County proposes waste fee in lieu of charges for landfill

Lori Prevatt
Citizen Correspondent

At the County Commission meeting July 17, Commissioners were tasked with setting preliminary assessment fees for EMT, fire and solid waste services.

The latter generated much debate among Commissioners and attendees, as the County weighed replacing dumping fees at the county landfill with an assessment fee of $116 for all households.

The final decision on assessments will come at a public hearing on Sept. 6 at 6 p.m. The Commission is then permitted to lower, but not raise, the fee amounts set at the preliminary hearing.

Jeff Rackley, Senior Project Manager at Government Services Inc., put together reports for the Commissioners to review, which were presented at the meeting by his associate Heather Senoza.

According to the reports, Levy County lost revenue from the landfill last year. Levy County previously charged residents an assessment fee of $25 per parcel, but now charges no fee. Levy residents pay a tipping fee of $1.16, while the commercial tipping fee is $61.00.

"The current fee and tipping fees will not generate enough funding for operations," Senoza said.

Levy County Finance Director Jared Blanton weighed in. "There will be a general fund transfer needed if we keep everything the same; $2.6 million is required to run the landfill," Blanton said.

According to Senoza, an assessment fee of $116 for each household would make around $3 million.

"However, this would allow the citizens to be able to use the landfill for free," Commission Chairman John Meeks said.

Commissioner Lilly Rooks said she was concerned about the burden this would put on low income families. The other Commissioners added that people using home garbage services would be paying double without ever using the landfill.

After much discussion, the board passed a 4-1 vote to set the assessment fee at $116 per household. Rooks represented the sole no vote.

The preliminary assessment fee for fire services were set at $129.00 per residence and the EMT assessment fee was set for $150.00 per residence.

According to Blanton, fund transfers would have been necessary to assist with budgeting emergency services as well if fees were not increased.

"Keep in mind, this is for the level of services right now today, said Mitch Harrell, director of Levy County Public Safety. "Jared is just looking at the numbers. Something has to be done as our ability to find volunteers diminishes. We are going to have to pay. Costs are going up."

"I hate raising fees and taxes," Meeks said. "We have really cut the budget. We have got to figure out how to balance our cuts with revenues."

Woman dies in crash with jacknifed semi

Buster Thompson
Citrus County Chronicle

A Tennessee woman died July 19 after her vehicle collided with a Lecanto man's semi-trailer truck that had jackknifed on a Levy County roadway.

At around 1:50 p.m., 53-year-old Stephen Horton was driving a semi-trailer truck south on State Road 121, approaching Northeast Seventh Place turning, according to the Florida Highway Patrol (FHP).

A woman, whose name had yet to be identified in the FHP report, before next of kin was notified, was driving a Ford F-150 north on S.R. 121 around the same time, nearing the intersection with Northeast Seventh Place.

For reasons unknown, Horton suddenly braked, causing his semi-trailer truck to jackknife and swing

Auditor misses deadline, putting county funding at risk

BOCC stays with current county insurance plans

Lori Prevatt
Citizen correspondent

Allicia Tretheway, coordinator for the Procurement Department of Levy County, presented concerns to the Levy County Commission July 17 over potential fallout from a missed deadline June 30 by an auditing company the county contracts with.

The County has employed Carr, Riggs and Ingram, LLC, which does business in many states, for several years without any issues.

The Commission agreed to terminate services with the company after its contract expires on Sept. 30, and accept bids from other auditors.

Tretheway said the audit needs to be completed by July 31, prompting concern from the BOCC and other county officials.

"We won't pay them until the audit is finished," Commission Chairman John Meeks said.

Commissioner Lilly Rooks said Levy County could lose some of its grant funding if the audit is not completed on time.

Clerk of Court Danny Shipp said it's important to track any potential loss of funding due to the late audit, which Tretheway said is already planned.

Finance Director Jared Blanton said,"We are hopeful that the state will show understanding and show us some leniency. There are other counties that are behind as well. We have to provide the best services to our Levy citizens."

Blanton said he was almost certain the auditing field work was not yet started for Gilchrist County.

"The firm has already lost Alachua

Expired tag leads to six Inglis arrests

Scott Tummond
LCSO Public Informations

On July 11, members of the Levy County Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigations Division conducted a proactive patrol campaign in the City of Inglis. Investigators were seeking traffic offenders, unlicensed drivers and persons transporting illegal drugs.

Investigators located all of the above in a single traffic stop.

Officers observed a vehicle leaving the parking lot of the Kangaroo gas station at the intersection of US 19 and Highway 40 without a current tag. Investigator Wilkinson attempted to stop the driver, who fled east on Sandi Street, ultimately turning onto Jerry Street, where he was blocked in by Investigator McNeil. The driver, identified as Mark G. Gonzalez, 27, from Dunnellon, was taken into custody. Investigators identified Carla Carter-Jenkins, 42, of Dunnellon, Sidney Allen, 20, of Inglis and Lindon Owens, 24, of Dunnellon as the passengers of the vehicle. The subsequent roadside investigation revealed all three passengers were in possession of various illegal narcotics. All occupants were arrested.

Investigator Douglas conducted a traffic stop on North Inglis Avenue and identified the driver of the vehicle as Christopher Allen, 42, of Inglis. A computer check identified Allen as having an active warrant for his arrest issued in Citrus County. Investigators also located and arrested Jake Bryant, 37, of Inglis who had an active warrant for violation of probation issued in Levy County.

Arrests: Gonzalez –- fleeing and attempting to elude law enforcement; possession of a controlled substance; driving while license suspended or revoked; resisting officer without violence; possession of drug paraphernalia; bond set at $22,000. Carter-Jenkins – possession of a controlled substance; bond set at $5,000. Sidney Allen – possession of controlled substance; trafficking in methamphetamines; two charges of possession of drug paraphernalia; introduction of contraband into a correctional facility; tampering with evidence; bond set at $324,000. Owens – trafficking in methamphetamine; possession of a controlled substance; possession of drug paraphernalia; bond set at $267,000. Christopher Allen – Citrus County warrant; no bond. Bryant – violation of probation; no bond.

City Commission race pits newcomer vs. experience

The Chiefland City Commission is holding its elections August 7 at City Hall, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Two seats are up for election – Group No. 2 and Group No. 4. Incumbent Donald Lawrence is running unopposed for Group 2, while incumbent Teresa Barron and challenger Tim West are running for the No. 4 seat. The Citizen invited Barron and West to respond to a questionnaire ahead of the election, and each candidate obliged.

Tim West, Chiefland City Commission Group 4 candidate

Tim West, 36, is running as the challenger in the election for City Commissioner Group 4 Aug. 7. West is the project manager/park manager for Strawberry Fields for RV'ers, and is running for office for the first time. He's lived in Chiefland for six months and was previously a service manage at an automotive shop in Temple, Texas. West describes his educational background as high school and some college. Questions are in bold.

Tim West

Please summarize your community involvement: I am a member on the Chamber of Commerce. It's always good to know what kind of businesses are local because we strongly believe in buying locally. I am also a member at the Chief Theater and these guys do a stand up job. No pun intended.

What experience and/or skills make you a good fit for the office you seek? Building an RV park is a lot like building a small city. We have to supply over 800 people with water, sewer, electric, roads, safety and entertainment. I also like to listen to people and encourage opposing dialogue. This helps me hear people's ideas and make more open-minded decisions that don't just benefit myself.

What motivated you to run for office? It started with my love for this community. The people of this town are amazing. I have been to every City meeting since I've been here and decided that I wanted to be more involved. The meetings have taught me that the city and our public servants deserve more but their hands are tied. It is time to cut the rope. Let's give our public servants the resources they need to be competitive and lets give our city the resources they need to provide for the people of Chiefland.

What are three priorities of your campaign? 1) Economic Development. Some healthy growth will help our municipality and have more jobs for our future generations. New types of businesses will also help us keep revenue in town (buy locally). 2) Provide benefits for all, not just a chosen few. 3) Main Street revitalization.

What differentiates you from your opponent? I bring a fresh perspective and new ideas to the city and I prefer to find a way to say yes when it comes to benefiting the citizens of Chiefland.

What do you think is the biggest challenge facing local government in Chiefland? Revenue. The city and our public servants need and deserve a boost here to be competitive and efficient in serving the citizens. I prefer that instead of excessively raising the taxes on the people, let's invite some new business and lets expand on the businesses that are here.

What would you most like voters to know about yourself and your campaign? I am a hard-working American Patriot. I love my country and I love this city. The economy is doing well and I think the city and the people of Chiefland can benefit from it. God Bless.

Teresa Barron, Chiefland City Commission Group 4 candidate

Teresa Barron, 55, is running as the incumbent in the election for City Commissioner Group 4 Aug. 7. Barron is an accountant and tax preparer for Wise Accounting and Tax Services and has served on the Commission for 14 years, including as mayor, vice mayor and fire commissioner. She hasn't served in any other political offices. She earned a bachelor's degree with honors in business management at Saint Leo University, and earned a master's degree in accounting. Barron has lived in Chiefland for 32 years. Questions are in bold.

