Need to submit a publication request to the Hourglass or AFN Roller? This is how: If you have access to the global, type in “usarmy” to get to the group email listings. There are three listings. The first two groups are bolded.

When you scroll past those, the last group is unbolded – this is the listing you want to choose. Make sure it says “mailbox” before Hourglass or AFN Roller and NOT “List” or “MBXOWNER” If you do not have access to the global, here are the new email addresses:

NOTE: Messages sent to the old SMDC email addresses are no longer forwarded. You must use the new email addresses.

MANIT MINUTE

Rainbows are a common sight in Majuro. Local legend tells that the expression “iaKwe!” (You are a rainbow) once developed into the traditional Marshallese greeting, “lokwe yuk,” which means “Love to you.”

A Veteran’s Administration Representative will be on Kwajalein to consult and answer questions for interested personnel.

The representative will be available for consultation from 1-4:30 p.m., March 28; 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4:30 p.m., March 29; location will be in Building 730 (HQ building), Small Conference Room 135. Call 51404 or 54848 for further information.

Thumbs Up!

... to Tim Dralle, a new fire-fighter on Kwajalein. On Monday, a scuba rescue class was being conducted on Emon Beach. Prior to the start of the exercise involving a “near drowning victim,” the lifeguards and all personnel on the beach were notified that it was not a real emergency. When “the victim” was pulled from the water and rescue breaths provided, Dralle was riding his bike past Emon Beach and jumped in to help, not knowing it was a drill. He had only been on Kwaj for 48 hours. It goes to show the good character of people we have on Kwaj.

... to two very special young men who demonstrated what true friendship is. You are a treasure!

... to Mandie Morris and Community Activities, Karen Brady, Krystal Peterson and Nikki Delisio for the Wellness Wednesday classes last month. The classes were diverse and taught us a lot about fitness and overall wellness. Thank you!

Thumbs Down

... to people who don’t mind their own business. You know why.

THE KWAJALEIN HOURGLASS

The Kwajalein Hourglass is named for the insignia of the U.S. Army 7th Infantry Division, which liberated the island from the forces of Imperial Japan on Feb. 4, 1944.

The Kwajalein Hourglass is an authorized publication for military personnel, federal employees, contractor workers and their families assigned to U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll. Contents of the Hourglass are not necessarily official views of, or endorsed by, the U.S. Government, Department of Defense, Department of the Army or USAKA. It is published Saturdays in accordance with Army Regulation 360-1 and using a network printer by Kwajalein Range Services editorial staff.

USAKA prepares for potential weather disaster with island evacuation exercise

By Sheila Gideon
Managing Editor

Living on a remote tropical island affords us many opportunities and privileges for our mission and lifestyle. However, the fact that Kwajalein and Roi-Namur are located in the middle of the Pacific leaves us vulnerable to certain weather concerns. For this reason, U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll emergency operations management team coordinated an emergency evacuation exercise on Kwajalein and Roi-Namur Feb. 28. The exercise simulated a typhoon warning that eventually led to an evacuation for all island residents.

AFN Roller and Crawler announcements published “prepare to evacuate” messages to the community beginning at 2 p.m. This was to give residents time to pack a “go bag” and get their family members and pets ready to evacuate. At 6:30 p.m., the “prepare to evacuate” siren was blasted, followed by radio announcements alerting residents of the pending weather watch. At 7 p.m., the “evacuate to shelters” siren sounded, followed by radio, Roller and Crawler messages. At that time, residents were required to move to their designated shelters. At 7:50 p.m., the “all clear” siren was sounded, ending the exercise.

USAKA Emergency Operations Manager, Maj. Luke Koerschner, was very satisfied with the outcome of the exercise. “I think the cooperation by the residents went well,” Koerschner said. “The EOC (Emergency Operations Center) team worked well together.”

The focus this year was to train new residents on what actions they would need to take in an emergency. There was also focus on making sure the boats at the marina could be crewed; if there was a real typhoon, some of the vessels may be moved out to sea, rather than left tied off on the pier. The other focus was accountability. Kwajalein Range Services managers forecasted where employees would be, whether it was a shelter, hard housing or Bachelors Quarters. Koerschner was impressed with the accuracy of accountability of employees this year.

“KRS did a very good job of forecasting where their employees would go,” he said. “We were very pleased with how accountability went.” Next time, the team will concentrate on combining numbers from KRS and USAKA so they can better forecast total numbers for each mass shelter. There were 48 residents who evacuated to the Dental Clinic, 85 to the High School, 102 to Building 602 and two at the Religious Education Building.

