Chiefland votes to expand alcohol sales

SUZETTE COOK
Reporter

The Chiefland City Commission gave City Attorney Norm Fugate the go ahead to prepare an amended alcohol sales ordinance that will include sales on Sundays.

After some discussion during the Oct. 22 meeting, the commission voted 3-2 to modify the days and hours of alcohol sales to Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to Midnight, Saturdays 7 a.m. to 2 a.m. and Sundays from 1 p.m. to Midnight.

The new proposed hours not only add sales to Sunday, but also would extend sales on Saturday from Midnight to 2 a.m. as was suggested by Commissioner Chris Jones who also suggested that Sunday sales start at 1 p.m. instead of noon, "Out of respect for those who are in church on Sunday." The new draft will retain no sales on Christmas, and sales until 1 a.m. on New Year's.

Commissioner Tim West said he felt noon was a better time for sales to start on Sunday to accommodate not only football fans who patronize local bars, but for people heading through Chiefland on the way to go fishing who might want to stop on the trip out to stock up. "They may want to make one stop on their way to the Gulf," he said.

While generating revenue was the top priority of most members of the commission, Jones said he had a different motivation for getting behind the change. He said he does want to lure businesses to Chiefland, but he also feels that hard-working citizens deserve the right to do as they please. "That's a reward to come home and have a drink on the weekend or at night. You can't take away somebody's privilege like that."

Commissioners Rollin Hudson and Donald Lawrence voted against any changes in the current ordinance, but Commissioners West and Jones and Mayor Betty Walker's combined votes allowed the motion to carry. Walker has maintained her support of an update of the ordinance. "Whatever revenue we bring, is going to be a help," she said.

Trick-or-treat is Saturday

The Chiefland Police Department's Halloween Haunted House returns this scary season for the two weekends before Halloween.

The House opens Oct. 19, Oct. 20, Oct. 26 and Oct. 27, at the old CFEC Warehouse behind Hardee's on 11th Ave., starting at 6:30 p.m. each night. Admission is $8 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. Visit ChieflandPD.com or the CPD Facebook page for more information.

On Oct. 27, at the same site as the haunted house, there will be the Chiefland Trunk-or-Treat. There will be a Halloween Costume Contest (for age groups: 0 to 3; 4 to 8; and 9 to 12), a pumpkin carving contest and a photo area. The event is at 6:30 p.m.

The City of Chiefland's official trick-or-treating day is Saturday, Oct. 27.

On Thursday, Oct. 25, Chiefland Elementary School is holding its rescheduled Fall Festival from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Seafood fest weekend lures record crowd

Just as Richard Rooney of Gainesville was toting an artisan designed flamingo lamp to his car, floats, students, Cedar Key locals, and hopeful politicians began making their way around the corner and over the bridge.

Hundreds of 49th Annual Cedar Key Seafood Festivalgoers were lined up on sidewalks and waving at the stars of the traditional parade held on Oct. 20. Kids were scurrying around grabbing tossed candy off the streets, while the rest of the crowd was sharing in a chuckle here and there as pirates, cruising clams, colorful "Spiced Girls" sea goddesses, the S.S. Minnow, the Crab Crew, and Cedar Key School's shark mascot surrounded by cheerleaders passed by.

Veterans of Foreign War members led the parade proudly presenting the American flag. The CKS Safety Patrol was perched on a float surrounded by purple and yellow balloons, cheering about selling ice cold water to "Help us get to Washington."

Circuit Court Judge Candidate Gloria Walker was decked out in fishing gear and sitting a top a giant cooler. The parade circled around the village and ended at a crossroad with food vendors on one side and art vendors on the other.

Steamed clam dinners were being served up fresh by the Cedar Key Aquaculture Association; fritters, mullet

Safe school procedures, religious expression among School Board policy review items

SUZETTE COOK
Reporter

The Levy County School Board will spend the next two months addressing the language of five school policy areas, including safe schools, religious expression, and school entry.

Levy County School District Assistant Superintendent John Lott presented the first drafts of the policies at the Oct. 22 Board meeting.

"These things come to us in a package," Lott said. "We study them, get public input and ask for a final vote in December."

"When we bring policies in front of the Board, most of the time it's because of changes in the (State) statute."

Policy 3.06, known as the Safe and Secure Schools policy, addresses the district's obligation to "provide a safe, secure and orderly learning environment in all schools and at all sponsored activities."

"We are already in the process of completing many of the items," Lott said. The policy addresses who has access to school grounds; development of emergency management and preparedness plans, including active shooter/hostage situations; threat assessments and reporting procedures; development of a security plan with designation of an administrator as the school safety specialist for the district; and measures for the prevention of violence.

Policy 3.101 addresses religious expression in public schools. Lott noted a change in the policy that would require disclaimers at graduation events. "In my experience as a principal, we never had to put a disclaimer in a graduation program," Lott said. "But that's a result of this new legislation. This statute doesn't give us a list of maybes. It says 'we shall do these things.'"

Regarding procedures about the content of student speeches at commencement, the policy draft reads that a school "must state in oral or written form that the student's speech does not reflect the endorsement, sponsorship, position, or expression of the District."

District Attorney David Delaney addressed questions raised by board members about this change. "Tallahassee has delivered this policy up to us and said and more were making the rounds. Some members of the Cedar Key Lions Club, the organization that presents the event, were wearing clam aprons. Others, including Lions Club President Mike Hodges, were wearing black rubber gloves and were elbow deep in corn husks. Local musicians were performing from aboard a clam boat stage.

A few blocks west of the food area, more than 150 artists displayed a range of talents from photographs, sculptures, and handcrafted woodworks, to hanging glass fish and paintings.

Painter Jeff Crocker of Gainesville said this is the only festival he exhibits and sells his work at. "I try to experiment with many different painting styles," Crocker said. "I really like the tri-chromatic. Black and white and the school colors," he added as he stood surrounded by large format paintings of University of Florida athletes, including one of 2007 Heisman Trophy winner Tim Tebow performing the Gator chomp. "On this Tebow, there are nine different shades of gray," he said.

Event organizers say this year was the most successful turnout in the history of the festival. By 9 a.m., parking lot attendants sat guarding their lots with "Sorry We're Full" signs. Cedar Key Vice-Mayor Susan Colson estimated that about 12,000 visitors attended the festival.

"Our nonprofits did great," Colson said. "Being such a small town, the school groups don't have a big audience during the year to raise money. It's wonderful to see the kids make money for projects and get that boost that they needed."

"I thought it was a positive crowd," Colson added. "It seemed like a lot of people were there to enjoy themselves. Perfect weather, perfect day, perfect everything."

Hodges agreed with Colson. "I thought it was probably the most successful seafood festival we've ever had in Cedar Key," he said. "Based on looking at the crowd, and judging how much everyone sold in the park."

"One of things that was new, was an interactive online festival guide," Hodges said about why he thinks the crowd size increased. "The online festival guide was an interactive site with all of the advertisers. People that are visitors coming to town are able to see menus and hours."

Hodges said the festival guide received "around 20,000 hits on Saturday."

By Monday, the island was back to normal. Hodges said he went out clamming with the same vessel that was parked at the festival with a band performing on it. "The clam boat stage became a boat harvesting clams today," he said.

an speech."

The draft also emphasizes religious expression in ways other than speech. "A student may express his or her religious beliefs in coursework, artwork, and other written and oral assignment free from discrimination."

Students are also free to wear clothing, jewelry and accessories that display "a religious message or symbol."

Policy 5.04 Requirements for Original Entry that 'you have to adopt it.'"

Delaney clarified, "We're not going to restrict a student from being able to talk about their religious beliefs as part of their Valedictorian addresses not only admission to kindergarten but also transfer students entering a school in Levy County. "Students have to disclose previous expulsions, arrests, any kind of referral they may have had to mental health services," Lott said. The policy also addresses medical exam clearance and immunization certification.

Policy 6.18 addresses request for employee leave. "This is the one policy that we are bringing to you that did not come out of State Statute changes," Lott said. This one came out of some of our internal departments who were concerned that some of their employees were stockpiling vacation days and taking them all at once. Lott said some employees were taking long periods of time of during the summer, when there was work to get done.

Policy 10.06 Procurement for School Food and Nutrition Services governs the "purchasing activities that relate to any aspect of the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs. "The main reason for this is to try to outline and prevent what might be considered a conflict of interest in regard to procurement for school and nutrition services," Lott told the Board.

