Deputies search for missing Englewood man

By STEVE REILLY
STAFF WRITER

ENGLEWOOD — Autumn McConnell and her family hope people can help find her grandfather, Ira McConnell, who has been missing since Saturday.

MCCONNELL

A neighbor told police she saw the 92-year-old Englewood man getting into his car at 5 a.m. Saturday and leaving his home on Charleston Circle in the Pine Lake subdivision.

"It's strange for him to be up that early and driving in the dark," Autumn said. "We are questioning why he would leave that early in the morning; why would he do that?"

Sarasota County Sheriff's Office issued a Silver Alert for McConnell and his silver 2015 Chevrolet Equinox LT on Monday afternoon. That means his photo was sent out to the law enforcement agencies statewide and area news media, and posted through social media. It also means the alert with the make and model of his car, with license tag LB9EP, was flashed on signs up and down Florida's Interstate highway system.

Anyone who has seen McConnell or his vehicle, or has any information about him, is asked to call 911 immediately.

McConnell is described as being bald with blue eyes. He's 5-feet, 9-inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. Relatives said McConnell is in need of medication, especially a blood thinner. He reportedly left home without any medication.

Detectives believe McConnell's cellphone ran out of battery power. Autumn said her grandfather's car is equipped with OnStar services, but, as far as she knew Monday, OnStar couldn't locate the vehicle nor has the company provided any additional information.

Cops: Teacher files fake report

Educator allegedly lies about traffic stop after running late to school

By ANNE EASKER
STAFF WRITER

An elementary school teacher was arrested Monday after making a fake police report to cover for being late to work, the Charlotte County Sheriff's Office reported.

Karter Dale-Erwin Clark, 25, allegedly claimed he had been pulled over around 9:30 a.m. Monday near Birchcrest Boulevard and Quesada Avenue in Port Charlotte by two black men in white vehicles with what appeared to be light bars in the windows, according to the Sheriff's Office.

One subject was reportedly armed, and CCSO urged the public via social media and through other area police departments to use caution if the two were again observed.

However, later in the day, they determined the story was a ruse to cover for Clark's tardiness.

Making a false report to law enforcement is a first-degree misdemeanor punishable by up to a year in jail.

Charlotte County Schools spokesperson Mike Riley said Clark is a fourth-grade teacher at Neil Armstrong Elementary. He has been placed on administrative leave pending the outcome of the investigation.

"When law enforcement gets involved, we stand down until the legal process is done, and then we do our own investigation and decide what needs to take place," he said.

Disciplinary action could range from a letter of reprimand in Clark's file to a termination, depending on the outcome.

"It's just disappointing," Riley said. "So many people in society expect teachers to be held to a higher standard because they work with children. This is disappointing to know their teacher did something like this. It's very disappointing."

CCSO Public Information Officer Katie Heck said if anyone is pulled over by an unmarked vehicle and Garbage workers say they want to show another side in Christmas video

NORTH PORT — Michael Fear calls a garbage man, has them get out of their truck and then starts recording.

One dances in front of his truck, one jumps on an old mattress and another lip syncs on a toilet bowl.

In just 15 minutes, they're back in their trucks finishing up the rest of their trash routes.

North Port's Solid Waste Division recently released its annual Christmas video, a parody of Jeff Foxworthy's "12 Redneck Days of Christmas," which features the most common items workers pick up throughout the city.

Fear, community outreach coordinator for the city's public works department, recorded and edited the video and helped write the parody.

He said the intention behind the video was to humanize the city's garbage workers and to thank residents for their support.

"They talk to them on a daily basis out there and you got to think, they're going the same route basically every week," Fear said. "They go to the same areas, so they see the same people. You kind of build relationships with them. We wanted to show, 'Hey, these are real guys that work hard, in the heat in the summer and then in the rain.' And people have been incredibly receptive."

For Roxann Rodriguez, solid waste supervisor, the video allows people to see her in another light.

Hundreds of birds need good homes in Charlotte County

Susan Jennings spends a lot of time around parrots that talk.

But once at the Parrot Outreach Society of Punta Gorda, she heard something that went beyond words.

"There was a bird in the office with a broken wing, and we had just brought it back from the vet all bandaged up, and Nakita our Yellow Nape (Amazon) said to the sick bird, 'Oh my that must've hurt. I'm sorry.' We couldn't believe we heard it," said Jennings, adoption coordinator and volunteer of six years at the outreach. Punta Gorda Fire and Police spread holiday cheer

By BRIANNA KWASNIK

The students sang Christmas songs for members of the Punta Gorda Police and Fire departments, including: "Jingle Bells," "Rudolph the Red-nose Reindeer" and "Santa Claus is Comin' to Town."

Fire Chief Ray Briggs said the Christmas Cheer event is in its sixth year, and has grown much larger than they ever anticipated.

The first year, the event started when one teacher asked the fire department to sponsor her class of 17 kids. She told them about a boy who was accused of stealing a girl's pink jacket. He said he hadn't. The teacher realized the boy didn't own a jacket.

That year, Briggs said, every child in her class of 17 got a new jacket for Christmas.

This year, every one of the 178 kids at The Baker Center will get a new jacket, a whole meal for their family at Christmas donated by Walmart, and a Chick-fil-A gift card. In addition, every child will get one toy from their wish list.

"It's an incredible experience," Briggs said, "probably one of the best presentations I make all year."

He added that events like this lets the kids and their families know that they care.

Police Chief Pam Davis greeted the students with hugs.

"This is why we do it," she said, speaking about getting into public service.

"We love to hug them, just as much as they love receiving the hugs," she said.

She said events like this lets the children see the officers in a positive light at an early age.

The students were ecstatic as they unwrapped items from their wish list like a Mickey or Minnie doll, a Barbie, or a toy truck.

One parent, Andrea Wilson, said "I love The Baker Center for what they do for the children. They go above and beyond for the children and families."

Her daughter received a camping Barbie, which she said was absolutely perfect, because she loves to go camping. "Mommy, not so much," she laughed.

The parents reminded their kids if they see a police officer or a firefighter to say thank you. The kids were eager to run up to the first responders and show them what they unwrapped.

What to do with the Bayfront Center at Gilchrist Park? Punta Gorda wants design for waterfront center

By DANIEL SUTPHIN
STAFF WRITER

The vision for the Bayfront Center and Punta Gorda Boat Club at Gilchrist Park might finally gain some clarity as the city looks to create a design concept for the Gilchrist Waterfront Activity Center.

To move forward, the first step is for the City Council to approve an amendment to the Nov. 21 Master Agreement with Dover Kohl at Wednesday's regular council meeting. The meeting will take place at 9 a.m. in council chambers at 326 W. Marion Ave., in Punta Gorda.

The Nov. 21 Master Agreement was originally signed with Dover Kohl for development of the City-Wide Master Plan, a guide intended to help determine future growth and development in the city. If approved, the activity center planning will be awarded to the Dover Kohl as an amendment to that agreement.

"It made sense to work with (Dover) since they were doing a City-Wide Plan to incorporate the Waterfront Activity Center," said City Communications Manager Melissa Reichert.

In October 2018, the City Council approved entering into negotiations with Dover Kohl to develop a conceptual plan for the Bayfront Center area.

in the Team Punta Gorda survey.

•In January 2018, there was also talk of developing a waterfront restaurant and community center at the location, however, the proposed project never gained the local support needed to move forward. The proposed restaurant — a single-story structure infused with the Old Florida flavor of nearby homes on W. Retta Esplanade — was to be named Rumrunners, the second in a chain. Support for a commercial operation, such as a restaurant, was below 40 percent, according to the survey, with an equal number indicating they would seldom or never use a commercial facility on the site.

run parallel to the five-day City-Wide Master Plan Charrette in March. The meetings will be held in the evening from Monday through Friday. A specific date for the series of meetings was not available.

Other changes at Gilchrist ...

More restroom facilities are in the works for Gilchrist Park. With the Gilchrist Park Playground bathroom facility projected to open at the end of the month. City staff is seeking City Council approval to contract Avant Construction of Punta Gorda to build the Harborwalk Area 1 restroom, to be located between the two new pavilions in the redesigned part of the park near the first entrance on W. Retta Esplanade.

Total cost for the project is estimated to be $415,232 with funding sourced from city's one-cent sales tax. Construction is anticipated to start in January with a projected timeline of 180 days. City staff does not anticipate any need to close the harbor walk, the gazebo or the pavilions.

What they do

"Some people just get too old to take care of them and some people have kids after they've had the bird for a while, and there's a jealousy issue," Hill said.

A parrot can sometimes be an impulse buy, but it is a daily lifetime commitment, volunteers said.

A common practice known as "bird flipping" targets these impulse buyers. These "flippers" purchase exotic birds cheap and sell them at higher prices to unsuspecting shoppers that later come to terms with the reality of owning such an animal. Flippers will often subject the birds to crowded and stressful conditions, leading to injury.

They can be extremely high maintenance and involve daily cooking, cleaning and noise. Owners need to spend time with them everyday. The birds need fresh food daily.

Jennings discussed the daily chores involved in caring for the 150 birds that were recently residing in the facility.

"We clean every cage and water bowl everyday. They get water and feed twice a day. We mop and vacuum the floors once a day. Then we have people that come in and share fruits and vegetables with the birds everyday," she said.

The facility relies heavily on the donation of money, fresh foods, as well as supplies to make toys and

HOW TO ADOPT

Come in and meet the bird. "We allow the bird to choose the human, basically, because they are very demanding," said Pam Hill. Meet the chosen bird for an hour on three separate occasions.

Fill out adoption applications; fees apply can range from $10 to $400 depending on the breed.

A home inspection is completed. Small apartments, and living within close proximity to neighbors are not ideal situations, as the noise level can be very high and the birds enjoy flying through the living space.

Minimum size cage, toys, and food must be purchased.

the time of the 15 unpaid volunteers that aid in caring for each and every avian resident.

The Outreach makes their own toys out of coconut shells, balls, rope, or anything else that is donated Jennings said. "Some people will come in and donate things, or buy toys and donate them."

All day long the birds will work the toys with their claws and beak, effectively eroding them away, thus creating an endless need for supplies as it is a necessity for proper stimulation.

One noticeable quality of the population is that some of the birds are missing feathers. Few have only a patch of exposed skin, while others are completely bald from neck to talons.

According to Jennings, "it's a stress reliever for them."

When most species of parrots experience uncomfortable conditions, anything from neglect, lack of food, over-stimulation, under-stimulation, or lack of attention and affection, they pluck out any feathers within reach.

If they don't change the behavior within the first year, it becomes a habit, and they just keep doing it, Jennings said, which can lead to damage of the follicles and prevents feathers from growing back longterm.

One of the most common forms of injuries is the prolonged plucking and self-mutilation that nervous or stressed birds inflict upon themselves.

"We had one show up one day with a big hole in its chest cause the owner let it dig itself raw. So we took it to the vet and got it medication, got it healed up, and got it adopted," she said.

According to Hill, bald birds are more grateful for attention, as often times the lack of it starts their habit and if a bird is placed in a "forever home" with proper care, maintenance and love, they will often times cease their plucking and grow back some of the feathers.

Finding home

The misplacement of these birds is a huge issue, Jennings said.

They aren't talked about as much and it can be difficult to find people willing to take on the responsibility of such a pet, she said.

However, Stacie Hafley says "we're breaking even." In the past three months, there were 40 adoptions versus 30 relinquishments.

Stacie Hafley, left, has volunteered at the Parrot Outreach for five years, and Susan Jennings, has volunteered for six.

The care of such a unique and exotic pet involves a lot of commitment. According to Hafley "you're vacuuming everyday, dusting everyday, and cage cleaning."

"They're flock animals. They need to be around people," she said. "They cannot be ignored. For someone that works 12 hours a day, it's not an animal they should live with."

These creatures are used to crowded noisy trees, surrounded by their own kind in the wild.

So, when the family is sitting in the living room watching TV, the bird should be in there too.

A parrot's diet consists mostly of pellets as well as fresh fruit and vegetables, and while they don't usually eat a high volume of food, they are prone to wastefulness. In the wild, food is plentiful and many birds will take a small bit of each food and drop the remains.

It's an evolutionary tool that promotes rich soil and plant growth, something that can't be trained or bred out of their behavior.

Contrary to popular belief, seed is not a healthy diet to serve to any bird, though, according to the volunteers.

"They are like potato chips," said Hill. "It gives them fatty livers and tumors, and can kill them prematurely."

Captive birds don't experience a lot of exercise, and therefore find difficulty in burning off the fat.

With many residents in Charlotte County being retired, some might enjoy the company of a pet that needs constant attention, according to the Outreach.

"And that's where we come in," says Hafel. "When you're of retirement age, you don't wanna go out and buy a baby bird because it's gonna outlive you, and will end up in places like this. We have a lot of birds who are older that have already spent one life with people, but they live for so long, they could spend another life with someone else."

The average lifespan of a parrot can reach up to 80 years, meaning even the most caring and attentive owners' birds might still need the services of the sanctuary on day. Many bird owners will oftentimes name the Outreach in their will in order to safeguard the well-being of their pet.

A neighbor, who happened to be up at 5 a.m. Saturday morning, saw McConnell out of his driveway, stop at a stop sign, and then drive off from Pine Lake.

McConnell is a devout Jehovah's Witness member. Fellow congregation members became worried when McConnell didn't show up for a meeting Saturday. They touched base with neighbors, including his next-door neighbors, Jeff and Jeanie Joyce.

Later on Saturday, Jeff went over to check on McConnell and discovered he wasn't home.

"He's always friendly and a very kind man," Jeanie said. "He's very independent, taking care of himself and looking out for others."

The whole situation baffles the McConnell family. Autumn said her grandfather is not suffering with any cognitive disorders or issues.

A week ago, McConnell went to Bill Buck Chevrolet to have a headlight repaired. Later in the week, the headlight went out again, which makes it stranger to Autumn and her family why her grandfather would decide to drive in the dark with only one working headlight.

The family has no idea where McConnell would want to go so early in the morning.

Autumn's father, Patrick McConnell, lives a block away from her grandfather. She said, "If something were to come up, it'd be normal for my Grandpa to call my Dad. For him not to call my Dad is very strange, very strange."

Autumn commended Sarasota County deputies for their efforts to find her grandfather. Her family hopes the public, too, can offer their help to find him.

"He's lovable, gentle, godly man," Autumn said of her grandfather. "But if there were foul play, he would be fighting back."

Dispose of tobacco products in the park? There could be a fine for that

By BRIANNA KWASNIK

Students Working Against Tobacco (SWAT) have asked the county to adopt an ordinance that would impose a small fine on anyone who disposes tobacco products in a park.

Members of SWAT from the middle and high school levels presented their request to the Charlotte County Legislative Delegation: Sen. Joe Gruters (R-Sarasota), Sen. Ben Albritton (R-Wauchula) and Rep. Michael Grant (R-Port Charlotte).

"The SWAT students are passionate about curbing the second-hand smoke where young students are at play," said SWAT coordinator, Michelle Wood-Stanley.

Wood-Stanley said that over the years, students have collected countless disposed cigarette butts from county parks and playgrounds. Students have filled quart-sized bags each filled with approximately 2,000 cigarette butts.

The students also asked the delegation to create an ordinance that requires all tobacco retailers to post a high visibility "we card" sign at the door or cash register, where young people would be able to see them.

Wood-Stanley said 55 percent of tobacco retailers in Charlotte County are within half-mile of a school or park, where youth can walk or ride their bikes.

The stores do have the mandated state seal signature in their stores signifying that they do not sell tobacco products to persons under the age of 18, but more than half, Wood-Stanley said, do not have colorful "we card" signs to help deter our youth.

"We believe the colorful signs will attract the youth, and help them to think twice before trying to go ahead and purchase tobacco products, because they know they will be carded," she said.

Cops: Suspicious package turns out to be antidepressant medication

The VA Clinic on Tamiami Trail was evacuated Monday afternoon after a suspicious package was opened containing an unknown substance, the Charlotte County Sheriff's Office reported.

The powder turned out to be an antidepressant medication that had been mailed back to the facility, CCSO posted on Twitter. No injuries were reported.

The Charlotte County Sheriff's Office reported the following arrests:

- Larry Dezwan Hill, 41, of Washington, D.C. Charges: two counts of possession of a controlled substance without a prescription and possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond: $5,500.

OBITUARIES

Florence M. Dorio

Florence M. "Flossie" Dorio, passed away peacefully at Fawcett Memorial Hospital, Sunday, Dec. 9, 2018, at the age of 83.

She was born Sept. 15, 1935, in New Haven,

Connecticut, and moved to this area in 2000 from West Haven, Connecticut. Before retiring, she had worked as a secretary for the Yale New Haven Hospital in the Children's Clinical Research Center for 27 years.

Florence had a passion for painting and it showed. She spent many hours on the pediatrics wing painting wonderful characters, animals and scenery on all the patients' doors and walls throughout the floor. She always displayed sincere care and compassion for all patients and their families. Her personality was always full of laughter and joy for everyone including the medical staff.

She is survived by her son, Michael (Carol) Dorio; daughter, Amy Dorio; brother, John (Joyce) Carlson; granddaughters, Sophia and Julia; many nieces and nephews; so many beloved friends in Florida and Connecticut; and her true companion Hachi always by her side.

Florence was preceded in death by her husband Anthony in 1983 and their son Robert in 2012.

All services will be private, requested by the family. The family requests memorial donations be made to the Yale New Haven Children's Hospital at <https://secure.givetoyhnh.org>

Please visit kays-pong-er.com to leave the family your thoughts, memories and condolences on the online guestbook.

Ruth Dutcher

Ruth Dutcher, 80, of Punta Gorda, Florida, passed away Saturday Dec. 1, 2018, at her home.

She was born in 1938 to Charles Leonard and Mabel Ball Carr of Port Byron, New York. Ruth graduated from Port Byron Central School, Class of 1956. She married Richard Dutcher in 1958 and they were married for 52 years. He preceded her in death in 2010.

In 1976, she graduated from SUNY of Morrisville as a Registered Nurse. Ruth worked at CMH in Hamilton for 25 years and Fawcett Memorial Hospital for 12 years. In her words, she believed nursing is a great profession. For over 50 years, her home was in Morrisville, New York, and she wintered in Punta Gorda, Florida, for over 35 years. She will be missed by many.

She is survived by a brother, William Carr of Lynchburg, Virginia; sister-in-law Agnes Carr of Lynchburg, Virginia; Marjorie Ellinwood of Montezuma, New York; Brother-in-law, Robert Dutcher of Montezuma; and Lawrence Dutcher of South Carolina.

Her children and their families, James Dutcher of Morrisville, New York, Peggy Dutcher of White Bluff, Tennessee, Jane Christenbury of Charlotte, North Carolina and Rick Dutcher of Morrisville, New York. There are 10 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

A Memorial Service will be held on May 25, 2019, 2 p.m. at the Morrisville home location.

Donations may be made to The American Heart Association.

Fond memories and expressions of sympathy may be shared at www.dignitymemorial.com for the Dutcher family.

"It is unwise to pay too much, but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money - that's all. When you pay too little, sometimes you lose everything, because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the job it was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot - it can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run, and, if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better."

North Port may finally get its hotel

OUR POSITION: Hotel development reflects changing reality in a growing city.

Travelers looking for a room at the inn this Christmas season will be disappointed — if they're looking within North Port city limits.

Old story. One you may call ancient. But visitors won't find much here.

That's because, despite a population of more than 66,000, North Port has one modest motel. It's an old Budget Inn on U.S. 41 that is unlikely to be featured in a Chamber of Commerce brochure. That's it. Less than four dozen rooms in North Port's only hotel.

Visitors can cross the city line to the northwest on U.S. 41 and stay at the Warm Mineral Springs Motel — a classic Old Florida-style motor inn that gets three-and-a-half stars on TripAdvisor. But it's not actually in the city. They can also travel up or down Interstate 75 to find lodging.

But next to nothing in North Port.

