Response to gun incident was what was needed, authorities say

AVON PARK — The response to an incident involving a man with a gun at South Florida State College was what was needed, although the campus wasn't locked down and notifications weren't immediately made to students, officials with the Highlands County Sheriff's Office and South Florida State College said Wednesday.

"My comment would be giving the response from the Sheriff's Office combined with SFSC staff we had a positive outcome to this incident," Highlands County Sheriff Paul Blackman said. "The response from our deputy assigned to SFSC was outstanding. I am extremely proud of the citizen who called to report the incident."

The incident, authorities said, involved an altercation between a non-student and a male student.

Kevin S. McHargue Jr., 20, of Sebring and his girlfriend, Essence Marc, got into an argument with another student in a classroom, authorities said. McHargue got a loaded gun from Marc's purse and threatened the other student, authorities said.

The incident ended with the arrest of McHargue on charges of possession of 20 grams or less of marijuana, carrying a concealed firearm without a permit, possession of a firearm on school property, possession of a firearm or ammunition by a convicted felon and tampering with evidence.

Marc was charged with possession of a firearm on school property.

SFSC students surprised and shocked by gun incident

By MARC VALERO

AVON PARK — South Florida State College students said they were surprised and shocked to learn about a person with a gun on campus, but one student noted it is an unfortunate reality of today's world.

Sophomore Nathan Wilson was on the Avon Park campus Tuesday during the incident working as an intern at the Alan Jay Wildstein Center for the Performing Arts.

"I heard about it through the text messaging and all that stuff like everybody else," he said. "It was a little bit of a surprise, but stuff has been happening with craziness and every college campus at some point has had to deal with that."

He named off a number of universities, including the University of Florida and the University of Central Florida.

"It's happening everywhere; unfortunately it is just the reality of the world we live in today," Wilson said.

After leaving her economics class in Building B, junior Mia Dumadag said she was listening to music on her earphones when she noticed a number of people on the first floor of Building B including sheriff's deputies and security. She wondered what was happening.

Junior Evi Arce, who was sitting with Dumadag Wednesday morning in the Health Sciences Building lounge, said, "I

'Sneak peek'

PHIL ATTINGER/STAFF

Denise Grimsley, second from right, gives a tour as administrator for Florida Hospital Wauchula to dignitaries during a sneak peek Tuesday at the hospital's new $31.5 million facility on U.S. 17 northbound at Fifth Avenue in Wauchula. The facility will officially open on Sunday with hopes of moving patients in by mid-December. With Grimsley are, from left, Florida Hospital Foundation board member Jean Lund; Jerry Whitfield, project manager for Brasfield & Gorrie General Contractors; Dr. Rey Arcenas of Cardiology Associates; Cathy Jaco, director of Quality for Florida Hospital Heartland Division, and Dr. Jorge Gonzalez-Jirau, chief medical officer for Florida Hospital Heartland Division.

Florida Hospital completes $31.5M Wauchula site

WAUCHULA — When Florida Hospital Wauchula patients move to the new building on U.S. 17, they should have spacious and well-appointed rooms for rehab.

"We're almost always at capacity," said Denise Grimsley, registered nurse and — when she isn't serving as a state senator in Tallahassee — administrator for the facility. "On average, our patients have a 14-day stay for rehabilitation. We wanted it to be comfortable."

The new $31.5 million facility started construction July 7, 2016 and would have opened Oct. 29, 2017 had Hurricane Irma not interrupted work, Grimsley said. Work itself was only shut down a week, but the delay put the building into a different three-week state inspection cycle.

Grimsley led one of two tour groups through the new building — a two-story, L-shaped glass and concrete structure on 9.5 acres with two driveways and room to expand to the east and south. Cathy Albritton, director of marketing and CREATIONHealth, said the new hospital will be about the same size — 50,000 square feet — with a 15-bed emergency room, 25-bed transitional care unit and extensive therapy rooms. Albritton, who led the other tour, said it took three days to shut down and secure the site ahead of Irma. Ten days later, without power, workers returned while some of their crews still couldn't return until they had secured their own homes. It took another week to get equipment back on site, Albritton said.

Still, it got finished ahead of schedule. The original finish date was Dec. 31, 2017, Albritton said.

On Tuesday, crews were still putting sliding front doors on the facility, in preparation of the public open house at noon Sunday. A program with seating for 400 will be set on the facility's helipad — something the old site didn't have.

Grimsley said the physical therapy room is three times the size of the one at the old Carlton Street facility.

Denise Grimsley, administrator of Florida Hospital Wauchula, shows a tour group one of the patient rooms on the second floor of the hospital's new facility. The 'sneak peek' on Tuesday let local dignitaries see the improvements at the new campus.

Florida Hospital Wauchula did not have a helipad at the previous location on Carlton Street. Now, as seen here from the roof of the new facility on U.S. 17 at Fifth Street, the facility has a helipad between it and the northbound lanes of the highway.

"We really struggled with space," Grimsley said.

A second therapy room includes household fixtures and appliances — a shower, washer, dryer, dishwasher, range and refrigerator

HCSO educates church members on what to do during active shooting incident

SEBRING — Having retired from law enforcement after a 48-year career, Jerry Hart knows about dangers in the community.

Several years ago with that knowledge, Hart, who worked 30 years as a Florida Highway Patrol trooper, talked with pastors about starting a security program to protect church members, especially children, at Grace Bible Church.

Initially, he said, the pastors weren't enthusiastic about the idea.

"They didn't really feel it was needed at the time," he said.

But on Tuesday night at Grace Bible Church, it was evident that attitudes regarding church security have changed. At least 225 local church pastors and members attended a presentation from the Highlands County Sheriff's Office on what to do if an

Sebring man dies in two-vehicle crash

By JAY MEISEL
Staff Writer

SEBRING — A Sebring man was one of two drivers in a two-vehicle crash that killed three people on Nov. 22 in Glades County, according to a Florida Highway Patrol press release issued Tuesday.

Louis Angel Pena, 22, of Sebring, died at the scene as did the driver and a passenger of a second vehicle, according to an updated press release issued Tuesday.

The driver of the second vehicle, Manuel Rodriguez, 31, of Immokalee and passenger J. Nicolas Rodriguez, 71, of Immokalee, died at the scene.

Three other passengers in the second vehicle, Gloria Rodriguez, 62, Jeanette Alvarado, 29, and Alfredo Rodriguez, 41, all of Immokalee, were transported to hospitals in serious condition. Gloria Rodriguez was taken to Hendry Regional Medical Center, Alvarado was taken to Florida Hospital Lake Placid and Alfredo Rodriguez was taken to Lee Memorial Hospital.

The FHP press release said the crash occurred on State Road 29 north of Chaparral Avenue. The vehicle driven by Pena was southbound, while the other vehicle was northbound, the press release said.

Pena's vehicle crossed into the northbound lane and struck the front of the other vehicle, the press release said. Both vehicles caught fire.

A fundraising campaign was started on www.gofundme.com to help the family of Pena.

"We lost an angel and Heaven gained an angel," a cousin of Pena wrote on the fundraising page. As of Tuesday afternoon, $770 had been raised.

Man sentenced in 'Stop the Violence' shooting

By JAY MEISEL

AVON PARK — It may have been the ultimate of ironies when on May 14, 2016 gunfire erupted involving two groups of people congregated just outside a "Stop the Violence" rally.

When the shooting ended, a 5-year-old and a 20-year-old woman were injured and law enforcement arrested several men.

On Tuesday afternoon, in what is apparently the last case stemming from the shootout to go through the court system, Jaquarius Nagee Watson was sentenced in Highlands County Circuit Court to seven years in prison, followed by five years probation.

WATSON

Highlands County Circuit Judge Peter Estrada sentenced Watson, who pleaded no contest, to seven years each on charges of aggravated battery with a deadly weapon and shooting a missile into a vehicle, dwelling, building or aircraft. Those sentences will be served concurrently.

Watson was sentenced to time served on a third charge of discharging a firearm in public. Prosecutors had dismissed a fourth charge of aggravated battery on a child.

Previously, several of the people involved in the incident were sentenced.

Duran Randolph, a former Sebring High School football player, was sentenced to 364 days in jail on a charge of discharging a firearm in public.

Marquis Wooden pleaded no contest to discharging a firearm in public and shooting a missile into a vehicle, dwelling, building or aircraft and received one year and one day in prison and three years probation.

Rakel Yarde pleaded no contest to shooting a missile into a vehicle, discharging a firearm and felony battery. He received two years in prison and four years probation.

Raheem Yarde pleaded no contest to discharging a firearm and shooting a missile into a vehicle. Adjudication was withheld on a charge of aggravated battery on a child. He was sentenced to one year, four days in prison and three years probation.

Jeffery Doby Jr. pleaded no contest to discharging a firearm, shooting a missile into a vehicle and battery. He was sentenced to one year, four days in prison and five years probation.

Man faces additional charge after deputy sees video

By JAY MEISEL

SEBRING — Back in 2009, a court ended probation for David Bermudez, who had been convicted of four counts of felony credit card fraud.

That is why Bermudez, who had been arrested on several charges this year, faces another felony charge after a Highlands County Sheriff's deputy saw a video on Bermudez's cellphone.

BERMUDEZ

The video shows Bermudez shooting a gun at the range, despite that he was a convicted felon, a warrant released Tuesday says.

Bermudez, 31, of 216 Northwood Road, Sebring, was arrested by the Highlands County Sheriff's Office and charged with possession of a firearm or ammunition by a convicted felon. He also has been charged with dispensing optical devices without a prescription, possession of liquid THC, possession of marijuana with intent to sell or deliver within 1,000 feet of a church, possession of marijuana, use of a two-way communication device to facilitate a felony and delivery of drug paraphernalia.

The investigation initially involved a Facebook post where Bermudez was selling Halloween contacts for $25. Bermudez did not require that the buyer have a prescription for the contacts, although the law requires that, the warrant said.

Further investigation led to the discovery of liquid THC and marijuana, the warrant said.

OUR VIEW

A strong year for Florida's environment?

Recent news reports from Tallahassee indicate 2018 could be a bounce-back year for environmental conservation programs in Florida, as politicians jockey for position in a big election year.

We'll take it, whatever the underlying reasons may be.

In early November, the Senate Appropriations Committee approved a bill that would pump $100 million into the Florida Forever land preservation fund.

The measure was sponsored by Sen. Rob Bradley, a Fleming Island Republican who took over chairmanship of the powerful committee chair when Sen. Jack Latvala stepped aside following allegations of sexual harassment.

"There will, I think it's fair to say, be a strong commitment from the Senate towards environmental efforts this year," Bradley told reporters. "What it looks like, it remains to be seen."

From the looks of it, the commitment seems positive.

Already moving through the committee process was a bill from Latvala that would set aside a $50 million for beach renourishment and inlet management projects in Florida. Reinforcing that was the budget recommended by Gov. Rick Scott, which also included a $50 million beach restoration appropriation.

That funding is entirely appropriate, considering the importance of maintaining a healthy shoreline for residents and the many millions of tourists and snowbirds attracted to our beaches every year. (Note that figures released recently show Florida's tourist industry continues to surge, with a record of nearly 30 million visitors reported in the July-September quarter.)

Without proper maintenance, our beaches will deteriorate. Without plentiful, attractive beaches, Florida's tourism industry will falter too.

A commitment to renourishment, and a commitment to continued funding, is especially critical.

Long-range projections depend on adequate cost-sharing from the state, and local residents and taxpayers will need reassurance the state will meet its commitment.

So Bradley's bill is a positive for us. Scott's budget is a positive.

Scott's budget proposal also included $64 million for a reservoir south of Lake Okeechobee that would cut the flow of polluted water into South Florida rivers, including the Caloosahatchee.

Another $50 million is earmarked by the governor for coastline repairs for damage caused by Hurricane Irma. Again, an opportunity.

Then comes the Florida Forever funding proposal. Scott's budget sets aside $50 million for land preservation. Bradley's Senate bill boosts that to $100 million.

Land purchases through Florida Forever have been curtailed in recent years, even after voters passed a constitutional amendment in 2014 designating a real estate tax source for the program. This year, the land purchase allotment was zero.

The real estate "documentary tax" is expected to bring in $862 million in the next fiscal year, according to the News Service of Florida. The amount that would be set aside in line with the amendment would come to roughly $287 million.

Considering the overwhelming voter intent for the amendment, $100 million isn't too much to ask. Especially in an election year.

Involvement should continue beyond election

GUEST COLUMN
Earl Claire

After an election, many conservatives tend to go back to the business of life, and ignore the daily political battles. However, the attitude of non-involvement on the part of conservative voters between elections makes it then more difficult to hold ground that we had previously gained. This year we are acutely aware of the non-stop resistance and obstruction employed by the liberal left to the actions taken to initiate the reforms promised by those we elected. Conservatives who believe in limited government, individual responsibility, entrepreneurial capitalism and equitable tax policy are opposed by the liberal agenda of big government. This agenda stifles individual responsibility and capitalism by over-regulation and over taxation of the very people who primarily fund our government. Liberals employ class warfare and a "them" versus "us" mantra to vilify those who have achieved the "American dream" that has made our nation uniquely successful. Republican-led efforts to reduce taxes and reform our tax structure are meeting with just such resistance and obstruction.

The recent House-passed tax reform bill contains many changes that will give all of us more control over our hard-earned money. The liberal left, true to form, is following their supplied talking points to obstruct and resist by arguing that the House bill is nothing but a tax cut for the rich and only benefits big corporations. On the contrary, the current bill provides tax relief to individuals and businesses of all income levels whether Democrats want to admit it or not.

According to the latest U.S. Census data, the median income in Highlands County is $35,093 a year. Under the reforms in the House-passed tax bill, individuals and households making $24,000 or less a year will not be taxed on their income, period. For people earning up to $45,000 a year, their current tax rate of 15 percent will be reduced to 12 percent. For the 42,709 small business owners in our congressional district who earn up to $150,000 in business income, they will only pay 9 percent in taxes on the first $75,000 in earnings and the overall rate will be capped at 25 percent. This is the other side of the story that Democrat talking points leave out. While the proposed tax plans do lower taxes on corporations, they also lower taxes on low and middle-income families and businesses of all sizes, including those in our agricultural economy.

According to the latest data available from the U.S.D.A, there are 14,483 farms in Florida, including 969 in Highlands County. Over 9,800 of all Florida farms are considered family or individually-owned and another 2,814 are family-owned corporations. Only 1,500 are considered either partnerships or non-family owned corporations. Florida's agriculture industry's contributions to our economy – and our country's food supply – is irreplaceable. According to the Highlands County Farm Bureau, the citrus industry alone provides $200 million in annual economic benefits to Highlands County and more than 300 beef cattle producers in Highlands contributed an average of $31 million in annual gross sales.

The current tax code, more specifically the so-called "death tax," unfairly penalizes Florida farmers and ranchers who wish to pass their family-owned businesses on to the next generation. Anybody who is part of or has a friend or family member in the agriculture industry knows that most farmers are "land-rich and cash-poor." This means that most farmers inherit land – not millions of dollars in liquid assets – from family members who have passed on.

While the current tax code exempts agricultural businesses worth less than $5 million from the death tax, the death tax itself is a disincentive for farmers and ranchers to expand and diversify their business operations. As the land value in Florida increases and the demand for development rises, farmers and ranchers who otherwise would invest in expanding their businesses run the risk of exceeding the $5 million threshold. The House bill gradually increases the death tax exemption threshold from $5 million up to $10 million until the death tax is repealed altogether by 2024. Phasing out the death tax, as the House-passed bill would do, will help keep America's agriculture industry and our domestic food supply viable for generations to come.

The current House-passed tax reform bill will help communities like ours continue the American Dream. The American Dream can only survive if we support our elected leaders in their efforts to pass meaningful tax reform that will allow hard-working Americans that have paid taxes on their income their whole lives to pass that dream onto their children and grandchildren. It's as simple as that. The left tends to conveniently forget that the money citizens earn belongs to them and not to the government. That is why they complain about people who pay taxes getting tax cuts and fail to mention the fact that the proposed tax reforms and cuts stimulate economic growth and jobs and are good for all tax-paying Americans.

Conservatives need to wake up and realize that we must be involved not only in the weeks prior to an election, but between the election cycles. The liberal left is working non-stop to resist and obstruct, and their only apparent goal is to prevent reforms and meaningful accomplishments in order to regain power. It is time for conservatives to support those who are working to pass important legislation including the current very important tax reform bills moving forward in the House and Senate. Thank you to Congressman Tom Rooney for his support of the House tax reform bill and to Senator Marco Rubio for his support of the Senate tax reform efforts.

Do you know what stinks? When almost half of the eligible Americans choose to not vote. Do you know what really, really grinds my gears? That under Florida's constitution people who committed a felony but served their time are unable to vote unless they apply for and are granted clemency.

Why does that grind my gears? People should have to work to earn their right to vote again, right? If they just took the time and effort they could easily have their voting rights restored, right? Wrong. See, only 2,807 of 29,611 applicants who have applied since Jan. 4, 2011 have been approved. Florida's governor, attorney general, and two cabinet members decide on who gets approved and who does not. Besides how subjective this process can be, do you know how much time that takes out of their schedule in order to review and approve these cases?