District Superintendent Jeffery Edison said the introduction and distribution of the first draft of the five policies was the first step in adopting them. The Board took the second step by voting to approve the advertisement of the policies. The final step will be finalizing the language and officially adopting the policies.

Edison said he planned to put the policies on every future meeting agenda until they are voted through. "These policies will come to you at every meeting until you adopt them," he told the Board.

King of the Wing raises funds for breast cancer research

LORI PREVATT
Correspondent

The first “King of the Wing” event, hosted by Chiefland Billiards, had a successful first run, raising $3,413 for the National Breast Cancer Foundation, Inc. on Oct. 13.

Three Levy County restaurants participated: 83 West, Chiefland BubbaQue’s and Chiefland Billiards. Patrons received four wings from each restaurant and were asked to vote on their favorite. Participants paid a $15 donation.

Patrons had no way of knowing which restaurant’s wings they were picking. The wings were numbered and the patrons picked the number of their favorite wings. According to Nikki Barwick, staff member of Chiefland Billiards, many people had a difficult time deciding which wings they liked the best.

“They were all so good, some people couldn’t make up their minds which to vote for,” Barwick said.

There were 50/50 raffles and drawings, with local businesses donating items for the raffles.

Chiefland Billiards ended up winning first place, while 83 West placed second. Chuck Strange, the owner of Chiefland Billiards, was proud the event had a successful first year.

“It was a really fun event,” Strange said. “The competitors had really great wings. It was really close and everybody had a really good time. I would like to thank all of our sponsors and volunteers.”

Strange said that Brooks Rehabilitation Home Health donated all the wings for the event. The Print Shop of Chiefland provided all the printed materials free of charge. The participating restaurants wished to thank all the local businesses that provided sponsorships for the event. According to Barwick, their sponsorships went directly to the National Breast Cancer Foundation, Inc.

The restaurants also thanked: Jones Performance/Chris Jones; Smith Investments; Family Medical Center/Toni Dufour; All Seasons Heating and Air; Chiefland Chrysler Dodge Jeep; Reed Automotive; Smith Law Firm; Suwannee River APA/ Mike & Kelly Moore; Simed/Dr. Jesse Lipnick; Steinhatchee Family Medical/Carl Dufour; Suwannee River APA Masters League; and all the players and guests who contributed to the success of this event. They offered a special thanks to AmVets Post 422 for their special gift.

Local businesses offering gift cards and donations included: 83 West, ABC Pizza, Bar-B-Q Bill’s, Big Deck Bar, BubbaQue’s, Chiefland Billiards, Chiefland Golf & Country Club, Cross City Rehabilitation Center, Florida Foods, Huddle House, Levy County Health Department, Light-house Restaurant, Simplistic Salon/Kaylee Weatherford, Shae Ridgeway, Alyssa Edwards and Kasidy Schultz, Strawberry Fields R.V. ## Two schools, one goal

BRITTNEY HINKLEY
BMHS dual enrollment senior

Many think dual enrollment is just like high school, but little do they know, it’s much different.

Yes, we get the freedom of college students, but we lack the ever-present teacher support when we might get off task. We are left to fend for ourselves, but we also are given more time in class, before class, and after class than in high school.

Though we are responsible for our own education and must self-discipline ourselves, we have great support through an Advising Specialist and the Center Coordinator, Ms. Nicole and Ms. Shellie. We are a little spoiled.

We appreciate the chance to excel for free as well as enjoy the freedom of being a college student for at least part of the day – a part of the day where we don’t have to ask or use a pass to go to the restroom, where we don’t get in trouble if the professor sees our cell phone, and never get in trouble for dress code. These freedoms feel fantastic even if we do have to ask, hide, or change clothes once we get back to high school.

During our classes at the Santa Fe Davis Center, our class sizes are small and we get more one-on-one time with the professor. We can ask questions related to our subjects as well as their opinions on an array of subject matter. When we are struggling or just need a little extra help, we are afforded the opportunity for free tutoring on any subject. Though we get a little extra help, we are held to a stricter grade policy. We must maintain a C or higher in all of our classes or we can be removed from the dual enrollment program.

Taking dual enrollment means we have already started our college career and we are well on our way to earning a degree before even graduating from high school. From the perspective of a dual enrollment student, I recommend younger students start working now toward being able to join this program and enjoy the perks of dual enrollment.

Is it a fragrance or a stench?

This past week I had to go to the mall. I know, I should know better, but I thought I could sneak in, get what I needed and sneak out again. So much for my thoughts.

I wanted to purchase several tie chains for my neckties and searched every jewelry store and nobody had them. Finally, I ordered three online, which would be shipped free, (which always gets my attention) to the nearest store, which happened to be in the mall.

I do not like the mall and choose not to go there if I can help it. When in the mall, I am usually very nervous and get confused and do not know which way I am going. Once I get in, I am not quite sure how to get out again. Everything seems to be contrived to confuse a person like myself.

Looking down at the ground while walking I became rather confused and I happen to turn into an open door.

My mall savvy is not sophisticated in the least. The door I turned into happened to be for the store Victoria's Secret. I do not know who Victoria is, I did not know what the store was all about, but when I got in the store, I discovered Victoria's Secret much to my great embarrassment.

That is exactly the reason I do not like going into the malls. They have places like this that a gentleman, such as Yours Truly, should never enter.

I am not sure how I got out of that store, all I can remember was a great deal of hilarious laughter thrown in my direction from inside. I just hope they did not recognize me. They probably did not, because I had all my clothes on.

It has been a long time since that incident and now I had to go and pick up my order. I put together a plan to sneak in very quietly, pick up my order and tiptoe out as quietly as I came in.

You know what they say about well-laid plans! Whether mine was well laid or not, it blew up in my face.

Out to Pastor

James Snyder

I did slip into the mall and found the store where my order was. I picked them up and quietly turned around and started for the door. How I got turned around is any man's guess. Actually, I think I turned around too many times. For the next 15 minutes, I tried to find the way I came in so I could go out.

The trouble started when I hesitated. I stopped to try to get my bearings and in stopping a young woman approached me.

"How do you do today, sir," she said most cheerfully.

I nodded and tried to get away as graciously as possible.

She would have none of it. "And how do you smell today, sir?"

Had I been in my right sense of mind, I would have told her I smelled with my nose. Being in a confused state of affairs, I had no quick come back for her. It was then that she introduced me to her product.

I must confess I am not up-to-date with all of the body lotions and perfumes that are available today. I shave in the morning, splash some aftershave on my face, rub some deodorant under my armpits and that is as far as I go.

This young woman took me for a potential customer of her body lotions and ointments and perfumes. I suppose many people are concerned with how they smell. I am not one of them.

My basic philosophy along this line is simply, if I cannot stand my own smell, I take a shower. I know when it is time to take a shower when I can smell myself.

She wanted to introduce me to some body lotions and ointments and perfumes that would make me smell alluring to anybody I met during the day.

Personally, I do not have a "Bucket List" but if I did, this would not be one of the items on it.

Trying to be polite, I informed the young woman I was late for an appointment and needed to get on right away.

"Oh," she said very cheerfully, "this will not take long at all."

With that said, and before I could process what she said, she began rubbing my face with body ointment or lotion of some sort. I froze and for a few moments, I could not even move. Even the little grey cells upstairs were shocked into a rare state of stillness.

"Now, you smell wonderful."

It was at that time I retired with honor or my gentlemanly manners and started running as fast as I could run without drawing too much attention to myself.

I smelled that "fragrance" for three days in spite of the fact that I took 17 showers in the meantime.

Sometimes our focus is always on the outside. I like what Jesus said, "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess" (Matthew 23:25).

It does not matter how good I smell on the outside if there is stench on the inside. I want to focus on my inside and make it as fresh as possible. That is the fragrance God smells.

Starting the morning in a tree stand

I started a recent morning sitting in a tree stand. A few weeks ago, I had trimmed limbs and opened up some shooting lanes for this new stand placement. I think it is going to be a good one. The cool morning was expected, as well as the lingering fog that hovers over the hills, sometimes through the late morning.

Outdoor Truths

Gary Miller

That was the case on this particular day. As I peered toward the sky just before dawn, I wondered if what I was looking at was clouds instead of the fog. But after a few more minutes, I recognized the familiar look and feel of this hazy mist. It wasn't long until I could see the sun began to peek over the mountains just in front of me. It would have its work cut out for it today as it began to slowly burn away the veil that was hiding everything from my view. I was surprised how quickly the fog began to surrender to the sun, and it was not too many minutes later until it was all gone and everything around me became crystal clear. The lines between the objects that were blurred just a few minutes earlier were now distinct, prominent, and flawless.