This lack of hotel accommodations has long irked city officials, who believed their growing city deserved better and hoped for the increased tourist development taxes that would be generated by hotel visits and short-term rentals. In 2010, according to reports, the city generated a measly 1 percent of all tourist development taxes in Sarasota County. Again, 1 percent in what had become the county's largest city, population-wise.

Attracting a hotel — or two or three — became a top priority for the city's Economic Development Office a decade ago. To no avail. Despite numerous pitches to hotel chains, there were no bites.

In 2010, the City Commission went so far as to spend $20,500 on a Hotel Feasibility Study that might help them lure hotels to town. But the consultants essentially told them to forget about it for the time being. The recession had hit the area hard. And, they said, there already were enough hotel beds nearby, either down the road in Port Charlotte or up the road in Venice.

No respect. No love. No hotel.

At the same time, the commission began working to bring in an attraction — Big League Dreams — that would lure in families and sports teams for weekend visits for baseball tournaments. A hotel was to be built at the site.

It didn't happen.

One reassuring finding from the 2010 consultant's report was that hotel-motel development eventually would come as North Port grew larger. The same was said about retail business development — and that proved true. The same, apparently, with a hotel.

North Port city commissioners last week approved an architectural design waiver for a new, 100-room Hampton Inn & Suites on Tuscola Boulevard. The hotel would be built behind the Tuscola Commons shopping center on U.S. 41, on 2.56 acres of a 10-acre commercial tract. It is next to the big-box Lowe's home improvement store. Plans call for a four-story hotel.

Although they expressed reservations about deviating from the Mediterranean-style design standards, the City Commission voted 5-0 to approve it.

The reason?

This is a big deal for North Port — a proper hotel operated by the Hilton chain.

After all these years, a hotel is coming. North Port is not only growing in population, but it is maturing as a city with proper services and amenities.

Free press ensures our freedoms

Editor:

Imagine where we would be today without the press and those reporters who seek out the truth and place themselves at risk and even die doing their job. Without this freedom we would become just another dictatorship.

We all need to remember that President Trump started out in New York using the press and reality TV to develop his image. Today, he calls that same press, "enemy of the people." Why? Because they are exposing him for what he is, a liar and a conman.

In New York he was able to manipulate the press, take advantage of his sub-contractors, litigate his business dealings through lawsuits and lawyers and bully and lie to everyone around him. He answered to no one and believed he could do the same in government.

Surprise, that same press will now become his downfall. I truly believe that Mr. Trump did not believe he was going to win the presidency and was ill-prepared to be the leader of the free world.

What made him successful in business is now coming back to destroy him in politics. You cannot lead by intimidation or belittling your allies. You cannot continue to lie to your people and the rest of the world and expect them to respect you. You are not that smart and America is now understanding what happens when 90 million voters don't vote.

We have checks on power within our Constitution, but our Congress has relinquished that power. But not our free press.

Nothing but lies from the president

Editor:

A recent paper had another letter writer telling us what a great president we have in Trump. The writer goes on to tell us he has done so many great things, like many other letters to the editor. She tells us we should be glad to have him.

I write letters outlining all of the bad things he has done, and I am still waiting for someone to write a letter telling us what these good things are. So far, all we get are letters telling us he is great, but never what he has accomplished that is so great.

Maybe the fact that his lie total has not passed 7,000 yet though it is very close, she thinks that is a good thing. She should go to trumplies.us, it lists all of them and also the fact he is lying about.

Bring the wall to a vote

Editor:

Open letter to the congressional leaders.

Anyone who has paid attention to the events ongoing at the southern border should recognize that the need for a secure border is of utmost importance to the majority of Americans. In 2016, the voters spoke, and they have been waiting patiently since then. President Trump has made his feelings known regarding the nation's security.

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell and House Leader Paul Ryan must find the courage and leadership to move the Border Security

Bill to a vote, otherwise it is my firm belief that Republicans will never again hold a majority in Congress. Gentlemen, it is time to find the intestinal fortitude and pass the $5 billion cost of the security wall before this Congress moves into history.

Legion Post 110 gears up for season

Editor:

It is the "giving" time of the year again and in Port Charlotte, the American Legion Post 110 is in full swing. The trees are up and beautifully decorated and our post is by far one of the most festive in the land. The men and women of the American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary, Sons of the Legion and The Riders, provide many services and benefits for our service veterans and their families. The giving just never stops.

With the continued leadership of Commander Michael Raymond, fondly known as "Gambler," our club remains one of the top-notch posts in Southwest Florida for friends and families to meet for daily activities, fundraisers or just plain socializing. The Ladies Auxiliary and riders will soon be hosting their Christmas for Kids events, which includes a visit from Santa and gifts for all.

Speaking of the giving season, the Ladies Auxiliary, with president Kay Mugavero on hand, recently presented the Dollars for Mammograms with a $5,000 donation for their organization. This organization provides a wonderful service to several communities in Southwest Florida by providing no cost mammograms to area women that are uninsured or under insured.

This donation was a surprise to Rita and Dawn Bertler, who were at Post 110 to accept the auxiliary's generous check for their organization.

Remember, without our great members and leaders at Post 110, these types of events and gifts would not be possible. Happy holidays to all and always remember those that are less fortunate.

Citizens have passion for Punta Gorda

I am convinced there is no friendlier, more-giving community in the state of Florida than Punta Gorda. Our citizens have a passion for their community and a heart for all who live and work in it, as well as in Charlotte County.

Case in point is the response of our business and residential communities and government employees when the Panhandle was devastated by Hurricane Michael this past October. We had people from city and county emergency services' departments and utility departments who headed up there when conditions were at their worst shortly after the storm to lend expertise, bring equipment and supplies and put forth extensive efforts to provide badly needed emergency and other services. We also had businesses and individuals who took it upon themselves to collect needed items and funds to help the victims of that hurricane and trekked up there and back to deliver necessities and help in so many ways.

On the local scene, we continue to have businesses and individuals who initiate fundraisers and offer financial and other aid to people in need within our own city and county. No one can argue the fact that our community is blessed with many people who have big hearts. The collection of toys for children this holiday season has been one of the most successful I can recall, with it going way beyond Toys for Tots efforts of prior years to encompass local businesses and individuals also getting involved in collections of toys for children to help other nonprofit organizations.

At the same time, we're a people who are very passionate about our city and its future. This past year started out with groups of people who had somewhat differing visions for their city's future. Yet, somehow the vast majority finally agreed that it was time for the city and its stakeholders (businesses, property owners and residents) to address and update its master plan. The city's last master plan was accomplished by TEAM Punta Gorda in 2005 as a grass-roots effort and much-needed tool for the city's recovery after Hurricane Charley in 2004, and it served us well.

We are now looking forward to a "Journey to the Future" Summit put on by the city of Punta Gorda, jointly with TEAM Punta Gorda and several co-hosts — Charlotte Community Foundation, Charlotte County Economic Development Partnership and Smugglers Enterprises Community Foundation. The summit is open to all businesses, property owners and residents of Punta Gorda. It will take place at the Charlotte Harbor Event and Conference Center on Jan. 7.

The purpose of the summit is to better prepare all those in the community who will want to participate in the upcoming "charrette" process in early 2019 by Dover, Kohl & Partners — the firm chosen to facilitate the visioning necessary to generate the new master plan. I enthusiastically encourage everyone to become a valuable part of this visioning process and lend your voice to what you want to see Punta Gorda become in the next 5-10 years and beyond.

Guns in classrooms will not solve the problem

Nearly 20 years after Columbine — and despite more than 40 school shootings since, including at Sandy Hook and Virginia Tech — the faculty and staff at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School were abjectly unprepared for Nikolas Cruz and his AR-15.

So was the Broward County Sheriff's Office, which was charged with protecting them.

Those are the brutal but inescapable conclusions of the state commission investigating the Feb. 14 massacre, which left 17 dead and 17 injured. The panel released its 407-page draft report last Wednesday and will continue to work on it.

The report tells a wrenching story of warnings ignored and safety measures untaken. One commission member, a grieving parent, did not overstate in calling the Parkland massacre "the most preventable" of school shootings, a modern phenomenon whose frequency and ferocity represents a unique national disgrace.

The commission identified a multitude of failures, including the failure to believe something like this could happen at Stoneman Douglas, the failure to appreciate the threat posed by a student involved in 69 violent incidents since third grade, the failure to lock or attend open gates, the failure to respond to an active shooter by calling a Code Red lockdown, the failure to create safe classroom corners invisible from door windows, the failure to conduct active-shooter drills, and the failure of law enforcement to adhere to national norms in responding to a school shooting.

Regrettably, before delivering its report to the Florida Legislature, the commission ended its final meeting with a call to arm teachers.

That's dangerous. No teacher would be a good match for a deranged youth wielding a high-velocity, military-style assault weapon. It's false security that distracts from what should be done.

Cruz shot 34 people while an armed sheriff's deputy cowered outside. Arriving deputies hesitated to enter, too. Apparently, they relied on a department policy that flouts the lesson of Columbine, which calls for police to immediately pursue the shooter, not wait for reinforcements, perimeters or command posts.

Broward Sheriff Scott Israel had changed the policy to say deputies "may" — not "shall" — pursue the shooter. "I want an effective tactical response, not a suicide response," he told the commission.

It took 11 minutes for police to enter Stoneman Douglas. Even then, it was four officers from the Coral Springs Police Department. BSO deputies remained just outside the door, the report said. This disgrace was the most egregious of BSO's many failures that day.

Meanwhile, the school's faculty and staff, including designated safety monitors, appeared largely clueless on how and when to call a "Code Red," which would have alerted teachers and students to take shelter in their classrooms.

It didn't happen when a school monitor first saw Cruz — someone he knew as "crazy boy" — emerge from an Uber carrying what looked like a rifle bag. It didn't happen after that person told a second monitor that Cruz had entered the 1200 building. It didn't happen after a student told a third monitor that Cruz had a rifle and told him, "Get out of here. Something bad's about to happen." It happened only after that third monitor was found dead — three minutes and 16 seconds after Cruz had fired his first shots.

By then, Cruz was half-way down the third floor of the besieged 1200 building, where no one heard the Code Red because of an ill-equipped public-address system.

The report includes a haunting image of about a hundred students packed shoulder-to-shoulder in the third floor hallway, casually responding to what they believed was a routine fire drill. They had no idea a muzzle flash in the massacre two floors below had likely set off the fire alarm. Neither did they know Cruz was making his way toward them. The panic those fleeing students and teachers faced in the following minutes had to have been horrific. Six died. Had the killer ascended moments earlier, it would have been much, much worse.

The report also said most classrooms lacked a designated "hard corner" where students could hide out of sight from a killer targeting victims through doorway windows, as Cruz did on the first floor. In some classrooms, clutter and immovable objects kept students from squeezing into safety zones. One died on the line.

In November, Broward Schools Superintendent Robert Runcie told commissioners the district had immediately set out to improve safety measures. He told the Sun Sentinel Editorial Board that among other things, 70 percent of schools now have a single point of entry, new gate and camera systems have been installed, and anyone who hasn't been to a school lately wouldn't recognize today's tough procedures for gaining access.

But many commission members, who have gained a deep understanding of the district's culture, don't trust him.

You could hear it in the questions they put to Runcie about the district's approach to students who pose protracted threats, about whether the district reports all violent acts to police for review, about the continued lack of a district-wide Code Red policy, about the continued lack of performance standards for school monitors, about the continued lack of law enforcement access to school security cameras, about the continued failure to have cleared and taped-off hard corners at Stoneman Douglas and other schools, about a flawed safety assessment Stoneman Douglas submitted after the massacre, and about whether anyone has been held accountable.

"We're 273 days, 15 hours and 53 minutes, to be exact, from the minute that the shooter started his attack," said commission member and state Sen. Lauren Book, whose district includes Parkland. "And, again, to my understanding, there is no Code Red policy in place that is district-wide. Is that correct or incorrect?"

Polk County Sheriff Brady Judd asked Runcie to define "a sense of urgency." He later coached the superintendent on how to hold people accountable. He made clear that the commission, which has a five-year life span, will be holding Runcie accountable.

Pinellas County Sheriff Bob Gualtieri, who chairs the commission, said Runcie has been transparent with the commission and that he asked the superintendent to hold off on an internal investigation, which could lead to disciplinary measures. But he, too, has pressed the superintendent to get going on hard corners and a Code Red policy.

In interviews, Gualtieri has suggested the culture wasn't unique at Stoneman Douglas before Valentine's Day. He believes other schools similarly fail to appreciate the threat of a school shooting, as though it won't happen to them.

Given that culture, a belief that law enforcement can't be everywhere and that most deaths happen in the first few minutes, commissioners voted 13-1 this week to recommend that the Legislature allow teachers to be armed.

While we agree that a renewed and heavy emphasis must be made on school safety, we take strong exception to the commission's headline-grabbing recommendation. There are too many ways that arming teachers could go horribly wrong.

Gualtieri noted that Cruz paused five times to reload his gun and that during those moments, armed and trained volunteer teachers could have taken him out.

But teachers were hiding in their classrooms, afraid to look. Some were afraid to open their doors to lock them, which could only be done from the outside. Some were afraid to cross the classroom to call a Code Red on the intercom.

It takes heroic courage for people to confront killers. People who go into teaching say they want to teach. They expect law enforcement to address active threats. We all expect that. And the commission's report shows even armed deputies were afraid to confront Cruz.

What the commission didn't address is the law of unintended consequences of arming teachers.

While the names of those wearing guns wouldn't be identified, you can bet students would quickly figure out who they were, especially given the casual dress of teachers these days.

Now consider that last month, Cruz rushed a jail guard and grabbed his stun gun in a struggle. What if an out-of-control student tried to snatch a teacher's sidearm?

Would the weapons instead be locked in a classroom gun safe, safe from misuse but essentially useless in an emergency?

Plus, students can be extremely provocative, challenging any teacher's self-control. Guns don't belong in that scenario.

And what would protect teachers from friendly fire? If they wear special clothing, wouldn't that make them the first targets for a killer? In the recent mass shooting at a bar in Thousand Oaks, California, it was a state trooper's bullet, not the criminal's, that killed a deputy sheriff. And at an Alabama shopping mall, officers rushing to the scene shot a good guy with a gun.

Arming teachers is eyewash, an utterly unacceptable alternative to the many other steps, however more expensive, that would keep our schools safer without degrading the learning environment. Students shouldn't be expected to learn under the tutelage of teachers bearing weapons.

Sad to say, the Stoneman Douglas commission report said nothing about better gun control, which would include a long-overdue ban on military-style assault weapons like the one Cruz used to massacre so many. The commission has until 2023 to complete its work. Common sense gun control belongs on its agenda.

In the last 20 years, schools have faced targeted attacks 46 times — 33 by students, 10 by former students.

It's going to happen again. You can't stop it, all you can do is prepare for it. There can be no more excuses for failing to prepare.

The GOP majority's last words: But her emails!

Republicans, in the waning hours of their eight-year reign in the House, are using this precious time to do what they love best: investigating Hillary Clinton's emails.

The House Oversight Committee had one last item on this year's calendar — a hearing Thursday on the Clinton Foundation. But it didn't stop there! Republicans and their witnesses used the hearing to reprise their greatest hits: her email server, Benghazi, George Soros, Sidney Blumenthal, Huma Abedin, Cheryl Mills, James Comey, Andrew McCabe, Peter Strzok, Lisa Page, IRS targeting the tea party, Uranium One and a QAnon conspiracy about the Justice Department swooping into Little Rock to seize Clinton documents.

Even the lock-her-up Trump administration had tired of these proceedings. The Justice Department — under the command of Trump loyalist and former hot-tub promoter Matthew Whitaker — refused to testify (leading one witness to suggest the administration had joined the cover up) and the IRS also sent regrets.

Washington Post
Dana MILBANK

Instead, Republicans summoned conspiracy theorists, including "investigators" poised to make money as tipsters if the IRS brings a Clinton Foundation case. But even these witnesses refused to provide documents supporting their dubious claims.

"If you're not going to share the information with this committee ... my patience is running out," said Rep. Mark Meadows, R-N.C., recently on the short list to be President Trump's next chief of staff.

"Are you going to prosecute the Clintons?" one witness, John Moynihan, replied. "I don't think you are."

"Don't get cute with me!" Meadows returned.

It was an ignominious end for a Republican majority that spent years in a vain quest to prove the guilt of Clinton and former president Barack Obama. But what they lack in evidence, they have in chutzpah. "It looks like what they're going to focus on is just more investigations," incoming House minority leader Kevin McCarthy, R-Calif., said Monday of the Democrats. "I think America is too great of a nation to have such a small agenda."

If investigations are the mark of a "small agenda" unbecoming a "great nation," the Republican majority should have governed Liechtenstein.

On Dec. 7, Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee hauled in former FBI director Comey to talk more about Hillary's emails. They plan to bring in former attorney general Loretta Lynch and bring back Comey for more private interviews about the same. This all follows scores of probes into the Benghazi attacks, Planned Parenthood (each merited a select committee), IRS targeting, Operation Fast and Furious, Clinton's emails, Solyndra, Obamacare and more. In the first three years of GOP control, the oversight chairman issued more subpoenas (96) than had been issued in the previous eight years.

And now, this coda: On Thursday, unable to get the administration's cooperation, the oversight committee brought in Tom Fitton of Judicial Watch, whose investigations director was banned from Fox News after alleging the "Soros-occupied State Department" funded the migrant caravan. Later came Moynihan, who employs the man behind the false allegation in 2008 that a tape had Michelle Obama disparaging "whitey," and who in 2013 used doctored audio to declare John Kerry a rapist.

Rep. Gerald E. Connolly of Virginia, top Democrat on the subcommittee conducting the oversight hearing, asked why the panel, instead of examining what landed Michael Cohen a prison sentence or New York's fraud prosecution of the Trump Foundation, was "regifting" its frustrated anti-Clinton efforts. Even the Trump administration, he surmised, has decided "there's no there there."

The Republicans couldn't get their own witnesses to document the allegations they made against the Clintons. "I feel like you're using us for your own benefit," Rep. Jody Hice, R-Ga., told Moynihan.

"Excuse me, sir, you invited us," Moynihan interjected.

"But you didn't turn over the documents," Hice protested.

"Then disinvite us," Moynihan proposed.

Behind the Republicans on the dais, in a painting, a young Abraham Lincoln looked concerned.

Without new evidence or allegations, Republicans encouraged Fitton to speculate about the Clintons' guilt. (Q:

"Mr. Fitton, would you say that's a quid pro quo?" A: "It certainly seems that way.")

"Quid pro quo: Had to look it up," announced Rep. Rod Blum, R-Iowa. "It's Latin for 'something for something.'" There was laughter in the gallery at the 63-year-old legislator's new discovery. But Blum did know this: "If it looks like a pig, if it sounds like a pig, and if it smells like a pig, it's probably a pig. And I think based on what I read today, something smells here."

Yes, it does. But a House cleaning is coming. Follow Dana Milbank on Twitter, @Milbank.

Englewood Methodist cooking up Christmas cheer

By STEVE REILLY
STAFF WRITER

ENGLEWOOD — His name may be lost in time, but Englewood United Methodist Church carries on a Christmas tradition a church member started 27 years ago.

More than 420 volunteers are preparing the church's 27th annual free Community Christmas dinner.

Meals will be served — or delivered to those who are home-bound — noon to 3 p.m. Christmas Day in the church's fellowship hall, 700 E. Dearborn St. Shuttle service from the parking lot will be available at the church. Volunteers will greet diners and help seat them. As is custom, diners will be entertained with live music.

"There's no reason to sit at home and mope around on Christmas day," said Grace Talada who, with her husband Dick, has overseen the annual tradition for 13 years. When asked why she continues to volunteer, Grace said, "Because I can and I like it. I've made a lot of friends and acquaintances this way."

A holiday tradition

No one remembers his name now, but a church member donated $1,000 to the church so it could serve a free holiday dinner on Christmas day 27 years ago, Talada said. The original donor didn't want anyone to spend Christmas Day alone. That first year, she said, the church served about 300 meals — many more meals than anyone expected.