The fact is that 1.5 million adult American citizens are barred from voting because they reside in Florida, one of only three states with this legal requirement. Trust me that applying and receiving clemency is no easy process. In fact, Desmond Meade is one gentleman who has been trying for years. Mr. Meade is a former felon who has attended law school, is unable to sit for his bar exam, unable to vote, but is a passionate person who is active in D.C., started and is working tirelessly on the Say Yes to Second Chances campaign, a campaign working to restore voting rights to nonviolent offenders who never committed a sexual offense, which is 1.5 million Floridians, all because out of all 50 states, losing voting rights is almost unique to Florida.

Floridians need and deserve to have their basic right to vote and participate in democracy and, in turn, the world around them. Good news is that there is something you can do right now to help restore this right. Sign a petition at www.floridiansforafair-democracy.com (you will need to print and mail it in) or drop by La Hacienda Restaurant from 7-8 p.m. tonight (Thursday, Nov. 30) for the Voters Rights Restoration presentation where Attorney Daniel Paige will be presenting on the topic. Petitions will be available so that you can help Florida "Say Yes to Second Chances". Call 704-604-8750 for more information.

Avon Park man injured in accident

Staff Report

AVON PARK — A 26-year-old man was in critical condition after being injured in a one vehicle accident, according to a Florida Highway Patrol press release.

Josue Garcia of Avon Park was taken to Lakeland Regional Medical Center following the accident.

The accident occurred Tuesday at 10 p.m. at the intersection of Avon Estates Boulevard and Lyle Road. Garcia was headed south on Avon Estates Boulevard when he lost control of his pickup truck, and went off the roadway onto a shoulder, the press release said.

The vehicle hit a culvert and then collided with a tree, the press release said.

— to help physical therapy patients learn to function in their homes again.

Every effort was made to make them feel at home while there, however. Along with private bathrooms, patient rooms include flat-screen televisions, recliners, pull-out sofa beds, a refrigerator, microwave and a personal safe. Grimsley pointed out that all mirrors have make-up lights alongside them, to help patients get presentable, if they wish.

The main lobby will have a flat-screen composite display on a "CREATIONHealth" wall, dispensing health information and soothing scenes. Across from it will be a coffee bar, and around the corner — named for a key sponsor — is the Wauchula State Bank Cafe. Grimsley said the decor also incorporates the orange and blue of Hardee High School Wildcats.

Sunday's open house starts at noon and includes a fried chicken buffet lunch along with entertainment. The site is at 735 S. Fifth Ave., just north of Carlton Street on northbound U.S. 17 in Wauchula.

active shooter entered the church.

Sheriff's Office representatives, as well as a video produced by the city of Houston, advised people in an active shooting situation to try to flee the situation, or if that's not possible, hide. The last alternative, they said, is to confront and attempt to fight the shooter.

The program teaches people about measures that increase chances concealment will work and about using what's available to them as weapons if the situation reaches that point.

Highlands County Sheriff Paul Blackman said his office received requests from churches for such a training program after the recent mass shooting at a church in Texas.

Hart, who attended the Sheriff's Office program, said that after Grace Bible Church decided against a security program several years ago, he researched the number of church shootings. Armed with that information, Hart convinced pastors of the need. It took about eight months to research all the details of starting a security program, Hart said.

The program began about 2 1/2 years ago, he said.

During church services, security members patrol the parking lot and maintain a presence in the church, Hart said. Rear doors are locked so that people can only exit the doors, he said. Some of the security team members have concealed weapons permits and carry concealed weapons, but that's not a requirement.

However, the front door and the sanctuary doors remain open, Hart said.

"We don't want anyone coming to our church feeling like they are in jail," Hart said.

Security members receive special training and are subject to background checks. They have been trained to notice if someone is acting unusually, Hart said. They would approach the person and offer help, if needed, Hart said.

In the wake of the church shooting in Texas, Hart's received requests from other churches for information about their program.

After the Sheriff's Office program, representatives of some other churches asked about it, he said.

Not all churches have fully embraced the idea of ramping up security.

The Rev. George Miller, pastor of Emmanuel United Church of Christ, said he has somewhat conflicting reactions to the Sheriff's Office presentation.

"I have always been mindful that anything can happen at any time," he said.

But, at the same time, he said, the church strives to be open to people.

"Do you lock your doors, have guns and be afraid of every person (coming into the church)?," he asked.

Miller said he's heard that based on the number of incidents and the number of churches, the odds of having a shooting are one in 655 million.

At Grace Bible, the security program protects against more than just shootings, Hart said. Security team members help watch for anyone who might want to commit vandalism or car burglaries, he said.

"I feel that unfortunately it's a needed thing," Hart said.

Amendment would restore voting rights to ex-felons

Staff Report

SEBRING — Supporters of a proposed state Constitutional Amendment to restore voting rights to ex-felons will make a presentation from 7-8 p.m. Thursday at the La Hacienda Restaurant, 825 N. Ridgewood Drive, Sebring.

Attorney Daniel Page will speak about the amendment that would restore the voting rights to people after they've completed their sentence.

A press release said that 200,000 signatures are needed to get the proposed amendment on the ballot.

It said that 1.5 million people are barred from voting because of their felony convictions in Florida.

because Highlands County Sheriff's Office did not notify the campus of the situation until an arrest had been made, said Melissa Kuehnle, spokeswoman for the college.

At that point, the Sheriff's Office advised the college that the danger was over on campus, she said. Therefore, a lockdown was not needed, she added.

The incident only lasted eight to 10 minutes, she noted.

Keith Loweke, director of safety and security, indicated that normally during incidents involving guns, the college is officially notified. But, the incident was not reported as a gun incident. Instead, the report was about "students being loud and rude in an area on campus," he said.

Kuehnle said that the deputy assigned to the campus investigated the complaint and quickly detained McHargue as he left campus.

As to why no notifications were sent out so students could protect themselves, Kuehnle said, by the time the campus could have sent out the notifications the situation was over.

Loweke and Kuehnle said they were confident based on the Sheriff's Office information that the right person, McHargue, was being detained and no further danger existed.

Information was sent out 90 minutes after the incident to dispel rumors.

McHargue is no stranger to law enforcement.

Records show that on July 26, McHargue was charged with possession of drug equipment after a traffic stop.

On Dec. 12, 2014, while incarcerated at the Highlands County jail, McHargue was charged with battery by a detained person. Video showed McHargue and several others attacking another inmate, an arrest report said.

On May 7, 2014, he was charged with armed burglary of a conveyance, second-degree grand theft and burglary of a conveyance. An investigation of two burglaries led to the arrest, a report said.

He was also charged with possession of a weapon for ammunition by a delinquent in connection with an earlier incident.

On April 19, 2012, he was charged with arson, burglary and tampering with evidence after an investigation showed that a fire was started at a residence to cover up evidence of a burglary. An arrest report said that McHargue said he was attempting to destroy evidence from a previous burglary.

He's also been arrested in connection with several other burglaries.

didn't think anything like that would happen on this campus."

Dumadag agreed.

Arce said it is usually quiet at South Florida State College.

"You hear of stuff like this happening at bigger campuses," she said.

"But, not at a small one," Dumadag added.

Arce credited authorities with being able to handle the situation with no one getting hurt.

Dumadag agreed.

"At least nobody got hurt, knowing that it was a firearm, but still it was kind of freaky that someone would bring a firearm to class," she said.

Arce was at work when she received the text message about the incident.

Freshman Tyler Nelson had his American history class before the incident and was not on campus at the time.

When he saw the text message from the college, "I was shocked; I was like 'wow,'" Nelson said.

The text stated no one was hurt and the person was detained, he said.

South Florida State College estimates there were about 500 students on the Highlands (Avon Park) campus at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The total annual un-duplicated student enrollment for SFSC (all campuses) is 6,029.

The median student age is 23.

5 THINGS That Will Make You SMARTER

1. Porcupines are large, slow-moving rodents with sharp quills on their backs.
2. They are found on every continent except Antarctica.
3. Porcupines have long, sharp quills that cover their bodies. Some quills can get up to a foot long.
4. Porcupines use the quills as a defense. They may shake them, which makes them rattle, as a warning to potential predators.
5. The quills are loosely attached but cannot be thrown or projected. Once a quill is lost, it isn't lost forever. They grow back over time.

Classic 12 begins today

Special to Highlands News-Sun

An amazing lineup of legendary race cars from the last 50 years and an even older collection of historically significant airplanes have descended upon Sebring International Raceway this week for the second annual Historic Sportscar Racing (HSR) Classic 12 Hour at Sebring, Pistons and Props, today through Sunday.

Debuting last December, the HSR Classic 12 Hour at Sebring, Pistons and Props, presented by the Alan Jay Automotive Network, is an on-track and on-the-runways celebration of the 12 Hours of Sebring and historic Hendricks Field, the iconic military and civil aviation facility on which the famous sports car race has been run for 65 years.

The Classic 12 Hour at Sebring features three full-days of HSR historic and vintage sports car racing and a full "fly-in" and display of equally iconic military and civilian aircraft from the last half century and beyond.

The full weekend also features the Sebring Historics, the season-ending rounds of the full-year 2017 HSR WeatherTech Sprint and B.R.M. Enduro series.

The Classic 12 Hour will feature four period-correct Run Groups that will each take to the legendary Sebring International Raceway four times this Saturday and Sunday. In tribute to Mobil 1 Twelve Hours of Sebring, which will be run for the 66th time this March, Saturday's SEBRING — It's a special day when a professional athlete visits a school.

It was an extra special occasion when Tampa Bay Buccaneer O.J. Howard showed up to help present Sebring High School with a check for $2,000 for its athletics program from Coke and POWERADE on Tuesday afternoon.

The Sebring High School adminstration was honored to receive the award and the school was one of only eight in the country that had an NFL player on hand for the presentation.

"It's great for our school and the community to receive this award," said Sebring High co-athletic director Jasone DeWitt. "We appreciate the check from Coke and POWERADE very much and it will go to good use for our athletic department."

Spring Lake golfers in action

BY JIM FOOTE
Special to Highlands News-Sun

On Tuesday, the Spring Lake Men's Golf Association played a "balanced team" game on the Cougar Trail golf course. It was a variation on what we refer to as "Kirby's Game" - brought to us by Ken Kirby, an excellent golfing retiree from Virginia. Normally in Kirby's Game, of the four players, only one best ball on Par 5s, two best balls on Par 4's, and three best balls on Par 3s — all net of handicap — count for score.

On this day, we decided to pick the balls to count — from one to three — at random, so that, for instance, on the par 5 first hole, three best balls were selected instead of the one best ball. On the par 4 second hole, only one best ball was selected instead of the normal two balls. The idea is that balanced four-man teams will have fun without worrying too much about the score.

First place — at 118 net strokes — went to Bill Burress, Steve Cavaney, Bob Rogers and Bob Rider. Burress shot a gross 71 and a net 66 on his own score but only contributed on nine holes, while Bob Rogers' net 74 was used on 11 holes.

There was a tie for second place at 119 strokes between Bill Brown, Steve Sandholm, Dwight Demitz and Leon Van and the team of Ed Thorsen, Edd Vowels, Gordon Reid and John Crawford. Brown shot a net 65 and only contributed on six holes while Van's net 75 was used on 11 holes, proving that this type of game is won by the high handicappers.

Gary Behrendt, Paul Benden, Gene Hearn and Gary Lueck came in fourth place with 120 net strokes. Mr. Hearn, with a 20 handicap and a net 67 contributed on 12 holes.

A tie for fifth place at 121 strokes occurred between Will David, Mike Custer, Bo Bohanon and a Blind and the team of Jan Hard, Jim Hearn, Don Cunning and a Blind. The David team won the prize money tie-breaker by winning the back nine.

Another beautiful day of golf at Spring Lake!

Lake Placid Christian School Fun-Shoot

Lake Placid Christian School is hosting its 12th annual Fun Shoot on Saturday, Feb. 24, at Square One Sporting Clay on Hwy 70.

It starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends around 2 p.m. Please mark your calendars and we hope to see you there. The lunch consist of prime rib, green beans with potato, corn, strawberry shortcake and a roll. Jumbo shrimp for an appetizer and ice tea.

McGuffin captures Pickleball title

Special to Highlands News-Sun

Hayden, ID – Tyson McGuffin captured his first-ever major Championship winning the Men's Singles Open Division of 2017 USA Pickleball Association National Championships, at Palm Creek Golf & RV Resort in Casa Grande, AZ.

Tyson's victory propelled him to the No. 1 men's singles ranking in the world for Pickleball, a fun and exciting sport that combines elements of Badminton, Tennis and Ping Pong, and is recognized as the fastest growing sport in the USA with an estimated 2.5 million players and growing.

In addition to his tournament earnings $900 for winning Nationals, McGuffin received a $3,500 performance bonus from Selkirk Sport, the leading high performance paddle brand, as part of the first-ever Pickleball Player Incentive Pool program.

Selkirk's Player Incentive Pool program was created to incentivize athletes to compete with their innovative line-up of performance paddles. McGuffin led a contingent of Team Selkirk Staff players equipped with Selkirk's new AMPED Series paddle at Nationals. The AMPED series is a first-of-its kind Made-in-the-USA collection of paddles that combine revolutionary technology with enhanced features that promote increased power, better ball control, and a larger sweetspot - the most critical benefits to maximize performance for players of all levels. Ty's elusive Major Championship victory (he was runner-up last year at Nationals & the US Open) is a strong endorsement for Selkirk's

School program, which awarded $1 million to high school athletic programs around the country.

Sebring High varsity basketball coach Princeton Harris was instrumental in helping the Blue Streaks receive this check.

"The POWERADE Power Your School program is by Coca Cola North America and coach Harris applied for the scholarship," said Coca Cola communications specialist Jaclyn O'Connor. "Sebring was selected as one of the recipients and we're proud to bring this to the school. We're also the only school in Florida to have an NFL player. The money goes to the athletics department of the school and can be used at their discretion. Mr. Howard is here as a representative of the Buccaneers who Coke works with. Sports is very important because it helps to empower kids, promotes teamwork and builds relationships. These skills will be useful the rest of their lives."

Howard, who played tight end for Alabama from 2013-2016, was selected in the first round of the 2017 NFL draft by Tampa Bay.

The 6-foot 6 Howard, who has had a solid rookie season for the Buccaneers, knows how important high school athletics are and was happy to be on hand for the check presentation.

"I'm glad to be here because this is a wonderful opportunity to present a great school with a check from POWERADE," Howard said. "High school sports are very important to student-athletes and the proper training and coaching they receive can make a big difference in their lives."

Howard, who grew up in the small town of Prattville, Ala., has earned a Communications Degree from the University of Alabama, and is focused on being a good role model for student-athletes.

"I choose to be a role model for all the kids," said Howard. "I come from a small town in Alabama and that shows you that if you study, work hard and keep your head on straight, you'll get to where you want to go. I have two more classes to finish my Master's Degree which I'm very proud of. You have to do the work in the classroom and on the field if you want to be successful."

Howard realizes that his NFL career won't last long and his education will serve him well in his lifetime.

"I've got an agent who takes care of my football contract and a financial advisor," he said. "But I keep an eye on things and make sure that I follow my monthly and yearly budgets and know where my money goes. It's important to get an education because without one it's hard to be successful in life."

schedule features 12 continuous hours of racing straight into the night. Each Run Group will take to the track three times Saturday before returning late Sunday morning for the fourth and final races of the weekend that will decide this year's Classic 12 Hour winners.

Group A: 1952 to 1972: The oldest and perhaps most memory-stirring division, Group A features such legendary race cars as the Ford GT40, Lola T70, Chevron B16, McLaren M1B, Lotus 23B and a full lineup of production-based GT machines that includes 1960s-era Corvettes and Mustangs and a strong field of early Porsche 911s. Two entries to keep an eye on for the overall Group victory are the returning 1966 McLaren M1B of British drivers Nigel Greensall and Andrew Beaumont and former HSR Classic 24 Hour at Daytona winner Toni Seiler, who co-drives a 1969 Lola T165 with Martin Wachter.

Group B: 1973 to 1993: Evoking the same emotion and memories of Group A with a little more turbo-power and wide-body aerodynamics, Group B has been expanded to include the two-decade "golden era" of the original IMSA GTX, GTO and GTU categories and comparable FIA GT classes of that time, including Group 6 prototypes. Group B is home to the crowd-favorite 1980 Jägermeister Porsche 935 K3 of co-drivers Mike Smith and Dave Smith, the equally popular 1973 BMW CSL of Dick York and David Russell and several quick and nimble Porsche 911s of various generations. John Harrold will also be looking for his third-straight "HSR Classics" Group B win after taking the inaugural Classic 12 Hour victory last year and his first Classic 24 Hour at Daytona win earlier this month. Harrold co-drives his quick 1979 Chevron B23/36 with his son Ryan Harrold.

