By KIM LEATHERMAN
STAFF WRITER

SEBRING — More deficiencies have been cited at Magnolia Retirement Home at 149 Magnolia Ave. The Florida division of the Agency for Health Care Administration, or AHCA, conducted a visit to the assisted living facility “in conjunction with a second revisit to a complaint,” a recent report read.

Magnolia Retirement Home has a Limited Mental Health license with AHCA. The agency’s biennial survey on Limited Mental Health licenses was conducted at the Sebring facility on Oct. 16; the facility was found deficient. There has been no other survey since Oct. 16.

An interview with an employee and a corresponding employment record review showed that the “facility failed to ensure that the staff received Limited Mental Health” training. All employees hired by a LMH facility must receive LMH training. One employee had not received the LMH training within six months of the employment start date of the two records reviewed.

AHCA defines Limited Mental Health on its website as: “An ALF with this license can provide limited mental health services. This type of license must be obtained if an assisted living facility serves three or more mental health residents. Services must be provided for the special needs of these residents, along with the basic services of an assisted living facility. A facility with a limited mental health license must consult with the resident and the resident’s mental health case manager to develop and carry out a community living support plan.”

Magnolia Retirement Home is co-owned by Manuel and Priscilla Domisiw and their son, Dennis Domisiw, holds the position of administrator.

The report states that Dennis Domisiw was interviewed just after 11 a.m. Oct. 16 and “confirmed” the staff member did not undergo the required Limited Mental Health training.

The deficiency is considered to be a Class III, which AHCA’s website states: “Class ‘III’ violations are those conditions or occurrences related to the operation and maintenance of a provider or to the care of clients which the agency determines indirectly or potentially threaten the physical or emotional health, safety, or security of clients, other than class I or class II violations.”

AHCA levies fines on facilities that have these deficiencies. When condition(s) are rectified in a specified time frame, the fine can be waived.

Another Class III deficiency was found in October after a “second revisit to a complaint.” The investigator discovered in another record review that the facility was deficient as it did not “maintain an approved County Emergency SEBRING — Amid the flurry of holiday tasks, setting up the Christmas tree is among the most important to infuse the home with the spirit of the season.

For those getting a live/real tree, the Thanksgiving weekend marks the start of the tree shopping time with retailers doing a brisk business.

A few found the right tree Monday at the Sebring Home Depot, which reported that more trees were coming in today. The store carried Fraser fir trees ranging from 5- to 6-foot for $36.98 to 9- to 10-foot for $109.

Kenny and Natalie Massey picked out an 8-foot tree and secured it to the roof of their SUV for transport to their Avon Park home.

It will be going in the living room or the den, Kenny Massey said, wherever his wife wants it to go.

Josh and Alysha Sargent, of Sebring, also picked out a tree. The tree will go in their living room by the window.

With a baby coming next year they might not get a live tree next year, Alysha Sargent said. The baby is due in February.

“I grew up, up north and we went out and cut our own trees,” in Michigan, she said. “We’d go out in a horse-buggy and cut our own tree down.”

The Sebring Lowe’s had many 3-foot to under-4-foot table-top trees for $19.98 and 5- to 6-foot Fraser firs for $34.98 and 6- to 7-foot Fraser firs for $44.98.

The National Christmas Tree Association (NCTA) recommends that people begin shopping for their real Christmas tree early this season. Whether a consumer prefers to select a tree from a local garden center, retail

To ensure a Christmas tree stays fresh, insist on a fresh cut before leaving the retail location. After returning

FEMA funds on the way

SEBRING — With a budget amendment, Highlands County commissioners have kept some projects in the black while awaiting funds from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

David Nitz, manager of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), presented the Board of County Commission last week with a budget amendment to clear up negative balances.

What it was, essentially, was a transfer of funds among project line items to keep those line items out of the negative, according to OMB staff.

While cost centers can be in the negative, line items cannot, so money had to be moved. It had to be done last week to then allow the county to have auditors look at the books for the year-end financial reports, according to Tuesday’s meeting agenda materials.

The county is still waiting for reimbursement from FEMA. At last report, at the beginning of October, Highlands

AP Council discusses displaced lake buoys

By MARC VALERO
STAFF WRITER

AVON PARK — Displaced or missing lake buoys have been a safety topic at two recent Avon Park City Council meetings with the issue yet to be resolved.

At the Monday, Nov. 19 special City Council meeting, Councilwoman Maria Sutherland said she has been concerned for many months over the placement of the buoys in Lake Verona and Lake Tulane.

“There is one buoy sitting on Lake Tulane that says, ‘come to me’ and it is too far out there,” she said. “I don’t even know if it is anchored.”

Lake buoys are used to mark the outer boundary of a swimming area for swimmers and also to alert boaters and those using personal watercraft that they are near a swimming area.

From what she understands there hasn’t been any lake buoy maintenance since September, Sutherland said.

The City of Sebring currently has a contract with Florida Public Safety for its buoy maintenance and at the previous council meeting then City Manager June Fisher said Avon Park has the same contract as Sebring, Sutherland said.

“Because we don’t have the staff to go in there and hook these things down or move them or relocate them where they should be, we can actually piggy back off our own procurement policy with the city of Sebring and have the identical service provided,” Sutherland said.

From what she understood, the former city manager or former city attorney were trying to do away with the contract, but there was nothing done for at least two months, she said.

It is unsafe and a huge liability for the city, Sutherland said. The lake buoys need to be anchored appropriately.

Utilities Director Josh Turner said Preston Colby of Florida Public Safety anchored the buoys with concrete buckets and that is why you find them floating across the lake, because the water level got so high it just picked up the buckets.

Colby asked for Sebring’s assistance because he doesn’t have the equipment to sink anchors, Turner said.

Sutherland asked why can’t city employees do it?

Turner replied the city can, but Colby was contracted to do it.

“We never heard back from him about doing it because the contract got put on hold.”

Mayor Garrett Anderson suggested that Turner review the Florida Public Safety contract with Sebring and determine what it would cost the city to do it, to see which would be more economical.

The city can move them, Turner said, noting that he is a certified diver.

The best idea would be to review the contract and then council will consider the issue at tonight’s meeting, Anderson said.

SEBRING — The Sebring Police Department located two missing endangered juveniles — Angel Marino, 13, and her brother, Ronald Joseph Marino, 12 — on Monday morning.

The duo were found near the Academy at Youth Care Lane in Sebring. According to Lt. Thomas Gilliard, as of press time officers were still talking to the youngsters to determine their whereabouts while they were gone.

They were last seen on Sunday, Nov. 25 near the Highland Homes neighborhood near Kenilworth Boulevard.

Gilliard said the children were given permission by their mother to stay at a friend’s residence.

“At 10:54 p.m., the mother was at the police department and reported them missing,” Gilliard said.

Angel Marino has been listed as missing/runaway five times this year. The brother and sister were previously listed as missing and endangered last week on Thanksgiving Day.

5 THINGS That Will Make You SMARTER

1. Marie Curie, nee Maria Salomea Sklodowska, was born in Warsaw, Poland, on Nov. 7, 1867.

2. She was a physicist and chemist and a pioneer in the study of radiation. She and her husband, Pierre, discovered the elements polonium and radium.

3. Together, Pierre and Marie Curie were awarded the Nobel Prize for Physics in 1903. Marie Curie received another one, for Chemistry, in 1911.

4. On July 4, 1934, Marie Curie died of aplastic anemia, a blood disease that is often caused by too much exposure to radiation. Pierre Curie died April 19, 1906 of a fractured skull after a street accident in Paris.

5. The Curies received another honor in 1944 with the discovery of the 96th element on the Periodic Table of the Elements, which was named curium.

It starts in the islands

In South Florida, thanks to the foresight of local leaders, sea-level rise and climate change are being tackled regionally — Miami-Dade, Monroe, Broward and Palm Beach counties formed the Southeast Florida Regional Climate Change Compact a decade ago to share wisdom and best practices toward a common goal: Stop rising seas from invading and destroying our way of life.

But it seems that a major component is being overlooked. When we think regionally, we seldom think of the water-logged Caribbean islands just miles away from us, and that are the real front lines of this region's climate-change manifestations.

Consider this: If the Bahamas, Jamaica, Aruba, the Virgin Islands are inundated by rising oceans, water heated by climate change, where will all those residents flee to seek shelter? South Florida, most likely.

Nov. 11 marked the launch of a smart major campaign by the United Nations Economic and Social Council, which has adopted the idea — with added urgency — of helping create a climate change survival blueprint for the Caribbean.

The effort is being led by Inga Rhonda King, president of the council who hails from the islands of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines. ...

King says the Caribbean islands near Florida have yet to unite, organize and act as one in dealing with climate change. There is no pact in place for the string of islands, which rely heavily on tourism to survive.

"Either we sink together or build climate resilience. There is no other option," King said. "The time to talk is over, the time to act is now." She's right.

King wants to ring the bell loudly with this campaign — and she has hard numbers to allude to the looming devastation. Last year, climate-related worldwide disasters caused $320 billion in damage, wiping out decades of development gains in some places. For the Caribbean, the island chains' very existence is at stake.

Economically, it has long been a tourism magnet and source of revenue. ...

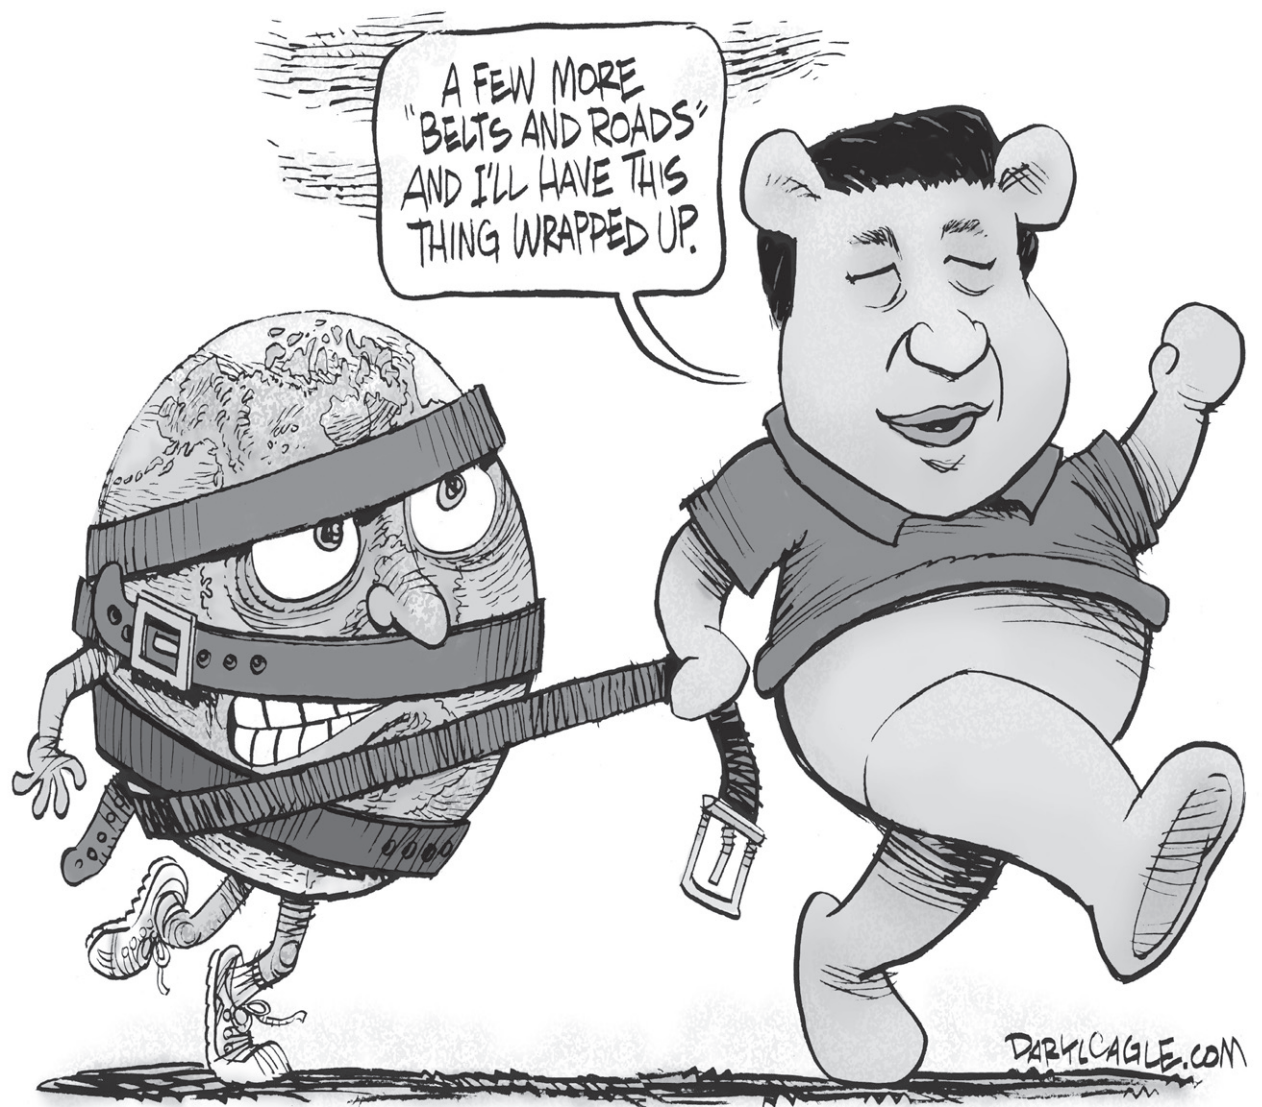

King told the Miami Herald Editorial Board that the Caribbean needs to catch up to neighbors like Florida — or else.

... Even though King and the Caribbean nations have not asked, maybe South Florida can volunteer to help. The Southeast Florida Regional Climate Change Compact should consider inviting the Caribbean islands to join in the effort. After all, we all face being overwhelmed by the same Atlantic waters.

When that Compact was created, the first thing members did was work out a common set of numbers projecting how much sea-level rise to expect: 6 to 10 inches by 2030; up to 5 feet by 2100. They worked out a regional vulnerability assessment.

... The Caribbean needs to create a similar action plan. For the islands of the region, the possibility of turning into the lost land of Atlantis is no myth.

An editorial from the Miami Herald.

Are you washing your hands correctly?

Are You Washing Your Hands Correctly?

Tyrades! by Danny Tyree

When I was a tyke, I always freaked out over the possible presence of "cat hairs and goims." (Why a Tennessee farm-boy pronounced "germs" like a hooligan in a 1930s movie set in Brooklyn, I'll never know.)

As time passed and life's more pressing issues accumulated, I became complacent about cats shedding, cats leaving their muddy pawprints on the car hood, cats using my credit card to order pizza delivery, etc.

And, like most people, I became lackadaisical about bacteria.

National Public Radio reports that the Democratic Republic of the Congo has released a new video in its fight to end an Ebola outbreak.

Chillingly, the six-step handwashing routine (eight steps, if you count abundantly wetting your hands with water and lathering up) advocated by the video is pretty much the same regimen the World Health Organization has been recommending for ALL of us numbskulls to use in everyday life!

TYRADES

According to NPR, about 30 percent of the world's population NEVER bothers with handwashing. Even in America, only half of us wash our hands after using the restroom. And we absent-mindedly touch our faces (eyes, nose, mouth) about 200 times a day!

Yes, we Americans are quite good with TWO steps ("Darlin', grab some extra beers and we'll two-step on out to the back of my pickup truck and push the deer carcass aside...") and TWELVE steps ("Hi, my name is Bill and I am... a person who gives you a hearty handshake immediately after cleaning out the septic tank"), but the SIX steps are seen as an unreasonable burden.

Partly, it's a matter of ignorance. No one has EVER in a million years mentioned to us attentive Americans complicated concepts such as "Wash your hands," "The turn signal is not just for decoration" and "Research the issues first, THEN protest." On the other hand, we've memorized a minute-by-minute timeline of Natalie Wood's last night alive.

Our poor hygiene is also a rebellion against parental overprotectiveness, the old "Don't touch that! You don't know where it has been!" mantra. Some enterprising techie could make a billion dollars developing an app that can trace the history of Where An Object Has Been. ("Ma, here's a detailed report of where that cow patty came from. I pretty much had it nailed.")

Pride and overconfidence play a role. ("Lye soap? My family couldn't even afford RAINWATER when I was growing up. And the 30 percent of us who made it to adulthood turned out — cough cough — pretty doggone well.")

Science says that a minimum of 20 seconds of handwashing is required; but among the folks who do bother to wash, we are more likely to scrub for a mere 8 to 10 seconds — just long enough to get the microbes riled up. It has the makings of a good horror movie: "The germs never even LEFT — and this time it's personal!"

Perhaps we'll wake up to the fact that good hygiene can greatly reduce zits, colds and far worse ailments. I mean, people are already wary of STDs, and those at least offer a modicum more fun than EHTDs (Escalator Handrail Transmitted Diseases).

I did see an encouraging sign posted in a diner window. ("Corn muffins so good they'll make you slap your mamma — but be sure to use an alcohol-based gel sanitizer both before and after the transaction.")

