Nucor will begin hiring in June

By MARC VALERO
STAFF WRITER

AVON PARK — Nucor will begin the hiring process soon for jobs starting in June at its steel rebar plant, which will break ground soon just north of the Polk and Highlands county line.

Human Resources staff member Rebecca “Becky” Benton said the ground breaking will be soon for Nucor’s new $240 million steel mill in Polk County.

“We are even more excited to build long-lasting relationships with our neighbors and the community,” she said. “We are scheduled to attend several job fairs and community events around the surrounding counties to get involved with the community.

The first town hall meeting is scheduled for 5:30-8:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 12 at the Bert J. Harris Jr. Agricultural Center.

From 5:30-6 p.m. will be a meet and greet; from 6-7 p.m. will be presentations from different managers; then there will be a question and answer session, Benton said.

Computers will be setup at the town hall meeting so those interested can apply on Nucor’s career website with a personal profile and upload a resume while they are there, she said.

“We have started our first stage of recruiting to hire the 235 positions we have available,” Benton said. Those positions will start in June 2019.

Three arrested in rooster fighting operation

LAKE PLACID — Most people betting on Super Bowl Sunday are gambling on football. However, there was likely a different type of gambling going on Sunday afternoon at 211 Twilight Drive in the Sun N Lakes subdivision — cockfighting.

Highlands County Sheriff’s Office deputies arrested three people Sunday after authorities broke up a large rooster fighting operation in Lake Placid.

Jose Alvarez, 71, of Arcadia, was arrested and charged with attending an animal fight, a third-degree felony.

Antonio Garcia Garcia, 39, of Lake Placid, the homeowner, faces felony charges of causing cruel death, pain and suffering to an animal; owning/leasing property where animals fight or are used as bait; promoting, advertising, charging a fee to an animal fight/bait; and attending an animal fight/bait — all third-degree felonies.

Giovanni Hernandez, 22, of LaBelle, is charged with attending an animal fight/bait, a felony; and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a misdemeanor.

Sheriff’s deputies and Animal Service deputies were sent to the Twilight Drive address after an anonymous tip on the cockfighting went through Central Dispatch. A press release indicates deputies arrived at the scene and SEBRING — A local WebTV production studio, Thru the Gathering Storm, broadcasts religious programming worldwide and offers a 10-week course in television production for local students.

Earl Hardy developed the concept of building a WebTV production studio to create and upload faith-based programming. The production studio is in Hardy’s home and takes up most of the first floor. His living room is used to film the broadcasts that he and his team create and then upload on YouTube.

Hardy says he was one of the first people to upload videos on the internet. He uploaded his first programs in 2004.

The content is mostly of a religious nature and focuses on biblical prophecy. Broadcasts also feature conservative political news, guest musicians and business programming based on biblical principles.

Chaplain R.T. Byrum is the presenter, and his background is in designing commercial television studios. The local studio offers commercial-quality productions using consumer products, Byrum said.

“The facility consists of multiple cameras, a zoned lighting system in the main studio, video and audio mixers, graphics and teleprompter computers, monitors, editing and multiple studio settings,” Byrum said. The production studio was upgraded to high definition (HD) in 2017.

Viewer statistics for the studio registered more than 1 million views

Chuck McLennan gasses up his motorcycle on Friday. He definitely noticed the change in gas prices last week.

Price of petrol peaking?

By KIM LEATHERMAN
STAFF WRITER

SEBRING — Gas prices have been inching higher in small increments — that was until last week. Gas prices are reaching summer rates.

How high are the prices? As of press time Monday, the average price in Highlands County is $2.291 per gallon as posted by AAA Motor Club. The state average is $2.280 and the national average is $2.256. At least the county is not where it was a year ago; AAA shows $2.619. However, prices have gone up 10 cents since last week and 15 cents from a month ago.

At a time when half the country is snowed in and gas demand should be lower than normal, we would expect to see a drop in the price per barrel. Not so, says AAA. People with cars may have filled up their tanks in preparation for the bad weather or stockpiled a supply for generators ahead of last week’s polar vortex.

AAA spokesman Mark Jenkins said equipment maintenance could be a contributing factor in the increased prices.

“The state average is up eight cents, so far this [past] week. Gas prices are being dragged higher by rising oil prices, and refinery turnaround season,” he said. “Some refineries in the Gulf Coast are conducting what is the equivalent of spring cleaning — where they close down for a short period of time and conduct inspections and repairs on equipment. This can put a crimp on supplies, causing higher prices. Oil finished above $54 (per barrel) yesterday [Thursday, Jan. 31].”

AAA is not hopeful for any relief on the horizon.

“Futures prices have been driven by sanctions against Venezuela,” Jenkins said. “This could easily be the beginning of what will become a season of rising gas prices, which is pretty common in the spring, due to refinery maintenance season and the switch to a more-expensive-to-produce summer blend gasoline.”

“AAA currently forecasts gas prices will peak around $2.75 by Memorial Day weekend,” he said.

Chuck McLennan was filling up his Honda motorcycle Friday when the Highlands News-Sun caught up with him. He said he was glad he gets good mileage on his motorcycle but would drive it either way because he loves riding it. Because he loves riding, he was concerned about the sudden change in the price.

“We go riding about three times a week,” he said. “That was an awful fast jump.”

The AAA has several tips for fuel savings on its website, aaa.com.

“Slow down. The faster

Upcoming career fair seeks to expand careers presented

By MELISSA MAIN

SEBRING — Leadership Highlands will be hosting its second annual Highlands County Career Fair on March 21 in the Highlands News-Sun Center, 781 Magnolia Ave. Last year's event was a huge success, but organizers are planning on offering additional career options for students to explore this year.

In 2018, approximately 2,000 students from Avon Park High School, Sebring High School, Lake Placid High School and Heartland Christian Academy attended the event and learned about the career options available in Highlands County.

Many students have a difficult time deciding what career to choose when they graduate from high school. They know the careers their family members have chosen, but often they do not know the countless opportunities they can pursue. The career fair helps students learn about common and underrepresented careers, such as accountants.

Leadership Highlands has partnered with South Florida State College and The School Board of Highlands County for the event. SFSC will showcase the following programs from the

"We recognize the importance for students to strive to reach their career goals and objectives, but similarly the need for students to realize the vast variety of career paths available," Garret Roberts, who is the event coordinator, said.

"Our goal is to expose students to a variety of different career paths in the hope of inspiring them to both understand the variety of career possibilities, as well as the requirements needed for each career path," Roberts said.

The Highlands County Sheriff's Office attended the career fair last year and will be present again this year to inform students about the variety of careers available in law enforcement.

"Any business who would like to participate, we welcome them," he said. To be included in the career fair, businesses can contact Roberts at garretsroberts@gmail.com.

AP fills finance coordinator and HR positions

AVON PARK — City Manager David Flowers, in his first month on the job, is starting to fill some key positions on the city staff.

At a recent City Council meeting, Flowers said Danielle Phillips has been promoted to finance coordinator/interim city clerk.

Phillips has "stepped up and proven herself responsible and reliable and dependable and she has certainly assisted me a lot and she was very qualified for the finance coordinator position," he said.

Phillips was in charge of accounts receivable and had served a few weeks as part of the three staff-member team as interim city manager prior to Flowers becoming city manager on Jan. 7.

The city will be advertising for a city clerk.

Flowers said Monday that the city's new human resources staff member, Brenda Dane, started last Thursday.

"She has been two days on the job and she is getting the place in order and doing very good," he said.

Most recently Dane was the human resources director at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

The city now has 13 open positions.

"I don't know if all 13 of those we will actually hire because I am looking at streamlining a few things and maybe doing some job combinations," Flowers said. "We are certainly going to be reviewing all this in the very, very near future."

One of Dane's top priorities is getting the positions filled, he said.

Is the city still seeking a director of infrastructure?

"It is on the plate; it needs to be discussed," Flowers replied.

Also, at a recent City Council meeting, Flowers said on the first council meeting of each month he would provide an activity report for the prior month that will include the work orders, pending projects, responses and similar updates instead of providing them every other week.

AVON PARK — A lover's quarrel reportedly ended with a woman striking her boyfriend in the chest with a steak knife.

Zontravia Nakota Brown, 23, of Avon Park, was arrested Sunday by the Highlands County Sheriff's Office. Brown was charged with aggravated battery with a deadly weapon, a second-degree felony. Brown has reportedly been in a romantic relationship with her boyfriend, the victim, for approximately three years. According to the report, she willfully and intentionally struck him with a steak knife, and he had to be transported to Tampa General Hospital for treatment.

Brown claimed the victim had been punching her in the face. However, the Sheriff's deputy noted he did not see any marks, lacerations or swelling indicative of her being beaten in the face. In addition, the testimony of two witnesses did not coincide with Brown's account of the story, the report states.

5 THINGS

That Will Make You

SMARTER

1. A number of cultural groups have been credited with the invention of hair braiding, including Africans, Aztecs and Europeans. It is difficult to assign invention to a particular group or individual because hair braiding is a practice that dates back at least 5,000 years.

2. The braiding of hair was practiced in Africa as far back as 3500 B.C. Hair braiding was practiced on the wigs that royalty wore in ancient Egypt. Braiding was also seen as a social activity among women in Europe. Aztec women often used strips of colored cloth to braid into their hair.

3. The hair was often braided as a way to keep the tresses clean, as people did not bathe as often as they do today.

4. In the 1950s, a French ethnologist and his team found a Stone Age rock painting in the Tassili Plateau of the Sahara. Dating back to 3500 BCE, it showed a woman with cornrows feeding her child from 3500 BCE. And, in a Nigerian clay sculpture from 500 BCE, a figure from the Nok civilization has cornrows etched onto its head.

5. As there are more than 500 Native American tribes in North America, each one had a different relationship to braids and their meanings. Cayuse, Kiowa and Wisconsin tribal women once wore their hair in braids, the former in two long braids, and the Wisconsin women with one braid down their back adorned with ribbons.

Two were caught by deputies, Alvarez and Hernandez. Hernandez had an 11-year-old minor with him. Authorities report the minor was Hernandez's brother.

Deputies reported Hernandez was read his Miranda rights and he agreed to talk to them without a lawyer present. Hernandez denied betting on the roosters, that he brought any to the home, or participated in any way.

Garcia told deputies he was the homeowner and he did not know any of the names of those participating in the cockfighting.

Authorities report those in attendance who fled the scene left behind chairs, ice chests and beer, and dead and injured roosters. Many live roosters were found in cages and crates as well as the equipment associated with rooster fighting, such as razor-sharp metal claws, called gaffs, which are tied to the roosters' legs for cockfighting. The arrest report indicates the scene had "approximately 100 roosters of which that were inside crates," the arresting deputy wrote. "Some of which had cones and spurs that were cut which is indicative of using the roosters for cockfighting as advised by Animal Services, who also responded to the scene." The deputy also reported large amounts of live, injured and dead roosters along the ring. 77 live roosters were found in an assortment of enclosures behind the home, as well as several hens and chicks, authorities said. Many of the roosters had their combs and spurs cut, which is indicative that they were being used for fighting. 11 dead roosters were found around the fighting ring. Animal Services collected all of the live chickens and roosters, a Sheriff's Office press release stated. Many of the fighting roosters were deemed too aggressive to be safely sold at auction and had to be euthanized. The rest were taken to the Animal Services facility, where they will be held pending legal action.

Howes faces more charges for impersonating a cop

By KIM LEATHERMAN
STAFF WRITER

LAKE PLACID — Harrison Alexander Howes, 18, of Lake Placid, was arrested again Friday by the Highlands County Sheriff's Office at Lake Placid High School.

Howes is being charged with felony impersonating a law enforcement officer, obstructing police, unlawful use of blue lights; and felony impersonating a public employee/utility employee. The charges are similar to the ones he was arrested for on Dec. 28, 2018, when arrest reports indicate Howes was impersonating a police officer when he pulled over a 20-year-old driving an all-terrain vehicle.

Howes bonded out of jail on those charges.

The suspect's photo was placed online and in print in a Highlands News-Sun article and the public was asked to call the Sheriff's Office with any more information because authorities believed at the time that Howes may have done this before. Another victim did come forward.

The victim told deputies in a sworn statement on Jan. 25 that she was commuting home from work between Jan. 17-18 on Lake June Road. The victim told deputies she believed she was being pulled over by an undercover police officer because blue lights were activated on the dark SUV.

Once the victim was stopped, the arrest report states Howes got out of his vehicle. The victim told deputies that Howes said, "I'm not on duty, so I'm not going to write you a ticket this time."

Howes allegedly told her she violated the law by following another car too closely and warned her to be more careful driving.

The victim talked to a co-worker about the situation the next day because the victim felt she had seen the person who had pulled her over before. She told a co-worker she thought the person might have been a student at the school where they were both employed. The victim described the person to her co-worker, who said the description fit that of Howes.

It turned out the victim was correct; Howes was a previous student of hers. She did not think it possible for him to be a member of law enforcement due to his age, so she contacted authorities after she saw the alert in the media.

Howes had bonded out of the Highlands County Jail as of Monday.

Few apply for Hope Scholarships for bullied students

By MARC VALERO
STAFF WRITER

SEBRING — The Hope Scholarship program, which started this year for students who have been bullied or harassed, has had fewer parents than expected applying for their children to attend a public or private school.

The Hope Scholarship provides two options for students: enrollment in another public school that has capacity or enrollment in an approved private school.

Highlands Assistant Superintendent of Student Support Services Melissa Blackman said the application process for a Hope Scholarship to a private school is through the Florida Department of Education. Parents who want their child to attend another public school in the county would go through the district's waiver office.

Blackman said there have been three Hope Scholarships this school year for transfers within the district. She doesn't have the information on the Hope Scholarships to a private school.

When the Legislature started a state scholarship for students who were bullied in public schools it was expected that up to 7,300 students statewide would apply for money that would allow them to attend private schools or use for transportation to another public school.

But only 66 Hope Scholarships have been awarded statewide so far this school year, with $4 million raised for the program in the first month from car-buyers who chose to direct $105 from state taxes into the scholarship fund. New Education Commissioner Richard Corcoran wants to streamline the "laborious" application process for Hope Scholarships and redirect unused funds into other programs.

Beginning with the 2018-2019 school year, a student enrolled in a Florida public school in kindergarten through grade 12 who has been subjected to an incident of battery; harassment; hazing; bullying; kidnapping; physical attack; robbery; sexual offenses, harassment, assault, or battery; threat or intimidation; or fighting at school have the opportunity to transfer to another public school with capacity or enroll in an approved private school under the Hope Scholarship.

ORLANDO — A screaming peacock awoke Jim Bronzo early Monday to flames that devoured his home and 41 animals at the Second Chance Wildlife Sanctuary in east Orange County.

"I looked out the window and saw the orange flames. ... I had no clothes on. I had no phone," he said. "I screamed out, 'Somebody help me! Somebody please help me!'"

Orange County firefighters arrived about 1:30 a.m. as flames swallowed Bronzo's two-story house on Baron Road, a 2.5-acre muddy plot about 19 miles east of downtown Orlando where he cares for 350 animals, including bearded dragons, snakes, llamas, goats, dogs and other orphaned animals.

He also is caretaker for Dalai the llama, a pack animal once owned by comedian Robin Williams. She survived the fire though she escaped the compound after the fire and was running loose Monday.

A small raccoon named Camille who often sleeps on Bronzo's bed with four dogs also was feared lost in the blaze but was found about eight hours later, fur singed but safe.

About a week ago, Bronzo appeared at an Orange County Commission meeting to complain about a neighbor who shoots guns a lot. Bronzo blames the noise for spooking the llamas, which jump a fence and roam the roadside.

Deputies cited Bronzo last month for the llamas on the lam.

The neighbor, Brian Ramphal, allowed firefighters Monday to fight the sanctuary blaze from his property.

"We feel terrible," said Ramphal, whose wife, Sherry Saran, called 911. She said they were awakened by their own barking dogs.

"We just heard the explosion next door," she told a dispatcher in a recorded call. "Hurry up. I think it's going to be really bad. ... Hurry, hurry!"

Arriving first-responders were concerned that heavy fire engines might sink and get stuck in the refuge's muddy grounds so they accepted the offer to stage the firefighting effort on Ramphal's property.

Flames destroyed the home before it was snuffed out. No humans were hurt.

The Florida Bureau of Fire and Arson Investigations was trying to determine where and how the fire started.

Jennifer Foster, a friend of Bronzo, was among dozens of animal-rescue volunteers who showed up at the wildlife refuge shortly after sunrise to offer help.

"He's got a lot of friends, he'll be OK," said Foster, holding a carrier with a now-homeless guinea pig. "But he's going to need a lot of help."

Friends created a GoFundMe page Monday for Bronzo, setting the goal at $200,000 to rebuild his house and the sanctuary.

It read: "Jim Bronzo has dedicated his life to saving animals. All animals, including those no one else will take ... llamas, peacocks, pigs and so many more. Early this morning it was those very peacocks Jim saved that saved him ... He is blessed to have gotten out alive while trying to save his dogs and cats. Dozens of animals perished. The entire structure is gone. Jim was unable to have insurance on the contents of the property and it is a total loss. 38+ years, his life's work. Please help him and our community rebuild this amazing, nurturing and safe sanctuary!"

Sanctuary volunteers were stunned by what they saw as the sun rose.

"When I came this morning, I didn't see a house," said Josh Howe, who helps out at the refuge three days a week.

Laura Johnson of Florida Little Dog Rescue slogged through mud at the sanctuary to help Howe and Foster move guinea pigs and turtles into transport carriers.

"We've worked with Jim for years," she said as a Muscovy duck pecked at her leg. "We're going to help him out with the guinea pigs and turtles ... for as long as he needs us."

Volunteers and animal lovers, including Orlando City Commissioner Patty Sheehan, rounded up the loose llamas, herding them back into the sanctuary.

Bronzo works as a nuisance wildlife trapper and established his sanctuary in 1985 as an alternative to euthanizing the animals he was called to remove.

Wildlife advocate Katrina Shadix, who narrowly lost an election in November for Seminole County commissioner to Jay Zembower, posted a Facebook message urging people to help Bronzo by donating to the wildlife sanctuary.

"Jim has dedicated his life to saving animals and he almost lost his life last night (Sunday night)," she said on the social media site. "I met and knew the animals who perished in the fire. ... This is horrible."

Among Bronzo's most pressing needs are a cellphone, hay and food for the surviving animals along with a backhoe to clear away the fire debris and bury the dead animals.

OUR VIEW

February honors Black History Month

February is Black History Month, and while we understand the need to educate people and bring attention to important issues or worthy causes, we worry that there are so many “awareness” months that the real information and need for action get lost in the noise.

Until recently, most of recorded American history ignored the contributions and tribulations of our fellow citizens who happen to be black. To create a special time devoted to fill that gap served a good purpose.

Black History Month has become a pro-forma event, with the same old stories trundled out, about the same small group of individuals. The glowing, feel-good tales of athletes, artists, scientists and statesmen, are useful as examples for younger students, but lack academic rigor or moral courage and fail to challenge pre-conceived ideas.

Too many school districts do not weave the black experience into American history on a daily basis, most likely because there is this special month. It makes ignoring the tough issues easier the rest of the year.

Where are the deeper discussions, for example? The examination of past choices regarding race in America — like the fact that Highlands County didn't begin to integrate its schools until 1969, and took several years to finish the process?

We hope we have evolved as a society to the point where American history can be taught holistically — weaving all the various threads into the tapestry that is our nation.

We need to understand why slavery, which betrayed our bedrock values right from the beginning, was allowed to stand and took so long to overcome. We need to study why George Washington ultimately freed his slaves, and Thomas Jefferson did not.

We need to study the warped logic that allowed a constitutional amendment claiming a slave was only 3/5th of a man.