As I watched this transformation, I was reminded of a quote from C.S. Lewis. He said, "I believe in Christianity as I believe that the sun has risen. Not only because I see it, but because by it I see everything else." For him, Christianity gave perspective to the things in his world. It shone a light of understanding on otherwise confusing circumstances. By coming to know his God, he could appreciate his world. By contrast, however, he was saying that without a proper view of God, life is only one random and undirected action after another. Or as Shakespeare's Macbeth put it, "it is a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

There is no doubt life is full of head-scratching moments. Some are fleeting; others shake our very foundation and leave us changed forever. The lens that we view these through will either bring a sense of clarity or a deeper sense of confusion and despair. I am not saying my faith makes me perfectly understand everything, but it does give me the same picture as the sun; that no matter what may seem unclear and indistinguishable, it will burn away the longer I am in His presence.

Full Gospel to hold Praisefest

You are invited to Praisefest at Full Gospel Outreach Church of Chiefland Friday, Nov. 2, through Sunday, Nov. 4. Make plans to be a part a 3-day revival with Bro. Landis Miller from Douglas, Georgia, to thank and praise God for bringing us and our nation through a great number of trials and hardships in 2018. Why? "Because The Father Deserves It."

Service times are Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m., and Sunday at 11 a.m.. with Dinner on the Grounds following Sunday service. Bring a covered dish and grateful heart and just Praise God!

Full Gospel Outreach Church is located on highway 19 just 3 miles north of Chiefland. For more information, call 352-221-2003, or visit www.oldtimechurch.com

Sunshine Disciples serve community

The Sunshine Disciples are women who serve the community with their talents and time through the First United Methodist Church of Chiefland (FUMC). They provide luncheons for first-responders, visit those who are home/hospital bound, assist in helping families during the holidays, and raise money for local organizations such as Tri-County Resources, Tri-County Outreach, Another Way and UMCOR. If you are looking for a way to serve and develop new friendships, contact this amazing, welcoming group of women for more information. The women meet every Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall at FUMC. Katie Granger, 493-0232. kgran2@localnet.com. You do not have to participate in church services to join Sunshine Disciples.

Log Cabin Quilters

Pleasant surprises sitting on the porch

The Log Cabin Quilters met Thursday, Oct. 18, at the Levy County Quilt Museum. Evelyn has finished another small quilt and Marie did the binding on the Sun Bonnet Sue that we had finished hand quilting. Thanks for your help, ladies.

Tuesday morning, I had a very pleasant surprise waiting on the porch. An adorable bed doll was sitting on her box waiting for us to arrive. Bed dolls were very popular many years ago. Bed dolls are in crocheted dresses and just sit on the bed. Of course, they could be on shelves or any place. They were adorable then and now. Our girl is sitting on the display cabinets greeting our visitors. Thanks to all of you for the items you donated this week.

Thanks to the yarn that has been donated -- Ellzey Methodist Church picked up a large bag of variegated yarn for the cancer hats and small quilts they make. Another bag went with Ellen, who spent the summer making small quilts for the vets. Ellen's made eight or nine small lap quilts. It's a good feeling to be able to connect some of our donations to people that can use them.

Greg and the guys from Lancaster were out this week. It's been a while since they've been out due to scheduling problems. The place looks so much better. Thanks, guys.

Can you believe that November is just around the corner? The Backyard Pickers will be here Saturday, Nov 3. We do enjoy relaxing to the music. Come out and sit a spell.

Our Sun Bonnet Sue is a pattern that has been around for many years. The embroidery work always adds to the quilt. This top had been donated to us.

Fanning Springs man arrested for lewdness on child

A Levy County Deputy responded to a home in Fanning Springs on Oct. 20, after a parent found explicit conversations and images on her 13-year-old daughter's tablet.

The mother told the deputy she took the tablet away from her daughter as a form of discipline and when looking through the tablet found an application downloaded. The application, "Google Hangouts," wasn't an application she approved her daughter to use. The mother found a history of sexually explicit messages and images between her daughter and an unidentified male.

Levy County Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigator Mike McNeil interviewed the child who admitted to communication with a person she met at Fanning Springs State Park. This individual, whom she identified as 22-year-old Dustin Norman of Fanning Springs, added her as his friend through the "Hangouts" application and they began talking. The child admitted to investigators she was involved in sexual conversations with Norman.

McNeil located and interviewed Norman, who admitted to being involved in a sexual relationship with the victim, admitted he knew her age and admitted to sending nude photographs of him to her. Norman was arrested and charged with two counts of lewd and lascivious battery on a child, transmitting obscene images to a child and use of two-way communications to commit a felony. He is being held at the Levy County Detention Facility in lieu of a $250,000.00 bond.

The use of the internet and the multitude of ways it allows people to communicate are dangerous and confusing. Children often do not understand predators constantly look for ways to communicate with new potential victims. Levy Sheriff Bobby McCallum urges parents to faithfully monitor their children's internet use and social media presence to avoid crimes such as this. If the parent in this case had not been vigilant in the supervision of her daughter, this situation could have had more severe lifelong consequences.

"I applaud this parent in her efforts to protect her daughter and for her willingness to report this situation so that other children may be protected from this suspect as well," McCallum said.

East Williston block party yields multiple arrests

During the late night hours of Sept. 29 and early morning hours of Sept. 30, a large number of individuals staged a "Williston Block Party" in the area of the New Hope Baptist Church in East Williston. An estimated crowd of 3,000 partiers used vehicles to completely block traffic on County Road 318 and Northeast 212th Court. Loud music, alcohol and marijuana smoke filled the area for approximately 4 hours.

Some of the activities of that gathering were documented on social media.

With the assistance of the Marion County Sheriff's Office and Williston Police Department, LCSO deputies made nine drug arrests, seized numerous firearms and took multiple noise complaints.

Sources have informed LCSO that a similar event is planned for Oct. 27, beginning at 11 p.m. While the organizers and profiteers of these type of events generally avoid identifying themselves, the Levy County Sheriff's Office would like planners to be aware that the lawless behavior exhibited at the last event on Sept. 29 will not be tolerated. Those wishing to organize a "Block Party," said the LCSO, are encouraged to find a venue that does not require blocking traffic, disturbing residential neighborhoods and breaking drug and firearm laws.

Money management seminar at CF Levy

The College of Central Florida is hosting a financial seminar to help individuals learn about managing their finances on Thursday, Nov. 1, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Jack Wilkinson Levy Campus, 15390 N.W. Highway 19, Chiefland. Information about money management, savings, improving your credit and paying off debt will be discussed. Participants will increase their skills and knowledge to allow them to make informed and effective decisions with all of their financial resources. For more information, call 352-658-4077.

EMT information session at CF Levy

The College of Central Florida's Emergency Medical Technician program is hosting an information session on Monday, Oct. 29, from 3 to 4 p.m., and Monday, Nov. 19, from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Levy Campus, 15390 N.W. Highway 19, Chiefland. The deadline for applications is Monday, Nov. 26.

The EMT program is a 15-week course that includes lectures, skills labs and clinical experiences on ambulances and in an emergency department. Graduates of this program are eligible to apply for state certification and may find work as an EMT on ambulances, in hospitals, in industrial settings and more. Spring classes start Jan. 7 at the Levy Campus four days a week from 6 to 10 p.m.

For more information or to fill out an application, call 352-658-4077, or visit www.cf.edu/emt.

Confused about amendments?

MIKE WRIGHT
Citrus County Chronicle

Fewer things irritate voters more than trying to decipher constitutional amendments on the November ballot.

The amendments are written by lawyers, they're not easy to understand, and sometimes their purpose is confusing.

Eight of this year's batch of 12 — one got tossed by the Florida Supreme Court and three others could be as well — are courtesy of the Constitutional Revision Commission, which meets every 20 years.

Others are on the ballot from the Legislature or citizen initiative. Each requires 60 percent voter approval to pass.

Several were challenged in court because multiple subjects were grouped together in a single amendment, or the ballot wording was misleading.

The Supreme Court removed one already — Amendment 8, which would have helped to expand charter schools and placed a two-term limit on school board members.

In total, groups sued to remove seven of the 13 amendments.