Group C: Historic but familiar, Group C features prototypes from the last few decades that never had a chance to race head-to-head in their prime. Daytona Prototypes, LMP1 race cars and earlier era WSC, GTP and FIA Group C models are all eligible in this division. Group C is also home to later generation IMSA GTS machines up to the more recent GRAND-AM, FIA and IMSA GT1, GT2 and GT3 race cars. Highlight entries include Travis Engen and his always competitive 2005 Audi R8 LMP1, Tony Burgess and Chris Dyson in a 2006 Lola/AER B06/10 and the European-based 2015 Oreca 03R of Niki Leutwyler and Michel Frey, to name a few. Several Daytona Prototype entries includes the 2010 Corvette DP John Reisman will co-drive with Eric Curran, who won the 2016 IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Prototype Championship with then teammate Dane Cameron. Retired modern GT race cars will also be part of the Group C action, including a 1993 Porsche 964 Turbo S two-time 12 Hours of Sebring class winner Dion von Moltke will co-drive with Frank DePew.

Group D: Another showcase of retired racing machines just past their competitive prime, Group D features several types of early GT3, Speed World Challenge and various "Cup" and "Challenge" race cars. That all translates to Group D being a classic Porsche versus Ferrari battle with various 911, 993, 964, 996, 997 and Cayman models carrying the honors for the "Goldcrest" and 360 Modena and 430 GT2 and GTC machines waving the "Prancing Horse" flag.

The on-track HSR racing action is just part of the Classic 12 Hour at Sebring, Pistons and Props. Still in part an active airport, Friday afternoon will once again see the arrival of vintage aircraft on one of the Sebring runways. The planes will later taxi into the paddock to be displayed right alongside the historic race cars.

Historic airplanes scheduled for Sebring this weekend include aircraft spanning many decades that were used by the United States Army, Air Force and Navy and the British Training Command. The rare lineup includes a 1973 Bulldog 120 and a 1942 Stearman.

The Bulldog was manufactured by Scottish Aviation LTD and was initially exported for use by the Ghana Air Force. After a short career as a trainer, the Sebring-bound Bulldog (pictured below) was purchased and relocated to England where it was restored and painted in British RAF XX514 livery, a tribute to the original XX514 that was written off as a total loss in September of 1986. The plane came to the U.S. in 2013 and, after initial stops in Michigan and Arizona, now resides in Florida and is regularly flown by owner Tony Green.

A biplane design, Stearman served as "Primary Trainer" aircraft for both the Air Force and in the Navy as the N2. Primary training was the first of three phases of military cadet training during WWII. The pristine example coming to Sebring, owned and piloted by Bryan Miller (pictured at top), was originally built as a Navy N2-S3.

Additional historic aircraft scheduled to appear this weekend include a 1941 Beechcraft C-45, 1955 Beechcraft T-34 Mentor, 1962 Piper U-11A, 1956 North American T-28C Trojan, 1942 Vultee BT-15, 1943 Vultee BT-13, 1950 Emigh A2 Trojan and more.

Classic 12 Hour tickets can be purchased on-site only throughout the weekend with sales commencing at the Sebring International Raceway Main Gate this morning.

recently debuted Amped series paddle line.

"What an exciting tournament as Tyson defeated his rival Ben Johns in the finals, with both athletes putting on an incredible performance while captivating the fans in attendance," said Mike Barnes, Operations Manager, Selkirk Sport. "Tyson's first major championship victory truly validates the performance attributes of Selkirk paddles, and we are thrilled that he is a committed advocate for the growth of Pickleball and Selkirk Sport."

An accomplished tennis player, who turned into a full-time tennis and Pickleball instructor in Hayden, Idaho, Tyson is an advocate of supporting the growth of Pickleball in the Pacific Northwest and nationwide. What started as a game for seniors has morphed into a sport for all ages, including a professional tour for today's best players. In fact, nearly 1,400 participants competed in the USAPA National Championships, encompassing all age groups from youth to Senior Divisions.

The sport of Pickleball, highlighted by McGuffin's victory, will be in the national spotlight on December 6th, as the USAPA National Championships will air on the CBS Sports Network, marking the first national broadcast for the USAPA Pickleball National's.

To keep up with consumer demand for information, resources and a complete guide to the game, Selkirk Sport, recently launched www.playpickleball.com, a destination website for all things Pickleball.

About Pickleball

Invented by three dads in 1965 as a way to entertain their children during summer, Pickleball is a fun and exciting sport that combines elements of Badminton, Tennis and Ping Pong. It is played on a court the size of a Badminton court, with a low net similar to Tennis, and with what looks like an oversized ping pong paddle and a whiffle ball. Unlike Tennis, Racquetball and many other sports, Pickleball has a short learning curve, and involves less running compared to Tennis. However, at the same time, it can be very competitive and addicting for all ages, as well as an excellent, fun family activity. Pickleball can be played as both a singles and doubles game, and can be played inside or outdoors, on a court that uses the dimension of a doubles badminton court, along with a modified tennis net. A Pickleball court is 20' x 44' for both singles and doubles. The net is hung at 36" at the ends and hangs 34" in the middle. A non-volley zone — called the Kitchen — extends 7' back from the net on each side.

LOCAL MOVIE REVIEW: 'WONDER'

'Wonder' is a good, old-fashioned family film

By ROBERT MILLER
CORRESPONDENT

A far departure from this week's Netflix review, the movie for this week is "Wonder," based on the bestselling children's book of the same name. The movie is about an 11-year-old boy named Auggie (Jacob Tremblay) who was born with Treacher Collins syndrome, meaning he has facial deformities since birth that have kept him home schooled the last 11 years.

Now Auggie is starting the fifth grade at a regular school and must now deal with the bullying and crass remarks from the other students, all while trying to fit in and make friends. But this movie is about more than just Auggie's journey through his first year in school with other kids. Yes, the majority is about him, but there are also sections of the movie that are about his sister, Via (Izabela Vidovic), Via's best friend Miranda (Danielle Rose Russell), Auggie's new best friend Jack Will (Noah Jupe) and even Auggie's mother Isabel (Julia Roberts).

Each of these characters gets to have their own time to explore who they are and what they are going through, showing us that no one is perfect and we all have our issues and problems. As sweet as the movie is, I appreciated the glimpse at the other characters and how they fit into Auggie's life. They need him as much as he needs them, and that's a pretty great message.

The cast is all wonderful, with Tremblay and Roberts being the standouts. For an 11-year-old boy, Jacob LAKE WALES — The fourth annual Orange Blossom Revue is coming to the shores of Lake Wales Dec 1-2.

Hosted by the Lake Wales Rotary Club, the festival features 13 bands, craft beers from at least four Florida breweries and food from award winning vendors from across the state.

The fun kicks off Friday at 4 p.m. and the festival rocks on through Saturday at 9 p.m.

Weekend parking and admission passes are $5. For $35, people can purchase a craft beer pass which includes a two day pass to the festival, parking, Saturday Craft Beer Fest access, a commemorative lanyard, a sample cup and unlimited tastings from more than 30 beers. VIP passes are $50 and include covered seating and access to air conditioned rest rooms along with $2 pints of craft beers.

The Lee Boys headline the music Saturday night. They have played for hundreds of thousands of people at festivals nationwide and have previously toured with the Allman Brothers Band, the Black Crowes, Los Lobos and others.

David Oliver Willis of Mount Dora is returning to the festival this year to headline the music acts Friday night. Willis almost made the American Idol Season 12 semifinals. He described his style as a mix between folk and blues and making older songs more

Holiday Home & Garden Tour set for Dec. 9

By JERRY MEISENHEIMER
CORRESPONDENT

LAKE PLACID — For the seventh time, the Lake Placid Garden Club is holding its annual Holiday Home & Garden Tour. It will take place on Saturday, Dec. 9, between noon and 4 p.m.

The tour is a fundraiser for the Lake Placid Garden Club, which uses the funds for college scholarships, camperships to Wekiva Youth Camp in Apopka and various other sponsorships for youth.

This year the tour will feature four Lake Placid area homes, beautifully decorated for the holidays. It will also include viewing two gardens.

Participants will start their self-drive tour at the Placid Lakes Town Hall, located at 2010 Placid Lakes Blvd., where Garden Club members will have a Holiday Cafe set up with complimentary refreshments. Additional tickets will be available there, as well. The Holiday Cafe opens ahead of the tour at 11 a.m. and will be open all afternoon.

A map will be provided to easily locate each 'holiday home or garden.' Upon arrival at a home, those with tickets will be greeted by a Garden club member. Inside the home, visitors will be amazed at how the homeowners have prepared and decorated for the holiday season. Each home is truly unique.

While at the Holiday Cafe, poinsettias and handmade gift items will be available. You are asked to bring a Christmas ornament to decorate a tree for a needy family. The Lake Placid Garden Club is a non-profit organization. A donation of $15 will be accepted per ticket.

For more information or to reserve your tickets, contact a Lake Placid Garden Club member or call Peg 863-465-1269 or 863-221-5715 or Marcia at 699-0030 or 954-980-9733.

There will be extra tickets at the Holiday Cafe on the day of the event. The tour is a perfect way to prepare for the holidays.

Quail Creek Plantation

From Downtown Sebring, it is 57 miles and a 1-hour drive.

This sporting clays facility, one of the top five sporting clay clubs in the nation since 2005, and hunting preserve, which was once a commercial cow operation, boasts three clay courses as well as quail, turkey and pheasant hunting.

Visitors can rent cottages or suites, go fishing, take a buggy ride, and enjoy gourmet cooking prepared by an executive chef. Quail Creek Plantation's peaceful, rustic feel also attracts business people organizing conferences, couples planning their weddings, and community groups looking for fundraising opportunities.

A stroll reveals log buildings and manicured landscaping juxtaposed against "a landscape unchanged since the time of de Leon and Osceola" as described on the company's website.

Fisheating Creek

From Downtown Sebring, it is 41 miles and a 44-minute drive.

Fisheating Creek is a free-flowing Florida waterway that meanders from the creeks headwaters near Lake Placid in Highlands County for approximately 40 miles through freshwater marshes, hardwood hammocks, forests and bald cypress swamps to Lake Okeechobee in Glades County.

Several species of fish are prevalent in the creek, including large-mouth bass, speckled perch, catfish and brim. Open every day, this remote campground and recreational area has 52 RV sites (48 with full-service hook-ups) and 68 primitive tent campsites, a campfire pit, toilet and bathing facilities, a paved boat ramp, and an on-site store. The well-stocked camp store offers food, ice, souvenirs, and camping supplies as well as rentals for kayaks, canoes, bicycles and other equipment. Fees vary depending on the type of hook-up, the location and the season.

Peak-season is from Nov. 1 to June 14; off-season runs from June 15 to Oct. 31. Group rates are available.

The World Famous
Glenn Miller Orchestra
LIVE IN CONCERT JANUARY 31, 2018
AT THE HIGHLANDS NEWS-SUN CENTER
781 Magnolia Avenue • Sebring, FL 33870 • 7:00pm showtime
The legendary Glenn Miller was one of the most successful of all dance bandleaders back in the Swing Era of the 1930s and '40s with a matchless string of hit records which built and sustained the momentum of popularity.
Today, the 18 member ensemble continues to play many of the original Miller arrangements both from the civilian band and the AAFB libraries. Additionally, it also plays some more modern selections arranged and performed in the Miller style and sound. Just as it was in Glenn's day, the Glenn Miller Orchestra today is still the most sought after big band in the world!

The Board of Supervisors ("Board") of the Florida Green Finance Authority ("Authority"), hereby provides notice, pursuant to Sections 163.08(4) and 197.3632(3)(a), Florida Statutes, of its intent to use the uniform method of collecting non-ad valorem assessments for more than one year to be levied within the area encompassed by the boundaries of Baker County, Florida; Bay County, Florida; Bradford County, Florida; Calhoun County, Florida; Citrus County, Florida; Clay County, Florida; Columbia County, Florida; DeSoto County, Florida; Dixie County, Florida; Flagler County, Florida; Franklin County, Florida, Gadsden County, Florida; Gilchrist County, Florida; Glades County, Florida; Gulf County, Florida; Hamilton County, Florida; Hardee County, Florida; Hendry County, Florida; Hernando County, Florida; Highlands County, Florida; Holmes County, Florida; Jackson County, Florida; Jefferson County, Florida; Lafayette County, Florida; Liberty County, Florida; Madison County, Florida; Monroe County, Florida; Nassau County, Florida; Okaloosa County, Florida; Okeechobee County, Florida; Putnam County, Florida; Santa Rosa County, Florida; St. Johns County, Florida; Suwannee County, Florida; Taylor County, Florida; Union County, Florida; Wakulla County, Florida; Walton County, Florida; Washington County, Florida, and any additional counties or municipalities of the State of Florida subsequently joining the Authority's statewide program for financing the cost of providing energy conservation and efficiency improvements, renewable energy improvements and wind resistance improvements, in accordance with Section 163.08, Florida Statutes (collectively "Qualifying Improvements"). The non-ad valorem assessments contemplated by this notice are voluntary and only imposed by the Authority with the prior written consent of affected property owners who wish to obtain financing for Qualifying Improvements from the Authority. The Board will consider the adoption of a resolution electing to use the uniform method of collecting such assessments as authorized by Section 197.3632, Florida Statutes, at a public hearing to be held at 2:00 p.m., EST, December 7, 2017, at the Town of Mangonia Park Municipal Center located at 1755 East Tiffany Drive, Mangonia Park, Florida 33407. Such resolution will state the need for the levy and will contain a legal description of the boundaries of the real property that may be subject to the levy. Copies of the proposed form of resolution are on file at the office of the Authority's Manager, Special District Services, Inc., 2501A Burns Road, Palm Beach Gardens, Florida 33410. All interested persons are invited to attend and present oral comments at the public hearing and/or submit written comments to the Authority through its Manager at 2501A Burns Road, Palm Beach Gardens, Florida 33410. Written comments should be received by the Authority on or before December 1, 2017. Any persons desiring to present oral comments should appear at the public hearing.

In the event any person decides to appeal any decision by the Board with respect to any matter relating to the consideration of the resolution at the referenced public hearing, a record of the proceeding may be needed and in such an event, such person may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the public hearing is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence on which the appeal is to be based. In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 and Section 286.26, Florida Statutes, persons with disabilities needing special accommodation to participate in such public hearing should contact Special District Services, Inc. at 561-630-4922 and/or toll free at 1-877-737-4922 at least forty-eight (48) hours prior to the date of the public hearing.

DATED this 19th day of October, 2017.

PUBLIC NOTICE
HIGHLANDS COUNTY
STATE HOUSING INITIATIVES PARTNERSHIP (SHIP)

Highlands County State Housing Initiatives Partnership announces funding availability for the twenty-fifth program year and for activities approved by the Highlands County Board of County Commissioners pursuant to Florida Statutes Sections 420.907-420.9097: Local Housing Assistance Program, sub-section 2(2), the adopted Local Housing Assistance Plan (LHAP) and Ordinance 93-10. Highlands County is expected to $350,000.00 (not including earned interest) from the State of Florida for the twenty-fifth year of the Highlands County SHIP program. 20% of the allocation must serve persons with special needs, with priority for persons with developmental disabilities. The Income Maximums range from $12,060.00 for an extremely low income family of one to $76,680.00 for a moderate income family of eight. All figures are adjusted by family size. The program will continue to receive applications on a continuous basis for affordable housing assistance for eligible residents of Highlands County. The program is designed to create affordable housing for Highlands County residents for Home Ownership, Rehabilitation and Foreclosure Intervention as follows:

1. Home Ownership: Down Payment Assistance: A maximum up to $40,000.00 will be awarded under this program to Extremely Low income families (30% of median income adjusted for family size) Very-Low income families (50% of median income, adjusted for family size), Up to $30,000.00 for Low income families (80% of median income, adjusted for family size), and $20,000.00 for Moderate income families (120% of median income, adjusted for family size). The maximum value of a home under this program is $189,628.00. These funds may be used to purchase existing homes (excluding mobile/manufactured homes) that meet minimum safety code standards. The amount of funds that are available for this strategy is $100,000.00.

2. Rehabilitation: Owner Occupied Home Repair Program: The maximum assistance is $40,000.00 per home (excluding mobile/manufactured homes) for Extremely Low, Very Low and $30,000 for Low income families and $20,000.00 for Moderate income families. The amount of funds that are available for this strategy is $90,000.00. An additional $10,000.00 has been set-aside for Home Repair Inspections.

3. Emergency Home Repair Program: The maximum assistance is $10,000.00 per home (excluding mobile/manufactured homes) for Extremely Low, Very Low, Low and Moderate income families. The amount of funds that are available for this strategy is $30,000.

4. Foreclosure Intervention Program: This strategy provides foreclosure intervention assistance to Highlands County homeowners. Those homeowners who have purchased a home through Highlands County's Down Payment Assistance Program will be given first priority. These loans are a maximum of $7,500.00 per extremely low, very low, low, and moderate income families. The amount of funds that are available for this strategy is $15,000.00.

5. Special Needs Housing/Rental Development Program: The maximum assistance for this strategy is $10,000 per unit. These funds may be used as part of the Local Contribution when participating in programs such as, but not limited to, the Federal Housing Credit (formerly Low Income Housing Tax Credit), McKinney Act Funding, and the Florida State Apartment Incentive Loan (SAIL) Programs to construct or rehabilitate multi-family rental housing developments. This strategy has been developed to meet the needs of the handicapped and others that have Special Housing requirements. There is $70,000.00 available for this program.