We need to learn about the kind of hatred that led to lynchings — just as we need to learn about the hate that excluded Jews from much of society, or why German, Irish and Italian immigrants, just to name three examples, were so vilified when they first arrived.

In a world where events across the world do have a direct impact on us, we need to understand how the nations of the world relate to each other, as well as the historical background that created those complicated relationships.

All of us, for example, need to learn there are 47 countries in sub-Saharan Africa, 50 nations in Europe, 12 in South America and 32 in Asia — and no two are identical.

In other words, we need to learn more about our shared pasts and the world we live in than can be taught in any one month.

Just as Christians should think of Christ every day, not just at Christmas or Easter, we need to be thinking every day about how we've gotten to where we are. It is the only way we can find our way into the future.

How do you Like your political coffee?

Finding real riches

I have always found the lottery to be quite the interesting phenomenon. For the record, I do not speak from experience because I've never paid even a single dollar for a ticket. Also, for the record, I do not hold anything against those who do, it's simply something that doesn't make sense to me. In any event, let's continue.

I was doing a little research on some of the odds. Admittedly, I would be in big trouble if I was asked to name the lottery games or to explain how they work. However, I used to be a high school math teacher and have some idea about odds. Did you know the odds of matching all five numbers, plus the Powerball is 1 in 292,201,338. The odds of matching all five numbers without the Powerball is 1 in 11,688,053. Gosh, that's much better.

I was in a convenience store today and saw this on the lotto machine, “Find real riches.” Hey, now that's pretty cool! I know they sell all kinds of things at a convenience store but I didn't know I could find real riches there, too. But, how much will these real riches cost? According to one website, the average American spends about $223.04 per year on lottery tickets.

NEVER A DULL MOMENT

When you think of real riches, you think of things that last, that are timeless. True riches satisfy your deepest yearnings. According to the sign on the lotto machine, I could find real riches if I only I could win the lotto. Don't you find it interesting that, according to the National Endowment for Financial Education, “... about 70 percent of people who win a lottery or get a big windfall actually end up broke in a few years?” Isn't that mind-boggling?

The theory goes that when an ordinary person wins the lotto, that ordinary person suddenly becomes extraordinary. They are “euphoric. They lose all sense of reality. They think they're invincible and powerful.” Did you know that a full 70% of lottery winners go through their lottery winnings within a relatively quick period of time? Mostly, it ends up in the hands of family and friends because lottery winners tend to give too much of it away. This according to Steve Lewit, CEO of Wealth Financial Group in Chicago.

I have just one more observation. It seems to me that many who “play” the lottery are those who can least afford it. According to a survey by Bankrate, I might be right. The survey shows that “28 percent of Americans who earn less than $30,000 a year play the lottery at least once a week. They spend $412 a year on tickets.” Compare that with households “with incomes of $75,000 and above spent $105 a year on lottery tickets, a quarter of what low-income homes spent.” After all, an individual stands a better chance of getting struck by an asteroid or killed by a shark than of winning the mammoth Powerball and Mega Millions jackpot.”

So, what is the point of all this? It's certainly not to cast aspersions on those who play the lottery. In fact, as a public school teacher, I'm thankful to a certain extent because, theoretically, education is supposed to benefit from it. I think what really strikes me is that as a human race we have this unquenchable thirst for true riches and no matter how hard we try, financial riches cannot quench that thirst.

New gun law suggested

I totally support the right to bear arms. Congress should pass a law that states if you carry a gun while committing a crime, then you will be sentenced to life in prison with no parole. This law would apply even if you not take the gun out.

I am not asking anyone to surrender their guns. I do think that such a law may make some think that the rewards of crime is worth never being free again.

Shine a light on the many ways

Each February, people all across the United States join together in remembering the full and diverse history of African-Americans as we acclaim Black History Month. The triumphs and accomplishments of African-Americans touch every community and are found in every field of endeavor, including science, technology, education, literature, health, entertainment, and social work. Black History Month is a time to reflect and reminisce upon the sacrifices and hard work of those individuals who helped advocate for and build a better and more tolerant life, both present and future, for all of us.

As we acknowledge the many African-American men and women who have helped the United States grow culturally, countless civil rights pioneers in Florida have been equally as important and should be revered as agents of change here at home.

Since 2012, the Florida Civil Rights Hall of Fame, administered by the Florida Commission on Human Relations, has honored Floridians who made great sacrifices and helped foster equality for all in our state. Pioneering educator Mary McLeod Bethune, civil rights leaders C.K.

Steele and Harry T. and Harriette Moore, are among the many who have been recognized for their unyielding commitment to equality, diversity and human dignity.

Last year, Governor Rick Scott selected a new class of inductees for the 2017 Hall of Fame: Dr. Marvin Davies, John Dorsey Due and Dr. Rev. Willie Oliver Wells. Each of whom were chosen for their commitment to advocating for equality and justice throughout Florida, and for making a great impact on the civil rights movement here in our state.

Today, African-Americans continue to honor those who have gone before them, as they celebrate their accomplishments and build upon the legacy left behind. Black History Month gives all of us the opportunity to recognize and shine a light on the many ways African-Americans have enriched Florida's communities, culture and history. I hope your readers will take time this month to acknowledge the many accomplishments these noted men and women made for our state and our country.

What is the purpose of Netflix showing interviews of serial killer Ted Bundy. This to me is a really poor error in judgment when we have this horrible killing in Sebring?

Will the press be giving Zephen Xaver the same in a few years? This is glorifying the acts of these heinous monsters? Do you think that maybe this could be encouraging people with these urges to commit heinous crimes just to become famous?

The State of the Union: Petrified

WASHINGTON — One should never feel sorry for anyone working in President Trump's White House. They volunteered for this dreadful and chaotic administration. But it's hard to envy those tasked with writing drafts of his State of the Union address.

Trump is an incumbent who behaves as if he is in the opposition. He relishes bemoaning the terrible things happening to the country on his watch — after two years of unified Republican government.

At the same time, it's hard to recall a president more boastful about how great he is and how he has accomplished more than anyone who has ever held his job, which presumably includes Washington, Lincoln and FDR.

Trump is so in love with bragging that he even touts events that are anything but achievements.

On Jan. 4, 2018, Trump proudly tweeted: "Dow just crashes through 25,000. Congrats!"

He recycled the same thought last Wednesday: "Dow just broke 25,000. Tremendous news!" Think about it: Taken together, the news from the two tweets is that the stock market has been flat for a year, hardly joyous tidings for investors.

But recall that Trump told us years ago in "The Art of the Deal" that he engages in "truthful hyperbole," which can "play to people's fantasies." The problem is that we never know for certain if the fantasist himself believes the tales he is spinning.

The latest fantasy, described over the weekend to journalists by Trump aides, is that his speech tonight will be a unifying, bi-partisan call to end

GUEST COLUMN
E. J. Dionne

old divisions and heal old wounds.

Good luck with that, especially since his aides say he'll also focus a large part of his speech on immigration.

Will he be able to stay away from his staple references to "criminal aliens," "drug dealers," and those coyotes he loves to summon?

And how credible can calls for bi-partisanship be from a man who predicted on Thursday that House Speaker Nancy Pelosi might some day "be begging for a wall"?

What we can be sure of is self-congratulation over Friday's report that the economy added 304,000 jobs last month. Trump may talk about all the regulations he has scrapped (though probably not with a lot of specifics, since most voters don't cotton to dirtier air or water, or less policing of shady banking practices). He might mention his corporate tax cut, even if it's unpopular and has fallen far short of the promises made on its behalf.

But Trump can never get too upbeat, because he decided long ago that his political health depends upon inciting anxiety and anger as well as hostility toward (non-white) outsiders. This requires him to conjure a dystopian world because what he fears most is a world in which fear is abating.

There was one truly unforgettable line in his inaugural address: "This American carnage stops right here and stops right now." But the carnage can never end since Trump must argue that he and his wall are all that stand between us and chaos, duct tape, gangs and coyotes.

This isn't working. Even members of that base he's obsessed with expect the president they voted for to solve problems and not simply exploit them. That's why his core support is shrinking. The survey number that should trouble Trump most is a recent Washington Post/ABC News poll finding that only 28 percent of Americans said they would definitely vote for him in 2020. Maybe that's why Trump's lieutenants insist he'll try something different this week.

The Democrats' choice of Stacey Abrams to respond to Trump will highlight his dilemma.

Selecting the party's 2018 Georgia gubernatorial nominee certainly underscores the party's diversity and the importance of African American women in its coalition, as the Post's Eugene Scott noted. But as important is the fact that she describes herself with two words often miscast these days as polar opposites: "progressive" and "pragmatic." She's also an optimist who believes that "the further ahead we get, the harder it is to drag us back."

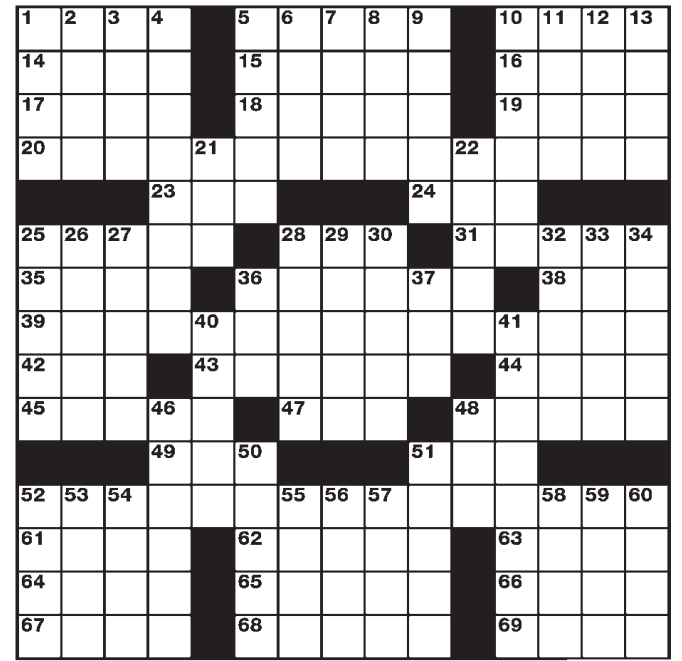

The largest contrast tonight will thus not be the obvious disparity in the backgrounds of two speakers, but in their spirit: Hope vs. Carnage. No matter how hard his speechwriters work to make him buoyant and collegial, Trump needs to depict a country facing a petrifying crisis. It's the only way can justify what he does.

Sports leagues want piece of betting

Sports betting is a legal and booming business

By WAYNE PARRY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — America's major professional sports leagues are split on how to get a piece of the action from legal sports betting after failing to get early adopting states to cut them in.

But they are back in the game this year with several state legislatures considering granting them fees from sports bets.

The National Football League, Major League Baseball, National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League uniformly fought to stop the spread of sports gambling for years, but retrenched in their positions after a key loss — a U.S. Supreme Court ruling last year that granted New Jersey and other states the option to allow wagering.

That shift from the courts to statehouses, Congress and the open market has revealed divisions among the leagues in how to approach the inevitability of expanded legal betting.

Some are lobbying individual states to include a 0.25 percent cut of all sports bets placed in their states. Others are concentrating on making free-market deals with individual gambling companies. Some are doing both those things and others say they don't want or need payments from sportsbooks.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled last May that all states are free to legalize sports betting. Eight states currently accept bets with many more expected to follow

SPECIAL TO HIGHLANDS NEWS-SUN

Teammate. Gary Tankersley is just that.

Around 2007, fellow teammate Richard Card collapsed on the softball diamond in Lake Placid. Tankersley, a former captain in the Detroit fire department, came to the rescue and with his knowledge of CPR, revived Mr. Card.

Card was taken to the hospital for treatment and today, thanks to Tankersley, walks the streets of Lake Placid.

Tankersley retired from the fire department and tried ranching in Missouri, but the cold weather led him to sunny Florida. Tankersley and his lovely wife Patricia moved to Sebring in 2004 and today he plays senior softball four days a week.

The scores from the games on Jan. 29 had Alan-Jay over Buttonwood Bay 22-13. Alan-Jay (5-1) had a big day from Bill Destefano, John Miller and Charly Quinn who had four hits each. Jerry Barber had a grand-slam homer and Rudy Pribble earned the win on the mound.

Buttonwood Bay (1-5) was led by 90-year-old Jack Grasso and Tony Caristo (double), both with four hits. Fred Boyd and Fred Richardson added three hits each and Dave Pohlman had a key double in the losing cause.

On the other diamond in a battle of the service teams VFW 4300 upended short-handed Am-Vets Post 21 by a score of 26-4.

VFW (5-1) had a huge hitting day from Chester Johnson (2 doubles and a triple) and Norm Grubbs who both had four hits. Don Lariviere had a long home run (first of year) last year he led the team with 12 round trippers.

Jerry Kaufman (double and triple) Frank Lantz (double) and Chuck Detore all had three hits. Lee Sonnenberg had a big triple and John Kloet was the winning pitcher.

Am-Vets Post 21 Les Osbeck had three hits, Brian Pluta, Ken Elston and JC Brown added two hits apiece.

Thursday's games were played in chilly weather and Alan-Jay (6-1) moved into first place by half a game with a win over Am-Vets by a score of 19-14.

Saturday turned out to be a beautiful day for golf with comfy temperatures and bright sunshine as the Heartland Senior Games began with golf.

The 80 golfers who played in the Heartland Senior Games golf tournament were very pleased with the condition of the Sebring Golf Club Course and look forward to returning there for the 2020 tourney.

Some great scores were carded and some fun times were had on the course. It's always special to see the talent of the oldest golfers. Shirlee Spurlin took gold in the women's 85-89 bracket with a score of 104. She was disappointed that more women her age didn't take up the challenge to compete.

In men's play in the 85-89 group, the medal winners all had scores as good as or better than their age with Max Gnagy, a perennial champ, placing first with a 79. He was followed by Pat Bentz with 84 and Rex Smolek with an 85.

suit — some soon, others in future years. None of the laws passed in 2018 gave leagues what they'd hoped for.

But at least six states have included fees for the leagues in sports betting bills they are considering this year, with more bills expected.

The NBA, MLB and golf's PGA Tour began lobbying individual states for direct payments, an idea widely known among legislators and lobbyists as an "integrity fee" but that the leagues prefer to call a royalty. The leagues say they deserve to be reimbursed for costs to make sure their games are free from scandal and manipulation.

Those costs include hiring additional people to monitor games and betting activity, training players, referees and other league employees on integrity measures, developing special software and hiring outside consultants, said Dan Spillane, an NBA senior vice president. But neither of those leagues would quantify exactly how much integrity measures are costing them or how much is new spending, given that illegal sports betting has been popular in America for a long time and other countries offer legal wagering on their games.

Seeley said gambling companies need to partner with leagues so both sides have incentives to grow appeal and profitability, he said.

"I can't think of another industry where a class of people is able to make hundreds of millions of dollars off someone else's product, put risk on that party, and pay them nothing," Seeley said. "Some of the revenue that's going to be made by the gambling companies needs to be shared."

The NFL — even with the most popular betting sport in the United States — says it never sought such payments.

"Rather, we are focused on game integrity and consumer protection," NFL spokesman Brian McCarthy said.

The National Hockey League has put most of its energy into reaching direct deals with gambling companies, including gambling giant MGM Resorts International, one of a flurry of deals the leagues made last year. These pacts have included sportsbooks licensing official league data as well as using league and team logos in marketing and advertising.

"Instead of seeking legislation at the federal level or even at the state level, our approach has been to work directly with the industry," NHL Commissioner Gary Bettman said.

MLB and the NBA say they are pursuing state-by-state fees and deals with private companies as parallel but independent efforts. David Schwartz, director of the Center for Gaming Research at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, sees that as "an adjustment by the leagues to the political reality of the situation."

"I imagine that as the market grows, they will seek various ways to monetize public interest in sports betting, perhaps even some they haven't thought of yet," Schwartz said.

At least five states considered royalties to leagues last year before deciding against paying them. The leagues think they'll do better this year with more lobbying. So far this year, Missouri, New York, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and Massachusetts have introduced bills providing fees of between 0.2 percent and 1 percent for the leagues.

In the men's 65-69 category, George Dumas of River Greens shot a 75 to beat out challengers from Lake Wales, Wayne Colledge also with 75 and Bob Nebel who shot 79.

Buttonwood Bay's golfers showed their stuff by taking three gold medals. Pam Moore won the ladies' 60-64 group with a 91. Dick Patterson topped the leader board among the 70-74 year old men while George Huntington did the same in the 75-79 age group. Each carded a great score of 80. Steve Vance of Wauchula had to settle for a silver medal, despite tying Patterson for the lead with an 80 in their division.

Nancy Chaffee from Avon Park had the lowest score for the day among women of all ages. Playing in the 75-79 group she shot an 80. Other good rounds were posted by Kris Allison of Whisper Lake with an 86 and Judy Granger from Sun n Lake with 88. Dee St. Onge and Ann Kelly from River Greens and Jan Thieme and Carol Ann Armstrong all finished the day with scores of 89.

The men's 80-84 group saw Jack Woodall of Brookside Bluffs in Zolfo Springs take top honors with a 78 followed closely by Gene Josey of Sun n Lake and JohnnyMac McEachren from Lake Placid, both at 83.

Other low scores posted by men included David Reasoner from Thunderbird Manor with an 81 and Bill Ellison from the Bluffs of Sebring, also with an 81. George Berringer of Thunderbird Hills carded an 82 and Jerry Mclain from Golf Hammock finished the day with an 83.

All golfers finishing in the top five in their age/gender category have earned the right to compete in the Florida Senior Games to be held in December.

It's a busy week in the Heartland Senior Games with euchre today, shuffleboard on Wednesday, table tennis Thursday, horseshoes Friday then two days of pickleball on the weekend.

Yard sales an interesting experience

Something that is interesting about working in a restaurant is that I get to meet people who are doing all kinds of different things with their lives. One of which is my friend Key.

Key has decided to downscale her life, and one of the first steps she has taken has been to get rid of some of her possessions. She has done this by having a yard sale.

I am only familiar with yard sales as a memory from my childhood when I would go with my grandparents. For this reason, I thought it would be interesting to find out what kind of experience my friend Key had in having her own yard sale.

My first priority was to see if Key had any prior experience with yard sales, just to try and anticipate what kind of know how she might have. Key said "This was my first time doing one as an adult. I've always helped my grandmother with hers once a year but I decided this year to give it a shot and I'll definitely do it again!"

I also wondered if Key had any difficulties she had not expected throughout the process. She said "Honest there were some difficulties because people are so cheap. Who would've thought that getting rid of nice things was difficult."

To me it sounds like she might not have made as much profit as she wanted, a feeling many in Highlands County are probably familiar with due to the fact that many who live here have had a yard sale at some point in time.

Since it seemed like Key had some experience I thought it might be good to ask for tips for other who are considering having their own yard sale. She said "don't budge on prices just because you 'want to get rid of it' or think that it's 'the earlier the better.'"

I think it is also a good idea to try and have a clear picture of what you might be willing to negotiate on. Maybe some items are not as worth fighting over as others? Perhaps moderation is even the... Key.

And finally I thought it would be nice to ask a sort of open ended question by asking what her best and worst experiences with the who ordeal were. Best part of the yard sale was when a guy earlier in the day bought two lamps I had for sale as well as other things, to put in his home.

He came back later on that day and said "I don't want my money back but all I've gotta say is my wife hates all of this!" So I said "I'm taking it because because you're ungrateful." That by far was the best."

She continued by saying "The worst was when a guy held up my 108$ Lilly Pulitzer dress and wanted it for $1."

What a disappointment. However, it's good to know that didn't keep her from having a positive outlook throughout the experience.

