ST. PETERSBURG HIGH SCHOOL
ST. PETERSBURG, FLORIDA

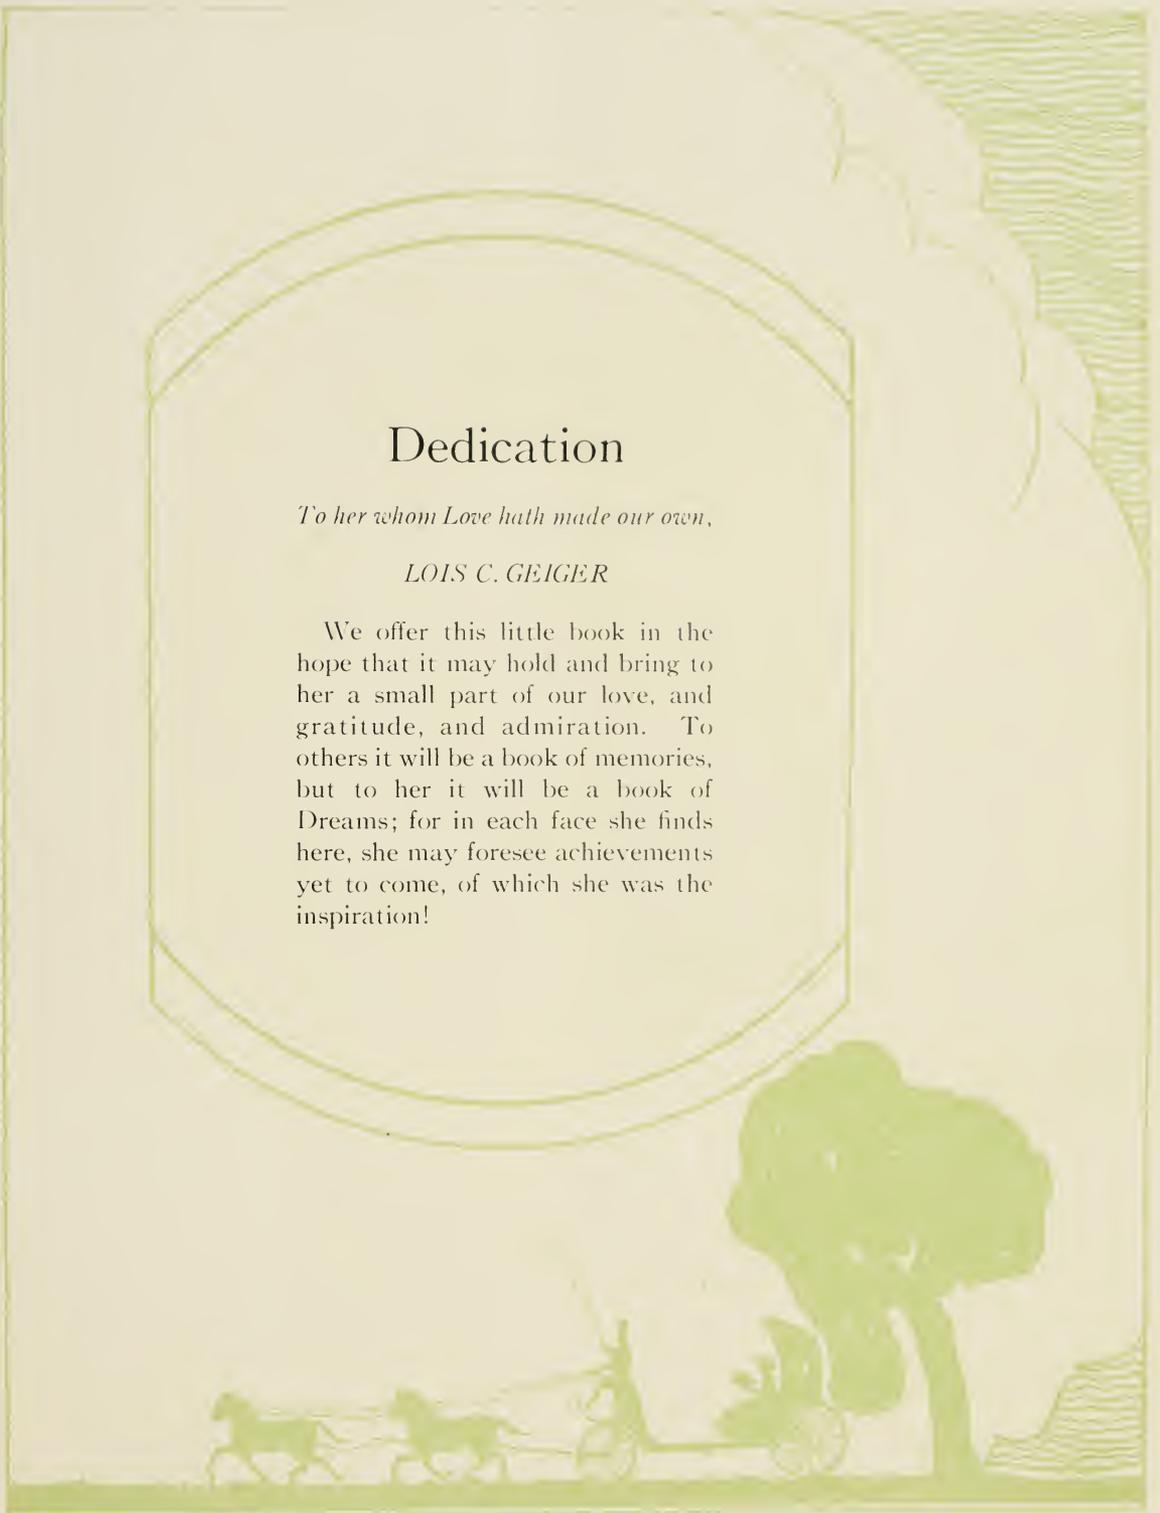

Dedication

To her whom Love hath made our own,

LOIS C. GEIGER

We offer this little book in the hope that it may hold and bring to her a small part of our love, and gratitude, and admiration. To others it will be a book of memories, but to her it will be a book of Dreams; for in each face she finds here, she may foresee achievements yet to come, of which she was the inspiration!

Foreword

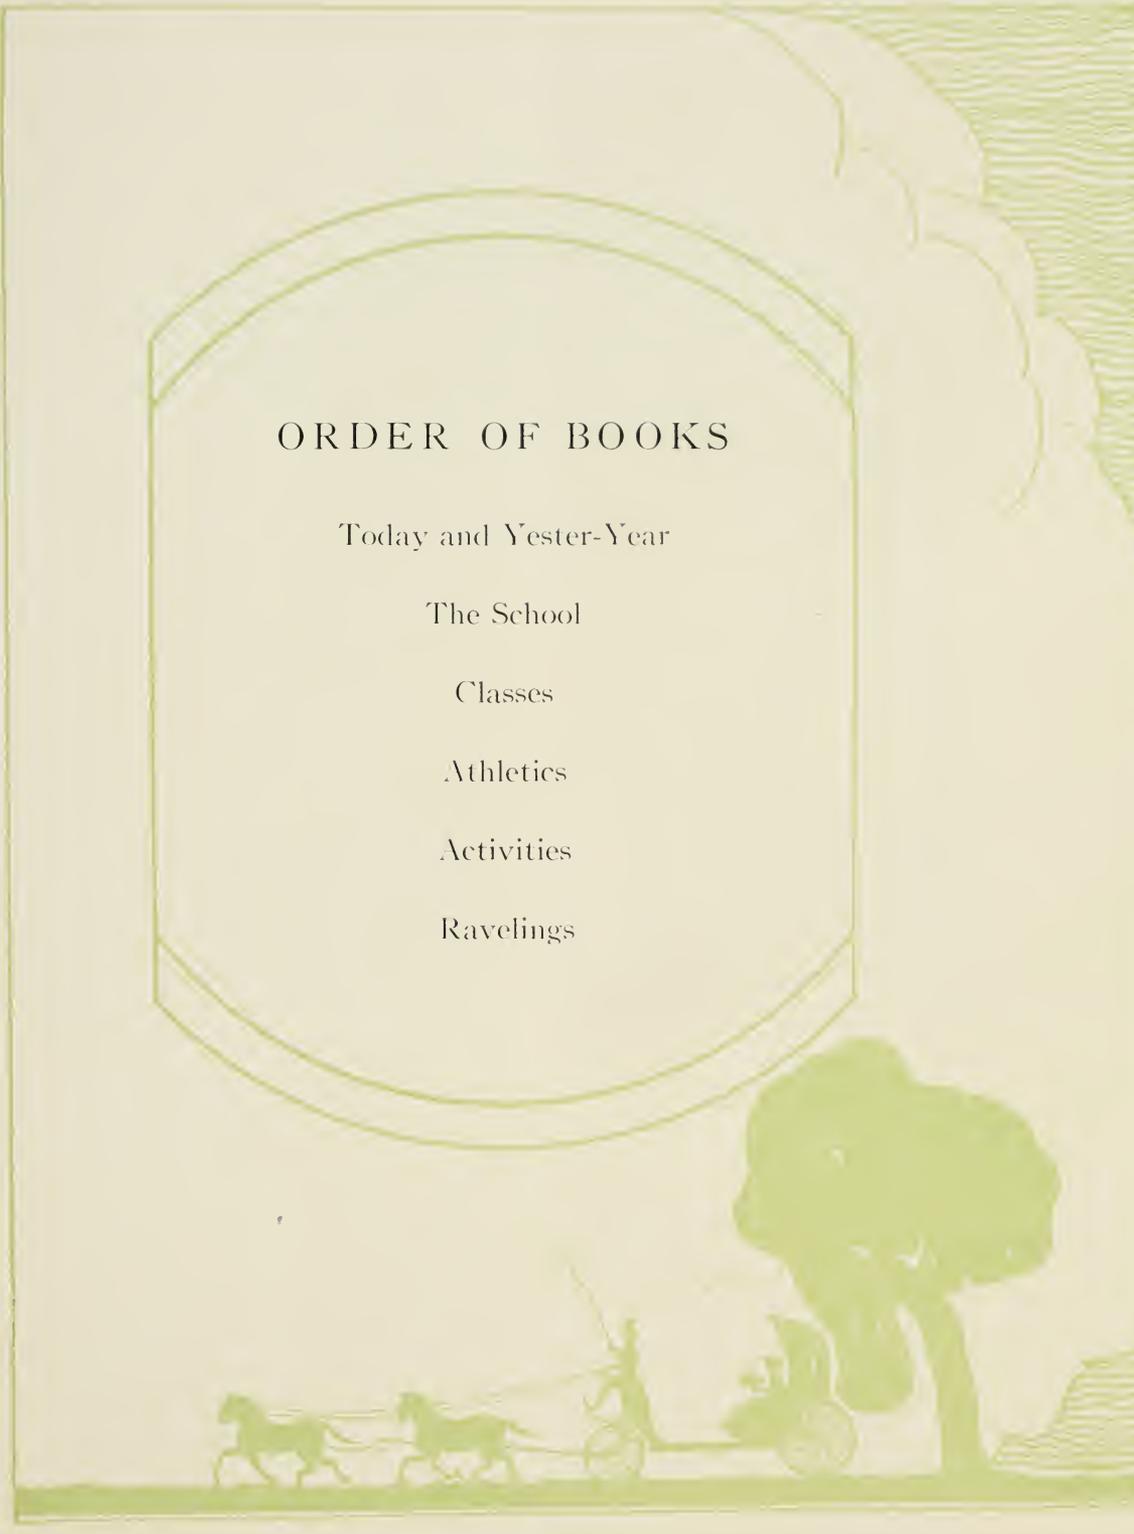

“Tempus fugit,” as the Romans said, and like the tide, waits for no man.