While volunteers will serve more than 1,300 sit-down dinners in the Fellowship Hall of Englewood United Methodist Church on Christmas Day, more than 700 more are prepared by volunteers for carry-out orders. Some are ordered and picked up in person, while others are delivered by another group of volunteers.

"We honor (the original donor) by telling his story," Talada said. What he started blossomed into an annual tradition. Donations are appreciated, but the church doesn't ask for donations. People are more than willing to donate to see that the Christmas meal remains an annual tradition. She estimates it costs $4 per meal.

Last Christmas, the church served 1,991 dinners of which 177 were delivered to homes. The church volunteers are preparing for 2,000 diners this year.

The meal itself is a traditional roasted turkey dinner with "grandma's dressing," mashed potatoes and gravy, sweet potato casserole, buttered corn, rolls, cranberry sauce, iced tea, hot tea, coffee, milk and pumpkin pie. Publix will also donate cookies, pies and bakery bread.

Talada is preparing gluten-free alternatives.

Special services

Church members will provide transportation services to the diners who cannot drive but want to enjoy their meals at the Fellowship Hall. Take-out orders can be made in advance and then picked up Christmas day at the church.

Deliveries to the home-bound should be made in advance by Thursday; however, last-minute requests can be made by 10 a.m. on Christmas Day.

For special services or for more information about the Christmas dinner, call 941-474-5588.

STAFF WRITER

PUNTA GORDA — Students from Sallie Jones Elementary School Honor Society paid the seniors at the Punta Gorda Life Center a visit for the holidays on Thursday.

The students chose visiting the Life Center as their community service project.

All of the students were just as eager to see the residents, as the residents were to see them.

Students were excited for the visit for different reasons.

"Some of them don't have families to hang out with for Christmas," Hanna Hall said.

Another student, Ambree Mason said, she was excited "to see a smile on their faces."

The children sang Christmas carols to residents in the hallway, before going up to the recreation room to meet more residents.

Their teacher, Jessica Steyskal, instructed the students to introduce themselves to the residents. The students had made Christmas ornaments to pass out. The residents were each given a stuffed bear from the activities director to give to a student.

All of the residents faces lit up as the students sang: "Jingle Bells," "Rudolph the Red-nose Reindeer," "Silent Night" and "Up on the Rooftop."

Residents sang along with their carols, often shouting out requests when the song was finished.

Many residents said they had grandchildren,

Don't take that check!

Rose Jazzi was so excited to get a quick response to her Sun classified ad listing her dining room set for sale. The 75-year-old Rotonda West resident said a text message agreed to her full asking price.

But there was an additional request. The buyer said he'd send a cashier's check for the price of the table with an additional amount to cover out-of-state shipping charges. Jazzi should deposit the cashier's check and wire the fee to a shipper who would pick up the furniture.

Jazzi said she was uncomfortable with this arrangement — especially since communication was only by text — and replied she'd only agree to take cash. In her hand. The buyer could arrange his own shipping.

Guess what? The texts stopped. That's because the buyer was fake and so is the cashier's check.

In this scam, consumers are paid for work or items they're trying to sell with counterfeit checks. They're instructed to wire money back to the buyer — often claiming to be outside the country — or to a third party for a variety of reasons, especially shipping.

An in-depth study by Better Business Bureau released in September 2018 found that while consumers may write fewer checks in this era of electronic financial transactions, fake check scams are on the rise.

With complaints to regulatory agencies and consumer watchdog groups doubling over the last three years, the study suggests that there may be over half a million victims of counterfeit checks in 2017.

And it's not just individuals. An American Banking Association survey for 2016 found that bank losses from small business accounts increased to 22 percent for fake check fraud, up from 14 percent from two years before.

"Here's what crooks know, but you may not," explains the BBB. "Even when a check is credited to your account, it does not mean the check is good. A week or so later, if the check bounces, the bank will want the money back. And you, not the fraudsters, will be on the hook for the funds."

That's what would have happened if Jazzi continued working with the "buyer." She would have withdrawn her own money and wired untraceable cash to the scammer.

After the fake cashier's check bounced, her bank would have deducted the bogus deposit and most likely charged an additional "return check" fee. And if there wasn't enough in her account to cover the reimbursement, the bank could transfer funds from other accounts or sue to recover the funds.

"Fake check scammers hunt for victims," warns the National Consumers League. "They scan newspaper and online advertisements for people listing items for sale, and check postings on online job sites from people seeking employment."

"The scammers use high-quality printers and scanners to make the checks look real," explains the Federal Trade Commission. "Some of the checks contain authentic-looking watermarks. These counterfeit checks are printed with the names and addresses of legitimate financial institutions. And even though the bank and account and routing numbers listed on a counterfeit check may be real, the check still can be a fake. These fakes come in many forms, from cashier's checks and money orders to corporate and personal checks."

To test the actual validity of a check, the BBB recommends not calling a phone number printed on the check but instead, look up the telephone number for the supposed source of the check and call directly to see if it is real.

If a counterfeit check was sent in the mail, report it to the U.S. Postal Inspection Service at <https://postalinspectors.uspis.gov>.

Finally, remember, being asked to send a portion of a check to someone you don't know either by wire transfer or purchasing a pre-paid debit card is ALWAYS a scam!

Aldi, Lucky's offer unique grocery shopping experiences

With Walmart's online-ordering-for-curbside-pickup and Instacart's pickup-and-deliver options for local Publix and Aldi stores, you might never have to step into a supermarket again.

But two local grocery brands offer such unique shopping experiences that curious customers pour through their sliding doors anyway.

Lucky's Market and Aldi might fall at opposite ends of the customer service spectrum, but they'll both save you money.

Venice, Port Charlotte get Lucky

In a recent tongue-in-cheek review, Linda Ritter of Venice claimed that her family considered selling their home to move closer to Lucky's in Sarasota.

Of course, they won't really have to do that. Colorado-based Lucky's is coming to Venice next year, and to Port Charlotte shortly thereafter.

The community-centric, fun-loving organic grocer, founded in 2003 by Boulder chefs Trish and Bo Sharon, has seen explosive growth lately, fed by a 2016 strategic partnership with supermarket giant Kroger.

Q.) When did you open your business?

A.) We just opened two months ago.

Q.) How many employees do you have?

A.) It's just me.

Q.) What is your most popular item or service?

A.) Embroidering uniforms, personalizing of trophies, logo T-shirts, and dog tags.

Q.) What's the hardest part about your business?

A.) The build out was quite challenging.

Q.) What sets you apart from other businesses?

TEDDY INC

ADDRESS: 2721 Tamiami Trail, Port Charlotte

OWNER: Brenda Anderson

the high-quality organic ingredients they wanted, in one place, with a welcoming feeling and affordable prices for all.

So they proceeded to create a store with the mind, palate and — some might say, corny — humor of two trendy young chefs, who named their store for what they believed was their good fortune in life.

From goofy slogans like store-brand baking mix that suggests, "Bake it 'til you make it" to team members who seem outrageously happy to come to work every day, Lucky's Markets are the most lighthearted supermarkets you're likely to experience.

Venice and Port Charlotte are on Lucky's list of future Florida locations, with a 29,000-square-foot storefront coming in summer 2019 to the new Port Charlotte Marketplace space closest to Quesada Avenue. The Venice store will open at the former Kmart location at 1687 U.S. 41 Bypass in the spring.

If they're true to Lucky's formula, both will look like big, friendly, indoor farmers markets.

Lucky's currently has 33 stores across the country, in 11 states from Montana to Florida, but they're even more densely concentrated in Florida than in their home state.

"We're expecting significant growth in 2019, and the vast majority will be in Florida. We'd love to open as many as 20 new Lucky's there next year," said Krista Torvik, communications and media relations specialist. "Floridians really appreciate the concepts of healthy lifestyles and good food at great prices."

Lucky's is as committed to its communities as it is to healthy, organic foods.

Through Community Impact Programming, Lucky's identifies local nonprofit partners with whom it works and to whom it donates. Impact Days throughout the year give 10 percent of daily sales to a specific organization. This month's beneficiary at the Westfield Siesta Key Lucky's Market in Sarasota is All Faiths Food Bank.

"Local is a big focus for Lucky's Market," said

Lucky's Market lets you Sip and Stroll with your beverage of choice nestled in a handy cup holder.

Torvik. "We're eager to support local producers and entrepreneurs. We even have a Director of Local in our home office."

Venice's Gold Rush BBQ owner Bob Overholser experienced a warm Lucky's local welcome when the Sarasota store stocked his signature Stevia Sweet BBQ sauce.

"Lucky's Market has such a great program," said Overholser. "They are very pro local vendors, which is a great way to show that they care for the local community."

Each store carries in-house smoked bacon and house-made sausages, and has a huge prepared-foods department, with sandwiches, salads, sides and dishes like cranberry-walnut-stuffed pork roast. Dinner-for-Two — including holiday turkey dinners, lasagna and meat loaf — comes prepacked in a bag to take home and warm up.

Lucky's also believes in bulk, providing bulk produce, honey, spices, candy, beans and grains, so that customers can buy only what they need.

Its Apothecary department is an in-store health food shop, carrying everything from traditional medicines to homeopathic and natural remedies. No prescriptions are filled there, but the apothecary manager helps customers figure out alternative cures.

Among newer store features are hot ramen, pizza and taco bars where you assemble your own meal, using fresh store-made ingredients.

Lucky's is perhaps best known for its "Sip and Stroll" program. You can buy a $2 pint of beer, a $3 glass of wine, or any other beverage, and pop it into your cart's cup holder.

With typical Lucky's wink-wink humor, it advertises, "Fill your cart and let happy hour start."

"I'd love to do Sip and Stroll," said Torvik wistfully. "But our, um, 'interesting' Colorado liquor laws let us sip only coffee, tea and root beer in our own stores."

No wonder they couldn't wait to come to Florida.

'ALDI does things differentli'

The true European shopping experience usually means trekking to a local Carrefour, Kaufland, Tesco or Aldi.

Once there, you insert a coin to release a locked shopping cart, browse aisles crammed with brands that most Americans wouldn't recognize and pay a relative pittance to a cashier seated comfortably behind the register. You have to purchase bags or bring one, and pack your own groceries.

This might sound exotic, but it's all at your local Aldi store, too.

SUN PHOTOS BY SUE WADE

across Europe, particularly in its native Germany, the Aldi discount grocery chain continues to spread across the United States. With more than 1,850 stores in 35 states, Aldi plans to reach 2,500 by the end of 2022. In Southwest Florida, there are 10 Aldis between Naples and Sarasota — including Nokomis, North Port, Port Charlotte and the newest local Aldi in Punta Gorda, on Jones Loop Road.

The secret to Aldi's low prices? Each store has, at most, four staff onsite per day. No one has shopping cart roundup duty because the carriages aren't left in the lot. Bags cost 7 cents for paper, 10 cents for plastic, and it's all bag-your-own.

"In the 1970s, I lived in Chicago and raised my kids on Aldis. I like shopping here," said Dolly Cook, shopping at the Punta Gorda store. "Other stores cost a lot more."

One first-time Aldi shopper, visiting from New Jersey, came for the Punta Gorda store's produce.

"They have Aldis in New Jersey, but I never went," she said. "This one looked so nice, I had to come in."

Every trip is an adventure in a place where you've never heard of store brands like SimplyNature organics, Clancy's Cheese Dip, Winking Owl wines and Southern Grove Trail Mix.

But, in response to feedback from customers with strong brand preferences, Aldi increasingly carries more national brands like Sun-Maid raisins, Idahoan instant mashed potatoes and Coca-Cola.

Some customers at the brightly lit new Punta Gorda store, like Bill Dommermuth of Burnt Store Marina, are still getting the hang of the Aldi shopping cart drill, though.

"This is my first time in here," said Dommermuth. "I was fine until I ran into this issue with the baskets. I never had to pay for a shopping cart before. And I'm really old."

(In the end, he got his quarter back.)

Beautiful Blinds and Designs is the place to start when decorating

There is a little store in Englewood that is the “place to go” for your window treatment upholstery or decorating needs.

Lang
CAPASSO
COLUMNIST

Kimberly Weaver, a seventh-generation Floridian, brought her years of home design training here about five years ago and gave her business the perfect name — Beautiful Blinds and Designs.

I called it a little store, but that does not imply that the store is small. Don't let the square footage fool you. The old adage “big things come in small packages,” really fits here. If you're looking for the best shutters, blinds, shades, custom draperies, top treatments, bed spreads or pillows you don't need to go any further. In fact, they may just have all you might need and want to select the “just-right” look to make your place perfect.

When I went in, I had no idea what to expect. It took me about five seconds to know I was in a place where the people would know what I was looking for to make my home — or any home — beautiful.

There are sample books, and sample blinds and swatches, everywhere you look. These include top lines like Hunter Douglas and Kirsch Essentials, plus many other brands to capture the essence of how you view your home.

Backing Kimberly up is office manager Amber Barnhouse, who has been with Kimberly since day one here in town. Amber is much more than an office manager. She's had an interest in home design and décor ever since she graduated from high school. Amber is one of those ladies that you instantly like and trust. She is the person who you'll probably meet first. She places the orders makes sure the merchandise comes in on a timely basis. Most of all, she works with the customer to ensure happy results.

I have witnessed this type of professionalism in many small offices, but Amber takes the sense of pride and professional conduct to another level. I was able to sit and see how she handled a group of customers who came in unannounced. They were able get their questions answered in a few minutes. A few minutes later she fielded a phone call from Kimberly about expediting a customer's order. Their new home, it seems, was being finished sooner than expected. Kimberly and Amber worked out a plan that had the customer pleased and appreciative of the net result.

I couldn't help but notice they have won the “Best of Englewood” award and had their plaque displayed proudly. I happen to know a little bit about that award, and I can tell you the competition is pretty stiff. You really have to go above and beyond to garner first place.

Amber told me was they serve customers from Longboat Key near Bradenton all the way down to Punta Gorda. With their trucks constantly on the road, it's easy to see why.

Beautiful Blinds and Designs is at 960 S. McCall Road, right near the Charlotte-Sarasota County line. You can call 941-208-5931 or visit www.BeautifulBlindsAndDesigns.com.

North Port Chamber announces Business of the Year, Frosty Award winners

The North Port Area Chamber of Commerce recently held the annual awards luncheon at Heron Creek Golf & Country Club.

Bill
COLUMNIST

I would like to thank all that attended to recognize and support the 2018 Business-of-the-Year nominees and Frosty Award contestants.

I would like to congratulate the following recipients of the 2018 Business of the Year awards. There were 23 businesses that were nominated for the 2018 Business of the Year contest and 18 businesses that competed in the various categories. The winners of the 2018 Business of the year are:

- 2018 Rookie Business of the Year — WrightWay Emergency Services
- 2018 Small Business of the Year — The Rock Box

Music School & Stage

- 2018 Medium Business of the Year — Rhonda Gustitus Team — Keller Williams Realty
- 2018 Large Business of the Year — Coldwell Banker Sunstar Realty

- 2018 “BIG” Business of the Year — Mary Kay — EarthBalance Corporation
- 2018 Non-Profit Organization of the Year — Charlotte County Homeless Coalition

I would like to congratulate the following recipient of the 2018 Frosty Award. The annual Frost Award is presented to the business that exhibits the most festive holiday decorations for the holiday season. The winner of the 2018 annual Frosty Award is Worksite.

Year-End membership drive

The North Port Area Chamber of Commerce is conducting a year-end membership drive.

The concept of this membership drive is to encourage businesses that are not currently a member of the North Port Area Chamber of Commerce, to expand their efforts and make a commitment to help their business grow and be more successful.

The chamber wants to help by offering non-chamber businesses an opportunity to join the chamber and receive benefits that will help their business be more successful and grow.

Any business that joins the North Port Area Chamber of Commerce by Dec. 31, will receive three days advertising in the North Port Sun newspaper ($192 value), will be entered a raffle to win a 55 inch smart television ($420 value donated by Wal-Mart Supercenter) and the chamber will waive the $25 administrative fee.

This is also the last chance that a business can join the North

Port Area Chamber of Commerce and claim the membership dues on their 2018 business tax return.

Any current and active chamber member that solicits and secures a new chamber member during the membership drive will receive a $50 credit to their chamber account (for each new chamber member secured) and be entered a raffle to win the Business Spotlight in the February 2019 Communicator Newsletter.

2019 Calendars

The North Port Area Chamber of Commerce has 2019 calendars that have been donated by chamber members and are available free to the public.

There is a limited supply of the 2019 calendars and will be distributed to the public on a first-come/first-serve basis. The public can pick up the calendars at the chamber office, located at 1337 N. Sumter Blvd., in North Port, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. — 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Lunch & Learn Workshops

The North Port Area Chamber of Commerce will seek input from chamber members and the public in selecting topics for the 2019 Lunch & Learn Workshop Series.

The Lunch & Learn Workshop Series is held monthly and provides free training on various topics of interest to business professionals at no cost to the participants.

Each workshop is conducted by professionals in the field of the topics that are selected. The workshops are open to the business community and to the public and participants are provided with a complimentary lunch sponsored by local businesses.

The chamber is inviting all chamber members and individuals from the public to attend the January 2019 Breakfast Club Networking, to be held Wednesday, Jan. 2, 2019, at 7:30 a.m. at the Longhorn Steakhouse Restaurant, located at 1381 Tamiami Trail in Port Charlotte.

Longhorn Steakhouse will open their restaurant just for this event and will be providing a delicious breakfast buffet for only $6 per person.

are expected to increase slightly, to $1.2 billion. GPRO has some heady competition from Panasonic, Sony, Nikon, Vivitar, Samsung and JVC. These are well-capitalized companies, and GPRO's management will have to burn barrels of midnight oil to keep the office doors open in San Mateo.

Though it sells righteous products, GPRO is not a growth stock. In addition to themselves, Americans love fads. GPRO is a fad, and the surrounding excitement is fugacious. Sooner than later, today's consumers will satiate themselves, and tomorrow's consumers will become obsessed with another entertainment craze. GPRO's a one-product company and a onetime phenomenon, and Woodman was one time in the right place at the right time.

Its balance sheet needs help, and if GPRO isn't merged into another company within the next several years, its business model may disappear into the ether. Still, management has reduced its costs, and several new products, including image stabilizers and an updated subscription service, will help the bottom line for a few years.

Buy the stock, but only as a short-term investment. Some pros think GPRO will return to the $9-$11 level in the next dozen months, and two firms, Market Edge and Ned Davis Research, have “buy” recommendations on the stock.

Christmas Parade. It's always a fun time and a chance to wish your business colleagues a happy holiday season. Our 40th Annual Christmas Parade will air on CCTV (channel 20) Thursday at noon, Saturday at noon and 5 p.m. and Sunday at 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The parade will air through New Year's, so check the CC-TV schedule (<https://www.charlottecountyfl.gov/cctv/>) at 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

And, after the Coffee, that's a wrap for 2018. We've had a great year with lots of new members, ribbon cuttings, events, time spent referring your business and more. In January we already have five ribbon cuttings scheduled and the Jan. 10 training and kickoff party for our eighth annual Business Expo on Feb. 7, in addition to the regular monthly networking events. Make plans in 2019 to attend at least one gathering a month to increase your contacts and referral base. Special thanks to Maurie Woosley, the friendly Australian Realtor, who has been a volunteer in the Freeman House, our office in Punta Gorda, for years. Maurie has been my Wednesday afternoon volunteer to greet the guests, tell them about our community, hand out brochures and his business cards. A win-win for both of us. Maurie has decided to "semi-retire" and travel and relax. I will miss his "afternoon Julie" as he walks in the office and sets up his laptop. Thank

The final Englewood chamber event of the year

Prime Time Steak & Spirits, 5855 Placida Road, is the location for our December Bizz@Noon Networking Lunch. It's the last chamber event of 2018. If you are a chamber member, this is a great opportunity for you "set the stage" for the upcoming year with your fellow chamber members. Do you have some special things planned for 2019? Do you have some enhanced services or new products on the horizon? It's also a good time to remind others what makes a good referral for each other. For those businesses or organizations, I'd suggest taking this occasion to "kick-the-tires" of the chamber. Come see what things are about and learn more about how the chamber can help you reach your goals. The lunch starts at noon and we are promptly done by 1 p.m. Menu choices include roast turkey Nicoise salad, petite prime rib au jus, and apple-and-pecan stuffed chicken breast. Reservations should be made at www.EnglewoodChamber.com. The cost is just $15 until noon Wednesday.

of people within our community and across the country. In fact, I've had local year-round residents tell me this is their phone book whenever they need to purchase goods or services. By joining now, your business would be included in the book. Registration for the chamber's All Star program will be Dec. 28. This program allows chamber members to further increase their profile with the community. The once-time administrative fee of $25 is being waived for any business that joins the chamber prior to Dec. 31. While this doesn't represent a significant savings, it is a benefit to joining now. While the annual chamber investment is not a large expense, by joining before the end of the year, a business might be able to benefit from a tax perspective. Registering as a new member of the chamber is easy to do. Simply visit www.EnglewoodChamber.com and click on the "Join the Chamber" tab.