The current ballot removes No. 8, so it goes from Amendment 7 to Amendment 9. If the Supreme Court removes other amendments after ballots are mailed out, votes for those removed amendments will not count, and signs will be posted at early voting and polling precincts.

The Citrus County Chronicle reviewed numerous sources to explain these amendments, including websites associated with supporters or opponents of each amendment.

With that said, it's always a good idea to research these topics yourself — and not on Election Day. The Supervisor of Elections Office website, www.votelevy.com, has sample ballots so there's no excuse to not get educated before voting time.

To learn more about the Constitution Revision Commission and its final report, go to www.flcrrc.gov.

Amendment 1: Increased Homestead Property Tax Exemption

Ballot summary: "Proposing an amendment to the State Constitution to increase the homestead exemption by exempting the assessed valuation of homestead property greater than $100,000 and up to $125,000 for all levies other than school district levies."

How it got here: State Legislature.

What it means: Grants an additional $25,000 exemption for homes valued over $125,000; owners of homes worth between $100,000 and $125,000 would also receive an exemption. The exemption doesn't apply to school taxes.

What else: Not everyone gets the exemption. Even if your house is homesteaded, the tax break only kicks in for houses with taxable values of $100,000 or higher.

Who wants it: Homeowners for sure. Right now the homestead exemption is up to $50,000, excluding schools for the second $25,000. Another $25,000 exemption would mean paying less taxes.

Who doesn't: Local government. The Florida Association of Counties and Florida League of Cities are both against the amendment.

Pro/Con: We couldn't find a "pro" group for Amendment 1, although it would seem just about anyone who falls into the $100,000-plus home value range would be pro. For some "con" views, go to www.floridaleagueofcities.com or www.fl-counties.com.

Amendment 2: Limitations on Property Tax assessments

Ballot summary: "Proposing an amendment to the State Constitution to permanently retain provisions currently in effect, which limit property tax assessment increases on specified nonhomestead real property, except for school district taxes, to 10 percent each year. If approved, the amendment removes the scheduled repeal of such provisions in 2019..."

How it got here: State Legislature.

What it means: Currently nonhomestead property taxable value increases are capped at 10 percent, but the cap is set to sunset in 2019. This amendment would make the cap permanent.

What else: Even if the market value of a nonhomestead property rises higher than 10 percent, the cap means the taxable value won't increase more than 10 percent.

Who wants it: Anyone who owns property that isn't homestead in Florida. That includes apartments, vacant land and businesses.

Who doesn't: Local governments, and for the same reason they oppose Amendment 1. Capping the amount that property can be taxed, even while the cost of services continues to rise, means local governments must either not offer those services or shift the tax burden elsewhere.

Pro/Con: Pro views, everybodyisfor2.com; cons, local governments don't love it, but the cap has been in place for 10 years.

Amendment 3: Voter Control of Gambling in Florida

Ballot summary: "This amendment ensures that Florida voters shall have the exclusive right to decide whether to authorize casino gambling by requiring that in order for casino gambling to be authorized under Florida law, it must be approved by Florida voters pursuant to Article XI, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution. Affects articles X and XI. Defines casino gambling and clarifies that this amendment does not conflict with federal law regarding state/tribal compacts."

How it got here: Citizen initiative.

What it means: Gives Florida voters the absolute right to decide if the state should expand casino gambling. Currently that right rests with the Legislature and voters, through the constitutional amendment process.

Who wants it: Voters in Charge, the amendment's sponsor, says simply that the Legislature should

Young Ideas, Old Wisdom and Frank Sinatra

"And if you should survive to a hundred and five..."

Look at all you'll derive out of bein' alive."

"Young at Heart" as performed by Frank Sinatra

Technological changes that have occurred in our lifetimes are truly remarkable, aren't they?

Consider advances in communication. Remember the manual typewriter? Then the electric one? I thought the automatic return was an incredible invention.

We then discarded the typewriter and educated ourselves on the computer. Then we learned to utilize the iPhone and eschewed land lines in favor of mobile ones. Now we read on our iPads as print fades from our lives like ancient, dried ink on parchment.

Since most innovative ideas in technology are offered by those under 30, we tend to associate positive technological change with young people.

Margaret McDowell

Arbor Outlook

Most of us Baby Boomers understand ageism intuitively. Who isn't familiar with the looks of scorn and derision we receive when we ask our children and younger co-workers about tech issues?

So, you would think that nearly all successful start-ups and entrepreneurial enterprises are launched by youngsters, right? Not even close. An article in the New Republic states among other things that..."Most successful entrepreneurs are middle-aged, not young." Why? Because there's more to developing a successful business than hatching an innovative idea. There's financing, marketing, business plans, and personnel management. Our life experience and our business acumen, earned over decades, can take a great idea and then make it work in the marketplace.

Young people are good at getting into business. Boomers are skilled at getting out and more likely to enjoy a positive final outcome with commercial endeavors. Someone who creates a business at age 50 is almost twice as likely to employ a successful exit strategy as someone who starts a business at age 30. "The mean founder age of startups with a successful exit, through IPO or acquisition, is 46.7," the article states.

The message? It's never too late, and we're never too old, to put our experience to work. Henry Ford was 50 years old in 1913 when he developed the assembly line to mass-produce his cars. Ray Kroc was 52 when he opened his first McDonald's in Des Plaines, Illinois and older than that when he finally figured out how to profit from franchising.

To someone who is 30, the future is always infinite. But many Americans who amass small fortunes do so through selling a business. It takes years of experience and skill to build an enterprise that others see value in; then it takes marketing and negotiating ability to consummate the transfer of ownership and reap the profits.

not be allowed to decide to expand casino gambling, and that right should belong to citizens.

Who doesn't: Casinos have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars fighting the amendment.

Pro/Con: votersincharge.org will tell you all the reasons why this amendment makes sense; Vote NO on 3 is a political committee fighting the amendment. If the committee has a website, we couldn't find it.

Amendment 4: Voting Restoration Amendment
Ballot summary: "This amendment restores the voting rights of Floridians with felony convictions after they complete all terms of their sentence including parole or probation. The amendment would not apply to those convicted of murder or sexual offenses, who would continue to be permanently barred from voting unless the Governor and Cabinet vote to restore their voting rights on a case by case basis."

How it got here: Citizen initiative.

What it means: Restores voting rights to felons who have served their time, with exceptions such as murderers and sex offenders.

What else: Right now felons must wait five years before they can petition to have their voting rights restored. With the state clemency board hearing cases only during its four meetings each year, the process could take 10 years.

Who wants it: Second Chance Florida, the group that worked to place the amendment on the ballot, believes felons who have served their time deserve the right to vote.

Who doesn't: We couldn't find any specific group, but op-ed pieces suggest two schools of thought: The process works just fine right now; and the amendment doesn't go far enough because it excludes felons who have served time for murder or sex offenses.

Pro/Con: secondchancesfl.org. For opposing views, Google "Florida Amendment 4" and a few pieces pop up.

Amendment 5: Supermajority Vote Required to Impose, Authorize, or Raise State Taxes or Fees

Ballot summary: "Prohibits the legislature from imposing, authorizing, or raising a state tax or fee except through legislation approved by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature in a bill containing no other subject. This proposal does not authorize a state tax or fee otherwise prohibited by the Constitution and does not apply to fees or taxes imposed or authorized to be imposed by a county, municipality, school board, or special district."

How it got here: Florida Legislature, backed by Gov. Rick Scott

What it means: The Legislature would need two-thirds vote of both the House and Senate to pass any additional taxes or fees.

What else: The two-thirds rule would not apply to local governments, such as the county commission or school board.

Who wants it: Republicans in the state Legislature see this as a way to hold the line on taxes.

Who doesn't: Opponents say the measure is shortsighted because it could hinder the Legislature's ability to raise taxes during times of state need.

Pro/Con: Florida Chamber of Commerce supports it, www.flchamber.com; League of Women Voters of Florida opposes, www.lwvfl.org.

Amendment 6: Rights of Crime Victims; Judges

Ballot summary: "Creates constitutional rights for victims of crime; requires courts to facilitate victims' rights; authorizes victims to enforce their rights throughout criminal and juvenile justice processes. Requires judges and hearing officers to independently interpret statutes and rules rather than deferring to government agency's interpretation. Raises mandatory retirement age of state justices and judges from seventy to seventy-five years; deletes authorization to complete judicial term if one-half of term has been served by retirement age."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission (CRC).