Dealing with dry skin

By MAYO CLINIC

Dry skin is often a temporary or seasonal problem — one that you experience only in winter or summer, for example — but the problem may remain a lifelong concern.

Although your skin is often driest on your hands, arms, lower legs and sides of your abdomen, the locations where these dry patches form can vary considerably from one person to the next.

Signs and symptoms of the condition will depend on your age, health status, living environment, the amount of time you spend out doors and the specific cause of your problem. With dry skin, you may have one or more of the following:

- Sensation of skin tightness, especially after showering, bathing or swimming.
- Skin that appears shrunken or dehydrated
- Skin that feels and looks rough rather than smooth
- Itching that sometimes may

There are ways to help deal with dry skin, which may be a seasonal problem, but can also affect you throughout life.

be intense

- Slight to severe flaking, scaling or peeling skin
- Fine lines or cracks in the skin
- Redness

Dry skin (xerosis) often has an environmental cause. Certain diseases also can significantly affect your skin.

Potential causes of dry skin include:

- Heat. Central heating, wood-burning stoves, space heaters and fireplaces all reduce humidity and dry your skin.

Hot baths and showers. Taking long, hot showers or baths can dry your skin. So can frequent swimming, particularly in heavily chlorinated pools.

Harsh soaps and detergents. Many popular soaps, detergents and shampoos strip moisture from your skin as they are formulated to remove oil.

Other skin conditions. People with skin conditions such as atopic dermatitis (eczema) or psoriasis are prone to dry skin.

These steps can help keep your skin moist and healthy:

- Moisturize. Moisturizers provide a seal over your skin to keep water from escaping. Apply moisturizer several times a day and after bathing. Thicker moisturizers work best, such as over-the-counter brands Eucerin and Cetaphil. You may also want to use cosmetics that contain moisturizers. If your

Alice Rebec — the Trash Lady

By DOROTHY HARRIS
CORRESPONDENT

When Alice Rebec moved to Sebring from Marco Island in 1991, she probably hadn't planned on becoming the "Trash Lady of Hammock Road." Now living in the Golf Hammock community, every single day for the past 14 years Rebec has gleaned the roadsides of garbage. Prior to this she cleaned the sides of County Road 635 while living at the Country Club of Sebring.

Each morning around sunrise, this spry senior climbs aboard her bicycle and pedals out to Hammock Road. From the entrance of Highlands Hammock State Park to U.S.

DOROTHY HARRIS/CORRESPONDENT

Up with the sun, Alice Rebec is a familiar sight along Hammock Road each morning as she cleans up what others have left behind.

Highway 27 near Lake Jackson, she ensures what has been left behind gets cleaned up.

"There is so much trash I basically fill the cans on the multi-use path along

Alice Rebec knows things don't happen until someone puts some effort towards it and she encourages others to get involved in their community.

Hammock Road," said Rebec. Giving a shout out to Highlands County staffers, she added, "They are so good to empty these for me as soon as I call them." They also spring into action to repair any she reports are broken.

Once she discovered a trailer ramp. Another time it was a motorboat cover. Rebec keeps an eye out as she drives the roadway, returning in the morning to clean up items she has seen. "If something is too big for me to handle, I make a note of where it was and then let them know so they can pick it up for me." What could be too large, carelessly tossed aside this lane of travel? Rebec has discovered eight foot pieces of lumber and full size mattresses. "I just call and they come right out to get it."

When asked about the craziest thing she's ever discovered, she thinks a moment and answers, "a pair of Speedos." There was an old hand tool and rolls of carpet, more beer cans and bottles than she cares to mention and just once, a hundred dollar bill.

"Jack Daniels is a favorite of someone," she mused. "Then there's clothes, shoes, pillows, tires, construction material, oh and a sofa." How a piece of furniture winds up on the side of the road makes one wonder, as does the full bags of trash she sometimes finds. Perhaps litter bugs don't know trash pickup is already paid for and the county will happily remove large items by request? Rebec is amazed at the endless supply in spite of this provided service.

American Heart Association 'Goes Red For Women'

By AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION

While nearly 80 percent of cardiac events can be prevented through education and lifestyle changes, anyone can be affected by cardiovascular diseases — at any age. In fact, heart disease remains the No. 1 killer of women, taking more lives than all forms of cancer combined. This February — American Heart Month — the American Heart Association, the leading voluntary health organization devoted to a world of longer, healthier lives and its Go Red for Women movement, nationally sponsored by CVS Health, is calling on women, and those they love, to support its efforts to improve the overall health of all women.

"The Go Red for Women movement empowers women to stand up against their greatest health threat, heart disease, which claims the lives of one in three women — a third of our mothers, sisters and friends," said American Heart Association CEO Nancy Brown. "This year, we celebrate 15 years of Go Red and encourage our volunteers, supporters and staff nationwide to 'wear red and give' to raise awareness, inspire action and make our lifesaving work possible."

Some risk factors for cardiovascular diseases like age, race, gender and family history can't be controlled, but others like high blood pressure, lack of regular physical activity and diabetes can be treated or managed.

To prevent and beat heart disease and stroke, women should know their family health history and their five key personal health numbers: total cholesterol, HDL (good) cholesterol, blood pressure, blood sugar and body mass index. This allows women to determine personal risks and helps motivate them to take small steps toward lifestyle changes. Women are encouraged to make a Go Red Healthy Behavior Commitment to move more, eat smart and manage blood pressure.

Does screen time contribute to slower child development?

By MAYO CLINIC

A recent study of more than 2,400 children linked high levels of screen time with delayed development. Researchers say what's new is that the focus was on children ages 2-5.

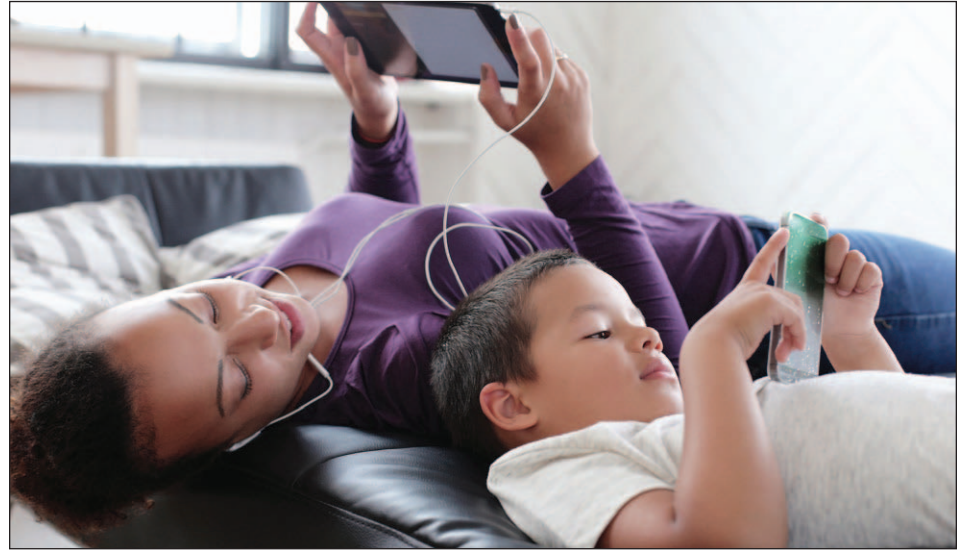

The use of electronic devices on brain development in children is an ongoing discussion among medical experts, parents, teachers and caregivers. Below is a response from Dr. Angela Mattke, a Mayo Clinic Children's Center pediatrician, regarding the study and the broader conversation.

High levels of screen time in young children have been associated with sleep disturbances, obesity, behavioral problems and developmental delays. Previous research has found associations with excessive TV watching in young children and delays in social emotional, language and cognitive delays. Although this study has limitations, its findings add to this growing body of research about the effects of media on children's health and development. The study should be used as a springboard to continue discussing with families.

The recommendations from the American Academy of Pediatrics

for children ages 2-5 is that screen media be limited to one hour or less per day. The organization also recommends that programming be considered "high-quality programming." Examples of such programming would be content from the Public Broadcasting Service, Sesame Workshop and Common Sense Media. It also recommends that parents "co-view media with children to help them understand what they are seeing and apply it to the world around them."

If children are spending excessive time consuming digital media, they are missing out on important unstructured free play that is critical for their cognitive and social emotional development and problem solving skills.

Women are nearly twice as likely as men to be diagnosed with depression.

Understanding the depression gender gap

By MAYO CLINIC

Women are nearly twice as likely as men to be diagnosed with depression and it can occur at any age.

Some mood changes and depressed feelings occur with normal hormonal changes, but hormonal changes alone don't cause depression. Other biological factors, inherited traits, and personal life circumstances and experiences are associated with a higher risk of depression. Here's what contributes to depression in women.

Puberty

Hormone changes during puberty may increase some girls' risk of developing depression. However, temporary mood swings related to fluctuating hormones during puberty are normal — these changes alone don't cause depression.

Puberty is often associated with other experiences that can play a role in depression, such as:

- Emerging sexuality and identity issues
- Conflicts with parents
- Increasing pressure to achieve in school, sports or other areas of life

After puberty, depression rates are higher in females than in males. Because girls typically reach puberty before boys do, they're more likely to develop depression at an earlier age than boys are. This depression gender gap lasts until after menopause.

Premenstrual problems

For most females with premenstrual syndrome (PMS), symptoms such as abdominal bloating, breast tenderness, headache, anxiety, irritability and experiencing the blues are minor and short-lived.

But a small number of females have severe and disabling symptoms that disrupt their studies, jobs, relationships or other areas of their lives. At that point, PMS may cross the line into premenstrual dysphoric disorder (PMDD) — a type of depression that generally requires treatment.

The exact interaction between depression and PMS remains unclear. It's possible that cyclical changes in estrogen, progesterone and other hormones can disrupt the function of brain chemicals such as serotonin that control mood. Inherited traits, life experiences and other factors appear to play a role.

Pregnancy

Dramatic hormonal changes occur during pregnancy, and these can affect mood. Other issues also may increase the risk of developing depression during pregnancy or during attempts to become pregnant, such as:

- Lifestyle or work changes or other life stressors
- Relationship problems
- Previous episodes of depression, postpartum depression or PMDD
- Lack of social support
- Unintended or unwanted pregnancy
- Miscarriage
- Infertility
- Stopping use of anti-depressant medications

Postpartum depression

Many new mothers find themselves sad, angry and irritable, and experience crying spells soon after giving birth. These feelings — sometimes called the baby blues — are normal and generally subside within a week or two. But more-serious or long-lasting depressed feelings may indicate postpartum depression, particularly if signs and symptoms include:

- Low self-esteem or feeling like you're a bad mom
- Anxiety or feeling numb
- Trouble sleeping, even when your baby is sleeping
- Problems with daily functioning
- Inability to care for your baby
- Thoughts of harming your baby
- Thoughts of suicide

Postpartum depression is a serious medical condition requiring prompt treatment. It occurs in about 10 to 15 percent of women.

It's thought to be associated with:

- Major hormonal fluctuations that influence mood
- The responsibility of caring for a newborn
- Predisposition to mood and anxiety disorders
- Birth complications
- Breast-feeding problems
- Infant complications or special needs
- Poor social support

skin is extremely dry, you may want to apply an oil, such as baby oil, while your skin is still moist. Oil has more staying power than moisturizers do and prevents the evaporation of water from the surface of your skin. Another possibility is ointments that contain petroleum jelly (Vaseline, Aquaphor). These may feel greasy, so you might want to use them only at night.

- Use warm water and limit bath time. Long showers or baths and hot water remove oils from your skin. Limit your bath or shower to five to 10 minutes and use warm, not hot, water.

- Avoid harsh, drying soaps. It's best to use cleansing creams or gentle skin cleansers and bath or shower gels with added moisturizers. Choose mild soaps that have added oils and fats. Avoid deodorant and antibacterial detergents, fragrance, and alcohol.

- Wear rubber gloves. If you have to immerse your hands in water or are using harsh cleansers, wearing gloves can help protect your skin.

- Apply moisturizers immediately after bathing. Gently pat your skin dry with a towel so that some moisture remains. Immediately moisturize your skin with an oil or cream to help trap water in the surface cells.

- Use a humidifier. Hot, dry, indoor air can parch sensitive skin and worsen itching and flaking. A portable home humidifier or one attached to your furnace adds moisture to the air inside your home. Be sure to keep your humidifier clean to ward off bacteria and fungi.

- Cover as much skin as possible in cold weather. Winter can be especially drying to skin, so be sure to wear a scarf, hat and gloves when you go out.

- Choose fabrics that are kind to your skin. Natural fibers, such as cotton and silk, allow your skin to breathe. But wool, although natural, can irritate even normal skin. Wash your clothes with detergents without dyes or perfumes, both of which can irritate your skin. These products may be labeled as If dry skin causes itching, apply cool compresses to the area. To reduce inflammation, use a nonprescription hydrocortisone cream or ointment, containing at least 1 percent hydrocortisone. If these measures don't relieve your symptoms or if your symptoms worsen, see your doctor or consult a dermatologist.

There are a variety of ways to support women's heart health and the American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement, nationally sponsored by CVS Health and nationally supported by Macy's throughout February:

Go Red with CVS Health

To help women better understand their risk for heart disease, CVS Health is offering no-cost heart-health screenings nationwide every Thursday in February — including Valentine's Day — at MinuteClinic, the company's retail medical clinic.

Patients can visit the 1,100 MinuteClinic locations to receive a heart-health preventive screening at no cost to them on Feb. 7, 14, 21 and 28. MinuteClinic locations in Central Florida are Davenport, Lakeland, Kissimmee.

During the screenings, patients will learn five key personal health numbers that can help them determine their risk for heart disease: total cholesterol, HDL (good) cholesterol, blood pressure, blood sugar and body mass index.

As part of CVS Health's commitment to building healthier communities, the company has made a new three-year $15 million pledge to Go Red for Women. CVS Pharmacy customers can also help in the fight against heart disease and stroke by making a $1, $3 or larger donation at the register at CVS Pharmacy stores nationwide or online at cvshealth.com/GoRed, through Feb. 23.

"Nearly half of American adults are at risk for major health problems due to high blood pressure, including heart disease and stroke, and we know many of our customers and colleagues have been impacted by these conditions," said Lisa Bisaccia, chief human resources officer, CVS Health and national volunteer chair for Go Red for Women. "We are pleased to make heart health screenings more accessible for patients through MinuteClinic, which is a simple, local and affordable community resource to get your heart health numbers and manage your family's health all year long."

Go Red with Macy's

In honor of American Heart Month:

Macy's customers will have the opportunity to round up their in-store purchase to the nearest dollar (up to $.99) and donate their change to Go Red for Women, through Feb. 28. Funds will be used to support education, resources and tools for women to improve their health and well-being through physical activity.

10 percent of the purchase price of a limited-edition Calvin Klein red dress ($119), available in select stores and at macys.com/GoRed, will benefit Go Red for Women throughout February.

About Go Red for Women

The American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement is the trusted, passionate, relevant force for change to end heart disease and stroke in women all over the world. While nearly 80 percent of cardiac events can be prevented, cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of death in women, claiming the lives of 1 in 3 women. For 15 years, Go Red for Women has provided a platform for women to come together, raise awareness, fund lifesaving research, advocate for change and improve the lives of all women everywhere. The American Heart Association's Go Red for Women movement is nationally sponsored by CVS Health, with additional support from national cause supporters. # Computer-based guide aims to help families with life-and-death treatment decisions

Tool fails to ease anxiety for families of life-support patients

By DUKE HEALTH

DURHAM, N.C. — Every year, the families of more than 400,000 patients on prolonged life support in intensive care units across the U.S. face weighty decisions about their loved one's recovery and whether to end life-sustaining care.

The patients can't speak for themselves and often haven't made their end-of-life wishes known, leaving these heavy choices to families.

Using a computer-based guide to personalize these decisions can help families feel less conflicted, according to research led by Duke and published in the Annals of Internal Medicine.

However, the treatment guide — a tool commonly called a “decision aid” in health care — did not ease symptoms of depression, anxiety or post-traumatic stress for the decision-makers as they oversaw their loved one's care, researchers found. The randomized clinical trial included 416 decision-makers for 277 patients who had been on life support at least 10 days.

“In some outpatient situations, decision aids can help people make better-quality decisions,” said Christopher E. Cox, M.D., the study's lead author and an ICU doctor at Duke. “Therefore, there has been a hope that decision aids could revolutionize complex and expensive hospital-based health care by improving communication with clinicians, shortening the length of the hospital stay and reducing symptoms of distress that are common among those who have to make serious decisions on behalf of a loved one.”

These benefits have been observed for non-critical patients who have used decision aids to decide whether to have surgery or how best to screen for certain conditions, Cox said. But little research has been done in a critical care setting, he said.

In the ICU, surrogate decision-makers must consider the patient's values, spiritual beliefs, and often life-and-death scenarios, such as whether the patient would prefer to focus on comfort as opposed to continuing aggressive treatment, with the high likelihood of diminished cognitive ability or independence.

Going through the roughly 30-minute guided computer program did not appear to change whether the decision-maker advocated for aggressive medical care or appeared to favor comfort, or palliative, care, the researchers found.

There was also no difference in outcomes between patients whose caregivers used the guide and those in a control group who didn't use it; hospitalization length and death rates were similar between both groups.

Researchers were surprised to see a division between the guide's recommendations and the family's choices. Family caregivers answered questions about the patient's values, then the guide made treatment recommendations based on that information. Yet more than half of the family caregivers disregarded the guide's recommendations in favor of more aggressive treatment.

The research suggests families with loved ones on life support might need more or different resources to weigh the risks, benefits and costs associated with the patient's care, and how to best represent the wishes of patients unable to speak for themselves.

“We're going to have to rethink this approach for acute care, which is where a majority of health care expenditures occur,” said Cox, who collaborated with faculty from the University of Pittsburgh, the University of Washington, the University of Colorado and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

“The hospital is one of the hardest places to make these decisions, so perhaps we need an approach that adds more emotional support or a structured role for clinicians to play while family members complete the decision aid,” Cox said.

In addition to Cox, study authors include Douglas B. White, Catherine L. Hough, Derek M. Jones, Jeremy M. Kahn, Maren K. Olsen, Carmen L. Lewis, Laura C. Hanson and Shannon S. Carson.

The research was supported by the National Institutes of Health.

Scholarships support women in leadership roles

GAINESVILLE — The Florida Farm Bureau Federation is providing more than $3,000 in scholarships for women in agriculture to attend the Women's Leadership Conference, March 28-30.

Twelve $250 scholarships will be awarded to individuals to attend the conference. The priority of awards will be given to first-time attendees of the conference and women who serve on their county Farm Bureau Young Farmers and Ranchers Committees.

“We are pleased to provide these scholarship opportunities to Farm Bureau women across the state,” said Michele Curts, leadership programs coordinator. “The Women's Leadership Conference will include lots of fun, hands-on activities, engaging educational sessions, networking and tours of local agriculture.”

Themed “A Time to Bloom,” the Women's Leadership Conference will be held at the Orlando Marriott Lake Mary hotel. The three-day conference registration fee is a nominal $100 per attendee, plus hotel lodging.

To apply for a scholarship, visit floridafarmbureau.org/wlc2019. The scholarship application deadline is Feb. 22.

For additional information, contact your local County Farm Bureau.

Florida Farm Bureau, the state's largest general agricultural organization, represents more than 147,000 member-families. We serve to enhance farm enterprise and improve rural communities.

Fixed Rate CD

2.60%

Annual Percentage Yield for 11 months<sup>2</sup>

Guaranteed fixed rate with new money deposits of at least $25,000 for an 11-month term.