Teresa Barron

Please summarize your community involvement: Organizing and participating in the first annual county-wide Veterans Day parade; assisted the chamber with various Christmas festivals/parades; lead commissioner in getting approval and grant funds for the Delma Lock Park improvements; organized and gathered donations from the community for Christmas lights; pushed for improvements in the Fire/EMS services for Chiefland for 10 years; currently advocating and seeking grant funding for the band shell/Depot Park expansion.

What experience and/or skills make you a good fit for the office you seek? As an accountant/tax preparer, I work with clients to review their business/operating plans and assist them in finding ways to increase income and reduce expenses. These skills are vital when making decisions for the city. I must determine what services the taxpayers are willing fund and to differentiate between the city's needs and its wants. For instance, during the recession years, our tax revenues decreased significantly every year, but because I knew the taxpayers were hurting financially, I voted to reduced expenses rather than increase ad valorem taxes.

During my time as Fire Commissioner, the Chief and I were successful in getting Levy County to pay their fair share of the cost of running the Chiefland Fire Department, because our department also protects/serves a large percentage of the county. Chiefland residents and businesses had, in effect, been paying a large portion of the cost to fight fires out in the county, but the county agreed to pay their proportional share.

What motivated you to run for office?

My love for this city motivated me to run for office. The residents and business owners are like family. This is a great place to live and raise a family.

What are three priorities of your campaign? 1) Be respectful of my opponent. 2) Be respectful of the community, and 3) Promote the values of the community.

What differentiates you from your opponent? I've lived here all my life and am invested emotionally in this community. I want to do what is best for all the taxpayers.

What do you think is the biggest challenge facing local government in Chiefland?

Managing services so that we can keep up with the growth that the improved economy is bringing to the area.

What would you most like voters to know about yourself and your campaign?

Voters, please keep in mind that this election is not just about alcohol sales or police raises. Chiefland has been my home for years. My family homesteaded here. This is where I've raised my family. I love Chiefland and have voted in the best interests of Chiefland for the past 14 years. If re-elected, I will continue to put Chiefland first and be your common sense decision maker on the Chiefland City Commission.

Primary registration deadline is July 30

Primaries are Aug. 28; early voting Aug. 13-25

Secretary of State Ken Detzner reminds voters that the deadline for registering to vote in Florida's Primary Election is July 30.

"The July 30 deadline to register to vote or update your party affiliation to be in effect for the Primary Election is just around the corner. I encourage all eligible voters to check their voter registration status and ensure they are registered and that their information is up-to-date," said Secretary Detzner. "The Department's new voter registration website RegisterToVoteFlorida.gov makes it convenient, easy and secure to register to vote or update your registration information online."

Individuals not registered to vote in the State of Florida must submit a completed voter registration application by Monday, July 30 in order to participate in Florida's Primary Election. Voters who are already registered but want to update their political party affiliation must update their voter registration information by Monday, July 30 in order to have the change in effect for the Primary Election.

Floridians can check their current voter registration status, register to vote or update their existing registration through the Department's new online voter registration website RegisterToVoteFlorida.gov.

An update to a voter's signature for provisional and vote-by-mail ballot verification purposes for the Primary Election must be submitted no later than the start of the canvassing of vote-by-mail ballots, which may start as early as August 13.

As a reminder, Florida is a closed primary state which means that only voters who are registered members of political parties may vote for their respective party candidates for an office in a primary election. However, if the winner of the primary race would face no opposition in the general election, then all voters, regardless of party affiliation, may vote in that race in the primary election.

For more information, please visit the Division of Elections' website at dos.myflorida.com/elections.

Former Fanning firefighter arrested in Gilchrist

A former Fanning Springs firefighter, who resigned last October after failing a blood-alcohol test at the scene of a fatal fire in Levy County, was arrested June 1 by the Gilchrist County Sheriff's Office and charged with Lewd and Lascivious Behavior toward a minor.

Mark James, 38, who voluntarily resigned from his position as deputy chief of operations at the volunteer fire department last fall, had a bond set at $50,000 and was released the next day, June 2.

County Commission candidate makes stop at Rotary

Sean Arnold
Editor

Terance Reed, candidate for County Commissioner District 2 (Chiefland), discussed his candidacy before the Chiefland Rotary Club July 18.

His opponent, incumbent Rock Meeks, spoke to the club in June.

Reed, who's owned an automotive shop in Chiefland for 25 years, said his business experience and prior managerial experience – at Winn Dixie and Griner Chevrolet in Cross City – has helped prepare him for office.

"You figure it out without hurting or taking from others, I just know it can be done," Reed said on managing difficult financial situations in business and government.

Reed said he aims to stress transparency, open communication and accountability in office, and said his campaign talk was not a reflection on anyone in office, but rather his own priorities.

He vowed to vigorously study the issues before him in office and highlighted the importance of supporting first responders.

Reed touched on the topic of revenue for the county and acknowledged it was a difficult issue he didn't have specific answers for, but said the finances require constant close monitoring, just like in his business. Reed and Rotary members discussed

County and Lafayette County," Meeks said.

The County plans to withhold pay from Carr, Riggs and Ingram until the auditing services outlined in the current contract are completed.

Meeks said a Sunshine Committee will have to be formed to initiate the search for a new auditor. The committees must include county employees from specified positions.

In other County business, County Coordinator Wilbur Dean presented health insurance findings to the Board of Commissioners. Dean and his colleagues began accepting bids on June 1 for potential insurance companies to possibly replace the current Blue Cross Blue Shield policies in place.

"Four agents bid under United Healthcare," Dean said. "They all turned in rates subject to their underwriters approval. The only plan not subject to underwriter's approval was a vision plan and it would have been higher than what we have."

According to Dean, they had requested flat rates from the insurance companies, which none provided. "It raises red flags when the companies respond with 'subject to underwriter's approval,'" Dean said.

Commissioner Mike Joyner praised Dean and his colleagues for the research they completed.

"Ultimately, at the end of the day, we want the best insurance for our workers. I applaud you for your work," Joyner said.

The Board discussed removing two of the most extensive coverage options to save money, but decided it wasn't best for Levy County employees.

Some residents in attendance expressed concern with the county not receiving correct bids from companies and were disgruntled that more time was not spent on researching other companies.

Meeks responded by requesting Dean start accepting bids as early as possible next year.

After much deliberation, the board passed a motion to set a cap on the amount of insurance spent on each employee. The cap was set at $974.20 per month per employee. Employees are to choose from the five plans currently in place through Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida.

Summer unemployment slump hits region

Levy sees decline in labor force as jobless rate at 4.2 percent

Along with summer heat and humidity, the CareerSource Citrus Levy Marion region saw a seasonal uptick in the unemployment rate in June.

The unemployment rate for the region is 4.9 percent, up 0.7 percentage point over the month and down nearly half a percent compared to the same time last year. The labor force was 202,500, up 2,574 (+1.3 percent) over the year. There were 9,867 unemployed residents in the region, representing an increase of 1,451 over the month and 631 fewer than June 2017.

According to the latest release of the June employment summary by the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity, Levy County had the lowest jobless rate in the region at 4.2 percent, followed by Marion County with 4.7 percent, and Citrus County at 5.6 percent. Florida's not seasonally adjusted jobless rate – a measure that matches the way local rates are calculated – is 3.9 percent, an increase of half a percent over the month.

CareerSource CLM's CEO Rusty Skinner said the report shows the region experiencing month-by-month labor market fluctuations. In some cases, such as labor force expansion in Marion and Citrus counties, it could indicate that "either new entrants or returnees are active in our rebounding economy," he said, noting that at the same time Levy County saw a decline in the size of its labor force, both Levy and Marion counties experienced shrinkage in the number of those with jobs.

"These factors increased the number of unemployed and rise in the unemployment rates over the previous month," he said. "However, when you compare (June) to the same month last year, we see that the long-term trends in labor force and employment shows positive movement."

Over the year, the region's labor force has grown by 2,574, the number of employed is up by 3,205 and the number of unemployed is down by 631.

"Recently a national economist talked about the monthly variations in employment factors and emphasized that tracking monthly ups and downs was not a true reflection on the overall movement of the economy and that the long-term comparisons were better measures of the economic health and direction," Skinner said. "This is not to minimize the struggles of those affected by negative monthly variations, but to focus on the fact that those negatives in one month often swing to positive the following month."

Skinner noted that June typically also ushers in the beginning of a summer spike in unemployment driven by seasonal factors, such as release of school support personnel for the summer as well as college students returning to the area looking for temporary work until they head back to school.