Accordingly, we know that sometime, perhaps often, in the future we will come to the end of a perfect day and find ourselves saying, “Backward, turn backward, oh Time, in your flight, and make me a child again just for tonight.”

So we have compiled this little book, from the varied and interesting material which you yourselves have furnished us, and hope that when that day comes we shall have —

*The No-So-We-Ea with us yet,
Lest we forget — lest we forget.*

Seniors

"We came, we toiled, we graduated."

As Shakespeare would say; there are four stages in the normal life of a high school student:

First, age of bliss and ignorance,
 Second, age of downright impudence,
 Third, age of joyful indolence,
 And fourth, the age of independence!

For the last four years of our young lives we have worked toward this end, and now at last we have reached the goal — to have attained the superior height of upperclassmen, and to be looked upon with awe and respect as the most glowing examples of dignity and wisdom!

This has always been our supreme ambition — until we became Seniors. But the moment we discovered that the date we have been accustomed to writing after our respective names exactly coincided with that on the calendar, we were suddenly confronted with the fact that "our days are numbered." We don't mind saying that, being perfectly normal in spite of all the above virtues, it made us want to shed a parting tear or two. Now that we must bid good-bye to our Alma Mater, we find ourselves extremely loathe to leave old St. Pete High.

We may have been terribly overworked and greatly incensed at the thought of being deprived of such divine rights as chewing gum and throwing notes, but though the first four years may be the hardest, and extremely trying ones, we want to say that we found them the most enjoyable and worthwhile years we have ever spent.

Class of '27.

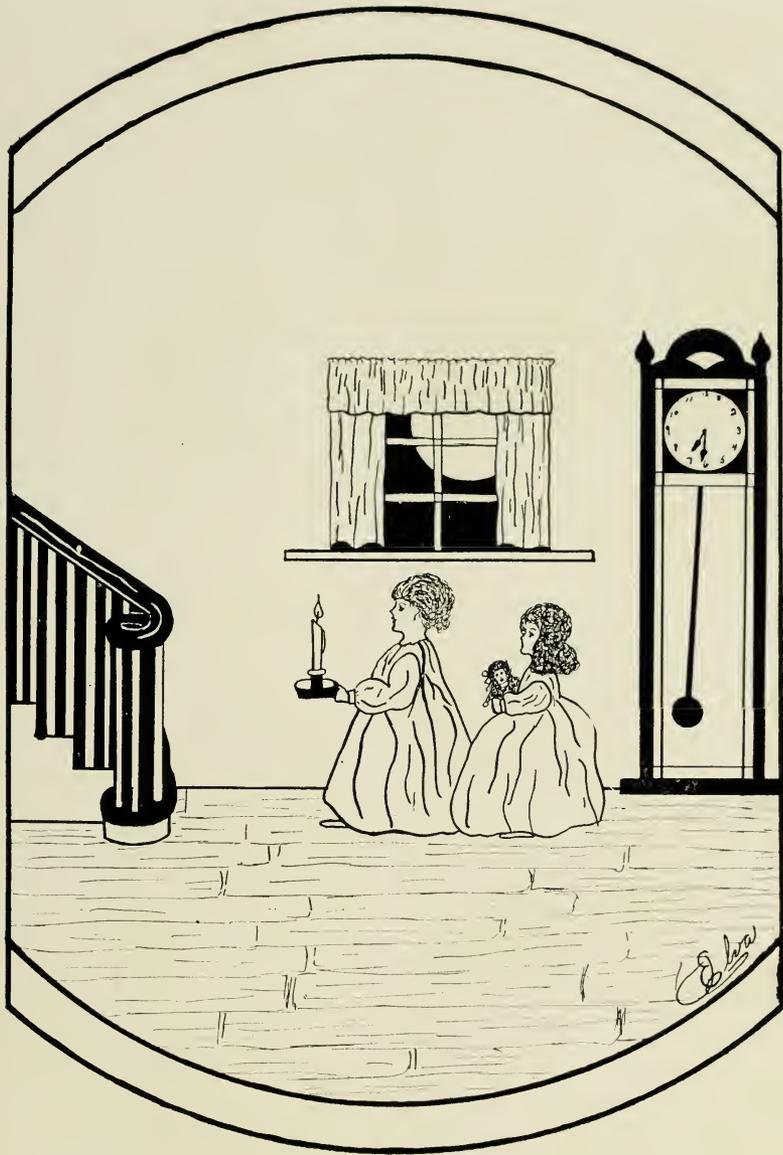

The journey of our Sophomore year was made in a flivver, but we have now advanced to a ship. Louie Adcock, the helmsman is still at the wheel, steering the ship carefully through the troubled waters. Beside him sits Miss Edith Falkenstein, our pilot, whose perseverance, energy and self-sacrifice have guided us through all our trials. The rest of us are scattered in different parts of the ship, each pursuing his own interests.

At the first of this year we had a class picnic. It was the first social event of the year and was so greatly enjoyed by everyone that we began to make plans for another. Next came the campaign for class dues. When we had all paid them, we settled down for a nice long journey. There followed a series of entertainments given by various members of the class at our class-meetings. We enjoyed these thoroughly but gradually lost our interest in them when we began to plan for the greatest event of the whole year, the Junior-Senior banquet. At that time we invited the Seniors to accompany us on our voyage. They accepted our invitation and were our guests for the rest of the journey.

We have enjoyed our voyage this year. Now we are at the end of it and, although we are sorry to leave, we are looking forward with eager anticipation to our expedition of next year.

Yea! Sophomores, how about telling the rest of our fellow students why they should be proud of us.

Our class first began to experience events such as might be called history in the year 1923-24 when we spent many happy days in the old Southern Methodist Sunday School Building.

The following year, 1924-25, we were the first class to graduate from the New Junior High School Building.

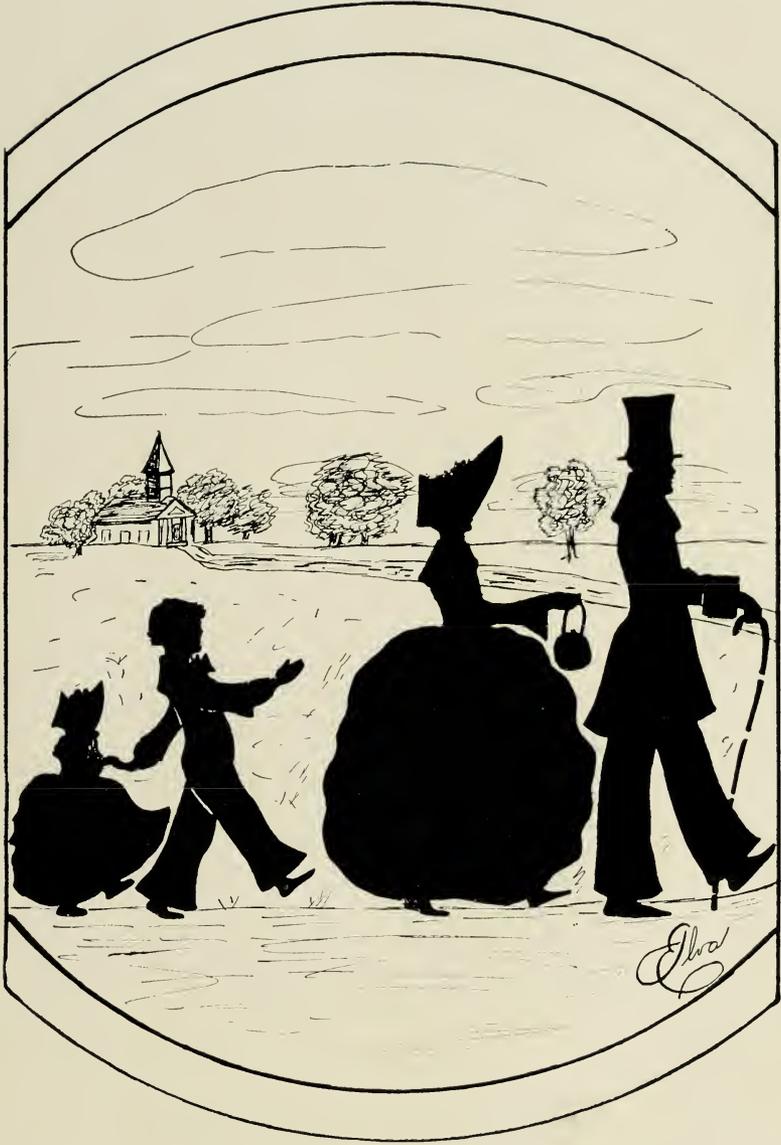

This year we have entered the realms of the Senior High and have shown a helpful, cooperative spirit by taking part in all the school activities.