WELLS FARGO

Both accounts are FDIC-insured up to the maximum allowable limit. Platinum Savings offer available in CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA. Fixed Rate CD offer available in AL, AZ, CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NM, NV, NY, PA, SC and VA. Portfolio by Wells Fargo® customers are eligible to receive an additional interest rate bonus on these accounts.<sup>3</sup>

1. To qualify for this offer, you must have a new or existing Platinum Savings account and enroll the account in this offer between 01/21/2019 and 03/22/2019. This offer is subject to change at any time, without notice. This offer is available only to Platinum Savings customers in the following states: CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA. In order to earn the Special Interest Rate of 2.08% (Special Rate), you must deposit $25,000 in new money (from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates) to the enrolled savings account and maintain a minimum daily account balance of $25,000 throughout the term of this offer. The corresponding Annual Percentage Yield (APY) for this offer is 2.10%. The Special Rate will be applied to the enrolled savings account for a period of 12 months, starting on the date the account is enrolled in the offer. However, for any day during that 12 month period that the daily account balance is less than the $25,000 minimum, the Special Rate will not apply and the interest rate will revert to the standard interest rate applicable to your Platinum Savings account. As of 12/10/2018, the standard interest rate and APY for a Platinum Savings account in CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA with an account balance of $0.01 to $99,999.99 is 0.03% (0.03% APY) and with an account balance of $100,000 and above is 0.05% (0.05% APY). Each tier shown reflects the current minimum daily collected balance required to obtain the applicable APY. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. The amount of interest earned is based on the daily collected balances in the account. Upon the expiration of the 12 month promotional period, standard interest rates apply. Minimum to open a Platinum Savings account is $25. A monthly service fee of $12 applies in any month the account falls below a $3,500 minimum daily balance. Fees may reduce earnings. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Offer not available to Private Banking, Wealth, Business Banking or Wholesale customers. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 01/21/2019 and 03/22/2019. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term: For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the Special Rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Wells Fargo reserves the right to modify or discontinue the offer at any time without notice. Offer cannot be combined with any other consumer deposit offer. Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. Offer cannot be reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the bonus interest rate on all eligible savings accounts, and discounts or fee waivers on other products and services, will discontinue and revert to the Bank's then-current applicable rate or fee. For bonus interest rates on time accounts, this change will occur upon renewal. If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product or closed.

REBEC

She mentions another couple who also clean up during snowbird season, but believes she is the only one braving the ditches. "If things are too big to fit in my car, I leave it for the county workers."

What drives her dedication? "It makes me feel good. I stay active and I'm doing something worthwhile." Used to working hard, Rebec was in banking and spent many years of her career putting forth extra effort. "You had to work three times as hard as a man every single day. There was not respect for women in the workforce back then."

She remembered never mentioning she had children at home either. "One time I had to sign an affidavit stating I would not have a child for two years. Women were not allowed to take time off like they can nowadays."

Rising early also comes naturally for this Iowa farm girl. "In 1937, I turned 5 and was given a milking stool for my birthday." She recalled having every animal imaginable, helping her brother plant rows of corn during childhood and the heavy use of horses and thrashers.

She loves to be outside so she counts this as her exercise time. Then there is the satisfaction of seeing roadways near her home looking nice and clean. "The mornings are so beautiful and I get to meet the nicest people."

Christmas Day she had six individuals passing by stop to say hello. "They thanked me for what I do. It made me feel really good." Rebec is glad as she approaches her 87th birthday that she is able to remain so active. She likes that every single day she can get up and help her community.

After spending years traveling everywhere, she believes Sebring to be the most beautiful place. "I want people to have pride and work to keep our community clean. Things don't just happen unless you get involved." Rebec would like to see others join in the effort.

Senate breaks with Trump on Afghanistan, Syria

They voted to oppose the withdrawal of US troops from those countries

By MARY CLARE JALONICK
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The Senate voted Monday to oppose the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Syria and Afghanistan, breaking with President Donald Trump as he calls for a military drawdown in those countries.

Senators voted 70-26 for the amendment sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell.

The measure says the Islamic State group and al-Qaida militants still pose a serious threat to the United States, and it warns that “a precipitous withdrawal” of U.S. forces from those countries could “allow terrorists to regroup, destabilize critical regions and create vacuums that could be filled by Iran or Russia.”

Trump abruptly tweeted plans for a U.S. pullout from Syria in December, arguing that the Islamic State group had been defeated even though his intelligence chiefs have said it remains a threat. Trump also ordered the military to develop plans to remove up to half of the 14,000 U.S. forces in Afghanistan.

The strong bipartisan vote comes as Republican senators have increasingly diverged from Trump on foreign policy. When he introduced the amendment last week, McConnell said “ISIS and al-Qaida have yet to be defeated.” McConnell’s amendment, which is nonbinding, would encourage cooperation between the White House and Congress to develop long-term strategies in both nations, “including a thorough accounting of the risks of withdrawing too hastily.”

Check your compass ... the magnetic north pole is on the move

As Earth’s magnetic field weakens, a flip in the North and South poles may come sooner

By SETH BORENSTEIN
AP SCIENCE WRITER

WASHINGTON — North isn’t quite where it used to be.

Earth’s north magnetic pole has been drifting so fast in the last few decades that scientists say that past estimates are no longer accurate enough for precise navigation. On Monday, they released an update of where magnetic north really was, nearly a year ahead of schedule.

The magnetic north pole is wandering about 34 miles a year. It crossed the international date line in 2017, and is leaving the Canadian Arctic on its way to Siberia.

The constant shift is a problem for compasses in smartphones and some consumer electronics. Airplanes and boats also rely on magnetic north, usually as backup navigation, said University of Colorado geophysicist Arnaud Chulliat, lead author of the newly issued World Magnetic Model. GPS isn’t affected because it’s satellite-based.

In this July 16, 2017, photo, a radar shows sea ice ahead of the Finnish icebreaker MSV Nordica as chief officer Harri Venalainen navigates the ship through the Beaufort Sea while traversing the Arctic’s Northwest Passage.

The military depends on where magnetic north is for navigation and parachute drops, while NASA, the Federal Aviation Administration and U.S. Forest Service also use it. Airport runway names are based on their direction toward magnetic north and their names change when the poles moved. For example, the airport in Fairbanks, Alaska, renamed a runway 1L-19R to 2L-20R in 2009.

Iraqi president hits back at Trump over US army presence

Trump says he wants to keep troops in Iraq ‘to watch Iran’

By QASSIM ABDUL-ZAHRA
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BAGHDAD — Iraq’s president hit back at Donald Trump Monday for saying U.S. troops should stay in Iraq to keep an eye on neighboring Iran, saying the U.S. leader did not ask for Iraq’s permission to do so.

“We find these comments strange,” said Barham Salih, speaking at a forum in Baghdad.

Trump’s comments added to concerns in Iraq about America’s long-term intentions, particularly after it withdraws its troops from Syria. Trump has angered Iraqi politicians and Iranian-backed factions by arguing he would keep U.S. troops in Iraq and use it as a base to strike Islamic State group targets inside Syria as needed.

In an interview with CBS News’ “Face the Nation,” he said U.S. troops in Iraq were also needed to monitor Iran.

“He didn’t ask Iraq about this,” Salih said Monday. He said U.S. troops were in Iraq as part of an agreement between the two countries with a specific mission of assisting in the fight against the Islamic State group and combating “terrorism.” He said the Iraqi constitution forbids the use of Iraq as a base to threaten the interests or security of neighboring countries.

“Don’t overburden Iraq with your own issues,” he added.

In the CBS interview, Trump said the U.S. has an “incredible base” in Iraq that he intends to

Graham warns GOP to back Trump on emergency declaration for border wall

By STEVEN T. DENNIS
BLOOMBERG NEWS

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lindsey Graham, one of Donald Trump’s closest allies on Capitol Hill, warned his fellow Republicans to back the president if he declares an emergency to build a wall on the southern border.

“To every Republican, if you don’t stand behind this president, we’re not going to stand behind you, when it comes to the wall,” Graham said in a speech in Greenville, S.C., of the political fight with Democrats over a border barrier. “This is the defining moment of his presidency. It’s not just about a wall, it’s about him being treated different than every other president.”

Graham said he doesn’t expect Congress to come up with a deal that would provide money for a wall in spending negotiations to avert another government shutdown after Feb. 15. He said he fears a “war within the Republican Party over the wall.”

“This is about more than a barrier. This is about us as a party,” he said.

Senate GOP leaders have said Trump was warned that using emergency authority to get the wall built would

Experts call for emergency declaration on Congo's Ebola

By CARLEY PETESCH
ASSOCIATED PRESS

DAKAR, Senegal — An international group of public health experts on Monday called on the World Health Organization to convene an emergency committee to consider declaring Congo's Ebola outbreak an international public health emergency.

The group of experts wrote in the Lancet that such a call would help galvanize "high-level political, financial, and technical support to address the Ebola outbreak that started last May."

The outbreak, declared just over six months ago in Congo's east, is the country's tenth and the world's second largest recorded. Instability, dense populations, political instability and mass displacement have contributed to the spread of the disease.

"The epidemic is not under control, and has a high risk of spread to the region, perhaps globally," said lead author Lawrence Gostin, faculty director of Georgetown University's O'Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law.

The experts pointed specifically to concerns of Ebola spreading to nearby countries such as South Sudan, which they say is among the most fragile states in the world with far less capacity to control an Ebola outbreak.

"Taking bold measures to prevent the spread of the disease in this country where violence is prevalent, and a famine is predicted, is critical to preventing a humanitarian disaster," Gostin said.

The experts argue that the criteria for declaring an international emergency have been met, including public health impact, novelty and scale and movement of people.

The World Health Organization on Monday responded that the WHO and its partners in Congo and neighboring countries continue to closely monitor the situation for signs that an expert committee meeting would be needed.

"If and when we see those signs, the director general will call a meeting," said WHO spokesman Tarik Jasarevic.

The first meeting of the Emergency Committee, charged with making the call of a public emergency, took place Oct. 17.

The call to attention comes as, six months on, Ebola has spread to 18 health zones in Congo, and though many initial hotspots have been contained, new ones have popped up in recent weeks.

Despite their call Monday, however, the group of experts also warned that a declaration of an international public health emergency may also have negative consequences, such as a ban on trade or travel barriers in Congo. So it also called on the WHO and United Nations to "take active steps to prevent unlawful and harmful restrictions including calling out countries that violate laws designed to prevent this sort of unwarranted action," according to Gostin.

In October, the emergency committee determined that it was particularly important that no international travel or trade restrictions be applied, and neighboring countries accelerate their preparedness and surveillance.

EU nations endorse Venezuela opposition leader over Maduro

Pressure mounting for Maduro to resign and hold a new presidential election

By JOSHUA GOODMAN and BARRY HATTON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CARACAS, Venezuela — More than a dozen European Union countries endorsed Venezuelan opposition leader Juan Guaido as the country's interim president Monday, piling the pressure on embattled President Nicolas Maduro to resign and clear the way for a new presidential election.

Maduro stood defiant, rejecting a U.S offer of humanitarian aid that has shifted attention to Venezuela's western border with Colombia, where opponents were gearing up to try to bring emergency food and medicine into the country.

"We are not beggars," Maduro said in a speech to troops broadcast on Venezuelan state TV.

Spain, Germany, France and Britain delivered diplomatic blows to Maduro's rule by publicly supporting Guaido after a Sunday deadline for Maduro to call a presidential election passed without action. Sweden, Denmark, Austria, the Netherlands, Lithuania, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, the Czech Republic, Luxembourg, Poland and Portugal also lined up behind Guaido, who last month declared himself interim president with the support of the United States and many Latin American nations.

In Canada's capital, foreign ministers from the Lima Group of 13 Western Hemisphere countries that took the lead in recognizing Guaido as Venezuela's rightful leader discussed additional steps to pressure Maduro.

Before the closed-door meeting got under way, Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau condemned a "dictatorship willing to use force and fear" to maintain its power. He also announced $53 million in humanitarian aid to support the Venezuelan people.

The coalition called upon Venezuela's military to allow badly needed food and medicine across the border and show their loyalty to Guaido. They also urged the United Nations and the international community to step up with humanitarian assistance.

Maduro showed no signs of caving in and lashed out at the EU, accusing it of taking orders from the Trump administration, who he has repeatedly accused of trying to carry out a coup to get its hands on Venezuela's oil reserves, the world's largest.

But he stopped short of breaking off diplomatic relations with the 16 European countries that recognized his rival Monday, unlike his swift move to cut off ties with the U.S. after it threw its support behind Guaido last month. A growing list of 38 countries has now recognized Guaido, including non-EU European nations Kosovo, Iceland and Albania.

Long-time backers Russia and China are among at least nine nations that have declared their support for Maduro.

Maduro was especially harsh on fellow socialist and Spain's Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez, saying he would have "blood on his hands" if Maduro is toppled.

Amid the rising pressure, Maduro has shown signs he's willing to negotiate.

In an interview that aired Monday with Italy's Sky TG24 he said that he had written Pope Francis asking for help in fostering dialogue with the opposition.

The Vatican didn't immediately respond to a request for comment on Maduro's appeal. Recently, while in Central America, Francis called for a "just and peaceful" solution to the crisis in Venezuela. But he didn't say if the Holy See would recognize Guaido and said he had no business interfering in the crisis.

Some of the EU countries backing Guaido are part of a newly formed "International Contact Group" of eight European and four Latin American nations. It aims to facilitate dialogue and is due to hold its first meeting in Uruguay on Thursday.

Portugal's Foreign Minister Augusto Santos Silva said the group wants to end Venezuela's political stalemate through the ballot box, preventing a civil war or an "illegitimate foreign intervention."

Venezuela's opposition has rejected any offers of dialogue that don't include Maduro's exit as a starting point.

Meanwhile, the opposition was moving ahead with a risky strategy to bring in humanitarian aid from Colombia, hoping to break the all-important military's loyalty to Maduro.

"Soldiers of the fatherland: We need the humanitarian aid to come, for your mother, your sister and all your family," Guaido said at a news conference at the National Assembly to thank the European governments for their support.

"Otherwise we are sentenced to death," he said.

While U.S. National Security Adviser John Bolton said last week that boxes of USAID branded baby formula and supplies for malnourished children are being readied to deploy to Venezuela, it's not clear how they can safely enter.

The International Committee of the Red Cross is among the groups who have warned about the dangers of deploying aid without the consent of the Maduro government, which has repeatedly rejected the offers.

Maduro denies the existence of a humanitarian crisis, calling it a fabrication by Venezuela's enemies to sow instability and justify a military intervention.

But David Lipton, the No. 2 at the International Monetary Fund, called Venezuela's economic crisis — marked by widespread food shortages, protracted hyperinflation and the loss of human capital through emigration — an "unprecedented economic storm" that will require generous, broad-based international support to overcome.

Avalanche death toll in the Italian Alps rises to 6

ROME (AP) — Rescuers on Monday located the bodies of four skiers in Italy's Alps, a day after they went missing, raising the death toll in recent avalanches in the country to six.

The Valdostano Alpine Rescue aircraft, searching for two British and two French skiers who had gone skiing on Sunday in the Veny valley near the resort town of Courmayeur, spotted three of the bodies in early morning.

Later in the day, the Italian news agency ANSA quoted Valdostano Alpine Rescue official Paolo Comune as saying searchers had found the body of the fourth skier, a Polish native who resided in Chamonix, France.

On Sunday, two Italian skiers were killed by avalanches — one in the Valle d'Aosta region, the other in the Alto Adige (South Tyrol) region.

Authorities had warned that avalanche danger was high in the Italian Alps over the weekend.

In a non-avalanche fatality, an Italian snowboarder died in a fall in a crevasse Sunday in an off-piste area in the Valtellina Alpine area of Lombardy.

HEADLINES AROUND THE STATE

Dozens of animals die in fire at wildlife sanctuary

ORLANDO (AP) — Firefighters say dozens of animals are dead following a fire at a central Florida animal sanctuary.

Orange County Fire Rescue officials posted on Twitter that the fire broke out early Monday at Second Chance Wildlife Sanctuary near Orlando. In a series of tweets, fire officials said the owner of the animal rescue was asleep in an upstairs bedroom when he was awakened by peacocks squawking.

Officials say he was able to save some of the animals while a neighbor called 911.

Neighbor Denis Moredo tells WFTV he heard an explosion and saw flames coming from the home. He says he saw a swan running across the road to escape the blaze.

Officials say dogs, snakes and tortoises died in the fire.

An investigation into what caused the fire continues.

Construction worker on massive highway job dies in accident

WINTER PARK (AP) — Officials say a worker doing construction on central Florida's massive highway expansion project was killed after being struck by a drainage pipe.

Orange County Fire Rescue tweeted Monday that the worker was struck by a 20-foot iron pipe.

Workers were moving the pipe when it fell and hit the worker in the head along Interstate 4 near Winter Park, Florida.

The sheriff's office is investigating.

Man threatened to kill people at rest stop

PENSACOLA (AP) — A 40-year-old Washington man is accused of threatening to kill people at a rest stop on Interstate 10 in Florida's Panhandle.

Florida Highway Patrol Lt. Eddie Elmore said in a news release that Ronald Lynch of Long Beach, Washington, was arrested Saturday after troopers and Santa Rosa County Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the rest stop.

Witnesses told investigators that Lynch was "acting in a threatening manner and yelling that he would start killing people with a weapon."

Elmore says bystanders at the rest area hid in bathrooms once Lynch began making threats.

Deputies saw Lynch leaving the rest stop and conducted a traffic stop. He was taken into custody without incident. Records don't list a lawyer for Elmore.

Sen. Scott invites Parkland father to State of the Union

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Republican Florida U.S. Sen. Rick Scott is taking the father of a teenager who died in the Parkland school shooting to President Donald Trump's State of the Union address Tuesday.

Scott announced Monday he's bringing Andrew Pollack to the speech. Pollack's daughter, Meadow, was one of 17 people killed at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School last Valentine's Day.

Scott took office in January after completing his second term as governor. Just before leaving the governor's office, Scott appointed Pollack to the Florida's education board. But when Republican Gov. Ron DeSantis took office, he rescinded dozens of Scott's last minute appointments, including Pollack's.

Pollack appeared in ads for Scott during his Senate campaign. Pollack has also praised Trump during a White House visit.

Detective say wig helps them catch armed robber

FORT MYERS (AP) — Detectives in southwest Florida say a telltale wig helped them catch an armed robber.

Lee County Sheriff's Office deputies said after a convenience store in Fort Myers, Florida was robbed Saturday, a cashier gave them a description of a pistol-wielding robber who was wearing a wig and a gray hoodie.

Witnesses led deputies to an apartment complex, where they say they found a suspect who matched the description given by the cashier.

Deputies say when they searched the apartment after obtaining a warrant, they found a gray-hooded sweater, several wigs and a large amount of wadded up cash in an open dresser drawer.

The suspect, David Rodriguez, faces a robbery charge.

Online court records show he was in jail Sunday. There was no record of legal counsel.

Winter storm dumps rare snow on Seattle as Midwest warms up

SEATTLE (AP) — Winter weather pounded a swath of the U.S. West on Monday, closing schools, snarling traffic and turning coastal cities like Seattle that rarely get much snow unusually white, while the Midwest warmed up from a dangerous blast of cold last week.

It comes as parts of California and Montana brace for the threat of mudslides and avalanches and the middle of the country grapples with the fallout from the polar vortex, which is linked to at least 30 deaths in several states.

The Pacific Northwest's first major winter snowstorm hit western Washington hardest, closing numerous schools in Seattle and nearby cities, canceling flights and ferry service, and leading to car crashes but no major injuries.

Snow was heaviest just north and east of Seattle, with 8 to 10 inches in some towns. Temperatures were expected to be 15 degrees lower than normal this week, with lows in the teens, the National Weather Service said.