Here's how the employment numbers break down for each county:

- Levy County's labor force shrank by 306 over the month to 16,823, the number of those with jobs fell by 412 to 16,116 and the number of unemployed increased by 106 to 707. Compared to June 2017 when the jobless rate was 4.6 percent, that's an increase of 160 employed and decrease of 57 unemployed.
- Marion County's labor force expanded by 335 to 136,592, the number of those with jobs decreased by 607 to 130,162, and the number of unemployed rose by 942 to 6,430. Since June 2017, when the unemployment rate was 5.1 percent, the labor force has grown by 1,757, the number of employed has increased by 2,197 and the number of unemployed has dropped by 440.
- Citrus County's labor force grew by 685 to 49,085, employment increased by 282 to 46,355 while the number of jobless rose by 403 to 2,730. That's an increase of 848 employed and 134 fewer unemployed compared to June 2017 when the unemployment rate was 5.9 percent.

Over the month, unemployment rates rose in all 67 counties. Compared to June 2017, rates dropped in 62 counties, were unchanged in three and rose in two counties.

Citrus County continued to hold the third highest unemployment rate among Florida's counties, while Marion County fell a notch to 12th highest and Levy County tied with four other counties for the 23rd highest rate.

Among the metro areas, the Homosassa Springs/Citrus County MSA had the second highest rate behind The Villages and the Ocala MSA held the fifth highest rate.

Nonfarm employment in the Ocala/Marion County metropolitan statistical area was 103,800, a dip of 700 jobs since May but an increase of 2,000 jobs (+2 percent) over the year.

For the fourth consecutive month, the Ocala MSA posted the fastest annual job growth rate compared to all metro areas in the state in education and health services at 6.5 percent. In June there were 19,600 jobs in education and health services, an increase of 100 jobs over the month and 1,200 more than in June 2017.

In the Ocala MSA, education and health services, manufacturing (500 new jobs for an increase of 6 percent growth), and professional and business services (300 new jobs for an increase of 3.3 percent) grew faster in the metro area than statewide over the year.

Leisure and hospitality also gained 400 jobs over the year.

Industries losing jobs over the year were mining, logging and construction (-200); financial activities (-100); and government (-100 jobs)

Unchanged over the year were trade, transportation and utilities; information; and other services.

In June, nonfarm payroll employment in the Homosassa Springs MSA was 33,800, up 200 jobs compared to the previous month and an increase over the year of 700 jobs for a growth rate of 2.1 percent.

The region's employment summary for July will be released on Friday, Aug. 17.

Levy one of five locations selected by Duke Energy for economic development program

Duke Energy has selected five Florida properties – in Levy, Marion, Hamilton, Wakulla and Volusia Counties – for participation in this year's Site Readiness Program, which will prepare them for targeted business development and future capital investment.

Through its Site Readiness Program, Duke Energy identifies high-quality industrial sites and works with the site's owner, county/city officials and local economic development professionals to identify the property's current status and to develop a strategy for providing water, sewer, natural gas and electricity, necessary for the development of the properties.

"Site readiness supports communities' needs by evaluating properties and providing recommendations and a vision that are used to attract companies and jobs to the area," said Marc Hoenstine, director of economic development, Duke Energy. "This process of identifying competitive sites that are prime for development, coupled with strong workforce programs and available talent, has resulted in several successful projects throughout our six-state service area over the last 13 years."

The Levy site consists of 5,400 located in close proximity to navigable water with transmission-level power nearby and is within 5 miles of a railway. The site and neighboring area has key attributes to support timber production/processing, food processing and general manufacturing industries.

"Knowing a location's full potential for development is critical for site selection, ensuring essential infrastructure and features are in place for sought-after industry," said David Pieklik, executive director for Nature Coast Business Development Council of Levy County. "Taking a hard look at a 5,400-acre site north of Inglis – an area poised for growth – Duke Energy's Site Readiness Program will help us ensure we have everything we need for a perfect fit."

After each evaluation is completed, materials highlighting the property's attributes are used to help strategically market the sites nationwide for companies looking to expand or relocate their operations.

Duke Energy is working with two nationally recognized site selection consulting firms to evaluate the properties. O'Neal Consulting, a consulting firm in Greenville, S.C., which recently acquired the assets of McCallum Sweeney, has been instrumental in locating many high-profile headquarters and industrial relocations and expansions throughout Florida and the U.S. And most recently, Global Location Strategies, based in Greenville, S.C, is a new partner to Florida's Site Readiness Program working with manufacturing and industrial companies assisting with capital, labor, energy and water intensive project requirements. Heidt Design, a Tampa-based engineering firm will continue to support the program with buildable area studies and conceptual drawings for each site evaluation.

Duke Energy's Site Readiness Program was recog-

Drummond Community Bank to acquire Peoples State Bank

Drummond Banking Company, parent company of Drummond Community Bank, Chiefland, Florida, jointly with PSB BancGroup, Inc., parent company of Peoples State Bank, Lake City, Florida announce the signing of a definitive agreement and plan of merger. The merger, expected to be completed during the first quarter of 2019, is subject to customary conditions including the approval of the PSB BancGroup, Inc. shareholders and bank regulators. Shareholders of PSB BancGroup, Inc. will receive cash in exchange for their shares. Pricing terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

"We are excited to announce this proposed combination with Peoples State Bank. Our two community banks have made a priority of providing an excellent banking experience for our customers. Drummond Community Bank will remain firmly committed to delivering this high level of service to our newest customers," said Gray Drummond, Drummond Community Bank's Chief Executive Officer.

Drummond continued, "Some big-bank mergers result in having to meet all new faces. At Drummond Community Bank, we believe keeping that relationship with your banker is important. Growing your bank's capital strength and resources shouldn't mean shuffling people around and having to lose your trusted relationships. We plan to keep the same familiar bankers who have been serving you for many years."

In addition to this personal approach to community banking, Drummond will provide traditional insurance services through Nature Coast Insurance, a full-service multi-lines independent agency, brokerage services through Nature Coast Financial Services, and title insurance services through Banker's Title of the Nature Coast, Drummond's three wholly-owned subsidiaries. With the addition of Peoples State Bank's offices in Lake City, Fort Myers and Port Charlotte, Drummond Community Bank will operate 17 banking offices and two loan-production offices. Gray Drummond added, "Despite so many changes in banking today, we believe there will always be a time when people simply need a friend in the business to help them with financial matters, and that's who we are!"

President of Peoples State Bank, Robin Green stated, "This new partnership is a perfect fit. We could not have picked a better partner from a community-banking perspective. I am very proud of what we have accomplished at Peoples State Bank and the deep customer relationships we have built in our community. We believe that combining with Drummond Community Bank will enable us to further enhance the banking experience and capabilities we will be able to provide to our customers."

Both bankers agree this partnership provides a solid foundation to ensure that the advantages of personalized community banking, in the hands of capable local owners, remain available to all residents of the ten-county region currently served by Peoples and Drummond.

The combined bank will have assets exceeding $600 million, deposits of more than $550 million, and over $340 million in loans, with consolidated capital and reserves totaling more than $62 million.

Drummond Community Bank currently maintains a 5-Star rating from Bauer financial, a private independent rating organization who ranks the safety and soundness of financial institutions on a nationwide basis

FDA investigates cases of canine heart disease potentially linked to diet

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration's Center for Veterinary Medicine and the Veterinary Laboratory Investigation and Response Network, a collaboration of government and veterinary diagnostic laboratories, are investigating the potential association between reports of canine dilated cardiomyopathy (DCM) in dogs and certain pet foods the animals consumed, containing peas, lentils, other legume seeds or potatoes as main ingredients. Canine DCM is a disease of a dog's heart muscle and often results in congestive heart failure. In cases that are not linked to genetics, heart function may improve with appropriate veterinary treatment and dietary modification if caught early.

"We are concerned about reports of canine heart disease, known as dilated cardiomyopathy (DCM), in dogs that ate certain pet foods containing peas, lentils, other legumes or potatoes as their main ingredients. These reports are highly unusual as they are occurring in breeds not typically genetically prone to the disease," said Martine Hartogensis, D.V.M., deputy director of the FDA's Center for Veterinary Medicine's Office of Surveillance and Compliance. "The FDA is investigating the potential link between DCM and these foods. We encourage pet owners and veterinarians to report DCM cases in dogs who are not predisposed to the disease."

A genetic predisposition for DCM is typically seen in large and giant breed dogs, such as Great Danes, Newfoundlands, Irish Wolfhounds, Saint Bernards and Doberman Pinschers. The disease is less common in small and medium breed dogs, except American and English Cocker Spaniels. However, recently reported atypical cases have included Golden and Labrador Retrievers, a Whippet, a Shih Tzu, a Bulldog, and Miniature Schnauzers as well as mixed breeds. Early reports from the veterinary cardiology community indicate that the impacted dogs consistently ate foods containing peas, lentils, other legume seeds or potatoes as main ingredients in their primary source of nutrition for time periods ranging from months to years. That's why the FDA is conducting an investigation into this potential link. In the meantime, the FDA continues to recommend that changes in diet, especially for dogs with DCM, should be made in consultation with a licensed veterinary professional.