Already, as a class we have accomplished four things worthy of mention: first, in the pay-up campaign for dues the Sophomores excelled the Juniors and Seniors with 80 per cent paid up; second, at Hallowe'en time we all had a delightful party which was a howling success and was said to be the best Hallowe'en Party ever staged by any class in the High School; third, the Beach party held at St. Petersburg Beach recently was enjoyed by everyone; and fourth, in the Inter-class Swimming Meet the Sophomores swam away with highest honors. The wonderful success of each of these was due to the excellent spirit of cooperation exhibited by each individual.

Now we hope that all who may chance to look upon this page will say in '28 that the graduating class of this year was the liveliest, most scholarly, most athletic and best all round class ever graduated from the Senior High School of St. Petersburg.

Alumni News

Paul Boardman is literally like a fish out of water, for there is no swimming pool up at the U. of F. and alas! he can neither swim nor fish. Sure must be tough on Paul.

Lincoln Bogue graduated in Law last February and is now back in town with Lane and Bussy.

Helen Lynch is still making a name for herself in athletics — on the Hockey team, Varsity Basketball team, as well as Junior Basketball team.

And Olivia Ann Swift has also made the Hockey team.

Raymond Borstel is still swapping fords.

Walter Braden has an orchestra of his own, plays the banjo in it, and has acquired the poetic name of "Banjo Bandidi."

Gretchen Geiger has taken up fencing.

Wanita Walters is first violinist in the college orchestra. She also plays for the Y. W. meetings, and various social functions.

Billy Buhner has joined the Chili Clough Club, but does not offer to spell or pronounce it.

And of course Joe Fickling is still making his trips to Tallahassee. Ain't it grand?

Elizabeth Girardeau plays the violin at social functions. She and Keller Harris both took part in the minstrels.

Martina McKim is struggling with Latin, and plans to be a teacher as soon as she has finished being a student.

Dick Fraze is a member of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Preston Johnson has changed his name to Tom.

Margaret Yaryan is still showing her ability as begun on the P. & P. and the No-So-We-Ea. She is now on the Flambeau and Flascino Staffs.

H. K. Wallace is having dates now.

Polly Buhner is going to Europe this summer.

Burdette White is quite as studious as ever, and is also planning a trip to the other side of the "big pond".

Morrison Pearce's activities up at Gainsville are somewhat interrupted by his frequent visits to St. Pete.

Powell Majors is running for editor of the F. book.

A group of the home girls have organized the Beta Woman's Club — Margaret Peeler, president, Gladys Brooks, Erma Lee Klutts, Dorothy Cook, Joan Foxworthy, and Nellie Mae Meisson are all active members.

Jimmie Riddle is at an aviation school in Kansas City, Mo.

Stuffy Livingston is manager of one of the boarding houses.

Oliver Hewitt and Hazel Wallace are married.

Football

In the minds of those who love the Green and White, the football season of 1925 will stand undimmed forever. An uncrossed goal line, a superb record of clean sportsmanship and a team that is unsurpassed in the annals of high school football combine to form an enduring monument.

A great team is produced only by a great coach. To "Mac" McKinney belongs the credit for putting St. Petersburg High School at the top of the list. It must also be remembered that "Mac" gave much of his valuable time and much hard work to accomplish this remarkable success.

Johnny

In his work McKinney was ably assisted by Jack Wahl, Kenneth Smith, and the great Eddie Hart.

"Don"

"Tubby"

Don Ferguson, a newcomer, at right tackle showed up to be not only a hard hitting defensive man, but a plunging demon on offence.

Clarence "Tubby" Kirchner at full-back proved to be the main cog of our defensive machine, and no small part of the offense. His ability to back up the line in time of danger, and to break up passes that would have meant long gains, placed him in line for all state honors.

"George"

"Bo-Deep"

"Goodbread"

George Presstman, left guard, another last year's man, played a consistently good game throughout the season.

Lynn Darby, at right guard, proved a tower of strength. Though this was his first year of football, he played with the best, and records show that few gains were made against right guard.

Royce Goodbread, fleet-footed left half, carried the brunt of the attack, and gained more yardage than any other man on the team. He was also high point man. His sweeping end runs, his pass receiving ability and his powerful tackling won honorable mention for him on the all Southern team.

Frank Hodgkinson at right end rounded out the best line in the state. On the receiving end of Johnnie's long passes, Frank was a valuable asset.

Harry "Speedy" Hewitt at right half, was a consistent ground gainer. When two or three yards were needed for first down, "Speedy" could be depended on to put it across.

Clement Coss, Captain Elect, and letter man of last year, held the key position at center. His accurate passing and his brilliant defensive work stamp him as a star.

"Frank"

"Speedy"

"Scabby"

"Stem"

Clarence "Scabby" Pheil filled the vacancy left by his brother "Hops" at left tackle, and filled it well. His work, tho' not brilliant was steady, the kind that makes for a great linesman.

Howard Warner played left end and succeeded in holding down that difficult position with remarkable ability. His playing in the Tampa game was exceptionally good.

John Ross, Captain and quarterback, can not be given too much praise and honor for the skillful manner in which he handled the team. He himself was a triple threat man with no little ability.

For we love, yes love it well;

Everybody comes to see S. P. H. S.,
'Tis our own dear high school home,
And we never shall forget S. P. H. S. wheresoever we may roam;
We are the boys S. P. H. S. We are the girls S. P. H. S.
We are the students of the Sunshine City High School
Oh, clear and high ring out the cry, S. P. H. S.
Ready all to shout the call, S. P. H. S.
Clear the way, prepare the fray, S. P. H. S.
We are marching on to victory.

"RAH! RAH!
RAH-RAH-RAH!!"

Old St. Pete High, how proudly we honor and praise you,
Time will not change you, your spirit will never die;
We're here to boost you, in classroom, on gridiron, and field, too,
You are to us our own, our wonderful St. Pete High.

Rah, rah, for St. Pete,
St. Pete will win,
Fight to the finish, never give in;
Rah, rah, rah,
You do your best boys,
We'll do the rest, boys,
Rah, rah for St. Pete High.

Boys' Basketball

Living up to traditions of former years and striving to equal the record of our victorious football heroes, the basketball boys started the 1926 season with a rush. Although last year's team was sadly depleted, there was far more material on hand this year than ever before and with a few of last year's stars as a nucleus, the prospect was very encouraging. A regular coach was not secured until our first two games had been played and then the squad was fortunate in securing Fred W. Stewart of this city, an expert player and coach, to take them under his guardianship. To Mr. Stewart's credit goes a great part of the Team's accomplishment.

After a fairly successful season, having been beaten only by Tampa and South Florida Military Academy, the Green Devils entered the State tournament at Gainesville, determined to win in spite of all odds. Here they defeated Hastings, Graceville, and Tallahassee, thereby placing themselves in the semi-finals.