Scientific Discovery Stuns Doctors

Biblical Bush Delivers 78% Better Relief Than #1 Joint Solution

Amazing plant “prescription” gives new life to old joints without clobbering you. So safe you can take it every day without worry

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 54 million Americans are suffering from joint discomfort.

This epidemic rise in aching joints has led to a search for alternative treatments—as many sufferers want relief without the harmful side effects of conventional “solutions.”

Leading the way from nature’s pharmacy is the new “King of Oils” that pioneering Florida MD and anti-aging specialist Dr. Al Sears calls “the most significant breakthrough I’ve ever found for easing joint discomfort.”

Biblical scholars treasured this “holy oil.” Ancient healers valued it more than gold for its medicinal properties. Marco Polo prized it as he blazed the Silk Road. And Ayurvedic practitioners, to this day, rely on it for healing and detoxification.

Yet what really caught Dr. Sears’ attention is how modern medical findings now prove this “King of Oils” can powerfully...

Deactivate 400 Agony-Causing Genes

If you want genuine, long-lasting relief for joint discomfort, you must address inflammation. Too much inflammation will wreak havoc on joints, break down cartilage and causing unending discomfort. This is why so many natural joint relief solutions try to stop one of the main inflammatory genes called COX-2.

But the truth is, there are hundreds of agony-causing genes like COX-2, 5-LOX, iNOS, TNK, Interleukin 1,6,8 and many more—and stopping just one of them won’t give you all the relief you need.

Doctors and scientists now confirm the “King of Oils”—Indian Frankincense—deactivates not one but 400 agony-causing genes. It does so by shutting down the inflammation command center called Nuclear Factor Kappa Beta.

NK-Kappa B is like a switch that can turn 400 inflammatory genes “on” or “off.” A study in Journal of Food Lipids reports that Indian Frankincense powerfully deactivates NF-Kappa B. This journal adds that Indian Frankincense is “so powerful it shuts down the pathway triggering aching joints.”

Relief That’s 10 Times Faster... and in Just 5 Days

Many joint sufferers prefer natural solutions but say they work too slowly. Take the best-seller glucosamine. Good as it is, the National Institutes of Health reports that glucosamine takes as long as eight weeks to work.

Yet in a study published in the International Journal of Medical Sciences, 60 patients with stiff knees took 100 mg of Indian Frankincense or a placebo daily for 30 days. Remarkably, Indian Frankincense “significantly improved joint function and relieved discomfort as early as five days.” That’s relief that 10 times faster than glucosamine.

78% Better Relief Than the Most Popular Joint Solution

In another study, people suffering from discomfort took a formula containing Indian Frankincense and another natural substance or a popular man-made joint solution every day for 12 weeks.

The results? Stunning! At the end of the study, 64% of those taking the Indian Frankincense formula saw their joint discomfort go from moderate or severe to mild or no discomfort. Only 28% of those taking the placebo to the relief they wanted. So Indian Frankincense delivered relief at a 78% better clip than the popular man-made formula.

In addition, in a randomized, double blind, placebo controlled study, patients suffering from knee discomfort took Indian Frankincense or a placebo daily for eight weeks. Then the groups switched and got the opposite intervention. Every one of the patients taking Indian Frankincense got relief. That’s a 100% success rate—numbers unseen in by typical solutions.

In addition, BMJ (formerly the British Medical Journal) reports that Indian Frankincense is safe for joint relief — so safe and natural you can take it every day.

Because of clinically proven results like this, Dr. Sears has made Indian Frankincense the centerpiece of a new natural joint relief formula called Mobilify.

Great Results for Knees, Hips, Shoulders and Joints

Joni D. says, “Mobilify really helps with soreness, stiffness and mild temporary pain. The day after taking it, I was completely back to normal—so fast.” Shirley M. adds, “Two week after taking Mobilify, I had no knee discomfort and could go up and down the staircase.” Larry M. says, “After a week and a half of taking Mobilify, the discomfort, stiffness and minor aches went away... it’s almost like being reborn.” And avid golfer Dennis H. says, “I can attest to Mobilify easing discomfort to enable me to pursue my golfing days. Definitely one pill that works for me out of the many I have tried.”

How to Get Mobilify

Right now, the only way to get this powerful, unique formula that clobbers creaking joints in five days without clobbering you is with Dr. Sears’ breakthrough Mobilify formula. It is not available in stores.

To secure bottle of this breakthrough natural joint discomfort reliever, buyers should call with Sears Health Hotline at 1-866-708-8712 within the next 48 hours. “The Hotline allows us to ship the product directly to customers.”

Dr. Sears believes in this product so much, he offers a 100% money-back guarantee on ever order. “Just send me back the bottle and any unused product within 90 days, and I’ll send you your money back,” he says.

The Hotline will be open for the next 48 hours. After that, the phone number will be shut down to allow them to restock. Call 1-866-708-8712 to secure your limited supply of Mobilify. You don’t need a prescription, and those who call in the first 24 hours qualify for a significant discount. Use promo code NP1218MB69 when you call.

Senior Destiny Ashcraft enjoys hanging out with Chason Strauss, Sidney Miller and Noah Schmidt.

AP PHOTO

Some of the Facebook and Instagram ads linked to a Russian effort to disrupt the American political process and stir up tensions around divisive social issues, released by members of the U.S. House Intelligence committee, are photographed. A report compiled by private researchers and released by the Senate intelligence committee Monday says that "active and ongoing" Russian interference operations still exist on social media platforms, and that the Russian operation discovered after the 2016 presidential election was much broader than once thought.

Reports highlight depth of disinformation campaign efforts

By MARY CLARE JALONICK
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Russia's sweeping political disinformation campaign on U.S. social media was more far-reaching than originally thought, with troll farms working to discourage black voters and "blur the lines between reality and fiction" to help elect Donald Trump in 2016, according to reports released Monday by the Senate intelligence committee.

And the campaign didn't end with Trump's ascent to the White House. Troll farms are still working to stoke racial and political passions in America at a time of high political discord.

The two studies are the most comprehensive picture yet of the Russian interference campaigns on American social media. They add to the portrait investigators have been building since 2017 on Russia's influence — though Trump has equivocated on whether the interference actually happened.

Facebook, Google and Twitter declined to comment on the specifics of the reports.

The reports were compiled by the cybersecurity firm New Knowledge and by the Computational Propaganda Research Project, a study by researchers at the University of Oxford and Graphika, a social media analysis firm.

The Oxford report details how Russians broke down their messages to different groups, including discouraging black voters from going to the polls and stoking anger on the right.

"These campaigns pushed a message that the best way to advance the cause of the African-American community was to boycott the election and focus on other issues instead," the researchers wrote.

At the same time, "Messaging to conservative and right-wing voters sought to do three things: repeat patriotic and anti-immigrant slogans; elicit outrage with posts about liberal appeasement of 'others' at the expense of US citizens, and encourage them to vote for Trump."

The report from New Knowledge says there are still some live accounts tied to the original Internet Research Agency, which was named in an indictment from special counsel Robert Mueller in February for an expansive social media campaign intended to influence the 2016 presidential election. Some of the accounts have a presence on smaller platforms as the major companies have tried to clean up after the Russian activity was discovered.

"With at least some of the Russian government's goals achieved in the face of little diplomatic or other pushback, it appears likely that the United States will continue to face Russian interference for the foreseeable future," the researchers wrote.

Trump meets with team as clock ticks to partial shutdown

By LISA MASCARO, MATTHEW DALY and CATHERINE LUCEY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The fight over President Donald Trump's $5 billion wall funds deepened Monday, threatening a partial government shutdown in a standoff that has become increasingly common in Washington.

It wasn't always like this, with Congress and the White House at a crisis over government funding. The House and Senate used to pass annual appropriation bills, and the president signed them into law. But in recent years the shutdown scenario has become so routine that it raises the question: Have shutdowns as a negotiating tool lost their punch?

Monday brought few signs of progress. A partial shutdown that could occur at midnight Friday risks disrupting government operations and leaving hundreds of thousands of federal employees furloughed or working without pay over the holiday season. Costs would be likely in the billions of dollars.

Trump was meeting with his team and getting regular updates, said White House spokeswoman Sarah Huckabee Sanders. Trump was also tweeting Monday to keep up the pressure.

The president is insisting on $5 billion for the wall along the southern border with Mexico, but he does not have the votes from the Republican-led Congress to support it. Democrats are offering to continue funding at current levels, $1.3 billion.

It's unclear how many House Republicans, with just a few weeks left in the majority before relinquishing power to House Democrats, will even show up mid-week for possible votes. Many say it's up to Trump and Democrats to cut a deal.

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell opened the chamber Monday hoping for a "bipartisan collaborative spirit" that would enable Congress to finish its work.

Study: Child abuse climbs after Friday report cards

By LINDSEY TANNER
AP MEDICAL WRITER

Child abuse increases the day after school report cards are released — but only when kids get their grades on a Friday, a study in Florida suggests.

The curious finding startled researchers, who had figured abuse might go up regardless of the specific day kids got their grades.

But their study of reports to a child abuse hotline that included broken bones, burns and other confirmed abuse found otherwise. An increase only occurred on Saturdays after a report-card Friday. Though overall rates were small, there were almost four times more cases on those Saturdays than on other Saturdays. No apparent connection between report cards and abuse was found on other days of the week.

"Anecdotally, we know a lot of parents will spank their children or use corporal punishment if they're unsatisfied with their school work," said University of Florida psychologist Melissa Bright, the lead author.

That punishment may become abusive when kids don't have school the next day and parents think injuries might be more likely to go unnoticed, the researchers said, noting that teachers are required to report suspected child abuse. Or, it could be that severe punishment is less likely on weekdays when parents are too busy to focus on report cards, Bright said,

But she acknowledged those theories are speculation and that the findings aren't proof.

The study was published Monday in JAMA Pediatrics.

The researchers reviewed calls to a Florida child abuse hotline and school report card release dates in most of Florida's 67 counties during the 2015-2016 academic year. Nearly 2,000 cases of physical abuse in kids aged 5 to 11, confirmed by child welfare authorities, were included.

There was an average of slightly more than 0.6 cases of abuse per 100,000 children on Saturdays after a report-card Friday compared with slightly less than 0.2 cases per 100,000 children on other Saturdays. The average was less than one per day because so many days were included in the analysis. But in a state like Florida, with a school-age population of just over 3 million kids, this could amount to 19 cases of report card-related abuse compared to 5 on other Saturdays, the researchers said.

Florida taps Republican politician for top education post

By GARY FINEOUT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

TALLAHASSEE — Florida is turning to a longtime Republican politician who has openly clashed with the state's teacher union to be the state's next education commissioner.

The State Board of Education, in a unanimous vote Monday, chose former House Speaker Richard Corcoran to take over the job in February. Corcoran, an attorney, just concluded a two-year term as House speaker and has ties to both former Gov. Jeb Bush and U.S. Sen. Marco Rubio.

The choice of the 53-year-old Corcoran wasn't a surprise since he had won the backing earlier this month of Gov.-elect Ron DeSantis for the post currently held by Commissioner Pam Stewart.

But the decision drew fire from Democrats and other public education advocates who had asked the appointed board to conduct a national search for Stewart's successor. They are also skeptical of Corcoran, who has no professional experience in education, because as House speaker he pushed to expand the use of private school vouchers and to create a program designed to spur the growth of more charter schools.

Corcoran once called the Florida Education Association "downright evil" for suing to block a voucher program that helps 100,000 children, many of them from low-income families. On Monday, he tried to downplay his past combativeness.

"I am product of the traditional public school system and an advocate for the traditional public school system, and I'm an advocate for choice," said Corcoran.

Still, Corcoran acknowledged that he is impatient about the need to change Florida's schools to deal with the "disruption" that is going on in the workforce. His selection as commissioner signals a marked departure from Stewart, a former teacher and veteran education official who generally ceded the spotlight on education issues to Gov. Rick Scott and was usually careful about asserting her own viewpoints while dealing with the GOP-controlled Legislature.

Federick Ingram, the president of the FEA, said the group was "disappointed" with Corcoran's selection, but expressed hope that he would at least be open to talking to the union about issues such as raising teacher salaries.

"If you don't bring all stakeholders to the table, then our children are in the balance," Ingram said.

Terrie Rizzo, chairwoman of the Florida Democratic Party, sharply criticized the selection saying that Corcoran's "legacy consists of demonizing educators, and giving money to unaccountable, for-profit charter schools." "As education commissioner he will continue his mission of destroying our public school system," Rizzo said.

Before the state board approved his selection, Corcoran was asked publicly by one board member if he had ever gotten paid from anyone in the charter school industry. He was also asked about his wife Anne Corcoran, who helped create a charter school in Pasco County. Richard Corcoran maintained that neither he nor his wife had made a "penny" from their support of charter schools.

Corcoran said his priorities as commissioner includes carrying out DeSantis's education promises, such as expanding alternatives to traditional public schools, widening the availability of vocational education and examining parts of Florida's education standards and curriculum. DeSantis criticized the state for relying on Common Core as a framework for its school standards even though the change was put in place by other Republicans.

Florida's new ag chief wants pardon for Groveland 4

ORLANDO (AP) — Florida's incoming agriculture commissioner says she wants to get a formal pardon for four young African-American men who were wrongly accused of raping a white woman in what is considered one of the greatest miscarriages of justice in Jim Crow-era Florida.

Nikki Fried said in a statement Monday she would bring up the Groveland Four's case at the first Florida Cabinet meeting she attends and try to expedite a review that could lead to their posthumous pardon at a clemency board hearing.

As agriculture secretary, Fried is one of four members on the state's clemency board, which also includes the governor, attorney general and chief financial officer.

The four men were wrongly accused of raping a white woman in the central Florida town of Groveland in 1949.

Charge says man wasn't qualified to vote in New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A Florida man has been accused of voting in New Hampshire on Election Day in November 2016.

Attorney General Gordon MacDonald said 45-year-old Michael L. Lewis, of Miami, was indicted by a Merrimack County grand jury last week.

The indictment alleges that Lewis voted for an office or measure by casting a ballot in Hooksett, New Hampshire in 2016. It also alleges that Lewis wasn't qualified to vote there because he wasn't domiciled there for voting purposes.

An arraignment date hasn't been scheduled. It wasn't immediately if he had a lawyer, and a phone number couldn't be found for him.

3 endangered sandhill cranes reintroduced to the wild

YULEE (AP) — Three endangered Mississippi sandhill cranes that hatched earlier this year at a Florida conservation center have been reintroduced to the wild.

White Oak Conservation officials said in a news release that the cranes were released last week at the Mississippi Sandhill Crane National Wildlife Refuge near Gautier, Mississippi.

Officials say only about 130 Mississippi sandhill cranes and 34 breeding pairs remain in the wild. White Oaks' breeding and reintroduction program is designed to support the survival of this species.

The three sandhill cranes hatched in the spring. They're offspring of a pair of cranes that came to the center in 2016 from the Audubon Species Survival Center. The program began in 1994 and since then 109 cranes have been born and reintroduced into the wild.

2 children stuck by vehicle during 'Santa Run'

INDIAN HARBOUR BEACH (AP) — Authorities say two children were struck by a vehicle during a "Santa Run" on Florida's Atlantic Coast.

Indian Harbour Beach Volunteer Fire Department officials said in a Facebook post that crash happened Sunday night as a fire truck escorted Santa Claus to the city-run event.

The children's grandmother told Florida Today that they saw a fire truck pass and they wanted to go see it. They were struck by another vehicle as they crossed the road. The driver stopped and is cooperating with police in the investigation.

Fire officials say firefighters on the truck escorting Santa stopped to help the children, ages 11 and 8. The children were flown to Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children in Orlando. Their names and conditions were not available.

Sheriff: Florida dad 'shattered' after fatally shooting son after fatally shooting his 30-year-old son who'd gotten into a confrontation with his younger brother over a game of pool.

Martin County Sheriff William Synder told a news conference that Joseph Maloney got into a violent struggle early Sunday with his brother, 26-year-old James Maloney.

Synder says Maloney had his sibling in a choke hold with one arm while holding a knife with the other. The incident followed a long night of violence at the home in Stuart.

Snyder says the father, John Maloney, hasn't been charged because the shooting is considered an act of protecting his other son from great bodily harm or death.

The family told investigators Joseph Maloney had been under a great deal of stress from a 2015 DUI manslaughter case.

Saudi Arabia rejects US Senate's 'interference' in kingdom

By AYA BATRAWY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — Saudi Arabia issued an unusually strong rebuke of the U.S. Senate on Monday, rejecting a bipartisan resolution that put the blame for the killing of Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi squarely on the Saudi crown prince and describing it as interference in the kingdom's affairs.

It's the latest sign of how the relationship between the royal court and Congress has deteriorated, more than two months after Khashoggi was killed and dismembered by Saudi agents inside the kingdom's consulate in Istanbul. The assassins have been linked to Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman.

U.S. Senators last Thursday passed the measure that blamed the prince for Khashoggi's killing and called on Riyadh to "ensure appropriate accountability." Senators also passed a separate measure calling for the end of U.S. aid to the Saudi-led war in Yemen.

In a lengthy statement early Monday, Saudi Arabia said the Senate's resolution "contained blatant interferences" in the kingdom's internal affairs and undermines its regional and international role. The resolution was based on "unsubstantiated claims and allegations," the statement also said.

"The kingdom categorically rejects any interference in its internal affairs, any and all accusations, in any manner, that disrespect its leadership ... and any attempts to undermine its sovereignty or diminish its stature," it said.

Such language is usually reserved for those who criticize the kingdom's human rights record, such as Sweden in 2015 after the public flogging of a blogger, and Canada this year over the arrests of women's rights activists.

But the statement was also tempered in saying the kingdom "reaffirms" its commitment to relations with the United States and describing the Senate as "an esteemed legislative body of an allied and friendly government."

President Donald Trump has been reluctant to condemn the crown prince, despite U.S. intelligence officials concluding that Prince Mohammed must have at least had knowledge of the plot. Trump instead has touted Saudi arms deals worth billions of dollars and has thanked the Saudis for lower oil prices.

Saudi Arabia denies Prince Mohammed was involved in the Oct. 2 killing of Khashoggi, a Washington Post columnist who wrote critically of the crown prince. Under intense international pressure, the kingdom recently acknowledged that the plot was masterminded by top Saudi agents close to Prince Mohammed.

US conducts 6 airstrikes against Somalia extremists, 62 dead

By ABDI GULED
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NAIROBI, Kenya — Six U.S. airstrikes that killed more than 60 people in a coastal Somali town were pre-emptive strikes to prevent a major extremist attack, according to a Somali intelligence officer.

The U.S. military said Monday it carried out four strikes on Dec. 15 in which 34 people were killed and two more on Dec. 16 which killed 28. The air attacks targeted Gandarshe, south of the capital, Mogadishu, it said.