The remaining funds for the twenty-second program year will be spent for the administration of this program. It is anticipated that $35,000.00 will be available for administrative costs.

This is a thirty day public notice. If no objections are received, applications will be received after December 30, 2017, for the twenty-fourth program year. Applications will be accepted until program funds have been expended. Anyone interested in receiving assistance with down payment and home repair or are in need of foreclosure intervention in Highlands County, may call (863) 402-6648 for details of the above strategies.

Any person who may wish to appeal any decision of a Highlands County Board of County Commissioner's meeting, in public sessions or public hearings, is hereby advised that he or she will need a record of the proceedings, and for such purposes, he or she may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made which will include testimony and evidence upon which such appeal is to be based. At the request of any party to the proceedings, individuals testifying during the hearing will be sworn in. Upon request, any party to the proceedings will be granted an opportunity to cross-examine any individual testifying during the hearing. If anyone has any questions concerning the SHIP program or this public announcement, please contact Benjamin A. Dunn, Development Services Director at (863) 402-6650.

Stat. 287.017 for CATEGORY TWO for a period of 36 months following the date of being placed on the convicted vendor list.

DISABILITY. SAA does not discriminate upon the basis of any individual's disability status. This non-discrimination policy involves every aspect of SAA's functions, including one's access to participation, employment or treatment in its programs or activities. Anyone requiring reasonable accommodations as provided for in the Americans with Disabilities Act or Section 286.26 of the Florida Statutes should contact Beverly Glarner, SAA ADA Coordinator at 863.655.6444, by Florida Relay Services 711, or by email at bev@sebring-airport.com. Request for CART or interpreter services should be made at least 24 hours in advance to permit coordination of the service.

RESTRICTION OF CONTRACT/LOBBYING: From the issue date of this RFQ until a determination is made regarding the award of a Proposer's proposal, all contacts with Sebring Airport Authority (SAA) personnel/Board of Directors concerning this RFQ must originate with the SAA. Any violation of this condition is cause for SAA to reject the Proposer's proposal. If it is later discovered that any violations have occurred, SAA may reject any proposal or rescind any contract awarded pursuant to this RFQ. The Proposer must agree to make no other distribution of any part of their proposal beyond that made to the SAA. A Proposer who shares information contained in their proposal with other Firm and/or competing Proposer personnel may be subject to disqualification.

SAA will not reimburse respondent(s) for any costs associated with the preparation and submittal of any responses. SAA does not charge any permit fees for this work. Contact Beverly Glarner by one of the above-mentioned methods for a proposal package with additional details regarding this project.

Tremblay can pull on your heart strings and deliver a monumental performance. Some of the kids were not great, but for what they were asked to do, it's pretty dang good. The story, while playing out exactly as I thought it would, was well conceived by someone who knew the book well, and I'm sure having the author on set helped that. But the script knows just the right moment to pull on the heart strings and make you shed a tear.

"Wonder" shows us that you can still have an enjoyable time at the theater with the family, and it doesn't have to involve explosions or superheroes. Kids should see this movie as an example of not just what is appropriate behavior around those who are different, but just how to be a good human, period. For that matter, adults should see it for the same reason. People need to be nicer to each other, is what I'm saying.

I give this movie 4 out of 5 stars for making me feel all warm and fuzzy inside. I wasn't ready for that.

"Wonder" is rated PG for thematic elements including bullying, and some mild language; and has a running time of 113 minutes.

Opening Friday night is a showcase of local school musicians. Bears and Lions dress up as animals on stage and rock out starting at 5 p.m. Friday. The Hummingbirds are a Tampa husband-wife team who play a mix of northern and southern Americana with old amps, bang drums and even banjos starting at 6 p.m. Willis' band finishes out the night of music.

The Small Town Girls is a trio of teens from Sweden who sing harmonies and play acoustic starting at 1 p.m. Saturday. Remedy Tree, an indie folk band from St. Augustine, starts at 2 p.m. Beemo is an acoustic band from Orlando, a blend of indie rock, Irish folk and bluegrass music that starts at 3 p.m. The band Hubo starts at 4 p.m. and The Savants of Soul, a nine piece Motown/soul band from Gainesville, play at 6 p.m. Kevin Maines and the Volts are an Orlando band that plays classic southern R&B who hit the stage at 7 p.m. The Lee Boys close out the festival starting at 9 p.m.

Food vendors are by invitation only and the planning commission selects only the best vendors from the Florida Tastemakers Marketplace to participate.

Beers from Grove Roots Brewing Company, Swamp Head Brewery, WopsHops Brewing Company and Siesta Key Rum will be sold.

Polk cities to combine on Christmas parade

By KATHY LEIGH BERKOWITZ
SUN NEWSPAPERS

WINTER HAVEN — Two cities join forces to bring the 2017 Havendale Christmas Celebration Parade.

The parade, put on by the city of Winter Haven in partnership with the city of Auburndale, starts at 7 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 8, from Spring Lake Square and will work its way up Havendale Boulevard to Wells Fargo in Auburndale. The parade runs until 10 p.m.

At 6 p.m., the streets will close, and parking will be limited.

Dino's is the grand marshal for the parade this year.

Jim Carleton, Auburndale Communications and Information Manager, said the parade this year has more than 90 floats, is three miles long, and will feature the mayors and commissioners of both cities.

The large event has come together, he said, "with ease."

"It has been so easy to work with the Polk County Sheriff's Office, as well as our local police and Auburndale Chamber of Commerce to come together and make this parade a community event," he said.

The close proximity of the cities has helped, he said.

"To be able to work with the city of Winter Haven and have this whole community feeling has been awesome," he said.

He and Brittany Overstreet, special events and marketing coordinator for the city of Winter Haven, have been able to bounce ideas off each other, something he said has been "pretty cool."

"You don't see other cities partnering together like this," he said.

"It is great to have that strong partnership with Winter Haven."

Carleton noted that prior to 2002, neither Auburndale nor Winter Haven had their own Christmas parade, so the city managers of both towns joined together with the help of multiple departments to create this special community event. "Beginning in 2002 was the first Havendale Christmas Parade, and it has been running annually since then," he said.

Overstreet said this is her first year working with Auburndale to coordinate the Havendale Christmas Parade.

"It has been wonderful to work with Auburndale, they have so many knowledgeable people who have worked this parade for many years. They also have some wonderful new people with fresh ideas, especially in the way of technology! Overall it is very organized and I feel very confident (especially considering this is one of the largest group of participants we have ever had) that this year the parade is going to be better than ever," she said.

According to Polk County Sheriff's Office Public Information Officer Michele Cash, each year, the Polk County Sheriff's Office partners with members of the city of Auburndale and City of Winter Haven to assist in their annual Havendale Christmas Parade.

"There is extensive planning prior to the parade. We also work with the Auburndale Police Department, Winter Haven Police Department, and members of Emergency Medical and Fire Services to ensure the safety of all attending families. This includes closing the parade route to motor vehicle traffic, limiting the movement of attendees during the parade, and foot patrol to ensure the security and integrity of the event," she said.

This year the Polk County Sheriff's Office Motor Unit will be participating in the parade.

"We look forward working with the cities during parade season, It's a great way to partner with our communities and strengthens the relationship between the cities," she said.

Winter Haven Mayor Steve Hunnicutt said he has attended several of the annual parades.

"I have even had my grandson on the float, and that will be a memorable time for him, as he said watching the Macy's Parade bragging, 'I was in a parade.'"

The mayor said the crowds continue to grow and so does the number of floats and the participation.

"Auburndale has great leadership," he said of the partnership between the two cities.

"And we have always had a great relationship with them. So being able to work together and by doing so, having one of the best Christmas parades in Polk County, and wishing the people we serve a Merry Christmas is very special," said Hunnicutt.

Arrest of suspected killer puts Tampa neighborhood at ease

By TAMARA LUSH
Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. — After enduring almost two months of fear, a Tampa neighborhood breathed a sigh of relief Wednesday after authorities announced the arrest of a suspected serial killer, a recent college graduate who police say gave himself away after asking a co-worker to hold a bag containing a handgun.

Howell Emanuel Donaldson, who was working as crew chief at a McDonald's, was charged with four counts of first-degree murder in a string of shootings that targeted people near bus stops.

"We had a community that was on edge," Mayor Bob Buckhorn said. "Today the light shines. The darkness is over. This community begins the healing process."

Neighbors of the 24-year-old — who lived in a different area of Tampa than where the slayings took place — said they recently saw him playing basketball with his younger brother in the driveway of the family's suburban home. Now they're watching news of him on television, puzzled as to how a kid who went to college in New York on a basketball scholarship ended up behind bars.

"He's very nice. He waves, very polite," said neighbor Kelly Fabian, who said she walked Donaldson to school when he was younger. "Quiet kid. It's a shocker."

Arrest records did not list an attorney for Donaldson, and the police chief said he did not know if the suspect had a lawyer yet. He's scheduled to make a first court appearance Thursday in Hillsborough County.

The arrest, which happened Tuesday night, brought immense relief to the anxious neighborhood of Seminole Heights, which had stopped many outdoor activities since the first death on Oct. 9. Two more fatal shootings happened in the weeks that followed, and residents were so scared that police escorted children while they trick-or-treated. The fourth killing happened earlier this month.

"I think in this situation it's a lose-lose no matter how you look at it, except for a magical thing like when a community — organizations, law enforcement — come together unified and can put somebody behind bars," said Brittany Lott, who said she has not walked her bulldogs in 51 days, choosing to spend time in the backyard instead.

The crack in the case came Tuesday when Donaldson brought a bag holding a loaded Glock .40-caliber handgun to McDonald's and asked a co-worker to hold it while he went across the street, authorities said.

Restaurant workers thought Donaldson's request was odd. When he left, they reported the gun to a police officer who was doing paperwork there, setting off an investigation. When he returned to the restaurant, officers were waiting.

In addition to matching shell casings found at the shootings, authorities said location data from Donaldson's cellphone put him at the scene of at least three of the killings.

"The gun is what we needed," Police Chief Brian Dugan said at a news conference surrounded by family members of the victims.

Donaldson did not live in the neighborhood where the shootings occurred and told investigators he was unfamiliar

NBC fires 'Today' host Matt Lauer as women allege sexual misconduct

By STEPHEN BATTAGLIO
Los Angeles Times

NEW YORK — Star anchor Matt Lauer was fired from NBC's "Today" show Wednesday, the latest high-profile figure to lose his job as part of a widening sexual harassment scandal that has rocked the entertainment and media industries.

NBC said Lauer was ousted after it received a complaint about the co-anchor concerning "inappropriate sexual behavior in the workplace."

The move represented a startling and swift action by NBC to oust one of its most popular TV personalities who has been a familiar presence on the network for two decades. "Today" has been a lucrative franchise for NBC and a top-rated show in the fiercely competitive morning TV landscape.

The announcement was read at the top of "Today" by Lauer's on-air partners Savannah Guthrie and Hoda Kotb, both of whom appeared shaken by the news they learned only moments earlier.

The statement from NBC News Chairman Andy Lack said: "On Monday night, we received a detailed complaint from a colleague about inappropriate sexual behavior in the workplace by Matt Lauer. It represented, after serious review, a clear violation of our company's standards. As a result, we've decided to terminate his employment. While it is the first complaint about his behavior in the over 20 years he's been at NBC News, we were also presented with reason to believe this may not have been an isolated incident."

In a meeting with staff, Lack said Lauer engaged in inappropriate behavior with a female NBC employee in 2014, including while "Today" was broadcasting from Sochi, Russia, to cover the Winter Olympics, according to a person briefed on the meeting who was not authorized to comment publicly.

Ari Wilkenfeld, the attorney representing the woman who brought the accusation, said in a statement that he and his client met with NBC's human resources and legal departments Monday night to discuss the matter.

"Our impression at this point is that NBC acted quickly, as all companies should, when confronted with credible allegations of sexual harassment in the workplace," Wilkenfeld said. "While I am encouraged by NBC's response to date, I am in awe of the courage my client showed to be the first to raise a complaint and to do so without making any demands other than the company do the right thing."

Trump stokes anti-Muslim sentiment; censured here and abroad

By CATHERINE LUCEY and JILL LAWLESS
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Stoking the same anti-Islam sentiments he fanned on the campaign trail, President Donald Trump on Wednesday retweeted a string of inflammatory videos from a fringe British political group purporting to show violence being committed by Muslims.

The tweets drew a sharp condemnation from British Prime Minister Theresa May's office, which said it was "wrong for the president to have done this." May spokesman James Slack said the far-right Britain First group seeks to divide through its use of "hateful narratives which peddle lies and stoke tensions."

Trump turned away from taxes, North Korea and other issues facing his administration to share the three videos tweeted by Jayda Fransen, deputy leader of the British group. It was not clear what drew him to the videos, though one had been shared by conservative commentator Ann Coulter the day before.

White House spokeswoman Sarah Huckabee Sanders said Trump was simply promoting border security and suggested that verifying the content was not a top concern.

President Donald Trump pauses as the media departs after he spoke in the Roosevelt Room of the White House in Washington, Tuesday, Nov. 28, during a meeting with Republican congressional leaders.

"Whether it's a real video, the threat is real and that is what the president is talking about," she said.

The tweets read: "VIDEO: Islamist mob pushes teenage boy off roof and beats him to death!" and "VIDEO: Muslim Destroys a Statue of Virgin Mary!" and "VIDEO: Muslim migrant beats up Dutch boy on crutches!"

Trump made anti-Muslim comments one hallmark of his presidential campaign and has previously retweeted inflammatory posts from controversial Twitter accounts including some with apparent ties to white nationalist groups. As president, he has sought to ban travel to the U.S. from a number of majority-Muslim countries.

His promotion of the videos came two days after he mocked Massachusetts Sen. Elizabeth Warren as "Pocahontas" during an Oval Office event with Native American veterans, drawing criticism from of Native American war veterans and politicians of both major parties.

Britain First opposes what it calls the "Islamization" of Britain. It has run candidates in local and national elections, with little success,

Analysis: N. Korea may declare 'victory,' turn to economy

By FOSTER KLUG
Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea — In the dead of night, North Korea test-launches its most powerful missile yet. Six minutes later, rival South Korea unleashes a barrage meant to show it will hit back — hard — if war ever comes.

The nightmare scenario, made reality again Wednesday, is terrifying and increasingly routine. Yet there are signs it might also signal something surprising: a calculated bit of restraint as Pyongyang nears a unique potential declaration, possibly in leader Kim Jong Un's annual New Year's Day speech. The North, some speculate, may announce that since it now considers itself a nuclear power equal to the United States, it can put more effort into Kim's other priority of trying to fix one of the world's worst economies.

In short, could the end be near for North Korea's years of headlong, provocative nuclear development?

Wednesday's test of what the North called a new ICBM capable of hitting the entire U.S. mainland was, like all the others, calibrated to both convey defiance and boast of a dramatically improving military capability to Washington. But Pyongyang also did very specific things that kept the launch well back of the point of shoving U.S. President Donald Trump toward any military attack:

• It did not shoot its missile over Japan, which it has done twice in recent months.

• It did not fire its missile, as it previously suggested it might, into the waters around the U.S. military hub of Guam in the Pacific.

• It did not conduct potentially the most worrying next step short of war: An atmospheric test of a nuclear weapon flying onboard a long-range missile over the Pacific.

Small victories, maybe.

Neighborhood residents get to keep auctioned street

John Bacon
USA TODAY

Residents of a mansion-lined San Francisco cul-de-sac reclaimed their street after city supervisors rescinded the sale at an auction ordered because the homeowners association failed to pay an annual property tax bill of about $14.

The Board of Supervisors voted 7-4 at a hearing Tuesday night to cancel the $90,000 sale of the sidewalk, street, common areas and about 100 parking spaces.

The ruling didn't sit well with the would-be buyers, Michael Cheng and Tina Lam.

"The law should be fair for everyone," Cheng said after the decision. "It should not be applied unfairly and special, just for somebody who has millions of dollars at their discretion and political connections at their beck and call."

The board cited the association's claim that the tax bills were sent to the wrong address and questioned the treasurer/tax collector office's efforts to notify the association before the sale.

"I don't dispute that we could have done more," City Treasurer José Cisneros said at the hearing. But he said he has limited tools at his disposal and thousands of tax bills don't reach the intended recipients each year — and the taxes still are paid.

Residents said they never knew about the auction, which took place in 2015, until this year, when representatives of the couple asked whether the homeowners association wanted to buy back the street.

Some residents said the couple sought about 10 times what they paid.

Cheng's suggestion that residents might be charged a nominal parking fee also didn't sit well with the locals.

Sen. Dianne Feinstein, D-Calif., a former resident of Presidio Terrace, sent a letter to the city, stating that "no one should lose property at the hands of the government without knowing about it."

Supervisor Mark Farrell agreed and issued a statement after the vote that the sale never should have taken place.

"I am proud of my seven colleagues who voted against allowing these speculators to get away with purchasing a neighborhood street and attempting to extort San Francisco residents that I represent into a quick $1 million payday," Farrell said. "I am shocked that four of my colleagues sided with these out-of-town speculators."