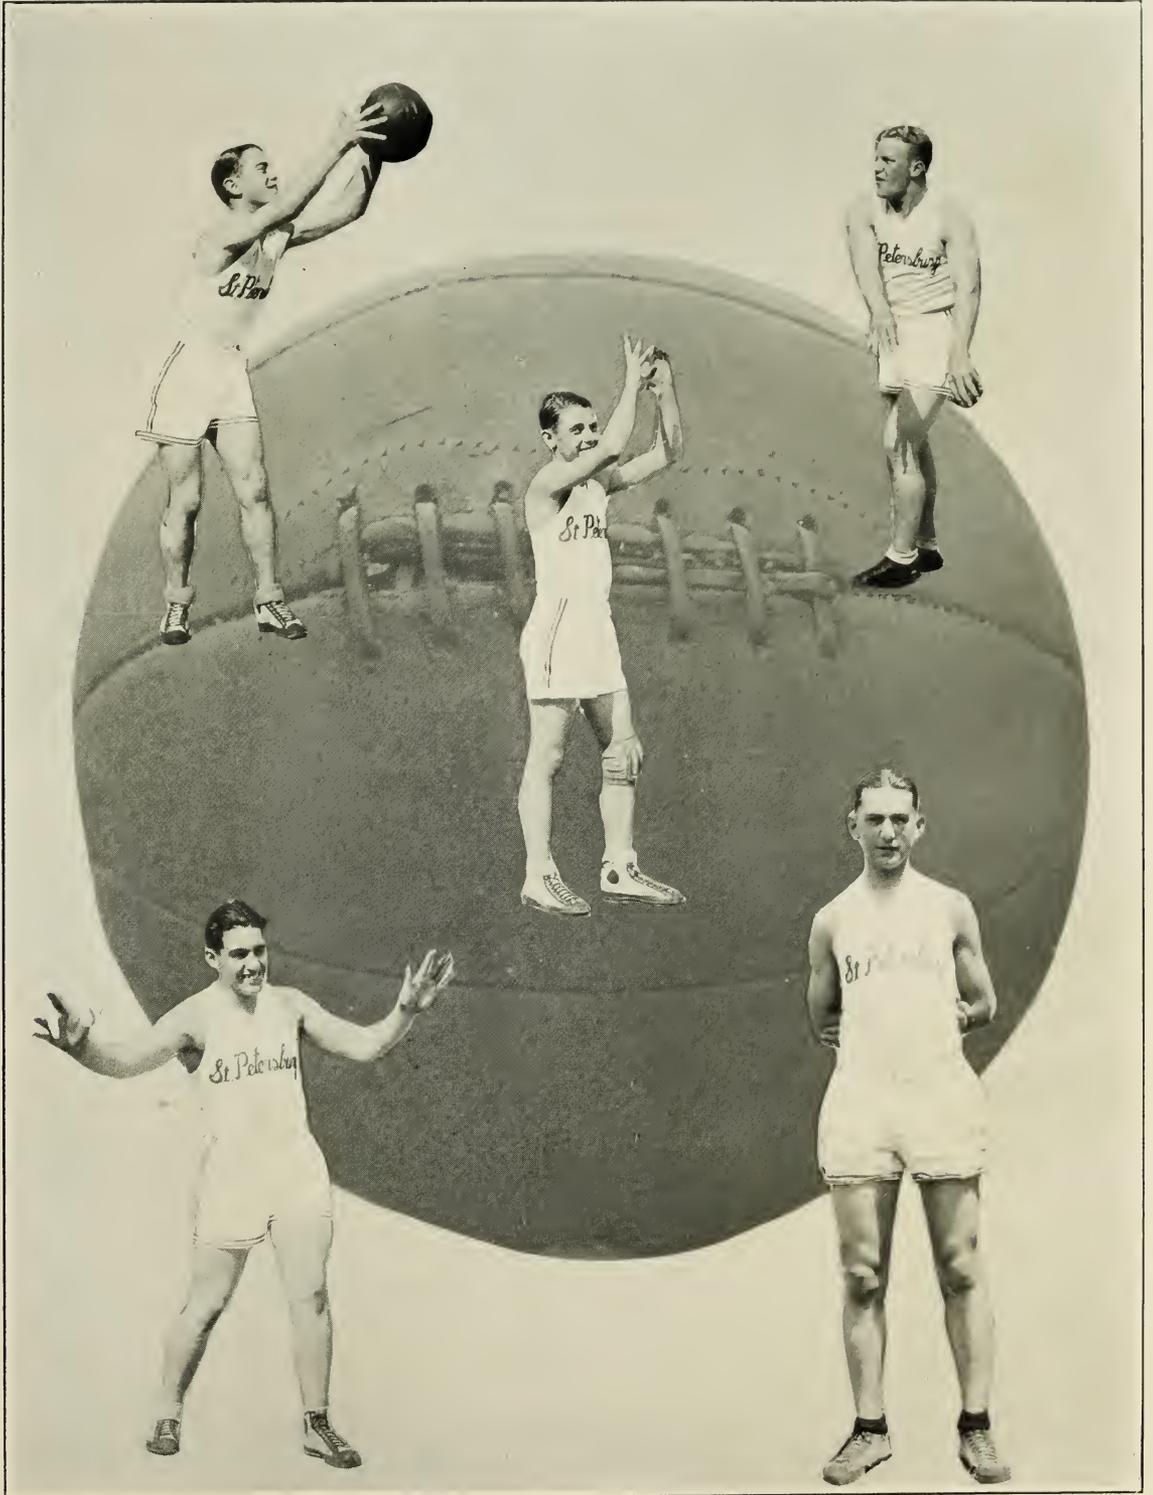

Then on the eve of victory came Duval, our old and bitter rival, (in a friendly way, of course.) To make a long story short, we came out on the short end of the score. This defeat eliminated us from the tournament.

The boys playing on the squad were Captain Frank Hodgkinson, G. Severance, W. Mullhollem, H. Hewitt, C. Kirchner, J. Ross, H. Turner, P. Wilbur, T. Costello, and W. Mullendore.

"Green Devils, we are proud of you!"

Girls' Basketball

Girls' Basketball during 1926 proved a repetition of 1925. The Green Angels under the supervision of Miss Barbara King, and under the leadership of Captain Mary Louise Squier, went through the season without suffering one loss. They won every game with ease and their trouble again proved to be lack of stiff enough competition.

A singular honor came to the girls this year in that three girls were placed on the All State team. This is an achievement never before equalled in St. Petersburg High and one that will stand for many years. Our dauntless Captain was chosen as chief. The two players chosen for this mythical team, besides Mary Louise, were Olivia Grimes^s and Celia Lowe. These girls are two of the best basketball players who have ever donned the Green and White.

The girls then put on their fighting togs and went to the State tournament at Deland with a spotless slate and with high hopes of coming home with a State Championship. Their first opponent, Delray, was disposed of in short order, 30-5. The second game of the tournament, however, was played with Palatka, who proved our undoing last year. Playing desperately and encountering stiff opposition all through the game the girls were forced to lose the game by the close score of 20-18. This is the second time the girls' hopes have been dashed against the rocks on the eve of victory.

The girls who played on the team and made this enviable record possible were Celia Lowe, Ethel Kelly, Catherine Batts, Dolly Palmer, Olivia Grimes, Clifford Moody, Idella Hersmer and Ruth Beverly.

St. Petersburg High is proud of the wonderful record set by these girls, and wishes next years' team a successful year.

Boys' Swimming

After nailing last year's State Championship to our flagpole, our mermen determined to make it two straight and secure a strangle hold on the swimming cup. Led by Jack Hall, coached again by T. J. Howland, who is one of the foremost swimming experts in the United States, and managed once more by Bradford A. Lawrence, the owner of the Spa, the boys have one of the best chances in the state of winning the title. The other members of the team are Clayton Clark, Willis Yeamans, Clyde Hagerty, Dudley Hall, Archie McClatchie, Ernest Humphries and Harold Clizbe. Every one of these water pushers are swimmers of exceptional talent and absolutely necessary in order to win the meet.

Perhaps the most notable member on the team is the versatile captain, Jack Hall. Jack, as everyone knows, won several firsts in the meet last year. After a trip through the north last summer where he entered in many amateur contests, and acquitted himself with highest honors, he came back here for his Senior year prepared to do or die. We know that he will not die. At the A. A. U. Meet held at Miami in March of this year, Jack won first place in the hundred yard back-stroke, and placed in several other events.

Co-operation of the swimmers, coach and manager of the team, along with the enthusiastic support furnished by the student body again gave St. Petersburg High the unexcelled record of 1926.

Girls' Swimming

MR. HOWLAND

St. Petersburg High School has always been famed for its mermaids. You know, those sun-browned, wind-tanned Florida beauties who may be seen almost any day in the year sporting on the beach at the Spa or gliding with ease through the water in the pool, under the eagle eye of Coach Howland. The girls had hard luck last year at the meet, but acquitted themselves in true St. Petersburg High fashion. This year, however, the girls have the best chance in the State of bringing home the bacon. A double championship is the goal of the swimming teams this year and we know that we are not going to be disappointed.

Coach T. J. Howland who has coached the girls along with the boys for several years, is the man who has made swimming a major sport in the High School, has sacrificed practically all his time, and given himself in unstinted effort to make our teams the best in the south.

Harriett Provost is captain of the girls team this year. She is one of the greatest swimmers in the State, but last year was unable to enter the meet on account of illness. Great things are to be expected from Harriett this year. The personnel of the team includes Maude Dew, Louise Hitchner, Mary Bullard, Jewel Mills, Phoebe Longman, Mary Ruth Sanford, Claire Quick, Helen Boardman and Betty Miller.

Maude Dew and Marjorie Provost, a coming high school star, journeyed down to Miami with Jack Hall to the A. A. U. meet. Here they captured several first and second places, swimming against many amateur champions.

With these results already tucked away, there is no doubt as to the ability of our mermaids. At any rate, we know that they will hold up the flag for old St. Petersburg High as have all the teams which have gone before. May those of future years uphold the standards that the girls of '26 have planted.

Baseball

With Marshall Mansfield as their doughty captain, Seth Whitmore their official newspaperman, F. M. Stewart their coach, Walter Wells their manager, and the entire Student Body their ardent supporters, the baseball nine of St. Petersburg High embarked on its maiden voyage of 1926, prepared to meet the heaviest gales and lightest winds that blow. The men who signed the 1926 roster were Marshall Mansfield, captain, Irvin Balgeman, Price Goldsmith and William Mulhollem, pitchers, Hewitt "Red" Taylor, catcher; Tom "Splinter" Costello, Frank White, Fred Redfield, Ben Green, infielders; Norman Derr, Paul Brown, Clarence Pheil and Graham Severance, outfielders, and William Erickson and Charles Templeton, utility men.

Baseball has always been a fairly popular sport in the High School and this year was no exception to the rule. There was no dearth of material ready for the coach, F. M. Stewart, to look over and never have the prospects for a State Championship looked brighter.

Up to this time the team has played Bradenton, Sacred Heart, St. Leo, Clearwater and Tampa — though we are sorry to record that all of these games have not been overwhelming victories.

Track

Although track has been of the minor sports in St. Petersburg High, it is rapidly gaining the popularity it deserves. Despite the fact that the team had no proper equipment and did not even have an adequate training ground, they turned in a record which meant much credit and is in keeping with the splendid results achieved by the other athletic teams.

The team was ably coached by Mr. H. M. Buland, who has had considerable experience in that line, and aided by the perseverance and determination of the boys who made up the team, he succeeded in making 1926 a banner year.

This year the team went up to Gainesville and faced the greatest aggregation of track athletes that has ever been gathered together in Florida. Ocala High, due solely to the exceptional prowess of one boy, who captured four firsts in as many events, won the meet, Miami was second and Lakeland third; St. Petersburg High tied with Duval for fourth place. This in view of all the difficulties encountered is a record of which we can be justly proud and we are confident that in the future the State Championship cup will reside permanently in our trophy case.

The St. Petersburg team placed well in several events, including the relay. The personnel of the team includes Dave Ross, John Ross, Royce Goodbread, Clement Coss, Clyde Bozeman, James Sanner, Paul Maurer, Herman Peterson, and Joe Carraher.

Tennis

Tennis, one of the sports which has held minor interest in St. Petersburg High School has come into prominence in the last two years with an ever increasing rush. The suitable climate of our southland makes this an all year round sport, and tennis is rapidly coming to the front in High School Athletics.

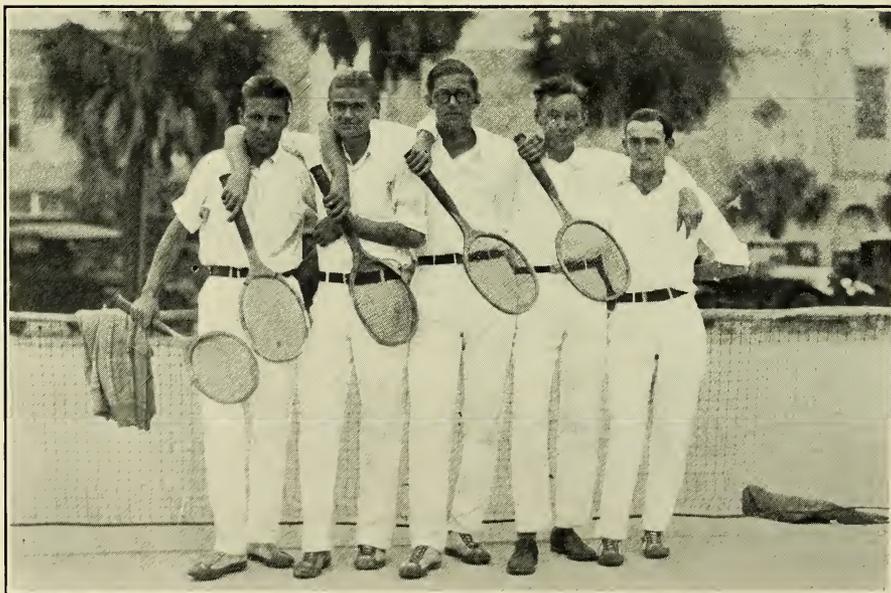

This year, a tennis club was formed early in the season. Kenneth Jones was elected president, Mary Hume, vice-president, and Magdalena Vanderlyn, secretary and treasurer. The club started off with a bang, an intensive membership campaign was put over and interest in tennis reached its zenith in the High School. Elimination tournaments among the players were held at intervals in order to determine the team to represent the school.