Some Oregon residents also woke up to several inches of snow in northern coastal communities.

The storm system lingering over the Northwest has sent waves of snow into the Northern Rocky Mountains, where it mixed with a blast of frigid arctic air and gusting winds to create hazardous driving conditions and dangerous wind chills 40 degrees below zero and lower.

The cold closed or delayed schools Monday. Much of western and northern Montana will likely see subzero temperatures until at least Wednesday, weather service meteorologist Cody Moldan said.

"We're kind of stuck in a cold pattern,"

Moldan said.

The weather was warmer near Yellowstone National Park, but the fresh snow that fell on the weak snowpack in the mountains near the park led to avalanche warnings.

Snow and rain throughout California threatened flash flooding where massive wildfires roared through communities last year and dangerous driving conditions in the latest of a series of storms over the past few days.

Forecasters predicted up to 3 inches of rain for some parts of Southern California. Officials warned of flash flooding in the Malibu area, where a wildfire destroyed homes and burned hillsides bare. Mud carried trees and rocks onto many roads, shutting them down.

removed debris and deepened a creek bed to help prevent flooding. Residents were urged to prepare to evacuate if there's flash flooding. The weather service issued a winter storm warning for the Los Angeles and Ventura County mountains through Wednesday, with more than a foot of snow expected at higher elevations. A winter storm that swept across California and Nevada dumped as much as 8 feet of snow over the weekend, with much more expected.

Fate of drug lord El Chapo now rests with jury

By TOM HAYS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — After nearly three months of testimony about a vast drug-smuggling conspiracy steeped in violence, a jury began deliberations Monday at the U.S. trial of the infamous Mexican drug lord Joaquin "El Chapo" Guzman.

The day ended without jurors reaching a verdict for Guzman, who faces life in prison if convicted. They were to resume deliberations Tuesday morning.

The jury has heard months of testimony about

Guzman's rise to power as the head of the Sinaloa cartel. Prosecutors say he is responsible for smuggling at least 200 tons of cocaine into the United States and for a wave of killings in turf wars with other cartels.

Guzman, 61, is notorious for escaping from prison twice in Mexico. In closing arguments, prosecutor Andrea Goldberg said he was plotting yet another breakout when he was sent in 2017 to the U.S., where he has been in solitary confinement ever since.

The defendant wanted to escape "because he is guilty and he never wanted to be in a position where he would have to answer for his crimes," Goldberg told the jury. "He wanted to avoid sitting right there. In front of you."

The defense claims Guzman's role has been exaggerated by cooperating witnesses who are seeking leniency in their own cases. In his closing, defense attorney Jeffrey Lichtman assailed the case as a "fantasy" and urged the jury not to believe cooperators who "lie, steal, cheat, deal drugs and kill people" for a living.

Last week, newly unsealed court papers revealed disturbing allegations not heard by the jury — that Guzman had sex with girls as young as 13. A Colombian drug trafficker told investigators that the kingpin paid $5,000 to have the girls brought to him, and that he sometimes drugged them, the papers say.

The start of the proceedings Monday was briefly delayed after two jurors indicated to the judge they were aware of reports about the alleged sex crimes. He questioned both behind closed doors before allowing them to remain on the jury.

Tech companies lead stocks higher after an early slide

By DAMIAN J. TROISE and ALEX VEIGA
AP BUSINESS WRITERS

Stocks recovered from an early wobble Monday, lifting the benchmark S&P 500 to its fourth straight gain.

Technology companies led the broad move higher, outweighing losses in health care, materials and utilities stocks.

The market had gotten off to a weak start after the government reported that factory orders fell in November, but by mid-day major indexes had turned higher. Investors remained focused on the latest batch of corporate earnings, including solid results from Clorox and Sysco. Google parent Alphabet posted results that topped Wall Street's estimates after the close of regular trading. The S&P 500 index rose 18.34 points, or 0.7 percent, to 2,724.87. The Dow Jones Industrial Average climbed 175.48 points, or 0.7 percent, to 25,239.37. The tech-heavy Nasdaq composite gained 83.67 points, or 1.2 percent, to 7,347.54.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21-April 19). City dwellers know that to drown out the noise everywhere, you have to listen to your own. Choose your sounds; choose your environment.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You can tell when someone is being competitive with you, and unless you're actually in an official competition, there's no reason to let the race go on. Sidestep. Don't engage.
GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There's something that won't be right until you fix it, and the time to fix it has come. As the Roman poet, Horace, said, "He who postpones the hour of living rightly is like the rustic who waits for the river to run out before he crosses."
CANCER (June 22-July 22). One secret to your success is that you have talent, and yet you don't rely on it. Consistent work is more important than talent, and the magic mix of both things together makes for an absolutely unstoppable success.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). To avoid a thing is a way of focusing on it, and thus attracting it. So avoidance is attraction. Instead, keep your eye on the prize. Imagine what you do want, not what you don't.

VRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're skeptical, and it's a beneficial quality right now. There's too much out there to believe and it can't all be true. Someone needs to sort it out, and that someone is you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Loud and clear is a good way to communicate; it usually works mighty fine. But if you have to choose between the two, take clear. It will outdo loud even at the faintest volume.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Though it may seem that you've been at a certain stage for a while now, you cannot be contained where you are. You're extending your spirit beyond it, outside it, above it and around it.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You have an excellent sense about how to best lead people today. You'll get a feeling about when you should go easy and when you should push things along, perhaps with a hard truth.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). It's said that crime doesn't pay, and yet there are still criminals at large who would beg to differ — if it didn't count as an official confession. But what about honesty? Of course honesty pays.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You've censored yourself to accommodate those younger, older, more formal, more pious... but when you're at home with your nearest and dearest, you want to feel you can just be yourself. Lift the ban.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Maybe you won't solve a problem by walking away from it, but you'll solve it after you walk away from it. Movement and a new environment will juice your mind's problem-solving capabilities.
TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Feb. 5). This year starts off like a Sheryl Crow song in that "every day is a winding road," but there's a real sense that you're getting closer to regular contentment, and you'll achieve it, mostly through the building of healthy daily habits. Big strokes of luck will drop in, but it's day-to-day improvements that will matter. Scorpio and Gemini adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 46, 8, 13, 40 and 11.

Brogeland rose with dummy's ace and led a spade to his ace, followed by the queen of spades. The queen of hearts was cashed and dummy was re-entered with the king of spades. South discarded a low club on the king of hearts, crossed to his hand with the ace of diamonds, and began running his trumps. This was the position with one trump to go:

Norway's Boye Brogeland is a big star in the bridge world these days, but he had to start somewhere. He was South in today's deal, from early in his bridge career. His strong jump shift was well short of the American standards for that bid, and probably a bit short of the Nordic standards as well.

On the last trump, West was forced to discard a diamond to protect against the five of hearts. Dummy then shed the heart and East had a similar choice. East also had to discard a diamond to protect against the queen of clubs, so dummy's king-six of diamonds took the last two tricks. Well played!

Neighbors: Plane 'sounded like a missile' as it broke apart

By AMY TAXIN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

YORBA LINDA, Calif. — A small plane shook homes and "sounded like a missile" as it broke apart and rained chunks of metal into a Southern California neighborhood, igniting a house fire that killed four people, witnesses said Monday.

The pilot, a retired Chicago police officer living in Nevada, also died Sunday. Investigators were collecting pieces of the plane that fell into homes across about four blocks in Yorba Linda, a community southeast of Los Angeles.

"The witnesses I've spoken with say that they saw the airplane coming out of the clouds — it was still in one piece — and then they saw the tail breaking off and then the wing breaking off and then something like smoke before the airplane impacted the ground," said Maja Smith, an investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board.

Those witnesses did not report an explosion while the twin-engine propeller-driven Cessna 414A was in the air, she said.

Antonio Pastini, 75, of Gardnerville, Nevada, was the only person aboard, Orange County Sheriff's

Five people died and two others were injured after a small plane apparently came apart, raining debris across a Southern California neighborhood and igniting a house fire before landing in a backyard, authorities said Sunday.

Lt. Cory Martino said.

Authorities were trying to identify the people who died in the house, describing them only as two males and two females. Martino said DNA may be required because of the condition of the bodies.

Two other people were hospitalized with moderate injuries, he said.

Yorba Linda resident Dave Elfver said he was getting ready to go to a friend's house to watch the Super Bowl when he heard a whining sound "like a motorcycle going a hundred miles per hour."

Across the street, one of the columns of a neighbor's home was collapsed and debris from the plane was strewn throughout the street. Another home had broken windows.

The aircraft, which can carry up to eight people, took off from the Fullerton Municipal Airport about 12 miles away, Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Allen Kenitzer said.

Preliminary radar data shows the plane reached about 7,800 feet and then rapidly fell, said Elliott Simpson, a NTSB investigator.

The main cabin of the airplane and one engine were found at the bottom of a ravine in the backyard of a house, and the other engine made a hole in the street, Simpson said.

A portion of the plane's right wing had not been found, and investigators would search the burned house, Smith said. The Cessna 414A carries fuel in its wings.

Video showed panicked residents running to the house as flames and dark smoke engulfed it. One man used a garden hose to douse a burning wing that landed on the street.

Some tried to run into the burning house, but explosive sounds came from its garage and neighbors called them off, Winch said.

O'Hare airport busiest in US in 2018

CHICAGO (AP) — O'Hare International Airport in Chicago was the busiest airport in the U.S. in 2018, surpassing Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport for the first time in four years.

The Federal Aviation Administration released data on Monday showing that O'Hare had more than 903,000 arrivals and departures during 2018. Atlanta's airport was second, with more than 895,000 arrivals and departures.

Los Angeles International Airport, Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport and Denver International Airport round out the top five.

O'Hare last held the top spot in 2014.

Last year, O'Hare operations increased 4.2 percent, compared with a 1.8 percent increase in Atlanta. United Airlines is the largest carrier at O'Hare and has been adding more flights from its hub at the Chicago airport to smaller cities throughout the Midwest.

Foreign Relations Committee, said the amendment was not a rebuke to Trump, though he added, "we can do things over there which will make us safer here."

While the majority of senators voted for the amendment, a handful of Republicans voted against it. McConnell's Kentucky colleague, Republican Sen. Rand Paul said before the vote that "enough is enough" and the money spent on wars should be spent at home.

"I want to compliment President Trump for being bold and brave," Paul said.

Many of the most liberal members of the Senate — including several Democrats who are eyeing presidential runs in 2020 — also voted against the amendment. Sen. Bernie Sanders, I-Vt., and others have agreed with Paul that the United States should withdraw, though they have criticized Trump for his sudden announcement.

McConnell's provision was added to a wide-ranging foreign policy bill that has been pending on the Senate floor for several weeks. The legislation includes measures supporting Israel and Jordan and would slap sanctions on Syrians involved in war crimes. The Senate is expected to vote on the broader measure later this week.

That bill has split centrist and liberal Democrats due to a provision from Sen. Marco Rubio, R-Fla., that seeks to counter the global Boycott, Divest and Sanctions movement against Israel over its treatment of Palestinians and their settlements. Israel sees a growing threat from the BDS movement, which has led to increased boycotts of the Jewish state in support of the Palestinians.

That has led to a "boycott of the boycotts" as Israel pushes back against those aligned with BDS.

In support of Israel, Rubio's measures would affirm the legal authority of state and local governments to restrict contracts and take other actions against those "engaged in BDS conduct." Several states are facing lawsuits after taking action against workers supporting BDS boycotts of Israel.

keep, "because I want to be able to watch Iran."

"We spent a fortune on building this incredible base," Trump said. "We might as well keep it. And one of the reasons I want to keep it is because I want to be looking a little bit at Iran because Iran is a real problem."

He said the U.S. base in Iraq is "perfectly situated for looking at all over different parts of the troubled Middle East."

He appeared to be referring to the Al-Asad air base in western Iraq, where he paid a brief visit to U.S. forces in December. The base hosts American troops but belongs to the Iraqi army.

Trump's comments appear to have further inflamed tensions in Iraq over the continued presence of U.S. troops after the defeat of the Islamic State group. Curbing foreign influence has become a hot-button issue in Iraq after parliament elections in May in which Shiite militias backed by Iran made significant gains. The militias fought alongside U.S.-backed Iraqi troops against IS in recent years, gaining outsized influence and power along the way.

Now, after defeating IS militants in their last urban bastions, Iraqi politicians and militia leaders are increasingly speaking out against the continued presence of U.S. forces on Iraqi soil.

Trump has said he has no plans to withdraw the 5,200 troops in Iraq, which he says could carry out U.S. airstrikes inside Syria after American troops withdraw from that country.

American forces withdrew from Iraq in 2011, but returned in 2014 at the invitation of the government to help battle IS after it seized vast areas in the north and west of the country, including Iraq's second largest city, Mosul. A U.S.-led coalition provided crucial air support as Iraqi forces regrouped and drove IS out in a costly three-year campaign.

Earlier this month, the leader of one of Iraq's most powerful Iranian-backed Shiite militias told The Associated Press in an interview that he expects a vote in the coming months by Iraq's parliament calling for the withdrawal of U.S. troops. Qais al-Khazali, head of Asaib Ahl al-Haq, or League of the Righteous, also suggested U.S. troops may eventually be driven out by force if they do not yield to the will of the Iraqi people.

Former Prime Minister Haider al-Abadi also weighed in on Monday, saying Iraqi sovereignty must be respected and its interests should not be compromised.

NORTH

United Kingdom tend to update the location of the magnetic north pole every five years in December, but this update came early because of the pole's faster movement.

The movement of the magnetic north pole "is pretty fast," Chulliat said.

Since 1831 when it was first measured in the Canadian Arctic it has moved about 1,400 miles toward Siberia. Its speed jumped from about 9 mph to 34 mph since 2000.

The reason is turbulence in Earth's liquid outer core. There is a hot liquid ocean of iron and nickel in the planet's core where the motion generates an electric field, said University of Maryland geophysicist Daniel Lathrop, who wasn't part of the team monitoring the magnetic north pole.

"It has changes akin to weather," Lathrop said. "We might just call it magnetic weather."

The magnetic south pole is moving far slower than the north.

In general Earth's magnetic field is getting weaker, leading scientists to say that it will eventually flip, where north and south pole changes polarity, like a bar magnet flipping over. It has happened numerous times in Earth's past, but not in the last 780,000 years.

"It's not a question of if it's going to reverse, the question is when it's going to reverse," Lathrop said.

When it reverses, it won't be like a coin flip, but take 1,000 or more years, experts said.

Lathrop sees a flip coming sooner rather than later because of the weakened magnetic field and an area over the South Atlantic has already reversed beneath Earth's surface.

That could bother some birds that use magnetic fields to navigate. And an overall weakening of the magnetic field isn't good for people and especially satellites and astronauts. The magnetic field shields Earth from some dangerous radiation, Lathrop said.

WALL

trigger a divisive vote. They also expect it would be challenged in court. Some Republicans also have raised concerns about a Democratic president in the future using an emergency declaration on other issues.

Under a 1976 law, Trump can declare a national emergency if he specifies the reason to Congress. But any lawmaker could demand a vote on overturning the president's decision, setting up a test of the president's power and his pull within the GOP. If Congress disapproves, though, the president has the ability to veto such a resolution.

Graham said he understands some of his Republican colleagues have concerns about what precedent it would set, but that's "no excuse not to have this president's back now, because we're not doing anything exotic here."

Graham expects the president will order the military to build the wall using money in national security accounts. Graham said the last three presidents sent troops to the border, and he suggested that building a wall isn't much different.

Graham is up for re-election in 2020 in a state that Trump won by 14 percentage points. He denied he has changed his political views to defer to the president, who has become a golfing buddy.

ODD NEWS

Voters reject plan to name streets in German municipality

BERLIN (AP) — Voters in a municipality in northwestern Germany have delivered a clear message: no street names, thanks.

Official results from a referendum held on Sunday showed 60 percent of voters in Hilgermissen rejected the local council's plan to name the streets, while 40 percent supported the proposal.

The proposed change was intended to make it easier for people — including police, emergency and delivery services — to find their way around the municipality of some 2,200 residents.

Hilgermissen was formed in the 1970s out of several villages. Addresses currently consist of a house number and the name of a former village, a system that has become more unwieldy as new buildings are added. Three locals organized the referendum to oppose street names. Sunday's result is binding for two years.

Rays putting single-game tickets on sale this week

Offers still include $7.11 special for Friday games

By MARC TOPKIN
TAMPA BAY TIMES

ST. PETERSBURG — Though the Rays are cutting back on capacity at Tropicana Field by closing the upper deck, they are keeping the popular $7.11 Friday ticket special.

Those tickets now will be located in the lower corners and the party deck above leftfield, and subject to availability.

Flex packs, which offer a good deal of five tickets for $75 (plus a $6.25 convenience fee) also will be limited to those seating areas. Flex packs are again available only on mobile devices. Game selection starts Wednesday at 10 a.m.

The Rays will put single-game tickets on sale Friday at 10 a.m. via raysbaseball.com, then at all outlets at 10 a.m. Saturday (conveniently including the Tropicana Field box office, as Fan Fest will be going on that day). As usual, there is a pre-sale, starting at 10 a.m. Thursday for Rays Insiders, with registration available until noon Wednesday at raysbaseball.com/newsletter.

The schedule of promotional giveaway items, including a Ryne Stanek bottle opener and Blake Snell and Tommy Pham bobbleheads, will be released in advance of ticket sales.

Tickets for the $7.11 special can't be purchased yet; they require a coupon from a 7-Eleven store, and those won't be available until March 11.

The Rays outlined plans for other specials, some new, some altered from last year:

- Among them:
  - Family packs, for nine Sunday games starting in June, offering three or more outfield tickets and a 20 oz. Coke product, starting at $17 each.
  - Salute to Service, providing military, teachers and first responders two free tickets to select Monday home games, additional bonus dates and other special offers. (See raysbaseball.com/specials to sign up; tickets available one week prior to game.)
  - $2 tickets for kids 14 and under with purchase of a full-price adult ticket in select seating areas, for 13 games, mostly mid-week night games (rather than just Tuesdays as in the past), starting April 17 vs. Baltimore.
  - $15 press-level tickets for fans 60 and older to 11 midweek day games, including Memorial Day (May 27 vs. Toronto), July 4 (vs. Yankees), Labor Day (September 2 vs. Baltimore).
  - Student tickets, starting at $5, for fans with a valid .edu email address, available one week in advance of select games, see raysbaseball.com/specials to register.

ATLANTA — There's something surgical about the Patriots' dynasty that has made the rest of the NFL reel for nearly two decades.

They are 6-3 in Super Bowls in Bill Belichick's reign and with Tom Brady doing the clutch work. Yet the overall points for those games, dating to 2002, stand at 215 for New England, 201 for the opposition. No blowouts.

They began this unprecedented run using a bruising defense that turned the Rams' Greatest Show on Turf into a tentative outfit that at times looked intimidated 17 years ago. On Sunday night, they brought it all full circle with a masterful defensive performance that humbled the Rams once more, even more so.

The Patriots take down opponents in the most painful ways, whether in shootouts like against Carolina and Atlanta, or in comebacks — Atlanta again, and Seattle. While it's always foolish to get into a tit-for-tat scoring binge with Brady, the 13-3 victory over Los Angeles proved the Pats can do the dirty work, win in the trenches and still survive.

It's maddening for

Pirates pound Gators 41-24 to progress to district semis

By JOHN VITTAS
SUN CORRESPONDENT

PORT CHARLOTTE — Port Charlotte's defense didn't mess around Monday night, playing with a playoff-like intensity in a 41-24 district quarterfinal win over Island Coast.