No civilians were injured or killed in the attacks, it said.

The strikes were carried out in close coordination with Somalia's government and were "conducted to prevent al-Shabab from using remote areas as a safe haven to plot, direct, inspire, and recruit for future attacks," said the U.S. military statement.

The U.S. airstrikes were aimed at al-Shabab fighters who were preparing a major attack on a Somali government military base in the Lower Shabelle region, said a Somali intelligence official, who insisted on anonymity because he was not authorized to speak to the press.

"The strike has neutralized an imminent attack," he said. The airstrikes hit both a military camp and battle vehicles in Gandarshe, the official told The Associated Press.

Al-Shabab has long used historic Gandarshe town, roughly 30 miles southwest of Mogadishu, as a launching pad from for attacks, including car bombs that hit the capital.

Al-Shabab uses parts of southern and central Somalia to plot and direct extremist attacks, steal humanitarian aid, extort the local populace to fund its operations, and shelter radicals, said U.S. military statement.

With these attacks, the U.S. military has carried out at least 46 airstrikes so far this year against al-Shabab, which is allied to al-Qaida and Africa's most active Islamic extremist group. Al-Shabab, which is fighting to establish its version of Shariah law in Somalia, controls parts of rural southern and central Somalia and continues to stage deadly attacks in Mogadishu and other cities.

May says postponed Brexit vote to be held week of Jan. 14

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Theresa May said Monday that the postponed vote in Parliament on Britain's Brexit agreement with the European Union will be held the week of Jan. 14 — more than a month after it was originally scheduled and just 10 weeks before Britain leaves the EU.

But even as May insisted she could salvage her unpopular divorce deal, pressure was mounting for dramatic action — a new referendum or a vote among lawmakers — to find a way out of Britain's Brexit impasse and prevent the economic damage of a messy exit from the EU on March 29 with no agreement in place.

Jeremy Corbyn, leader of the main opposition Labour Party, said he would submit a motion of no-confidence in the prime minister over her delays. Losing the vote on such a motion would increase the pressure on May, but unlike a no-confidence vote in the government as a whole, it wouldn't trigger a process leading to the fall of the government and an early election.

France attack: 1 suspect in court, 2 more arrested

PARIS (AP) — Two people were arrested and one appeared before a French judge Monday as part of a terrorism-related investigation of the shooting attack that killed five people last week near a Christmas market in Strasbourg, the Paris prosecutor's office said.

An official close to the investigation said the man who was in court is suspected of involvement in supplying the weapon that alleged gunman Cherif Chekatt used in the Dec. 11 attack. Chekatt, 29, died in a shootout with police in Strasbourg Thursday.

The two detained Monday also were suspected of "playing a role in supplying the firearm," said the official, who could not be named with the case ongoing.

Italy steps up holiday security at airports, train stations

ROME (AP) — Italy's interior minister says security is being beefed up at train stations and airports in the nation "after the terror attack in Strasbourg and in view of Christmas" holidays.

Matteo Salvini also tweeted that there's "maximum alert for sensitive places like monuments and churches." He said the strategy was adopted at a meeting he led Monday of the National Committee for Public Order and Safety.

Run-up to Flynn sentencing tinged with unexpected drama

By ERIC TUCKER and CHAD DAY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Michael Flynn may have given extraordinary cooperation to prosecutors, but the run-up to his sentencing hearing on Tuesday has exposed raw tensions over an FBI interview in which the former national security adviser lied about his Russian contacts.

Flynn's lawyers have suggested that investigators discouraged him from having an attorney present during the January 2017 interview and never informed him it was a crime to lie.

The mere insinuation of underhanded tactics was startling given the seemingly productive relationship between the two sides, and it was especially striking since prosecutors with special counsel Robert Mueller's office have praised Flynn's cooperation and recommended against prison time.

The defense arguments spurred speculation that Flynn may be trying to get sympathy from President Donald Trump or may be playing to a judge known for a zero-tolerance view of government misconduct.

Until the dueling memos were filed last week, the sentencing hearing for Flynn — who pleaded guilty to lying about a conversation during the transition period with the then-Russian ambassador — was expected to be devoid of the drama characterizing other of Mueller's cases.

Prosecutors, for instance, have accused former Trump campaign chairman Paul Manafort of lying to them even after he agreed to cooperate. Another potential target, Jerome Corsi, leaked draft court documents and accused Mueller's team of bullying him. And George Papadopoulos, a Trump campaign adviser recently released from a two-week prison sentence, has lambasted the investigation and publicly claimed that he was set up.

Flynn, by contrast, has been notably silent even as his supporters advocated a more combative stance. He met privately with investigators 19 times and provided cooperation so extensive that prosecutors said he was entitled to avoid prison altogether.

Then came his sentencing memo.

Although Flynn and his attorneys stopped short of any direct accusations of wrongdoing, they took pains to note that Flynn, unlike other defendants in Mueller's investigation, was not informed that it was against the law to lie to the FBI. They suggest the FBI, which approached Flynn at the White House just days after Trump's inauguration, played to his desire to keep the encounter quiet by telling him the quickest way to get the interview done was for him to be alone with the agents — rather than involve lawyers.

They also insinuate that Flynn, of Middletown, Rhode Island, deserves credit for not publicly seizing on the fact that FBI officials involved in the investigation later came under scrutiny themselves. Former Deputy Director Andrew McCabe, who contacted Flynn to arrange the interview, was fired this year for what the Justice Department said was a lack of candor over a news media leak. Peter Strzok, one of the two agents who interviewed Flynn, was removed from Mueller's team and later fired for trading anti-Trump texts with another FBI official.

Mueller's team has sharply pushed back at any suggestion that Flynn was duped, with prosecutors responding in their own sentencing memo Friday that there was no obligation to warn Flynn against lying.

"A sitting National Security (Adviser), former head of an intelligence agency, retired Lieutenant General, and 33-year veteran of the armed forces knows he should not lie to federal agents," prosecutors wrote.

Trump plans to create unified US Space Command

By ZEKE MILLER and LOLITA BALDOR
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump plans to sign an executive order before the end of the year creating a U.S. Space Command as a major military command.

Vice President Mike Pence will make the announcement Tuesday at the Kennedy Space Center, in Cape Canaveral, Florida, two U.S. officials said, and Trump could sign the order as soon as Tuesday.

The move is separate from Trump's goal of creating a "Space Force" as an independent armed service branch, but could be a step in that direction.

The U.S. Air Force's existing Space Command would be a key component of the new joint entity, raising space to the same status as U.S. Cyber Command.

According to U.S. officials, Pence will be at the Pentagon on Tuesday and will meet with the Joint Chiefs. Space Command is expected to be among the issues discussed. The officials spoke on condition of anonymity because they weren't authorized to speak publicly.

The move would actually recreate a U.S. Space Command, which existed from 1985 to 2002. It was disbanded in the aftermath of the 9/11 terrorist attacks so that U.S. Northern Command could be established, focusing on defense of the homeland.

Silicon Valley East: Google plans $1B expansion in New York

Silicon Valley is becoming Silicon Nation.

Google announced Monday it will spend more than $1 billion to build a new office complex in New York City that will allow the internet search giant to double the number of people it employs there.

It is the tech industry's latest major expansion beyond the Seattle-San Francisco Bay corridor. It follows recent steps by Amazon and Apple to set up large operations well outside their home turf.

Tech companies are "coming to the realization that the Bay Area, which has traditionally been the major center of tech activity in the U.S., is getting expensive and crowded," said Andrew Bartels, principal analyst at Forrester Research.

"A lot of vendors are coming to the realization that 'We can probably find top talent elsewhere at a more affordable cost, and perhaps a better style of life for employees who may be struggling to make ends meet.'"

US homeless count up slightly, but declines in key cities

A federal report released Monday provides a possible glimmer of hope for the homeless crisis that has gripped many cities up and down the West Coast.

The number of people living on the streets in Los Angeles and San Diego, two epicenters of the homelessness crisis, fell this year, suggesting possible success in those cities' efforts to combat the problem.

Cities in California, Oregon and Washington have driven an overall spike in the number of homeless people nationwide in recent years. This year's count continued that trend, showing 552,800 people without homes across the country, up by about 2,000 from 2017, according to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's point-in-time tally. It was the second consecutive increase after seven straight years of declines.

Flynn's ex-business associates charged with illegal lobbying

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Two business associates of Michael Flynn, President Donald Trump's former national security adviser, were charged Monday with illegally lobbying for Turkey as part of a campaign to pressure the United States to expel a Turkish cleric.

Bijan Kian and Ekim Alptekin are accused in an indictment of conspiring to "covertly and unlawfully" influence U.S. public opinion and politicians, all while concealing that the Turkish government was directing their work. The campaign came during the final months of the 2016 presidential campaign while Flynn was a top surrogate for Trump's campaign.

The case sheds further light on how Flynn and those around him worked to benefit a foreign country in the months before he became one of America's top national security officials. The goal of the work was to get the United States to expel Turkish cleric Fethullah Gulen from the country.

Gulen, who holds a U.S. green card and lives in Pennsylvania, is a rival of Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, who has accused the cleric of directing a failed coup and who wanted the U.S. to extradite him back to Turkey. Gulen has denied any involvement in the coup.

Chicken soup as good as a pill when it comes to collagen

DEAR DR. ROACH: Could you please address the benefits and safety of taking an oral collagen supplement. I am confused, as there are so many collagen products on the market professing miraculous results with regard to diminishing or preventing wrinkles, strengthening the nails and hair, and helping with joint pain. I have been taking a supplement for the past several months and have not seen improvement in any of these areas. Some salespeople in the health stores seem to be of the opinion that you need to take supplements that contain collagen itself, while others believe you need a supplement to promote the formation of collagen. I am wondering if any of these supplements really work or if they are all a waste of money. I have been treated for cancer in the past and am concerned about the safety element as well, so that is why I chose a supplement that is not derived from animals. — Anon.

nective tissue of all animals. Like all proteins, collagen is made up of amino acids, which are broken down in the stomach and absorbed in the intestines. Without adequate amino acids, the body can't make collagen optimally. Thus, collagen itself is sold as a supplement. Other co-factors are needed to make collagen, including vitamin C and copper. There are several different types of supplements that contain these or other micronutrients purported to help collagen synthesis. Taking in adequate amounts of the building blocks of collagen is important in order for the body to make it; however, the clinical benefit on improving hair, nail or bone strength, or for improving joint symptoms, has not been proven. I wouldn't recommend an expensive supplement. You absolutely can get all the amino acids and micronutrients you need from a healthy diet. People who want to supplement their collagen intake can have some chicken soup (the collagen from the bones will come out into the broth). As far as safety goes, I have read some (unproven) concerns that collagen supplements come from parts of animals that are not normally eaten, and these might be higher in environmental toxins than what we eat as food. DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 71-year-old male, and while I have had some recent heart problems, I expect to live for some time. My question is, When I die, would it be better to donate my organs for transplant or donate my body to a nearby medical school to be used as a cadaver? I wonder if my organs still have value as transplants. — W.B. ANSWER: While it is of benefit to society to donate either your organs or your body, the most pressing need, and the one that will immediately save lives, is being an organ donor. A person of any age has the potential to be an organ donor. Many organs and tissues are very useful without a concern about the age of the donor. Older people often are under the misperception that they can't donate. It's easy to register: In the U.S., start at organdonor.gov/register.html. In Canada, start at tinyurl.com/organ-canada. People may still donate their body to science after organ donation. This is normally coordinated by an academic medical institution in your area, but I found at least one company who facilitates this process (medcure.org). Cremated remains are returned to family members or scattered.

Reconnecting with teacher highlight of reunion plans

DEAR ABBY: I'm a woman in my 50s and will be going to my high school reunion in a few months. I recently reconnected with one of my high school teachers, whom I greatly admired. (OK, I'll admit I had a schoolgirl crush on him.)

Dear Abby

He is 10 years older, and we had a friendly relationship "back in the day" with extracurricular school activities (he was a sponsor) and even some outside socializing (dances and such), though there were no lines crossed as far as impropriety.

We were both engaged to other people (who both happened to live a good distance away) at the time, so there was no thought of a romantic relationship.

Fast-forward 40-odd years. We are both single (I'm divorced; he never married).

We have been emailing back and forth for a couple of months and making plans to get together at the reunion — maybe before.

We have discussed a lot of things, but he never mentions dating or his former fiancée, so I sometimes wonder if he might be gay.

I have two questions: (1) Would it still be crossing a line if we started a romantic relationship because I was once his student? (He's long retired.) (2) How do you ask a man or find out if he's gay before you embarrass yourself by trying to start a romance? — Torn In The South

DEAR TORN: It would not be crossing a line if you and your former teacher were to start a romantic relationship at this point in your lives.

However, before you embark on that campaign, it is important that you understand why he has been single all these years.

A way to do that without embarrassing yourself would be to pay him a compliment by saying, "Why is it that such a great guy like you has never married?" Then listen.

Do you have a cold, or flu?

Dear Readers: With all the running around and holiday preparations, you and your family may be susceptible to the COMMON COLD OR THE FLU. But do you know the difference?

Hints from Heloise

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (www.cdc.gov), colds are typically milder than the flu. With a cold, you'll have a runny nose, congestion, sore throat and sneezing. A cold can sneak up on you, but the flu will hit fast. The flu involves body aches, headaches and usually a fever, chills and fatigue.

The flu can escalate to pneumonia; check with your medical practitioner for more information. — Heloise Dear Heloise: I put a fresh flower on a present (I even stick it in one of those little water tubes to keep it fresh), and a piece of holly or little poinsettia for Christmas! — A Reader, via email

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You're not asking much out of this day, but you would like to know that you've made a difference in the experience of others. You'll get the feedback you desire.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There was a time when it took extra energy to be thoughtful and considerate. But that was long ago, when you were still learning how you wanted to operate in the world. Now it takes no energy. It's who you are.
GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You pay attention to the tone of interactions and try to raise the energy level, if only just a little so that you're always leaving people in a better mood than they were in when you started.
CANCER (June 22-July 22). While it may feel like you're giving more love and attention to someone than you're getting back, that's only if you're capping off the count at the end of the day. Extend the deadline. This has potential to be a long relationship.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There are more moving parts today but don't let it overwhelm you. The only moving part you need to concern yourself with is your own, and you can trust that it will connect beautifully where it's supposed to.

VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). People respect your power because you use it quietly, applying influence only where you really think it is necessary, and where it will do the most good for the situation.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The third eye is the one that sees what's really important. But its vision can vary in accuracy, which is why it will be interesting to write down your predictions so you can look back later and track what you got right.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Sure, you have your preferences — certain people you care to be around more than others — but you see things to love in many people around you today. Do you think it's possible to love everyone?
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your mind definitely doesn't always fire off thoughts that create the neural pathways to feeling good, but luckily today you can take hold of the situation and feed it what it needs to get some favorable chemistry going.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Doing what you don't want to do because you feel you should is the most direct route to wasted time. Your best bet is to either figure out a better reason to follow through, or bail fast.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Don't worry about success or winning or anything along the lines of gaining approval. The only approval you need now is your own. Honest contemplation is in store. Can you still stand behind your choice?
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Mostly, things are going in your favor, and will continue to do so, as you show more enthusiasm for your good fortune, however small it may seem.
TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Dec. 18). You never stop educating yourself this year, and you become freer with every hour of study. Knowing how things work — emotionally, spiritually, practically — gives you advantages you'll use time and again. Major fun at the start of 2019 happens because you dare to do things different from your predecessors. Leo and Virgo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 20, 14, 4 and 32.

The bidding:
SOUTH 1♠ Pass 3♣ 4NT 6♣ *Forcing WEST Pass Pass Pass All pass
NORTH 1NT* 4♠ 5♦
EAST Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♦

The forcing one no trump response to a major suit opening is standard among today's tournament players. One of its uses is to differentiate between raises with three-card and four-card support. The three-card raises start with one no trump, intending to jump to three of partner's major at their next turn. When opener makes a strength-showing rebid, so that three of the major is no longer a jump, a jump to four of the major shows this hand.

 South won the opening diamond lead with dummy's ace and ran the jack of spades. West's discard on the first trump caused South to stop and make a plan. The plan he came up with was elegant. He led dummy's 10 of spades, which was covered by East's king and won by declarer's ace. South promptly led the jack of clubs from his hand!
 Had West won this with his queen, the 10 of clubs would have become an entry to dummy and allowed South to finesse East out of his nine of spades. West was a bit dazzled by the lead of the jack and chose to duck his queen. Declarer cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club. East over-ruffed, but that was the only trick for the defense. An elegant solution to a thorny problem.

Deported immigrants get their last flight on 'ICE Air'

By NOMAAN MERCHANT and ANGELIKI KASTANIS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON — Shacked at their ankles and wrists and their shoelaces removed, a long line of men and women waited on the tarmac as a team of officers patted them down and checked inside their mouths for anything hidden.

Then one by one, they climbed a mobile staircase and onto a charter plane the size of a commercial aircraft.

This was a deportation flight run by ICE Air. The chains would be removed and the shoelaces returned when the plane landed in El Salvador.

An obscure division of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement operates hundreds of flights each year to remove immigrants. Deportation flights are big business: The U.S. government has spent approximately $1 billion on them in the last decade, and the Trump administration is seeking to raise ICE's budget for charter flights by 30 percent.

ICE Air Operations transports detained immigrants between American cities and, for those with final removal orders, back to their home countries. About 100,000 people a year are deported on such flights.

While Mexican immigrants are generally flown to southern U.S. cities and then driven to the border so they can cross over, Central Americans have to be transported by air. And the large numbers of Mexicans who used to cross the border have largely been replaced by migrants from three impoverished Central American countries: El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras.

According to flight-tracking data, deportation flights to Guatemala and Honduras have sharply increased this year. And ICE's budget request for charter flights increased 30 percent last year compared to the year before.

The agency estimated last year that it spends about $7,785 per hour on the flights.

decade ago after previously using a government service with the U.S. Marshals. The agency says moving to private flights saves about $25 million a year and gave it more flexibility. Charter flights also avoid putting large numbers of deported immigrants on commercial planes, which requires buying tickets for deportation officers accompanying them, or holding them in the U.S. for longer than necessary and tying up space in detention centers.

US sportswear traced to factory in China's internment camps

HOTAN, China — Chinese men and women locked in a mass detention camp where authorities are "re-educating" ethnic minorities are sewing clothes that have been imported all year by a U.S. sportswear company.

The camp, in Hotan, China, is one of a growing number of internment camps in the Xinjiang region, where by some estimates 1 million Muslims are detained, forced to give up their language and their religion and subject to political indoctrination. Now, the Chinese government is also forcing some detainees to work in manufacturing and food industries. Some of them are within the internment camps; others are privately-owned, state-subsidized factories where detainees are sent once they are released.

The Associated Press has tracked recent, ongoing shipments from one such factory — Hetian Taida Apparel — inside an internment camp to Rushan Abbas, 51, of Herndon, Virginia, holds a photo of her sister, Gulshan Abbas, Monday, in Washington. Abbas, a Uighur in Washington, D.C., said her sister is among the many Uighurs detained. The sister, Dr. Gulshan Abbas was taken to what the government calls a vocational center, although she has no specific information on whether her sister is being forced to work.

Badger Sportswear, a leading supplier in Statesville, North Carolina. Badger's clothes are sold on college campuses and to sports teams across the country, although there is no way to tell where any particular shirt made in Xinjiang ends up.

The shipments show how difficult it is to stop products made with forced labor from getting into the global supply chain, even though such imports are illegal in the U.S. Badger CEO John Anton said Sunday that the company would halt shipments while it investigates.

Hetian Taida's chairman Wu Hongbo confirmed that the company has a factory inside a re-education compound, and said they provide employment to those trainees who were deemed by the government to be "unproblematic."

"We're making our contribution to eradicating poverty," Wu told the AP over the phone.

Chinese authorities say the camps offer free vocational training for Uighurs, Kazakhs and other minorities, mostly Muslims, as part of a plan to bring them into "a modern civilized" world and eliminate poverty in the region. They say that people in the centers have signed agreements to receive vocational training.