The priority for Kwajalein Police Department was to check the accountability at the BQs. Their second objective was to check family housing for Occupants Evacuated and Identified forms that should have been displayed on quarters. This was executed well, Koerschner said, but there were some lessons learned. There was supposed to be a sign-up sheet on the second floor for those BQ residents who needed to evacuate from the first floor. The sign-up sheet was mistakenly put on the first floor, so not as many BQ residents signed in as expected.

There were several other lessons learned from the exercise.

“One consideration is to rezone so that we have fewer people going to the dental clinic,” Koerschner said. Another consideration is to have more rigid plans for where people will go. For changes like this to happen, there needs to be an edit to the emergency evacuation plan in the phonebook; they might wait to make these changes when another edition of the phonebook is scheduled to be printed.

There was uncertainty last year concerning pets at the mass shelters. This year, it was advertised that pets were allowed, but had to be transported in a kennel. This year, nobody brought pets, kenneled or otherwise, to the shelters at all. “The upside is that we didn’t have a problem,” Koerschner commented. “The downside is that we really didn’t rehearse how to evacuate our pets.”

Other confusion this year had to do with knowing what the sirens meant and the radio announcements. Some residents evacuated at the first siren that indicated “prepare to evacuate” instead of waiting for the second siren. Radio messages played beginning at 3 p.m., but were requested prematurely by the EOC staff, Koerschner said. The radio message indicated that the “prepare to evacuate” siren had sounded; that siren actually sounded at 6:30 p.m. The messages were discontinued until that time, but had already confused some residents. Next year, the EOC team will look more closely at the community announcements and the timing of when they are aired.

Roi was not included to the level originally planned. “We tried to include Roi, but we didn’t incorporate them as much as we would like to,” commented Koerschner. Since all Roi residents live in BQs, their exercise simply consists of moving first floor residents to the second floor. Next time, Koerschner is considering sending someone to Roi to evaluate their rehearsal.

Overall, the exercise was a success. “I think it was a good exercise, especially for people who are new,” Koerschner said. “This was my first exercise, too. So, not only were the residents learning, but also the new emergency operations center staff.”

Even though most of the weather events that would hit USAKA would afford a few days notice, future evacuation exercises will still be conducted to increase readiness. Future exercises may be done as often as twice a year and will most likely happen in October, which is the beginning of typhoon season. There may even be a full-scale evacuation exercise in the future that spans over several days.

Feedback on this year’s exercise has been provided by the shelter wardens, but Koerschner invites all residents to offer feedback on the exercise. Email any comments to luke.e.koerschner.mil@mail.mil.

Japanese bereavement group mourns loss of their ancestors during WWII

Article and photos by Sheila Gideon
Managing Editor

Every year, members of the Marshall Islands War-Bereaved Families Association visit Kwajalein and Roi-Namur to honor and mourn their Japanese ancestors who perished during Operation Flintlock in World War II.

This year, a group of 14 visited the Japanese cemeteries on Kwajalein and Roi-Namur Tuesday. They built a shrine in front of each memorial filled with fruit, beverages, photos and personal letters. They burned incense as they prayed and sang to remember their loved ones. On Roi, they collected sand from the beach and visited the old Japanese Headquarters Building used during the war.

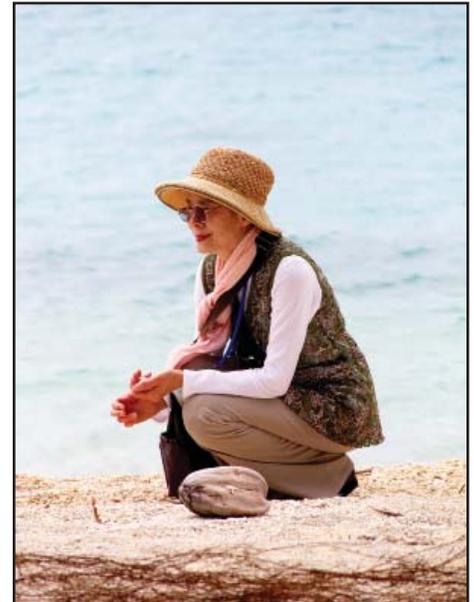

Many of those visiting were just babies when their fathers lost their lives defending Kwajalein and Roi-Namur. One man brought a photo of himself as a baby, sitting with his mother and father right before he left for the war.