Danny Tyree welcomes email responses at tyreetyrades@aol.com and visits to his Facebook fan page "Tyree's Tyrades." Danny's weekly column is distributed exclusively by Cagle Cartoons Inc. newspaper syndicate.

Not a happy nation

Three recent shootings — Denver, Philadelphia and Alabama — along with the recent shooting in California, and do I have to mention Chicago, which seems to be a public shooting gallery.

In schools, parking lots, restaurants, shopping malls and road rage. We are indeed a gun happy nation. There have been over 47,000 shooting incidents in this country since 2000; 286 in schools alone.

The NRA says keep your guns, the 2nd Amendment says we are entitled to have guns (never mind that no two lawyers can interpret that Amendment about a "well organized militia"), and concealed carry applications are going out from every state office like candy drops. Apparently every person from sixth-graders to senior citizens are "packing."

We used to settle arguments verbally, then moved on to fisticuffs but now have decided that guns are the answer.

Granted people with mental problems can be a problem, but the average person thinks he is 12 feet high while carrying a weapon. I would venture to say that Washington, D.C. has more guns than Highlands County.

Now I don't have any answers to this problem; no one else has an answer either.

There are two things about using a gun, that is learn how to use it and have the will to use it, but don't be full of "Budweiser courage," while carrying a weapon. Be thankful that you may never be in a position to use a weapon.

A gun happy nation is not a happy nation.

County had six projects, just under $8.7 million total, close to getting released for reimbursement, as reported by Emergency Management Manager LaTosha "Tosh" Reiss to county commissioners.

"We're hoping for better news," Reiss said then of FEMA's internet portal, which helps the county track its $14.9 million in reimbursement requests. "I keep hitting the 'update' button," Reiss said. "We're just waiting."

Meanwhile, county commissioners increased the general fund budget by $7.68 million — thanks to costs incurred for Hurricane Irma recovery — and the Infrastructure Surtax Fund by $24,265, for the Clerk of the Courts projects.

Highlands County amassed heavy disaster relief costs from removing approximately 1 million cubic yards of debris, according to County Engineer Clinton Howerton Jr.

That debris accounted for most of the $14.9 million the county spent on recovery.

Reiss previously reported Irma caused $360 million in public and private property damage, taking out 25,000 traffic signs and three communications towers, damaging 24 facilities — including roof damage on 14 of those — and washing out numerous roads from underneath through overloaded stormwater culverts and pipes.

Howerton and Road & Bridge Director Kyle Green saw to replacement, but not improvement, of the blown-out pipes. Pipes had to be the same size and type pipes, Howerton said, under FEMA regulations.

If the county had tried to improve the pipes during recovery, Howerton said, FEMA would not have paid for them.

"He showed it to me, he didn't give it to me, and turned it in to Savitri [Latchmansingh] at City Hall," Anderson said.

The letter was very short and didn't go into a lot of details, Anderson said.

In an Oct. 5 letter to then city manager June Fisher, the Avon Park Fire Department union, Local 3132, outlined many issues with Batz.

In its conclusion, the letter stated, "The fire chief has time and time again shown his inability to be an effective leader. We the members of the Fire Department are now being shown and taught that cooperation and teamwork will get you harassed and singled out while spitefulness and divisiveness are the new key qualifications to be a leader."

The union letter notes that the department is on a "course" to follow the path of Batz's previous place of employment (Sebring) "where after much turmoil and turnover the city fired him for the way he treated the employees, city staff, city administration, city council and city residents."

The union letter questioned Batz's treatment of employees and his decision making.

Another concern raised was Batz's choice of phrases that he sometimes says, according to the union letter.

"He has mentioned to multiple people at the department that, 'I'm mentally unstable and own automatic weapons,'" according to the union letter. "We do not think this should be breezed over. This statement alone should be very concerning."

In a Nov. 14 email, the firefighters union Local 3132 informed Councilwoman Maria Sutherland that the union met with then city manager [June] Fisher on Oct. 5. At that time the union provided Fisher with the letter outlining its concerns.

The union subsequently contacted Fisher on the matter and she said she was still working on the issues outlined in the letter.

The union's email to Sutherland states that it is moving on to the City Council with the matter because the issues are "very important and need to be addressed."

Sutherland placed the union's letter on the agenda for Tuesday's City Council meeting.

Highlands News-Sun contacted Batz who said it is a couple of individuals using the union title who are making the claims against him.

He made a response to all the concerns in the letter, Batz said.

In an email Monday to Sutherland, Batz said responses by Fisher and the labor attorney should be given to City Hall on Monday for inclusion on the agenda.

Batz stated to Sutherland, "This is nothing more than an attempt to smear my character by a few individuals that harbor a personal vendetta against me. I still came to Avon Park to do a job to help the citizens, City and the fire department knowing that I would have to deal with these individuals and others."

"I have been told for quite a while that I am a constant target because Mr. [Julian] Deleon hired me. I was not here before or part of any of the controversy [surrounding] him. I came to do a job for the citizens of Avon Park. Yet because he hired me that puts a target on my back and part of the personal agendas of those who feel they were wronged by him."

Batz said he has given 150 percent to a struggling department in an attempt to first keep the firefighters as safe as possible while they do a dangerous job with limited resources and to provide the citizens the best level of service.

The Sebring City Council fired Batz on Dec. 6, 2016 after Mayor John Shoop said Batz had a "dictatorial style of management," and that Batz "continuously created a negative view of the city."

Batz was hired a week later on Dec. 13, 2016 as the Avon Park fire chief, initially on a temporary basis with a $60,000 annual salary. In January 2017, the City Council approved Batz's employment contract with an annual salary of $65,000.

Sooners need win over Longhorns

Oklahoma victory would assure a playoff spot

By CHUCK CARLTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not that Oklahoma really needed any more motivation facing archrival Texas in the Big 12 championship game Saturday.

The Sooners have tons anyway.

Ohio State's 62-39 thrashing of No. 4 Michigan has now provided the opening that Oklahoma needs for a return trip to the College Football Playoff — if the Sooners can avenge their only loss this season.

The top four in the CFP rankings pretty much controlled their own destiny. Now Oklahoma has a playoff pathway and a debate to win.

Expect to hear an awful lot of Sooners vs. Buckeyes talk this week. Among elite offenses, Oklahoma is slightly better. Among woeful defenses, Ohio State is less worse. Both are college football bluebloods so there's no name brand advantage. And both Oklahoma athletic director Joe Castiglione and Ohio State AD Gene Smith are on the committee, although each must recuse themselves from discussions involving their schools.

The biggest difference: Oklahoma's loss is by three points vs. Texas in Dallas. Ohio State's is by 29 at Purdue.

The CFP rankings that come out today now have suspense. Which team will have the edge going into conference championship games? The AP Top 25 might have provided a preview Sunday with Oklahoma at No. 5 and Ohio State moving up to No. 6.

Of course, the CFP selection committee has been known to go its own way and has the say that matters.

Ohio State will face a four-loss Northwestern team for the Big 10 title. Oklahoma has three-loss Texas, which has a chance to be in the CFP top 10 for the game. The Longhorns are No. 9 in the AP Top 25.

Bassmaster Team Championship on tap

Tournament to be held on Harris Chain of Lakes

Special to Highlands
News-Sun

Steeped in bass fishing history, Florida's Harris Chain of Lakes has been selected to host the 2018 Bassmaster Team Championship Dec. 5-8.

Part of the Oklawaha River Basin, the Harris Chain covers about 50,000 acres, including eight lakes — seven of which will be accessible to the bass fishing teams competing in the championship and connecting channels. Lake Yale, a 4,000-acre natural lake, is not accessible by boat from the other seven lakes.

In its 50-year history, B.A.S.S. has held 15 professional bass tournaments on the Harris Chain, including the first five B.A.S.S. MegaBucks tournaments, which featured a 10-hole fishing course where finalists competed for a $100,000 first prize. The Lake County network of bass lakes also hosted the B.A.S.S. Nation championships in 2006 and 2009.

"We love going to the Harris Chain, Leesburg and Lake County for events," said Team Championship tournament director Jon Stewart, who also serves as B.A.S.S. Nation national director. The Harris Chain of Lakes should produce well in early December. The anglers might even come across a few early spawners, and when fishing in Florida, you always have a chance at catching the bass of a lifetime."

One of the qualifiers for the event will be sure to

The pair had a fifth-place class finish in the HSR Classic Daytona presented by IMSA and their car is prepared by England's RW Racing Service, which prepped the 1966 No. 96 McLaren M1b of Andrew Beaumont and Nigel Greensall, who captured Group A last year. Engen will race two popular cars over the four days, with the familiar 2005 No. 2 Audi R8 being one, along with an impressive 1962 Lotus 23B. Many of the same cars and drivers competing in the Classic 12 Hour are also entered in the Sebring Historics, which is separate, but also a Historic Sportscar Racing event. Between the two sets of races, sportscar fans can see cars ranging from Scooter Gabel's 1959 Austin Healy to 2018 cars, such as a Radical SR3, a KTM X-Bow GT4 and a BMW M4.

Following an optional test day for the teams on Wednesday, gates will open to the public on Thursday. Action on the track begins at 8 a.m. on Thursday, Friday and Sunday, with Saturday's racing beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Tickets are $25 for Thursday, Friday or Sunday and $35 for Saturday, or a four-day pass may be purchased for $70. RV camping is available for $100 and tent camping is $30. Paddock parking is also available for $10.

have the tournament a lifetime, because he or she will earn a berth in the "Super Bowl of Bass Fishing," the 2019 Bassmaster Classic presented by DICK'S Sporting Goods at Knoxville, Tenn.

Founded in 2014, the Bassmaster Team Championship fields approximately 175 two-angler teams each year. The teams qualify by winning championships or performance points titles on one of dozens of B.A.S.S. sanctioned team tournament circuits. The teams compete for two days — Dec. 5-6 this year — to earn the title of top team in the nation. Next, members of the Top 3 teams fish solo for two more days, with the winner of that phase qualifying for the Classic.

Tournament headquarters will be Leesburg, Fla. It is hosted by the Central Florida Sports Commission and LakeBigBass.com – Lake County, Fla.

"We are thrilled to welcome Bassmaster back to Lake County this December for the 2018 Team Championship," said Jason Siegel, CEO of the Central Florida Sports Commission. "CFSC and B.A.S.S. have enjoyed a long-time partnership of more than 10 years, and we look forward to working with them on this event and in the future."

Tim Frederick, a Bassmaster Opens angler who is sponsored by LakeBigBass.com, predicts good action for big fish in early December, which could provide some heavyweight bass entering the prespawn phase.

"I am excited to welcome the anglers in the 2018 Bassmaster Team Championship to my home, the Harris Chain of Lakes," Frederick said. "December is a great time of year to be on the water with the prespawn bass. If the weather is right and an angler gets lucky, there could be some big bags on the scale. This is going to be an exciting tournament."

Personal goals are what matter most

In the past week or two I have heard several people my age say something along the lines of "I feel like I'm doing nothing with my life." It can be difficult to see the progress you are making day to day, and I can in fact say I've had this same worry before.

Personally, I feel that it is around this age in life that people are making transitions. I know several people who are married and have children, other people I went to high school with live across the country working in a job they love. Seeing these things, it can be hard not to compare your life to theirs. After all, you're close in age so you should also be progressing in life similarly. However, this is not necessarily true.

It all depends on what aspects of life you have chosen to invest your time. Some people pursue education, others art, others start families, and still others travel or maybe even stay in the same place their whole life. Wherever you spend your energy, you will see progress.

This is why it is close to impossible to truly compare lives. Because whatever someone values is what really matters. And two people may not value the same thing, or they may not have the same value for the same thing. These are all factors that influence the fullness of your life.

I feel that it is best for myself to continue to pursue education and travel. This might mean going to school online or even moving. I know that while I am working towards these goals I will not be able to look at every single day and see progress, but I do know that progress builds up, and one day everything will have been worth it.

Hearing those around me say that they are not fulfilled in life is not only saddening but also relatable. However, I believe that the best course of action is to examine the situation, and figure out what is the best direction to work towards.

It can be hard sometimes to imagine that your life can be drastically different if you pursue even just one more opportunity you are presented with. Especially when you're living your own personal version of Groundhog Day. But it is in fact true that as long as you are working towards something, you are creating a different future for yourself.

I try to keep in mind that I am going through a transitional period right now. I'm tired of just working and only taking a few classes here and there that I am not really enjoying. I am having new experiences as an adult dealing with places like the DMV and my health insurer.

This means that maybe it's okay that I still struggle or that I'm not always sure of what to do about a situation. Even if my life is different than those around me, it's not that big of a deal. Besides, they're probably not that different anyway.

Tasha Morgan — Assistant County Administrator

DOROTHY HARRIS/CORRESPONDENT

Assistant County Administrator, Tasha Morgan, is also a CPA and the former business services director for the Board of County Commissioners.

By DOROTHY HARRIS
CORRESPONDENT

Formerly the business services director for the Board of Highlands County Commissioners, Tasha Morgan has spent the past 12 years serving the citizens of Highlands County. Promoted in March 2018 as our assistant county administrator, she brings strength, knowledge and awareness of business and fiscal functions to the position.

Morgan graduated from Lake Placid High School, and then received her Bachelors of Accounting and Masters in Business Administration from the University of North Florida. A certified public accountant, she has been an auditor for the City of Jacksonville and later served here locally as Finance Director for the Clerk of Courts.

Currently, she assists in administering the direction of the Board of County Commissioners and eight departments of our local government.

"I support the directors as they carry out the duties of their departments," said Morgan. "We are very fortunate to have directors who manage most of these tasks on their own."

She also consults with the current business service director and a little bit of everything in between.

"We assist or administrate the functions or tasks of ongoing projects for the county and are involved in meetings with directors, various county government agencies and also city municipalities."

One aspect of her position which might come as a surprise is she also handles the sales of surplus county property through tax deed sales. Morgan explained this helps the county get delinquent properties back onto county tax rolls which in turn generates the funding for the county to provide essential functions and services.

Though she always said she'd never be an administrator, when pursued to come over to the Business Services Position in 2016, her former boss, Bob Germaine, was very supportive. "He really encouraged me and I loved working at the Clerk of Courts in this hands-on type of position."

When the assistant administrator position opened up earlier this year though, County Administrator Randy Vosburg's leadership style appealed to her.

"It is a great work environment and has worked out very well," she added.

Finding Vosburg to be a leader who empowers his staff, she enjoys working with him as he seeks to provide leadership and vision to county staffers.

"Randy is an extrovert, while I am an introvert. It works out well and helps provide balance when we are in a decision making process."

Noting administration is now employee focused, the duo works to ensure the county continues to be an

Light bites for healthier holidays

FAMILY FEATURES

For those who are always on the go leading up to the holidays, the season can feel more like madness than merrymaking. From planning get-togethers to building out a perfect menu for the events, there can be difficulties for hosts and guests alike to ensure proper nutrition is still top of mind.

Instead of sacrificing taste or eating less, aim for simple changes that give you the energy to power through the busy season. For example, instead of opting for a carb-loaded breakfast in the morning, try a low-carb Milk Chocolate Protein Muffin, which takes just a few minutes of prep and microwave time. The quick cook time leaves you with ample opportunities to run errands or divvy up precious seconds toward other activities, while the protein can fuel you for the day ahead.

Almost nothing beats warm soup on a chilly day, and this Butternut Squash and Pear Soup provides feel-good flavor without weighing you down. Finally, when snacks are on the mind — as it tends to happen when constantly on the go — Coconut Muesli Clusters are simple to make and won't undo the nutritious efforts you've made throughout the day.

This full menu of tasty recipes is part of the Atkins low-carb lifestyle, a long-term, healthy eating approach focused on high-fiber carbohydrates, optimal protein and healthy fats. The plan also aims to reduce levels of refined carbohydrates, added sugars and the "hidden sugar effect," — when carbohydrates convert to sugar when digested. You don't see the sugar, but your body does.

Milk Chocolate Protein Muffin

Recipe courtesy of Atkins

- Prep time: 5 minutes
- Cook time: 1 minute
- Servings: 1
- 2 tablespoons full-fat cream cheese
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons Atkins Milk Chocolate Protein Powder
- 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 dash salt
- In microwave-safe mug, heat cream cheese 10-15 seconds to soften. Add egg and blend briskly using fork. Add protein powder, baking powder, cinnamon and salt; blend until smooth.
- Microwave on high 1 minute; muffin will puff up then deflate slightly once done. Remove from mug and enjoy warm.

Coconut Muesli Clusters

- Active time: 10 minutes
- Total time: 20 minutes
- Servings: 8
- Olive oil spray
- 1 cup plain protein powder
- 1/2 cup unsalted sunflower or pumpkin seeds
- 1 cup whole raw pecans
- 1 cup unsweetened whole flake shredded coconut
- 1/2 cup chia seeds or ground flaxseeds
- 1 tablespoon stevia
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground turmeric
- 1 tablespoon coconut oil
- 1 tablespoon peanut butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 large eggs
- 1/4 cup water
- Heat oven to 350 F.
- Line large baking sheet with parchment paper, coat with olive oil spray and set aside.
- In large bowl, mix together protein powder, sunflower or pumpkin seeds, pecans, coconut, chia seeds or flaxseeds, stevia, cinnamon and turmeric.
- In large skillet, combine coconut oil, peanut butter and vanilla extract; melt completely then stir in nut mixture. Turn heat off and add eggs and water, tossing well. Transfer to prepared baking sheet and spread mixture in layer about 1/2-inch thick. Bake 10-15 minutes until mixture starts to brown and clumps together to make clusters. Cool completely on baking sheet then store in airtight container, refrigerated, up to 1 week.