The Xinjiang Propaganda Department did not respond to a faxed request for comment. A Chinese Foreign Ministry spokeswoman accused the foreign media Monday of making "many untrue reports" about the training centers, but did not specify when asked for details.

"Those reports are completely based on hearsay evidence or made out of thin air," the spokeswoman, Hua Chunying, said at a daily briefing.

However, a dozen people who either had been in a camp or had friends or family in one told the AP that detainees they knew were given no choice but to work at the factories. Most of the Uighurs and Kazakhs, who were interviewed in exile, also said that even people with professional jobs were retrained to do menial work.

report says that none of the social media companies turned over complete data sets to Congress and some of them "may have misrepresented or evaded" in testimony about the interference by either intentionally or unintentionally downplaying the scope of the problem.

The Senate panel has been investigating Russian interference on social media and beyond for almost two years. Intelligence committee Chairman Richard Burr said in a statement that the data shows how aggressively Russia tried to divide Americans by race, religion and ideology and erode trust in institutions.

"Most troublingly, it shows that these activities have not stopped," said Burr, a North Carolina Republican.

One major takeaway from both studies is the breadth of Russian interference that appeared on Instagram, which is owned by Facebook and was not frequently mentioned when its parent company testified on Capitol Hill. The study says that as attention was focused on Facebook and Twitter in 2017, the Russians shifted much of their activity to Instagram.

The New Knowledge study says that there were 187 million engagements with users on Instagram, while there were 77 million on Facebook.

"Instagram was a significant front in the IRAs influence operation, something that Facebook executives appear to have avoided mentioning in congressional testimony," the researchers wrote. They added that "our assessment is that Instagram is likely to be a key battleground on an ongoing basis."

Other findings in the studies:

- During the week of the presidential election, posts directed to right-leaning users aimed to generate anger and suspicion and hinted at voter fraud, while posts targeted to African-Americans largely ignored mentions of the election until the last minute.

- Establishment figures of both parties, especially Clinton, were universally panned. Even a tag targeted to feminists criticized Clinton and promoted her primary opponent, independent Bernie Sanders;

- Several posts promoted the Russian agenda in Syria and Syrian President Bashar Assad.

- IRA's posts focused on the United States started on Twitter as far back as 2013, and eventually evolved into the multi-platform strategy.

- Russian activity on Twitter was less organized around themes like race or partisanship but more driven by local and current events and made use of occasional pop culture references.

- Facebook posts linked to the IRA "reveal a nuanced and deep knowledge of American culture, media, and influencers in each community the IRA targeted." Certain memes appeared on pages targeted to younger people but not older people. "The IRA was fluent in American trolling culture," the researchers say.

"We need to make a substantial investment in the integrity of our border," McConnell said. "And we need to close out the year's appropriation process."

Meanwhile more than 800,000 government workers are preparing for the uncertainty ahead.

The dispute could affect nine of 15 Cabinet-level departments and dozens of agencies, including the departments of Homeland Security, Transportation, Interior, Agriculture, State and Justice, as well as national parks and forests.

About half the workers would be forced to continue working without immediate pay. Others would be sent home. Congress often approves their pay retroactively, even if they were ordered to stay home.

"Our members are asking how they are supposed to pay for rent, food, and gas if they are required to work without a paycheck," said a statement from J. David Cox, Sr., president of the American Federation of Government Employees, the large federal worker union. "The holiday season makes these inquiries especially heart-wrenching."

Many agencies, including the Pentagon and the departments of Veterans Affairs and Health and Human Services, are already funded for the year and will continue to operate as usual, regardless of whether Congress and the president reach agreement this week.

Congress already approved funding this year for about 75 percent of the government's discretionary account for the budget year that began Oct. 1.

The U.S. Postal Service, busy delivering packages for the holiday season, wouldn't be affected by any government shutdown because it's an independent agency.

Trump said last week he would be "proud" to have a shutdown to get Congress to approve a $5 billion down payment to fulfill his campaign promise to build a border wall.

Outside experts noted study limitations, including no evidence that kids who were abused had received poor grades and no information on when parents first learned of kids' grades. But they said the study was useful for highlighting that child abuse and corporal punishment are still too common even though rates have declined since the 1990s. Rates were 9 per 1,000 U.S. kids in 2016 compared with 13 per 1,000 in 1990.

Dr. Robert Sege, a Boston pediatrician and Tufts University professor of medicine, said bad grades should be a time for parents to find out what's causing their children's struggles. "There's no place for corporal punishment for school failure because it doesn't work and misses the point."

Sege is lead author of an American Academy of Pediatrics policy update released last month that recommends against corporal punishment and spanking.

An editorial published with study said the United States deserves a C-minus "for effective discipline strategies."

Changing a report card release day may reduce some abuse, the editorial said, "but it will not solve the larger issue: It is still socially acceptable to hit a child to correct their behavior."

Missouri poacher ordered to repeatedly watch 'Bambi'

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — A Missouri poacher has been ordered to repeatedly watch the movie "Bambi" as part of his sentence for illegally killing hundreds of deer.

The Springfield News-Leader reports that David Berry Jr. was ordered to watch the Disney classic at least once a month during his year-long jail sentence in what conservation agents are calling one of the largest deer poaching cases in state history.

Prosecutors say the deer were killed for their heads, with their bodies left to rot.

Berry was convicted in southwest Missouri's Lawrence County of illegally taking wildlife. Three relatives and another man also were caught in connection to the poaching case. They've paid $51,000 in fines and court costs.

Berry also was sentenced to 120 days in jail in nearby Barton County for a firearms probation violation.

AP Coach of the Year: Notre Dame's Kelly wins for 2nd time

By RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

Notre Dame's Brian Kelly is The Associated Press college football Coach of the Year and the third coach to win the award twice since it was established in 1998.

Kelly received 16 of 58 first-place votes from AP college football poll voters and 81 total points. Alabama's Nick Saban was second with 16 first-place votes and 66 points and Central Florida first-year coach Josh Heupel was third with 33 points (five first-place votes).

Twelve coaches received at least one first-place vote and eight received at least three for the award announced Monday. Washington State's Mike Leach finished fourth with 26 points (three first-place votes) and Syracuse's Dino Babers was fifth with 25 (five first-place votes).

Kelly joins Saban and TCU's Gary Patterson as two-time winners. Kelly was also coach of the year in 2012.

As he did in 2012, Kelly has guided the Fighting Irish to a 12-0 season and a chance to compete for the national championship. Notre Dame played Alabama in the BCS championship game after the 2012 season and lost 42-14. The third-ranked Irish will face No. 2 Clemson in the Cotton Bowl on Dec. 29 in their first College Football Playoff appearance.

This undefeated season for Notre Dame seems very different than that one and it comes just two seasons after Notre Dame finished 4-8. Kelly overhauled his staff and his approach after that debacle, bringing in new coordinators on both sides of the ball. He made a concerted effort to be more involved with all aspects of the team.

"I think I'm a better leader of our program," Kelly told AP. "The organization has gotten so much bigger. The ability to create the right energy and day-to-day culture is difficult. I think I've gotten a lot better a leading that large group on a day-to-day basis."

Kelly is 81-34 in nine seasons at Notre Dame and he credited his players for helping him improve as a coach.

FORT MYERS — It may have been a school named Olive Branch, but it certainly didn't extend much of a peaceful welcome to the Charlotte High School boys basketball team.

The Quistors outscored the Tarpons 22-5 in the second quarter to blow the game open in a 79-63 win on the first day of the City of Palms Classic basketball tournament at the Suncoast Arena in Fort Myers on Monday.

Memphis-bound Olive Branch star D.J. Jeffries was as good as advertised, scoring 38 points and 14 rebounds for the defending 5A state champs from Mississippi.

Joe Cooper had 14 points and nine assists for the Quistors (9-3), while Kyron Pleas had 10 points and eight steals for Olive Branch, which led by as much as 29 before coasting home.

"We took too many ill-advised shots in that second quarter, and against them, that's like a turnover because they're really good in transition," Charlotte coach Tom Massolio said. "After a bad shot, they were able to run and that was the difference."

NFL: New England Patriots

As of now, Brady, Patriots not what they've been

By HOWARD FENDRICH
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

Tom Brady scrambled and heaved up a wobbly pass off his back foot, the sort of thing a less-experienced, less-accomplished and, well, less-cool QB might do.

The ball was picked off, and the New England Patriots were on their way to a second consecutive defeat.

More importantly — and more interestingly — they were on their way to a five-loss season for the first time in nearly a decade.

And, finally, they were on their way to putting this thought in the minds of other teams around the NFL: Maybe, just maybe, the Patriots are not who they've been for oh-so-long. Maybe, just maybe, they're not heading to another Super Bowl.

"Not playing well enough to win," is the way Brady put it.

The 17-10 loss at the Pittsburgh Steelers on Sunday dropped Bill Belichick's club to 9-5 overall, 3-5 on the road.

Maybe the key word in NFL stretch drive is balance

By BARRY WILNER
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

Football purists are smiling. For one week, the video game nature of the NFL hit pause.

Only one quarterback on Saturday or Sunday threw for 300 yards, let alone 400. No pinball shootouts.

Ten players rushed for at least 100 yards, and Ravens quarterback Lamar Jackson went for 95.

There were two shutouts! Quite the reality check to learn that strong defense, an efficient ground game, and control of the clock still can win. Yes, some nasty weather in Baltimore and the New Jersey Meadowlands contributed to the lower number of points. We figure to see more of that over the final two weeks of the schedule; it is December, after all.

These developments, if they aren't an aberration, could bode well for such teams as Baltimore, Chicago, Seattle — which actually was upset at San Francisco — and Dallas, which also lost, blanked at Indianapolis. They could be bad news for the high-scoring machines whose defenses are leaky, including previously considered powerhouses in Kansas City, New England and Pittsburgh.

"You've got to stay on the field on offense," Ravens coach John Harbaugh said Sunday after a wet 20-12 victory against Tampa Bay. "If you do that, you have a chance to generate some points." And yards. Baltimore rushed for 242 of them on 49 attempts. Unheralded rookie Gus Edwards finished with 104. Jackson averaged 5.3 yards per rush and the Ravens are 4-1 since he replaced injured Joe Flacco as starter.

"He makes you play 11-on-11 football instead of 11 on 10," Bucs coach Dirk Koetter said of Jackson, the 32nd overall pick in April's draft. "We had him wrapped up a couple of times and he squirted out of there and was able to

A Sex Cream May Replace Popular Sex Pills for Men

Research shows a new topical may be a highly effective solution for men with failing sex lives; key ingredients activate special sensation pathways right below the skin, enhancing erections and triggering arousal

Daniel Watson
Medical News Today

BOSTON — The medical community now has a safer and more effective alternative to sex pills, which they can immediately start offering to male patients. It will not require a prescription.

The alternative, called Sensum+, is an amazing new sex cream that activates a sensation pathway on the penis known as TRPA1.

When applied as directed, it leads to incredible arousal and much more satisfying erections.

It also promotes powerful climaxes and ultimately results in significant improvements in performance.

“Men can expect outstanding sexual improvements with regular use. The penis will become hyper sensitive, making them easily aroused and excitable” explains Dr. Henry Esber, the Boston based scientist who introduced Sensum+ to market.

“And that’s because Sensum+ does what no other sex pill or drug has done before — it stimulates a special sensory pathway right below the skin, which leads to phenomenal sensation.”

Overtime, constant exposure (especially if circumcised) leads to decreased penis sensitivity, which can cause problems with arousal and erection quality. There just isn’t enough feeling to get excited.”

“Diabetes, anti-depressants and normal aging also leads to desensitization, a can make the situation even worse.”

“This is what makes Sensum+ so effective and why the clinical studies and clinical use studies have been so positive.”

MISDIAGNOSIS LEADS TO UNNEEDED PRESCRIPTIONS

After years of clinical research and testing, Dr. Esber and his team have discovered an incredible compound that triggers arousal while helping men achieve erections more easily.

This compound isn’t a drug. It’s the active ingredient in Sensum+.

And according to users, it produces sensational results. Many men report remarkable improvements in sexual performance and overall satisfaction.

According to research, many men adults and seniors who suffer sexually have lost sensation in their penis due to constant rubbing and exposure and health related issues such as diabetes, hernia surgery, use of some anti-depressants, multiple sclerosis, and other type of illnesses.

This desensitization often makes sex extremely challenging. Without a

It’s why most men are rarely satisfied after taking them and why Sensum+ users are always stocking up on more and couldn’t be happier.

“We knew the science behind Sensum+ was there, but we never expected results like we’re seeing. It’s far exceeded our expectations” said a spokesperson for the company.

A STAGGERING 80% IMPROVEMENT IN SENSATIVITY

Researchers have conducted several clinical studies on Sensum+ and the results from the most recent are undoubtedly the most impressive.

A data analysis of three clinical surveys of 370 men showed that an amazing 80% of Sensum+ users experienced dramatic improvements while using the cream and as a result were aroused easier and a phenomenal boost in performance.

Additionally, 77.4% of men also reported much more satisfying climaxes, making sex for both them and their partners nearly 300% more satisfying.

“I have full feeling and sensitivity back in my penis. Everything feels better. My erections are harder, I’m more easily aroused, I can finally climax again. This stuff honestly works like magic in the bedroom. I couldn’t be happier at 66!” raves one Sensum+ user.

HOW SENSUM+ WORKS

Sensum+ is a new sex cream for men that’s to be applied twice a day for the first two weeks then just once every day after.

There are no harmful side effects for either the user or partner. It also does not require a prescription.

The active ingredient is an organic compound known as cinnamaldehyde with a patented combination of sexually rousing extracts.

Although very subtle, this desensitization can significantly hinder sexual performance and lead to serious problems with becoming aroused and staying/getting hard.

The cinnamaldehyde in Sensum+ is one of the only known ingredients to activate a special sensation pathway on the penis called TRPA1. Once activated, it restores tremendous sensation to the penis, stimulating arousal and powerful erections.

This would explain why so many users are experiencing impressive results so quickly and why the distributors of Sensum+ offer their low cost cream with an amazing guarantee.

GUARANTEE DISCOUNTED SUPPLY TAKES RISK OFF CONSUMERS

“We can only make this guarantee because we are 100% certain this cream works,” says Esber.

“We want to take risk off the consumers. So besides offering massive discounts, we’re also offering this guarantee, so they don’t have to risk a cent.”

Here’s how it works: Use the cream exactly as directed and you must feel a significant improvement in sexual sensations. You must be more easily aroused with harder, longer lasting erections and be having the best sex you’ve had in years.

Otherwise, simply return the empty bottles. Then, the company will refund your money immediately.

HOW TO GET SENSUM+

This is the official release of Sensum+. As such, the company is offering a special discounted supply to any reader who calls within the next 48 hours.

A special hotline number and discounted pricing has been created for all Florida residents. Discounts will be available starting today at 6:00AM and will automatically be applied to all callers.

Your Toll-Free Hotline number is 1-800-514-4508 and will only be open for the next 48 hours. Only a limited discounted supply of Sensum+ is currently available in your region.

Consumers who miss out on our current product inventory will have to wait until more becomes available and that could take weeks. The company advises not to wait. Call 1-800-514-4508 today.

NHL: Philadelphia Flyers

Flyers fire coach Dave Hakstol, Gordon interim replacement

By STEPHEN WHYNO
AP HOCKEY WRITER

It took less than two weeks as general manager of the Philadelphia Flyers for Chuck Fletcher to see what he needed to see with coach Dave Hakstol.

The Flyers were still making too many mistakes, still not playing up to their talent level and it was all too clear the message wasn't getting across from their fourth-year coach. With the team mired in a four-game losing streak, Fletcher fired Hakstol on Monday and named Scott Gordon as interim replacement.

“To my eyes there was a disconnect between what he was preaching and how the players were playing,” Fletcher said. “We need a new voice. We need to have the coaching staff (give) the message to the players and hopefully have the players receive that message and that’s why I decided to make the move.”

Not much has improved since the team fired general manager Ron Hextall just after Thanksgiving. The Flyers have lost five of six, 11 of 14 and are in last place in the Eastern Conference. They went 1-3-1 on the road trip Fletcher said he'd use to evaluate Hakstol, the rest of the coaching staff and the team in general.

Hakstol is the fifth coach fired this season. Hired by Hextall from the University of North Dakota in 2015, Hakstol took the Flyers to the playoffs twice in his three full seasons, but they lost in six games in the first round each time. The Flyers under Hakstol in 2016-17 became the first team in NHL history to miss the playoffs after having a 10-game winning streak, and last season were also the first to make the playoffs after a 10-game losing streak.

The inconsistency ultimately cost Hakstol his job.

Gordon is an NHL head coach for the second time after parts of three seasons leading the New York Islanders. He has spent the past three-plus seasons as coach of the American Hockey League's Lehigh Valley Phantoms, Philadelphia's top affiliate.

Foligno, Bobrovsky lift Blue Jackets over Golden Knights 1-0

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nick Foligno scored 40 seconds into the third period, Sergei Bobrovsky made 28 saves and the Columbus Blue Jackets beat the Vegas Golden Knights 1-0 on Monday night.

Foligno found the rebound after Seth Jones' shot and knocked it past goalie Malcolm Subban from the doorstep. “We deserved this one,” said Foligno, who played in his 800th career game and snapped a five-game goal drought. Bobrovsky got his 25th career shutout and first this season. He repelled a late attack by the Golden Knights after Subban was pulled for an extra skater with a minute left.

The Blue Jackets have played hard the past few games with little to show, losing five of their previous seven.

Other than allowing Foligno's goal, Subban performed well starting in place of Marc-Andre Fleury in the second game of a back-to-back. He made 30 saves.

Henrique, Getzlaf help Ducks win again, beat Penguins 4-2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Adam Henrique and Ryan Getzlaf each had a goal and an assist, and the Anaheim Ducks rallied past the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-2 on Monday night.

The Ducks won for the ninth time in 10 games after spotting the Penguins a two-goal lead. Henrique started the comeback with a power-play goal early in the second period and Getzlaf's empty net tally in the final minute pushed Anaheim to its sixth straight road win. Ondrej Kase and Kiefer Sherwood also scored for the Ducks.

John Gibson, a Pittsburgh native, stopped 28 shots, including the final 24 he faced to pick up the victory in his hometown.

Evgeni Malkin got his 11th goal of the season for Pittsburgh and Bryan Rust added his sixth but the Penguins couldn't cool off the Ducks. Casey DeSmith finished with 32 saves but lost for only the third time in his last 11 starts.

However, deficits do little to deter the Ducks. Each of Anaheim's previous nine victories came in games they were either tied or trailing heading into the final period. Anaheim didn't wait that long this time to get back in it.

Maybell's big second half gets Bulldogs on track against Mustangs

Though the result was the same for DeSoto County High School, Monday's 65-60 win over Community Christian School played out much differently.

The Bulldogs won handily, 70-47, in the two schools' first meeting in the first week of the season, but the Mustangs had a different energy about them in Round 2.

Even so, the dominant defensive effort of DeSoto senior Nate Maybell and company proved too much as the Bulldogs were able to close out the game, helping to turn their momentum after losing six of their last seven.

"We were up and down there at the beginning," DeSoto coach Darrel Nicklow said. "We started making shots (in the second half). Nasir

Community Christian (4-6), playing without one of its top weapons in Brandon Hill, used a patient offense to poke and prod the Bulldogs' defense early. The Mustangs jumped out to a 12-2 lead in the first four minutes with four forced turnovers.

lead into halftime.

In the second half, both offenses caught fire and erupted for a combined 43 points in the quarter.

The Bulldogs were ignited by Maybell, who consistently thwarted attempts at the rim and gave his team second-chance points with offensive rebounds. Maybell scored 21 of his 24 points in the second half along with five blocks.

Maybell's final block came on a 3-point attempt with the Bulldogs up six with 48 seconds to go.