The team played Clearwater, Sacred Heart College, and Tampa—defeating them all.

The players who represented the school in the matches were Jim Vuille, our William Tilden II, William Barnes, Henry Kelly, Kenneth Jones, Howard Eggleston and Ralph LeNeave. Every one of these net demons are stars of the first magnitude and it is due to them that we again gained fame on the athletic field during 1926.

Tennis is one of our national sports and is coming into its true place in High School athletics. In future years we hope that the boys and girls of St. Pete High will secure many State Championships in tennis.

No-So-We-Ea

The Annual Staff of '26 has tried to make this year's No-So-We-Ea the best that S. P. H. S. has ever had. We have endeavored to give you a book, representative of the whole school. We hope that it may bring to each and everyone, memories of the years spent at S. P. H. S.

If we have succeeded, it is only because of the wonderful spirit and cooperation manifested by all the students who have been connected with the staff and its work.

We wish to use this little space to thank our helpers; those who have so kindly lent us their home Annuals, those who have spent many long and weary hours in research work, our ad-go-getters, our advertisers, and finally every person who has contributed anything toward making the No-So-We-Ea of 1926 a success.

Palmetto and Pine Staff

This year the Palmetto and Pine has endeavored primarily to please the discriminating public and to be entirely representative of the school at large in its social, athletic and scholastic world. A new feature added to the paper this year has been the Notes on Notables column. Its purpose was to acquaint the student body with the names and personalities of the students who dominate in the various activities of the school. The attendance at High School this year was so large that it was difficult for everybody to know everyone else and so the staff through our columns hoped to make many introductions.

At the beginning of the year there were many Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors working on the P. and P., but now at the end of the year, there are a few hard-working Seniors and Juniors. We want to thank them for their untiring efforts.

Without Miss Gardner's able assistance, we fear that many times the paper would not have come out at all. Some of Miss Gardner's pet phrases, and long words have helped to lengthen many an article. The editors of the special sections have done their work exceedingly well.

We hope that we have made an improvement on the former years' papers and wish the staff of '27 the greatest success and prosperity in their publication.

The following people composed the staff of the '26 Palmetto and Pine:

Advisor, Miss Gardner.
Managing Editor, Bob Saylor.

Athletic Association

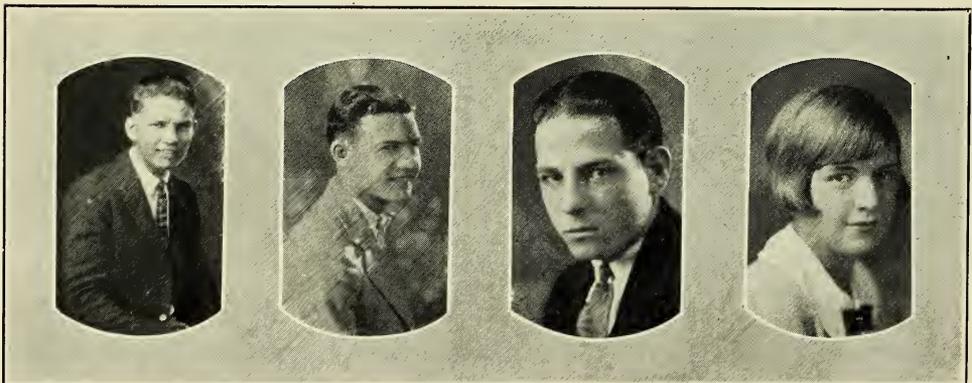

President, Bob Saylor
Vice-President, Harry McCardell

Secretary, Mary Bullard
Treasurer, Jay Willson

This year has undoubtedly proved to be the most fruitful in the history of the Athletic Association, both as to finance and size of membership, which have effected a substantial increase.

The purpose of the organization is to sponsor the athletic contests between the various schools with which S. P. H. S. competes. It conducts the financial part of the games and furnishes the teams with supplies, uniforms, and other accessories. It might be added that this year's Athletic Association has kept the teams better outfitted than ever before, due in a great measure to the cooperation of the student-body, which, with outside aid has contributed eight or ten thousand dollars.

OFFICERS

Hi-Y

This year marks the close of the greatest successful season in the annals of the St. Petersburg Hi-Y. The club has as its purpose the creation, maintenance and extension of high standards of Christian character, throughout the school and community.

Members holding office during the year were: Richard Rhea, Gordon Wright, John Lynch, Edward Kearney, Dan Workizer, Kenneth Reed, Alden Pemble, Walter Johnson, David Ross, Wesley Pardue and Leslie McEwan.

Six of the boys were sent to the Florida Hi-Y Congress at Lakeland, which proved to be a marked improvement over that of last year, as every club in the state was represented.

The club also manifested its interest in civic affairs by taking people without cars to register for the Sunday movie vote.

Mr. Alexander, as adviser, helped greatly in all undertakings.

One of the most outstanding organizations of the St. Petersburg High School is the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The organization is composed of the Public Speaking classes, headed by Miss Center. It is closely connected with the Chamber of Commerce of St. Petersburg. The idea of a Junior Chamber of Commerce originated in St. Petersburg, and our example has since been followed by many schools.

It has been the purpose of the Club to sponsor those activities which will aid the school as well as the city and it has the reputation of making a success of whatever it attempts to do. Probably this is due largely to the dependable officers of the organization; Gordon Wright, the president, has already shown his ability as an executive leader, and Austin Wilder, Dorothy Stovall and Kenneth Jones, our Vice-president, Secretary and Treasurer, have also proved their ability in the work.

One of the many school activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is the chapel program given every Friday which is always well worked-out and very interesting.

Besides this, there are many more accomplishments of the Club, which, in its history, has never failed to carry out its obligations.

The Junior Woman's Club

President, Janet Poulson

Secretary, Mary Settle

Treasurer, Betty Frazee

One snappy bunch, and that's just a hunch of the club I'll tell you about; they're always fit, doing their bit, and never are counted out. Many a deed left as a token of many things done, and no promises broken. Remember the tea, the tea they gave for the faculty, Remember? Remember the many times they helped the Senior Club, Remember? Remember they helped when the veterans came, and even when tired they smiled just the same; the club that was active and cheery and game, you must not forget to Remember.

The high school is proud of this little crowd and the record they made this year. They did not forget that each task should be met with a spirit of kindly cheer. Remember the times, the times they were guests of the Senior club, Remember? Remember the Christmas box they gave for two little orphans, Remember? Remember the hand and the sunny smile given in true S. P. H. S. style? The Junior club, doing things worth while, you must not forget To Remember.

Apologies to Irving Berlin.

Be Square Club

President, Margaret Mevis
Secretary, Elizabeth Lynch

Vice-president, Vivian Davis
Treasurer, Ila Burke

This has been the most successful year in the history of the Be Square Club. This can be accounted for in part by the large membership of girls from the three upper classes of the High School. The success of the club is also due in a large measure to Miss Charlotte Pigott, Girl Reserve Secretary. The girls are very fortunate in having a club house in which meetings and parties are held. There are tennis courts on the lawn of the club house which provide recreation for the members. There is also a Y hut at Treasure Island where picnics and house-parties are held. The members of this club strive to promote a feeling of friendship among girls of the high school.

At Christmas time, the girls sent gifts to the Indian children on the Cherokee reservation. The members also dressed dolls to be distributed among the less fortunate children of the city.

Above all things the club members endeavor to live up to the club purpose: "To face life squarely, and to find and give the best."

The Orchestra

The Senior High School orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Cobb Miller, was organized under a new and unique plan this year. Nearly all of the orchestra members were students in the regular music classes and received one whole credit instead of one-half credit as in former years.

Practice was held three times a week at seven-thirty in the mornings, and during the second semester special practices were called after school and in the evenings. Herself a very accomplished musician, Mrs. Miller aided her pupils to a finer musicianship and gave them a keener insight into the true value of ensemble or orchestral playing.

Because the orchestra as a whole was somewhat unbalanced in instruments, some of the more advanced members were often called upon to play at various receptions and social events in the city. Next year those members who played "seconds" this year will form the nucleus of the orchestra. The main group, though, numbered about forty members, her "faithful forty" as Mrs. Miller has named them, and played at many notable occasions, such as: the "Midsummer Night's Dream," the Shrine Club, the Woman's University Club, the North Ward entertainment, Valentine school entertainment, the Senior play, etc.

A formal concert was given on May 7, which proved a suitable ending for a remarkable year.

Glee Club

The Glee Club, infant prodigy, is St. Petersburg High School's first mixed Glee Club. When at the first of the year it was announced that Mrs. George Miller would conduct music classes and a Glee Club which would give credit, only the most ambitious honor seekers and music lovers responded, so the group was destined to hard work along with the "Glee".

The 7:30 A. M. rehearsals and even three part chorus singing could not daunt this group however, and soon the chapel services were often made more enjoyable by its selections.

The Club, after having gained experience and training proudly announced that it would make it's formal debut the Seventh of May, in the High School Auditorium. The concert, a big success, was the first of it's kind ever given in St. Petersburg High School. The program included not only chorus work, but a ladies' double quartette, saxaphone octette, string quartette, also vocal and piano solos.

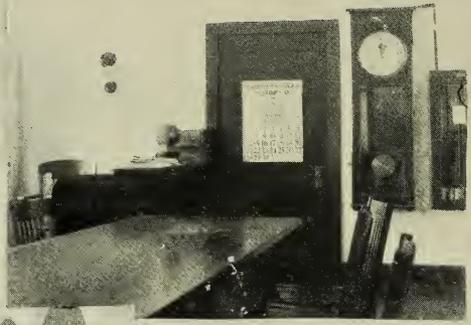

The Glee Club has worked hard and faithfully — and successfully, for a mixed Glee Club has now become one of the institutions of the school.