An On-the-Go Energy Boost

As a hectic holiday season unfolds, it can be difficult to maintain energy while making dishes for get-togethers and keeping up with the festivities.

To stay fueled and energized throughout the season, try incorporating Atkins Plus Protein and Fiber Shakes. Sweet and creamy, they make for ideal snacks, containing 30 grams of high-quality dairy protein and 7 grams of fiber.

To help ensure steady blood sugar levels, the shakes also have a low glycemic impact and are made with 20 vitamins and minerals.

Available in Creamy Milk Chocolate and Creamy Vanilla flavors, the ready-to-drink shakes provide hunger satisfaction for those who are on the go and seeking to maximize production with a busy schedule.

Butternut Squash and Pear Soup

Recipe courtesy of Atkins

- Prep time: 20 minutes
- Cook time: 30 minutes
- Servings: 6
- 1 tablespoon unsalted butter
- 1 medium (2 1/2-inch diameter) onion, chopped
- 2 pounds butternut winter squash, cubed
- 1 medium pear, sliced, plus additional, for garnish (optional)
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
- 5 cups chicken broth
- 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- nutmeg (optional)
- In large pot over medium heat, melt butter. Add onions and saute until translucent, about 6 minutes. Add squash, pear, curry powder, salt and white pepper; saute 3 minutes.
- Increase heat to high and add chicken broth. Bring to boil then reduce heat to low; simmer 20-25 minutes, uncovered, until cubed squash is very tender. Allow to cool about 10-15 minutes.
- In blender or food processor, puree soup in batches until smooth. Return pureed soup to pot and add lemon juice and heavy cream. Stir soup over low heat until hot. Garnish with additional sliced pears and sprinkle of nutmeg, if desired.

For the Modern Host

Essentially every host knows entertainment should be a focal point of the party. Bring family and friends together with the Studio Mercantile Stacking Game, a vintage-inspired twist on a classic made to be played while sharing a round of drinks. The set includes 40 wooden blocks engraved with prompts that can make things more interesting as well as 14 blank blocks so you can create your own entertaining tasks.

For the Luxurious Lounger

This holiday season, you can combine the cozy and glamorous sides of nearly any woman in your life with sparkly slippers from I.N.C. International Concepts. These comfy, round-toe, moccasin-style slippers are faux-fur lined and available in four vibrant colors — Rose Gold Glitter, Black Glitter, Navy Glitter and Silver Glitter — that can put a luxe finish on lounging around during a night in.

For the Go-Anywhere Man

Perfect for the office or a night on the town — and nearly anything in-between — a Tommy Hilfiger watch is a lasting and versatile gift for the special man on your list. Completely focused in black stainless steel with a matching minimalist dial, this sophisticated timepiece is also water-resistant to 30 meters. The black-on-black design is a modern upgrade to classic watches, and can keep your man in style for seasons to come.

For the Classic Entertainer

Savor your favorite spirits with loved ones and add an elevated touch to your entertaining this holiday season with a set of two whiskey glasses from the Hotel Collection. Accompanied by black marble coasters, this modern set of 14.7-ounce glasses can help protect your furniture and surfaces from cup marks, drips, spills and condensation while also impressing guests at any size gathering.

enjoyable work environment which in turn better serves the public.

"Randy is also very community focused and encourages staff to maintain a presence in the county."

From school mentoring to Rotary appearances and guest speaking engagements, the administration wants citizens to have input on the county's future direction and focus.

From large projects like the Sebring Parkway expansion to the upcoming Istokpoga marsh above-ground impoundment for water storage, several long term county projects are now moving forward. "We hope to continue this progress and also continue increasing employee morale. We want employment with the county to be a desirable option for local talent."

Morgan thoroughly enjoys the challenge of her work despite being a busy mom of three young men.

"I'm a baseball mom," she admitted. "One son also belongs to the fishing club. This and travel ball, along with my work in county administration, well, that is pretty much our life."

Building additional relationships within the community while also continuing the progress she has helped facilitate over the past four years; Morgan is looking forward to what lies ahead.

"We have now established a solid team and accomplished a lot in a very short time. We've also hired 94 new employees, with most being vacancies now filled and staff who have been moved into new roles."

Moving up dedicated employees who are able to bring their county service background into new opportunities has been one of the successes she is proud to have been a part of.

Admitting county government can be cumbersome to administer due to state statutes, guidelines and fixed procedures, Morgan is inspired that in spite of these sometimes difficult hurdles, the county administration and staff are achieving great outcomes for citizens.

Keep gifts secret and hidden

METRO CREATIVE

Surprising loved ones and friends with gifts is part of the excitement of the holiday season. It can be just as exhilarating for gift-givers to witness the gifts being opened as for the recipients who are tearing into the paper to reveal their gifts.

But in order for presents to be the ultimate surprises, it is essential for items purchased to remain a secret. Whether shopping online or in-store, gift buyers can do their best to hide gifts from others.

Online shopping

The popularity of online shopping has now made it possible for just about anything to be purchased from the comfort of home or while on-the-go. This same convenience has created a new obstacle pertaining to keeping gifts a secret, especially from a spouse or children living in the same house. Gift-givers have to essentially be package ninjas, intercepting parcels from delivery people and burying the digital trail leading back to the purchase. Here are some tips for success.

- Clear your web search history and computer cache frequently on shared devices. This way you avoid loved ones stumbling across past searches for gifts as well as seeing all of those advertisements that seemingly pop up magically in accordance with your search history.
- Use your work email for receipts and purchase correspondence. This helps when spouses share one email account.

- Investigate if online retailers have private shopping modes, which may mask purchases from others.
- Create a family account to mask orders. Retailers like Amazon enable you to set up family sharing. This way each family member can have a unique log in, which will then separate order history logs among relatives. This helps relieve the stress of wondering if the kids saw your long history list of past purchases.
- Turn off push notifications of purchases or when the items will ship.

This is key for those who share digital devices and accounts. You'll avoid the message of 'Name item has just shipped' from being shared with others.

• Opt to have items shipped to the store for in-store pickup, or arrange for an alternate delivery address.

In-store purchases

Shoppers who do the bulk of their shopping at brick-and-mortar shops may have an easier job of keeping purchases a secret.

- Invest in a nondescript, opaque shopping tote that will not draw attention to where you have shopped. Retailers love to emblazon their shopping bags with names and logos, and that can cue savvy kids and adults as to where you shopped.

- Pay in cash as much as possible. Reduce the paper trail of purchases by purchasing the more secretive gifts with cash.
  - Tuck receipts into a well-hidden place that others will not think to look.
  - Consider shopping on lunch hour at work and hiding gifts in the office until they can be brought to the house when others are not home.
- Regardless of how gifts are purchased, make sure to promptly wrap and hide presents so they are not discovered before the big day.

General Motors announces cutbacks

Automotive giant to lay off up to 14,000 workers, close as many as 5 plants

By TOM KRISHER
AP AUTO WRITER

DETROIT — General Motors will cut up to 14,000 workers in North America and put five plants up for possible closure as it abandons many of its car models and restructures to focus more on autonomous and electric vehicles, the automaker announced Monday.

The reductions could amount to as much as 8 percent of GM's global workforce of 180,000 employees.

The restructuring reflects changing North American auto markets as manufacturers continue to shift away from cars toward SUVs and trucks.

In October, almost 65 percent of new vehicles sold in the U.S. were trucks or SUVs. That figure was about 50 percent cars just five years ago.

GM is shedding cars largely because it doesn't make money on them, Citi analyst Itay Michaeli wrote in a note to investors.

"We estimate sedans operate at a significant loss, hence the need for classic restructuring," he wrote.

The reduction includes about 8,000 white-collar employees, or 15 percent of GM's North American white-collar workforce. Some will take buyouts while others will be laid off.

At the factories, around

3,300 blue-collar workers could lose jobs in the U.S. and another 2,600 in Canada, but some U.S. workers could transfer to truck or SUV factories that are increasing production. The cuts mark GM's first major downsizing since shedding thousands of jobs in the Great Recession.

The company also said it will stop operating two additional factories outside North America by the end of next year, in addition to a previously announced plant closure in Gunsan, South Korea.

'Touchdown confirmed!'

NASA craft lands on Mars after perilous journey

By MARCIA DUNN
AP AEROSPACE WRITER

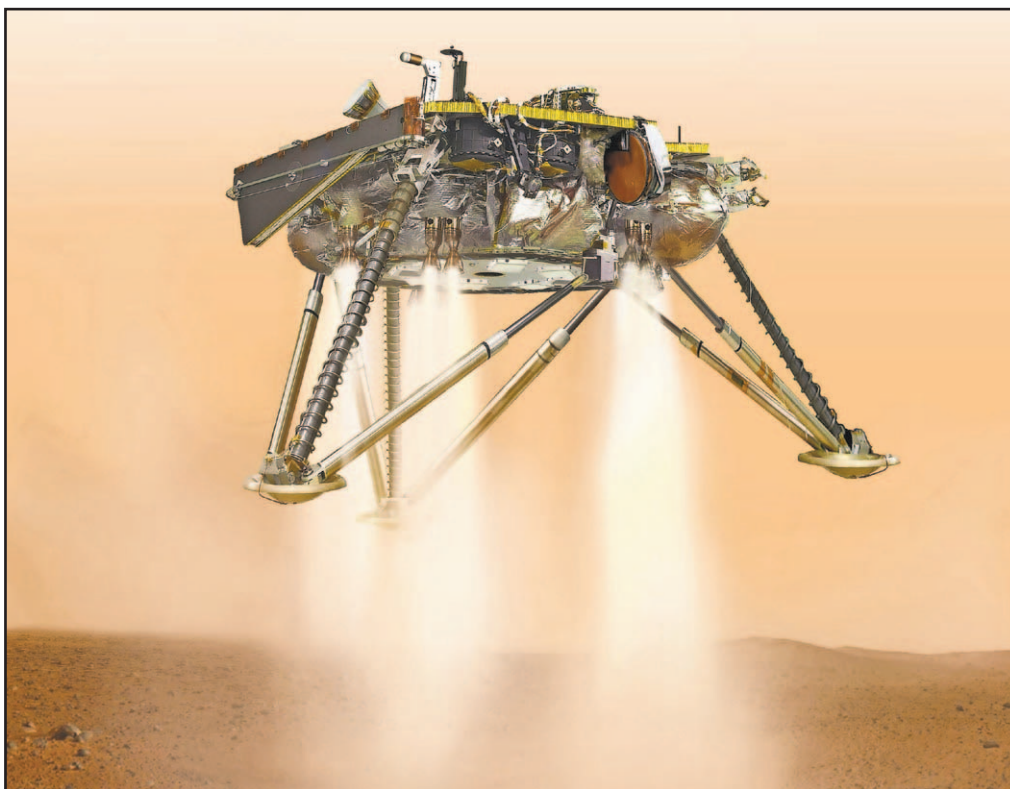

CAPE CANAVERAL — A NASA spacecraft designed to drill down into Mars' interior landed on the planet Monday after a perilous, supersonic plunge through its red skies, setting off jubilation among scientists who had waited in white-knuckle suspense for confirmation to arrive across 100 million miles of space.

Flight controllers at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California, leapt out of their chairs, screaming, dancing and hugging, upon learning that InSight's had safely arrived on Mars, the graveyard for a multitude of previous missions.

"Touchdown confirmed!" a flight controller called out, touching off a celebration that was a complete turnaround from the nail-biting anxiety that gripped the control room as the spacecraft made its six-minute descent.

Confirmation came minutes later from a pair of tiny satellites that had been trailing InSight throughout the six-month, 300-million-mile journey.

The two experimental satellites not only relayed the good news in almost real time, they sent back

Chinese researcher claims first gene-edited babies

By MARILYNN MARCHIONE
AP CHIEF MEDICAL WRITER

HONG KONG — A Chinese researcher claims that he helped make the world's first genetically edited babies — twin girls born this month whose DNA he said he altered with a powerful new tool capable of rewriting the very blueprint of life.

If true, it would be a profound leap of science and ethics.

A U.S. scientist said he took part in the work in China, but this kind of gene editing is banned in the United States because the DNA changes can pass to future generations and it risks harming other genes.

Many mainstream scientists think it's too unsafe to try, and some denounced the Chinese report as human experimentation.

The researcher, He Jiankui of Shenzhen, said he altered embryos for seven couples during fertility treatments, with one pregnancy resulting thus far. He said his goal was not to cure or prevent an inherited disease, but to try to bestow a trait that few people naturally have — an ability to resist possible future infection with HIV, the AIDS virus.

He said the parents involved declined to be identified or interviewed, and he would not say where they live or where the work was done.

There is no independent confirmation of He's claim, and it has not been published in a journal, where it would be vetted by other experts. He revealed it Monday in

Mattis sees stability in Western Hemisphere

Defense Secretary: US stabilizes most of Latin America through operations at Miami-based SOUTHCOM

By CURT ANDERSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI — Defense Secretary James Mattis said Monday that the U.S. military brings stability to most of Latin America through its operations run across the hemisphere by the Miami-based Southern Command.

Mattis spoke Monday at a ceremony appointing Navy Adm. Craig Faller as new leader of the command that oversees U.S. military operations in Latin America and the Caribbean. It is also responsible for security of the Panama Canal and the naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

In brief remarks, Mattis said the Western Hemisphere is not as chaotic and prone to conflict as much of the world because of strong U.S. military alliances and cooperation with most of the 31 nations in the region.

"There is more in this hemisphere that binds us together than drives us apart," Mattis said. "Our hemisphere's military forces can be stabilizing forces."

Mattis singled out Cuba, Venezuela and Nicaragua as countries in the Southern Command where democracy is either under threat or nonexistent.

"Their people deserve better," he said.

Mattis did not mention the caravan of mostly Central American migrants attempting to seek asylum in the U.S. But the outgoing Southern Command leader, Navy Adm. Kurt Tidd, said the caravan is an example of the kind of challenges the U.S. military faces in the Western Hemisphere, along with international criminal organizations, terrorism threats, powerful hurricanes and drug trafficking.

"We have to be more attentive to the threats in this hemisphere. What affects one, affects all," Tidd said, adding that lawlessness and high crime in some countries "are the drivers of migration from Central America."

Also attending Monday's event was Marine Gen. Joseph Dunford Jr., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He did not speak to the audience.

According to his Navy biography, Faller most recently served as senior military assistant to Mattis. He has previously led forces in support of U.S. operations in the Persian Gulf, Iraq and Afghanistan.

Faller, a native of Fryburg, Pennsylvania, now leads a Southern Command headquarters that boasts about 1,200 military and civilian personnel from all armed services. Military operations include bases in Florida, Arizona and Texas.

"As I see it, the Western Hemisphere is our neighborhood," Faller said. "Our bonds are permanent and we will work tirelessly to build that trust."

Fort Lauderdale begins closing homeless encampment

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) — A tent city of homeless people in downtown Fort Lauderdale is being shut down following years of complaints from businesspeople and unsuccessful efforts to clear the area.

Officials in Fort Lauderdale said Monday they want to take a humane approach to clearing out the camp, which houses around 80 people near the main library.

Broward County Mayor Beam Furr tells the SunSentinel that the goal is to "see that every resident of the current downtown Fort Lauderdale encampment is home for the holidays.

The county has teamed up with United Way, the business community, the city of Fort Lauderdale and other nonprofit agencies to close the camp.

The newspaper reports officials are working with each person to determine whether they can be placed in rental or temporary housing.

Woman accused of stalking child, using another child as lure

GAINESVILLE (AP) — A Florida woman is accused of stalking one child and using another child as a lure to coax the first child outside.

WCJB-TV reports Alachua County Sheriff's Office deputies say 33-year-old Hannah Yvonne Springer, of Tampa, hid in a barn behind the child's home Saturday and attempted to lure the child out. A department report says responding deputies arrested Springer on charges including aggravated stalking of a child under 16 years old.

It's unclear how Springer is connected to the children. The child's father told deputies Springer has sent his child at least 20 packages and letters since May. He said a court date had already been set to address Springer's stalking by the time she was arrested Saturday.

It's unclear if Springer has a lawyer.

Woman killed, 6 injured when car hits cyclists

DAVIE (AP) — Police say a distracted driver hit a cycling group along a South Florida road, killing a 53-year-old woman and injuring six others.

The SunSentinel reports that 33-year-old driver Nicole Vanderweit told investigators she was distracted by something in the passenger compartment. She also said the sun was shining directly in her face, contributing to the Sunday morning crash.

Davie police Sgt. Mark Leone says there are no signs Vanderweit was impaired or speeding. She was cooperative with investigators, allowing them to download potential crash data from the car as well as contents of her cell phone. Vanderweit has not been charged, pending the investigation.

The newspaper identified the woman who died as Denise Marsh, part of the Cycling Family Broward.

Man arrested after shooting police officer in arm

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — A police officer was shot in the arm while responding to a call about an armed man standing beside a Daytona Beach intersection.