The Pirates (15-10) pitched a shutout for the first 10 minutes of their 7A-R3 District 10 quarterfinal victory, relegating the Gators (11-15) to a Super Bowl-like lethargy. Port Charlotte opened up a 17-0 lead before Island Coast scored their first point at the 5:19 mark of the second quarter.

"I thought our first half was fabulous," head coach Michael Progl said. "They did exactly what they were asked to do. They executed the press the way we wanted. They moved the ball, they got steals. Our best offense was our defense."

The Pirates forced 22 turnovers, denying Island Coast passes and suffocating the Gators' shooters whenever they could.

Junior guard Sharina Hudson served as the catalyst for Port Charlotte, scoring points 15 while collecting three steals, two rebounds and an assist.

"She does a lot," Progl said of Hudson. "She gets so many steals and she's lighting fast so as soon as she gets the ball, it's a layup. She is the engine that gets us running. Once she gets picking the ball off, it leads to our other four players picking up their defense and everything starts clicking on all cylinders."

After finishing with a 3-19 record last year, the Pirates have made remarkable improvements under first year head coach Michael Progl.

"They have to believe in the person next to them," said Progl. "Nobody can do everything themselves. They needed to understand that everybody has a role and an impact on the outcome of every single game. Now that they all understand that they need each other, it has allowed us to start flourishing and moving in the right direction. Now it's just a matter of perfecting what we need to perfect. But the heart and the belief in each other is established."

Port Charlotte will be tested in a high-stakes contest with second-seeded Cape Coral (18-7) in the district semifinals on Wednesday. The Pirates lost both of their matchups with the Seahawks this season, dropping each game by 19 points or more.

Flores goes from Super Bowl champs to Dolphins

Brian Flores says the past 24 hours have been "a whirlwind."

DAVIE, Fla. — When Brian Flores was asked how he celebrated winning the Super Bowl, he paused for several seconds and laughed.

"I kissed my wife on the field," Flores said.

Then it was on to the next challenge, and a big one — fixing the Miami Dolphins. Flores, the New England Patriots' linebackers coach and defensive play-caller, was hired Monday as Miami's head coach.

He accepted the job hours after helping the Patriots shut down the high-scoring Los Angeles Rams for a 13-3 victory in the title game Sunday night in Atlanta.

"It has been a whirlwind 24 hours," Flores said with a smile at a news conference that drew two dozen cameras.

"Looking at this crowd here, you'd think we won the Super Bowl," Miami owner Stephen Ross said. "I've never seen this many people in this room. ... To me, you start an organization by signing a great leader. I believe we've found that leader."

Flores was the first person the Dolphins interviewed after they fired coach Adam Gase on Dec. 31. They decided

NHL: Roundup

Toffoli's overtime goal lifts Kings past Rangers 4-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Tyler Toffoli scored 25 seconds into overtime and the Los Angeles Kings rallied to beat the New York Rangers 4-3 Monday night.

Toffoli's ninth goal of the season came moments after the Rangers' Mika Zibanejad rang the puck off the post behind Kings goaltender Jonathan Quick. Toffoli was mobbed by his teammates as Rangers net-minder Henrik Lundqvist skated away in disgust.

Adrian Kempe scored twice and Anze Kopitar added a goal for the Kings, who scored in the last minute of regulation and the first minute of overtime. Quick finished with 24 saves.

Zibanejad, Chris Kreider and Adam McQuaid scored for the Rangers. Lundqvist made 26 saves.

The Kings tied the game at the 19-minute mark of the third in Kempe's second goal of the game and seventh of the season after Los Angeles had pulled Quick for an extra skater.

McQuaid had put the Rangers ahead 3-2 at 9:15 of the third when his fluttering shot from the point eluded Quick. It was McQuaid's first goal of the season and his first as a member of the Rangers.

The Rangers top line of Kreider, Zibanejad and Mats Zuccarello continued to surge. The trio has 39 points — 18 goals and 21 assists — over their last eight games together.

It was also another close game between the teams. Since Feb. 5, 2008, 17 of 18 meetings between the Rangers and Kings have been decided by two or fewer goals, and 11 have been decided by one goal. The Rangers won this season's earlier meeting, 4-3 in Los Angeles on Oct. 28.

Kreider opened the scoring with his team-leading 24th goal at 8:32 of the first period. The goal came on a crisp cross-ice pass from defenseman Tony DeAngelo, who had been healthy scratch the past two games. Zibanejad also assisted.

Kempe tied it for the Kings at 17:23 of the first on a setup by former Ranger Carl Hagelin and former New Jersey Devil Ilya Kovalchuk. It was Kempe's first goal since Dec. 11.

Zibanejad put the Rangers back on top 32 seconds into the second period with his 21st goal. It was his ninth goal in the last seven games, which included his first hat trick as a member of the Rangers on Jan. 31 against the Devils in Newark.

Zibanejad has 10 goals and eight assists over in his last 11 games, and has a career-high 52 points this season. Zuccarello and Marc Staal assisted on Zibanejad's goal. That extended Zuccarello's consecutive games points streak to eight. The Norwegian forward has five goals and nine assists in that stretch.

Kopitar tied the game for a second time at 5:04 of the third with his 16th goal of the season. Kovalchuk had the lone assist.

The Rangers were coming off a 3-2 loss to the league-leading Tampa Bay Lightning on Saturday night, while the league-worst Kings were playing the second game of a six-game trip. They lost 4-2 to Islanders on Saturday night.

Flyers 2, Canucks 1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Carter Hart made 41 saves, Sean Couturier and Jakub Voracek scored, and the Philadelphia Flyers beat the Vancouver Canucks 2-1 on Monday night for their eighth straight victory.

The Flyers pulled within five points of a playoff spot after having the NHL's worst record on Jan. 9 — they were 14 points out of a postseason berth during the All-Star break just over a week ago. Philadelphia also became the first NHL expansion club to reach 2,000 victories.

Hart, Philadelphia's 20-year-old rookie, won his seventh straight start with another solid game. His best stop came with 5 1/2 minutes left when he dived with his right arm to deny Nikolay Goldobin from a sharp angle on a power play, drawing "CAR-TER! CAR-TER!" chants from the crowd.

Brock Boeser scored for Vancouver, which was playing the first of three games in four nights.

The game was delayed for several minutes midway through the third period after Vancouver's Alexander Edler went down with a scary-looking injury. Edler's skate got caught in Voracek's stick, causing Edler to land face-first on the ice. With a bloodied face and dazed look, a conscious Edler was wheeled off on a stretcher while sitting upright.

Voracek scored on a breakaway 3:20 into the second period to put Philadelphia up 2-0. After Canucks defenseman Christopher Tanev whiffed on a pass at the blue line, Philadelphia's Phil Varone lifted a pass ahead to perfectly set up Voracek. The Flyers forward deked to his forehand and shot just past the outstretched right pad of Jacob Markstrom with a highlight-reel finish.

Vancouver got on the board 1:54 later after a rare mistake by Hart. Hart came way out of his crease to deny Brandon Sutter of a breakaway, but the goalie's clearing attempt went off the boards and right to Boeser, who fired into the vacated net for his 18th goal of the season and fourth in the last seven contests.

Couturier gave the Flyers a 1-0 lead with 1:23 left in the first period with a wrist shot from the slot that went just under the glove of Markstrom. The power play tally was the seventh in the last nine opportunities for the Flyers, who scored four goals with the man-advantage in Saturday's 5-4 overtime win over Edmonton.

Maple Leafs 6, Ducks 1

TORONTO (AP) — Andreas Johnsson had two goals and two assists, Jake Muzzin added a goal and two assists and the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Anaheim Ducks 6-1 Monday night.

William Nylander and John Tavares each had a goal and an assist, and Connor Brown also scored for Toronto, which has won three in a row at Scotiabank Arena after dropping six of their previous seven home games.

Frederik Andersen made 24 saves for the Leafs. Zach Hyman added two assists.

Rickard Rakell scored for Anaheim. John Gibson made 30 saves before being pulled in favor of Chad Johnson after Toronto scored its fifth goal.

The Ducks, who trailed 6-0 after the first period of Saturday's 9-3 loss in Winnipeg, lost their fourth straight game and have two victories in their last 18 games (2-12-4).

Locked in a scoreless tie after the opening 20 minutes, the Leafs moved ahead at 3:02 of the second when Tavares snapped his 31st goal of the season, beating Gibson high on the short side while Toronto was in the midst of a line change.

Andersen, who shared the Anaheim crease with Gibson from 2013-16 before the trade that made him the Leafs' No. 1 goalie, stopped Nick Ritchie on a breakaway later in the period, prompting the home crowd to belt out chants of "Freddie! Freddie!"

Gibson then robbed Auston Matthews on a Toronto power play, but Johnsson made it 2-0 just 10 seconds after the penalty expired when he backhanded his 11th goal of the season at 13:40. It came off a rebound of a shot by Muzzin through traffic.

Acquired from Los Angeles for two prospects and Toronto's first-round pick in June last Monday, the Leafs defenseman then rocked Corey Perry near the Ducks bench to once again energize the building.

Ritchie took a cross-checking penalty on Muzzin in retaliation moments later.

Muzzin made the Ducks pay on the ensuing power play, blasting his fifth goal of the season past Gibson with 2.2 seconds left on the clock, snapping a 2-for-33 skid with the man advantage.

Anaheim got on the board at 2:45 of the third when Rakell scored his ninth goal of the season past Andersen's blocker at 2:45.

But the Leafs got that one back 31 seconds later, when Brown beat Brandon Montour to the front of the net on a 2-on-2 to rush and chipped his fifth past Gibson.

Nylander, who came in with just one goal and six assists since ending his contract impasse in early December, then picked the far corner on Gibson for his second goal of the campaign.

That ended the night for Gibson, who has been pulled in three straight games. He went to the locker room and didn't return to the bench.

Johnsson then cut into the slot and fired his 12th past Johnson at 14:51 to make it 6-1.

Wearing the team's road whites, Toronto came out fast against Anaheim — which was sporting its throwback Mighty Ducks uniforms — in the game's opening minutes.

Gibson, who entered play having faced 106 more shots than the next-closest NHL goalie, was swimming in the blue paint early as Zach Hyman had a chance at a wide-open net that somehow stayed out.

The Ducks responded by taking the body — Montour laid a nice check on Johnsson along the boards — while Ryan Kesler, who returned to the lineup after missing five games with a hamstring injury, tried to get under the skin of a few different Leafs.

Pistons pour it on this time, rout Nuggets 129-103

DETROIT (AP) — Andre Drummond scored 14 of his season-high 27 points in the third quarter and the Detroit Pistons snapped Denver's six-game winning streak, beating the Nuggets 129-103 on Monday night.

Detroit blew a 25-point lead in a loss to the Los Angeles Clippers on Saturday, but the Pistons poured it on this time. Blake Griffin added 17 points for Detroit, and Reggie Jackson scored 14.

Trey Lyles had 20 points for the Nuggets, who dropped out of a tie with Golden State for the best record in the Western Conference.

Denver was without forward Paul Millsap, sidelined by right ankle soreness, and the Nuggets were also missing Gary Harris (right adductor strain) and Jamal Murray (left ankle sprain). Denver looked sharp early, scoring 36 points in the first quarter, but the Nuggets managed only 19 in the second and trailed 68-55 at halftime.

Detroit's collapse against the Clippers began toward the end of the third quarter, but that didn't happen this time. The Pistons were up 97-83 after three. Stanley Johnson then opened the fourth with a three-point play and a 3-pointer, and Luke Kennard added a 3 of his own to push the lead to 23.

Hawks 137, Wizards 129

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taurean Prince scored 12 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter and hit five of Atlanta's 20 3-pointers, helping the Hawks defeat the Washington Wizards 137-129 on Monday night.

Rookie guard Kevin Huerter added 19 points and also hit five 3s in his return to the region where he played college ball at Maryland. Two of those 3s came during an early 16-2 run that put Atlanta up 28-16 late in the first quarter, a lead they did not give back.

Vince Carter scored 16 points in 16 minutes after halftime. John Collins had 15 points and 11 rebounds despite exiting at halftime with a cut on his face.

Trae Young added 10 points and 10 assists as nine Hawks reached double figures. Atlanta outrebounded the Wizards 51-39 and finished 20 of 41 from beyond the arc to close a 4-3 road trip.

Bradley Beal had 18 of his 27 points in the fourth for the Wizards, who slipped into a 10th-place tie with Orlando in the Eastern Conference playoff race, three games back of eighth-place Miami.

Jeff Green scored 26 points, Trevor Ariza had 25 and Jordan McCrae added a season-high 20 off the bench. But the Wizards never got within a possession after halftime.

Bucks 113, Nets 94

NEW YORK (AP) — Giannis Antetokounmpo had 30 points, 15 rebounds and nine assists, and the Milwaukee Bucks beat the cold-shooting Brooklyn Nets 113-94 on Monday night.

The injury-depleted Nets missed 19 of their first 20 3-point attempts, making it another easy night for the team with the NBA's best record. Brooklyn finished 5 for 42 (11.9 percent) behind the arc.

Malcolm Brogdon added 16 points and Eric Bledsoe had 15 for the Bucks, who won their fourth straight, all by double digits.

D'Angelo Russell scored 18 points for the Nets, who have been forced to go deep down their roster because of injuries and lost their third in a row.

Brooklyn shot 32 percent overall while playing without Caris LeVert, Spencer Dinwiddie, Joe Harris, Jared Dudley and Allen Crabbe, all either starters or key reserves.

That left them no match for the Bucks, especially with Shabazz Napier going 0 for 10 behind the arc and DeMarre Carroll missing his first eight overall before finishing 2 for 11.

Despite all that, the Nets trailed by only nine at halftime. It was nearly 11, but Antetokounmpo's basket was ruled too late after he picked up an inbounds pass with three seconds left near one foul line and got all the way to the other basket to attempt a layup.

But the Bucks broke out for 36 points in the third quarter, extending their lead to 87-64.

■ GIRLS BASKETBALL: Lemon Bay 44, North Fort Myers 35

Lady Mantas limit opposition's second half opportunities in district win

By BRUCE ROBINS
SUN CORRESPONDENT

ENGLEWOOD — A strong defensive effort and balanced scoring carried Lemon Bay to a 44-35 victory over North Fort Myers in a Class 7A-District 10 girls basketball quarterfinal Monday night.

Two weeks after dropping a game to the Red Knights on the same floor, the Manta Rays jumped out to a lead in the first quarter and never trailed the rest of the way. Kellie Redmann set the tone with steals on the Knights first two possessions and Lemon Bay led at the end of the first quarter, 10-3.

The Mantas had an 18-12 advantage at halftime, but the Knights scored the first three baskets of the third period to briefly tie the game at 18-18. A free throw by Kayleigh Foley gave the lead back to the Mantas, and a three-point play by Katelynn Ziarnicki keyed a 6-0 run that helped Lemon Bay take a 28-20 lead at the end of the quarter.

"I thought our defense was really good in the second half," Lemon Bay coach Mike Young said. "I thought the kids were really dialed in and played hard."

Foley came into the game in the third quarter when Abby Turner picked up her third foul.

"I'm really proud of Kayleigh Foley," Young said. "She had one of her best games. She came off the bench and gave us five points and five rebounds. We didn't miss a beat with her and Olivia Gibb in the post. Olivia didn't get a lot of shots but she took advantage of the shots she got and she was a real focal point for us."

Gibb had 11 points to lead the Mantas on 5-for-6 shooting.

"I feel like we just came in with a mindset that we need to win and it's a tournament game," Gibb said. "We changed up everything. We got more rebounds than them, we put our rebounds back and we didn't give them second chances, especially in the second half. I feel like that turned around our entire momentum."

"At this time the year, it comes down to who needs to take the shots, knowing how to take care of the basketball and being patient," Young said. "Every time it went fast it led to a foul or a turnover and they got a breakaway. I had to call time out to settle them down a little bit and then the kids did a nice job of extending the lead in the third quarter."

After a scoreless first half, Ziarnicki had 10 points in the second half, including a steal and 3-point play with 2:17 to go that gave Lemon Bay an 11-point lead and all but iced the game for the Mantas.

"She had some humongous and-ones in the second half to maintain the lead," Young said. "For a freshman she's done a great job. She's learning how to continue playing when the three point shot isn't falling. That was kind of a focal point for her at the beginning of the year. Now we're trying to get her to drive the ball to the basket and get to the foul line. Her defense created her offense for her in the second half and that kind of got her going."

"I think we were able to slow down our offense and run the plays we needed to run (after North Fort Myers tied the score)," Gibb said. "And switch into the defenses that we needed to switch into. We just executed what we needed to execute. I think that if we keep that up for Wednesday night we have a really good chance of moving on."

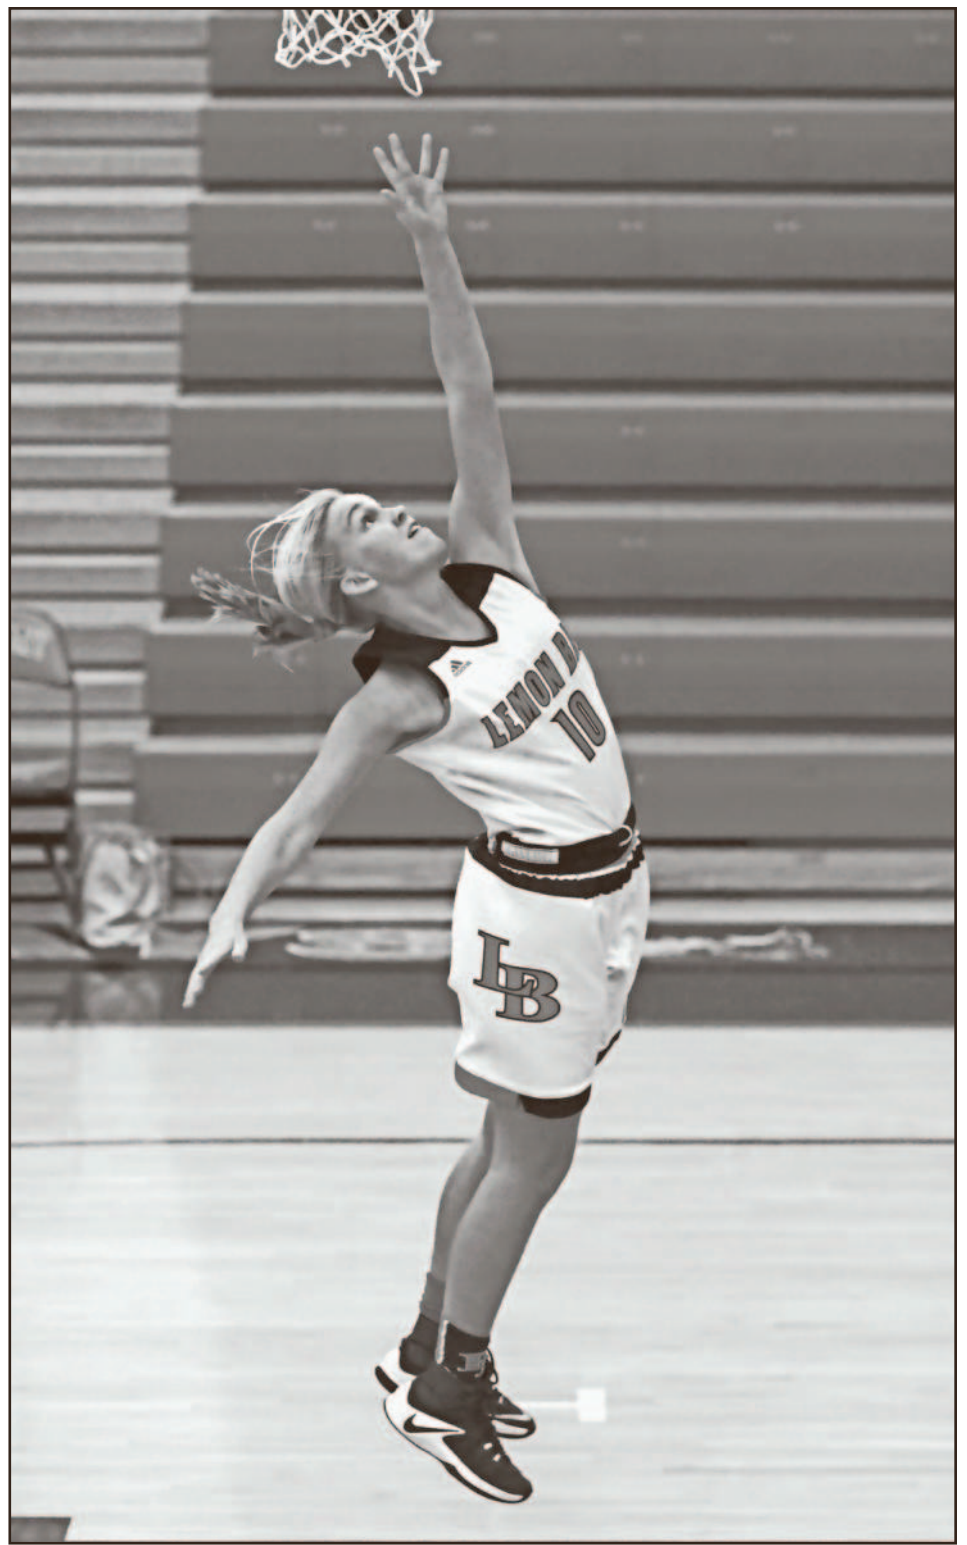

Next up for the fourth-seeded Mantas (13-10) is a matchup with top-seeded Charlotte on Wednesday. The Knights concluded their season with a record of 12-13.