What it means: Creates a bill of rights for crime victims and sets new requirements for judges, such as increasing the mandatory retirement age from 70 to 75. The bill of rights is drawn from Marsy's Law in California.

What else: The bill of rights includes that crime victims would have the right to due process and fairness; the right to be free from intimidation; and the right to be reasonably protected from the accused.

Who wants it: Wide support from Republicans and Democrats in the Legislature, and crime-victim advocates.

Who doesn't: No specific opposition that we could find, other than from those who believe the amendment could bog down the judicial system with unfunded safeguards.

Pro/Con: For, marsylawforfl.com; a group called "Save My Constitution" opposes this and every other amendment placed on the ballot by the CRC.

Amendment 7: First Responder and Military Member Survivor Benefits; Public Colleges and Universities

Ballot summary: "Grants mandatory payment of death benefits and waiver of certain educational expenses to qualifying survivors of certain first responders and military members who die performing official duties. Requires supermajority vote by university trustees and state university system board of governors to raise or impose all legislatively authorized fees if law requires approval by those bodies. Establishes existing state college system as constitutional entity; provides governance structure."

Levy Deputies join support effort in Panhandle

The Levy County Sheriff's Office has sent four deputies to the Florida Panhandle for Hurricane Michael relief. The Florida Division of Emergency Management in cooperation with the Florida Sheriff's Association (FSA) Task Force said the need for assistance and recovery in the wake of this disaster will last for months.

The counties affected by this devastating hurricane will likely need assistance from other law enforcement agencies for some time to come as members from their agencies try to rebuild their own homes and lives.

The FSA has assumed the coordination of law enforcement relief efforts and the scheduling of deputies responding to these affected communities as top priority. Deputies responding to assist are being deployed from their home Sheriff Offices in seven-day shifts and are coming from all agencies around the state. Responding deputies are being assigned to a myriad of security duties including patrolling residential and business areas guarding from looting and other safety issues.

Sheriff Bobby McCallum is proud of the volunteers. The LCSO says dedicated members such as these who unselfishly volunteered to respond to help our neighbors in their time of need are the driving force behind the agency and its commitment to Florida citizens. Sheriff McCallum asks that you continue to keep the communities in the panhandle, his fellow Sheriff's as well Levy members and all the other first responders in your prayers.

On Tuesday, Oct. 23, a trailer filled with relief supplies departed the LCSO in route to the panhandle. These supplies have been donated by the Sheriff's Office members, the Levy County Emergency Management, the employees of the Levy County Constitutional Officers, Levy County employees and Levy County Citizens.

The Taste of the Nature Coast, held at Haven Oct. 16, raised more than $5,000 for the Tri-County Resource Center.

A crowd of 125 came out for the second year of the event, and Sarah Gore and Corey Griner provided musical entertainment.

There were eight participating restaurants and/or chefs in the event.

Chef Ashley Pendarvis, Bar-B-Q Bill's, Laura Fowler Goss of the Filling Fork, BubbaQue's, Bell's Catering, Chef Michael Duncan of Duncan's on the Gulf, Cherry's Seafood and Steaks, Beef 'O' Brady's, and Chef Jesse of Cross City Nursing and Rehabilitation.

Several area businesses donated door prize items for this event.

Beverly Goodman, the Tri-County Resource Center Director, said the event raised $5,000 for the Center. "The money raised is used for programs and services for the center," Goodman said.

Prescription drug drop-off event is Saturday

By C.L. Watson
Correspondent

Chiefland Rotary Club hosted guest speaker Jonathan Lewis from Levy County Prevention Coalition at the weekly luncheon, held Oct. 17. The Prevention Coalition is a nonprofit grant-funded organization that works hand in hand with Levy County schools and the Sheriff's department with strategies for prevention of drug and alcohol use by students.

Too Good for Drugs, Project Success and Natural High Clubs are programs already in place within some of the schools. The Coalition's goal is to make availability countywide by the end of 2018.

The Prevention Coalition has a prescription drug drop-off event scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 27, with various locations throughout the county. School Superintendent Jeff Edison, who is also a Rotary member, pointed out that children gain access to RX at home and are not bought from street dealers; he is in support of the RX drop-off program.

Jonathan Lewis, of Levy County Prevention Coalition, and Rotary President Sandy Oglesby.

Drop off all unwanted RX anytime between 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday at any of the following locations: Bronson/Levy County Sheriff's Department, Inglis Town Hall or local police departments in Cedar Key, Chiefland and Williston. Rotarians voted to donate $1,000 cash in addition to supplies for fellow Rotarian members affected by Hurricane Michael in the Florida Panhandle.

Meridian seeks grant for substance abuse and mental health diversion program

Lori Prevatt

Jan Gibson, Forensic Case Manager for Meridian, visited the Suwannee Valley Rotary Club meeting Oct. 18 talk about a possible grant for Levy County.

The grant she discussed is from Seage and Sag, under the Step it Up program. Gibson works at Meridian to assist individuals with substance abuse and mental health problems, assisting individuals and their attorneys through legal processes. Gibson also helps those individuals connect with resources in the community that would assist them in the recovery process.

Gibson explained that the grant would be used to work with individuals with substance abuse and/or mental health issues to prevent them from being incarcerated or having to remain in prison for long periods of time.

Gibson believes that the grant could greatly benefit the Levy County area. While, she said the grant would most likely not provide enough funds to open a crisis mental health facility here, she said it could provide adequate funding for in-depth mental health services to individuals. "We should be able to get funding for programs like there are in Alachua County," Gibson said.

Gibson said the grant would be for three years, and the county would eventually have to cover the costs of the new services started under the grant.

"The first year sets the precedence for the next two years. There are usually some match funds available as well," Gibson said.

Gibson said the community is required to show its commitment in order to receive the funding, and mentioned that she needs committee members from the community who will make decisions about what services the grant should be used to implement.

If you would like to find out more information, you can reach Jan Gibson at 352-363-0017.

Chiefland played some of its best volleyball of the season in the District 1A-7 tournament, which wrapped up with a championship match Oct. 18 between the No. 3 seed Lady Indians and top-seeded Trenton.

After knocking off second-seeded Branford 3-1 on Oct. 16, CMHS found itself with a 2-1 lead in sets in the finals against the Lady Tigers.

But the tourney ended in heartbreak for Chiefland, as they watched Trenton win the fourth set and then eek out a victory in the fifth 15-12 to prevail 3-2.

The Lady Indians bounced back in the regional semifinals Oct. 23, however, winning at Frostproof in straight sets (25-21, 25-17, 25-20) to advance to the regional finals. On Oct. 30, they'll play at Trenton, which defeated Wildwood in the regional opener, and the winner will move on to the Class 1A state final four.

Chiefland split with Trenton in the regular season.

The Lady Indians last advanced to the final four in 2015.

First-year head coach Katie

Jones said her squad played its best match in the district semifinal against Branford, but she lamented its errors down the stretch against Trenton.

Still, Chiefland remained alive until the very end in a back-and-forth final set, with junior Karsyn Hardee pulling it to 14-12 on a late point for Chiefland.

Chiefland lost its first district finals set 25-15 before winning back-to-back games by scores of 25-22 in going ahead 2-1. Trenton returned with a strong offering in the fourth, a 25-14 Lady Tiger win.

Kirk Williams ran for a couple of touchdowns on the heels of Bronson turnovers to set the tone for Chiefland, as the Indians went on to prevail 47-0 at John Rutledge Field on Oct. 19.

The Indians improved to 7-1 after taking their first loss of the season in Wildwood. The Eagles dropped to 0-8. Chiefland plays host to

St. Francis Catholic, from Gainesville, on Oct. 26. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. It's a Pink Out game, in honor of breast cancer awareness month.

The Class 2A Wolves, who enter the game 4-4, feature a balanced offensive attack - 179 rushes, 167 passes - with more than 146 yards passing per game.

Chiefland is well on its way to a playoff berth, its first since 2004, and can clinch a bye in the opening round with a win over St. Francis and in the season finale on Nov. 2 against Williston. That latter game is at C. Doyle McCall Field.

In Bronson, the Indians found playing time for many non-starters, including several JV call-ups. Ty Corbin, Codie Cowan and Jarrett Jerrels, who ripped off a 60-yard dash, added rushing scores to Williams' tally. CMHS sophomore Trent White tossed a touchdown pass to Jalen Rutledge. Payne Parnell hauled in a 58-yard pass reception from Corbin, who had a 17-yard catch of his own.