Col. Shannon Boehm showed command support by escorting the group to the cemetery on Kwajalein, while Lt. Col. Dean Wiley accompanied the group to Roi.

The group departed Wednesday, but a second, larger group is scheduled to visit next week.

The front of the memorial stone on Kwajalein depicts squares that represent each prefecture in Japan. Each square is made from minerals specific to each region. The back of the stone reads, "In memory of those gallant men who fought and died for their country at the Marshall and Gilbert Islands during the second World War. May they lie in peace."

Two Japanese women pray for their loved ones who perished during WWII at a shrine built at the Japanese Cemetery on Roi-Namur. The ladies are part of the Marshall Islands War-Bereaved Families Association group who visited Tuesday.

The four major wars in which American women served after World War II can be split into two pairs. Korea and Vietnam were conflicts fought in Asian countries divided by the politics of the Cold War. The Persian Gulf War and the conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq were fought in the Middle East and grew out of tensions over aggression in that region and, in the latter instance, the 9/11 attacks. For women, the first two wars signaled few advances in their roles in military service, but in the two recent wars, the areas of women's participation expanded immensely, with potentially more dire consequences.

Women in the Military

Lee Lane in uniform, sitting inside doorway of a helicopter [October 2004]

War: Afghanistan and Iraq Wars, 2001-present

Branch: Army

Unit: Illinois Army National Guard
Service Location: Chicago, Illinois; Balad, Iraq

Rank: Chief Warrant Officer 2

Place of Birth: Illinois

A lifelong adventurer, Lee Lane joined the military to become a helicopter pilot. The first female helicopter pilot in her Illinois National Guard unit, she spent her time overseas zooming across the Iraqi countryside, 50 feet above the ground. Unlike many Soldiers in Iraq who were stationed only in one or two locations, her role as a pilot afforded her a unique, ever-changing view of the country's varied terrain and diverse population. "It's the only time I've ever had where I had one thing to think about and nothing else to worry about."

Mary Weiss Hester as a flight nurse, tending to a wounded patient aboard a C-47 [1953]

War: Korean War, 1950-1953

Branch: Air Force

Unit: 801st Medical Air Evacuation Squadron (MAES); 90th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing

Service Location: Scott Air Force Base (AFB), Illinois; Lowry AFB, Colorado; Montgomery, Alabama; Los Angeles, California; Tokyo, Japan; Korea; Forbes AFB, Kansas

Rank: First Lieutenant

Place of Birth: Indiana

In 1950, Mary Weiss, who had never been more than 40 miles from her Indiana home, decided to join the Air Force, then recruiting students at her nursing school. Her desire to travel was fulfilled after she signed up for flight school and became a flight nurse, logging over 760 hours between Japan and Korea during her 14 months abroad. She also met her future husband, Kenneth Hester, in flight school, and they were married in Tokyo while still in the service. "I was glad to serve. My father had served in World War I. My brother was in World War II in the Army Air Force. He said, 'If you're going to join the service, join the Air Force.'"

Major Clara Johnson, Vietnam [1969]

War: Korean War, 1950-1953; Vietnam War, 1961-1975

Branch: Air Force

Service Location: Lackland Air Force Base (AFB) and Brooks Field, Texas; Cheyenne, Wyoming; Sealand, Wales; Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio; Ramstein Air Base, Germany; Griffiss AFB, New York; also: Vietnam

Rank: Major

Place of Birth: Mississippi

In 1950, Clara "Chris" Johnson was a theatrical designer with limited prospects when she decided that the Air Force would provide her with a steady income. Her initial impression of her female colleagues confirmed that she was going to be judged solely on her abilities and not on the color of her skin. She survived a rigorous stint at Officers Candidate School and a year in Vietnam, and got to retire at an age young enough to have a second career in academia. "I was always impressed with my female colleagues in that I was the only person of color and they were readily accepting of me."

By Bob Sholar
KRC Vice President

Kwajalein Running Club conducted the 33rd Annual "Downwind Dash" 1-mile run at 5 p.m. on Monday. The traditional straight line course on the Oceanside road adjacent Kwajalein's runway was used. Aiding winds were in the 14-19 mph range. There were 51 runners aged between 6 and late 60s who participated.