Extra Curricular Activities Program of the St. Petersburg High School

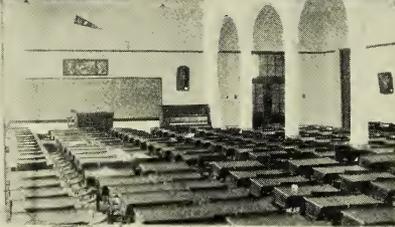

In this phase of school S. P. H. S. is leading the entire country. The appeal is to individual interest. The administration holds, that the range of pupil abilities is so great that the regular work must be supplemented and motivated. These clubs give opportunity to develop leadership, initiative, co-operation and intelligent obedience and respect for authority. This year the program concentrates to two specific purposes;— character training and vocational guidance. There is little driving in our school, teachers and pupils together in glad comradeship go eagerly forward. Pupils are given many opportunities to develop their abilities. The school is democratic — the best preparation for life is living.

Our Own Version of “Alice in Wonderland”

Alice was falling Moran more rapidly down the “rabbit’s” hole now, but she decided that not even this should make her forget all the wise, sage things that the Faculty had taught her in S. P. H. S. So she began by saying over and over to herself, “William’s the Conqueror,” and trying to recall all she knew about Lewis XIV.

She had just got to the point where she was wondering if the comparative of forty was Fortier, when suddenly the long fall came to an end.

Alice picked herself up with alacrity and Sutton a green bench nearby, while she rested and decided what to do next.

Just then two Millers came along with a sack of flour for Miss Eckles to make into bread, and Alice accosted them very politely.

“How do you do?” she asked.

“Bonniwell,” they answered, and she decided they must be Royal Scotch Highlanders.

It had just rained in the Wonderland, and the road ahead seemed to Glisson so that Alice was afraid she would Skidmore if she tried to walk on it. So she followed the white rabbit down a long Lane, till they came to the Center of a grassy Mead, where a large castle stood. She thought perhaps that this might be the home of Herr friend, the duchess, but the Porter said no, it belonged to an Earle who would some day B. King and marry the C. King’s daughter from over the sea.

Alice went inside and ordered the Porter to close the Doran keep out all the Little children who insisted upon following her in her adventures. “For,” she said with a very grownup air—“they Dumas up things so!”

Immediately upon her entrance to the castle, the Stewart brought her some Coffey in what appeared to be a beer-stein but was really a Falkenstein, marked, “Drink me.” She was also given a juicy red Appleby the Gardner, which was marked “eat me.” Alice, however, had been fooled by this arrangement once before, and refused to “bite” again.

She strolled over to the pool of tears instead, and made friends with a very amiable little fish which cried out, “I’m thrilled to McGills!” at sight of her and “Welcome to our city, Alice. Stay till June.”

Alice was very pleased at this and was just stopping to Pettit when Dickson came back from the greatest battle of the season with the news that “Davis Kelly’ng Goliath again!”

Alice was so thrilled at this that she began making a terrific noise and the Webking himself came out to stop her.

“Altman,” she said, “I’m only giving fifteen for St. Pete!”

At this, the wild West grew Wilder and the mob threatened to Geiger and Lynch her.

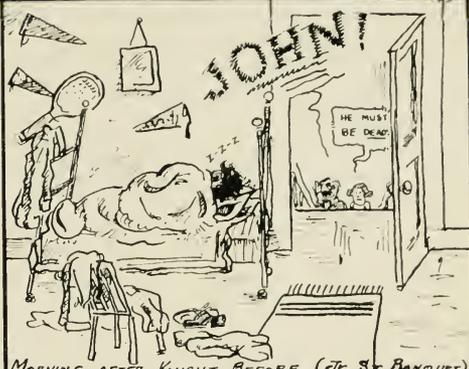

But just at this crucial moment, Alma Mater turned the tide by asking suddenly and unexpectedly “Wilson be home for dinner to-night, or is he at another one of those Annual Staff meetings?”

KNIGHT BEFORE IT GOES TO PRESS.

Try This on Your Piano

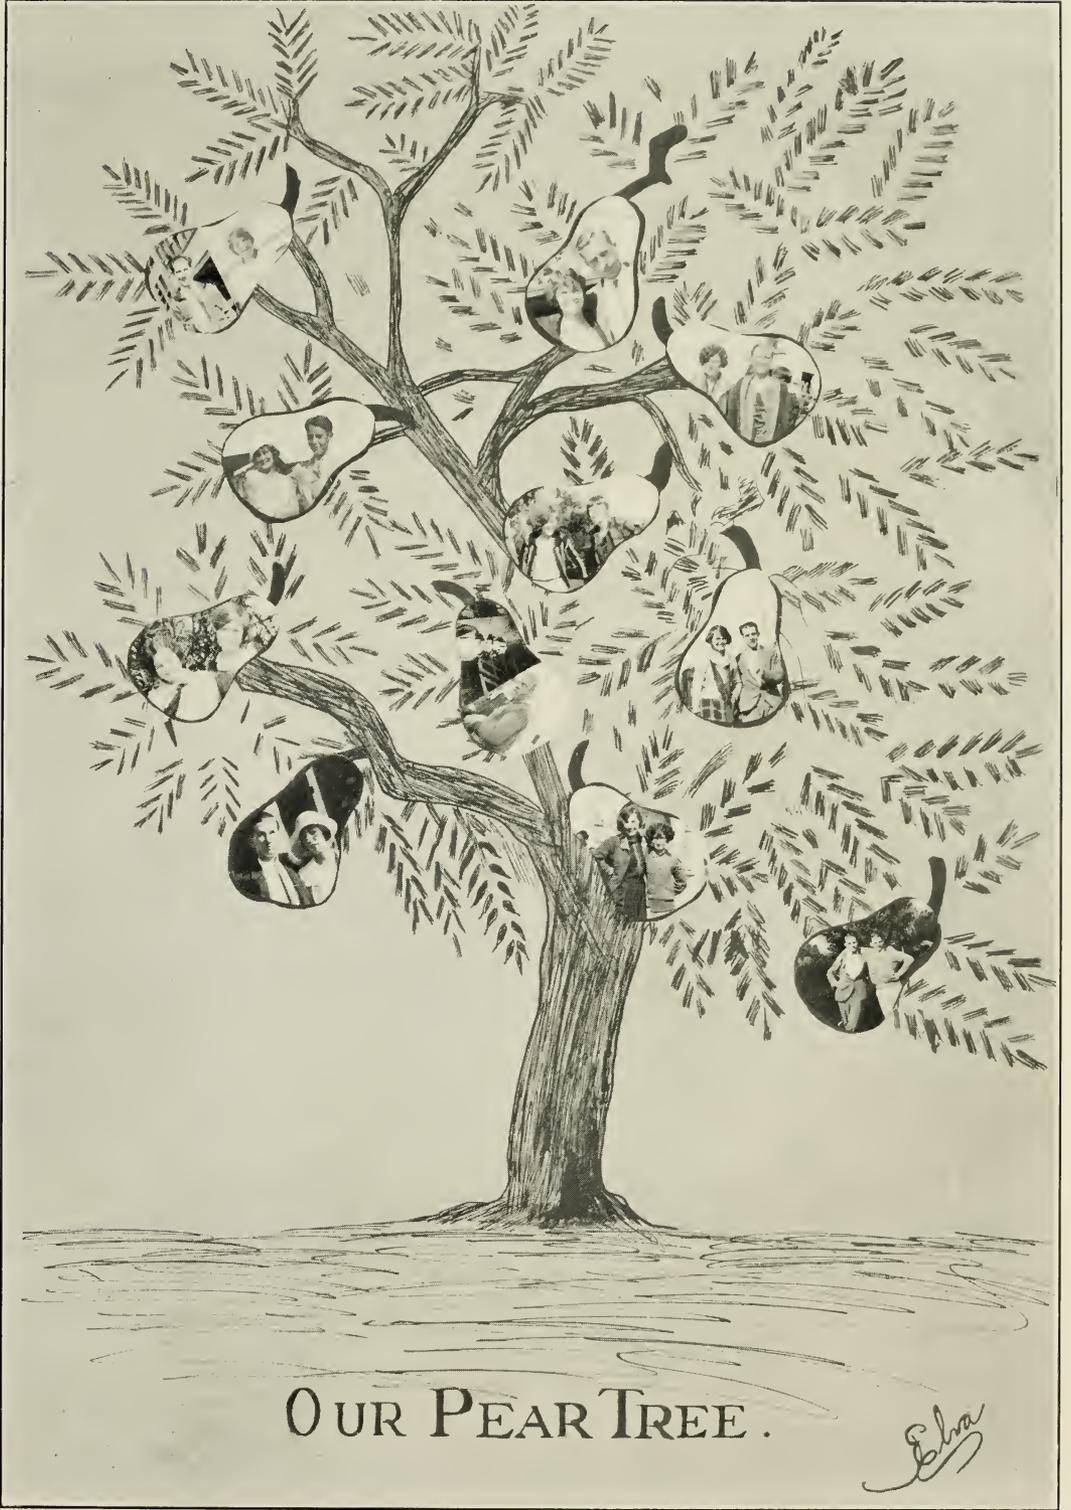

There's a High School down in Southern Florida and we love—yes, love it well.
Where the girls are the fairest, the boys are the squarest
Of any old school down this way.
St. Pete! St. Pete!
That's the school you can't beat,
Who has most fun? Old St. Pete!
Who gets most done? Old St. Pete!
Oh, that's the High you can't surpass
No matter how you try.
When McKinney's fighting fellows fall in line
Can't you hear the Captain shouting—
Let's fight for St. Pete!
I know it, sisters, I know it,
Our bones gonna rise again.
There'll be a scramble, a touchdown,
That's all!!!
You do your best, boys
We'll do the rest, boys
For old St. Pete I yell, yell, yell, yell
And for the men who wear the green and white
I yell, I yell—
If anybody loves old St. Pete High,
It's I! I! I! I! I!
We are the students of the Sunshine City High School
Always winning, always grinning,
Always getting by.
Old Petersburg, to you our sons are ever loyal
Old Petersburg, to you our sons are ever true
We'll back you to stand
'Gainst the best in the land
For we know you've got sand, St. Pete High!
Time will not change you,
Your spirit will never die.
And we never shall forget S. P. H. S.
Wheresoever we may roam!