Cases of DCM in dogs suspected of having a link to diet can be reported to the FDA's electronic Safety Reporting Portal. For additional instructions, see "How to Report a Complaint about Pet Food."

As part of its investigation, the FDA has been in contact with the pet food manufacturers and the veterinary community to discuss these reports and will provide updates as more information becomes available.

The FDA, an agency within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, protects the public health by assuring the safety, effectiveness, and security of human and veterinary drugs, vaccines and other biological products for human use, and medical devices. The agency also is responsible for the safety and security of our nation's food supply, cosmetics, dietary supplements, products that give off electronic radiation, and for regulating tobacco products.

Local hunter safety courses in August

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) is offering free hunter safety internet-completion courses in Chiefland, Williston and Gainesville in August.

Students who have taken the online course and wish to complete the classroom portion must bring the online-completion report with them.

All firearms, ammunition and materials are provided free of charge. Students should bring a pen or pencil and paper. An adult must accompany children younger than 16 at all times.

Anyone born on or after June 1, 1975, must pass an approved hunter safety course and have a hunting license to hunt alone (unsupervised). The FWC course satisfies hunter-safety training requirements for all other states and Canadian provinces.

The course dates and locations are: Chiefland, Aug. 12, from 2 p.m. until complete; Williston, Aug. 26, 3 to 7 p.m.; Gainesville, Aug. 4 and Aug. 8, 8 a.m. until complete. There is also a course in Mayo on Aug. 18 at 8 a.m.

The specific locations for these classes will be given to those who register in advance. Those interested in attending a course can register online and obtain information about future hunter safety classes at MyFWC.com/HunterSafety or by calling the FWC's Regional Office in Lake City at 386-758-0525.

Dunn named to Farm Bill Conference Committee

WASHINGTON, DC – Today, Dr. Neal Dunn (FL-02), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, was appointed to the House-Senate conference committee charged with resolving the differences over the 2018 Farm.

"I am honored to represent our farmers in Florida and the Second District on the bicameral Farm Bill Conference Committee," said Dr. Dunn. "We all depend on a thriving agriculture industry and we need to ensure that this Farm Bill works for all of our producers. Agriculture is a risky business, and while Congress can't control the weather, we can create a climate of sound, consistent farm policy to help farmers and ranchers manage risks as they produce affordable, safe and abundant food and fiber. I look forward to working with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to produce legislation that will give our farmers, ranchers, and forresters a sense of certainty."

"Today, we move one step closer to delivering a strong, new farm bill to the president's desk on time as he has called on Congress to do. America's farmers and ranchers and rural America are struggling right now and they deserve the certainty of a strong farm bill to see them through to better times. The House has pulled together a solid team of conferees – including Rep. Dunn. I'm looking forward to working with Neal, who has been a strong voice for agriculture through this process, and the rest of our House and Senate colleagues to reach a final product that helps millions of low-income Americans climb the economic ladder, while standing by our nation's hard-working farm and ranch families," said House Agriculture Committee Chairman Mike Conaway (TX-11).

The conference committee is composed of members of the House and Senate, and is responsible for reconciling differences in the Farm Bill that has passed the two chambers of Congress. In the coming months, the conference committee will report a final bill that the Senate and the House must adopt and send to the President's desk for his signature.

Apple fritter: The fruit of my choice

Out to Pastor

James Snyder

Our country, so it seems, runs on choice. The more choices we have, the better we like it.

Most people in America pride themselves on the ability to make their own choices.

"Freedom of Choice," is the cry you hear all around our country these days. Yet, most people do not have the freedom of choice they think they have. Somebody is influencing the choices they make without them realizing they are being influenced.

That is called marketing.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I were watching television the other night, trying to watch a favorite TV program. Finally, from an end of the room that was not my end, came an exasperated sigh. I tried to ignore it, but you know how that works.

The exasperation seemed to accelerate and I knew that if I did not acknowledge it in some way, well, I think you know what would happen.

It was in the middle of some commercial and so I turned to her and said, "What's got you in such pain tonight?" At her age, I did not know if there was some medical something or other going on.

"These commercials," she moaned so painfully, "I can't stand all these commercials!"

I must say I was a little bummed out about all the commercials myself. I think every one-hour program is devoted to 30 minutes of commercials. Most of those commercials are for things I have no interest in. Or, they are played at a very inappropriate time.

It never fails if we are having our supper while watching television, there are 79 commercials for diarrhea. Is this really a major problem in our country today?

Getting back to my wife and the commercials, I responded as cheerfully as I could, "Well, my dear, somebody has to pay for our television viewing privilege."

I felt a cold yet burning stare in my direction.

"Can't they run those lousy commercials when I'm not watching TV?"

Someone once said that silence is Golden and right then I cultivated a golden moment.

Commercials are a way in which manufacturing companies influence our choices. Every product has 100 different companies marketing the same product. I have not done too much research, but the little I have done, I discovered that the same company makes the same product but sells it under a different name.

There are two categories of products. There is the name brand, which costs a fortune. Then there is the generic brand, which is only a fraction of what the name brand costs. It is the same product, made by the same company, but advertised by difference venues.

This is where choice comes in.

Some people choose the high-priced product because they think it is better.

Some of us choose the low-price product because we know better.

One night as we were watching television, it seemed most of the commercials had to do with dieting of some kind. There were high calorie diets, low-carb diets and diets that really did not make sense to me.

Watching all of those dieting commercials, I did not see one that I would diet for.

Every one of those commercials assumes everybody watching wants to lose 297 pounds. Personally, I have lost the same 5 pounds for over 30 years. I lose 5 pounds and then by golly, three weeks later I find those 5 pounds, at least they recognize me.

Anybody can lose weight; it is all a matter of choice. Personally, I do not plan to lose any sleep because I cannot lose weight. I think it is going to be rather funny if when we go to heaven everybody is fat. Wouldn't that be something? We plummet ourselves almost to death trying to lose weight and get to heaven and everybody is fat.

It all boils down to choice. It all boils down to the fact that most people think they are making their own choices.

Those of us who are on the husband side of the marital equation know we do not make our own choices. Our choices are made for us by our "better half." Why do you think we get married?

My wife is a great one for fruit and vegetables. Every day of our life is fruit and vegetables. To mix things up a little bit one day it will be vegetables and fruit.

She prepares the fruit and then invites me to make a choice. I am sure she did not see all of this in any television commercial; at least I hope she hasn't. She is proud of the display of fruit choices she has for me.

She is also concerned about my diet. Much more than I am. I do not think my diet is so important that both of us should be concerned about it. If she chooses to be concerned about my diet, that is her choice.

I choose to be a little more cavalier when it comes to dieting.

Actually, and do not tell her I said this, but my fruit of choice is the humble Apple fritter. It has everything my heart desires and a few things my body desires, too.

I like with David said, "Delight thyself also in the LORD; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart" (Psalms 37:4 KJV).

It is all a matter of choice, that is, making the right choice.

Superstitions

Outdoor Truths

Gary Miller

For I can do everything through Christ, who gives me strength. (Phil 4:13 NLT)

Son, each sport has its own unique skills that it takes to perform. The best athletes are gifted with a special ability and with a love for their particular sport. These things can only come from God. For these athletes to become the best, they have had to spend their whole life mastering just one thing. Whether they win or not is also in the hands of God and in their own willingness to train.

That is one reason I don't like seeing ball players holding on to superstitions.

Baseball players have plenty of them. They might only wear a certain hat on game day or refuse to step on a base line. Other sports have players that will only eat certain things on the day of the game or may only wear certain colors.

These are all superstitions.

Superstition is putting faith in some object that you believe has some magical power over an outcome. For instance, when a baseball pitcher refuses to step on the white base line, he is saying he believes if he steps on that line something bad will happen. When he does this, he does two things. First, he lessens the value of all the time and work he has put in to become great. And secondly, he makes these his god. The Bible calls this idolatry and one form of idolatry is making an object a god that you pray to or put faith in.

As a Christian, you must only put your faith for any outcome in the hands of God and in your own desire to be the best. Nothing else matters. Nothing else will determine the outcome of anything in life. That doesn't mean that you will be able to understand everything and that strange things won't happen, but it simply means that you must always remember God is in control. Our verse today says it all. You and God need nothing else.

Prayer: "Father, teach my son to depend only upon You."

4 Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. 5 It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. 6 Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. 7 It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. 8 Love never fails. But where there are prophecies, they will cease; where there are tongues, they will be stilled; where there is knowledge, it will pass away.