Officers arrived at the scene late Sunday and confronted the man, who fired at them. Daytona Beach police spokeswoman Lyda Longa says officers returned fire and the man ran, but was arrested a short time later.

Longa tells the Daytona Beach News-Journal that "a couple of citizens ran over to the officer and applied pressure to his arm until he could get to the hospital." He is expected to make a full recovery.

Police haven't released the name of the suspect, who is charged with multiple counts of aggravated assault on a law enforcement officer, among other charges.

Ukraine imposes martial law to fight 'growing aggression' from Moscow

By NATALIYA VASILYEVA and VLADIMIR ISACHENKOV
ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW — Ukraine's parliament voted Monday to impose martial law in the country to fight what its president called "growing aggression" from Moscow after a weekend naval confrontation off the disputed Crimean Peninsula in which Russia fired on and seized three Ukrainian vessels amid renewed tensions between the neighbors.

Western leaders and diplomats urged both sides to de-escalate the conflict, and the U.S. blamed Russia for what it called "unlawful conduct" over Sunday's incident in the Black Sea.

Russia and Ukraine blamed each other in the dispute that further ratcheted up tensions ever since Moscow annexed

Crimea in 2014 and threw its weight behind separatists in eastern Ukraine with clandestine support, including troops and weapons.

Ukrainian President Petro Poroshenko asked lawmakers in Kiev to institute martial law, something the country has not done even during the worst of the fighting in the east that killed about 10,000 people.

After a five-hour debate, parliament overwhelmingly approved his proposal, voting to impose martial law for 30 days.

Poroshenko said it was necessary because of intelligence about "a highly serious threat of a ground operation against Ukraine." He did not elaborate.

"Martial law doesn't mean declaring a war," he said. "It is introduced with the sole purpose of boosting Ukraine's defense in the light of a growing aggression from Russia."

Ukraine's Defense Ministry already announced earlier in the day that its troops were on full combat alert in the country.

The approved measures included a partial mobilization and strengthening the country's air defense. It also contained vaguely worded steps such as "strengthening" anti-terrorism measures and "information security" that could curtail certain rights and freedoms.

Poroshenko's critics reacted to his call for martial law with suspicion, wondering why Sunday's incident merited such a response. Poroshenko's approval ratings have been plunging, and there were concerns that he would postpone a presidential election scheduled for March.

Just before the parliament met to vote, Poroshenko sought to allay those fears by releasing a statement revising his original martial law proposal from 60 days to just 30 days, in order to "do away with the pretexts for political speculation."

Oksana Syroid, a deputy speaker of parliament, noted that martial law was not introduced in 2014 or 2015 despite large-scale fighting in the east. A state of emergency "would present a wonderful chance to manipulate the presidential elections," she said.

NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg said Poroshenko assured him that martial law would not have a negative impact on the election.

Poroshenko's call also outraged far-right groups in Ukraine that have advocated severing diplomatic ties with Russia. Hundreds of protesters from the National Corps party waved flares in the snowy streets of Kiev outside parliament and accused the president of using martial law to his own ends.

But Poroshenko insisted it was necessary because what happened in the Kerch Strait between Crimea and the Russian mainland "was no accident," adding that "this was not the culmination of it yet."

UK's May fights to sell Brexit deal to a skeptical country

By JILL LAWLESS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON — Prime Minister Theresa May made a blunt appeal to skeptical lawmakers on Monday to back her divorce deal with the European Union: It isn't perfect, but it's all there is, and the alternative is a leap into the unknown.

In essence, she urged Parliament: Let's agree and move on, for the sake of the voters.

Britain and the 27 other EU leaders signed off on a Brexit deal Sunday after more than a year and a half of tough negotiations. It was a day many doubted would ever come, but May was anything but triumphant as she reported back to Parliament, which now controls the fate of the deal. May confirmed that British lawmakers will vote Dec. 11, after several days of debate, on whether to approve or reject the agreement.

Scores of legislators — from both the opposition and May's governing Conservative Party — have vowed to oppose it. Rejection would plunge Britain into a political crisis and potential financial turmoil just weeks before it is due to leave the EU on March 29.

"No one knows what would happen if this deal didn't pass," May told the House of Commons.

"Our duty as a Parliament over these coming weeks is to examine this deal in detail, to debate it respectfully, to listen to our constituents and decide what is in our national interest."

Before then, May plans a frantic two-week cross-country campaign to convince both the public and lawmakers that the deal delivers on voters' decision in 2016 to leave the EU "while providing a close economic and security relationship with our nearest neighbors."

Turkish police search villas in Khashoggi investigation

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Police searched a mansion in northwestern Turkey belonging to a Saudi citizen on Monday after investigators determined that the man had been in contact with one of the suspects in the slaying of Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi, Turkish officials said.

Crime scene investigators and other officials, aided by sniffer dogs and a drone, scoured the luxury villa near the town of Termal, in Yalova province, and later expanded their search to the grounds of the neighboring villa, the state-run Anadolu agency reported.

Police spent around 10 hours searching the two villas for the journalist's remains, Anadolu reported, without saying if any evidence or trace had been found.

The Istanbul prosecutor's office said Mansour Othman Abbahussain — a member of a 15-person squad sent from Riyadh to kill Khashoggi — had contacted the mansion's owner, Mohammed Ahmed Alfaozan, by telephone a day before Khashoggi's Oct. 2 killing.

"It is being assessed that this conversation was geared toward the disposal (or) the hiding of Jamal Khashoggi's body after its dismemberment," the prosecutor's statement read. It did not mention any possible findings at the site.

Venezuela holds onto prized US refineries amid legal battle

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela will hold onto its U.S.-based Citgo refineries, settling a long-standing dispute that threw ownership of the crisis-wracked country's prized assets into peril as its massive debt mounts.

Venezuela on Friday began paying off $1.4 billion that an arbitration panel said was owed to the Canadian mining firm Crystallex, following a disputed takeover of the company nearly a decade ago by the late-President Hugo Chavez. The initial payment of $425 million enables it to hold onto the refineries.

Flood insurance rebuilds homes with public money repeatedly

By EMERY P. DALESIO
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, N.C. — Floodwaters rose about 15 inches into Danielle Rees' home in September when Hurricane Florence drenched this tidewater city on the Pamlico River and overwhelmed a local creek and marshland. The first floor was a sopping mess of gritty, swampy water in three bedrooms, a bathroom and a laundry. "It's part of living close to the river, and Washington is really low land," said Rees, a graphic designer who grew up in the city. But she anticipates her $2,000-a-year policy through the taxpayer-subsidized National Flood Insurance Program will help her rebuild the home about a quarter-mile from the river, just as it did in 2011 after Hurricane Irene — and as it did, under previous ownership, after floods in 1996, 1998 and 1999, according to her property history provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The program has done something similar, over and over, for others. Records at FEMA, which operates the program, show that nearly 37,000 properties from the Carolinas to California have repeatedly flooded and been rebuilt — some dozens of times — with help from a federal insurance program that is, itself, financially underwater. About 18,000 of those are currently covered by policies, and 15,000 of those haven't taken voluntary steps to reduce the risk of future damage to their property, FEMA said this week. The National Flood Insurance Program was $20 billion in the red before the start of the current hurricane season, even after Congress last year wrote off an additional $16 billion. The program must be reauthorized by Congress this month. The repeatedly flooded properties cost nearly $7.4 billion in claims before the start of the current hurricane season. Rees' home isn't included on the official "severe repetitive loss" list because the 1996 and 1998 hurricanes didn't cause damage exceeding $5,000. It takes at least four of those $5,000-plus occurrences to put properties on the list. Last year was the 40-year-old flood program's second-worst, with more than $10 billion in claims, following hits from Hurricanes Harvey in Texas and Maria in Puerto Rico. Annual losses have risen and fallen with the weather since a record in 2005, when Hurricane Katrina swamped the Gulf Coast and triggered more than $16 billion in payouts. Some critics say the situation will only worsen as global climate change generates more extreme weather and raises ocean levels. The properties that have suffered severe and repetitive losses "are the canary in the coal mine for the millions of properties in the U.S. that are going to be in the exact same situation in future decades," said Rob Moore, water and climate director at the Natural Resources Defense Council. The environmental group favors FEMA giving homeowners more financial help to move to higher ground rather than rebuilding flooded properties over and over.

Stocks bounce back as tech, retail and banks jump

By MARLEY JAY
AP MARKETS WRITER

NEW YORK — Global stocks rose Monday after taking big losses last week. Major technology companies recovered some of their recent losses and retailers and travel companies climbed on the first full trading day of the holiday shopping season. Major indexes in the U.S., Europe and Asia all climbed. London's main stock index jumped after the British government and the European Union agreed to terms governing Britain's departure from the EU in March. It's not clear if Parliament will approve the deal. Stocks have been in a steep downturn since early October, but that slump has included some substantial rallies. Banks rose Monday as interest rates turned higher after a two-week slide. The first full trading day of the holiday shopping period was a strong one for companies that sell goods and services to consumers. Amazon surged 5 percent and Tiffany rose almost 4 percent. The S&P 500 climbed 40.89 points, or 1.6 percent, to 2,673.45. The Dow Jones Industrial Average gained 354.29 points, or 1.5 percent, to 24,640.24. The Nasdaq rose 142.87 points, or 2.1 percent, to 7,081.85. The Russell 2000 index of smaller-company stocks added 17.28 points, or 1.2 percent, to 1,505.96. Among retailers, Amazon rallied 5.3 percent to $1,581.33 and Nike rose 1.7 percent to $72.71. Adobe Analytics reported that shoppers spent about $10 billion online Thursday and Friday.

Ex-Trump campaign adviser Papadopoulos reports to prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Trump campaign foreign policy adviser George Papadopoulos began serving his two-week prison sentence on Monday after a judge rejected his last-minute bid to remain free. Papadopoulos arrived at a minimum-security camp in Oxford, Wisconsin, according to the Federal Bureau of Prisons. Papadopoulos, the first campaign aide sentenced in Mueller's investigation, triggered the Russia investigation two years ago. He was sentenced in September for lying to the FBI about his interactions with Russian intermediaries during the 2016 presidential campaign. He had sought a postponement of his prison term until an appeals court ruled in a separate case challenging the constitutionality of special counsel Robert Mueller's appointment. But U.S. District Court Judge Randolph Moss said Papadopoulos had waited too long to contest his sentence.

Associate of Trump confidant Roger Stone said to reject plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conspiracy theorist and associate of Trump confidant Roger Stone told news organizations on Monday that he is rejecting a plea offer in the special counsel's Russia investigation. Jerome Corsi said in interviews with NBC, CNN and other outlets that he was offered a chance to plead guilty to one count of perjury. But he said he plans to reject the deal because it would force him to admit to willfully lying, which he said he did not do. "They can put me in prison the rest of my life," Corsi told CNN. "I am not going to sign a lie." Corsi, the former Washington bureau chief of the conspiracy theory outlet InfoWars, did not respond to multiple messages seeking comment. His lawyer, David Gray, declined to comment, as did Peter Carr, a spokesman for special counsel Robert Mueller. Mueller's team questioned Corsi as part of an investigation into Stone's connections with WikiLeaks.

Dictionary.com chooses 'misinformation' as word of the year

NEW YORK (AP) — Misinformation, as opposed to disinformation, was chosen Monday as Dictionary.com's word of the year on the tattered coattails of "toxic," picked earlier this month for the same honor by Oxford Dictionaries in these tumultuous times. Jane Solomon, a linguist-in-residence at Dictionary, said in a recent interview that her site's choice of "mis" over "dis" was deliberate, intended to serve as a "call to action" to be vigilant in the battle against fake news, flat earthers and anti-vaxxers, among other conduits. It's the idea of intent, whether to inadvertently mislead or to do it on purpose, that the Oakland, California-based company wanted to highlight. The company decided it would go high when others have spent much of 2018 going low. "The rampant spread of misinformation is really providing new challenges for navigating life in 2018," Solomon told The Associated Press ahead of the word of the year announcement. "Misinformation has been around for a long time, but over the last decade or so the rise of social media has really, really changed how information is shared. We believe that understanding the concept of misinformation is vital to identifying misinformation as we encounter it in the wild, and that could ultimately help curb its impact."

Symptoms and new meds align, but are drugs to blame?

DEAR DR. ROACH:

Following placement of two stents in my arteries (not my heart), my cardiac physician has me on an 81-mg aspirin and 75 mg of clopidogrel daily. I am much weaker during my exercise class, fall asleep in the late morning and am utterly unable to have sex. My primary physician is adamant that aspirin does not cause loss of strength. He did not comment on my sexual problem, except to refer me to my urologist, who simply ascribed it to my age (84). I take self-injected Praluent with no side effects. I am fairly certain the blood thinner is the cause of my problem, but my cardiologist insists I take it until "my last breath."

My questions are whether a full aspirin is as effective as baby aspirin plus clopidogrel, and whether the clopidogrel could be the cause of the erectile dysfunction. — D.R.W.

ANSWER: It's impossible to say with certainty that any of your medications — aspirin, Praluent or clopidogrel — are NOT causing your symptoms. However, none of them are well known for doing so. For example, less than 0.2 percent of reported side effects with clopidogrel (among the minority of people who reported a side effect) were about sexual dysfunction. It sounds like the timing of your symptoms coincides with starting the medicine, which is good evidence that there may be a connection. However, there are at least two other possibilities.

The first is that the procedure itself, or the underlying condition, caused the symptoms. Stents are placed in arteries to relieve blockages, which cause poor blood flow. Poor blood flow is certainly a cause of erectile dysfunction. I don't know what arteries you had stented, but it is certainly possible that the blood flow to the penis is inadequate for sexual function. Your urologist could test that (I hate to second-guess your doctor, but every time I hear that a physician has ascribed symptoms to a patient's age, I worry that something might be missed).

The second possibility is that when people expect a side effect from a medication, it can come on. This is called the "nocebo effect," and it shows how powerfully the mind and body are linked.

The question about switching to aspirin only is for your cardiologist. It depends on the type of stent (a drug-eluting stent will require a longer period on clopidogrel), and the optimum treatment is not clear from medical studies. There may be other options besides clopidogrel.

DEAR DR. ROACH: My son is 6 years old. He had a high fever and a viral infection two weeks ago. All his test results came back normal. He was dehydrated and was given IV fluids. The next day, he had no fever and no pain. But the day after that, he had extreme pain in the calf muscles of both legs. He got tested again, and his CK level was 1,080. He was tested a few days later and his CK level was 1,600.

What should be my next step? My brother has two sons with muscular dystrophy. Can my son's situation be connected to it? — M.

ANSWER: I'm sorry. These results are very concerning for your son having muscular dystrophy, and with your family history I'm afraid it's likely. Your next step should be a visit with a pediatric neurologist, who is likely to recommend genetic testing to see if your son has muscular dystrophy, and if so, which type. The exact diagnosis will guide further evaluation and treatment.

Adult children fail to warm to stepdad of eight years

DEAR ABBY:

I was married for 19 years and have three adult daughters from that marriage. I remarried eight years ago to a woman who has two adult children. My relationship with them is not good, in spite of my efforts to engage them in basic conversation. She told me recently that neither one of them likes me. In fact, she has suggested I just say hello and goodbye and leave it at that.

I'm not sure what I am supposed to do with this information. I don't think at this point in my life (age 66) I'm interested in changing myself to coax anybody to like me. I'm irritated with my wife for telling me her kids don't like me. If any of my daughters said, "I don't like your wife," I wouldn't mention it to her because I know she wouldn't want to go with me to visit them. My desire to visit either of her kids is now nonexistent. Your thoughts? — Unliked In Ohio

DEAR UNLIKED: I think it is interesting that your wife didn't tell you WHY her children don't like you, or if she did, that you didn't elaborate. Under the circumstances, your reaction is understandable, so stay home and enjoy yourself while your wife visits them.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend of 12 years worries me. He's a man who wants life to be like he wants it to be, not like it is. He thinks everyone owes him a discount on whatever he's buying. He can talk for what seems like a month, and while he never really lies, he never tells the truth.

I have caught him in many discrepancies. When confronted, he sometimes will own up to them. What should I do? — Nervous In North Carolina

DEAR NERVOUS: I think in your heart you already know what you should do. If you can't trust someone, there is no basis for a meaningful relationship. I wish you had written me about this 11 1/2 years ago, when ending the romance would have been less painful.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21-April 19). When people mean well but don't make the impact they hope to, it's usually a function of misreading the situation or simply not knowing enough about it. The best move you can make now is to sit tight and learn all you can.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). In nature, the bull goes with the herd; it suits the bull and it suits the herd. But if it doesn't suit the bull, the bull leaves. Be the same. Only stick with the herd if it is what's in your heart.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There you go again, moving forward as if unafraid. What the onlookers don't know is your internal dialogue and how you quiver inside your boots. And that's what makes you truly brave. You feel the fear and do it anyway.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Public speaking is easier for some than others. There will be shy ones who aren't sure if it's worth the trouble to stand and be counted. You've felt like that in the past, which is why you'll be a most encouraging presence.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There are some decisions you'll make that you'll never really know the consequences of. That's why today it will be most satisfying to get evidence that a choice you made long ago was the right one.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Bringing people together will be your specialty today, though you may not be consciously aware that it's what you're doing. Your inclusiveness starts a ripple of happy effects.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). What you see is not only what you get; it's what you'll keep getting. So if you don't like it, make a quick change. It will be way easier to set things on track in the early stages of an arrangement.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). The best ones to spend time with today will fall into one of two categories. Either they are people you're sure to have fun with, or they are people who genuinely need you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). For some, loneliness is a palpable problem, an actual chill that your fire sign energy can thaw with the stretch of a smile. Don't underestimate the good a little warmth and kindness can do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). They're better because of you, and this much they'll tell you. Nothing could be more soul-fortifying than knowing you definitely improved the lives of those closest to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). People make mistakes, but people are not their mistakes. For learning purposes, separate the person from the deed. Examine each factor separately and then reassemble and reconsider.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Before you leave the house, or go into any dealings at all, consciously set an expectation for what's to come. In doing so, you'll take a more assertive, conscious role and get clearer outcomes as a result.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 27). This solar return, you ride in on a bubble of freedom and then bounce along for months working your advantages. The hard work begins in February. But don't worry; this will actually be your favorite part of the year. You'll see what you're made of and be ionically bonded to colleagues in the process. Capricorn and Cancer adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 33, 31, 29 and 16.