Farrell said residents promised to pay the taxes expeditiously.

with it.

Robert Hoffa, the uncle of victim Monica Hoffa, said he was "overjoyed" when Tampa police called him to say they had made an arrest.

"This is about family. This is about community. This is about everybody sticking together," he said.

Authorities have not been able to determine why Donaldson chose the Seminole Heights neighborhood. Although he's been cooperative and friendly to officers, the suspect did not shed any light on his motive or why he targeted individual victims, the police chief said.

Donaldson graduated from St. John's University in New York in January. He was a walk-on for the men's basketball team during the 2011-12 season but never played in a game, school spokesman Brian Browne said.

After graduating, he worked in customer support at the Ultimate Medical Academy, a school that trains workers for health care jobs. He started there Feb. 13 and worked for about three months before being fired for absenteeism. The academy said he passed a background check before he was hired.

His LinkedIn account also listed a job as a "guest experience host" for the New York Mets in 2016. The Mets would neither confirm nor deny that he was employed there.

Police in New York said Donaldson was arrested in May 2014, but the arrest was sealed and no details were available. Authorities planned to review cold cases to see if Donaldson could be linked to any crimes there.

Donaldson bought the gun and a 20-round box of bullets from Shooter's World in Tampa on Oct. 3. He picked it up after the four-day waiting period, and the first killing happened two days after that.

The arrest report said police found clothing inside Donaldson's car that was similar to what was worn by a person spotted in surveillance video taken the night of the first shooting.

Residents and police had been on edge since Oct. 9, when 22-year-old Benjamin Mitchell was shot to death.

On Oct. 11, 32-year-old Monica Hoffa was slain, followed on Oct. 19 by 20-year-old Anthony Naiboa, who was killed after taking the wrong bus home from his new job. The final victim, 60-year-old Ronald Felton, was killed Nov. 14.

All of the October victims were either getting on or off a city bus, or were at a bus stop when they were shot, police said.

unnamed women who accused Lauer of sexual harassment. Variety said the women's accounts were corroborated by friends or colleagues who they told at the time of the alleged incidents. The women declined to be named out of fear of professional repercussions.

In one case, according to the report, Lauer dropped his pants and showed a female staffer his penis after calling her to his office. In another case, he gave a colleague a sex toy and included a note about how he wanted to use it on her, the report said.

The women, as well as other current and former staffers interviewed by Variety, described crass — and philandering — behavior, including some with willing participants. Some staffers described a button under Lauer's desk that allowed him to lock his door from the inside for additional privacy.

"There were a lot of consensual relationships, but that's still a problem because of the power he held," a former producer told Variety. "He couldn't sleep around town with celebrities or on the road with random people, because he's Matt Lauer and he's married. So he'd have to do it within his stable, where he exerted power, and he knew people wouldn't ever complain."

A spokesperson for Lauer at public relations firm Rubenstein Associates said Lauer did not have any comment.

The firing is likely to have a seismic impact on "Today," one of the most successful morning TV shows in the business and a cash cow for NBC.

Lauer, 59, is the second morning news anchor to be fired over allegations of inappropriate sexual behavior this month. Last week, Charlie Rose was dismissed from his co-host job at "CBS This Morning" following a report that eight women complained about his behavior at his long-running nightly talk show at PBS, which has now been dropped.

Allegations of sexual harassment and other sexual misconduct have also taken down the careers of several other prominent figures in media, including Fox News anchor Bill O'Reilly, NBC News political analyst Mark Halperin, NPR executive Michael Oreskes and chief news editor David Sweeney.

On Wednesday, Garrison Keillor, the former host of "A Prairie Home Companion," said he has been fired by Minnesota Public Radio over allegations of improper behavior.

"This shows that companies that have high-profile stars will no longer be able to turn a blind eye when women bring credible allegations forward," said Debra Katz, a founding partner of the Washington based law firm Katz, Marshall & Banks LLP, who has represented victims in sexual harassment cases.

Lauer has been co-anchor of "Today" since 1997 after first joining the show as a news reader in 1994. He is the highest-paid anchor in television news, with an annual salary of more than $20 million. He has been the longest-running host on the program, which NBC launched in January 1952.

"Today" runs second to ABC's "Good Morning America" in the ratings, but it's by far the top revenue earner in network morning TV, taking in nearly $500 million annually.

While Lauer has weathered a number of controversies over his career on "Today," he remained popular with viewers. Internal surveys done by NBC often showed that he was a key reason for their choosing "Today" in the morning.

and has campaigned against the construction and expansion of mosques.

Trump's retweets gave a wide platform to the previously obscure group. The videos were each shared more than 10,000 times, and Fransen picked up nearly 10,000 Twitter followers in the hours following Trump's retweets. She thanked him on Twitter, saying "GOD BLESS YOU TRUMP!"

Former Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke also welcomed the videos, tweeting that Trump was being "condemned for showing us what the fake news media WON'T. Thank God for Trump! That's why we love him!"

Condemnation from civil rights organizations was swift.

The executive director of the Council on American-Islamic Relations, Nihad Awad, said in a statement that Trump is "clearly telling members of his base that they should hate Islam and Muslims."

The American Civil Liberties Union, in a tweet, said, "Trump's prejudice against Muslims reveals itself at every turn — with today's tweets meant to gin up fear and bias."

There are about 3.45 million Muslims in the United States, according to an August report from the Pew Research Center.

One of the retweeted videos from 2013 showed a radical Islamist in Egypt throwing a 9-year-old boy off a roof. The video was filmed in Egypt days after the overthrow of Islamist President Mohammed Morsi by Egypt's military. The perpetrators of the roof violence were later sentenced to death for killing the boy and another man.

Another video shows a man — said to be a supporter of Syria's al-Qaida affiliate then known as the Nusra Front — smashing a blue and white statue of the Virgin Mary. The video appeared on the internet in October 2013, in the midst of the Syrian civil war, and was reported by the Middle East Media Research Institute, MEMRI.

The third video shows one young man attacking another young man on crutches. It was originally posted to a Dutch video site in May 2017 and picked up by Dutch media the following day. Two 16-year-old boys were arrested, according to De Telegraaf, and police removed the video. The boys' religion was not included in any of the reports.

Fransen said in her tweet that a "Muslim migrant beats up Dutch boy on crutches!" But a statement from a spokesman for the Dutch prosecution service Wednesday said the boy was not a migrant and was born and raised in the Netherlands.

The Netherlands Embassy in the United States also weighed in with a tweet, writing: "Facts do matter. The perpetrator of the violent act in this video was born and raised in the Netherlands. He received and completed his sentence under Dutch law."

Fransen has been charged with causing religiously aggravated harassment through leaflets and videos that were distributed during a criminal trial earlier this year. She has separately been charged with using "threatening, abusive or insulting words or behavior" in a speech she made in Northern Ireland in August. She is currently free on bail.

She was convicted last year of religiously aggravated harassment and fined after hurling abuse at a Muslim woman wearing a hijab.

Trump's retweets were condemned by Brendan Cox, whose British lawmaker wife Jo Cox was murdered last year by an attacker with far-right views.

Cox tweeted: "Trump has legitimised the far right in his own country, now he's trying to do it in ours. Spreading hatred has consequences & the President should be ashamed of himself."

The British government rejected calls from opposition lawmakers to revoke Trump's invitation to visit. May announced in January that he had accepted an invitation for a state visit, one of the biggest honors the country can bestow on foreign leaders. Almost a year later, no date has been set, and opponents of Trump have vowed to stage large protests if he does come.

KOREA

Certainly no guarantee of what the future holds for a country that prides itself on keeping outsiders guessing and on pushing its weapons development to the brink. But the glimmer of restraint suggests the North may see itself nearing the point where it can claim military victory, however far that might be from the truth, and turn more toward other matters by next year, the 70th anniversary of the country's founding.

A strong indication backing this analysis is right there in Pyongyang's official statement on the launch, which was read on a special TV broadcast hours after the missile lifted off.

After watching the Hwasong-15 missile blast into the pre-dawn darkness, "Kim Jong Un declared with pride that now we have finally realized the great historic cause of completing the state nuclear force, the cause of building a rocket power."

While everything North Korea says in its propaganda must be viewed with extreme skepticism, the country does have a habit of laying out goals and meeting them, or at least claiming it has met them.

North Korea's test could indeed indicate that the country will soon consider its nuclear program "done" and focus on its sluggish economy, said Vipin Narang, a nuclear strategy expert at MIT. "But there are many things that can intervene to accelerate or decelerate it," he said.

"The pessimist in me says they are trying to get the range (of the ICBM settled) first, and then, if we still doubt" their abilities, could conduct a full-blown operational atmospheric test of a live nuclear warhead atop a ballistic missile, Narang said. "But the optimist in me says that's so risky it would take a major provocation or insult to get them to try it."

Trying to predict what North Korea will actually do next — a favorite if frustrating game of analysts and government officials for decades — is notoriously futile. And Pyongyang may simply continue its torrid testing pace of its weapons, which, despite internal and global hype, are not yet a match for those of any of the established nuclear powers.

It's important to realize, Narang says, that the North's program is truly developmental, which means "it needs to hit certain milestones. Range, reliability and re-entry are what they are probably focused on most intently at the moment."

Many observers expect at least one more big test aimed at showing the full range of the ICBM by sending it flying over Japan and deep into the Pacific. And the North has yet to perfect its submarine-launched missiles.

A bigger worry would be if the North, trying to quiet doubts about whether it has a warhead small enough to fit on a long-range missile, attempted a risky thermonuclear atmospheric missile explosion. North Korea's foreign minister in September suggested his country may test a hydrogen bomb in the Pacific Ocean.

Amid the speculation over what comes next, the North chose words Wednesday that suggested it was aiming to reassure, not to panic.

The new ICBM, it said, "meets the goal of the completion of the rocket weaponry system development set by" the North. In a reference to Kim Jong Un's double-pronged goal of boosting both the nuclear program and the economy, it shows the North Korean people's ability to uphold "simultaneous development of the two fronts with loyalty" so that they can stand up to the U.S. "nuclear blackmail policy" while enjoying a "peaceful life."

After months of tests and a drumbeat of war threats by both Koreas and the United States, many will be eager to accept the North's claim of nuclear "completion." But Pyongyang's suggestion that it signals a "peaceful life" around the corner? That's a much harder sell.

Suit over erotic fiction about NFL player Gronkowski tossed

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal appeals court has spiked an Ohio couple's case against companies that distributed an erotic fiction book about a woman's desire for New England Patriots star Rob Gronkowski.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling Tuesday upheld a lower court's dismissal of the case against Amazon.com, Barnes & Noble Inc. and Smashwords filed by a couple referred to as John and Jane Roe.

The couple says an engagement photo that shows them embracing was pulled from their photographer's website without their knowledge and used on the cover of "A Gronking to Remember." The book was self-published using the defendant companies' online services by a male author writing under the pseudonym "Lacey Noonan," according to court records.

The couple's lawsuit describes the 2014 book as raunchy and distasteful and says their privacy rights were violated.

The book began showing up in Gronkowski's media appearances, including at the Super Bowl media day in 2015 and in a jocular reading he gave on ABC's "Jimmy Kimmel Live."

Court records indicate that the "Gronking" author changed the cover at least twice, first to remove images with the Patriots' trademarks after the NFL club complained, and then again after hearing from the Roes. The couple sued in Miami County, Ohio, court in February 2015, and the case was then transferred to federal court.

Proposed vaping ban gets unanimous backing

By CHRISTINE SEXTON
The News Service of Florida

TALLAHASSEE — A ban on vaping in workplaces is one step closer to appearing on the 2018 ballot after a panel of the Florida Constitution Revision Commission unanimously approved the proposal on Tuesday.

Former state Sen. Lisa Carlton, a member of the commission, said people are being adversely affected by public vaping because a ban on smoking in workplaces was passed by Florida voters in 2002, well before electronic cigarettes and other devices became available.

She wants to expand the current smoking ban to include vaping devices.

"Vaping, as it's generally called, is everywhere," Carlton said, adding that like with smoking, secondhand exposure to vaping can lead to breathing in toxins. "Daily across the state of Florida, Floridians are subjected to vaping. No one should be forced to endure a cloud of harmful vapor in their cubicle as they work to support their families. No parent should have to worry about the health of their child because someone is vaping at the adjoining restaurant table, movie-theater seat, grocery store or next to them inside the mall."

Florida Cancer Action Network lobbyist Heather Yeomans said her group supports the proposal but has suggested a number of changes, including eliminating the term "vapor generating devices" and replacing it with electronic smoking devices which, she said, would capture devices such as electronic hookahs, electronic pens and electronic cigarettes.

Yeomans said the Cancer Action Network also would like the proposed constitutional amendment to eliminate an existing exemption that allows people to smoke in some bars and hotels.

"We weren't thrilled to see that we still have the exemptions for bars and hotels," she told the General Provisions Committee of the Constitution Revision Commission. "We would love for every environment and every employee … to not be exposed to these chemicals" from regular tobacco smoke and electronic cigarettes.

Carlton told The News Service of Florida after the meeting that she doesn't plan to alter her proposal to address concerns raised by the Cancer Action Network. But it appears unlikely Carlton's proposed constitutional amendment would go before voters as is in 2018.

To prevent what is being called "ballot fatigue," members of the Constitution Revision Commission could group together proposals that the commission has endorsed.

The commission, which has 37 members, meets every 20 years to evaluate possible changes to the Constitution. The panel can put issues before voters without having to gather petition signatures or get proposals approved by the Legislature.

Members are considering dozens of proposed amendments, with those moving through the various committees expected to be considered by the full commission.

If a proposal is approved by a majority of the commission members, it will be sent to the Style and Drafting Committee, which is charged with grouping the various proposals together.

Florida father accused of shooting 4-year-old son

LEESBURG (AP) — A Florida man is accused of shooting his 4-year-old son.

Leesburg police Lt. Joe Iozzi told news outlets that police were called to the neighborhood early Wednesday after reports of gunshots. Officers found a vehicle with two bullet holes in front of the home.

A short time later, 24-year-old Herbert James came out of the house. Iozzi said James was appeared intoxicated and was uncooperative with officers. He went back into the house and officers heard gunshots a few minutes later.

Iozzo said officers entered the home and found the child in his mother's arms. He was struck in the upper torso and is expected to survive.

James is accused of aggravated child abuse. Jail records don't list a lawyer.

Florida Gov. Rick Scott loses bid to disqualify justice

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court is rejecting Gov. Rick Scott's push to disqualify a sitting state Supreme Court justice from a pending case.

The court on Wednesday denied Scott's motion in a one-sentence ruling. The high court did not explain the decision.

Scott last week filed a motion that contends Justice Barbara Pariente may be biased against the Republican governor. The motion is based on comments made by Pariente, including one caught on a microphone following a recent hearing in a case over Scott's appointment power.

Groups who are suing Scott in the case asked the court to reject the "frivolous" motion.

John Tupps, a spokesperson for Scott, called it "disappointing that today's decision was made without providing any plausible justification or explanation for Justice Pariente's comments."

Florida med student accused of posting pics to fetish sites

MIAMI (AP) — The University of Miami is investigating after one of its medical students was accused of posting pictures of female classmates on various websites for sexual fetishes.

The Miami Herald reports the 25-year-old medical student has been suspended.

The student is suspected of copying pictures of the women from their social media accounts and uploading them to sex websites. The images were typical photos of the women — including selfies, or in groups with friends at bars or the beach.

The allegations came to light last week when at least two of the women saw their photos on the websites and filed for restraining orders against him. The story didn't say why they believed the student was suspected of posting the pictures.

Bicyclist killed by deputy cruiser responding to call

POMPANO BEACH (AP) — Authorities say a bicyclist has died following a collision with a Florida deputy's patrol car.

Broward Sheriff's Office officials say the crash happened Tuesday afternoon in Pompano Beach. The bicyclist, who wasn't immediately named, died at the scene.

Authorities say the deputy was responding to a call but wasn't using lights or sirens when the victim was struck.

STOCKS LISTING CHANGE - REQUESTS WELCOME!

The Sun Newspaper is tweaking the way stocks are listed in the daily paper. We will continue to run a wide range of stocks, but we're trying to eliminate stocks our readers don't want. If you do not see your stock in the paper, please let us know and we will put it in the listings. Email the name of the company and the symbol to nlane@sun-herald.com, or call 941-206-1138. You can leave the stock name and symbol on voice mail. When requesting a stock, please include where you live so we can run the listing in the appropriate edition. If you reach voice mail, please leave your contact information so your call can be returned.

The bidding:

2♡	Pass	4♣	Pass
4♠	Pass	6♣	All pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣

The late, great, Australian expert, Tim Seres spent most of his afternoons, for several decades, playing rubber bridge. He was not only the best player at his club, he was also the most well liked. People were honored to lose money to him. Seres was South, in today's deal.