Utopia

There's a land where:—

Students are quiet in Study Hall.
There are no blue admits.
Gum is unknown in High School.
Latin is enjoyed by the student body.
Boys do not like to throw chalk.
Palmetto and Pine comes out on time.
Pianos which have been used as part of the gymnasium equipment are still in good condition.
Blackboards do not have cartoons and '26's written all over them.
Teachers do not persist in giving quizzes.
You can stay away from school three days a week and come unprepared the other two,
and make the Scholarship Club.
It's the Never-Never-Land.

OUR PEAR TREE.

Process of Elimination

Ten little lessons
And a Palmetto and Pine
The latter proved more interesting
And then there were nine.

Nine little lessons
And just a little date—
Simply had a gorgeous time!
And then there were eight.

Eight little lessons
Not begun until eleven—
Too late to study then,
And so there were seven.

Seven little lessons,
Chance to learn a few new "kicks."
The Charleston sure does tire you out!
And then there were six.

Six little lessons
Went for just a little drive;
Far too nice to stay inside.
And then there were five.

Five little lessons
Studies such a bore!
I simply hate to concentrate!
And then there were four.

Four little lessons
As neglected as can be—
Mustn't miss the water sports,
And then there were three.

Three little lessons;
Feelin' sorta blue,
Rather see a peppy show.
And then there were two.

Two little lessons,
Seems I never will get done!
Think I'll leave one till tomorrow.
And then there was one.

One little lesson
Waiting all alone—
Forgot to take the right book home.
And then there was none.
(Also true of the grade on the report card.)

Junior-Senior Banquet

From the log of the Good Ship Class of '27.

Set sail from the Vinoy Park Hotel at eight-thirty o'clock, March 26, 1926, on the most notable voyage of the season—that given by the Junior class in honor of the Seniors of '26.

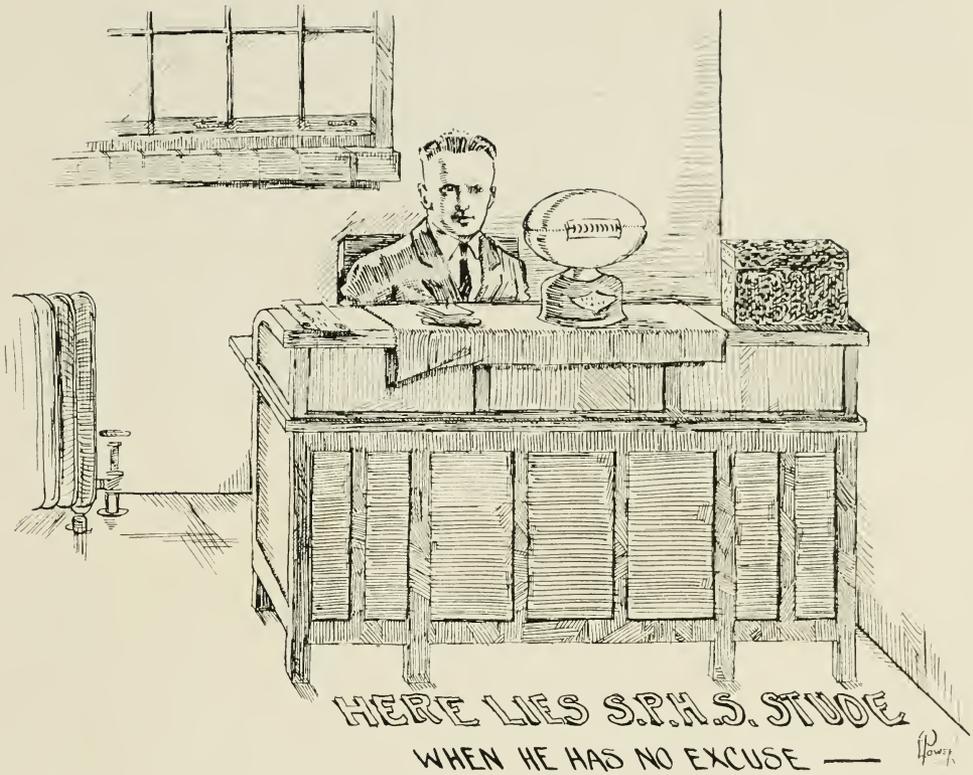

The passengers were received in the ballroom of the hotel by the Junior and Senior class officers and advisors, after which they merrily crossed the gangplank, and entered the large dining room while Sophomore Marines stood at attention. They then took their places at small tables decorated with red roses and thoughtfully equipped with steamer trunks and lifesavers; the anchor of care was lifted and the two classes embarked on one of the happiest evenings of their high school careers.

Louis Adcock, president of the Junior class, acted as Toastmaster, and the following toasts were given during the voyage:

Canoeing on Mirror Lake.....	Jay Willson
Drifting on Tampa Bay.....	Virginia Scales
Sailing on the Gulf of Mexico.....	Jack Lee
Ice-Boating on the Polar Sea.....	Leighton Pearce
Yachting in the Mediterranean.....	Catherine Batts
A Voyage in the Atlantic.....	Mary Settle
A Cruise on the Pacific Ocean.....	Jack Lentz
Response.....	Harry McCardell
To Our Captain.....	Clement Coss
Response.....	George M. Lynch
To the Shipbuilders.....	Kenneth Jones
Response.....	A. Norwood
To the Crew.....	Margaret Pearce
Response.....	Gladys Gardner
To the Unchartered Seas.....	Gordon Wright

Entertainment in the form of dancing, singing, and musical selections was furnished by members of the Junior Class, assisted by Master Arthur Cheney, age seven, who gave an interesting exhibition of the Charleston, and sang several popular songs. The splendid music of the Paul Whiteman Orchestra was also enjoyed during the evening.

At last, with a rising song to "Old St. Pete High," the Seniors came back to land once more, deeply grateful to the Juniors and their advisor, Miss Falkenstein, for the delightful voyage which they had just enjoyed.

Where Have We Heard This Before?

Get out pencil and paper.
I forgot to take my book home.
Let's have all the chairs down flat on the floor.
Ahem!
Better get an admit.
Now let me tell you something—that is not intelligent.
Want to see all you fellows out.
If you feel that you are not interested in the discussion, you may leave the room.
All right!
Go talk to Mr. Little about it.
Everybody up!
You dropped something.
Aw, grow up!

Has my fountain pen been turned in?
All you students standing in the doorway, come down here.
Push down on it.
We will now have the reading of the minutes.
Watch the stick.
I won't keep you long because I know you're anxious to get to your next class.
A couple of hamburgers, and a bottle of pop.
I am going to give you a five minute recess.
The street car broke down.
Your notebook is incomplete.
Who's been in this locker?
The Palmetto and Pine will be out between the offices at noon.

Such is Life

When you are a Freshman—
You don't know anybody,
And nobody knows you.

When you are a Junior—
You know all the Seniors and some Juniors
And all the Sophomores, and some Juniors know you.

When you are a Sophomore—
You know everybody in school,
And a few members of the faculty
know you.

When you are a Senior
You only know a few of the Seniors
And everybody in school knows you.

Miami-St. Pete Game

(With apologies to Tennyson.)

And the sun went down, and the stars came out,
Far over old Tampa Bay,
But never a moment ceased the fight
Of Green Devil and Stingaree.
Sub after sub, the whole night long,
Their coach sent into the game;
Man after man, the whole night long,
In the hope of eternal fame;
Time after time, the whole night long,
Drew back with their halt and their lame.
For some were broken and some were shattered
And so could fight us no more.
Judge of battles, was ever a battle
Like this on the grid before?

"Would you believe it of Mary?"

Jack Gregory—"If a burglar should break into the basement, would the coal chute?
Edwin Price—"No, but the kindling would."

Magdalena—"Where is that dummy?"

Miss Appleby—"Why, Magdalena, such language! I told you I sent him downtown to get some pictures."

Miss Geiger—"Who was William Shakespeare's mother?"

Wallace Neely—"Mrs. Shakespeare."

Terrible stamping of feet heard from above.

Miss Appleby—"What on earth are they doing up there?"

Marie Hogan—"Putting through the Stamp Act."

Freshie—"I'll meet you at Fifth and Central. If you get there first you make a cross on the sidewalk and if I get there first I'll erase it."

Miss Gardner—"Was it Henry Van Dyke who said 'Who will walk a mile with me along life's merry way?'"

 Cynical Bystander—"So's your old man!"

Leighton Pierce (sticking head in Annual Room)—"Did any of you find some money in here?"
 Catherine Cook—"Ask Maggie, she said she saw a lot of Jack during the Holidays."

Miss Dumas (in Latin class):
 "The cavalry in the back row will please mount upon their trusty steeds, gallop up to the front, dismount, and rid themselves of the poorest trots ever made for Virgil."

Louie Adcock (at noon)—"You'd better get in a good humor. I've got bad news for you."
 Jay W. (at Frozen Sucker wagon)—"Well, ain't I gettin' a Good Humor?"

The Night Before Xams

(Tune of Remember)

Remember the night before examination—
Remember?
Remember the midnight oil of preparation—
Remember?
Remember you found a lonely spot,
And after you tried to cram a lot,
You promised that you'd forget it not,
But you forgot to remember.

We saw a boy standing on Central Avenue at one of the street corners, idly dreaming away the minutes. Suddenly the traffic signal bell rang, and immediately a look of wild joy spread over his face, he let out a loud whoop, hastily gathered up his books and dashed off madly down the street!

Puzzle—where was he from?

Wouldn't it be funny if—

Romance

He was rushing down the hall one day,
 And she was rushing too, the other way.
 His path met hers, and hers met his,
 So they met each other
 just like this!

And after that both night and day,
 At work, at school, at home, at play,
 His thoughts were all of this fair miss.
 And so his grades
 went down
 like this!

He went into the football fray,
 And asked her for his life to pray
 She gave him her most true promise

*And duty like this,
 her heart crossed*

From first to last, and play by play,
 He was the hero of the day,
 So thrilled became the cheering miss,
 She jumped up and just down like this!

That night, beneath the moon's pale ray,
 They sat together near the Bay.
 And in that hour of perfect bliss
 this!
 His arm went just her round

Thus they passed the happy hours away.
 He was a lad with winning way;
 He asked her for one little kiss,
 And so their lipsmet just like this!