What constitutes a two-level overcall in a minor suit as opposed to a one-level overcall in a major suit? There is much more potential gain in bidding a major suit, so a major-suit overcall can be a little frisky. Most experts beef up their minor suit overcalls. A six-card suit is common, or a good five-card suit within a sound overall hand.

Today's deal is from a recent team game. South was expert Mark Lair, from west Texas. East's double was a request for West to lead his own suit — clubs. The opening lead went to the 10, king, and ace. Lair led a low diamond at trick two, dummy's king winning the trick. The 10 of hearts lost to West's king. West cashed two high clubs and led another club to dummy's nine, setting up his last club.

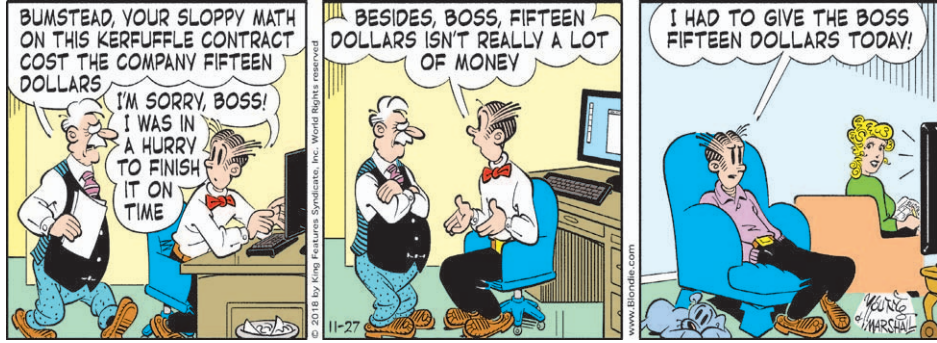

Lair cashed dummy's queen and jack of hearts, noting East showing out on the third round. Lair took a moment to form a mental picture of the West hand. A modest five-card club suit and four hearts to the king. A diamond to the king had held, so give West at least two diamonds to the ace. Lair decided that West would not have a sound two-level overcall without the queen of spades. Backing his reasoning with his play, Lair led a spade to the ace and cashed the king. Great was the fall there on, and Lair had nine tricks. Well done!

Border clash leaves caravan migrants dejected, worried

By CHRISTOPHER SHERMAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

TIJUANA, Mexico — A chaotic border clash with choking tear gas fired by U.S. agents left Central American migrants sullen and dejected, with some opting Monday to leave and others worrying the incident may have spoiled their chances at asylum.

Mexican security forces stepped up their presence at a Tijuana sports complex where thousands from the migrant caravan have been sheltered, apparently seeking to avoid a repeat of Sunday's ugly scene. Police blocked the migrants from walking toward the border in the morning, though later on they allowed them to move about freely.

Isauro Mejia, 46, from Cortes, Honduras, went looking for a cup of coffee to shake the morning chill following another night sleeping outside after being caught up in the clashes. Before, he had hoped to be able to press an asylum claim, but now he wasn't so sure.

"The way things went yesterday ... I think there is no chance," Mejia said.

Migrants hoping to apply for asylum in the United States must put their names on a waiting list that already had some 3,000 people on it before the caravan arrived in Tijuana. With U.S. officials processing fewer than 100 claims a day, the wait time for the recent arrivals stands to take months.

That has instilled a sense of desperation among many after their grueling trek from Central America. Sunday's incident began after hundreds marched to the border to try to call attention to their plight. Some attempted to get through fencing and wire separating the countries, prompting volleys of stinging gas.

Mexico's National Migration Institute reported that 98 migrants were being deported after trying to breach the U.S. border. The country's Interior Department said about 500 people attempted to rush the border, while U.S. authorities put the number at 1,000.

CUTBACKS

followed by Ford Motor Co., which has said it is restructuring and will lay off an unspecified number of white-collar workers. Toyota Motor Corp. also has discussed cutting costs, even though it's building a new assembly plant in Alabama.

GM isn't the first to abandon much of the car market. Fiat Chrysler Automobiles got out of small and midsize cars two years ago, while Ford announced plans to shed all cars but the Mustang sports car in the U.S. in the coming years.

The layoffs come amid the backdrop of a trade wars between the U.S., China and Europe that likely will lead to higher prices for imported vehicles and those exported from the U.S. GM CEO Mary Barra said the company faces challenges from tariffs but she did not directly link the layoffs to them.

GM doesn't foresee an economic downturn and is making the cuts "to get in front of it while the company is strong and while the economy is strong," Barra told reporters.

Factories that could be closed include assembly plants in Detroit and Oshawa, Ontario, and Lordstown, Ohio, as well as transmission plants in Warren, Michigan, and near Baltimore.

The announcement worried GM workers who could lose their jobs.

"I don't know how I'm going to feed my family," Matt Smith, a worker at the Ontario factory, said Monday outside the plant's south gate, where workers blocked trucks from entering or leaving. "It's hard. It's horrible." Smith's wife also works at the plant. The couple has an 11-month-old at home.

Workers at the Ontario plant walked off the job Monday but were expected to return Tuesday.

After the morning announcement, Barra was to head for Washington to speak with White House economic adviser Larry Kudlow in what was described as a previously scheduled meeting, according to a White House official who spoke on condition of anonymity because the official was not authorized to discuss the meeting publicly.

President Donald Trump, who has made bringing back auto jobs a big part of his appeal to Ohio and other Great Lakes states that are crucial to his re-election, said his administration and lawmakers are exerting "a lot of pressure" on GM.

Trump said he was being tough on Barra. He said he told the company that the U.S. has done a lot for GM and that if its cars aren't selling, the company needs to produce ones that will.

At a rally near GM's Lordstown, Ohio, plant last summer, Trump told people not to sell their homes because the jobs are "all coming back."

Most of the factories to be affected by GM's restructuring build cars that will not be sold in the U.S. after next year. They could close or they could get different vehicles to build. Their futures will be part of contract talks with the United Auto Workers union next year.

The Detroit-based union has already condemned GM's actions and threatened to fight them "through every legal, contractual and collective bargaining avenue open to our membership."

Mueller: Manafort lied, broke plea agreement

By CHAD DAY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Special counsel Robert Mueller is accusing former Trump campaign chairman Paul Manafort of lying to federal investigators in the Russia probe, in breach of his plea agreement.

Prosecutors say in a new court filing that after Manafort agreed to truthfully cooperate with the investigation, he "committed federal crimes" by lying about "a variety of subject matters." They are now asking a federal judge to set a date to sentence him.

MANAFORT

Manafort is denying that he lied. His attorneys say in the same filing that he believes he "provided truthful information."

Manafort had been meeting with the special counsel's office since he pleaded guilty in September and agreed to cooperate. He remains jailed while awaiting his sentence. He faces multiple years in prison.

MARS

InSight's first snapshot of Mars just 4½ minutes after landing. The picture was speckled with debris because the dust cover was still on the lander's camera, but the terrain looked smooth and sandy with just one sizable rock visible — pretty much what scientists had hoped for. Better photos are expected in the days ahead.

It was NASA's — indeed, humanity's — eighth successful landing at Mars since the 1976 Viking probes, and the first in six years. NASA's Curiosity rover, which arrived in 2012, is still on the move on Mars.

"Flawless," declared JPL's chief engineer, Rob Manning. "This is what we really hoped and imagined in our mind's eye," he added. "Sometimes things work out in your favor."

NASA Administrator Jim Bridenstine, presiding over his first Mars landing

People at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California, celebrate as the InSight lander touches down on Mars on Monday.

as the space agency's boss, said: "What an amazing day for our country."

He said it was a little strange to realize that by the time word arrived, history had already been made eight minutes earlier because of the lag in communication between Mars and Earth.

Indeed, by the time word of touchdown came from space just after 3 p.m. EST, InSight was already well settled on the western side of Elysium Planitia, the flat-as-a-parking-lot plain that NASA was aiming for.

Many Mars-bound spacecraft launched by the U.S., Russia and other spacefaring countries, have been lost or destroyed over the years, with a success rate of just 40 percent, not counting InSight.

NASA went with its old, straightforward approach this time, using a parachute and braking engines to get InSight's speed from 12,300 mph when it pierced the Martian atmosphere, about 77 miles up, to 5 mph at touchdown.

Flight controllers were relieved to find out promptly that InSight made it to the surface and didn't burn up in the atmosphere or bounce off it.

Museums, planetariums and libraries across the U.S. held viewing parties to watch the events unfold at JPL. NASA TV coverage was also shown on the giant screen in New York's Times Square, where crowds huddled under umbrellas in the rain.

The $1 billion international mission features a German-led mechanical mole that will burrow down 16 feet to measure the planet's internal heat. Nothing has ever dug deeper into Mars than several inches. The lander also has a French-made seismometer for measuring quakes, if they exist on our smaller, geologically calmer neighbor.

Another experiment will calculate Mars' wobble to reveal the makeup of the planet's core.

Hong Kong to one of the organizers of an international conference on gene editing that is set to begin Tuesday, and earlier in exclusive interviews with The Associated Press.

"I feel a strong responsibility that it's not just to make a first, but also make it an example," He told the AP. "Society will decide what to do next" in terms of allowing or forbidding such science.

Some scientists were astounded to hear of the claim and strongly condemned it.

It's "unconscionable ... an experiment on human beings that is not morally or ethically defensible," said Dr. Kiran Musunuru, a University of Pennsylvania gene editing expert and editor of a genetics journal.

"This is far too premature," said Dr. Eric Topol, who heads the Scripps Research Translational Institute in California. "We're dealing with the operating instructions of a human being. It's a big deal."

However, one famed geneticist, Harvard University's George Church, defended attempting gene editing for HIV, which he called "a major and growing public health threat."

"I think this is justifiable," Church said of that goal.

In recent years scientists have discovered a relatively easy way to edit genes, the strands of DNA that govern the body, using a tool that makes it possible to supply a needed gene or disable one that's causing problems.

It's only recently been tried in adults to treat deadly diseases, and the changes are confined to that person. Editing sperm, eggs or embryos is different — the changes can be inherited. In the U.S., it's not allowed except for lab research. China outlaws human cloning but not specifically gene editing.

He Jiankui studied at Rice and Stanford universities in the U.S. before opening a lab at Southern University of Science and Technology of China in Shenzhen, where he also has two genetics companies.

The U.S. scientist who worked with him on this project after He returned to China was physics and bioengineering professor Michael Deem, who was his adviser at Rice. Deem also holds what he called "a small stake" in and serves on the scientific advisory boards of He's two companies.

The Chinese scientist said he chose to try embryo gene editing for HIV because those infections are a big problem in China. He sought to disable a gene called CCR5 that forms a protein doorway allowing HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, to enter a cell.

All the men in the project had HIV and all the women did not, but the gene editing was not aimed at preventing the small risk of transmission, He said. The fathers had their infections deeply suppressed by standard HIV medicines and there are simple ways to keep them from infecting offspring.

Instead, the appeal was to offer couples affected by HIV a chance to have a child that might be protected from a similar fate.

He said the gene editing occurred during IVF, or lab dish fertilization. First, sperm was "washed" to separate it from semen, the fluid where HIV can lurk. A single sperm was placed into a single egg to create an embryo. Then the gene editing tool was used.

When the embryos were 3 to 5 days old, a few cells were removed and checked for editing. Couples could choose whether to use edited or unedited embryos for pregnancy attempts. Eleven embryos were used in six attempts before the twin pregnancy was achieved, He said.

Tests suggest that one twin had both copies of the intended gene altered and the other twin had just one altered, with no evidence of harm to other genes, He said. People with one copy can still get HIV.

Several scientists reviewed materials that He provided to the AP and said tests so far are insufficient to draw conclusions.

Philadelphia Flyers mascot Gritty surprises wedding party

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What better way to surprise a Philadelphia wedding party than with the instant sensation Gritty?

KYW-TV reports newlyweds were shocked when the 7-foot mascot for the NHL's Philadelphia Flyers showed up Friday night and started dancing with the bride.

A video taken by a relative and posted to Twitter captures the orange monster hugging Heather Grossmuller and Karl Schwemlein during their reception. The video shows Gritty and Grossmuller getting down on the dance floor.

Grossmuller's father, Ray, orchestrated the surprise for his daughter who is a raving Flyers fan.

Gritty has become a huge hit since becoming the team's mascot in September. He has hung with celebrities and his face put on beer cans and tattoos. He was honored last month with a resolution by the city council.

■ COLLEGE FOOTBALL: Florida Gators

Assessing the Florida Gators' New Year's Six bowl chances

By MATT BAKER
TAMPA BAY TIMES

When Florida coach Dan Mullen was asked Saturday about his No. 11 Gators' shot at making a prestigious New Year's Six bowl game, he deflected the question to his boss.

"I have no idea," Mullen said. "There's a guy in the back."

That guy with his arms crossed in the back of the room, UF athletic director Scott Stricklin, doesn't really know, either. Even though he's part of the College Football Playoff committee that decides who makes the semifinals and the four other top-tier bowls, Stricklin must leave the room when his 12 colleagues discuss the Gators.

We're in the dark, too. We'll know more after the committee releases its latest top 25 Tuesday night, but UF's destination can change with an upset or two in this weekend's conference title games.

With those caveats out of the way, here's the case for UF in a New Year's Six game, the case against the Gators and which potential matchups are the most appealing:

The case for the Gators

In a season with few upper-middle class teams, UF is as good as any of them. The Gators rank in the top 35 nationally in yards per play and yards per play allowed; no other team in the mix for an at-large bid to the Peach or Fiesta Bowl can make that claim.

The Gators finished 9-3 with the nation's 18th hardest schedule (according to S&P+ advanced metrics). Among the at-large contenders, only LSU had a tougher schedule, and UF beat those Tigers, who are also 9-3.

Add in a victory at Mississippi State, and UF has a pair of wins over teams ranked in the top 20 in the latest AP poll. No other contender has more. Penn State has none.

Two of UF's losses were to top-20 teams (Georgia and Kentucky), and the third was to Missouri, which analytics like S&P+ and Sagarin consider to be in the top 15.

The case against the Gators

Advanced metrics don't rank the Gators in their top 12. While most teams play only one Division I-AA opponent, UF played two as part of a weak non-conference schedule.

The Gators' three losses came by a combined 49 points, including a 21-point shellacking at home to Mizzou. That stacks up very poorly against the other at-large contenders:

Penn State: Two of its three losses were by five total points, including a 27-26 defeat to playoff contender Ohio State

Texas: All three losses were decided by less than a touchdown

LSU: Saturday's defeat came after seven overtimes

Michigan: Only lost by seven at play-off-bound Notre Dame

West Virginia: Last two defeats were by seven total points

Washington State: First loss was by three to USC amidst an officiating controversy

Juiciest matchups

UCF: It lost some luster when Knights quarterback McKenzie Milton suffered a traumatic leg injury, but the battle for Sunshine State supremacy is still the most exciting option. The Gators' defense would be a tough challenge for UCF's high-scoring offense. Bonus points for a scheduling quirk that'd give UF three consecutive games against in-state teams (between last week's win over Florida State and next year's opener against Miami in Orlando).

PUNTA GORDA — With inclement weather threatening the area, the Charlotte boys soccer team hoped to get off to a fast start in their non-district matchup with DeSoto County Monday night.

But unfortunately for the Tarpons, it was the Bulldogs who struck first, as Jade Zapeda scored in the sixth minute to give DeSoto a quick advantage, and the Bulldogs went on to a 3-0 victory.

Seven minutes later, Javier Barajas put a shot just inside the left goalpost past diving goalkeeper Gavin Pennell to make it 2-0 Bulldogs.

"We wanted the wind in the first half," Charlotte coach Greg Winkler said. "I knew this thing was going to come, I just didn't know when. Then they got that first one. I don't know if Gavin was blinded by the lights or what, but that was a tough one because he doesn't drop those. The second one, we didn't step to a ball and they got a good shot."

in the half, the Bulldogs intercepted a throw-in deep in the Charlotte end. Barajas wound up with the ball in front of the net and put the ball away to make it 3-0.

The Tarpons began to control play in the latter stages of the first half, and continued to put the pressure on DeSoto goalie Salvador Altamirano.