Two weeks after beating Lakewood Ranch from start to finish, the Venice girls basketball team couldn't keep up with the Mustangs.

With their season on the line, the Lady Indians began Monday night's 8A District-11 quarterfinals game without two of their best players in the lineup and lost, 40-28, at Lakewood Ranch High School.

"They stepped up their pressure," Venice coach Joel Holloway said of Lakewood Ranch. "We didn't handle it real well, but we've done that before. We've handled their pressure. We've been handling pressure all year."

"Just tonight, the combination of not having players in the middle to be able to relieve some of that on our guards, that guard pressure just took a little bit more of a toll than it normally does."

In the final regular-season game at the TeePee, the seniors shone brightly as Venice (10-16) won in convincing fashion, 75-34, over the Sarasota Military Academy Eagles (4-20). All the Venice seniors scored.

Leading the way were Brett Keyso (18 points), Chason Rockymore (16) and Adam Gebel (15). Sencer Green added six, Chip Barber five and Nick Giacalone four.

"A good senior night. I'm a big senior guy. I always respect my seniors," said Flynn. "I wanted to start all seniors and I wanted to finish the game with all seniors. They all played well and they're going to be missed."

disciplined," Progl said. "They have a lot of seniors that have been on varsity for quite some time. They've won the district the last three years in a row. They're battle-tested and we're a fairly young group. It comes down to patience and execution. Tomorrow we have to work on some fundamental things to make sure that we at least have a chance Wednesday."

A win over Cape Coral would guarantee Port Charlotte at least two more postseason games, qualifying them for the district finals and regionals. A loss would bring their turnaround season to a conclusion.

■ NFL: New England Patriots

Pats' Belichick joins Halas, Lambeau with 6 championships

Belichick's accomplishments transcend the Super Bowl era

By CHARLES ODUM
AP SPORTS WRITER

ATLANTA — Bill Belichick is now standing shoulder to shoulder with the NFL's all-time greatest coaching icons.

When considering his place in history, Belichick's accomplishments transcend the Super Bowl era after his New England Patriots' 13-3 Super Bowl 53 win over the Los Angeles Rams on Sunday night. Belichick has joined George Halas and Curly Lambeau as the only coaches to win six NFL titles.

Vince Lombardi won five titles, including two Super Bowls. Lombardi is the namesake of the Super Bowl trophy which was displayed Monday when Belichick and Julian Edelman, the MVP of Sunday's game, discussed the Patriots' latest championship.

Belichick said it was "incredibly flattering" to hear his name mentioned with the coaching legends. He said Halas was friends with his father Steve Belichick, who played for the Detroit Lions and was a longtime assistant coach at Navy.

"I grew up watching coach Halas," Belichick said. Lombardi, "Papa Bear" Halas and Lambeau are the names which have been mentioned with Bill Walsh, Chuck Noll, Paul Brown, Don Shula, Tom Landry, Joe Gibbs and others as the greatest NFL coaches.

That was before Belichick began collecting championships. He now has two more Super Bowl titles than Noll's previous record of four and must be included in any grouping of all-time greatest coaches.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell on Monday described Belichick's record of success as "incredible" and "unprecedented."

"We're grateful to see him continue to have great football teams and bring them together in a way I don't think any other coach has ever done in the history of the game," Goodell said.

Belichick still has quarterback Tom Brady, so the Patriots can't be overlooked in the early discussion of teams which could reach Super Bowl 54 in Miami.

"I competed against some of those coaches and some I didn't compete against but I was aware of," Belichick said. "Coach Lombardi, as a kid growing up and watching the first Super Bowl. It's incredibly flattering."

Belichick said the championship is "a team accomplishment" and said "our entire team and organization put forth a superior and supreme effort to achieve that. That's really what it's all about, about how all of us came together and pulled our own weight so we could achieve our team goals. ... It's what we were able to accomplish as a team that makes me the most proud."

Brady, 41, said Sunday he plans to keep playing. Similarly, Belichick, 66, has made no mention of retiring, so there's no reason to think he has finished setting new standards for his profession.

Edelman said early in his career he saw Belichick on a treadmill, watching game film, late at night at the team's practice facility.

The wide receiver said he told Belichick "You sure like football."

Edelman said the coach responded "Beats being a plumber. See you tomorrow."

Belichick provided evidence of his attention to detail on Monday when he questioned Edelman's version of that exchange. The coach's clarification came immediately after taking the microphone.

"First of all, I think Julian might have misquoted me," Belichick said in his typical dry tone. "I have a ton of respect for plumbers. Those people do a great job. I think I said it beats working. But anyway."

With that, it was on to football. It's not too early to start planning a way to break that tie with Halas and Lambeau.

■ NFL: New England Patriots

Pats' defense stifles Goff, Rams' offense in Super Bowl win

By KYLE HIGHTOWER
AP SPORTS WRITER

ATLANTA — In a Super Bowl short on scoring, it was the New England Patriots' defense that set the tone.

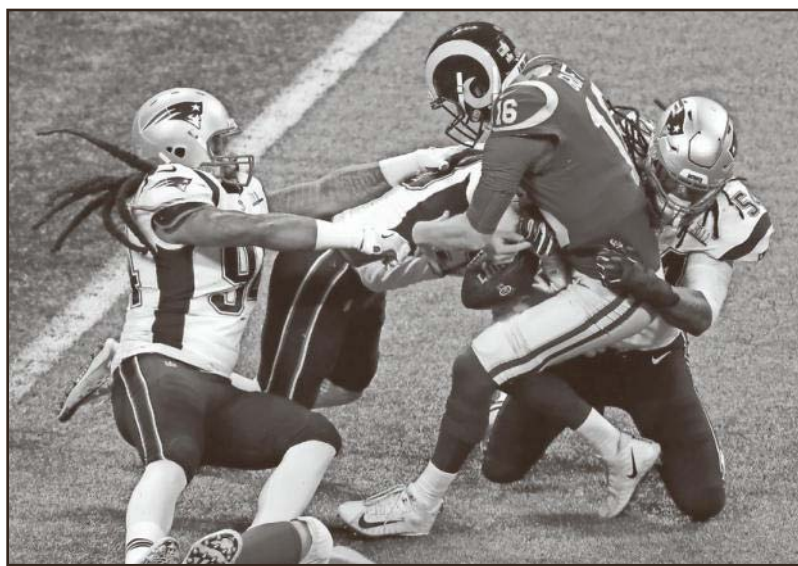

For most of the season the Patriots have stuck to their principles on defense, making just enough plays to win.

They were much more than that Sunday night against the Los Angeles Rams.

The Patriots battered and bewildered quarterback Jared Goff and the Rams, stifling the NFL's second-ranked scoring en route to a 13-3 Super Bowl victory.

New England quarterback Tom Brady said the Patriots' defense set the stage for a win that gave sports fans in New England another set of bragging rights over rival rosters in LA. Last October, the Boston Red Sox beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series.

It also sent linebackers coach Brian Flores, the Patriots' de facto defensive coordinator this season who is expected to be named Miami Dolphins coach as early as Monday, out with a victory.

"They played unbelievable," Brady said of the Patriots' defense. "Challenged all these plays. ... They held them."

The Rams' 3 points equaled the fewest scored in a Super Bowl.

When Goff began to find his groove late in the fourth quarter and the Rams trailing 10-3, Los Angeles drove inside New England's 30 for just the second time in the game.

The momentum proved to be short-lived.

Enter safety Duron Harmon.

Playing in place of Patrick Chung after he suffered an arm injury in third quarter, Harmon combined with cornerback Stephon Gilmore to break up what would have been a touchdown pass to Brandin Cooks. Then, on the next play, Harmon pressured Goff on a blitz and forced him into a throw into coverage that was intercepted by Gilmore.

"It was clutch," Gilmore said of his interception. "I knew he was going to force it up there. Our defensive line put a lot of pressure on him and he chucked it up there and I was able to make a play."

New England's offense took it from there, sealing the victory with a 9-play, 72-yard drive that ate up 3:05 and ended with a 41-yard field goal by Stephen Gostkowski.

The Patriots' defense gave Goff different looks all night and many of them seemed to confuse the 24-year-old quarterback. They routinely sent an extra deep safety on third-and-short situations and disguised their blitzes up the middle. The latter benefited linebacker Dont'a Hightower, who dropped Goff for a pair of sacks to stunt drives.

New England finished with four sacks for the game.

"We've got a special group," Hightower said. "We were able to do a lot of different stuff and they weren't able to pick it up. We were able to get a lot of one-on-one rushes all game and able to get up on the quarterback."

It added up to an abysmal performance by Los Angeles on third-down situations. The Rams were 0 for 6 on third down in the first half and 3 of 13 for game. New England also held Los Angeles to just 260 total yards.

None of the Rams' running backs were able to get much traction, either.

Los Angeles, which entered the game averaging 175 rushing yards per game during the playoffs with four touchdowns, mustered just 3.4 yards per rush on third down. All-Pro running back Todd Gurley finished with 10 rushes for 35 yards. C.J. Anderson, who had 167 yards and two touchdowns through two playoff games, had seven carries for 22 yards.

Cornerback Jason McCourty, who joined brother Devin McCourty after being traded to New England this offseason, also had some pivotal pass breakups.

"It's the best feeling ever," Devin McCourty said of watching his brother. "He's done everything right this year. He's been an inspiration to every guy."

New England bailed Goff out early in the fourth quarter when Gilmore was called for defensive holding on Goff's third-and-11 pass attempt, giving the Rams a fresh set of downs.

But the Patriots recovered, using a sack by Jonathan Jones, a holding penalty against the Rams and tackling Gurley for a loss to force a punt.

Linebacker Kyle Van Noy said the team also got energy from Chung, who returned to the sideline in the fourth quarter wearing a sling.

"I don't know what kind of injury he had, but it didn't look good," Van Noy said. "Anytime you have a captain go down like that you feel for him, you want to step up for him."

It was the second straight impressive performance by the Patriots' defense. In the AFC championship game the Patriots held the Kansas City Chiefs, the NFL's top-scoring offense during the regular season, scoreless in the first half. They held the Rams, which averaged 32.9 points per game during the regular season and 28 points in the playoffs, to just three points.

"We ain't stars over here," Van Noy said. "We just come to work and keep grinding and grinding and grinding. It shows. Look at the scoreboard again. We're champs, baby."

New Jersey casinos lose $4.6M on $34.9M in Super Bowl bets

By WAYNE PARRY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

New Jersey gambling regulators say its sportsbooks lost $4.6 million on $34.9 million in Super Bowl wagers, the first major sporting event for bettors since sports gambling was legalized in the state last year.

The New Jersey Division of Gaming Enforcement said Monday that casinos and horse tracks in the state paid $39.5 million to those who won bets. Many gamblers backed the New England Patriots, who beat the Los Angeles Rams 13-3 on Sunday night and covered the spread of 2 1/2 points.

Nevada, which had an effective monopoly on sports betting until the Supreme Court ruled last year that states could allow it, is expected to report its Super Bowl betting totals later Monday.

Joe Asher is chief executive of William Hill US, which runs sportsbooks at two casinos and a race-track in New Jersey. He says Super Bowl Sunday was by far the company's biggest day ever in the state in terms of the amount wagered. He says the book broke even and also had a record day for mobile signups and betting.

DraftKings, which runs mobile wagering in New Jersey along with an in-person lounge at Resorts casino, also set a new record for handle. Spokesman James Chisholm said the company paid out about $11 million in winning bets to customers, "and took a small, barely seven figure loss."

■ MLB: Pittsburgh Pirates

Bob Friend, pitched most innings for Pirates, dies at 88

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend, who pitched more innings than anyone in Pittsburgh Pirates history, died Sunday. He was 88.

The Pirates said Friend died at his home in Pittsburgh.

Friend holds the Pirates record for innings (3,480 1/3), starts (477) and strikeouts (1,682). The right-hander was an All-Star in three different seasons — in 1960, he made the NL roster for both All-Star games played that summer, and was the starter and winner in the first one.

Friend made his big league debut with two shutout innings for the Pirates against Cincinnati as a 20-year-old on April 28, 1951.

He became a fixture in Pittsburgh's rotation through 1965 and then played one more season, splitting his last year with the New York Yankees and Mets.

Nicknamed "The Warrior" for his remarkable durability, Friend went 197-230 with a 3.58 ERA in 602 games.

In 1955, Friend became the first pitcher to lead his league in ERA, winning the NL title with a 2.83 mark. He topped the majors in innings in 1956-57 and tied Warren Spahn for the big league lead with 22 wins in 1958, finishing third in the Cy Young Award voting.

In 1960, Friend was 18-12 with a 3.00 ERA in helping the Pirates reach the World Series. He was hit hard in two starts and a relief appearance, but Pittsburgh outlasted the Yankees in seven games to win the championship.

That season came during a string of 11 straight years he pitched more than 200 innings — topping 260 in six of them.

After his playing career ended, he was among the founding officers of the Pirates Alumni Association and stayed active as a board member.

Pirates President Frank Coonely, in a statement, called Friend "truly one of the very best to ever wear the Pirates black and gold."

Friend is survived by his wife Pat, son Bob and daughter Missy.

With wait over, Bengals hire Zac Taylor as coach

Rams quarterback coach to succeed Marvin Lewis

By JOE KAY

AP SPORTS WRITER

CINCINNATI — After 16 years without a playoff win under Marvin Lewis, the Bengals decided to try something different. But they had to wait more than a month before hiring Zac Taylor as their next coach in hopes of ending a long streak of futility.

Taylor's already been in town enough to know the history.

The Rams quarterbacks coach reached a deal Monday a few hours after LA's 13-3 loss to the Patriots in the Super Bowl at Atlanta. Cincinnati had to wait until after the title game to make his hiring official. The Bengals and Dolphins were the last two teams to fill head coaching vacancies, with Miami getting the Patriots' Brian Flores.

After three straight losing seasons and 28 years without a playoff victory, Cincinnati joined the latest wave — turning to a young, offensive-minded coach.

"Zach is a bright coach with an offensive mind and background, which is important to have in today's NFL," owner Mike Brown said in a statement. "And he's young. He embraces new ideas and new ways to do things, which will be a good thing for us."

Taylor is the Bengals' youngest head coach since they hired Dave Shula at age 32 in 1992. Shula went on to lose 50 games faster than any coach in NFL history, finishing 19-52.

The Bengals will introduce Taylor on Tuesday in what amounts to a homecoming for the 35-year-old coach.

Taylor has a head start, familiar with the city's affinity for chili parlors. He was offensive coordinator at the University of Cincinnati in 2016, when the Bearcats finished 4-8. Coach Tommy Tuberville was replaced after the season, and Taylor headed back to the NFL.

He also knows about the professional football team's longstanding futility, too. During his one year in town, the Bengals were starting their streak of three straight losing seasons that ultimately cost Lewis his job.

Taylor is taking a cue from his father-in-law, a former NFL head coach, in how to handle his new job.

"My father-in-law, Mike Sherman, coached a long, long time, and he just said,

'Be true to yourself. Be who you are, and people will follow you,'" Taylor said during Super Bowl week. "And I found that way to work for me."

His challenge is reminiscent of what Lewis faced when he arrived in 2003. He'll be counted upon only to win games, but also to win back fans turned off by the owner's aversion to change.

Brown was loyal to Lewis and stuck with him despite an 0-7 mark in the playoffs, the worst in NFL history for a head coach. The Bengals haven't won a playoff game since the 1990 season under Sam Wyche, tied with Washington for the fifth-longest streak of postseason futility in league history.

Since then, Shula, Bruce Coslet, Dick LeBeau and Lewis failed to get a playoff win. They managed only seven winning seasons combined, all by Lewis.

Crowds at Paul Brown Stadium have shrunk each of the last three years, with the Bengals finishing next-to-last in the NFL attendance last season. By bringing in an outsider as head coach, the Bengals hope to send a message that things are changing.

It won't be easy in the short-term.

Last season, the Bengals had their youngest team in Lewis' 16 years, and the inexperienced showed. Also, they've been unsettled at the coordinator positions in recent years, adding to the challenge. Quarterback Andy Dalton will be working under his third different coordinator in the last three seasons. The defense will have its fourth coordinator

■ NFL: Los Angeles Rams

McVay looks to future after Rams' ride derails in Super Bowl

By GREG BEACHAM

AP SPORTS WRITER

ATLANTA — Sean McVay has had very few bad days during his two seasons in charge of the Los Angeles Rams. His coaching tenure had been a rocket ride all the way to the Super Bowl.

Until Bill Belichick sent this bright football mind and his exciting team plummeting back to Earth.

What McVay does about it will determine whether the Rams are still an ascending powerhouse or another NFL contender broken by the New England Patriots.

After Belichick's defense turned McVay's offense into the worst version anyone had ever seen, the Rams' 33-year-old offensive guru was visibly frustrated and embarrassed. His clenched jaw in postgame interviews also signified a determination to never let it happen again.

"The thing that is so tough about all of this is the finality to it," McVay said Sunday night after his Rams failed to score a touchdown for only the second time in his 36 games in charge. "Usually, if you go through some adversity, you get a chance to bounce back right away. This one is going to stick with you. It just stings in your gut. I'm still kind of numb right now, but I have so much love for these players and these coaches. That's where it really eats at you, because you feel like you didn't do your part to help them achieve success."

"This is going to be a very humbling, tough one that you learn from. But you have to demonstrate that mental toughness you talk about, and that is all I know how to do."

McVay could have been speaking partly to convince himself after he coached only the second team in 53 Super Bowls to fail to score a touchdown. The wunderkind's confidence appeared to be shaken to its core by a New England defense that held the 11th highest-scoring team in NFL history to 260 total yards, six first downs in the first three quarters and their fewest points in McVay's era.

"It's embarrassing," left tackle Andrew Whitworth said. "It stings to play that way. You'd almost rather score a ton and lose that way, but that would take away from what the defense did. They gave us every opportunity to win."