"I just had to bring energy to my team," Maybell said. "I feel like if I turn up and I get blocks and start scoring buckets, my team will do the same. It makes my team start to get really happy and start to turn it up."

At the three minute mark, Community Christian senior guard Jeren Almeida hit a 3-pointer to cut the DeSoto lead to one, but the Bulldogs stretched their lead to six by the quarter's end. Almeida was the Mustangs' primary scorer for most of the night and finished with a team-high 18 points.

"We've been getting down early and it's really hard to come back from that when you have seven or eight guys going," Mustangs coach Kurt Taylor said. "We got off to a good start tonight. Jaren Almeida played an outstanding game. That's the best I've seen him shoot the basketball."

In the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs kept plays alive with timely offensive rebounds. Maybell and 6-foot-4 sophomore Keimar Richardson combined for 20 rebounds in the game, most of which came in the second half. Richardson also added 15 points.

DeSoto led by as many as eight in the fourth quarter, but Community Christian didn't go away quietly. A layup from senior forward Sam Battle with 1:17 left cut the deficit to six, but the foul game didn't work as the Bulldogs kept them at a distance and took the victory.

Battle finished with 17 points and eight rebounds.

"It gives us great momentum because we were on a bit of a streak there," Nicklow said. "We were in some games, lost some games. This gives us some momentum. We have a game (tonight) so hopefully we can build off it."

Henderson and Hudson heroics carry Pirates past Bulldogs

By STEVE KNAPP
SUN CORRESPONDENT

Two different styles with one common result. A 45-37 win Monday for Port Charlotte over non-district foe DeSoto County. While it was the flash and bling of Sharina Hudson, it was the steady grinding effort by Ashlyn Henderson that combined to give the Pirates the win.

It was Hudson who gave the Pirates their first lead at 16-15 midway in the second half, and it was Hudson again who had a steal and bucket to tie the game at 21 going into the break. It was Hudson who had another steal and bucket to cut the Bulldogs' lead to a point starting the fourth period.

Meanwhile Henderson kept scoring without any highlight reel plays.

Henderson scored 4 of the Pirates' 8 third period points to cut the Bulldogs lead from a game high 7 points to just 3 going into the final period. It was Henderson who went 4-4 from the free-throw line in the final minute of play to ice the game for the Pirates.

Henderson went 5-6 in the fourth period and finished the night with a respectable 7-10 from the line. Her efforts gave her scoring honors for the Pirates with 13 points with Hudson right behind with 12.

It was the free throws that weren't the Pirates' friend in their last game, a 53-39 loss to Charlotte. It was the Pirates only loss as they now stand 7-1 for the season.

"That was the difference in the Charlotte game. They shot 30 free throws and made 18 and we shot just 13 free throws. That was the difference in that game, we lost it at the free-throw line. Ashlyn was clutch tonight," said Pirate coach Mike Progl.

"I was just trying to stay focused and block out all of the noise from the crowd. We needed to win this game especially with the games coming up this week," said Henderson.

The Pirates play four games this week including a district contest Tuesday with Cape Coral.

The Pirates went 8-12 in the second half with all of the free throws coming in the final period. The Bulldogs were just 3-11 from the free-throw line. The Bulldogs led by 3 going into the fourth period and the difference in free throws decided the outcome of the game.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 9-1 lead to open the game. "Everything was a rush. They need to calm down. I'm trying to teach them tempo and if they just relax they'll see the whole court and make things easier for us. It's just mental mistakes by a young team and we've got to learn when to push and when to slow down," said Progl.

quarter as Makai Reaves hit three from behind the arc to keep the Tarpons behind 19-18.

But the shots stopped falling for Charlotte (8-2) and Jeffries got rolling, scoring 20 points and hauling in 11 rebounds in the first half alone as Olive Branch took a 41-23 lead into the locker room.

Jeffries put on a show, scoring both in the paint and from behind the arc, where he had five threes. He also didn't allow many second chances, as all his rebounds were on the defensive end.

"I came out trying to be aggressive and win the game. We're young, so I'm trying to be a leader," Jeffries said. "It was our first time here and it's a great atmosphere. I think we had some nerves and once we got them out, we were okay."

"Jeffries is really good. He has a different game, it's so smooth. He has the whole package and makes those around him better," Massolio said.

Charlotte was able to make the score respectable late. Tre Carroll held his own as a sophomore with 19 points and 11 boards. Ahmad Johnson overcame a tough start to score 18, while Makai Reaves added 14, 11 in the first quarter, with seven assists.

Carroll trumpeted Massolio, saying the Tarpons weren't playing as a team when they had to. When they did, it was too late.

"We were passing the ball once and jacking it up. Shooting 25-footers isn't our game," Carroll said. "We started playing as a team and making defensive stops later. But D.J. was tough. He's in the top 10 for a reason."

Charlotte will play Riverview Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. The Rams lost to Oak Hill from Virginia.

The Lady Sharks won a hard fought battle with Canterbury Monday night to even their record at 4-4.

"We had a balanced attack on offense," said Kevin Andrade, Imagine School at North Port girls basketball coach. "We won the game on the defensive end and by winning the battle on the boards."

Kayle Christie led the Lady Sharks in scoring with 14 points; Isabella Faulkner added 11 and Katie Klein and Arianna Andrade had nine each.

Football

The North defeated the South 21-16 Saturday in the Florida Athletic Coaches Association's North-South Football All-Star Classic at Morse Field on the Range in The Villages.

Tarpons punter/kicker Kenny Scribner punted six times for a 44.3 yard

Weightlifting

The Lady Tarpons placed second Friday at the Disparti Law Group Girls Weightlifting Invite at River Ridge High School in New Port Richey.

Madison Shepard won the 101-pound wight class; Lexus Sweet placed first in the 139-pound division and Britney Williams topped the unlimited division, eclipsing her previous school record by bench pressing 255 pounds.

"All the girls performed well," said Matt Galley, Charlotte girls weightlifting coach. "It was a great experience to help us get ready for districts in January."

Surprising Nuggets leading the Western Conference

By PAT GRAHAM

AP SPORTS WRITER

DENVER — The topic: Denver leading the Western Conference and whether teams are starting to take the Nuggets more seriously.

The look from Nikola Jokic: Nearly expressionless. The Joker doesn't jest about this subject.

"To be honest, I don't really care," Jokic said. "Because we know that we're good."

Denver is missing three starters and still boasts a percentage points lead over Golden State in the conference standings. This marks the latest into a season the Nuggets have been leading the conference since December 18, 1984.

The Nuggets have swagger, confidence and Jokic, the big Serbian center/forward/guard who's blossoming into one of the league's most hard-to-defend players.

"A lot of people just think we are on a hot run right now," said forward Torrey Craig, whose team has won 10 of 12 heading into Tuesday's game against Dallas. "They don't really believe in us. But I think we have started to open a lot of eyes. We just have to realize how we win."

Grind it out? They can do that. They've already held 13 teams to under 100 points this season. Score it out? The Nuggets can play that game, too. They're averaging around 109 points this season.

These aren't the Nuggets of the past.

"We can win 130-128 but I think our guys have bought in to the fact we are a defensive team," coach Michael Malone said. "If we have to grind out wins, they may not be the most aesthetically pleasing games but all we care about is the end result. We're getting the wins and getting it with tough defense and late-game execution."

Malone had one of the best soundbites of the season after a home win over LeBron James and the Los Angeles Lakers. There was a strong contingent of Lakers fans at Pepsi Center — just like when Golden State and Boston were in town.

"As long as their fans go home disappointed, that's all I care about," Malone said. "So the Warriors fans can come in here, the

The last part ended up on a T-shirt.

Just a sign of the feistiness of his team. Point guard Jamal Murray has also demonstrated that on several occasions.

Like when he had 48 points against the Celtics on Nov. 5. Trying to reach 50, he shot a long-range jumper at the buzzer with the game decided. Kyrie Irving took exception and heaved the basketball into the stands.

Over the weekend, Murray and Oklahoma City's Russell Westbrook got into a shoving match when the two were jostling for positioning on a jump ball late in a Nuggets win.

"He tried to move me out of the way," said Murray, whose team has big wins over Boston, Golden State and Toronto (twice). "He shoved me first. It is what it is. I didn't do anything."

All in a night's work for the Nuggets, who haven't been to the postseason since 2012-13.

"We have shooters, we have scorers and we have playmakers," Craig said.

"But we can buckle down and make stops when we need to as well. To have that versatility and different ways to win is huge for us."

Especially now, with the team missing Will Barton (right hip/core muscle surgery), Gary Harris (hip) and Paul Millsap (big toe). Point guard Isaiah Thomas (hip) also remains sidelined.

In their absence, Jokic's stepped up his game, averaging 21.7 points, 11 rebounds and 8.6 assists this month. He's looking like a good bet to make the All-Star Game. The Nuggets haven't had a representative in that contest since Carmelo Anthony in '10-11.

"We believe in him. He's the future of this team," Malone said. "Whether we have guys out or a full roster, we expect a lot from Nikola. With Gary, Will and Paul all out, you've seen Nikola step up and contribute to the win in many different ways."

On Sunday, Jokic was backing down Toronto's Serge Ibaka when he casually flipped a one-handed jumper over his shoulder.

Just the way things have been going of late for the Nuggets.

"We want to keep being good," center Mason Plumlee said. "As long as we keep getting better month to month, we'll be good."

Surprise: Perfect Furman hoping to end NCAA tourney drought

By PETE IACOBELLI

AP SPORTS WRITER

GREENVILLE, S.C. — Furman forward Clay Mounce has a simple question in the team video before the Paladins take the court each home game: "Haven't you heard of us?"

Not many college basketball fans have.

Though it's a question fewer people are asking about Furman, which is in the Top 25 for the first time. The undefeated Paladins (12-0) have road wins over last year's Final Four participant Loyola Chicago and defending national champ Villanova.

Nonetheless, most college basketball fans probably haven't bought into the plucky Paladins yet and Furman forward Matt Rafferty said with a grin, "I don't know if they will."

But Furman, which won two games last week and still dropped a spot to No. 24, has an opportunity for another resume-building road win when the Paladins travel to LSU on Friday night, the Paladin final game before starting Southern Conference play.

"It's a big one," Furman coach Bob Richey said.

The Paladins are among nine undefeated teams left out of 353 Division I programs through Saturday. They made their first-ever appearance in the Top 25 earlier this month and see LSU as a next step toward ending a 38-year NCAA Tournament drought.

Richey expects his players will be ready for the moment as they were when they trailed Loyola Chicago by 13 points in the second half and won 60-58 on Mounce's one-handed jam with 1.6 seconds to go. Or when they opened overtime at Villanova with a 7-0 run in the 76-68 win.

"In life, most of the time, when you get big opportunities, it still comes back to the simplest fundamentals,"

AP PHOTO

Furman's Clay Mounce blocks a shot by North Carolina Wilmington's Jay Estime during the first half of an NCAA college basketball game Saturday, Dec. 15, 2018, in Greenville, S.C.

Richey said. "There's not going to be anything that we've got to go do different than what we've done in order to try and play our best."

Here's a quick introduction to Furman basketball:

The coach

Richey, 35, joined Furman as an assistant in 2011 and earned the head coaching job after the 2017 season after former coach Niko Medved left for Drake. Ever since, Richey's led a revival at Furman, which hasn't enjoyed this sort of basketball attention since the 1970s when it played in six NCAA Tournaments from 1971-80.

Not a fluke

Furman tied its school record with 23 victories last season, Richey's first as a fulltime coach. The Paladins are already more than halfway to that mark.

The players

— Jordan Lyons, a junior, is the team's leading scorer who had 54 points in defeating North Greenville earlier this season. He's joined in the backcourt by Andrew Brown, who along with Rafferty, are Furman's only two seniors in d its main rotation.

— Rafferty is a 6-foot-8 forward — Furman has no players taller than 6-8 — who's adept and relentless in post, whether it's backing down opponents for a layup and grabbing a rebound to keep the Paladins possession alive. He's had six games with double figure points and rebounds this season, including 15 points and 17 rebounds at Villanova.

— Mounce is a dynamic, 6-7 sophomore comfortable with playing inside and outside. His cut toward the basket from the three-point line sprung him for the game-winning dunk at Loyola Chicago. He had six of Furman's 17 3-pointers this past Saturday in the blowout win over UNC Wilmington.

It all has added up to high expectations for Furman basketball. The Paladins' early run has electrified the well-respected private school that has had a few stellar athletic moments. In 1954, Frank Selvy became the school's "Man of the Century" when he scored 100 points in a game against Newberry and remains the only Division I player to accomplish the feat.

Sam Wyche may be Furman's most recognizable athletic alum. He was Furman's quarterback in the late 1960s before he helped revolutionize the game with the no huddle offense. The Paladins football program also won a national Football Champion Subdivision title in 1988 and has been runner-up two other times.

Former U.S. men's soccer captain Clint Dempsey played at Furman before his accomplished international career.

These days, however, the hype around Greenville, South Carolina is about hoops.

Brown, a senior guard, said professors and students who hadn't paid much attention to the team now congratulate him regularly and ask for updates. Selvy and Wyche both attended Saturday's win against UNC Wilmington.

"They seem like they get better every year," said Selvy, also a former head coach at Furman. Selvy would love to see the Paladins back in the NAAs since their last appearance in 1980 as would students who filled 3,500-seat Timmons Arena with chants of "We Want Kansas" as time ran down in the UNC Wilmington win.

Rafferty believes Furman's successful ride will continue. "It's really coming together for us," Rafferty said. "That's one of biggest things if we're going to keep this thing going, we've got to stay confident and stay humble."

Lefty JA Happ, Yankees finalize $34 million, 2-year deal

NEW YORK (AP) — Left-hander J.A. Happ and the New York Yankees have finalized a $34 million, two-year contract.

Happ gets $17 million in each of the next two seasons, and his deal includes a $17 million option for 2021 that could become guaranteed if he has either 27 or more starts as a pitcher in 2020 or 165 or more innings that year.

He is projected to be part of a rotation that includes Luis Severino, Masahiro Tanaka, CC Sabathia and James Paxton, acquired from Seattle in a trade.

A first-time All-Star, Happ was acquired from Toronto on July 26 as a summer rental and went 7-0 with a 2.69 ERA in 11 starts for New York, leaving him 17-6 with a 3.65 ERA for the season. He lost at Boston in the AL Division Series opener, allowing five runs in two innings.

Right-hander Parker Bridwell was designated for assignment to clear a roster spot Monday.

Mayor eyes overhauling racetrack without moving Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Endorsing a proposed $424 million overhaul of the Baltimore track that hosts the Preakness Stakes, Mayor Catherine Pugh says the second leg of horse racing's Triple Crown wouldn't necessarily have to be relocated.

The Baltimore Sun reports the mayor said Friday that she believes the Pimlico Race Course could be demolished and rebuilt without having to move the Preakness. The Maryland Stadium Authority study released last week estimated a complete rebuild of the nearly 150-year-old track would take three years.

Pugh thinks the demolition and construction can be done in phases to keep the race in the Park Heights area. Further details weren't reported.

A spokeswoman for Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan has said he's always been supportive of keeping the Preakness at Pimlico and would review the study.

Kansas, Duke, Tennessee stay 1-2-3 in men's AP Top 25

By AARON BEARD

AP BASKETBALL WRITER

RALEIGH, N.C. — Kansas didn't get the chance to hold onto its preseason No. 1 ranking in the AP Top 25 very long, even as an unbeaten team. The Jayhawks are sticking around this time.

The Jayhawks sat atop Monday's latest men's college basketball poll for a second straight week. That didn't happen earlier this season, when Duke jumped Kansas to take No. 1 in the first regular-season poll after a dominating romp against Kentucky despite the fact the Jayhawks had beaten a top-10 Michigan State team.

The Jayhawks (9-0) spent four weeks at No. 2, including one in which Gonzaga hurdled them for No. 1 after beating the Blue Devils in the Maui Invitational championship game. But Kansas reclaimed the top spot last week after Gonzaga's loss to Tennessee and stayed there after beating reigning national champion Villanova 74-71 at home.

It marked Kansas' fifth victory by six or fewer points this year, including an overtime win against now-No. 3 Tennessee on Nov. 23.

"I don't think we've played great, by any stretch," Kansas coach Bill Self said after the Villanova win. "But we played a lot better today than we've been practicing. I'm optimistic, very, leaving out of here knowing there is (another) gear we can get to that hasn't been apparent on a daily basis."

At the top

Kansas, Duke and Tennessee were 1-2-3 for the second straight week, with the Jayhawks earning 56 of 65 first-place votes to stay firmly in place. The Blue Devils got five first-place votes to stay at No. 2, while the Volunteers had two.

Michigan and Virginia each claimed one first-place vote, helping them climb into the top five.

Among that quintet,

Tennessee is at its highest spot since reaching No. 1 in February 2008 while Michigan has its highest ranking since February 2013.

The top 10

The rest of the top 10 featured Nevada at No. 6, followed by Auburn, Gonzaga, North Carolina and Michigan State.

For Auburn, the Tigers have their highest ranking since the 1999-2000 season, when they spent 13 weeks in the top 10 and peaked at No. 2.

Risers and sliders

Gonzaga and North Carolina met over the weekend in a marquee matchup between teams that played for the national championship less than two years ago. A 103-90 win by the homestanding Tar Heels led to some of the week's biggest poll movement.

The Zags had the biggest fall, sliding from fourth to eighth. The Tar Heels climbed three spots to ninth and were joined by No. 21 Houston and No. 22 Indiana as the week's biggest risers.

Small movements

Outside of Gonzaga and UNC, there wasn't a huge amount of significant poll movement. Eight teams stayed in the same spots, including No. 13 Virginia Tech, No. 14 Buffalo, No. 15 Ohio State, No. 16 Wisconsin and No. 19 Kentucky.

Among the climbers, No. 18 Arizona State moved up two spots while six others rose only one slot, including No. 17 Mississippi State and No. 20 Marquette.

Five of the week's ranked sliders fell only one spot, including No. 11 Florida State, No. 12 Texas Tech, No. 23 Iowa and No. 24 Furman.

Newcomer

No. 25 Nebraska was the only addition to this week's poll, though the Cornhuskers were ranked No. 24 earlier this month.

Sliding out

For the second time this season, the reigning champs are out.

Villanova was ranked 17th last week before losing to Penn — snapping a city-record 25-game winning streak against its Philadelphia "Big 5" rivals — and then at Kansas to fall out of the poll again. The Wildcats were ranked eighth in November before losses to Michigan and Furman knocked them out of the poll, though that turned out to be merely a one-week absence.

Kansas State and Syracuse were the other teams to fall out of the poll. They were both tied with Indiana at No. 25 last week — the first three-way tie in the AP Top 25 since three teams shared the No. 13 ranking in 1991.

The Wildcats beat Georgia State in their only game last week and were among the leading vote-getters just outside the rankings. The Orange lost at home to Old Dominion.

Forrest helps No. 11 Florida State beat SE Missouri 85-68

By TERESA M. WALKER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Trent Forrest scored a career high 23 points and freshman Devin Vassell added 16 points as No. 11 Florida State overcame a sluggish first half and beat Southeast Missouri 85-68 on Monday night.

Forrest shot 8 for 12 from the floor, and had a team-high eight rebounds and four assists to help the Seminoles (9-1) win their fourth straight.

Florida State secured its 30th straight non-conference home win. Nebraska is the last non-conference team to defeat the Seminoles, 70-65 on Dec. 1, 2014.

Ledarrus Brewer scored 16 points and Skyler Hogan added 14 points for Southeast Missouri (5-7).

Christ Koumadje added seven rebounds as Florida State outrebounded the undersized Redhawks 46-28.

Southeast Missouri led 47-42 with 14:46 to go but Florida State went on a 12-0 run to take control for good.

The Seminoles shot 50 percent (31 for 62). They were just 1 for 12 on 3-pointers in the first half before finishing 6 for 24.

Florida State senior forward Phil Cofer played for the first time this season after missing nine games due to a preseason foot injury. Cofer didn't have a point or rebound in five minutes.