Despite firing several shots on net, including one that hit the goal post, the Tarpons were unable to score.

"In the first half we had some good opportunities to put a ball in the net which could have changed the flow of the game," Winkler said. "In the second half we came out on fire and that's been our issue since the start of the season, finding someone who's going to bury those shots. We're getting there, but one goal would have maybe sparked them a little bit and turned it around.

"I was real happy with the way they didn't give

Another late blown lead leaves Dolphins, Gase feeling lousy

By STEVEN WINE
AP SPORTS WRITER

DAVIE, Fla. — Adam Gase wore his cap with the bill tugged even lower than usual Monday, as if trying to avoid looking at the big picture.

It's not pretty. His Miami Dolphins (5-6) have lost six of their past eight games, including two in a row, to fall below .500 for the first time in 2018.

And now they've earned a reputation for blowing double-digit fourth-quarter leads. They did it for the second time this season Sunday, when Indianapolis erased a 10-point deficit in the final 8½ minutes to win 27-24.

In Week 5, Cincinnati rallied from a 17-point deficit and scored four times in the fourth period to beat Miami 27-17.

"You're disappointed because you've got two games where you're

"It's a lousy feeling," he added, although he used a locker-room synonym for "lousy."

Quarterback Ryan Tannehill played Sunday for the first time since the Cincinnati debacle, when he hurt his throwing shoulder. He went 2 for 4 for minus 3 yards in the fourth quarter against the Colts but still finished with a passer rating of 119.4 and emerged from the game in good shape physically.

"The shoulder wasn't an issue," Tannehill said. "It felt really good. I really

Jaguars fire OC, bench Blake Bortles after 7th straight loss

By MARK LONG
AP SPORTS WRITER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The Jacksonville Jaguars sacked offensive coordinator Nathaniel Hackett and quarterback Blake Bortles one day after the team's seventh consecutive loss.

Coach Doug Marrone fired Hackett and benched Bortles on Monday, making sweeping changes to one of the league's worst offenses.

"I felt I needed to make a change to get us an opportunity to win some games," Marrone said. "It's not a knee-jerk reaction. I really feel like at the end of the day we've got to try to get better production out of our passing game or more consistent production in our passing game."

Marrone promoted quarterbacks coach Scott Milanovich to offensive coordinator as well as backup quarterback Cody Kessler.

Milanovich spent five seasons (2012-16) as head coach for the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts before landing in Jacksonville last year. Kessler lost all eight starts for Cleveland in 2016.

Marrone expects Milanovich and Kessler to energize a lackluster offense when the Jaguars (3-8) host Indianapolis

NHL: Philadelphia Flyers

Struggling Flyers fire general manager Ron Hextall

By DAN GELSTON
AP SPORTS WRITER

PHILADELPHIA — Caught at a crossroads between a full-blown rebuild and a legitimate playoff push, the Philadelphia Flyers fired general manager Ron Hextall on Monday, the latest front-office leader to fail to win the franchise's first Stanley Cup in 44 years.

The Flyers might not be done cleaning house. Coach Dave Hakstol has now lost his biggest backer and his job clearly is in danger. The Flyers have a 10-11-2 record and have lost five of six. They are fresh off a 6-0 loss to Toronto in which an organization once stamped as "Broad Street Bullies" played without a penalty.

"I feel a responsibility for what happened today," Hakstol said. "Nobody feels good about that in our room."

Hextall, a popular Flyers goalie in the 1980s and '90s, was dismissed after 4 1/2 seasons on the job in which he tried to revive a depleted farm system and patiently build a championship contender.

Flyers President Paul Holmgren thanked Hextall for his "many significant contributions, but it has become clear that we no longer share the same philosophical approach concerning the direction of the team."

He added that an immediate change was in the team's best interests and he hopes to have a new GM "as soon as possible."

The Flyers play Tuesday against Ottawa at home where a once-rabid fanbase has stayed away from Wells Fargo Center in droves, and the ones that come serenade another listless loss chanting "Fire Hakstol!"

Holmgren and Comcast Spectacor Chairman and CEO Dave Scott said they will not comment until a Tuesday news conference. The new GM will make the call on the fate of the coaching staff. Former Chicago Blackhawks Stanley Cup champion coach Joel Quenneville is available after he was fired this season. Former Los Angeles Kings GM Dean Lombardi, who won two Cups, also is on the market.

Hakstol ran practice Monday.

"I'm not looking over my shoulder," he said. "I never have. I never do. I focus on the job at hand and going forward. Those are decisions that aren't up to me."

Hextall played 13 seasons in the NHL and had two stints covering 11 years with the Flyers. He also spent seven seasons as assistant GM with the Los Angeles Kings. His ouster could be tied in to his steadfast support of Hakstol, the coach he hired with no NHL experience out of North Dakota in 2015. The move stunned the NHL and Hextall seemingly staked his career on Hakstol handling the grind of coaching in pressure-packed Philadelphia.

The Flyers haven't won a championship since the Stanley Cups of 1974 and 1975. They have reached the Finals and lost six times over that span. Hextall had wanted to ease off the franchise's win-now mode that had been a hallmark since the 1970s under late owner Ed Snider. Hextall inherited a salary cap mess from Holmgren, his predecessor, and inherited a talented nucleus of stars that included Claude Giroux, Wayne Simmonds and Jake Voracek.

But taking a page from their Wells Fargo Center neighbors, the 76ers, Hextall wanted his own process. That meant patience and building through the draft and restocking a farm system in disarray.

Sean Couturier, Shayne Gostisbehere, Travis Konecny, Ivan Provorov and Nolan Patrick, the No. 2 pick of the 2017 draft, are among the youngsters the Flyers counted on Hakstol developing. The Flyers now have roughly $7 million in salary cap space.

Philadelphia did make the playoffs twice under Hextall but that seemed of a quirk than a true step toward contention. The Flyers won 10 straight games in 2016-17 and missed the playoffs; they lost 10 straight last season and made them. The Flyers went 42-26-14 last season.

"I think the players feel responsible here," said Giroux, the last holdover from the 2010 Eastern Conference champions. "I do believe we have a good team in here. We're just not getting it done."

NHL: Tampa Bay Lightning

Lightning F Ondrej Palat may return Tuesday against Ducks

By NICK KELLY
TAMPA BAY TIMES

TAMPA — Forward Ondrej Palat came bustling into the Lightning dressing room after Monday's practice, taking a deep breath only once he plopped into his locker stall.

The last player off the ice, Palat had just completed his first full practice with a specific spot on a line for the first time since his injury. The top line at that.

He has missed the past 15 games with a lower-body injury.

"When you're hurt, you're not going on the ice and you're doing cardio in the game," Palat said moments after he sat in his locker. "But you can do as much cardio as you can and still feel not in shape. It's good that I can skate and I can get in shape. When you do some skating by yourself and go in the game, it's not the same."

Palat might not have to wait long. He could return as soon as Tuesday against Anaheim. Lightning coach Jon Cooper listed him as day-to-day.

But does Palat feel ready to play if inserted into the lineup against the Ducks?

"I think so," he said. "I felt good today. But it was my first full practice in an actual line today, so we will see."

If he plays, it would mark the first game action for Palat since he left the game against Vegas after blocking a shot. He has spent time around the team, but he has not joined the team for road trips. These trips provide players with a chance to hang out and bond away from home, something Palat said he has missed.

"It's just nice to feel a part of the team again and be on the ice with the guys," Palat said.

Palat is interested in more than just being around the team, though. He wants to skate and contribute. Prior to his injury, Palat tallied five assists and a plus-minus of plus-three.

He knows it will take time to regain that momentum upon his return.

"The most difficult thing is probably the timing and adjusting to the game tempo," Palat said. "It is just adjusting to the timing of the game."

Stamkos misses practice

The spot Palat filled on the top line in Monday's practice belongs to captain Steven Stamkos. He missed practice for what the team called a body maintenance day.

The day off comes after he left the ice during play with two minutes left in the second period on Sunday against the Devils. He went straight to the dressing room after a hit from Andy Greene. Hunched over as he skated off the ice straight to the tunnel, Stamkos didn't even bother to grab his stick.

Stamkos, however, returned to the ice at the start of the third period and played the rest of the game.

"He took a little cross-check to the arm there," Cooper said after the game. "It got him between the pads."

Stralman to visit doctor Tuesday

It is still unclear as to how soon defenseman Anton Stralman will return to the Lightning's lineup.

Stralman, who has missed the past eight games with an upper-body injury, will see a doctor on Tuesday to undergo further evaluation.

"Hopefully when we get some news on that, this could be one of those where he gets right back in the lineup," Cooper said Sunday. "We just have to wait and see."

NHL ROUNDUP

Wilson, Capitals beat Islanders for 6th straight win

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Wilson scored twice, Braden Holtby stopped 32 shots and the Washington Capitals beat the New York Islanders and former coach Barry Trotz 4-1 Monday night for their season-high sixth straight win.

Nic Dowd and Alex Ovechkin also scored for Washington, which won after giving up the first goal for the fifth time during its win streak that has catapulted the defending champions to first place in the Metropolitan Division.

Valtteri Filppula scored and Thomas Greiss finished with 20 saves for the Islanders, who lost for the third time in five games.

Trotz was facing the Capitals for first time since leading them to the franchise's first Stanley Cup title in June. Trotz also guided Washington to the Presidents' Trophy for the league's best record in 2015-16 and 2016-17 and then resigned in a contract dispute and subsequently signed with Islanders.

Todd Rierden — who was on Trotz's staff during his four years in Washington, including the last two as associated head coach — then took over.

Trotz, assistant coach Lane Lambert and goalie coach Mitch Korn, received their championship rings in the Capitals' dressing room before the game.

Zibanejad scored, and Henrik Lundqvist made 29 saves as the New York Rangers defeated the Ottawa Senators 4-2 Monday night.

The Rangers extended their dominance at Madison Square Garden, improving to 8-1-0 at home in their last nine games.

Mark Stone scored twice, Brady Tkachuck had two assists and Craig Anderson stopped 29 shots for Ottawa, which fell to 2-8-1 in road games this season.

Hoffman scores in overtime, Panthers rally past Devils

SUNRISE, Fla. (AP) — Mike Hoffman scored 1:28 into overtime to lift the Florida Panthers over the New Jersey Devils 4-3 on Monday night.

With their goalie pulled for an extra skater, the Panthers tied it 3-3 on Jonathan Huberdeau's 100th career goal with 1:29 left in the third period. Huberdeau also had two assists.

Aleksander Barkov added a goal and an assist, and Jared McCann also scored for Florida. James Reimer stopped 29 shots. Jesper Bratt, Blake Coleman and Miles Wood scored for the Devils. Keith Kinkaid made 30 saves, and Sami Vatanen had two assists. Hoffman hit the post at 1:03 of overtime but came back 25 seconds later with a shot from the right circle that beat Kinkaid. Hoffman has 23 points in his last 20 games.

Bratt gave the Devils a 3-2 lead when he tipped in a shot by Vatanen with 8:33 remaining in the third. The goal was Bratt's second in two games.

With the Panthers' net empty, Huberdeau grabbed a loose puck in front and pushed it past Kinkaid for his 100th NHL goal.

Blue Jackets start strong, end with 7-5 win over Red Wings

DETROIT (AP) — Pierre-Luc Dubois scored two goals to help the Columbus Blue Jackets hold on for a 7-5 win over the Detroit Red Wings on Monday night.

The Blue Jackets led 3-0 after the first period and led by four goals in the second.

Detroit rallied with three straight goals and pulled within one twice in the third period.

Dubois' second goal midway through the third stood after a video review and challenge, giving Columbus a two-goal lead.

Anthony Mantha's second goal with 2:12 left pulled the Red Wings within a goal and they pulled Jonathan Bernier to add an extra skater. Seth Jones took advantage, sealing the victory with an empty-net goal less than a minute later.

Malek Barber didn't get to play basketball against Nicksen Blanc last year.

The North Port High School graduate was sidelined by injury when Palm Beach Atlantic University traveled to play Young Harris College, where Port Charlotte High product Blanc was in his first year.

But a healthy Barber played Monday night when PBA was host to Young Harris.

The senior forward had five points and one rebound in the loss while Blanc finished with five rebounds and three points.

Well in advance of their lone meeting this season, Barber said he got in touch with Blanc. They talked before and after the game, too.

Blanc started 27 of 28 games last year, when he led the team with a 14.9 scoring average, after transferring from two years at Lincoln Memorial University. The senior forward started the first three games this season yet didn't start against PBA. "He likes where he's at," Barber said. "They kind of run their offense around him."

Though he usually guarded Blanc during their high school matchups, he said he didn't guard him this time.

"My role on our team is to play (defend) the guard and rebound," said Barber, who had 10 rebounds and five points during a start against Lee.

Last year Barber suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament during an offensive attack in the eighth game. "I drive to the basket. I jump stop. I tried to jump and turn my body at the same time," he said. "The surgery was the worst thing I ever felt."

He had the surgery in January, he said, and resumed basketball activities by late July. He received medical clearance in mid-August, he said.

He still is trying to return to form. "I still feel like I'm babying my injury," he said. "It's more of a mental thing."

Barber said he received a medical redshirt and plans to complete his final year of eligibility while enrolled in the master's program.

More men's basketball Scot Hundt had five points and two assists for Mississippi College against Henderson State. He played for Charlotte.

Past Pirate Sean Price of Charleston Southern University had season highs of 13 points and eight rebounds against South Carolina State.

said. "My plan is for him to go in there and play."

Staying healthy could be a challenge for Kessler considering Jacksonville will be without three starting offensive linemen, including left guard Andrew Norwell (ankle) who was placed on injured reserve Monday. Norwell joins center Brandon Linder and left tackle Cam Robinson on IR.

The Jags also could be without their offensive centerpiece if the NFL suspends running back Leonard Fournette for leaving the sideline and provoking a fight in a 24-21 loss at Buffalo.

Marrone refused to make excuses for the offensive struggles.

Bortles didn't throw for 150 yards in four of the last six games. He had 104 yards through the air against Pittsburgh two weeks ago and 127 yards against the Bills. Marrone benched Bortles twice in two years, only to give him the job back both times.

Now, though, it seems Bortles could be done in Jacksonville.

Finances might be the only reason he sticks around. The fifth-year starter signed a three-year, $54 million contract in February and is due to count $21 million against the salary cap in 2019. Cutting him would cost Jacksonville $16.5 million against the cap.

But it's clear Marrone has lost faith in Bortles, who regressed this season.

Marrone felt Hackett should have done more, too. Marrone and Hackett had been together for nine years, including stops at Syracuse (2010-12), with the Bills (2013-14) and in Jacksonville (2015-18).

Hackett ended up being the first scapegoat in Jacksonville's ultra-disappointing season. He failed to get Bortles and the offense to play anywhere close to the level they did early in the season or in Jacksonville Jaguars quarterback Blake Bortles, right, is sacked by Buffalo Bills defensive tackle Kyle Williams (95) and defensive end Jerry Hughes during the second half of an NFL football game, Sunday, in Orchard Park, N.Y.

2017. Injuries have been the biggest issue, but not enough to save Hackett's job.

"Obviously, you feel terrible, especially as an offensive player," center Tyler Shatley said. "I feel like a lot of that's on us. He had great game plans and stuff; we just have to execute better."

The Jaguars rank 22nd in the NFL in total offense, averaging 346.5 yards a game, but have been on a steady decline the last two months. They rank 29th in points, averaging a paltry 17.9 a game.

Bortles' lack of production has been the primary problem. He has 13 touchdown passes and 10 interceptions this season, incapable of putting the offense on his shoulders when things go wrong around him.

He also has been hamstrung, most notably by a lack of playmakers and numerous injuries. Jacksonville is without three left tackles, two tight ends, the team's leading receiver from 2017, the team's starting center and played six games without Fournette.

"It sucks that somebody had to get let go," defensive tackle Malik Jackson said. "I thought he was doing a wonderful job. But it's the nature of the business. We need to start winning or we all need to look in the mirror about who can let go. It sucks."

Marrone could have made other changes. The defense looks little like it did in 2017, prompting some to question coordinator Todd Wash's future, and special teams have been a non-factor all year.

But Marrone opted to address the offense.

"Any time you're losing, it's not just on one person," Marrone said. "It's on everyone, and obviously when I say that I understand and take responsibility for that. It starts with me as the head coach. ... Obviously none of us are doing a good enough job right now. We have an opportunity to play five games and get back on track and break this losing streak."

didn't even think about it throughout the game."

Miami's meltdown was a whopper, however. Indy outgained the Dolphins 200 yards to minus 1 yard in the final 13½ minutes.

"The way it went down, obviously, really hurts," Tannehill said.

The collapse triggered a frenzy on social media, with Gase's play-calling criticized like never before in his three seasons as head coach.

He acknowledged second-guessing himself regarding one call, saying the Colts' scheme surprised him on a second-and-10 pass into the flat to DeVante Parker that went for no gain during a three-and-out before the Colts' winning drive.

"If I could have that one back, that probably could have made a difference," Gase muttered. "You hate when you're up and you lose the lead, and you know what you left on the field, and you know some of the situational stuff that didn't get done right."

As a result, the Dolphins had three takeaways, deflected a punt, scored on a 74-yard pass and still managed to lose.