The actual auction is not known to us, and it is hard to imagine a sound auction to slam. Please forgive our imaginative auction above. 12 tricks would have been a cakewalk without a trump lead, but Seres found a way home despite the best lead. He won the opening lead in dummy and led a heart to his queen — a good start. Seres cashed the ace of spades and led a diamond. West stepped up with his ace and led another trump, also won in dummy. Seres ruffed a spade, led a diamond to dummy's king, and ruffed another spade. The ace of hearts was cashed, followed by a heart ruff. This was the position:

NORTH
♠ Q 7

♡ J
♢ J

EAST
♠ K
♡ Void
♢ 9 7
♣ Void

SOUTH

♣ A

Seres ruffed a spade with the ace of clubs and West couldn't defend the position. Should he under-ruff, dummy would be high. A discard of either red jack and Seres would cash his new winner in that suit and West would start suffering all over again. A beauty!

A perfect family visit

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've just had a three-day visit from my son and his wife, and it was perfect! I'm 91 (I'm able to live alone; I enjoy a nearby senior center) and do very little cooking. My son and his wife planned and brought the essentials for cooking full meals. They did everything, and I sat and visited.

They even performed small fix-it jobs around the house, and this made their visit complete. So well-planned, and no stress for me, just enjoyable time spent with dear family. — Catherine S., Kimberling City, Mo.

On a roll

Dear Heloise: My complaint is that restaurants serve dinner rolls, but the butter is hard as a rock. Why can't they let it sit out for a while so we can spread it without tearing up the dinner roll? Soften the butter for us, please! — Martha M. in Ohio

And when the butter is soft, it seems to taste better. The restaurant may be concerned about food safety. — Heloise

It's a guy thing

Dear Heloise: My husband has discovered that it is much easier and timesaving to put on his button-front shirts by leaving all but the top buttons buttoned, and pulling the shirt on and off over his head. As we get older, the fingers may not work so well. — Doris in Camarillo, Calif.

Pattern placement

Dear Heloise: Please help me find a place interested in dress patterns. I have many, and they are still in good shape. I don't sew anymore, but patterns are expensive. — C.T., Helena, Ark.

How nice of you to want to donate your dress patterns! Look at schools (including extracurricular activities), churches, secondhand and resale shops, scouting groups, local theater groups and other organizations in your community.

Readers, do you have any ideas? How many of you still make your own dresses? Sadly, it seems to be a dying art. — Heloise

Walk this way

Dear Readers: We all know the benefits of walking, and all you really need is a good pair of shoes and a friend to get started. Walking gets your circulation flowing, increases oxygen to your heart and can improve your overall health.

Start your walk slowly each day to warm up, then walk a bit faster. Each day you'll find that you are walking a little farther. When you are getting toward the end of your walk, slow down a bit. You can keep track of your steps with a pedometer, if you'd like.

To enjoy the crisp, fresh air and the companionship of a friend, nothing beats a walk! Check with your doctor before starting an exercise program. — Heloise

Woman's marriage deadline may be working against her

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old woman who can't seem to find a man to call her own. Every time I search on websites or at gyms, I can't find anyone decent who lives nearby.

I met someone who took me to his house in Wisconsin for the holidays, but I live in Illinois. Ever since I slept with him (on the fifth date), he has come here less often — and when he does, it's never just to see me. He also texts less often than he did and has hinted that I should see other people here in town and keep him as a backup.

I'm desperate to find someone who will be there for me. I want to be married before my 30th birthday. I have tried everything, but all the decent men nowadays are already taken or not serious about forming a relationship. Hope you can help. — CAN'T FIND A MAN

DEAR CAN'T: Your problem may be your desperation. When people are desperate, their anxiety can drive people away. The idea that you must be married by the time you are 30 is setting an artificial — and possibly unrealistic — goal for yourself.

It may be time to stop looking and begin concentrating on building a satisfying life for yourself without help from a partner. Once you accomplish that, you may find that both men and women find you more attractive to be around. I can't guarantee that it will help you to find a husband, but even if you don't, you will have a happier life. Not everyone needs to be married.

DEAR ABBY: I have twin grandsons. One is kind, mannerly and thoughtful. The other is rude, ungrateful and has a chip on his shoulder.

Every Christmas and birthday, my husband and I are generous with our gifts to them. One grandson thanks us, while the other does not even acknowledge the gift. I no longer want to continue giving the rude twin gifts, but I don't know if this is the way to deal with the problem. They will be 18 on their next birthday.

My daughter has never corrected the problem, and I know she will accuse me of favoring the kind twin. What to do? — GRAN IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR GRAN: If it were me, I'd give the grateful twin gifts worth the usual amount of money and the ungrateful one a token present. And when your daughter accuses you of favoritism, tell her she's absolutely right and also why you no longer felt inclined to shell out to someone who didn't think your generosity was worth acknowledging. It's the truth.

DEAR ABBY: I am 53 and constantly worry about the future. Because my husband has had to change jobs for various reasons, we have no money fund for retirement, and it isn't offered at his current job. I worry so much about the future that it's keeping me from enjoying the present. How can I stop worrying like this so I can enjoy the present? Talking to a doctor is not an option as money is very tight. — WORRYING TOO MUCH

DEAR WORRYING: You didn't mention whether you are currently employed. If you aren't, a way to fix your problem might be to start thinking about your own earning capacity and find a job so you can build a retirement fund. It's never too late to start.

What are options when colonoscopy prep is unbearable?

Dr. Roach

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 72-year-old male in good health. I've had a couple of colonoscopies (the first one found some adenomas), but the required cleansing prep with harsh laxatives has become increasingly difficult for my body to take. I only got halfway into the last prep before becoming so sick that I had to discontinue the cleansing and cancel the colonoscopy.

I've been reading about new noninvasive colon cancer detection methods that do not require the harsh prep. Two of them are Cologuard, which analyzes stool samples, and Epi proColon, a blood test. What is your opinion of these?

I realize that they test only for evidence of cancer and that a positive test would call for a colonoscopy, but could they serve as screening tests? Would a negative result mean I could reasonably skip a colonoscopy and its (for me) debilitating prep procedure? — B.W.

ANSWER: I recommend colonoscopy as the first-line screening test for colon cancer, as it evaluates the entire colon and allows for a biopsy to be done at the same time. However, colonoscopy is expensive, has risks of side effects, sometimes can miss small polyps, isn't available everywhere and isn't definitively proven to be better than other methods (though most experts think it is, and nearly all choose it for themselves). The preparation is, at best, unpleasant, and some people find it hard.

For people who cannot or will not get a colonoscopy, three options include fecal blood testing, the Cologuard stool DNA test and the Epi proColon blood DNA test. These tests have never been compared against each other, but most authorities feel the Cologuard test and stool blood test are likely more sensitive tests than the blood-based proColon DNA test. However, any of these tests is better than not getting screened at all.

People with a positive test, and people at high risk for colon cancer due to history or medical condition still should have a colonoscopy. Finally, you might ask your gastroenterologist about different preparation options: Some are much better tolerated than others.

The booklet on colon cancer provides useful information on the causes and cures of this common malady. Readers can obtain a copy by writing:

DR. ROACH WRITES: A recent column about the flu vaccine generated some letters. Some readers wondered whether the questioner may have had a bad reaction to the 1976 swine flu vaccine. I recall that incident, and in medical school we learned that it wasn't clear why that vaccine caused more side effects than other flu vaccines. However, it was a live, attenuated (weakened) flu strain, not the killed flu vaccine that has been the standard now for decades. I certainly have encountered many people who had a bad reaction 40 years ago and who still refuse to get a vaccine now.

Another reader noted that a family member complained of getting "the flu" after a flu shot, but really meant an episode of vomiting or diarrhea. Influenza does not usually have many gastrointestinal symptoms: The term "stomach flu" is a misnomer. There are plenty of viruses that can cause vomiting and diarrhea, but not influenza, which causes sudden onset (my colleague Dr. Fred Pelzman talks about people getting hit with the "flu truck") of fever, a high degree of fatigue and feeling unwell, headache and sometimes profound muscle aches. Cough, sore throat and nasal discharge show the respiratory nature of this illness.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu or request an order form of available health newsletters at 628 Virginia Dr., Orlando, FL 32803. Health newsletters may be ordered from www.rbmamall.com.

HOROSCOPE

This day is two-toned as the moon shifts from Aries to Taurus. You'll wake up in one emotional place and go to sleep in quite another as the atmosphere changes. Just remember that you're more than a mood, or an action or event that happens because of or to you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). What you're looking for is out there, but you have to start asking the right questions to find it. Asking friends is a start, but a stranger will be able to tell you more.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Personal disclosures are, as a rule, unprofessional, and you're glad about that. Now if only everyone else would get the memo! You're in the mood to be concise and to the point, avoiding chitchat.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your conscience will be even more influential over your day than usual. Your mind will hold on to responsibility until it's handled. For this reason, if you get the hard work out of the way first, you'll have a much better day.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The magic itinerary for maximum happiness isn't something that you'll naturally luck into. It's a puzzle to work out. The perfect plan must be researched and carefully thought through. You can do this.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You'll be looking at the bottom line and thinking about how you can get there faster, with less of a mess and fewer involvements along the way. The others probably aren't thinking along these lines. So how will you bridge the gap?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Though you've looked at it carefully, you can't see every angle. Stay open. Maybe you've already made up your mind, but try to open it anyway. Value the input of others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You may never get the complete agreement you want, but the potential for concession, cooperation and getting goals met will be very high if you can avoid argument altogether.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Witnessing a messy drama, you get the feeling that it would be wise to limit your involvement. The trouble is, you're already involved; you just don't realize how yet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're not doing the work merely to earn money. There's much, much more involved, including the need to express yourself, to fill a need and to contribute to an experience all can be proud of.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Why is it that the more you want something, the harder it is to ask for? It's as though the energy of wanting has an actual weight to it that makes the exchange more cumbersome.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). The project will progress with teamwork, which is not something you can achieve by crushing weak links and dissenters with smart-bomb logic. Forget about being right.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). It's empowering to have choices. Neediness is a function of limited choices. If you're feeling a little needy, think bigger. Figure out how you can create choices for yourself.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 17). You'll make a life defined by what you do, not by the world's reaction. You'll care less what people think and understand about your work, and you'll set new standards for yourself that have to do with achieving a brand of success that's meaningful to you. Libra and Capricorn adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 41, 1, 9, 17 and 22.

NATIONAL NEWS BRIEFS

Court sides with fired driver who feared 'mark of the devil'

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — A fired Pennsylvania school bus driver who believed being fingerprinted would leave "the mark of the devil" on her has won a court battle to receive unemployment benefits.

Bonnie Kaite lost her job with Altoona Student Transportation Inc. in 2015 after telling the company being fingerprinted for a background check could bar her from heaven.

The state unemployment board denied her benefits last year, saying the belief was personal, not religious. It said her belief was based on her father's interpretation of the Bible, not the teachings of a religious organization.

PennLive.com reports a Commonwealth Court panel overturned that decision Wednesday. The panel found Kaite's beliefs were sincerely held religious convictions, even if she practiced them only at home.

Kaite has sued her former employer for religious discrimination. The company says it was told the background check required fingerprints.

Judge won't toss charge in cliff crash that killed twin

HONOLULU (AP) — A judge has denied a motion to dismiss a murder charge against a woman accused of deliberately driving off a cliff in Maui and killing identical twin sister.

Alexandria Duval's defense attorney had argued that the charge should be dropped because prosecutors misled the grand jury that indicted her. The argument was rejected Tuesday.

Authorities described the 2016 crash as a hair-pulling fight over the steering wheel. Anastasia Duval died, and her sister was arrested.

A judge found no probable cause and released Alexandria Duval, who was arrested again in Albany, New York, after being indicted.

Defense attorney Birney Bervar says Duval doesn't want a jury trial. She is scheduled for trial in January before Judge Peter Cahill. Bervar says he believes Cahill will be fair.

Accused leaker loses appeal seeking pretrial jail release

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A woman charged with leaking U.S. secrets has lost an appeal of a federal magistrate's order that she remain jailed until trial.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Randal Hall ruled Monday the lower court correctly decided in October that releasing 25-year-old Reality Winner on bail would risk "harm to national security."

Winner is a former Air Force linguist who worked as a National Security Agency contractor in Augusta, Georgia, when she was charged in June with leaking a classified U.S. report to an unidentified news organization.

Authorities haven't described the document. Winner's arrest was announced the same day The Intercept reported on a classified NSA report on Russian hackers and the 2016 election.

Winner's lawyers argued she served admirably in the military and was only charged with one criminal count.

Union: Many AA flights in December lack scheduled pilots

DALLAS (AP) — American Airlines is scrambling to find pilots to operate thousands of flights over the busy Christmas holiday period after a glitch in the system used to schedule crews.

A spokesman for the airline said Wednesday that American expects to avoid canceling flights by paying overtime and using reserve pilots.

American isn't saying how many flights are affected, but the pilots' union says that about 15,000 flights were scheduled without a captain, a co-pilot or both.

A union spokesman calls it a potential crisis.

American is the world's biggest airline. It has about 15,000 active pilots and expects to operate more than 200,000 flights in December.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Argentina sentences 'Angel of Death' to life in prison

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — An Argentine court is sentencing a former navy captain known as the "Angel of Death" to life in prison for dictatorship-era human rights violations committed at a clandestine detention and torture center.

Alfredo Astiz sat motionless Wednesday as a judge read the charges against him. They included kidnapping, torture, homicide and the stealing of minors. Astiz was already serving a life sentence.

Sentences against 53 other people were still being read in the largest trial of its kind in Argentina's history.

It involved crimes against humanity committed against 789 people at the Naval Mechanics School — the era's biggest clandestine torture center. Prosecution of those crimes began in two previous trials in 2007 and 2009.

Human rights groups estimate about 30,000 people were killed or disappeared during the 1976-1983 dictatorship.

Ecuador president: Referendum needed to restore constitution

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuador's president has convoked a nationwide referendum that includes a question asking voters whether they would like to do away with a law pushed forward by predecessor Rafael Correa allowing presidents to be indefinitely reelected.

Lenin Moreno presented two decrees to the National Electoral Council Wednesday requesting a popular vote he says is essential to restore Ecuador's constitution.

The move widens the divide between Moreno and Correa, a former ally who now accuses his hand-picked successor of betraying his legacy.

Correa would be barred from returning to office if the referendum question is approved. He left office earlier this year and is currently living in Belgium, though he remains a vocal influence in the South American nation's politics.

US military: No civilians killed in August raid in Somalia

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — A U.S. military investigation of an August raid in Somalia is contradicting Somali officials' accusations that several civilians, including children, were killed.

The U.S.-supported raid by Somali forces on Aug. 25 in Bariire village caused an uproar, with bodies laid out in the capital, Mogadishu, for display. Somalia's army chief said civilians were killed.

The U.S. Africa Command statement says a "thorough assessment" of the raid by U.S. Special Operations Command Africa shows "the only casualties were those of armed enemy combatants."

There was no immediate response from Somali officials.

The Trump administration this year approved expanded military operations against the Somalia-based extremist group al-Shabab.

A separate statement Wednesday by the U.S. Africa Command says there are currently more than 500 U.S. military personnel in the Horn of Africa nation.

Russia clashes with UN and US over aid to Syrian rebels

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Russia's U.N. envoy has clashed with the world body's humanitarian chief as well as U.S. and other Western diplomats over extending the delivery of humanitarian aid across borders and conflict lines in Syria which has helped thousands of people in rebel-held areas.

Russian Ambassador Vassily Nebenzia told the U.N. Security Council on Wednesday that the current mandate expiring in December "cannot remain as it presently stands," saying it undermines Syria's sovereignty.

The Security Council has authorized cross-border aid deliveries since 2014.

U.N. humanitarian chief Mark Lowcock told council members that Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has called for the mandate's renewal, saying it is "essential to save lives."

Lowcock said that in the first 10 months of 2017, "over 750,000 people on average each month were reached through U.N. cross-border activities."

Winston slated to start on Sunday

TAMPA — With the playoffs pretty much out of reach, the Bucs have retreated into the most comfortable of cocoons: Take it one game at a time. Finish strong. Focus on beating Green Bay at storied Lambeau Field on Sunday.

A shot in the arm came Wednesday when coach Dirk Koetter said quarterback Jameis Winston will start against the Packers after missing the past three games with a shoulder injury.

Winston practiced and showed signs of rust, but the rest has helped him.

"He took the majority of the reps out there," Koetter said. "Threw the football fine. His arm strength was fine. I don't think any guy who plays a skill position like that where timing is involved is going to take three weeks off and be perfect on the first day."

Winston's return boosted his teammates.

"It's going to great," receiver DeSean Jackson said. "We missed that guy out there the past couple games."

But even sunny days have clouds. The Bucs were forced to place center Ali Marpet and tackle Demar Dotson on injured reserve, both with knee injuries suffered in Sunday's 34-20 loss at Atlanta.

"It's disappointing that you take two guys that were playing well on a team that needs more consistent play and they're out," Koetter said.

Losing arguably their two best offensive linemen as the franchise quarterback returns serves to create only more questions about the Bucs' final five games.

Will the rash of injuries serve as a legitimate excuse for the disappointment in 2017?

Funding for new stadium could rise

By MARC TOPKIN
Tampa Bay Times

Rays principal owner Stuart Sternberg reiterated today to a New York audience that how much the team contributes to a proposed new stadium will depend on how much support it gets from the Tampa Bay business community.