First across the finish line was ninth-grader Michael Sykes in 5 minutes, 22 seconds. Next across was the first female finisher, Krystal Peterson, in 5:34. Peterson pushed her 1-year-old son, Jaden, in a jog stroller.

In the Jahnke family of long time participants, ninth-grader Sam beat his dad, Jon, for the first time, 5:52 versus 5:53.

In the SSE (Social Security Eligible) division's friendly rivalry, Vic Langhans prevailed over Ray Drefus, 7:53 versus 8:39.

Krystal Peterson is the first place finisher for the women, along with son, Jaden.

Lili and Chester Snoddy finish within one second of each other at the Downwind Dash.

4-H Club fundraisers help purchase school supplies for Ebeye students

Members of the 4-H Cooking and Technology Club distribute school supplies to the Ebeye Public School on Feb. 25. The supplies were purchased with the taco-in-a-bag profits raised last year. They were given a tour of the school's classrooms, kitchen, library and future computer room. The vice principal was very thankful for the club's hard work and said that the supplies were exactly what the students needed.

WALK THE ROCK is a physical activity challenge with a goal of 10,000 steps a day. Challenge dates are March 31 to May 11. Registration is Tuesday through March 30. Register a team of four people or a whole department! Prizes will be awarded for most overall steps during the six weeks to teams and individuals. Register with Community Activities and receive a pedometer and log book to help you track your steps. Be on your way to 10,000 steps a day! For questions, call Mandie at 53331.

IF YOU ARE 13 or will be in the next six months, and you would like to be added to the CYSS Babysitter List, call Susannah at 53610 or email susannah.e.prenoveau.ctr@mail.mil to sign up for the 4-H Babysitter Training Class. The training will take place April 5-6 from 9-11 a.m. and 12:30-3:30 p.m.

KINDERGARTEN PRE-REGISTRATION for the 2013-2014 George Seitz Elementary School Year is Tuesday through April 13. Children eligible for Kindergarten must turn 5 by Sept. 1, 2013. Call the Elementary School office at 53601 to pre-register your child. All pre-registered children will participate in a Kindergarten Readiness Screening in April. Parents will be contacted with screening dates and location.

DUE TO THE LARGE influx of TDY on Roi-Namur, all billeting rooms will be occupied from the end of March until the end of April. No reservations will be accepted for Roi by Kwaj Lodge for Kwaj residents or 480 guests. We appreciate your understanding. Call 53201 with any questions.

HOW ARE WE DOING? If you have received services from the Hospital recently, please take a few minutes to fill out the electronic customer satisfaction surveys located at the site address: <https://kwajweb.smdck.smdc.army.mil/community/medical/Pages/default.aspx#>. A paper survey is also available at the hospital by the emergency room entrance and in the hallway between the Laboratory and Pharmacy. We encourage you to be honest about your experience with the Kwajalein Hospital, and we welcome your comments, suggestions and requests.

ATTENTION DOG OWNERS. Please treat your dogs with Frontline monthly. We have been seeing ticks lately. If you have a cat in the household, only use Frontline. Call Jenny at 52017 if you have questions.

BOX TOPS FOR EDUCATION are still being collected! Clip box tops from participating food items and send them to school with your children or drop them off at Surfway's bulletin board. The Box Tops will help support the Ri'katak student lunch program.

SMALL BOAT MARINA summer hours are in effect: 1:30-6:30 p.m. on Saturdays, and 8 a.m.-6:30 p.m. on weekends.

STATIONS OF THE CROSS at 6 p.m., Friday evenings throughout March, at Blessed Sacrament Small Chapel. Simple supper of soup and bread served afterward. Questions? Contact Fr. Vic at 53505.

DURING THE LENTEN SEASON, the Zamperini Dining Facility will be offering deliciously prepared fish and vegetarian dishes during the lunch meal service every Friday. Also available will be deli tuna wraps.

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY, a ticketing service fee will be applied to tickets purchased at the Kwajalein City Ticket Office. Hours of operation will be changed to provide continuous service to our valued customers. New hours will be 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays. Thank you to all our valued customers as we work to build the world's leading airline in the current market place.

PUT A STOP TO THE DROP. Report all leaky taps to the Service Desk at 53550.

E-TALK: Reduce waste, reuse materials and make an effort to be part of the recycling program. Questions? Call Solid Waste for assistance.

SAFELY SPEAKING: Wind Hazards. Protect your eyes from windblown debris. Protect your fingers and body when doors open or close quickly from the wind's energy.