"It was right there," defensive end Cameron Wake said. "I mean, everything. It was scripted the way we wanted."

With the defeat, the Dolphins fell behind seven teams in the AFC standings. They'll likely be favored in only two of their final five games, including Sunday at home against Buffalo, and appear destined to miss the playoffs for the 15th time in the past 17 years.

It can be argued that the Dolphins are worse than their record, and below .500 is where they belong. They rank 28th in the NFL in offense and 29th in defense. They've been outgained by 928 yards, third-worst in the league.

Injuries continue to ravage the offense, with receiver Danny Amendola (right knee) and center Travis Swanson (ankle) the latest casualties. The status of both for Sunday's game is uncertain.

But Gase predicted his team will bounce back from the latest loss.

"The good thing about NFL players is once we hit Wednesday, they really don't care about last week," he said. "It's probably better they're like that, compared with the coaches. We'll dwell."

up," Winkler added. "We didn't lose our composure and we did some really good stuff tonight that way, but we'll work on the other stuff."

After the second half water break, the wind picked up and a torrential downpour dampened any further hopes of a Tarpon comeback, as Charlotte fell to 1-2-2 on the season, with the district opener against North Port looming Thursday night.

"It's a building process here and we've got some work to do," Winkler said. "But it's good for the guys. We've got the tough districts coming up and that team (DeSoto) had a lot of speed and we have travel to Booker for a district match Tuesday night.

GATORS

Michigan: The Gators already beat one former coach this year (South Carolina's Will Muschamp). How about a crack at another, Wolverines assistant Jim McElwain?

Washington State: We know Mike Leach doesn't believe in Bigfoot. How does the Pirate feel about Florida's skunk apes?

Also, the on-field matchup would feature a lot of points.

Boise State: It'd only happen if the Broncos beat Fresno State for the Mountain West title and UCF loses to Memphis. But Boise State is a fun program with a good offense.

Penn State: Quarterback Trace McSorley is great, but the Nittany Lions aren't as interesting or entertaining as they were last year.

■ TENNIS: Big Three

Djokovic, Nadal, Federer close 2018 ranked 1-2-3

By HOWARD FENDRICH
AP TENNIS WRITER

The Big Three is the year-end top three, something that last happened in 2014.

With Novak Djokovic at No. 1, Rafael Nadal at No. 2 and Roger Federer at No. 3 on Monday, that trio of tennis greats leads the season's final ATP rankings for the seventh time.

This is the first time, though, that each of those three men spent some time at No. 1 during the same year. The seven changes there were the most since 1999, when there were eight.

Djokovic won Wimbledon and the U.S. Open in 2018, while Federer took the Australian Open, and Nadal earned the title at the French Open.

They accounted for Nos. 1-3 in the final rankings in 2007-11 and 2014, too.

For Djokovic, it marks the fifth time he has closed a year in the top spot, following 2011, 2012, 2014 and 2015. Only Pete Sampras, with six year-end No. 1 finishes, did it more often.

The 31-year-old from Serbia is also the oldest man to be No. 1 at season's end and the first to finish at top the rankings after being outside the top 20 during the year — or outside the top 10 at the end of the previous year (he was No. 12 in 2017).

Simona Halep ended the season at No. 1 in the WTA rankings for the second consecutive year; she clinched that spot more than a month ago. Angelique Kerber was No. 2 among women, followed by Caroline Wozniacki, Elina Svitolina and Naomi Osaka.

Djokovic overtook Nadal three weeks ago; the Spaniard did not compete anywhere after stopping because of a painful right knee during his U.S. Open semifinal in September against Juan Martin del Potro. Nadal had arthroscopic surgery on his right ankle this month.

Nadal concludes a season at No. 1 or No. 2 for the 10th time, trailing only Federer's 11.

Federer, meanwhile, is in the year-end top three for a record 14th time. The 37-year-old from Switzerland has won 20 Grand Slam singles championships, the most by a man, followed by Nadal with 17, then Djokovic and the retired Sampras with 14 apiece.

Del Potro was the runner-up at the U.S. Open, Anderson at Wimbledon, Cilic at the Australian Open, and Thiem at the French Open.

Neither Anderson nor Isner ever had finished a year in the top 10, while del Potro is back in that group for the first time since 2013.

Braves make free agent splash with Donaldson, McCann

By RONALD BLUM
AP BASEBALL WRITER

NEW YORK — The Atlanta Braves added a pair of free agents following their first division title in five years, agreeing to one-year contracts with third baseman Josh Donaldson and catcher Brian McCann.

Donaldson agreed to a $23 million, one-year contract, a person familiar with the agreement told The Associated Press on Monday. The person spoke on condition of anonymity because the deal was subject to a successful physical.

McCann's deal was announced by Atlanta, where he became a seven-time All-Star from 2005-13. He got a $2 million, one-year contract to play near his home.

Donaldson was the AL MVP with Toronto in 2015 but has struggled since. He had a hip injury in 2016, was slowed by a strained right calf in 2017 and by shoulder inflammation and a calf strain this year. A three-time All-Star who turns 32 next month, Donaldson hit .246 with eight homers and 23 RBIs in 52 games this year for Toronto and Cleveland, which acquired him on Aug. 31.

His 2019 salary matches his pay this year.

McCann, who turns 35 in February, is from Duluth, Georgia, and was a seven-time All-Star with the Braves from 2005-13. He left to sign an $85 million, five-year contract with the New York Yankees and was traded to

McCann helped the Astros win their first World Series title in

Former Rays 1B/DH C.J. Cron claimed on waivers by Twins

By MARC TOPKIN
TAMPA BAY TIMES

1B/DH C.J. Cron, DFA'd last week by the Rays, was claimed on waivers by the Twins.

The Rays parted ways with the 30-home run hitter in hopes of adding an upgraded overall hitter later in the off-season and saying they were unable to find a trade partner.

Cron, 28, posted a .253 average, 74 RBIs and .816 OPS while leading the Rays in homers. He is projected to make $5.2 million in arbitration. The Rays get the $50,000 claiming fee from the Twins.

Assuming he sticks with the Twins, Cron will have a familiar boss, as former Rays coach Rocco Baldelli was hired there as manager.

The Rays also announced that LHP Hoby Milner, also DFA'd last week, cleared waivers and was outrighted to the minors. He is expected to accept the assignment, and if so will be invited to minor-league camp.

Joe Maddon on big 2019 change with Cubs, Rays' need for a stadium and more

By MARC TOPKIN
TAMPA BAY TIMES

Former Rays and current Cubs manager Joe Maddon took time during a charitable Thanksgiving appearance today for his Respect 90 Foundation at the St. Vincent de Paul center in St. Petersburg to talk a little baseball, discussing a big change he will make for next season, the necessity for the Rays to get a new stadium in Tampa, his take on going into the last year of his contract and (briefly) on the departure of pitching coach Jim Hickey.

Among the topics:

• He plans a significant change for next year in his managing style with a shift to more on field coaching work, which is apparently tied to baseball ops president Theo Epstein saying he expects Maddon to be “re-energized” by the challenges after last season's disappointing finish.

“That will be the part that will be different,” Maddon said. “I’ve always kind of stayed free of coaching because I really want to stay out of coaches’ way so they can do their job. I’ve always felt that is the right way to do it. But this year I’m going to get a little more hands-on involved in actually coaching. I think that’s where the comment came from.

... I actually want to do less before the game talking to the media and whatever and try to get on the field more often.”

• Maddon said last week's departure of pitching coach Jim Hickey was not health related but said he couldn't get into specifics of what the “personal reasons” were. “He's fine,” Maddon said. “He's not ill. His health is fine.”

• He reiterated his belief that the Rays need a new stadium — “a legitimate major-league ballpark” — on the Tampa side to survive as a franchise, saying he liked what he saw of the proposed $892 million facility in Ybor City.

“You really need to travel to other major-league venues to understand what you're missing,” he said. “It's good for the community. It's good to have that kind of a jewel within the community that draws people to it. I know there's controversy or opinions on where this money is being spent, museums and the arts and education, which I'm all about. But I do believe that a legitimate major-league franchise in a city benefits everybody in that community. Even though you don't feel it directly indirectly you are benefiting from it.”

“So I think for the survival of major-league baseball in this community, it needs to be built, it needs to be that nice and it needs to be over on the other side.”

• He had no issues and an interesting response to the Cubs' decision to not discuss a contract extension going into the last year of his five-year deal:

“Lame duck or free agent, are they synonymous terms? Players go into that year annually. Good players go into a season without a contract for the next year. Why would I feel any different as a manager than a good player does, a (Manny) Machado or a (Bryce) Harper, whatever. You could say “lame duck” or you could use “free agent.” I think they are both the same term.”

Maddon, 65 in February, said he definitely plans to keep managing beyond this season.

• He thought his former Rays team “did great” this season, he still keeps in touch with front office execs Erik Neander and Chaim Bloom as well as manager Kevin Cash, and felt they made several good trades, specifically getting Tyler Glasnow and Austin Meadows.

• He said he wasn't sure the “opener” concept used by the Rays is going to spread and be adopted by other teams given the impact on bullpen usage.

Bengals' Andy Dalton out for season with thumb injury

By JOE KAY

AP SPORTS WRITER

CINCINNATI — Andy Dalton is out for the rest of the season with an injured thumb on his passing hand, another significant blow to a Bengals team that has fallen apart in the past month.

Dalton reached for a fumbled ball and had someone land on his right hand during a 35-20 rout by the Cleveland Browns on Sunday, Cincinnati's fifth loss in its past six games.

Just like that, a season that started with so much promise has turned into a nosedive.

Cincinnati (5-6) is without its quarterback or much hope that things will get much better down the stretch. The Bengals put Dalton on injured reserve after he had more tests and medical opinions Monday about the best way to get the thumb healed.

It's the same thumb that Dalton broke while making a tackle on an interception return against the Steelers in 2015. He missed the last three regular-season games and an 18-16 loss to the Steelers in a first-round playoff game at Paul Brown Stadium.

Jeff Driskel will start

Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Andy Dalton (14) looks to pass in the first half of an NFL football game against the Cleveland Browns, Sunday.

for the Bengals the rest of the way, getting his first chance to lead the team in his third NFL season. The Bengals claimed quarterback Tom Savage off waivers from the San Francisco 49ers as a backup on Monday.

"The more you get out there and the more you play well, the more confidence you are going to get in yourself and the people around you," Driskel said Monday.

Dalton completed

62 percent of his passes for 2,566 yards with 21 touchdowns, 11 interceptions and a passer rating of 89.6, the third-highest of his eight-year career.

Even with Dalton, the Bengals weren't doing much except losing.

After a 4-1 start that boosted them atop the AFC North, the Bengals have lost five of six and fallen to third place. It's their worst stretch since 2016, when they went 1-5-1 over the middle of the schedule and finished 6-9-1, ending their streak of five straight playoff appearances.

After Dalton got hurt on Sunday, Driskel came in and threw his first career touchdown pass and ran for another as the Browns went conservative with a big lead. Cleveland threw the ball only four times in the second half and played softer on defense. Driskel was 17 of 29 for 155 yards.

Coordinator Bill Lazor said Monday that Driskel has shown his ability to lead the offense in his limited opportunities.

"I think guys see it, and that's the important part," Lazor said. "You can't talk them into feeling good about somebody; they've got to earn it. And he's earned it every day in practice and in the preseason games."

With Driskel running the offense, the Bengals had five false-start penalties — each by a different player — and one more for an illegal shift in the fourth quarter. Driskel thinks that working with the starting offense in practice this week will fix the problems.

"The more time you are able to get in and out of the huddle with those guys, hear the cadence, say the cadence, it's just beneficial," he said. "I don't think it helps coming off the bench."

With five games left and Dalton hurt, the Bengals are facing a big challenge. "They've got to do it," coach Marvin Lewis said. "They've got to dig out."

INJURY UPDATE

Cornerback Tony McRae suffered a concussion in the third quarter. The medical staff strapped him to a backboard and wheeled him off the field, concerned he might have a spinal injury. Lewis said Monday that McRae had a concussion but no spinal injury.

HUE'S GAME BALL

Lewis didn't have anything to say about Browns safety Damarious Randall handing the ball to Hue Jackson after he intercepted one of Dalton's passes on Sunday.

"I don't want to comment on somebody else's player," Lewis said.

Bucs WR DeSean Jackson to receive second opinion on thumb injury

By EDUARDO ENCINA

TAMPA BAY TIMES

TAMPA — Bucs WR DeSean Jackson is slated to get a second medical opinion on his nagging thumb injury, putting his status for Sunday's home division contest against the Carolina Panthers into question.

Coach Dirk Koetter said Jackson was re-examined by a local hand specialist Monday and will be traveling to New York to receive a second opinion there on Tuesday. It's typical that players receive another medical opinion when their first diagnosis isn't a favorable one.

Jackson was listed on last week's injury report with a thumb injury and had a brace on his left hand during Thursday's practice, but still participated in practice and played 36 snaps in Sunday's 27-9 win over the 49ers at Raymond James.

But Jackson didn't play a major role in the Bucs' win on Sunday. Despite being targeted eight times, Jackson made just three catches for 19 yards and added a 6-yard run on an end-around play. Jackson's biggest play of the day came on a 14-yard reception down the sideline in the third quarter.

Quarterback Jameis Winston threw for 312 yards and connected with eight receivers, but missed Jackson on three deep balls, including one ball in the second quarter when Winston had Jackson wide open downfield but overthrew him.

Those three deep-ball misses didn't include a defensive pass interference call that Jackson drew that served as a 23-yard gain to set up Peyton Barber's 2-yard touchdown runs three plays later to give the Bucs a 20-9 lead.

"The thing with DeSean (Sunday) is we just flat missed him five times," Koetter said. "One was a tough over-the-top shot that Jameis overthrew but there were four other times that DeSean was open and we just missed him. We didn't miss many throws yesterday, but the ones we did miss unfortunately were mostly to DeSean."

Much has been made of how Winston and Jackson have been unable to connect, and Winston has completed just 13 of 33 pass targets — 39.4 percent — to Jackson this season with one touchdown and three interceptions. By comparison, Ryan Fitzpatrick connected on 71.1 percent of his targets to Jackson this season.

Jackson also didn't deny reports that he requested to be traded in advance of the trade deadline at the end of last month.

Jackson has played in all 11 games this season, making 40 catches for 750 yards. His 18.8 yards per reception is tied for second-best in the league. Jackson missed the last two games of last season with an ankle injury after he was injured during a Week 14 loss to the Falcons.

■ COLLEGE FOOTBALL:

It's must-win for Georgia, if not Alabama in SEC title game

By JOHN ZENOR

AP SPORTS WRITER

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — Alabama players have been through the uncertainty before, and didn't like it.

The top-ranked Crimson Tide advanced into the College Football Playoffs after ending the 2017 regular season with a loss. This team's resume also might be impressive enough to survive a defeat to No. 4 Georgia in Saturday's Southeastern Conference championship game in Atlanta, but the Tide (12-0, 8-0 SEC) would certainly prefer to go ahead and lock it up this time.

It's almost certainly a must-win for the Bulldogs (11-1, 7-1), who parlayed last year's SEC title into a playoff trip before ultimately losing to the Tide in the national championship game. There's less clarity but more margin for error with an Alabama team that has won all 12 games by lopsided scores.

A win Saturday would make the Tide's playoff invitation a no-brainer. A loss puts the team's fate into the selection committee's hands once again.

Alabama would prefer not waiting until Sunday again to learn its fate.

"We know with the type of competition that we play and the schedule we play, if we win out we control our own destiny," Tide left tackle Jonah Williams said Monday. "We never want to put our destiny in the hands of somebody else. I think that on top of the challenges we have just playing high quality teams week in and week out, we also kind of have that (situation) where there's not any room to slip up, because then it's not in our hands anymore."

"So I think that's definitely something we've thought about."

It's exactly what happened a year ago. Alabama received its fourth straight playoff bid despite losing to Auburn in the Iron Bowl. Second in the division, first in the nation.

If the Tide falls short again and still gets into the playoffs after a closing defeat, that would leave champions of other Power 5 leagues — not to mention unbeaten UCF — feeling jilted again. No. 6 Ohio State faces No. 20 Northwestern in the Big Ten and No. 5 Oklahoma plays No. 11 Texas for the Big 12 title.

The Bulldogs' scenario is more straightforward, and also more precarious, than Alabama's.

They were fifth in last week's playoff rankings but the team ranked one spot ahead of them, Michigan, lost to Ohio

In this Jan. 8, file photo, Alabama head coach Nick Saban leads his team on the field before the NCAA college football playoff championship game against Georgia in Atlanta. Neither No. 1 Alabama nor No. 4 Georgia is anxiously awaiting their playoff fates this season, but whoever wins the SEC championship game showdown is definitely in the playoffs. The Crimson Tide could even get in with a close loss.

State. The new rankings come out Tuesday night.

Georgia has coasted to five straight wins since losing to LSU behind the SEC's top rushing offense. Both teams are outscoring opponents by wide margins, 35 points a game for Alabama and 26 for Georgia.

Still, Bulldogs quarterback Jake Fromm knows that his team is in a must-win situation and Alabama might not be.

"You know, very interesting the way it kind of works out," Fromm said. "It's nothing that I can control, nothing that we can control. I just think we can only control what we can control. Go in, play a football game, and try to win every game you're in."