Sternberg told the Tampa Bay Times Nov. 15 that the initial ballpark number for the team contribution to the estimated $800-million project on the Ybor City site would be $150-million but could change based on interest expressed in season tickets, sponsorships and other business partnerships.

Speaking Wednesday at SportsBusiness Daily and Journal's first Dealmakers in Sports conference, Sternberg said they are looking for "some commitments" of support from the business community in determining the actual amount.

"That's really what's going to drive the difference between us being able to put up $150M, and if we find that those things are more robust, then that number can certainly go up," he said, per SportsBusiness Daily.

"I don't want to build an edifice to myself. I don't want to put up a

Star receiver is carted off field during practice

The Miami Hurricanes might have lost their second major player to injury in the past week, and this one is doubly distressing to the Hurricanes' passing game as No. 7 Miami (10-1, 7-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) gets ready to face No. 1 Clemson (11-1, 7-1) on Saturday night in the ACC Championship Game.

Cutler returns from concussion, will start Sunday

By STEVEN WINE

DAVIE — Twice sidelined this season by injuries, Miami Dolphins quarterback Jay Cutler is back in the lineup for a team that has lost five consecutive games and allowed seven sacks last week.

Excited, Jay?

"I'm excited," the impassive Cutler said Wednesday, managing a small smile at the question. "You always feel bad when you get hurt and you can't help your team."

Cutler was released from the concussion protocol, took part in practice and will start Sunday against Denver. He missed Sunday's loss at New England, which dropped Miami to 4-7, and missed a game in Week 8 because of cracked ribs.

How does he feel?

"Pretty good, thank

GOLF: Hero World Challenge

Woods focused on stamina, not score

By DOUG FERGUSON
Associated Press

NASSAU, Bahamas — One year later, the scene hadn't changed.

Jordan Spieth paused on the 17th green and looked across the water to the adjacent fairway at Albany Golf Club as Tiger Woods hit his shot to the ninth green, just like he did last year at the Hero World Challenge.

Curiosity is just as high over another return from injury for Woods and how he will fare after a long layoff.

What's different about the expectations for this comeback — his fifth since he first had back surgery in the spring of 2014 — is they are more about how long Woods will last than what kind of scores he posts.

"He seems more confident this year the way he's walking and talking," Spieth said Wednesday in a whisper, having lost his voice to illness. "He seemed more excited at the Presidents Cup before he was even swinging, more anxious. And it seemed to really bother him that he was following doctor's orders, like he really wanted to get going. So once he was given the go, I think it was exciting for him.

"So we're all very interested, as we should be, in how it goes for him this week — and obviously, hoping that's the start."

The start of his latest comeback is Thursday against an 18-man field that features eight of the top nine players in the world. It's the first time every shot counts for Woods since a 77 in the Dubai Desert Classic on Feb. 3.

That was his seventh round in his return. He withdrew the next day, citing back spasms, and had a fourth back surgery in April to fuse two disks in his lower back. Woods reports some stiffness and not as much range in motion. But he says he has no pain.

The hype about this return has been fueled by friendly rounds over the last few weeks.

Justin Thomas, the PGA Tour player of the year who will be paired with Woods on Thursday, said fans will be "shocked at how good his game looks." Rickie Fowler made a casual reference to how far Woods was driving it past him. Brad Faxon, who played with Woods and Dustin Johnson last Friday in a round with President Donald Trump, said Woods looked at ease and held nothing back in his swing, especially with the driver.

Woods had to keep score in his pro-am round Wednesday, and that included a 2 on the 350-yard seventh hole when he drove the green with a breeze at his back and holed a 20-foot putt for eagle.

Magic beat Thunder to end 9-game skid

Associated Press

ORLANDO — Aaron Gordon had 40 points and 15 rebounds to help the Orlando Magic end a nine-game losing streak with a 121-108 victory over the struggling Oklahoma City Thunder on Wednesday night.

Russell Westbrook hit five 3-pointers and scored 20 of his 37 points in the fourth quarter for the Thunder, who lost for the fifth time in six games and dropped their seventh straight on the road. Westbrook shot 7 for 10 on 3s and added 11 rebounds, five assists and five steals.

Elfrid Payton had 19 points and Evan Fournier added 16 for the Magic, who shot 59 percent in winning for the first time since Nov. 10. The Thunder went without a field goal for more than five minutes late in the third period, then went scoreless for the first 3 ½ minutes of the fourth. They were outscored 28-5 during that span.

KNICKS 115, HEAT 86: Enes Kanter had 22 points and 14 rebounds and New York beat Miami despite losing Kristaps Porzingis to a sprained right ankle after 2 ½ minutes. Back after missing three games with back spasms, Kanter had his way against a Heat team missing starting center Hassan Whiteside because of left knee soreness, going 7 of 9 from the field. The Knicks lost all three games Kanter missed, their longest skid since starting 0-3, but shot 60 percent and led by as much as 30 points with their center back.

76ERS 118, WIZARDS 113: Ben Simmons had 31 points and a career-high 18 rebounds and overcame a Hack-a-Shaq strategy, leading Philadelphia past Washington. Joel Embiid had 25 points and 14 rebounds, and Dario Saric added 24 points to help the Sixers win for the sixth time in eight games. Kelly Oubre Jr. scored 22 points for the Wizards.

PISTONS 131, SUNS 107: Reggie Jackson scored 23 points and Detroit beat Phoenix for its third straight victory. Tobias Harris and Avery Bradley each scored 20 points, and Andre Drummond had 13 points and matched a career best with seven assists in Detroit's highest-scoring game of the season. The Pistons improved to 14-6 overall, 8-2 at home in their first season at Little Caesars Arena, and 7-1 against the Western Conference.

RAPTORS 126, HORNETS 113: Kyle Lowry scored a season-high 36 points, DeMar DeRozan had 30 and Toronto beat Charlotte to improve to 7-1 at home. Lowry made career-high eight 3-pointers. Dwight Howard had 22 points and 10 rebounds for the Hornets. They lost their seventh straight road game and dropped to 1-9 away from home.

ROCKETS 118, PACERS 97: James Harden had 29 points, 10 assists and eight rebounds and the Houston Rockets rolled past the Indiana Pacers 118-97 on Wednesday night for their sixth straight victory. Thaddeus Young cut the lead to 10 with a hook shot with about eight minutes left. The Rockets put it away with a 16-4 run that made it 110-88 with about four minutes left. Trevor Ariza made a 3-pointer in that stretch and Ryan Anderson added two finished with 19 points.

Price leads Canadiens to 3rd straight victory

Associated Press

MONTREAL — Carey Price made 25 saves to lead the Montreal Canadiens to a 2-1 victory over the Ottawa Senators on Wednesday night for their third straight win.

Jonathan Drouin and Phillip Danault scored in the second period for Montreal.

Price improved to 3-0-0 while allowing just two goals on 100 shots since he returned last week after missing 10 games with a lower body injury.

Mark Stone scored his 14th goal for Ottawa, which has lost seven games in a row for it's longest skid since also going 0-6-1 in 2012.

The Senators have not won since sweeping a pair of games from Colorado in Stockholm, Sweden, on Nov. 10-11.

Ottawa goalie Mike Condon, pressed into service by Montreal when Price missed most of the 2015-16 season with an injury, started against his former team for the first time and finished with 28 saves.

The Senators struck short-handed when Stone intercepted Alex Galchenyuk's pass at the right point, skated in alone and beat Price with a backhander 4:02 into the game.

Drouin tied it 2:56 into the second on a penalty shot after he was hooked from behind on a breakaway by Cody Ceci.

Drouin beat Condon with a low wrist shot off a post.

The last Canadiens player to score on a penalty shot was Dale Weise against Boston on Nov. 13, 2014.

Danault darted to the net to one-time Andrew Shaw's feed past Condon at 5:14 for his first goal in 15 games.

building and have it not move the needle for us at all."

Sternberg also said the amount of the team contribution would be relative to overall expenses.

The $150-million, he said, allows them "to make a contribution, pay off our debt over 25 years – whatever it has to be – and still do what we want to do, which is put a more successful product on the field. ... For us to be able to go in and break even again at a $65M payroll, it doesn't make sense. We want to be able to jump the payroll if we're taking that sort of risk."

Sternberg also noted, as he has previously, that since attendance was not improved by winning – as they made the playoffs four times in six years – he can't assume that just building a new stadium will be the answer and thus needs to see the commitments from the community.

lost for the third time in four games following a season-high five-game winning streak.

Criticized lately for his uneven play combined with recent solid performances by backup Anton Khudobin, Rask raised his record to just 4-8-2 this season. Khudobin is 7-0-2.

Rask flashed his pad to block Ryan Callahan's tip from in close late in the game.

The Bruins came out strong in the opening period, firing 19 shots on goal en route to a 2-0 lead after one.

McAvoy snapped off a shot from the right circle that slipped through a crowd of players and past Vasilevskiy to make it 1-0 at 7:27. Originally, it was waved off for goaltender interference with Boston's Patrice Bergeron and Brad Marchand at the edge of the crease, but Bruins coach Bruce Cassidy challenged the call and it was overturned.

Nash fired a wrister that sailed over Vasilevskiy's left shoulder with 2:47 left.

Vasilevskiy faced nearly as many shots in the first as he did the entire game a night earlier when he stopped 24 in his sixth career shutout, a 2-0 victory at Buffalo.

Ryan Spooner set up Krug's goal that made it 3-0 early in the second.

NFL: Bucs

Marpet, Dotson put on IR

By RICK STROUD
Tampa Bay Times

The Bucs lost more than at game at Atlanta Sunday. It also claimed two of their best offensive linemen.

Center Ali Marpet and tackle Demar Dotson were placed on injured reserve Wednesday. Both suffered knee injuries in Sunday's 34-20 loss to the Falcons, although both were tough enough to finish the game.

Marpet, 24, the third year pro from Hobart College, made the move from guard to center this season and had consistently graded out as the Bucs' top offensive lineman this season. Dotson, 32, is in his ninth season and was having one of his best years but had been playing through a hamstring injury that limited his ability to practice.

The Bucs currently have only seven offensive linemen on the 53-man roster. Marpet likely will be replaced by center Joe Hawley, who was the Bucs primary starter at that position for 2015-16.

Caleb Benenoch would be a candidate to replace Dotson at right tackle.

Guard/center Evan Smith has been in concussion protocol. If he is able to play Sunday at Green Bay, the Bucs could move him to left guard and play Kevin Pamphile at right tackle.

The Bucs also promoted tight end Alan Cross, defensive end Patrick O'Connor and wide receiver Bobo Wilson from the practice squad to the active roster and signed cornerback Deji Olatoye (pronounced Day-zhee OH-la-toy-aye) to the active roster.

WINSTON

And does it make less sense to risk further injury to Winston by playing him behind a suddenly suspect offensive line?

For starters, in the NFL, nobody cares who is injured.

The most winnable game left on the Bucs' schedule may be against the Packers, who are 1-4 without quarterback Aaron Rodgers since he went down with a broken collarbone.

When Koetter meets with the Glazer family to make his case for why the owners should bring him back in 2018, chances are he won't take a weekly injury report. If he did, the only thing to point to would be the 0-4 mark after Winston was hurt in the second quarter at Arizona in Week 6 and before he was taken out of the lineup to heal.

But Winston's injury wasn't season-ending. You can question the wisdom of not playing backup Ryan Fitzpatrick sooner — Winston played 2½ games before reinjuring the shoulder and being sidelined — but Winston has missed only three full games, not 13.

The Glazers — like the fans, players and coaching staff — had enormous expectations going into the season. When you're taking on water in the ocean, it doesn't matter what caused the leak.

Wednesday, upon learning the news about Marpet and Dotson, some Bucs fans took to social media to say the only reason Winston is playing is to save Koetter's job.

A few things about that. Since when is a team's won-loss record a good reason to shut down its stars?

If you believe Winston is too valuable to play for the final five weeks of the regular season, where do you draw the line? What about Jackson, Mike Evans, O.J. Howard, Cameron Brate, Lavonte David, Kwon Alexander or Gerald McCoy?

you," Cutler said. He said the ribs are no longer an issue, but declined to discuss the concussion.

"I'm not going to go back and rehash that stuff," he said.

The response was even more terse when Cutler was asked how he looks back on his three seasons with the Broncos.

"I don't right now," he said.

Denver went 17-20 when Cutler started for them in his first three NFL seasons in 2008-10.

Matt Moore is 0-2 with Miami this season as the substitute starter for Cutler. Moore took a beating against the Patriots and sat out Wednesday's practice because of a foot injury.

Guard Jermon Bushrod remained out because of a foot injury.

Damien Williams is sidelined by a shoulder injury, leaving Miami with only one experienced running back — Kenyan Drake.

That compounds the issues for an offense ranked 30th in the NFL. Miami is on pace for its lowest-scoring season in 50 years.

Cutler ranks 34th in the league in yards per attempt at a career-worst 5.9, but he's disinclined to reflect on the season or losing streak.

"I'm not really concerned with it," he said. "I think everyone is just focused on trying to win one game."

Among other challenges for Cutler against Denver's highly regarded defense, rust could be a factor. He has played only two complete games in the past six weeks.

"I think he'll be all right," coach Adam Gase said. "We just need to have a good week of practice and clean up some stuff, get the timing down, get the ball out on time and get open quick."

No man can escape his body's natural sexual libido decline. As sure as the sun rises each day, this normal drop in the nutrients needed for a healthy sex life will eventually effect every man's performance.

What most men don't realize is that this decline only needs to be short and temporary, and is easily fixed.

Plenty of marketing and advertising from the mega drug companies target men in their 40s, 50s, 60s and 70s with chemical-based pills like Viagra or Cialis to reverse the decline in sexual energy, desire and stamina.

And any man who uses them will experience a sexual resurgence. But they will also quickly discover these expensive drugs come with a host of unpleasant side effects, that almost make them not worth it.

Urologist Dr. Richard Mynatt formulated all natural, His Blue Pill after numerous patient complaints about the side effects of prescription sexual potency pills.

Recently, Dr. Mynatt made a significant advance in creating an all natural, 100% safe sexual libido-boosting alternative with ZERO side effects, and with the same performance-enhancing effect. Already it has proven to be hugely successful due to the fact that it works as well, or even better than Cialis or Viagra.

A Real Solution from a Real Doctor!

Dr. Mynatt says, "His Blue Pill was developed based on the same natural composition of the chemicals used in Viagra and Cialis to maximize sexual health. It increases blood flow, sexual libido and sexual satisfaction with these key ingredients, that have proven to work in medical studies."

Men no longer have to spend exorbitant amounts of money on prescription drugs, when they can get results with His Blue Pill.

Dr. Richard Mynatt attended the University of Tennessee Medical School. Richard graduated Phi Beta Kappa, and completed a two year residency at the University of California, followed by urological training at DUKE UNIVERSITY MEDICAL SCHOOL in Durham, NC. Dr. Mynatt created the first and only 100% natural potency supplement that rivals the side-effect-laden ED prescription drugs.

Powerful Natural Ingredients

His Blue Pill contains a line up of key ingredients, including L CITRULLINE, which is naturally converted to Nitric Oxide, shown to drastically increase blood flow for added firmness. RED KOREAN GINSENG to increase stamina, decrease fatigue. And MACA which greatly improves sexual desire in men.

The bottom line is, when the moment is right, once daily, His Blue Pill is doctor-certified to keep men sexually ready without high cost or side effects.

Men of any age can regain their youth and sexual libido through this, the first doctor-created, all natural daily health sexual supplement.

Brunson leads No. 4 Villanova to rout of Penn

VILLANOVA, Pa. — Jalen Brunson had 17 points to lead five players in double figures as No. 4 Villanova routed Penn 90-62 on Wednesday night.

Omari Spellman, Mikal Bridges and Phil Bridges added 14 points apiece and Donte DiVincenzo scored 12 for the Wildcats (7-0), who remained undefeated while winning their 15th straight game against Penn.

AJ Brodeur paced Penn with 15 points and Darnell Foreman had 13 for the Quakers (5-4).

The game was played at Jake Nevin Field House, a bandbox gym on Villanova's campus that seats 2,220. It was the first game at the Wildcats' former home since Jan. 4, 1986. Villanova is playing most of its home games this season at Wells Fargo Center, home court of the 76ers, while its regular on-campus arena gets a makeover.

The victory was Villanova's 19th in a row against Philadelphia Big 5 rivals. The famed Philadelphia City Series started in 1956, but Wednesday's game was the first to be played at Nevin Field House. It became the 10th venue for a Big 5 contest, most of which have been held at The Palestra.

NO. 13 NORTH CAROLINA 86, MICHIGAN 71: Luke Maye scored 27 points and No. 13 North Carolina shot 55 percent to beat Michigan 86-71 on Wednesday night in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge. Joel Berry II added 17 points on a bounceback offensive night for the Tar Heels (6-1). They were coming off a 63-45 loss to No. 3 Michigan State in the PK80 Invitational that included them shooting a program-record-low 24.6 percent. But North Carolina had no troubles against the Wolverines (6-2). The Tar Heels closed the first half on a 17-5 run for a 51-37 lead, then went a 17-2 run to blow the game open. That 34-7 run over roughly 13 minutes turned a 34-32 lead into a 68-39 romp with more than 13 minutes left. Moe Wagner scored 20 points to lead Michigan, which cooled quickly after a hot start and couldn't keep up with UNC and its refound offensive touch.