Log Cabin Quilters

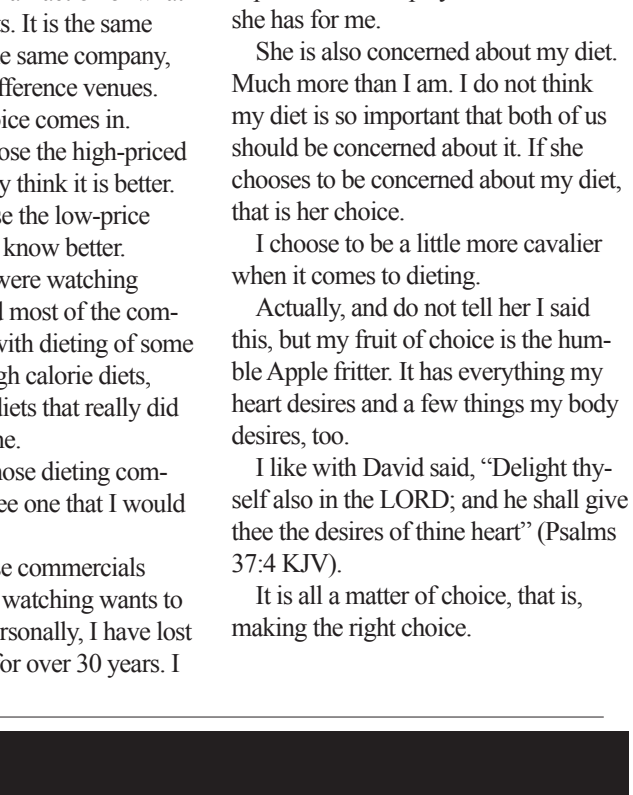
Quilters acquire antique toy sewer

The Log Cabin Quilters met Thursday, July 19, at the Levy County Quilt Museum. Ann and Hildreth worked on the quilt in the frame so hopefully they will be able to start a new quilt next week. Evelyn was working on the Dresden Plate pillow cover.

John and the guys from Lancaster were out. They worked very hard in the morning getting the flowers trimmed back and the grass mowed, then the afternoon rains hit. Thanks for your help.

On July 21, Aggie from Old Town donated a toy Singer sewing machine. A family friend bought it in 1940 which makes it 78 years old. It is a hand crank machine that works. As a 12-year-old, Aggie was able to stitch a few things together. It's all metal and needs a little TLC before we can sew with it. Thanks, Aggie, for thinking of us.

August is almost here, which means the Backyard Pickers will be here soon and school will be in session. Where did the summer go?



Our newest machine, a 78-year-old Singer. Aggie was very happy to learn how it worked. We›re enjoying it at the Levy County Quilt Museum.

challenges of raising revenues in a county like Levy, where there's a lack of higher-income housing and almost half of the homes are exempt from paying ad valorem to the county due to the Homestead exemption. Reed said the county needs to find a way to attract more economic growth.

He was critical of the County's handling last year of changes to employee's family insurance plans, but said the Commission did the best it could this year with the plans available.

"Do I have all the financial answers this county is facing? No. "But it didn't just get this way. You have to watch it daily. Times are good economically. Now it's time to take advantage of that economy.

"Where's the money going to come from? We find money for things we want. It can be found, it's there."

Reed said he plans to stay involved with the community, regardless if he wins or not.

"I live a good life and I'm thankful for the things I have," he said. "And it's came from this community."

Pet of the Week

Carter is our Pet of the Week. He is a handsome and young male Cur, red and white in color and approximately 1 1/2 years old. Carter is healthy, friendly and very adoptable. We found him as a "stray" in Bronson on July 13; and he would like to change that title with his own family and home. He'll be with you outside playing together or going for walks and inside watching TV with you – an all-around companion and friend. He has a name that is "going places", and the first place he wants to go is home with you. Contact Levy County Animal Services at 352-486-5138.

Little pantry, big act

Photos by C.L. Watson/For the Citizen

The 24-hour Little Free Pantry at the Tri-County Community Resource Center in Chiefland.

Citizen Correspondent

Tri-County Community Resource Center in Chiefland received a Little Free Pantry by donation. Norinda Yancy, Director of Community Impact with United Way and Vice-Chair of Tri-County Community Resources, Inc. facilitated placement of the pantry.

Little Free Pantries have popped up all over the county, inspiring neighbors to help neighbors address food insecurities in their communities. The pantry is open 24/7 with no qualifications to receive food or hygiene products. Donors may place in the pantry unopened, unexpired non-perishable food (canned vegetables and proteins, crackers, granola bars), personal care items, paper goods, children's items (school supplies, etc).

Jessica McClard from Fayetteville, Arkansas was inspired by a book share mini library to create Little Free Pantry in May 2016 to address hunger and poverty at the local level. The website littlefreepantry.org offers plans to recreate a wooden pantry along with a list of non perishable items to place inside. McClard's philanthropy suggests, while the single Little Free Pantry is "little," lots of Little Free Pantries might be big. Duplicate freely.

BMHS Eagles welcomes new principal; Timothy McCarthy succeeds Gary Masters

Brooklyn Taylor
Bronson sophomore

As Bronson Middle High School's summer comes to a close, the school welcomes a new principal, Mr. Timothy McCarthy.

Mr. Mccarthy, who attended both the University of Florida and Florida State, has been an assistant principal at many schools, including Williston Middle High School, North Marion High School, Lake Weir High School and Liberty Middle School. He looks forward to building a relationship with Bronson staff, students and parents of students.

When asked how he'll empower teacher to become leaders, Mr. McCarthy answered, "Teachers are the backbone to any school and have extremely challenging jobs. I will support them and ask that they engage each student with the standards of their individual classes in a way that allows students and families to get the most out of their time at BMHS."

"When I see a student, I see greatness," McCarthy began when asked how he would build on the strengths of BMHS. "My job is to ensure a safe and positive environment where each student can improve and succeed and be able to help themselves and their families."

When asked about his intentions for BMHS and what made him want to become its principal, McCarthy replied, "My intentions are to work with staff to graduate all of our students prepared to either enter the workforce and/or continue their education. Also, this has always been a dream job for me and when it miraculously became available I had to give it a shot. I am super grateful for the opportunity to build relationships with the students, staff and families of the Bronson Middle High School community."

While considering a scenario in which teachers feel they aren't receiving administrative support, McCarthy said, "I think communication is the key to success as a school," adding, "My plan is to increase the school's involvement with the community by planning to meet and talk with as many students, staff and families as possible and listen to them."

As a guy who loves to fish, eat, worship, and spend time with family, he describes his leadership style as "working with all staff members to help our students make continuous learning gains in all areas."

Bronson students are happy to welcome Mr. McCarthy to the Eagle family and can't wait to work with him this school year.

There's a Monster in My Closet musical opens with a success

Lori Prevatt
Citizen correspondent

Before a capicity crowd on July 21, the Community Playhouse in Chiefland hostedits opening night for its summer musical, "There's a Monster in my Closet."

The show includes a cast of around 28, completely made up of children with the exception of one adult.

The story begins when a teenage girl, Emily, begins to investigate noises she hears in her closet. Emily then discovers she has a monster in her closet! To find out the ending of the story you need to attend one of the shows this weekend.

There will be two evening shows on July 27 and July 28, beginning at 7 p.m. The final show will be July 29 at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $12 per adult and $8 per child (children under 3 are free). Tickets can be purchased online dramafreeproductions.com or at the door prior to the shows.

The Thai Cave rescue - What's your takeaway?

Bob Denny

Just Thinking

The dramatic Thai cave rescue of that teen soccer team: It may turn out to be the most involved, stirring, emotional single event the world sees in 2018. Maybe even this decade.

It was probably some of the best coverage of a dramatic, real-life, cliff-hanging event that kept the world holding its breath for 19 days! I followed the news closely, my attention hanging on the crisis as it unfolded. The team was missing 11 days before they were found in the cave, 2 ½ miles into the cavern, and about half a mile down, with several flooded passages blocking their escape. Over 100 divers risked their lives for days during the eight-day rescue process, with one of these heroes losing his life in the dark murky water.

In the days that have passed, and we can begin to appreciate the long view. The experts have admitted that they expected a tragic ending, but the world came together with help, concern, and prayers. In retrospect, "in the light of day" (pun intended), the true meaning of this event begins to clear up. So many of us set aside our everyday concerns and priorities so we could keep up with news clips and press conferences. Looking back, I remember all the powerful feelings and emotions I felt. I felt the high danger the team and their coach must have felt. I felt some of the fears as well as the hopes as if they were next door neighbors, not halfway around the world. I was awed by the courage and positive attitudes and actions the boys and their coach accomplished, surviving for those long dark days with minimal food, and what little fresh drinkable water seeped through the cave walls. The rescuers performed some of the most skilled and dangerous cave diving the world has ever seen, always working against the clock and the danger, as monsoon rains slowly made the rescue more dangerous.