McVay thrives on X's and O's, and he will have six months to scheme new ways to attack the similar zone defenses used late in the year by Detroit, Chicago and New England to throttle the Rams' passing game. He also will endeavor to teach Jared Goff to make better decisions under pressure after the young quarterback's stinker of a Super Bowl.

General manager Les Snead has big calls to make on soon-to-be free agents and roster vacancies. The Rams will return with a wealth of talent, but they must determine whether their 4-3 record in their final seven games was a sign of bigger flaws.

Financially speaking, the Rams' championship window remains wide open for at least one more season before Goff likely gets a significant raise and consumes a larger chunk of their cap space in 2020. They can deal with their disappointment by adding players, not culling them — and after the bold moves of the last offseason, there is no reason to suspect the Rams won't go all in again in 2019.

Although the Rams are hurting, a franchise with 13 consecutive non-winning seasons before McVay arrived is not likely to panic over one Super Bowl setback, particularly since much of its core — running back Todd Gurley, two-time Defensive Player of the Year Aaron Donald and 1,200-yard receivers Brandin Cooks and Robert Woods — is locked into place with long-term deals.

"The first thing (Super Bowl MVP) Julian Edelman said to me when I was congratulated him after the game was, 'You guys are going to be really good for a long time,'" Whitworth said.

Los Angeles' unrestricted free agents include defensive tackle Ndamukong Suh, safety Lamarcus Joyner, edge rusher Dante Fowler and left guard Rodger Saffold.

Although Suh loves living in LA and got his first career playoff victory this season, he likely could make more money elsewhere. The Rams must think about using the franchise tag on Fowler, who clearly would like to stay.

"We'll be ready next year," Fowler said after the Super Bowl.

Linebacker Cory Littleton, the Rams' leading tackler, leads a shorter list of restricted free agents.

They also will await a decision by Whitworth, the oldest offensive lineman in the NFL. The 37-year-old left tackle still plays superbly, but he has not committed to returning for the third season of his contract, saying Sunday he will "see how the offseason plays out."

While the defense could require several changes, the fate of the Rams' stalwart offensive line is a key. No starter has missed a game due to injury in McVay's two seasons, but center John Sullivan will be 34 and Saffold will be 31 by training camp. After another stellar season, Saffold could be expensive to keep.

No matter the changes, the Rams' returning players will carry the motivation of this Super Bowl loss — and so will McVay, who sees no end to his work after two wildly successful seasons.

"There is no other way to say it," McVay said. "I got outcoached."

on Jan. 11 to offer the job to Flores but had to wait until New England's season ended to complete an agreement.

"I wasn't in a rush to become a head coach," said Flores, 37. "I had a good job in New England."

Flores said the Dolphins job was appealing because he shared a vision with general manager Chris Grier on how to build a winner.

While preparing for the Super Bowl, Flores also began to hire a Miami staff. The group is expected to include former Colts and Lions head coach Jim Caldwell as assistant head coach, Patriots receivers coach Chad O'Shea as offensive coordinator and Packers assistant Patrick Graham as defensive coordinator.

The son of Honduran immigrants, Flores grew up in Brooklyn and has spent his entire coaching career with the Patriots. He joined them in 2004 and became their de facto defensive coordinator a year ago after Matt Patricia left to join the Lions as their head coach.

Flores is the ninth former assistant to Bill Belichick to become a head coach.

He becomes the NFL's fourth minority head coach for 2019, which is half the total of last season. Diversity advocates have questioned the effectiveness of the Rooney Rule requiring teams to interview at least one minority candidate for any head coach or general manager vacancy.

A former Boston College linebacker, Flores also coached offense and special teams with New England. He has a long relationship with Grier, who took charge of football operations in the recent organizational shake-up.

Both started as scouts for the Patriots, the Dolphins' longtime nemesis in the AFC East. Flores will report to Grier under the team's new, more streamlined leadership structure.

Among those attending the news conference were Flores' wife, Jennifer, their three children and his high school coach. Also on hand was the last quarterback to lead Miami to a Super Bowl, Dan Marino, in 1984, and the last quarterback to help the Dolphins win one, Bob Griese, in 1973.

Flores is leaving a team that won its sixth Super Bowl since 2002 to join a franchise that has not won a playoff game since 2000 and plans to rebuild after another dismal season.

The Dolphins went 7-9 in 2018 to miss the playoffs for the 15th time in 17 years. They allowed 6,257 yards, the most in franchise history, and the offense was also among the league's worst, finishing ranked 31st.

One win came at home against New England, when the Dolphins scored a miraculous touchdown with a pass and double lateral on the final play. The Patriots had expected a Hail Mary pass, and second-guessers complained that their secondary included lumbering 6-foot-6 Rob Gronkowski.

"My last memory here wasn't a great one," Flores said with a chuckle.

That improbable finish couldn't save Gase. Ross fired him, ordered a roster overhaul and acknowledged it may take several seasons to build a winner. The revamp is likely to include the departure of quarterback Ryan Tannehill, who has been with Miami since 2012 but has never taken a postseason snap.

Flores becomes Miami's 10th head coach since 2004, including three interim coaches. Grier noted that two of Flores' predecessors, Gase and Tony Sparano, reached the playoffs in their first season before the team backslid, so Miami will try a more patient approach.

"We want to build this where it's long term and you can win for many years, instead of trying to go year to year," Grier said.

Flores is braced for the frustrations that come with rebuilding.

"That's part of leadership — dealing with adversity," he said. "There's going to be some pain. There's pain for every team."

As for his curtailed Super Bowl celebration, he wasn't complaining.

"No, this is not getting cheated at all," Flores said. "That was a great experience, but I guess I've always been this way — I look forward."

haters noting that one of the worst officiating errors in NFL history cost the rightful NFC champions, the Saints, a shot at New England. Or that coin tosses have handed the Patriots the ball in a Super Bowl and a conference title game overtime, and eventually they were lifting the Lombardi Trophy.

No matter where football fans outside the New England base turn, however, the finish often hurts.

Why?

Wide receiver Chris

Hogan, who has been to Super Bowls in all three of his seasons in New England, explains it well.

"We have been in these situations so many times before in big games and we don't really blink," Hogan said. "We practice these situations, we run these situations, we know how to execute in these situations — that is what it comes down to. Four-minute drives and trying to end a football game, take care of the ball, run blocking and doing all of the fundamentals when it really counts. And we have been in this situation before and it just helps."

The Patriots have been in every position before. So when they need to rely on Brady to light up the scoreboard, they can. And if the game environment calls for grinding it out, they can.

One thing they never do is back off. In their losses to the Giants and Eagles in the Super Bowl, the Patriots remained aggressive. So did the opponent, though, and New York and Philadelphia simply made more key plays. Perhaps only one more key play, but that was enough.

When the Seahawks and Falcons lifted off the accelerator — or made unwise strategic moves — New England swooped in.

The decisive drive in the fourth quarter Sunday night was typical of the clinical manner in which they keep winning. Sloppy, particularly on third downs, and even a tad frustrated by the 3-3 score, they put together a classic drive: five plays, four of them passes, for 69 yards, capped by rookie Sony Michel's 2-yard touchdown run.

Brady went to his meal tickets and they ate up an LA defense that had been relatively staunch. An 18-yard pass to Rob Gronkowski, followed by 13 yards to game MVP

Julian Edelman.

Then a 7-yarder to Rex Burkhead led to a play that causes every defensive coordinator to lose sleep: Gronk going deep and overpowering as well as outreaching defenders — in this case double coverage — for 29 yards to the 2.

Once Michel scored, it seemed inevitable the Rams would find nothing but disappointment the rest of the way.

Leave it to Gronkowski to sum up what at some points looked like a so-so season for the Patriots. Yet there they were, at the summit again.

"I'll tell you this, it was the most satisfying year I've ever been a part of," said the star tight end who just might have played his last game; he's contemplating retirement, as he did last year before returning. "How we came together, the obstacles we had to overcome, the grind from the beginning of training camp to now. That was our identity; wear the other team out.

"We weren't making big, flashy plays all the time ... but we stuck together, we grinded, ran the ball.

"Now we're Super Bowl champions, we're world champions."

And the rest of the NFL writhes in pain.

Reeling Heat now hitting road for toughest stretch of season

Heat on the brink: In Wade's final season, Miami faces tough path to a postseason spot

By TIM REYNOLDS

AP BASKETBALL WRITER

MIAMI — Dwyane Wade has missed the playoffs only twice in his career, and the Miami Heat aren't exactly looking like a sure bet to get him one more trip to the postseason before retirement.

And a struggling team has no relief in sight, either.

The Heat play their next six contests on the road, a daunting stretch that starts Tuesday in Portland then moves to Sacramento, Golden State, Denver and Dallas in the last game before the All-Star break — then Philadelphia for the first game after the break. Entering Monday's games, four of those teams rank among the NBA's top 10 this season, and those six foes have a combined winning percentage of .610.

All that comes with Miami currently having a tenuous grip, at best, on the last playoff spot in the Eastern Conference — not at all helped by losing three home games in a four-day span last week.

"We've got to figure it out, man," said Wade, the 13-time All-Star in his 16th and final NBA season. "Like I tell the guys, it is not going to get any easier. We are going on a hell of a road trip. This five-game road trip is the toughest stretch of the season."

Then again, it might be exactly what Miami needs.

The Heat are very difficult to figure out in many respects. When they boarded the plane for the six-hour flight to Portland on Monday morning, they were 25th in the NBA in home winning percentage and 26th in scoring per game, both of which are awful. They're also seventh-best in road winning percentage and third-best in points allowed per game, obviously superb in those areas.

They're also last in the NBA in free-throw shooting, but fourth-best in the league in field goal percentage defense.

Go figure. There's a lot of really good, a lot of really bad, and the result is a 24-27 record with 31 games left.

"Do you want everything laid out perfectly for you in this association? No," Heat coach Erik Spoelstra said. "This league, save for maybe one team, is about is about dealing with adversity, dealing with competition, dealing with things that don't necessarily go your way and seeing how you respond to it collectively, seeing if you can become something new and something better from tough times."

The high-water mark for the Heat this season has been one game over .500 — done on three occasions, at 3-2, 19-18 and 21-20. They're on their fourth different three-game losing streak of the season.

If things don't change in a hurry, it could get much worse.

"If we don't want to go 0-8 in the last eight, then we've got to figure out a way to get out of the rut," Wade said.

When the All-Star break ends, the Heat could get point guard Goran Dragic back following about a two-month absence for knee surgery. Derrick Jones Jr., who was becoming a key part of things for the Heat on both ends, is recovering from two bone bruises in his knee by mid-March. Help is coming, eventually.

In the short term, though, the Heat are who they are.

And Wade's playoff plans might depend on what happens over the next couple weeks, with Detroit, Washington and Orlando all within three games of the Heat for the

No. 8 spot in the East.

"We're hitting up against a wall right now," Spoelstra said. "And we have to find maybe a different path instead of just trying to bang our head right through it. But no, I'm not frustrated. I'm invigorated. I want to figure this out for this team."

Heat say they'll retire Chris Bosh's jersey March 26

Chris Bosh is about to become the fourth former Heat player to have his jersey retired

MIAMI (AP) — Chris Bosh, who had arguably the biggest rebound and assist in Miami Heat history, will have his No. 1 jersey retired by the franchise on March 26.

The Heat made the announcement Monday.

Bosh played parts of six seasons in Miami, before his career was cut short by recurring issues with blood clots. He last played for the Heat in 2016.

Bosh helped Miami reach the NBA Finals four times and win championships in 2012 and 2013. He grabbed a rebound and tossed the ball out to Ray Allen for a game-tying 3-pointer with 5.2 seconds left in regulation of Game 6 of the 2013 NBA Finals against San Antonio, a game that the Heat would win in overtime to force Game 7.

Alonzo Mourning, Tim Hardaway and Shaquille O'Neal are the other Heat players to have jerseys retired. Dwyane Wade, Udonis Haslem and LeBron James will likely receive the same tribute in the coming years.

No. 1 Baylor hangs on against No. 14 Texas 74-68

WOMEN'S

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Moon Ursin scored 20 points and top-ranked Baylor held off a furious fourth-quarter rally by No. 14 Texas to get a tough 74-68 win Monday night and put a huge gap between the Lady Bears and the rest of the league in their chase for a ninth consecutive Big 12 championship.

Baylor was in control and leading 61-42 to start the fourth quarter before the Longhorns stormed back with a 20-6 run that cut the lead to five. Danni Williams made two 3-pointers and a layup off a mid-court steal in an eight-point burst.

The Lady Bears finally put the game away with Chloe Jackson's two free throws with 8 seconds left.

Kalani Brown scored 13 of her 15 in the second half for Baylor (20-1, 10-0 Big 12).

Sug Sutton and Williams each scored 19 for Texas (18-5, 8-3).

Baylor has won 19 of the last 20 matchups with Texas, and hasn't lost in Austin since 2010. The Lady Bears also notched their 32nd consecutive Big 12 regular season road win. This latest one gives Baylor a three-game lead in the Big 12.

Baylor clinched last season's title on Texas' home court and wore green and gold championship caps after leaving the court were looking for another romp until Texas rallied. It was just the second time in 10 games a Big 12 opponent has stayed within 10 points of Baylor.

No. 16. Louisville 72, No. 11 Virginia Tech 64

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Ryan McMahon scored 12 points in a span of 83 seconds in the second half and No. 16 Louisville used a 14-3 run to pull away and beat No. 11 Virginia Tech 72-64 on Monday night.

It is the Cardinals' 15th consecutive victory against the Hokies.

McMahon had scored just three points when he made three free throws with 11:53 to play. He then added three 3-pointers, the last with 10:30 left after a 3 by Ty Outlaw for the Hokies, to bolster the Cardinals (17-6, 8-2 Atlantic Coast Conference).

McMahon finished with 17 points, and Jordan Nwora and Dwayne Sutton each scored 15 for the Cardinals.

Kerry Blackshear Jr. scored 21 points and Nickeil Alexander-Walker 17 for the Hokies (18-4, 7-3), who lost for the first time in 12 home games. Virginia Tech has not beaten its old Metro Conference rival since Feb. 13, 1991.

Illinois stayed in the game until the final period. Maryland went cold in the third quarter, shooting 5 of 18 from the field.

UConn falls to 5th in women's AP Top 25; Louisville is No. 2

By DOUG FEINBERG

AP BASKETBALL WRITER

NEWYORK — Coach Geno Auriemma doesn't seem too concerned that UConn has its most losses in six years.

After all, the Huskies entered the Final Four unbeaten the last two seasons only to walk away without a national championship.

"Last time I checked, there's 365 Division-I teams in America, 364 of them would trade places with me in a heartbeat," he told reporters after the Huskies beat Cincinnati on Saturday. "I'm not going to lose any sleep over this."

UConn suffered its second loss of the season on Thursday, falling to then-No. 3 Louisville. The Huskies dropped to fifth on Monday in The Associated Press women's basketball poll, their lowest ranking since Feb. 12, 2007. UConn moved into the top five a week earlier and has remained there every poll since — a span of 232 consecutive weeks. That is more than double the next-longest streak, held by Louisiana Tech. The Lady Techsters had a 96-week run in the top five from 1979-84. Louisville moved up to second this week behind top-ranked Baylor. The Lady Bears received 25 of 28 first-place votes from a national media panel on Monday. The Cardinals received the other three.

Oregon and Notre Dame rounded out the top five teams in the poll.

Mississippi State, Oregon State, Marquette, North Carolina State and Maryland were next. The Wolfpack lost their first game of the season, falling to North Carolina on Sunday.

Miami entered the poll at No. 25 while BYU fell out a week after getting ranked.

No. 9 Michigan State drops 3 spots after losing 2 in a row

By LARRY LAGE

AP SPORTS WRITER

EAST LANSING, Mich. — No. 9 Michigan State dropped three spots in The Associated Press poll after losing two straight for the first time this season.

"We're going to try to get up off the mat," coach Tom Izzo said Monday.

Michigan State (18-4, 9-2 Big Ten) is aiming to repeat as the Big Ten's regular-season champion, but its losses last week took away a potential cushion. The Spartans have fallen into a three-way tie atop the Big Ten with No. 7 Michigan and No. 15 Purdue and the leaders have a slim lead over No. 19 Wisconsin and No. 24 Maryland.

The Spartans have a shot to get their swagger back Tuesday night at Illinois, which is tied for 12th in the Big Ten, and Saturday at home against middle-of-the-pack Minnesota.

Izzo thinks the regular-season champion will have at least three or four losses by the time its first 20-game schedule closes in a month. Ward was 1 of 9 at the line, making one of two shots when Michigan State trailed Indiana by one with 18 seconds left in regulation.

It was uncharacteristic for Ward, who made all nine attempts at the line over the previous four games, and for the Spartans, who have made 72 percent of their free throws this season.

While Izzo can forgive and forget Ward's woes at the line, rebounding remains a concern. The junior forward had just two defensive rebounds against the Hoosiers and a total of just nine last week.

Izzo lamented his team's lack of physical play Saturday and didn't back off that criticism two days later.

Red Sox equipment truck departs for Florida

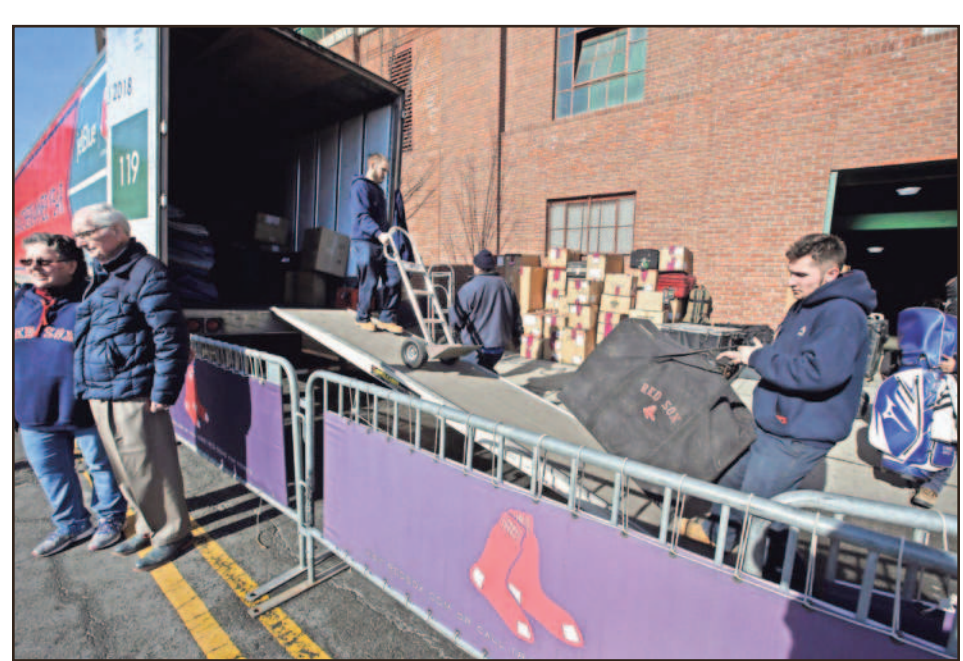

BOSTON (AP) — On the same day the New England Patriots returned home from their sixth Super Bowl victory, the Boston Red Sox equipment truck departed for Florida for spring training.

The truck left Fenway Park at about noon Monday for the 1,480-mile trip to the club's spring training home on Fort Myers.

Al Hartz, of Milford, took the wheel of the 53-foot truck for the 21st consecutive year.

The truck carried 20,400 baseballs, 1,100 bats, 200 batting helmets, 20 cases of bubble gum and 60 cases of sunflower seeds among other items.

The Red Sox last October won their fourth World Series of the 21st century. Pitchers and catchers are scheduled to report on Feb. 13.