Who's going to New Year's Six bowls?

By RALPH D. RUSSO
Associated Press

Everybody wants to know which teams will be in the College Football Playoff.

The picks (AP rankings):

Friday

No. 11 Southern California (minus 4) vs. No. 14 Stanford, Pac-12 championship, at Santa Clara, California

Trojans have won 38 Pac-12 titles, by far the most in the conference, but none since 2008 before the league expanded from 10 to 12 teams ... USC 31-24.

Saturday

No. 1 Clemson (minus 9 ½) vs. No. 7 Miami, ACC championship, at Charlotte, North Carolina

It has been a magical season for the Hurricanes, but now they are down both TE Chris Herndon and WR Ahmmon Richards ... CLEMSON 28-14.

No. 2 Oklahoma (minus 7) vs. No. 10 TCU, Big 12 championship, at Arlington, Texas

Baker Mayfield's last chance to give someone else the opportunity to win the Heisman Trophy ... OKLAHOMA 38-28.

No. 3 Wisconsin (plus 6 ½) vs. No. 8 Ohio State, Big Ten championship, at Indianapolis

Undefeated and underdogs, the Badgers would make things easier on the selection committee by beating the Buckeyes ... OHIO STATE 28-23.

No. 4 Auburn (minus 2 ½) vs. No. 6 Georgia, SEC championship, at Atlanta

Bulldogs were embarrassed in first meeting. Expect better this time around ... GEORGIA 28-24.

No. 16 Memphis at No. 12 UCF (minus 7), AAC championship

The two highest scoring teams in the country ... UCF 52-42

No. 25 Fresno State (plus 8) at Boise State, MWC championship

Why, yes, these two teams did just play last week ... BOISE STATE 28-21.

Toledo (minus 21 ½) vs. Akron, MAC championship, at Detroit

Rockets have been one of the MAC's best programs but have not won a conference title since 2001 ... TOLEDO 42-27.

North Texas (plus 11) at FAU, Conference USA championship

Mean Green vs. Lane Train ... FAU 45-31.

Herndon sustained a season-ending knee injury on Friday at Pittsburgh, sophomore receiver Ahmmon Richards, who last year broke Canes' legend Michael Irvin's freshman school receiving record, was injured Wednesday morning during practice and carted off Greentree Field, two sources told the Miami Herald.

The type of injury to Richards was not revealed. One source said he was surrounded by players and coach Mark Richt while he was attended to by trainers.

Richt declined to discuss Richards' newest injury when approached by the Herald regarding Richards on Wednesday, saying he wouldn't answer any questions.

Between Herndon (470 yards and four touchdowns) and Richards (439 yards and three touchdowns), the two accounted for 909 receiving yards and seven touchdowns.

The 6-foot-1, 190-pound Richards, a 2016 freshman All-American who had 934 receiving yards in 2016, has been plagued by hamstring injuries all season, and also at times had issues with an ankle and his achilles' tendon, according to Richt recently.

Riley faces veteran Patterson

TCU head coach Gary Patterson leads his team onto the field. If the Big 12 is going to make the playoff this year, No. 2 Oklahoma has to beat No. 10 TCU for the second time in four weeks.

NORMAN, Okla. — Oklahoma coach Lincoln Riley won't slow down to reflect.

That's just now how he operates.

The youngest coach in the FBS has won more games in his first year than any of Oklahoma's greats; he passed Barry Switzer and Chuck Fairbanks last week with a victory over West Virginia. With one more win, he would become just the fifth FBS coach with no previous head-coaching experience at a four-year college to claim at least 12 victories in his debut season.

The 34-year-old offensive mastermind is locked in on what's next — the Big 12 championship game on Saturday matching second-ranked Oklahoma (11-1, 8-1 Big 12, No. 3 CFP) and tenth-ranked TCU (10-2, 7-2, No. 11 CFP). It will provide Riley with another chance to match wits with TCU's coach, veteran defensive guru Gary Patterson.

"I'm just trying to do everything I can to help our team win this game," Riley said. "There'll be a lot about this season that when it's over, regardless what happens here, that we'll be very, very proud of. But now is not the time for that."

That's because perhaps his most difficult challenge yet looms. The 57-year-old Patterson is the winningest coach in TCU history and the second-longest tenured FBS head coach, behind Iowa's Kirk Ferentz. Under Patterson's leadership, the Horned Frogs have reached 10 wins for the 11th time in his 17 seasons as head coach.

Patterson, known as a stickler for detail, has the benefit of game film to study from the previous meeting. Though the Sooners made the first half look easy in a 38-20 regular-season win over the Horned Frogs a few weeks ago, Riley insists it was tough. He noted that TCU shut out the Sooners in the second half.

"To sit there and think that it was easy or that it wasn't a challenge every snap is just not right," Riley said. "It wasn't easy then. We had to earn everything that we did. We went back and looked at it, so there's a lot of things we've got to do better. I'm sure coach Patterson did the same with his group. It's going to be a battle. I am very confident in our offense, but I know how good these guys are defensively. They're tremendous."

The Sooners remain confident, too, and with good reason — they lead the nation in total offense with 593.5 yards per game and rank fourth in points per game with 45.2 per contest. Riley has put his own mark on the program in his first year following Bob Stoops.

"We went from having the legend of coach Stoops to having the future of coach Riley," Oklahoma quarterback Baker Mayfield said. "It was about as smooth as it possibly could've gone. That's a credit to coach Riley."

Mayfield said Riley gained the team's respect with his work ethic during his two years as Oklahoma's offensive coordinator.

"He's very passionate," Mayfield said. "His work ethic — whew. He's always in there watching film. He's coming up with new plays, new schemes. He enjoys the process and working to design a play or an offense and having control. He wants to have the perfect scheme. I don't necessarily know how to say it. The way he watches film — he tries to put us in the best situation possible."

It didn't take the Sooners, or anyone else to figure out that Riley was head coaching material. He won the Broyles Award for the nation's best assistant coach in 2015.

"From the moment he got here, we expected nothing less for either him to go on and be a head coach somewhere else at some point or be the head coach here," Oklahoma left tackle Orlando Brown said. We always knew what he was capable of, and obviously, he's been showing it around here."

COLLEGE FOOTBALL: Bulldogs

No. 6 Georgia needs to be more physical

By CHARLES ODUM
Associated Press

ATHENS, Ga. — Three weeks after an ugly loss at Auburn, No. 6 Georgia is facing perhaps the biggest do-over in school history.

At stake Saturday will be the Southeastern Conference championship and a probable spot in the College Football Playoff.

Standing in the way is No. 4 Auburn, who a few weeks ago dominated Georgia.

The Bulldogs must fix the mistakes and be more physical than in the 40-17 embarrassing loss to the Tigers on Nov. 11.

Auburn (10-2, No. 2 CFP) was stronger on both lines, had the superior running game and better discipline. Still, Georgia (11-1, No. 6 CFP) believes the result was as much about what they didn't do as much as what Auburn did do.

The lopsided score did not look like a fluke. If the Bulldogs' assessment is correct, they must show dramatic improvement in all those areas to get revenge .

Georgia coach Kirby Smart had a one-word answer when asked what is the most important area in which his team must play better against Auburn.

"Physicality," he said, no doubt remembering lost battles up front three weeks ago. Quarterback Jake Fromm was sacked four times.

Asked if the problem on the line of scrimmage was technique or attitude, Smart said it was "a little bit of both."

"Physicality is an attitude," he said. "Physicality is size. It's a physics matter, too. It's an attitude with which you approach the game and how you approach contact. We didn't do as good a job as they did at that."

Uncharacteristic mistakes, including on special teams, hurt the Bulldogs in the regular-season loss to Auburn. Georgia set up an Auburn touchdown with a roughing the punter penalty and also fumbled a punt return to set up another score. Another mistake, a 15-yard personal foul penalty, hurt the Bulldogs when the Tigers pulled away in the third quarter.

AP PHOTO

Auburn defensive back Carlton Davis tackles Georgia running back Sony Michel during the first half Nov. 11 in Auburn, Ala.

To erase the mistakes, senior linebacker Reggie Carter said Georgia has to play with discipline.

"We did a lot of undisciplined stuff in the first game so we've got to be more disciplined in the game and this week in practice," Carter said.

Perhaps the most dramatic imbalance in the loss to Auburn was in the running game. Georgia leads the SEC in rushing, so it was humbling for the Bulldogs to be held to 46 yards on 32 carries. Auburn's Kerryon Johnson also had 32 carries and 167 of the Tigers' 237 yards rushing.

Georgia's ground game has once again been productive in wins over Kentucky and Georgia Tech since the loss.

But with all due respect to the Wildcats and Yellow Jackets, they don't have Auburn's defensive front.

Lewis lauds Ravens defense for sustaining excellence

By DAVID GINSBURG
Associated Press

OWINGS MILLS, Md. — Ray Lewis played on many a great defense with the Baltimore Ravens, including the 2000 team that won a Super Bowl and set an NFL record for fewest points allowed in a 16-game season.

The former standout middle linebacker ranks the current unit right up there with the best of them.

"It 100 percent does not get any better than watching these guys play defense," Lewis said this week in an interview with The Associated Press.

The Ravens (6-5) lead the NFL with 18 interceptions and 26 takeaways. Baltimore has three shutouts this season, and last Monday night allowed only one touchdown and forced three turnovers in a 23-16 win over Houston.

Now in his eighth season with the Ravens, defensive coordinator Dean Pees deftly calls the shots for a unit that long ago built a reputation for being relentless and tenacious.

"Look, let's just give credit to Dean Pees and what he's been doing with defenses for ages," Lewis said. "When you see this defense play, they are aggressive, they are physical and they are telling people, 'We can absolutely beat you up.' That's always been our simple motto: You want to come in and act cute? We're coming in to punch you in the mouth. And that's what the Ravens are doing."

Lewis played 17 seasons with Baltimore, was named to 13 Pro Bowls and was a two-time AP Defensive Player of the Year. He ended his final season in 2012 under a rain of confetti after the Ravens beat San Francisco 34-31 to win the Super Bowl.

Terrell Suggs was a member of the championship team, and Lewis credits the outside linebacker, now 35, with carrying on the tradition of excellence that defines Ravens defense.

"You know what? A lot of the great defenses I was on, Terrell Suggs was there," Lewis said. "When you think about it, he came in as a young kid, getting experience playing with me and Ed Reed. Now guess what? He's that guy.

"The same focus, the same leadership that starts with Terrell Suggs starts to trickle down. When you bring in veterans like Eric Weddle, and the knowledge of a C.J. Mosley and combine all of those things with the athletic ability they all have, what you get is a tremendous defense."

That's how it worked with Lewis, who thrived as the centerpiece of a team that fused in-house talent with proven free agents.

"I used to say this when I was playing: You can compare us to whoever you want to, but we are who we are," Lewis said. "Same thing with the 2017 Ravens. There are so many different pieces. There are guys coming from different teams, just like we had Rod Woodson and Sam Adams and Michael McCrary."

Lewis now appears on Showtime's "Inside the NFL," a job that requires him to closely monitor action around the league. He watched the Ravens-Texans game intently Monday night, and relished the pivotal fourth-quarter moment when Suggs forced a fumble while sacking Tom Savage.

"Before he did it, I said, 'Sizzle, I need a play. I need a sack-caused fumble right now,"' Lewis said. "That was a close game. If he just sacks the quarterback, guess what? The next play maybe the Texans throw a pass to DeShawn Hopkins, maybe get a pass interference, maybe a first down. But that does not happen when you take the ball away.

"The point is, these guys are playing with a chip on their shoulder. If you're loose with the ball, they're going to make you pay for it. That's Ravens history, that's Ravens defense, and that's why I appreciate on every level watching these guys play."

The 2000 Ravens went five straight games without a touchdown. The current team also features a struggling offense, but remains unified in its quest to win.

New York Giants quarterback Eli Manning (10) looks down at the turf during the second half against the Washington Redskins on Nov. 23 in in Landover, Md..

Sentimentality doesn't go far in the NFL

By TIM DAHLBERG
Associated Press

Eli Manning lasted a lot longer than most before being tossed onto the scrap heap that eventually claims almost everyone who has ever strapped on a helmet in the NFL.

Sentimentality doesn't go far in the league, where what you've done in past Super Bowls isn't nearly as important as what you did in your last game.

Manning probably understands that better than most, coming as he does from a royal family of NFL quarterbacks. It was just a few years ago that he watched from a distance as his brother was run out of Indianapolis after he was thought too old and decrepit to lead the Colts to another Super Bowl title.

Peyton Manning went to Denver and proved them wrong, and Eli Manning may do the same himself. Maybe not for the Giants, but perhaps for another team that could use a quarterback so durable that he started 210 straight games, and so good that he was MVP in two Super Bowl wins.

No, this isn't the end for Eli Manning. Far from it, and it's not beyond the realm of possibility to think he leads the Giants once again if current management should themselves happen to get sacked in the offseason.

If not, there are plenty of teams that would like a crack at a player who is the only quarterback to beat Tom Brady and the New England Patriots in not just one, but two Super Bowls.

"Eli's a big boy, he's played a lot," said his father, Archie, who threw passes for 15 years in the NFL. "He's a tough guy. I'm very confident Eli will handle it."

AP PHOTO

Eli Manning speaks with reporters at the New York Giants' training facility Tuesday in East Rutherford, N.J. The Giants announced on Tuesday that Geno Smith will start in place of Manning when they face the Raiders in Oakland on Sunday.

The way Manning was so unceremoniously removed as a full-time quarterback this week was a bit disconcerting, if nothing else. A coach increasingly desperate for wins not only benched a potential future Hall of Famer, but the player who has been the face of the Giants franchise for more than a decade.

"If you had a Mount Rushmore of not only New York Giants but New York athletes, he'd be on it," said Davis Webb, the rookie quarterback who may end up getting some of Manning's playing time.

Manning would be there indeed, probably occupying the Teddy Roosevelt position right next to Derek Jeter. And that's part of what makes Manning's sudden demotion as inexplicable as it was sad.

There's nothing that will happen in the Giants' final five games that makes coach Ben McAdoo's decision any easier to digest. The team is playing out a lost season, and any talk about needing to try out Webb or Geno Smith under center is really just talk.

What makes it even more puzzling is that this isn't how the Giants usually do business. This is an old-school franchise that prides itself on stability and deliberate moves, as evidenced by how long former coach Tom Coughlin stuck around.

This made the Giants look more like the New York Jets, their stadium partner at the Meadowlands.

"This is so much bigger than Eli Manning. This is about an entire organization that has gone sideways," said NFL Network analyst Kurt Warner. "If you've got one guy that represents what this organization has been about and the character and the success of this organization, it's that guy that has been under center in Eli Manning. He's never done anything but show character and do things the right way."

Manning showed that by handling his sudden demotion about as professionally as possible, though tears welled in his eyes Tuesday as he discussed it with reporters.

"I don't like it, but it's part of football, you handle it," he said. "I didn't do my job."

Someone had to take the fall for a miserable 2-9 season and, while Manning is not blameless, it should be noted that 19 Giants are on injured reserve and he has played behind a leaky offensive line that general manager Jerry Reese failed to patch during the offseason. Even Manning's toughest critics acknowledge that, though the fact remains he's six years removed from his last Super Bowl win and on the back nine of his career at the age of 36.

It's never really a shock when an NFL player is demoted or cut loose. This is a league that values players only as commodities, which is why even the most elite players get only guaranteed signing bonuses and no guaranteed contracts.

Manning is luckier than most because he'll get a chance to play again, whether in New York or somewhere else. Like his brother before him, he can pretty much pick where he goes and what kind of system he plays under.

Yes, Manning deserved better after 14 seasons than an ignominious benching late in a lousy season.

For players, though, there are seldom happy endings in the NFL.

"This is so much bigger than Eli Manning. This is about an entire organization that has gone sideways. If you've got one guy that represents what this organization has been about and the character and the success of this organization, it's that guy that has been under center in Eli Manning. He's never done anything but show character and do things the right way."

1 — Name of stock.

2 — Ticker Symbol company trades under.

3 — Dividend: A distribution of the company's earnings to shareholders, usually consisting of stock dividends, interest on bonds, or short-term capital gains on the sale of securities usually paid quarterly in the form of cash or stock.

4 — Div. Yield: The dividend divided by the stock price. It helps gauge how well the stock is paying, compared to other investments such as CDs, bonds or savings accounts.

5 — Price to earnings ratio: The price of a stock divided by its earnings per share. PEs are used to gauge the relative worth of a company' stock. When compared to other companies in the same industry, the companies with the lowest PEs are generally earning higher profits.

6 — Range of closing prices in last year.

7 — Sales in thousands (10 = 10,000 shares), and closing price.

8 — Last trading price of the day.

9 — Percent change for the year.

▲▼Arrows, indicate new highs or lows.
Underline: indicates top 100 stocks by volume rank.
Bold stocks , designates which stocks have gone up or down 5% .