"(White) is a really good throwing quarterback, the problem is now he's got a guy like Ty (Corbin) in front of him," CMHS Coach Adam Gore said. "So if we can get them on the field at the same time, it makes us better. They do things well differently. It's a good problem to have."

Jamie Strong had 72 yards on three carries.

"There were some young

CMHS clubs hold donation drive for Hurricane Michael Relief

At the end of the first quarter of the Oct. 26 Chiefland Middle High School home football game, buckets will be passed around by cheerleaders and band guard members in hopes of raising $1,000 for Hurricane Michael Relief. At school that day, students are asked to bring $1 and staff are asked to bring $2 for relief funds. The schools hopes to raise around $2,000 from the school and football game collections. All monies collected will be donated to organizations helping with the disaster relief. The designated donation locations are: Hope Panhandle (Jonathan Mitchell); Mosley High School SGA; and Southern Relief (friends of Mary Beth and Ryan Tyson).

Fans attending the football game, against St. Francis, are also encouraged to wear pink with their blue and gold for the Pink Out Game. SGA will be passing out pink ribbon stickers in support of breast cancer awareness.

Youth football championships in Chiefland

The Tri-County Youth Football Championships are Saturday, Oct. 27, at Chiefland Middle High School.

The action kicks off at 9:30 a.m. with the third-place 8U game between Branford and Dixie County. At 10:30 a.m., Chiefland and Branford face off for third place in the 10U bracket. The 12U Dixie and Gilchrist squads cap off the third-place games at 11:45 a.m.

The championship games begin at 1:15 p.m., starting with Chiefland and Gilchrist in the 8U division. Gilchrist and Dixie play for the 10U title at 2:15 p.m., followed by the 12U championship between Chiefland and Branford at 3:30 p.m.

Soccer registration open until Nov. 1

Soccer signups for the Chiefland Area Athletic Association (CAAA) are continuing through Nov. 1. The cost is $65, which includes jersey, shorts and socks. CAAA soccer is also looking for coaches and sponsors. The new soccer office is located at 916 N. Young Blvd. Contact Elizabeth at 321-987-4210 for more information. There will be a soccer clinic at Strickland Park from 5 to 8 p.m.

Pair of CMHS golfers advance to regionals

A couple of Chiefland golfers on Oct. 16 qualified for regionals at their district championship meet at Quail Heights Country Club in Lake City. CMHS freshman Larissa Sinclair (round of 126) and CMHS eighth-grader Annabelle Beauchamp (round of 131), pictured above, were two of the three individual regional qualifiers at the girls' District 1A-7 meet.

The three top teams qualify for regionals and the three top individuals who are not on those teams also advance.

Fellow Lady Indians Kensley Durrance (135) and Claire Horne (135) weren't far behind their pair of advancing teammates.

The boys and girls teams basically started from scratch this season as golf returned to CMHS for the first time in a handful of years. The regional meet was in Lake City Oct. 23.

Chiefland dominates county meet

SEAN ARNOLD

The Chiefland boys' and girls' varsity cross country teams each claimed a county championship as a team while Indians junior Luke Stockman nabbed the top individual award at the meet in Williston Oct. 18.

Stockman posted a time of 19:31 to pace all runners at the 5K, which included Cedar Key, Yankeetown and Red Devil teams. Fellow Indians Dylan Cochran (19:48), Jonathan Cannon (20:35) and Donovan Simoga (21:06) rounded out the top four for the boys' race, in that order, as the quartet

Chiefland Haunted House and Trunk or Treat

The Chiefland Police Department's Halloween Haunted House returns this scary season for the two weekends before Halloween.

The House opens Oct. 26 and Oct. 27, at the old CFEC Warehouse behind Hardee's on 11th Ave., starting at 6:30 p.m. each night. Admission is $8 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. Visit ChieflandPD.com or the CPD Facebook page for more information.

On Oct. 27, at the same site as the haunted house, there will be the Chiefland Trunk or Treat. There will be a Halloween Costume Contest (for age groups: 0 to 3; 4 to 8; and 9 to 12), a pumpkin carving contest and a photo area. The event is at 6:30 p.m.

The Chiefland Police Department and Chiefland Chamber of Commerce are looking for businesses and individuals to assist with the Trunk or Treat. Volunteers will be passing candy out of the trunk of their car, and they may decorate their trunk and dress up.

If you're interested in participating, please email or call Joy at the Chamber at (352) 493-1849. If you can't attend but would like to donate candy, you can have your donations picked up. As always, your support is appreciated!

September jobless rates lowest in more than a decade

The unemployment rate in the CareerSource Citrus Levy Marion region was 3.7 percent in September, down a full percentage point over the month and 1.1 percent lower than the same time last year.

The labor force was 202,042, a bump of 1,707 over the month and 795 more over the year. The number of those with jobs increased by 3,603 over the month to 194,554 which is 2,917 more than September 2017. The number of unemployed dropped by 1,896 since August to 7,488, a decrease of 2,122 over the year.

According to today's release of the September employment summary by the Florida Department of Economic Opportunity, Levy County continues to hold the lowest jobless rate in the region at 3.2 percent, down from the August rate of 4.1 percent; Marion County's rate is 3.6 percent, a 0.9 percent drop over the month; and Citrus County's rate fell from 5.4 percent to 4.3 percent.

To put that in context, the last time the region's unemployment rates were that low, the average price of a movie ticket was $6.88, admission to Disney World was $71, gas cost $2.85 a gallon and The Departed struck box office gold. That was in April and May 2007 for Marion and Citrus counties and May 2006 for Levy County.

Florida's not seasonally adjusted jobless rate - a measure that matches the way local rates are calculated - is 3.0 percent, a decrease of 0.8 percentage point over the month and down from 4.1 percent a year ago.

CareerSource CLM's CEO Rusty Skinner said this month's report shows positive growth in both labor force and employment for all three counties.

"These are important metrics considering the tightness of the labor market," he said. "It shows more entering the labor force, providing additional talent for our employers and shows that this increase in person searching for jobs is being absorbed by the labor market."

"Overall, when compared to last year this time, we show combined growth in both metrics as well. This represents a positive sign that our labor market is responding to an improved economy."

Nonfarm employment in September for the Ocala/Marion County metropolitan statistical area was 105,000, an increase of 4,700 jobs over the year for a job growth rate of 4.7 percent.

The Homosassa Springs MSA's non-farm employment was 33,900, an increase of 1,300 new jobs in nonfarm employment over the month for a 4.0-percent job growth rate.

The Ocala MSA had the second fastest annual job growth rate compared to all other metro areas in the state in education and health services, at 6.6 percent - that's after six consecutive months of the fastest growth in education and health services.

Over the year, the Homosassa Springs metro continued to post the fastest job growth rate compared to all metros in government at 6.8 percent.

Levy County's labor force expanded by 305 to 17,157, the number of those with jobs increased by 436 to 16,605, and the number of unemployed decreased by 131 to 552. That's an over-the-year drop of 145 unemployed when the rate was 4.0 percent.

According to the employment data for September, unemployment rates fell in all 67 counties. The county with the highest unemployment rate in the state was Hendry County at 6.6 percent. Citrus County tied with Sumter County for the third highest rate, Marion County tied with Miami-Dade County to claim the 12th highest rate at 3.6 percent - the same as the national rate - and Levy County tied with five other counties with the 23rd highest rate.

Marion County's labor force increased by 840 to 136,261, the number of those with jobs rose by 2,082 to 131,408 and the number of unemployed fell by 1,242 to 4,853. In September 2017, when the rate was 4.7 percent, there were 1,444 more unemployed and 2,365 fewer employed.

Citrus County's labor force grew by 562 to 48,624, the number of employed rose by 1,085 to 46,541 while the number of unemployed fell by 523 to 2,083. Compared to September 2017, when the jobless rate was 5.4 percent, that's an increase of 633 employed and a decrease of 533 unemployed.

Among the metro areas, the Homosassa Springs/Citrus County MSA tied with

NASCAR THIS WEEK

SPEED FREAKS

A few questions we had to ask ourselves

Of the eight remaining, who's your biggest surprise?

GODSPEAK: Chase Elliott. When this season started, he had no wins and was doing so-so. Suddenly, he's the guy to beat.

KEN'S CALL: It's easy to suggest Aric Almirola, and maybe even Clint Bowyer, but I'll say Kurt Busch because he's a lame duck at Stewart-Haas Racing, yet keeps it alive.