Like every experience or every situation in life, we're presented with challenging situations and events, usually when we least expect them. I think it's not what happens to you in life; but what you do to respond to it. It's not that you fall down, but how you get back up. What lessons and principles can we learn from the Thai cave rescues? I'm amazed at the courage that the boys and their coach showed throughout the ordeal, and the courage and determination that the divers, rescue teams, volunteers, and the parents showed all along. I see the world coming together as one caring team, in spite of any cultural, national, or religious differences. The coach had studied in a Buddhist monastery, and had developed faith, hope, and strength, which he shared with the boys. Can you imagine being doctors, who risked their lives cave diving, to bring first responder care to the trapped team? Did you feel some of those claustrophobic feelings, or fears of drowning, along with them? Did you imagine how it would be not seeing daylight, only cave darkness, during the 19 days before all 13 were successfully rescued?

We can learn something from everything that happens to us in life; the situations that life presents us with, and the events we face every day. Let's take full advantage of this opportunity. Looking back, what have you learned or grown from, as you lived through this incredible story? Please take a moment or two to reflect and appreciate how we can all be a little better as a result of this opportunity that life has presented us with. What's your takeaway? How has it touched you? Please share your feelings or ideas. You can call me, write me, or email me with your comments you'd like to share with all of us…anonymously if you want.

Heat waves, dust storms and summer of 34

Margaret McDowell

Arbor Outlook

"Old man depression, you are through, you done us wrong..."
"We're in the Money" as performed in the film "Gold Diggers"
In the summer of 1934, the entire country was sweltering with record heat and suffering on multiple weather fronts. Three years of dust storms had culminated on an April Sunday when the country was hit by the worst dust storm in history. Dust bowl conditions prevailed from Minnesota to Texas, and food production declined significantly.

That summer saw 29 consecutive days with temperatures hovering in triple digits. By year's end, 75% of the country was suffering from drought conditions. In north Texas, the cicadas were too thirsty to chirp. Americans were dying from both heat and hunger. In an attempt to bring relief to working class farmers, Congress passed the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, which raised taxes on 900 imports. But the import tariffs caused an international trade war and the global economy hit a wall. The Great Depression then picked up speed and spread beyond our borders.

What many may not remember is that before Smoot-Hawley, there was a tentative economic recovery afoot and unemployment numbers had temporarily leveled. The Tariff Act helped negate the fledgling recovery and thrust the U.S. and the world further into depression.

Tariff costs are almost always passed on to consumers. Makers of cars, appliances, and other products, when hit with tariffs, will often simply tack on that cost to consumers. The U.S. recently imposed 20% tariffs on the first 1.2 million washing machines imported this year. After that, there's a 50% tariff on machines, which is expected to take effect sometime in the fall; the United States imports over 3 million washing machines a year. The result? Between February and May of this year prices rose 16.4%, the largest three month increase in prices ever.

Washing machine sales are a small part of the overall economy. If the tariff talk stops here, consumers would hardly notice. But investors rightfully fear what could be next.

For example, if automobiles, which are a much larger chunk of U.S. GDP, are tariffed at that same 20% rate, it would likely raise the price of a new car by at least $5,000. This would hit a major domestic industry hard at a time when sales are flagging.

These price increases will likely show up full force in the CPI data later this year and early next year, just as the corporate sugar high from the recent tax cuts is starting to wear off. Beyond the headlines, what worries me most as an investor is that this will almost certainly speed up inflation data at a time when the Federal Reserve has a hair trigger and is primed to raise interest rates. Raising rates into an already slowing economy tends to equal downturns. Rinse and repeat if you dare.

When Levy County's report card grade of C equals 52%

By Jerry Lawrence

The recent Levy County newspaper article "School district retains C grade" is misleading and leaves the citizens of Levy County with a false sense of accomplishment. The article title leaves readers to conclude that Levy County is doing a satisfactory job compared with other Florida counties. Further in the article, readers come across the line: "The district is two percentage points from a B." At this point, it would be logical for readers to conclude that not only is Levy County doing a satisfactory job, but as we are also two percentage points away from a B, we are obviously doing a better than satisfactory job in preparing our students.

For you and me, and for the students who take home report cards and for the parents who ask to see their children's report cards, a letter of A = 90 to 100, B = 80 to 89, C = 70 to 79, D = 60 to 69, and F = 0 to 59. On the other hand, the Florida Board of Education equates an A at 62% or higher, B = 54 to 61, C = 41 to 53, D = 32 to 40, and F = 31 or less.

In our minds, when we are told that Levy County is a C district and that we are two percentage points away from a B, we think that our grade is a 78, when actually Levy County's letter grade of a C equates to a numerical score of 52%.

This year, 2018, Levy County, at 57 out of 67 counties, is ranked 11th from the bottom of Florida counties. Only 10 counties do a poorer job than Levy County of preparing students for their future.

Our students need our help. Please decide what you can do this upcoming school year to support our schools and students.

This Saturday, July 28, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., the Citizens for an Engaged Electorate and Williston Area AARP are sponsoring a candidates' forum at the Williston Middle High School Cafetorium. Along with a number of other candidates, there are two candidates in the running for the District 5 School Board seat. Come and become informed about the candidates and about their ideas to help all of our students to have a successful new year.

Jerry Lawrence is a social studies educator at Chiefland Middle High School.

Thank God for cool springs

Summer in North Florida can be brutal. Working outside during 90+ degree days is utterly draining. Just six hours spent landscaping and mowing on a recent Saturday made me feel like I was 150 years old. I admire the many working folks who endure long days in Florida's intense sun and humidity. But why do those who have a choice continue to live here and why do more people move to Florida each day?

Visit the new Gilchrist Blue Springs State Park and if you can get in, you will see what your neighbors do to tolerate the summer heat. They spend the day in the springs. Our springs are 72 degrees year-round. Take a dip or a long soak in Blue Spring and you will feel clean and refreshed on the hottest day global warming can throw at you. Stay in the water for a few hours snorkeling, swimming, or playing and your core temperature will be so low you will turn off the air conditioner when you get home. When the Gainesville Sun ran a poll several years ago to see what summer outdoor activity Gainesvillians prefer, visiting the springs was the number one answer. When the University of Florida investigated the value of the area's springs to the local economy they found a direct return of more than $90 million annually with more than one million visits and 1,100 jobs supported.

Our quality of life is supported by healthy, flowing, unpolluted springs. Stand on Main Street or US 27 in High Springs and count the number of cars with kayaks, canoes, and tubes strapped to the top. Visit the Great Outdoors restaurant or the Springs Diner and soak up the conversations around you. Vacationers, cave divers, tubers, campers, and nature lovers are all converging on this rural "Gateway to the Springs". The economic future of High Springs is dependent on the ecologic future of springs because "Healthy Springs = Healthy Economy".

Unfortunately, the corollary is also true: Unhealthy Springs = Unhealthy Economy. With the establishment of the Florida Springs Initiative by Governor Jeb Bush in 1999 and the founding of the Florida Springs Institute in 2010, Florida's unique assemblage of large springs has come to the attention of millions of people in Florida. Mention the plight of Florida's rivers, estuaries, and beaches and the springs are now included. Bemoan the degradation of the Everglades and the Apalachicola River/Estuary, and more and more people include the demise of our springs in the same breath.

Just look at what is happening again this summer to the St. Lucie and Caloosahatchee rivers in South Florida, and to the Indian River Lagoon and the coastal estuaries. You will see what government's environmental neglect and inaction in the face of political pressure can do to a former robust economy.

You don't need to look to South Florida to see horrific effects of lax enforcement of environmental laws. Just go to the Springs Eternal Project website and look for the YouTube video: Florida Springs: Paradise Found or Legacy Lost? John Moran, Lesley Gable, and Rick Kilby illustrate the transition from springs of unparalleled beauty to polluted and depleted springs due to Florida's uncontrolled population expansion. Lost are the crystalline water clarity, healthy native submerged vegetation, and abundant fish and other wildlife that once made springs so famous.

If you are concerned about what you see in John Moran's before and after springs photos, the Springs Eternal Project website will help you act. Vote for political candidates who are truly strong on enforcing environmental laws. Do not vote for those politicians who receive contributions from Big Business and Big Ag. Demand better service from your paid state environmental agency employees who are responsible for springs protection. Adopt your own water ethic and make changes in your life to use less water inside and outside. Say "NO" to using fertilizer and groundwater on your lawn. Join and become active with your local springs advocacy group. Visit your favorite springs and learn more about how they are changing and what steps need to be taken to restore them to their historic health.

It is hot outside. Take a dip in a spring to get in touch with your goose bumps!

Dr. Bob Knight is Director of the Howard T. Odum Florida Springs Institute with offices in High Springs at the North Florida Springs Environmental Center.

UF Ag & Bio Engineering chair can't be confined to a cube

By Brad Buck
bradbuck@ufl.edu

As she grew up in rural Arkansas, Kati Migliaccio's interest in agricultural engineering came naturally. She liked math, science and problem solving, so she wanted an engineering career, but not one that confined her to an office or lab.

"I wanted a career that involved engineering, with an outdoor component," said Migliaccio, who was recently named chair of the agricultural and biological engineering department at the UF Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences. "My professional interests were focused on landscapes and not just from an office cube perspective. The desire to be an engineer of outdoor systems and my interest in water conservation led me to agricultural engineering."