Plus, it's still the SEC championship. It's not the ultimate prize for either of these teams but it's still a big one.

The Bulldogs are seeking back to back SEC titles for the first time since winning three straight from 1980-82.

The coaches want to make sure nobody forgets that winning the league is still a big deal.

"You've heard me before talk about what a great venue this is, what a great opportunity it is for players," Alabama's Nick Saban said.

Bulldogs coach Kirby Smart said: "I know our guys are excited about getting back to Atlanta because that's always a goal for the program here at the University of Georgia, to have an opportunity to go play for a championship in what's one of the best conferences in the country, and we know what's at stake."

Covington, Towns lead Timberwolves past Cavs, 102-95

CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert Covington scored 24 points, Karl-Anthony Towns added 21 and the Minnesota Timberwolves beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 102-95 on Monday night.

Minnesota is 6-2 since trading disgruntled star Jimmy Butler to Philadelphia two weeks ago and 10-11 overall. The latest win was its second in 10 road games this season.

Derrick Rose came off the bench to score 10 of his 12 points in the fourth quarter. Towns hit two baskets in the final two minutes, including a fadeaway jumper on the baseline, after Cleveland cut the lead to 91-86.

Cleveland beat Philadelphia and Houston last week for its first back-to-back wins of the season, but couldn't make it three straight.

Kyle Korver scored 22 points, including six 3-pointers for Cleveland. Rodney Hood added 20 points while Tristan Thompson had 16 points and 11 rebounds.

Covington bounced back from a horrendous game Saturday against Chicago when he scored four points, was 1 of 18 from the field and 0 of 10 on 3-pointers. He was 8 of 12 from the field and hit 4 of 7 3-pointers Monday.

Towns turned in a highlight-worthy play in the second quarter. The 7-footer picked up an errant pass from Larry Nance Jr. near midcourt, drove around two defenders in the lane and scored on a thunderous dunk.

Andrew Wiggins scored 11 points after going 0 for 12 from the field and being held scoreless Saturday. Wiggins was 4 of 11 from the field.

The Timberwolves led 75-71 heading into the final period after the Cavaliers cut into a 12-point deficit. Rose hit three baskets and assisted on Covington's 3-pointer, pushing the lead to 86-74 and prompting Cleveland coach Larry Drew to call timeout with 8:26 to play.

Cleveland rallied again and cut the lead to 88-84 with five minutes to play, but Rose scored in the lane and Towns hit his two big baskets.

Rose played 16 games with Cleveland last season, but battled injuries and was traded in February.

Minnesota led 69-57 midway through the third quarter. Cleveland finished with a spurt that included a 3-pointer by Cedi Osman and rookie Collin Sexton's three-point play.

Tristan Thompson had 10 points in the first quarter, helping Cleveland take a 29-24 lead, but Minnesota took control late in the period on a run that carried over to the second.

Hornets beat Bucks 110-107 after nearly squandering big lead

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kemba Walker and Jeremy Lamb each had 21 points, and the Charlotte Hornets held on to beat the Milwaukee Bucks 110-107 on Monday night after nearly squandering a 25-point, third-quarter lead.

Marvin Williams added 16 points and eight rebounds, and Tony Parker had 15 points off the bench for the Hornets, who bounced back from a loss at Atlanta on Sunday night and ended a two-game skid.

The Bucks nearly came all the way back, cutting the lead to one with 17 seconds left on a layup by Giannis Antetokounmpo.

But Walker made two free throws with 7.1 seconds left and the Bucks failed to get off a good shot after a side inbound, with Eric Bledsoe forced to launch an off-balance 3-pointer at the buzzer that hit off the glass and the rim and bounced away as time expired.

Antetokounmpo had 20 points, 13 rebounds and nine assists. Bledsoe scored 17 points.

The Hornets got a huge emotional lift from Michael Kidd-Gilchrist, who returned after missing six games with an ankle injury. He finished with seven points and seven rebounds, but his defense was big, including an impressive block on Khrist Middleton's fast-break layup.

The Bucks looked sloppy and disorganized on offense for most of the game, finishing with 16 turnovers.

After spotting the Bucks a 28-14 lead in the first quarter, the Hornets took control and outscored the Bucks 57-24 over the next 22 minutes behind a 3-point barrage led by Lamb and Williams.

Wizards overcome Harden's 54, beat Rockets 135-131 in OT

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Wall scored a season-high 36 points, including six in overtime, and the Washington Wizards overcame James Harden's season-best 54 points to outlast the Houston Rockets 135-131 on Monday night.

Wall had two baskets in the extra period and finished with 11 assists. Bradley Beal equaled his season high with 32 points for the Wizards.

Otto Porter hit a runner with 4:37 to play for the first basket in overtime and the Wizards remained ahead from there. Wall followed with a jumper to make it 129-125 and later made another jumper that pushed the lead to five. Beal's jumper extended it to 133-126 with 1:50 to play.

Harden had 44 points through three quarters but missed five of his seven shots in the fourth. In overtime, Harden whose career high is 60, was 1 of 2 from the field and had two free throws. He had 11 turnovers, three in overtime.

Eric Gordon scored a season-high 36 for the short-handed Rockets, who played without Chris Paul for the second straight game.

Harden scored 12 points in the first quarter, 11 in the second and 21 points in the third quarter. In the fourth, he began the quarter on the bench, and scored six as the Wizards and Rockets headed to overtime with the score knotted at 125.

Markieff Morris had 22 points and 10 rebounds for Washington.

Aldridge helps Spurs beat Bulls 108-107

CHICAGO (AP) — LaMarcus Aldridge scored

11 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter, and the San Antonio Spurs held off the Chicago Bulls for a 108-107 victory on Monday night.

DeMar DeRozan had 21 points and Patty Mills finished with 17 as San Antonio improved to 2-1 on a four-game trip. Bryn Forbes made three of the Spurs' 10 3-pointers on his way to 13 points.

Chicago had two chances to go in front in the final seconds and came up empty each time. Zach LaVine was short on a 3-point try from the top of the key, and Ryan Arcidiacono missed a jumper as time expired.

LaVine scored 11 of his 28 points in the fourth, but the Bulls lost for the seventh time in eight games. Arcidiacono finished with a career-high 22 points, Jabari Parker had 18 and Justin Holiday added 17.

LaVine made two foul shots to give Chicago a 101-98 lead with 5:58 left. But San Antonio responded with a 10-0 run.

Aldridge started the decisive sequence with a fadeaway jumper. Derrick White made a go-ahead 3-pointer and DeRozan had a slick reverse layup before Aldridge punctuated the spurt with a three-point play on a drive and jam with 2:13 remaining.

No. 5 Louisville wallops Miami in home opener 95-73

LOUISVILLE, Ky (AP) — Kyle Shook scored a season-high 17 points to help No. 5 Louisville to a 95-73 rout of Miami (Ohio) on Monday night.

The Cardinals (6-0) started strong and never looked back. They jumped out to an 8-0 lead in the first 2:30 as they forced the RedHawks (4-1) into four turnovers in that span. Three baskets came on fast break opportunities.

A balanced attack propelled the Cardinals to victory. Shook, a junior forward, made 6-of-9 shots and was one of six Louisville players to score in double figures. The Cardinals shot 51.5 percent and forced Miami into committing 21 turnovers.

Asia Durr scored 10 of her 16 points in the second half for Louisville, which also got a season-high 15 points from Bionca Dunham. Five Cardinals also pulled down at least six rebounds.

Durr ended the first half in spectacular fashion, getting a backcourt turnover in the waning seconds and converting a reverse layup just before the buzzer to give the Cardinals a 46-28 lead at the break.

Freshman guard Nia Clark scored 17 points to lead the RedHawks.

No. 25 Mississippi St cruises past Alcorn St 88-65

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Nick Weatherspoon and Lamar Peters both scored 17 points, Reggie Perry added 16 points and 11 rebounds and No. 25 Mississippi State beat Alcorn State 88-65 on Monday night.

Mississippi State was efficient on offense, shooting 33 of 54 (61 percent) from the field. Weatherspoon shot 6 of 10, including 2 of 3 from 3-point range. Peters was 6 of 9 shooting, including 5 of 8 from behind the arc.

The Bulldogs led by as many as 33 points in the second half. Quinndary Weatherspoon added 14 points and Tyson Carter had 10.

Mississippi State (5-1) was a little careless with turnovers in the opening minutes, but recovered to push its lead to 44-29 by halftime. The Bulldogs shot 17 of 25 (68 percent) from the field in the first half, including 4 of 6 from 3-point range.

Alcorn State (1-6) was led by Deshaw Andrews, who scored 26 points. The Braves shot just 37.3 percent from the field.

Palmer's 20 lead Nebraska to 68-66 win at Clemson

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — James Palmer Jr. scored 14 of his 20 points in the second half as Nebraska held off a late surge by Clemson for a 68-66 victory Monday night to help the Big Ten strike first in this week's ACC/Big Ten Challenge.

The Cornhuskers (6-1) outlasted the Tigers (5-2) down the stretch in the back-and-forth contest where neither team led by more than seven points. Nebraska, though, took control late in the game with a 9-4 burst after Clemson had cut a five-point lead down to 53-52. Palmer had two straight baskets and Isaac Copeland Jr. followed with a power jam. When Thomas Allen struck with a 3-poiner from the right corner, the Cornhuskers were ahead 64-56.

Clemson mounted a final comeback try and, down 66-64, had the chance to tie or take the lead in the closing seconds. But Marcquise Reed was called for traveling with 9.4 seconds left and Nebraska's Glynn Watson Jr. hit two foul shots to seal the win.

It was a strong start for the Big Ten, which has lost the past two challenges to the ACC — last year by an 11-3 margin. The conferences play 14 games in all, the majority on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The win improved Nebraska to 5-3 in challenge games since joining the Big Ten in 2011-12. The Cornhuskers picked up their third road win in challenge play after victories at Wake Forest (2012) and Florida State (2015).

It was also a bit of revenge for a tight loss at Clemson in the 2016-17 challenge when it was the Tigers pulling out a 60-58 win.

Copeland had 16 points and Watson 12 for Nebraska.

Elijah Thomas led Clemson with 16 points. Reed, who scored 24 and 27 points the past two games, was 6-of-14 shooting for 15 points.

It was obvious early this would be a hard-fought contest to start the challenge as Clemson's Elijah Thomas and Nebraska's Isaiah Roby drew technical fouls as they hit the floor during a loose ball scrum less than two minutes in. Neither team could get much of a foothold in the opening half. The Cornhuskers got a 3-pointer by Watson and a basket by Copeland to move in front 29-25 with five minutes to go.

But after an agitated Brad Brownell called timeout, the Tigers answered back with baskets by Clyde Trapp and David Skara tie things once more.

Nebraska is fifth in the Big Ten with almost nine 3-pointers a game, but it could not find its touch in the first half as the Cornhuskers made just 3 of 14 attempts from long range.

Noi, Fisher back for TCU in 87-69 win over Eastern Michigan

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Kouat Noi had 27 points and Jaylen Fisher added 12 points on four 3-pointers as TCU beat Eastern Michigan 87-69 on Monday night, after the Horned Frogs dropped out of the AP Top 25 poll earlier in the day.

Neither Noi or Fisher started in what was only the second game of the season for both after missing the first three games because of knee issues. They entered about 5 1/2 minutes into the game, not long before a 31-10 run put the Horned Frogs (4-1) ahead to stay.

Kevin Samuel had 15 points on 7-of-9 shooting, while Desmond Bane and JD Miller each had 11 for TCU, which had been ranked 18th before a nine-point home loss to Lipscomb in its only game last week.

Eastern Michigan (4-4) had an 11-2 lead with 13 minutes left in the first half after Paul Jackson rebounded a Fisher miss, leading to Damari Parris' alley-oop pass to Boubacar Toure for a dunk.

Toure had 20 points and 12 rebounds for EMU, while Jackson had 18 points and six assists.

Samuel's dunk on the opening possession was TCU's only points in the first nearly eight minutes of the game. The Frogs missed seven shots in a row until another dunk by Samuel started a go-ahead 17-4 spurt. That was part of the bigger run that turned a nine-point deficit into a 12-point lead before halftime, including the first of Noi's five 3s.

Fisher was limited to 17 games last season before a torn meniscus in his right knee last January, and then the junior point guard needed arthroscopic surgery on that same knee in September.

■ COLLEGE BASKETBALL:

Old school: Experienced Gonzaga, Virginia stand tall early

By AARON BEARD

AP BASKETBALL WRITER

PARADISE ISLAND, Bahamas — Experienced Gonzaga and Virginia sent not-so-subtle reminders not to discount talented, veteran-led teams.

While Duke and its vaunted freshmen class were the talk college basketball for the first two weeks of the season, Gonzaga and Virginia walked away with titles to cap off Thanksgiving holiday tournaments.

The Zags held off the much-ballyhooped Blue Devils to win the Maui Invitational — and replaced them as the No. 1 team in the country on Monday — in what could have been a preview of a late-March showdown.

At the other end of the spectrum were the fourth-ranked Cavaliers, who beat Wisconsin to win the Battle 4 Atlantis in a low-scoring game featuring teams content to grind it out with defense and clock-melting stretches that limited the number of possessions and magnified any mistake.

Both styles worked. “We said we want to learn something as every team would as they come into this tournament,” Virginia coach Tony Bennett said after Friday's win against the Badgers and preseason Associated Press All-American Ethan Happ.

Experience also showed for No. 5 Nevada and No. 9 Michigan State in winning separate brackets at the Las Vegas Invitational, with both being led by upperclassmen (Wolf Pack fifth-year senior Caleb Martin and Spartans junior Cassius Winston) who earned MVP honors. And in Michigan State's case, that title came by maintaining poise well enough to rally from 19 down against No. 17 Texas.

Here are some takeaways from those holiday tournaments:

Maui's top trio

Maui had the best field of the week with Duke, Gonzaga and Auburn, so there were plenty of measuring-stick moments among legitimate Final Four contenders.

No team was more impressive than Gonzaga — in any tournament.

The Zags offense created problems for then-No. 1 Duke, with the Blue Devils having a hard time deciphering all their ball screens and motion. Gonzaga will only get stronger when 6-foot-10 junior Killian Tillie returns from preseason ankle surgery in the coming weeks. Tournament MVP Rui Hachimura, a versatile and aggressive 6-8 junior forward, is establishing himself as one of the nation's top players.

But it was Gonzaga's defensive efforts that most impressed coach Mark Few, who said, “We can really build on that.”

Gonzaga's win moved the Zags from third to No. 1, while Duke dropped to No. 3. Auburn, which finished third in Maui, stayed at No. 8.

Dominant hunter

Fourth-ranked Virginia showcased a growing, game-changing presence in 6-7 redshirt sophomore De'Andre Hunter.

Hunter was the Atlantis MVP in the Bahamas after three sometimes-dominant performances. First came a near triple-double against Middle Tennessee. Then he matched a career-high with 23 points and hit a key 3-pointer with about a minute left to help hold off Dayton. He closed with 20 points against No. 22 Wisconsin.

He was the ACC's sixth man of the year last year but suffered a broken wrist that sidelined him for the NCAA Tournament — and the Cavs certainly missed him as they struggled to contain UMBC's guards in that unprecedented 16-vs-1 March upset. As long as he stays healthy, he's a weapon at both ends alongside veterans Kyle Guy and Ty Jerome, not to mention Virginia's best NBA prospect by far.

“You look at the length and the dimensions, and some of those nice plays he makes offensively,” Bennett said. “But I get equally excited about what he's doing defensively, spreading out and being able to guard sometimes a 4, sometimes a perimeter guy. And his alertness took a step in the right direction.”

- Name of stock.
  - Ticker Symbol company trades under.
  - Dividend: A distribution of the company's earnings to shareholders, usually consisting of stock dividends, interest on bonds, or short-term capital gains on the sale of securities usually paid quarterly in the form of cash or stock.
  - Div. Yield: The dividend divided by the stock price. It helps gauge how well the stock is paying, compared to other investments such as CDs, bonds or savings accounts.
  - Price to earnings ratio: The price of a stock divided by its earnings per share. PEs are used to gauge the relative worth of a company's stock. When compared to other companies in the same industry, the companies with the lowest PEs are generally earning higher profits.
  - Range of closing prices in last year.
  - Sales in thousands (10 = 10,000 shares), and closing price.
  - Last trading price of the day.
  - Percent change for the year.
- ▲ Arrows, indicate new highs or lows.
Underline: indicates top 100 stocks by volume rank.
Bold stocks, designates which stocks have gone up or down 5%.

How to Read the Mutual Fund Tables

Here are the 4,300 biggest mutual funds listed on Nasdaq. Tables show the fund name, sell price or net asset value (NAV), daily net change and weekly net change. Underlining highlights the funds ranked in the top 20% in each of the last 5 years:
Name: Name of mutual fund and family.
Obj: The fund's objective group. Abbreviations listed below.
NAV: Net asset value.
Chg: Net change in price of NAV from previous day.
Rtn: The fund's total return, or percent change in NAV for the time period shown, with Footnotes: e - Ex capital gains distribution. f - Previous day's quotation. n - No front end load or contingent deferred sales load may apply. p - Fund assets are used to pay for distribution costs.