On the other side, whose departure is most surprising?

GODSPEAK: Sorry to see Ryan Blaney get weeded out of the playoff pot. Cool-headed driver who makes things happen.

KEN'S CALL: Three of the four must be disappointed, but most disappointed should be Kyle Larson, because his entire season seems to be a downer.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

RYAN BLANEY VS. NASCAR

POINTS: Blaney had a good day despite kissing the wall with his No. 12 Ford during in the race. He finished seventh, but six points out of the playoffs.

GODWIN KELLY'S TAKE: Blaney is going to learn from this experience and become a real threat next year and in seasons to come. "I messed up and cost us a shot," Blaney said.

GODWIN'S PICKS FOR MARTINSVILLE

WINNER: Jimmie Johnson

REST OF TOP 5: Kyle Busch, Joey Logano, Chase Elliott, Kevin Harvick

FIRST ONE OUT: William Byron

DARK HORSE: Denny Hamlin

DON'T BE SURPRISED IF: Johnson wins. This is where Hendrick Motorsports drivers have the best chance to score a victory.

MOTOR MOUTHS PODCAST

Eight guys remain alive for the next round of the playoffs. Well, 10, assuming you count us.

MARTINSVILLE

THREE THINGS TO WATCH

While Chase Elliott enjoyed his second win in three weeks and advanced in the playoffs, four other drivers were cut from postseason play following the race at Kansas. (AP/COLIN E. BRALEY)

1. The fallen four

Four drivers were cut from the playoff herd Sunday at Kansas Speedway as the NASCAR Cup Series heads into the Round of 8. The drivers failing to make the cut were Brad Keselowski, Ryan Blaney, Kyle Larson and Alex Bowman. "I am proud of what we did down the stretch of the year," Keselowski said. "We won three races and did all that ... but of course the ultimate goal is to win a championship."

2. Ford's odds

Going strictly by strength in numbers, Ford's chances of winning the driver's championship look very good at this point. Of the eight drivers still in play, five are from the Ford camp, including all four cars from Stewart-Haas Racing. Toyota has a pair of candidates in Kyle Busch and Martin Truex Jr., while Chevrolet is represented by Chase Elliott. "We will take it one week at a time," said Harvick, a Ford driver.

3. Abbreviated schedule

Martinsville will have only two days of racing activity, and if you blink you might miss practice or a race. The NASCAR Camping World Truck Series will qualify and race on Saturday. The race is scheduled for 1 p.m. on Fox Sports 1. The NASCAR Cup Series has two practices scheduled Saturday, but both will be broadcast on NBC's stock-market network, CNBC. Guess it fits because this is STOCK car racing.

QUESTIONS & ATTITUDE

Compelling questions ... and maybe a few actual answers

What happened to the 'Big 3'?

They're all still very much alive in the playoffs ... well, at least two of them. But it's true, what looked to be a three-man show through summer has given way to Chase Elliott's current roll. Kyle Busch showed good form at Kansas, finishing second, but that came after finishes of 32nd, eighth and 26th the previous three weeks. Kevin Harvick was 28th and 12th the past two weeks, with his most recent win coming Aug. 12 at Michigan. And Martin Truex Jr., who seems out of stride since his team's lame-duck status became official, finally got back into the top 10 at Kansas after three races outside of it.

So now it's a 'Big ... 1'?

Momentum is only as good as your next set of tires, so don't start thinking Elliott's No. 9 team has it all figured out. Someone will hit on something over the next few weeks and find the fast lane, and given their 2018 track records, don't bet against the Harvick and Kyle Busch teams.

THREE THINGS WE LEARNED

1. Much ado

There was a lot of talk about Kyle Larson's 10-point penalty, which knocked him out of a mathematical chance of moving into the Round of 8. Ganassi Racing appealed and lost. "I don't know much about the appeal stuff," Larson said. "I kind of just drive the race car."

2. When you're hot

When you're hot, you're hot. It took Chase Elliott three seasons to win his first race, but in his past 11 starts, he has won three races, including a pair of victories in the Round of 12. "This is a huge time of year," Elliott said. "We have a lot of work to do and a long way to go."

3. Bowman beaming

As expected, Alex Bowman's

Kyle Larson's team had a controversial week, but he put the blinders on heading into Kansas. (AP/COLIN E. BRALEY) playoff came to an end, but he was just happy to make the field. "I'm very proud of the progress we've made over the course of the year and how everybody at Hendrick Motorsports has stepped up," said Bowman, who replaced Dale Earnhardt Jr. in '18.

The Villages for the highest rate and the Ocala MSA continued to hold the fifth highest rate.

The Ocala MSA's nonfarm employment of 105,000 included strong job growth in most industry sectors.

In addition to education and health services, which grew by 6.6 percent over the year adding 1,200 new jobs, the following grew faster in the metro area than statewide over the year: manufacturing, 800 new jobs for a 9.8 percent job growth rate; leisure and hospitality, +1,100 jobs for a 9.1 percent growth rate; and professional and business services, +800 jobs for a 9.0 percent growth rate.

Other industries gaining jobs over the year were trade, transportation and utilities (+600 jobs); and mining, logging and construction (+200 jobs).

The information, financial activities, other services and government industries were unchanged over the year.

The region's employment summary for October will be released on Friday, Nov. 16.

Meggs, and Sarah Kreiser took third.

Saturday night at the club house was the scene of a tasty full-course steak dinner and a live band playing with lots of dancing by the crowd of over 250 people. There was a huge raffle drawing and the grand prize was a beautiful bronze-colored golf cart. Everyone enjoyed a wonderful evening of celebration.

RIGHT: Elaine Hargrove, Betty Tillis, and Terri Harris.

The 41st Annual Rye Grass Tournament was held at Chiefland Golf and Country Club Oct. 11 through Oct. 14, with perfect weather. The Ladies Scramble kicks off the event on Thursday morning. The first place team of Elaine Hargrove, Betty Tillis, and Terri Harris posted a net score of 69. The team of Carol Healy, Terri Biede, and Adrienne Snyder took second with a net score of 73. There was a delicious seafood buffet that evening at the club house to cap off the scramble.

On Friday and Saturday, the women played for the singles Rye Grass Championship. Terri Harris won her fourth Rye Grass Championship by posting net scores of 63 and 65 on the two days. Second place was snagged by Shirley

Ask the Guys

Dear Classified Guys, I need your help. I advertised my old car in the newspaper for $3000, and continued to drive it until my new car arrived. While going to work, I accidentally spilled coffee on my lap, swerved off the road and crashed through some bushes. My car finally stopped when it hit a Jesus statue on the front lawn of someone's house. Aside from having to pay for the bushes and a new statue, I now have a car with $1500 worth of damage. I don't know what to do. Should I repair the car and then sell it or just lower the price and hope someone buys it? Now that my new car is here, I'm looking for ideas.

Cash: Have you considered that running into a religious statue might be a sign from above? Maybe you're meant to give up drinking coffee on the way to work.

Carry: Whether you received a message or not, your options really depend on the damage to your car and your insurance coverage. From your circumstances, it seems you didn't have collision insurance. In that case, repairs to the property and your car come out of your pocket.

THE CLASSIFIED GUYS

Duane "Cash" Holze & Todd "Carry" Holze

Cash: The next question is how bad was the damage to your car? Considering the high cost of repairs, a few scratches and a dent from a statue could easily rack up $1500 worth of repairs.

Carry: If the damage is simply cosmetic, try selling the vehicle without having the repair work done. Believe it or not, there are a lot of people who will buy a good running car with a dent or two, especially if you adjust the price accordingly.

Cash: And even if you're not a religious person, you may want to take your new car to church next weekend!

fencepost on her first driving lesson. I'm just glad I bought it before she tried parallel parking!

Carry: Since you already have your new car and are probably looking for a headache-free conclusion to your situation, try selling your car without investing a lot of money. Even if you had all the repairs done, your car may never regain its full $3000 value. Although it depends on the extent of your damage, the most economical solution is to accept the loss and sell the car as it is.

Cash: And even if you're not a religious person, you may want to take your new car to church next weekend!

Fast Facts

Staying Focused

It's one thing to see an accident while driving on the highway. It's another to cause a collision of your own while turning to look. Believe it or not, rubbernecking at accidents, people or other distractions is a leading cause of the over 6 million accidents that happen every year. Driver fatigue, cell phones, other passengers and adjusting the radio also rank among the leading causes of crashes. So the next time you're driving, be safe and keep your eyes on the road.