In her new role, Migliaccio envisions faculty soaring to new heights in their efforts to ensure an ample supply of safe food around the world while preserving water and energy.

Migliaccio was named to lead the department by Jack Payne, UF senior vice president for agriculture and natural resources.

"Dr. Migliaccio's wealth of success in teaching, research and Extension brought her to the top of a list of highly qualified candidates for this critical position," Payne said. "I'm confident Dr. Migliaccio can guide faculty to help solve issues ranging from feeding the hungry to conserving water."

Migliaccio said she is honored by the appointment.

"I am excited to get started as chair," Migliaccio said. "The department has a long, established reputation and internationally recognized faculty who provide a foundation for unlimited innovation."

Migliaccio starts Aug. 1 and replaces Dorota Haman, who recently retired as chair. Rafael Muñoz-Carpena, also a professor in the agricultural and biological engineering department, served as interim chair after Haman retired.

Migliaccio earned her Ph.D. in biological and agricultural engineering at the University of Arkansas. She received her master's in biosystems and agricultural engineering from the University of Kentucky and a bachelor's in agricultural engineering from Texas A&M. She specializes in water conservation, hydrology, and irrigation in agricultural, natural, and urban systems.

Migliaccio sees many strengths on which the department can build:

- Award-winning faculty and graduate students.
- The Decision Support System for Agrotechnology Transfer, the most widely used global crop-modeling system.
- Two undergraduate minors -- precision agriculture and packaging science -- that reflect faculty expertise.
- Home to the Biological Systems Modeling Graduate Certificate, which showcases the biological modeling strengths of the department.
- A combination of two undergraduate degree programs: Agricultural operations management in the UF/IFAS College of Agricultural and Life Sciences and biological engineering in UF's Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering.
- Strong international presence with activities in Costa Rica, Brazil, Kenya, Vietnam, Netherlands, Mozambique and South Africa, among other nations.
- Several faculty fellows of the American Society of Agricultural and Biological Engineers and international recognized researchers.
- Collaborations with the UF Water Institute, UF Climate Institute as well as multidisciplinary UF/IFAS centers such as the Center for Landscape Ecology and Conservation, Program for Resource Efficient Communities and the Center for Stress Resilient Agriculture.

Migliaccio sees some areas where she can help the department improve.

"I will facilitate growth and development of the department's curriculum, considering work force needs and new innovations in the discipline," she said. For example, she would like to see more education in new technology to position graduates to be successful in the work force.

Long term, she'd like faculty to continue to serve as leaders in their disciplines, to have established and coordinated relationships with industry partners and to increase undergraduate enrollment.

"This point in history, in particular, needs the expertise of agricultural and biological engineers to contribute -- through innovation -- solutions for issues facing us locally as well as globally, such as water scarcity, food security, climate change, energy sustainability and more," Migliaccio said.

CF graduates outstanding group of Timber equipment students

Lori Prevatt
Special to the Beacon

The College of Central Florida, Levy Center, held a ceremony July 19 for individuals who completed the eight-week Timber Harvesting Equipment Program this summer.

Five students received their certificates of completion for the course: Ronald Henry, Jacob Mercer, Lane Montes, Thomas North and Dalton Philman.

Course instructor Bryan Olmert had many compliments to share about his students.

"None of the students were ever late to class or missed a day of class, and class started at 6:30 a.m.," Olmert said. "One of my students drove all the way from St. Augustine and he made it on time every day.

"They enjoyed what they were doing and did not complain. They produced about 10 loads of wood during their field time. They have a good understanding of all three pieces of equipment. They picked up little techniques that some generally don't pick up right away."

All of the students have plans to work in the timber harvesting field except for the oldest student, Henry, who already works in the Timber industry.

Holly McGlashan, the Levy Center Provost, shared details about the program, which is in its second year. "Five weeks are in the classroom and the last three weeks are spent training on equipment in Goethe State Forest. There is feller buncher, skidder and loader training.

McGlashan said Ken and Lynetta Griner, of Usher Land and Timber, played a key role in initiating the program. According to McGlashan, the Griner's shared much of their own time and expertise speaking to the class, in addition to helping fund the program.

The curriculum for the class was written by the late Gary Beauchamp, who passed away battling cancer in May of 2018.

McGlashan added, "This program is completely grant funded and free of charge to the students. They receive their Master Logger Certification, OSHA safety training and CPR training."

Earlier on the day of the ceremony, Leah Gamble, Manager of Instructional Services, was the guest speaker at the Suwannee Valley Rotary Club, where she noted that the Levy Center is the only CF campus with a Timber Harvesting Program and GED program.

"The College of Central Florida is ranked the 17th best community college in the nation and fifth in the state," Gamble said. "All Levy graduates qualify for a $1,000 scholarship if they start college in the fall."

She also said CF is directly connected to the University of South Florida and the University of Central Florida, guaranteeing transfer for students completing their associate's degrees at CF. Students can complete their whole A.A. Degree coursework on the Levy Campus.

Gamble added that students can also complete prerequisite courses for programs, such as nursing.

"Levy CF is also unique because of the welding program," Gamble said. "The Welding program has been going on about six years.

CF also offers EMT and paramedic programs in addition to nine different bachelor's programs, including Applied Science in Business and Organizational Management; Agribusiness Specialization; Equine Studies Specialization; Management Information Systems Specialization; Healthcare Management Specialization; Public Safety Administration Specialization; Logistics and Supply Chain Management; Early Childhood Education; Registered Nurse and Bachelor of Science in Nursing.

Gamble concluded by highlighting the Levy staff's and her own dedication to students.

"I love to help students overcome obstacles and barriers," she said. "I love my job. I always have a smile on my face."

Bronson vocalists meet in regional finals

It will be a weekend to remember in Live Oak for a couple of Bronson natives at The Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park (SOSMP) July 27 and 28, when 12 of the best country artists selected in three Country Showdown preliminaries will compete for just one act to move on Friday night.

Friday, July 27, will kick off the weekend with the Regional Final for the nation's longest running country music talent search, Country Showdown. Only one act will win July 27 and move to the Southeast Semifinal Oct. 6 at the SOSMP.

Reginald Stacy, of Bronson, and Sarah Trimm, formerly of Bronson, now Live Oak, are among the 12 preliminary winners competing July 27. They join: Amanda Gilbert (Valdosta, Ga.); Sondra Hunt Band (Lake Butler); Katie Ondrejicka (Jacksonville); Sadie Miller (Branford); Juna N Joey (Palm Beach); Stephen Quinn (Jacksonville); M.T. Miller (Daytona); Cameron Crouch (Panama City, formerly of Muscle Shoals, Ala.); Abigail Carpenter (Macclenny) and Kevin Thompson aka "El Pappi," (Dothan, Ala.).

Admission to the Showdown is free. The Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park and Live Oak's WQHL 98.1 Today's Best Country co-sponsor the local Country Showdown preliminaries and Regional Final. WQHL DJ Scott Berns is the preliminary and Regional Final emcee for this event.

The SOSMP has sent four acts to the Nashville finals from its stages since 2008 – Johnny Bulford (won the 2008 nationals), Highway 238, Nate Kenyon and Tyler Braden. The SOSMP's stages have also sent one of our long-time Country Showdown competing artists, Nalani Quintello, to America by way of American Idol's top 24 and who is now the lead singer for the US Air Force's rock band, Max Impact.

Saturday night, July 28, features The Alter Eagles' Definitive Eagles Tribute Band with all your favorite Eagles' songs. Tickets are $15 per person and available in advance at the SOSMP main office or at the door.

Doors to the Music Hall open for dinner Friday at 6 p.m. with a prime rib special, competition begins at 7 p.m. Reservations suggested. You may call the SOS Café at 386-362-1703 only on Thursday – Friday this week for Friday night reservations. Doors open Saturday night at 6 p.m. with specials posted at the door.

If you just need additional info or Eagle's tickets, please call the SOSMP at 386-364-1683, email spirit@musicliveshere.com or go to www.musicliveshere.com. The SOSMP is located 4.5 miles south of Interstate 75 and 4.5 miles north of Interstate 10 at the beautiful Suwannee River off US 129 at 3076 95th Drive in Live Oak.

Manatee Springs State Park

Editor's note: This is the next in a series on outdoor water activities available in northwest Florida.

The first spring to become a Florida State Park, Manatee Springs offers a little for everyone, whether you're looking to canoe and kayak down its quarter-mile spring run that links to the Suwannee River, scuba dive an aquatic cave system that's one of the longest in North America, cool off with a swim, camp overnight, or snap some photos of the surrounding rich wildlife and vegetation.

The first-magnitude spring at Manatee Springs State Park is one of Florida's largest freshwater springs and often functions as a refuge for West Indian manatees during the cooler months of the year. The area was settled more than 7,000 years ago, and was a subject of study in 1774 for naturalist explorer William Bartram, who coined its name.