Sharp-shooting Vanderbilt beats No. 18 Arizona State 81-65

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Saben Lee scored 14 points to lead five players in double figures and sharp-shooting Vanderbilt beat No. 18 Arizona State 81-65 on Monday night.

Vanderbilt snapped an eight-game skid against ranked opponents that dated to an overtime win over Florida in the 2017 Southeastern Conference Tournament. The Commodores (7-2) also beat Arizona State for the first time in five tries on the Sun Devils' first visit to Memorial Gym.

The Commodores had a big night from beyond the arc, hitting 6 of 12 from deep in the first half and 12 of 28 for the game.

Aaron Nesmith added 13 points off the bench for Vanderbilt. Yanni Wetzell had 12, and Matt Ryan and Joe Toye had 11 each.

Arizona State, which moved up two spots in the AP Top 25 earlier Monday, has lost two of three.

Rob Edwards led Arizona State with 14 points. Luguentz

Dort came in as the fourth-highest freshman scorer in the nation averaging 20.9 points, but he had just 10 points. Zylan Cheatham had 14 rebounds.

This was the first game after the Commodores' 12-day break for finals and is the second part of a home-and-home deal with Arizona State. The Sun Devils won 76-64 in Tempe last season.

Arizona State opened by scoring the first nine points as Vanderbilt missed its first six shots. After that, the Commodores finished the first half outscoring the Sun Devils 34-19, including an 18-3 run over the final 6:49.

Vanderbilt pushed that to 37-28 when Ryan hit a 3 to open the second half. Dort scored five straight points to pull Arizona State within 37-34, but that was as close as the Sun Devils got until Edwards and Kimani Lawrence hit back-to-back 3s with 3:53 left to pull within 62-59.

Simisola Shittu answered with a layup, and Toye knocked down a 3 as Vanderbilt pushed the lead back to double digits.

Bucks hold on late for 107-104 win over Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — Giannis Antetokounmpo had 32 points and 12 rebounds, and the Milwaukee Bucks held on for a 107-104 victory over the Detroit Pistons on Monday night when Blake Griffin missed a last-second 3-pointer.

Griffin actually missed two 3s in the final 14 seconds. The Detroit star already had a triple-double after three quarters, but it was a quiet fourth for him. Griffin finished with 19 points, 11 assists and 10 rebounds, but he also had 10 turnovers.

The Pistons rallied from a 15-point, third-quarter deficit and took an 89-86 lead in the fourth when Stanley Johnson connected from 3-point range. Milwaukee was up 100-99 when Eric Bledsoe of the Bucks missed three straight free throws — but Antetokounmpo briefly took over after that.

Antetokounmpo put Milwaukee up by three with a dunk, then added a three-point play and a driving layup to make it 107-100.

The Pistons rallied and had the ball with a chance to tie. Griffin missed from beyond the arc, and after Jose Calderon came up with an offensive rebound, Griffin missed again.

Suns use big 3rd quarter to beat Knicks for 3rd in a row

NEW YORK (AP) — Devin Booker tied his season high with 38 points, T.J. Warren scored 17 of his 26 during Phoenix's 41-point third quarter and the Suns beat the New York Knicks 128-110 on Monday night for their third straight victory.

Phoenix outscored New York 41-17 in the third and went on to win three consecutive games for the first time since March 2-5, 2017. The Suns won only four times in their first 28 games, but are 3 for 3 since.

Deandre Ayton finished with 21 points and 13 rebounds for the Suns in an impressive start to a five-game road trip, their longest of the season. Last-place Phoenix improved to 2-13 away from home.

Booker just returned Saturday from a six-game absence with a left hamstring strain and scored 28 points against Minnesota. He was even better with a game under his belt, hurting the Knicks not only with his perimeter shooting but also going 14 of 15 from the free throw line and grabbing seven rebounds.

Emmanuel Mudiay had 32 points, six rebounds and six assists for the Knicks, who lost for the seventh time in eight games. Rookie forward Kevin Knox scored 17.

New York played without leading scorer Tim Hardaway Jr. because of a sore right heel.

Mudiay came in averaging 18.5 points in his last eight games and was just about there by halftime, with 18 points. Knox had 13 and the Knicks were ahead 66-59.

Things changed quickly in the third quarter, when the Suns went 16 of 22 from the field — with one of the misses being a halfcourt heave as the buzzer sounded.

The game was tied at 79 after Mudiay's layup but Warren nailed a long 3-pointer to ignite what became a 21-4 finish to the period. Warren had another 3 later in the run, and Jamal Crawford hit a couple jumpers and had the Suns kept up the pressure early in the fourth and quickly put the game out of reach.

Dolphins' Gore injures left ankle against Vikings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miami's Frank Gore hurt his left ankle on the second-to-last play of the first quarter and didn't return to the Dolphins' loss at Minnesota on Sunday.

Gore, the NFL's active rushing leader, had five carries for 14 yards in Miami's 41-17 loss.

Backup defensive tackle Ziggy Hood (hamstring) limped off the field at the end of the third quarter.

Bears safety Eddie Jackson was injured during his interception in the fourth quarter of the Bears' win over the Packers. Jackson had to be helped off the field with a sprained right ankle after his leg bent awkwardly as he tried to slide on the return.

Packers running back

Aaron Jones left with a knee injury in the first quarter and wide receiver Randall Cobb was evaluated for a concussion following a hard hit by Jackson late in the game.

Bengals receiver Tyler Boyd reached 1,000 yards receiving for the first time in his career before hurting his right knee late in the first half. He didn't return and said the injury isn't serious after the Bengals' win over Oakland.

Raiders cornerback Gareon Conley sustained a concussion in the game.

Atlanta wide receiver Julio Jones injured his ribs on a TD catch in the second quarter and only played a few snaps in the third period with the outcome all but assured during the 40-14 rout of Arizona. Jones missed practice one day this week with flu-like symptoms.

Vaccaro left in the first half of the 17-0 win over the Giants with a concussion. Linebacker Sharif Finch left in the second half with a shoulder injury.

Giants center Spencer Pulley departed in the second half with a calf injury, along with special teams Antonio Hamilton, who had a quadriceps injury.

Jaguars rookie safety Ronnie Harrison injured his left knee on Washington's first series, limped to the sideline and did not return. Jarrod Wilson replaced Harrison and had two pass break-ups before leaving with a leg injury.

end Alan Cross left with a shoulder injury in the second quarter and did not return.

Jags sticking with QB Kessler despite woeful, 3-game stretch

By MARK LONG

AP SPORTS WRITER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Quarterback Cody Kessler has taken the Jacksonville Jaguars to a new low in 2018.

The Jaguars (4-10) have totaled 658 yards in three games since Kessler replaced inconsistent starter Blake Bortles, including a season-low 192 yards in a 16-13 loss to Washington on Sunday. It's the franchise's worst three-game stretch of offense since Blaine Gabbert's second year in 2012.

But coach Doug Marrone doesn't plan on switching back to Bortles for the final two games of the season, beginning at Miami (7-7) on Sunday.

"All the players, we're telling them just to be ready to go," Marrone said Monday. "It's hard to evaluate when there's a high level of inconsistency around you."

The Jaguars have apparently moved on from Bortles, the third overall pick in the 2014 draft, and want to see whether Kessler deserves to be on the roster next season. Top decision-maker Tom Coughlin and general manager Dave Caldwell traded a conditional seventh-round draft pick to Cleveland to acquire Kessler as a backup in March.

Jacksonville is expected to draft a quarterback in April and sign an experienced starter to bridge whatever gap might be needed to get the rookie onto the field. Kessler could remain as a third option. He's due to make a little more than $900,000 in 2019.

Kessler has led the offense to one touchdown — a second-half scoring pass in a lopsided game at Tennessee — and four field goals in 31 possessions. It's the first time in franchise history that the Jags have managed just one offensive touchdown during any three-game stretch.

"We're not being able to make plays," Marrone said. "Run-game wise, we're not being consistent enough and I'm responsible for that, so that falls on me."

Kessler completed 9 of 17 passes for 57 yards against the Redskins, failing to complete one that traveled more than 10 yards in the air. He was sacked six times, but also ran for a team-leading 68 yards. He moved the chains on four third-down scrambles and picked up another 14 yards on a third-and-long play to get Kai Forbath a closer field goal.

Although Marrone acknowledged that Bortles could provide a spark for the team's listless offense, he said it's not all Kessler's fault. Marrone pointed to protection problems and a lack of a running game for the continued struggles.

The Jaguars, who have lost nine of their last 10 games, started nine offensive players against Washington who were either backups or not on the roster when the season began in September. Running back Leonard Fournette and right guard A.J. Cann were the only two carry-overs from the opener, and Fournette touched the ball just once in the second half of a close game.

So Kessler was surrounded by several guys who wouldn't be playing had it not been for a rash of injuries.

"It's tough obviously when there's injuries and stuff like that, but that's no excuse," Kessler said. "There's plays there I should have made, whether it's running the ball or making some throws, and those guys fought as hard as they could. ... It just comes down to me finding a way to win and helping those guys out and putting them in the best position."

"We're still in a decent position," the 41-year-old Brady said.

That's true, of course. And no one would be foolish enough to write off the Pats just yet. But two consecutive close late-season setbacks — last week's "Miracle in Miami," then this week's penalty-fest in Pittsburgh, with 14 flags against the Patriots — certainly make them look vulnerable.

Then there's this: New England is currently slotted into the No. 3 seed in the conference standings, behind the Kansas City Chiefs and Houston Texans, which would translate to a wild-card slot and no bye in the playoffs. Why is that significant? Belichick's Patriots never have reached the Super Bowl without a bye.

As for that pivotal interception thrown by Brady, a week after he blew a scoring chance at the end of the first half in the loss at the Dolphins? Minutes 14-10 with about 8 minutes left, but inside Pittsburgh's 20, Brady was flushed out of the pocket and basically threw the football up for grabs — into the hands of Steelers defensive back Joe Haden.

"I was just trying to flick it out of bounds," Brady said. "Didn't want to take a sack."

Sure, Tom.

But what you did was worse than a sack.

"I'm not used to seeing Tom Brady just throw the ball up and just panic like he's a rookie," former Patriots safety Rodney Harrison said on NBC's "Football Night in America."

The rest of the league isn't used to seeing Belichick, Brady and Co. seem this vulnerable.

In case you missed it, here are other top topics after the NFL season's 15th Sunday:

Nick of time

Well, well, well, here we go again with Nick Foles and the Philadelphia Eagles, right? A back injury kept Carson Wentz out of Philadelphia's night game at the Los Angeles Rams, a must-win for the reigning champions. So in came Foles, who replaced a hurt Wentz late last season and ended up as the Super Bowl MVP; he went 24 of 31 for 270 yards in the Eagles' 30-23 victory over LA, helping them improve to 7-7 and hold onto their slim chance at a post-season berth.

Worst to first

Rookie coach Matt Nagy and new pass-rusher Khalil Mack (another 2½ sacks Sunday) have the Chicago Bears back in the playoffs for the first time since 2010 after beating the rival Green Bay Packers 24-17 to improve to 10-4 and clinch the NFC North. The Bears were fourth in the division last season, meaning that in 15 of the past 16 years, at least one NFL club has gone from worst to first.

On bended knee

There was more good news for the Bears: After their game, offensive lineman Charles Leno Jr. dropped to a knee right there on the turf in the middle of the stadium, pulled out a box with a ring in it and proposed to his girlfriend. She said "Yes" — and some of Leno's teammates helped him celebrate the occasion. Chicago quarterback Mitch Trubisky's take: "I'm very happy for Charles. He planned it out pretty well."

Janikowski jogs off

Kicker Sebastian Janikowski was involved in quite a sequence during Seattle's 26-23 overtime loss to the San Francisco 49ers, which prevented the Seahawks from locking up a playoff spot. After the Seahawks scored the game's first touchdown, Janikowski missed an extra point. Then his kickoff was returned 97 yards for a score by San Francisco's Richie James Jr. — and the Twitiverse made note of Janikowski's complete lack of interest in making a TD-saving tackle on the runback. Instead, he just got out of James' way and sashayed to the sideline.

or CEO sitting down and listening to his employees and getting feedback from them as well. I think where I made some real strides was spending more time with our players and getting feedback from them," Kelly said.

The Irish rebounded to 10-3 last season and entered this season with similar expectations. After a 3-0 start, Kelly made the pivotal move of switching quarterback from senior Brandon Wimbush to junior Ian Book.

While the move might have seemed bold at the time, it wasn't necessarily to Kelly.

"It felt like the right thing to do," Kelly said. "You know where it felt risky was the first quarter of Wake Forest when we weren't moving the ball effectively. But at the time in making the decision I didn't feel risky. It felt like it was the right thing to do based on the information that I had. Clearly if you don't play well the extend plays."

Ah yes, 11-on-11 football. Not the flag football, 44-40 variety that excites fantasy fanatics, but the balanced game in which solid tackling, crunching blocks and a variety of strategies are paramount.

As the playoffs approach, the superperson offenses could sputter. Teams primarily relying on them should know they might need to win man against man in the trenches, rule in a slugfest rather than in a points spree.

Of the division leaders, the Saints and possibly the Rams own that balance, though neither is as physical as, say, the Cowboys, Bears or Seahawks.

But the clubs unlikely to light up scoreboards also know if they can establish the tempo with their ground games and their stingy defenses — and an attitude that no opponent will intimidate them — they can be valid contenders in January.

Two of those clubs took a step backward on Sunday. Still, the Cowboys figure to win the NFC East and the Seahawks aren't likely to blow a wild-card spot. Rather than panic after their defeats — Seattle's loss against the lowly 49ers being the more problematic — they'll go back to what they do best.

Because they have confidence in what they do best, which helped them turn around 2018 after slow starts.

"We didn't give ourselves a chance," Cowboys quarterback Dak Prescott said. "We weren't scoring next week and things don't go well it becomes an issue. Not only risky, but could become a huge problem."

The Irish offense took off. Matched with a solid defense, Notre Dame completed a perfect regular season.

Kentucky's Mark Stoops, UAB's Bill Clark and Oklahoma's Lincoln Riley each received three first-place votes. Clemson's Dabo Swinney, Army's Jeff Monken, Northwestern's Pat Fitzgerald and Florida's Dan Mullen each received one.

and so it wasn't a complementary game of football. That's what we've been playing these last five weeks and we didn't do that tonight."

Heading into December, the prevailing view was that a prolific offense was a necessity to win the NFL championship. People became enamored of the fireworks the Rams, Saints, Chiefs and Chargers could provide.

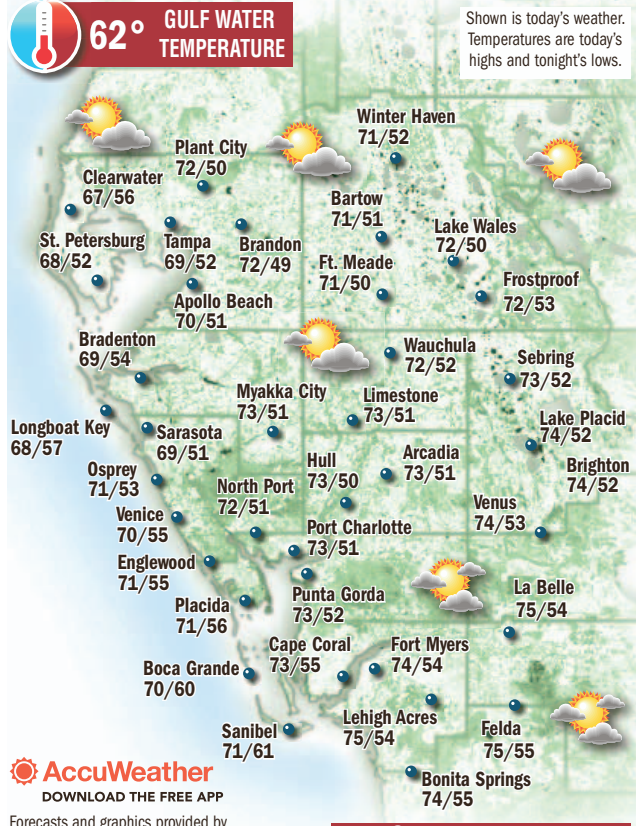

Now, with two weeks left in the schedule, it's becoming clear that asymmetry isn't such a great thing. Maybe some of the clubs who are showing they feature balanced game plans and approaches and talent — say Houston, Chicago, Indianapolis and the Chargers — should be reckoned with as much as New Orleans and Kansas City and the Rams.

Orioles manager Brandon Hyde 'ready to get to work'

By JON MEOLI
THE BALTIMORE SUN

BALTIMORE — New Orioles manager Brandon Hyde was the first name Mike Elias heard when the freshly minted executive vice president and general manager began making calls to research for his managerial search, and every subsequent call Elias made circled him back to the Cubs bench coach.

Then, all it took was getting in a room together for the pair to realize that the fit was real, culminating in Monday's unveiling at Camden Yards that introduced Hyde as the 20th manager in club history.

"What just stood out throughout the entire process for me, for us, were Brandon's unique qualifications and experiences for this job," Elias said. "He's had a varied career across all different aspects of baseball operations with a ton of experience in player development, but also major league coaching.

"The experiences that he's had as a member of a front office, a member of a minor coaching staff, a minor league manager, a major league coach — a bench coach across two different organizations — and as a player, as a catcher coming up, was just such a deep background, and (he) brought such a wide breath of perspective to the way he views the game, the way he views the manager's role, the way he views the relationship between the manager's office and the front office, and certainly the specific mentorships that he benefited from in the Marlins organization and most recently in the Cubs' organization, and being such a big part of building the Cubs organization into a world champion and a play-off-caliber team year after year was very attractive to us throughout this entire process."

Hyde, who has been on the Cubs' major league staff since 2014 after two years in front office player development roles there and nearly a decade coaching and managing in the Marlins' minor league system, was joined by his wife, Lisa, and children Aria, Addison and Colton. He went through a litany of gratitude for all those who helped him achieve his first managerial job, nearly tearing up at the mention of his wife and children in the front row.

"I want to say thank you to Mike, (assistant general manager Sig Mejdal), and the Angelos family. I'm so happy to be here, I'm proud to be an Oriole, and I cannot wait to get to work," Hyde said.

For Hyde, that work includes assembling a major league coaching staff and getting to know an almost entirely unfamiliar roster. He said he'll try to build a relationship with the players first before talking baseball, and that his message during the season would be positivity and patience.

But once he does get to the message of communicating with the players, something Elias said is his strong suit, the attraction for both Elias and Hyde is that the message he passes along will be a unified one from the front office.

"The sit-down with Mike and Sig, when we met a couple weeks ago, seeing their vision — I've heard about Mike and Sig from the past, and was just really interested in hearing what they had to say about this organization going forward," Hyde said. "I thought we had a great day. We had a great day and evening at dinner — great conversation. It was an easy conversation. And it was really intriguing to me at that point. I really felt like it was a good fit."

"We are going to be working towards the same goals, and doing so in a collaborative, open manner where we're communicating constantly," Elias said. "To me, the connection that I felt personally in dealing with Brandon was very important as well. I'm very excited to have him here today, to have him as part of this team, to have his help in what we're going to be doing here."

AP source: Astros agree to 2-year deal with Michael Brantley

By KRISTIE RIEKEN
AP SPORTS WRITER

HOUSTON — A person familiar with the negotiations tells The Associated Press the Houston Astros have agreed to a two-year deal with free agent outfielder Michael Brantley.

The person spoke on the condition of anonymity Monday night because the club has not yet

The 31-year-old Brantley has spent his entire 10-year career with the Cleveland Indians, where he was a three-time All-Star.

Brantley is a career .295 hitter and gives Houston an upgrade to an outfield anchored by center fielder George Springer.

Brantley hit .309 with 17 homers, 36 doubles and 76 RBIs last season in 143 games, with 134 starts in left field. Brantley's best season came in 2014 when he finished third in AL MVP voting after hitting 20 homers with 97 RBIs — both career-highs.