One Stop Shopping

"It's just a quick trip to the store. I don't need to wear my seatbelt." It's a common excuse that could prove fatal. Wearing a seat belt is not only the law, but also a safe habit we should all have. Surprising, only about 68% of all drivers wear their seat belts. While most of us never plan on a collision close to home, three out of four accidents happen within 25 miles of home. And approximately 40% occur at less than 40 mph. That sounds just about the speed and distance of a quick trip to the store.

Soaked

There's a small pond on the corner of my road that cars can accidentally slide into when the road is wet and slippery.

Last rainstorm one driver took the turn too fast and skidded his new car right into the water. Fortunately, the pond is only a few feet deep so he escaped unharmed and the police quickly arrived at the scene.

As the gentleman watched a tow truck pull his car out of the pond, the officer explained how he would have to write a citation.

"For what?" asked the gentleman still in his dripping suit and tie.

Jokingly the officer replied, "For not having any boat registration."

of Chiefland boys dominated the event. CKS finished second for the boys, followed by WMHS.

Lady Indians eighth-grader Banner Hodge finished second for the varsity girls, at 22:02, followed by fellow CMHS girls Aubrey Hudson (third) and Shanie Keene (fourth), helping the Lady Indians to a team win. Williston's Faith Hardy won the girls' event at a time of 21:40.

Several Chiefland runners posted personal record times.

The girls and boys competed in the district championship meet Oct. 24 at St. Francis Catholic in Gainesville.

Gore said. "Some of those guys were nervous, so we had to talk them up a little and calm them down."

Sedrick Moultrie, Wyatt Hammond and L.J. Jenkins recovered fumbles for the Chiefland defense.

Levi Warmack led Bronson with 32 yards on 11 carries.

"We didn't want to run up the score, but we didn't want them to score either," said Gore, noting that starting defenders reentered the game when Bronson neared the red zone in the second half. "The defense takes pride in what they do."

The Eagles are sorely lacking in depth and experience this season, the first under Seth Stebbins. Stebbins told his team after the game he was proud of how they've stuck together through the adversity and have refused to give up.

Bronson celebrates senior night Oct. 26 against Bell.

Gore was pleased with his team's week of practice after losing in Hawthorne.

"We could have hung our heads a little bit and felt sorry for ourselves," he said. "First thing at practice Monday afternoon we said, 'We coached bad, we played bad, we'd love to go back and change it, but we can't.'"

"We need to focus on what we still have in front of us, and who knows, maybe we'll end up playing them again."

AMEND

What it means: This amendment is a three-parter. It provides college tuition for survivors of first-responders and military members killed on duty. It requires university trustees to have a two-thirds majority to raise college fees excluding tuition. And it establishes the state college system in the Florida Constitution.

What else: This is one of three amendments challenged that is still pending with the Florida Supreme Court.

Who wants it: No one specifically that we could find, though the two-thirds rule before raising college fees is backed by those who believe boards of trustees are too quick to raise fees now.

Who doesn't: No one to the specific issues; however, opponents do not like three issues combined into one amendment.

Pro/Con: No websites for either side other than the CRC site, www.flcra.gov.

Amendment 8: There is no Amendment 8. It was removed by the state Supreme Court so your ballot will jump from 7 to 9.)

Amendment 9: Prohibits Offshore Oil and Gas Drilling; Prohibits Vaping in Enclosed Indoor Workplaces.

Ballot summary: "Prohibits drilling for the exploration or extraction of oil and natural gas beneath all state-owned waters between the mean high water line and the state's outermost territorial boundaries. Adds use of vapor-generating electronic devices to current prohibition of tobacco smoking in enclosed indoor workplaces with exceptions; permits more restrictive local vapor ordinances."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission

What it means: Fairly straightforward, this amendment bans offshore oil and natural gas drilling in Florida waters and, in the same, um, breath, prohibits vaping in enclosed workplaces.

What else: This is one of three amendments still pending before the state Supreme Court.

Who wants it: Florida Wildlife Federation; American Cancer Society.

Who doesn't: Florida Petroleum Council; Florida Chamber of Commerce.

Pro/Con: Other than the groups listed above, we couldn't find any websites on either side.

Amendment 10: State and Local Government Structure and Operation.

Ballot summary: "Requires legislature to retain department of veterans' affairs. Ensures election of sheriffs, property appraisers, supervisors of elections, tax collectors, and clerks of court in all counties; removes county charters' ability to abolish, change term, transfer duties, or eliminate election of these offices. Changes annual legislative session commencement date in even-numbered years from March to January; removes legislature's authorization to fix another date. Creates office of domestic security and counterterrorism within department of law enforcement."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission

What it means: This bundled amendment does several things. It places the Department of Veterans Affairs in the Constitution. It sets the start of the legislative session in January during even-numbered years; it creates an office of domestic security and counterterrorism within the FDLE. And it also requires each county to elect the people we now elect -- sheriff, property appraiser, supervisor of elections, tax collector and clerk of courts.

What else: The local elections aspect is aimed at charter counties. For example, one charter county -- Miami-Dade -- has an appointed police chief and not an elected sheriff. (Levy) is not a charter county.

Who wants it: Didn't think we'd find any particular group staking claim to this amendment, but we did. It's Florida C.O.R.E., which is comprised of the state organizations representing sheriffs, clerks of court, tax collectors and property appraisers. "Without Amendment 10, the rights of voters to elect the officers who serve them is in jeopardy," its website reads.

Who doesn't: League of Women Voters of Florida and other groups that oppose the bundling of multiple subjects under one amendment.

Pro/Con: www.floridacore.org is definitely a pro; www.lwvfl.org is opposed.

Amendment 11: Property Rights; Removal of Obsolete Provision; Criminal Statutes.

Ballot summary: "Removes discriminatory language related to real property rights. Removes obsolete language repealed by voters. Deletes provision that amendment of a criminal statute will not affect prosecution or penalties for a crime committed before the amendment; retains current provision allowing prosecution of a crime committed before the repeal of a criminal statute."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission

What it means: Another bundled amendment repeals a provision that prohibits foreign-born people who are not eligible for citizenship from owning property; deletes wording for high speed rail; clarifies that repealing a criminal statute would not necessary affect the prosecution of that crime if the prosecution occurred prior to the statute being repealed.

What else: The third of three amendments still pending with the state Supreme Court and this one is easy to see why. Wow, is this one confusing. Example: According to one source we've used (be-readytovote.org), voters in 2014 removed the high speed rail from the constitution, but the wording was never removed. That's why it's on the ballot again. Of course.

Who wants it: Not a lot of public discussion, though the amendment removes archaic language and cleans up the document.

Who doesn't: No opposition to the specific issues, but groups oppose bundling.

Pro/Con: No websites that we could find.

Amendment 12: Lobbying and Abuse of Office by Public Officers

Ballot summary: "Expands current restrictions on lobbying for compensation by former public officers; creates restrictions on lobbying for compensation by serving public officers and former justices and judges; provides exceptions; prohibits abuse of a public position by public officers and employees to obtain a personal benefit."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission

What it means: Bars public officials from lobbying during their term and for six years after; restricts elected officials and public employees from using their office for personal gain.

What else: This is the only amendment proposed by the CRC that was not sued by someone for removal from the ballot.

Who wants it: Organizations such as Common Cause that seek to hold public officials to a high standard.

Who doesn't: Those who think the amendment doesn't go far enough.

Pro/Con: No particular websites that we could find. That said, www.jamesmadison.org has an excellent explanation of both sides of this amendment.

Amendment 13: Ends Dog Racing

Ballot summary: "Phases out commercial dog racing in connection with wagering by 2020. Other gaming activities are not affected."

How it got here: Constitution Revision Commission

What it means: Another fairly straight forward amendment. It would end commercial dog racing where betting is involved by 2020.

What else: This amendment was challenged by the Florida Greyhound Association, which said the ballot language was misleading. A circuit court judge agreed and the state appealed. The state's high court sided with the state and moved it to the ballot.

Who wants it: Grey2K USA is a national organization seeking to pass greyhound protection laws and to end greyhound racing.

Who doesn't: Florida Greyhound Association.

Pro/Con: grey2kusa.org explains its quest to stop dog racing; florida-greyhound-association.com offers the alternate view.
