: <http://lists.ufl.edu/cgi-bin/wa?A0=DIGITAL-HUMANITIES-L>

Aesthetic Computing: Software as Cultural Product

Wednesday, 15 February, 12:00-1:00pm
Smathers Library (East) 1st floor conference room
DHWG meeting with Prof. Paul Fishwick (CISE). No RSVP is necessary.

Humanities Research Methods in the Digital Age

Wednesday, 14 March, 12-1:00pm
Smathers Library (East) 1st floor conference room
DHWG meeting with Prof. Laurie Gries (English). No RSVP is necessary.

The Future of the Scholarly Edition

Wednesday, 4 April, 11:30am-1:30pm
Pugh Hall, 210
DHWG meeting with Professor Gregory Crane (Tufts University; Editor in Chief, Perseus Project). Lunch will be provided.

Please RSVP by March 28th to Sophia Acord (skacord@ufl.edu)

To Address the Common Understanding: Reinventing the Humanities in a Digital Age

Greg Crane (Tufts University; Editor in Chief, Perseus Project)
Thursday, 5 April, 7:30pm
Smathers Library, 1A
This lecture will examine how the growth of digitized collections and analytic methods are changing the landscape and possibilities of humanities research and public engagement in the digital age. This event is free and open to the public; a Q&A will follow.

1st Annual UF Digital Humanities Day

Thursday, 26 April, 1:00-4:00pm
Smathers Library, 1A
Faculty and graduate students will present lightning talks on their digital projects, research and pedagogical methods, and related topics in the disciplines. Followed by topical roundtables with colleagues from information technology (databases, simulation, spatial tools, etc.).

If you would like to present, please email by April 1st to Sophia Acord (skacord@ufl.edu)

Digital Humanities Field Trip

Friday, 27 April, 12:30-4:30pm
Faculty and graduate students in the humanities are invited on a tour of UF resources for the digital humanities, including the Geographic Information Systems Library, Digital Library Center, Art+Architecture Fab-Lab, High-Performance Computing Center, and Digital Worlds Institute.

Please RSVP by April 1st to Sophia Acord (skacord@ufl.edu)