A concessionaire is on site for kayak, canoe and stand-up paddle board rentals as well as BBQ, and picnic pavilions and campsites are available for rent. A boardwalk lines the bank of the spring run, and 8.5 miles of winding trails for walking and bicycling traverse just north of the spring area, where there are also interpretive seasonal programs, such as the annual Clay Landing Days on Thanksgiving weekend.

Epic End of Summer Bash

The First United Methodist Church of Chiefland will host a Community-wide event called the "Epic End of Summer Bash." The event is Saturday, July 28, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

We will give away about 720 backpacks and hygiene kits for prekindergarten to high school students throughout the Levy, Dixie, and Gilchrist counties. The items will be available on a first-come, first-serve basis and the children must be present to receive the supplies. Also, through donations from the community, we will provide a bounce house, water slide, obstacle course, food, drinks and small door prizes.

We will be honored if you or your organization would join us by setting up a booth to provide information on your services and a kid-friendly item such as school supplies, stickers, healthy treat, etc. Or, you might consider volunteering to help with the event itself. If you are unable to attend and would like to add an item to the backpacks, please let us know what you would like to provide and have that item delivered to the church no later than July 5. (Any perishable foods should be delivered on the morning of the event.)

All booths must be set up, and vehicles moved to exhibitor parking no later than 8:30 a.m. All booths may be taken down at noon. Booth space is on a "first come-first serve" basis unless you have special needs such as electricity or a larger area. There will be no space available under the pavilion this year as those spaces are designated.

Free movie night

The movie "I Can Only Imagine" starring Dennis Quaid and J. Michael Finley, will be shown at the Lighthouse Word Church on Sunday, July 29th at 6:30 pm. The Lighthouse is located at 2414 NW Hwy Alt 27 in Chiefland. There is no charge for the movie or refreshments, but we encourage you to come at 6:00 for a good seat and to get popcorn and a drink. A nursery will be provided.

NASCAR THIS WEEK

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

More impressed with Kevin Harvick or Aric Almirola?
GODSPEAK: Considering his age, give me Harvick. At 42, he knows there won't be many more seasons like this. Making hay while the sun is shining.
KEN'S CALL: Almirola's performance this year tells you how much of a difference equipment plays. It also tells you that Danica simply wasn't built for stock-car racin'.

Pocono again this week? Is it time to make Pocono a once-a-year stop?
GODSPEAK: When all the contracts (next TV deal) are renewed in 2025, Pocono may be a one-stop Cup Series track with an extra ARCA race.
KEN'S CALL: Absolutely. Especially if it brings a date (or second date) to a great venue ... or shortens the season.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

KYLE BUSCH VS. KEVIN HARVICK: Busch had the lead, but the handling of his No. 18 Toyota was fading. Harvick was faster in his No. 4 Ford, tapped him out of the way and took the checkered flag.
GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE: This "Big 3" deal just got more interesting. After the race, Busch leaned on his car and said of the bump-and-run, "How you race is how you get raced."

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR POCONO

WINNER: Kevin Harvick
REST OF TOP 5: Kyle Busch, Martin Truex Jr., Chase Elliott, Kyle Larson
FIRST ONE OUT: Ty Dillon
DARK HORSE: Denny Hamlin
DON'T BE SURPRISED IF: Harvick continues with his season trend of winning consecutive races.

POCONO
THREE THINGS TO WATCH

Not long ago, Martin Truex Jr. celebrated with a burnout after winning June's Pocono Raceway Cup race. [AP/DERIK HAMILTON]

1. Pocono déjà vu

If it seems like the Cup Series was just at Pocono Raceway, you are not going bananas. NASCAR held an event there on June 3, and six races later, they are back in the mountain region of Pennsylvania. The "Tricky Triangle" has long been the track with two Cup race dates closest together. This tradition started in 1982 when Bobby Allison swept both races that season.

2. Charlotte crashes

The Charlotte road-course race later this season should be interesting. Several drivers crashed heavily (as they say in sports-car racing) after an open test on the officially dubbed and trademarked ROVAL (road course/oval). The track will use the road course for its Sept. 30 Cup Series playoff race. William Byron got the worst of it. His No. 24 Hendrick Motorsports Chevrolet failed to make the hard left turn off the oval and slammed into a temporary tire barrier.

3. Silly season?

It's getting to that time of year when rumors start flying about the status of teams, drivers and sponsors for the next season of competition. Kurt Busch has started talking about his lack of a contract with Stewart-Haas Racing in 2019. Meanwhile, Jimmie Johnson will lose his primary sponsor Lowe's after 2018 runs its course, and 5-hour Energy won't be back next year with Martin Truex Jr. All of this news is not so silly.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. Few leftovers

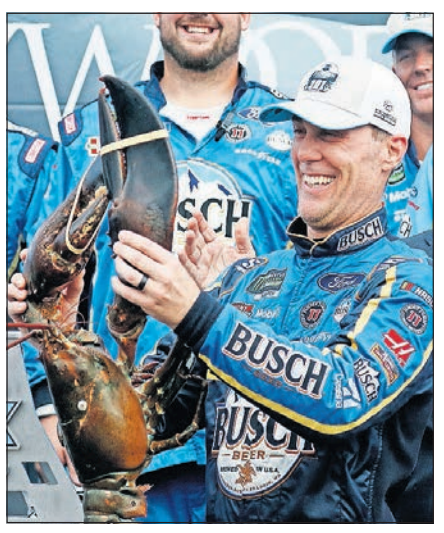
As many as 40 stock cars can start a Cup Series race, but only three drivers are winning, and so the "Big 3" is alive and well. Through 20 races, Kevin Harvick, Kyle Busch and Martin Truex Jr. have won 15 of them. Harvick and Busch have finished 1-2 four times this season.

2. Denny's deal

Denny Hamlin has the feel of that guy paddling harder but going slower in the rowboat. He finished 13th at New Hampshire. "(The car) just would not turn," he said. "I think our cars have speed, we just have to do the best to get our setup on there that we can be aggressive with."

3. Head to head

In their head-to-head statistical comparison in the No. 6 Roush Fenway Racing Ford, Trevor Bayne has scored the best finish this season. He was 12th at Texas. Matt Kenseth's best finish was 13th at Pocono.



Kevin Harvick is all smiles as he holds up a large lobster in Victory Lane after winning Sunday's race at New Hampshire. [AP/MARY SCHWALM]

Kenseth was 15th at New Hampshire, with Pocono 2 on deck.

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

Thumbs-up for Kyle Busch after New Hampshire runner-up?

A slightly hesitant thumbs-up, but a thumbs-up nonetheless. Kyle generally seems OK with rough-and-tumble racing whenever he turns out on top, but he's not always fine when he's the victim. Sunday at New Hampshire, he was the victim as Kevin Harvick gave him the thump-and-run in the late laps. It was enough to move onlookers to the edge of their seats, wondering what might follow.

And ... nothing?

Not much. Kyle did say, "How you race is how you get raced," which some might see as an ominous warning to Harvick. But it also could've been Kyle admitting that he's been in Harvick's shoes before and shouldn't complain about being on the other side of that "transaction." Also, there's this: Not many guys in that garage want to mess with Kevin Harvick. That might've also played a role in Kyle's newfound congeniality.

LAST DAY TO REGISTER TO VOTE FOR PRIMARY ELECTION JULY 30, 2018

If you're a first-time registrant in the State of Florida, in order to be eligible to vote in the Primary Election you must file a completed Florida Voter Registration Application by July 30, 2018. Registrations that are mailed must be postmarked by this date. If you're already registered but need to update your address, submit your changes by telephone, on-line, on a voter registration application or by written letter that includes your signature and date of birth. Failure to update your address prior to Election Day may result in delays at the polls. If you have not voted since the last election, you should check your voter registration status on-line, www.VoteLevy.com, or call 352-486-5163.

Has your signature changed from:

John Hancock

to:

With the 2018 elections fast approaching it's important that you update your signature if you haven't done so already. Signatures can change over time due to aging or medical conditions. When there are significant changes to your signature or identifying "mark" you need to update that signature with our office.

For those who vote by mail your signature on file becomes even more important. Once your vote by mail ballot is returned to our office, the signature on your ballot certificate envelope is immediately compared to the signature on your voter record.

To update your signature you'll need to complete a Florida Voter Registration Application Form. Application forms can be found at all of the libraries within Levy County or on our website at www.VoteLevy.com. Voters can also request an application form to be sent to their home by calling the Elections Office at 352-486-5163.

Services

*ATTENTION CONSUMERS**
Please make sure you are using a licensed & insured service professional. Many service advertisers are required by state law to include their state license number in all advertisements. If you don't see a license number in the ad you should inquire about it & be suspicious that you may be contacting an unlicensed business. The Chiefland Citizen wants to insure that our ads meet the requirements of the law. Beware of any service advertiser that can not provide proof that they are licensed to do business. For questions about business licensing, please call your city/county government offices.