Kenny Bob shovelled out one more handful of sand from the cave he was digging, and then sat back on his sandaled heels to view the result. It was a splendid cave. Perhaps, after a while, he would make another one, but now—it was dreadfully hot, and besides he was quite too sleepy to work any more.

He wandered over to one of the beach umbrellas and threw himself down flat in the warm glistening sand. A slight breeze fluttered the torn and dirty pages of an old abandoned magazine, and thereby drew his attention to it. The stories, of course, were far too old and too dull for him, but the pictures were interesting, especially the funny folk in the advertisements.

Treasures of Treasure Island—

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, dear to the hearts of all of us, wrote Treasure Island which has become famous in fiction.

Treasure Island today at the sunset end of Central Avenue, is now famous in fact; and on this beautiful island there will be found now greater treasure than the hero of Stevenson's story ever dreamed of.

The magazine had slipped from his fingers and Kenny Bob was almost asleep, when suddenly, Plop! something big and white and square fell splashing into the ocean.

Kenny Bob jumped to his feet, and stood staring at it in wonder. It looks, he thought, like a huge cake of soap. And then, aloud, he cried, "Oh look! It floats!"

"Of course, it does," said a voice at his elbow, "Ivory always floats."

Kenny Bob turned around and there stood Bobby Jollyco, with his dog Ulysses, at his heels. Mrs. Jollyco and Sally were just coming out of his cave, with Julia, the maid, following close behind.

They were not very large at first, because Kenny's cave was so small, but as soon as they stepped out on the beach, they began to grow with such rapidity that Kenny Bob was frightened.

He was even more startled, however, by another splash in the water as another cake of soap fell in, beside the first one. It was white, too, but round, with a little fairy sitting on top of it. She smiled at Kenny and called out, "Mine floats, too!"

Just then a score of fairies emerged from the cave with boxes on their shoulders, labeled Lux and Fab. They were carrying them down to the shore, and Kenny Bob wondered what in the world they were going to do with them.

He found out very soon, however, for they emptied them into the sea till the air was filled with snow white flakes as if there had been a snow-storm. When it all cleared away, and he could see once more, the sea was one mass of soap-suds, and the fairies were blowing bubbles.

At last they all gathered together and blew till the largest, most beautiful soap-bubble Kenny had ever seen, was growing before his eyes.

It covered the entire ocean, and stretched so far up into the sky that it made Kenny Bob dizzy to look at it. And when the sun shone on it all, not a color of the rainbow was missing from its surface.

"That is why the sun was so hot today," volunteered Bobby Jollyco, "and the water was so warm and unpleasant when you went bathing this morning. Warm water makes better soap bubbles — the colors show better — you know."

"I'm awfully glad you're here," said Kenny, a little awkwardly, "I never saw anything like this before."

"No, I expect not," answered Bobby Jollyco, with the air of one who was quite used to it. "I thought perhaps you'd like to have me show you through Fairyland, the way you looked at me, in the magazine."

The colors were racing round the surface of the bubble now so fast that Kenny got really dizzy and tumbled into the water, which was awkward, too.

When he came up, soaked and soapy, Bobby Jollyco was standing just inside the bubble, and motioning for him to follow.

"Come on," he cried, "you can't break it now, because you're all over soap." Kenny Bob remembered how he used to thrust one soapy finger into the bubbles he had blown and ventured to step through the delicate rainbow wall and inside the bubble.

It was all so wonderful, he could hardly believe his eyes. The sea had turned into one big shining mirror in which were reflected all the wonders of Fairyland, and to his surprise, Kenny Bob found he could see almost across the ocean and even up to the top of the bubble.

There, on a ladder that seemed to reach hundreds and hundreds of miles up in the air, sat a little Dutch Boy, busy painting a sign.

So Kenny made friends with the Fibre Man and went trotting along at his heels until, at last, they came to a little Log Cabin deep in the forest, where the people were making syrup. A woman in a big blue apron was washing the cabin windows and there, on the windowsill next to her, stood the tiniest little chicken that Kenny had ever seen. At his exclamation of delight, the woman smiled at him and remarked, "It hasn't Inside they found Aunt Jemima, making pancakes and over in one corner, with his hands up to his face, sat Big Ben of West Clox, just as Kenny had hoped.

At first Big Ben was reluctant to leave Baby Ben, but Kenny finally persuaded him to go with him to the Palace.

It was a long way back and Kenny saw many interesting things. He met the Calumet Indian and his daughter, the Argo Starch girl and once, he saw the Twenty Mule Team hauling Borax over the desert.

"Your salt is sifting out," said Kenny, politely.

The little girl stopped to look and then in dismay, she cried, "Sifting? It pours!"

Then she began to cry and Kenny did not know what to do.

Just then a little boy appeared with a box of crackers under his arm. As soon as the little girl told him her trouble, (for he seemed to be her brother) he cried, "Why Uneeda biscuit! Come now, stop crying, and I'll give you one."

So the little girl forgot her troubles and went on her way quite happily while Kenny trudged on to the Palace with Big Ben. A large black and white dog was standing in the doorway, but he was listening for his Master's Voice and did not notice them, so they hurried on again.

It was getting very late when they reached the Princess' room and found Bobby Jollyco waiting for them.

Kenny instructed Big Ben to sit on the edge of the table and wake the Princess at five o'clock. Then he took up his station just inside the door to wait, and talk to Bobby Jollyco.

He was just in the midst of telling his adventures when Big Ben suddenly called out at the top of his voice, that it was five o'clock. The Princess stirred. Big Ben repeated his statement. She stirred a little more, and just as he said it the third time, she opened her eyes.

Everyone in Fairyland was wild with joy at the news that the Princess had been awakened from her long sleep at last.

But just as this happiness was at its height, the Fisk boy wandered in with a candle in one hand and yawning terrifically.

"Time to Retire," he said, and blew out the light.

Whereupon, the Princess went right back to sleep immediately, and no one, not even Big Ben, could wake her up again.

"Oh, you bad, bad, wicked boy!" cried Kenny in his wrath. "You have spoiled everything, for the sake of an advertisement! Now the little Dutch Boy can never stop painting, and Old Dutch Cleanser and the Gold Dust Twins can never stop cleaning the kitchen. And besides, the Thirsty Fibre Man will have to hurry all the time, and the

And Now—

THE FUTURE

The study period is over.

Whether you pause for a moment before entering higher institutions of learning or step out into a busy world where you will find ready burdens and tasks, you young men and young women of St. Petersburg have ideals to cherish—and apply.

And you have a debt to pay.

The Sunshine City must depend upon you to mold that clay of the future with skill and courage.

For years to come, you will repay your city for the education it has given you, for the wholesome home life you have enjoyed, through participation in the upbuilding of Florida's finest city.

If you are loyal to your city—if you pay your debt—you will build rather than tear down; you will think and act constructively rather than destructively, you will give more than you take away.

And you will discharge a great portion of your debt through the St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce—the body devoted unswervingly to the upbuilding of your city.

Your valedictory to school books will mark the beginning of your greater opportunities.

Campbell Kids will have to go on eating soup forever and ever. Oh, you wicked naughty boy!"

But the Fisk boy was talking in his sleep, "It pays to advertise." And then Kenny Bob woke up.

The big wooden shoes and the little dutch cap and the baggy pantaloons all looked very familiar to Kenny so, nudging Bobby Jollyco, he asked, "Is that the Dutch Boy who paints signs and things for the National Lead Company?"

Bobby Jollyco nodded, "Do you want to go up and see him." he asked.

"Yes!" shouted Kenny and started scrambling up the ladder. But, woeful luck! He was little over half way up when zwoop! he slipped and fell — down, down, down, till he struck the shining mirror. But luck wasn't all against him, for the mirror didn't break. Perhaps it was because Kenny was such a little boy, and then again, may be—just maybe — mirrors don't break in Fairyland.

He wasn't really hurt much and "the little nurse for little ills" came to his aid so he was well again in no time.

When they were ready to leave, the little Dutch Boy called down to them to go see his mother while they were in Fairyland. Kenny didn't know who the Dutch Boy's mother was, so he had to ask Bobby Jollyco.

"Why, Old Dutch Cleanser, of course," answered Bobby Jollyco, "She stays at the Palace."

At last they came to the Palace, and sure enough, there was Old Dutch Cleanser, cleaning an already spotless kitchen, with the Gold Dust Twins to help her.

What Are Your Plans?

You would not think of building a house without a plan.

Likewise you should not think of building a career without making some sort of plan.

If you want to get somewhere in this world, start now to map the course you should follow. Decide first what you wish to accomplish. Then figure how you can best attain your end. Work your plan and you can not help getting ahead.

Among other things in your plan, be sure to include the habit of saving money. For without this habit, success is difficult if not impossible. And to make saving easier and more systematic, start a Savings Account now in the First National Bank.

She was too busy to talk to them so Kenny and Bobby Jollyco went on to the next room, where they found the Campbell's Kiddies eating soup with spoons very nearly as large as themselves.

In the very last room of the Palace, Kenny found the most beautiful lady he had ever seen — even more beautiful than his mother or Aunt Elizabeth — but she was fast asleep.

"She uses Pompeian Night Cream," said Bobby Jollyco, "and that is why she is so beautiful."

Kenny Bob wished that she would wake up because he wanted to talk to her.

"Oh," explained Bobby Jollyco, "she never wakes up! She sleeps like that all the time."

"How funny!" Kenny exclaimed. Just then a man came down the hall with a cup of Postum and a dish of Grapenuts on a tray. Kenny Bob called to him as he passed.

"Oh, why does the Pompeian lady always sleep, like this..." But the man only muttered, "There's a reason," and hurried on down the hall.

"I wish he would wait a minute. I want to ask him about it," wailed poor Kenny Bob.

"Never mind," answered his companion, "I will tell you all about it. She is the Princess, you see, and no one can wake her up. But some day a young Prince will come and awaken her. Then she will marry him, and he will be our King and all Fairyland will be happy. Old Dutch Cleanser will not have to work and the Dutch Boy can stop painting and rest; the Gold Dust Twins will be free to play, and the Campbell Kids shall have something else to eat besides soup, and", he added, "the Thirsty Fibre Man will not have to hurry then."

"Why does he hurry, now?" asked Kenny Bob.

"Because he is hunting for the Prince to waken up our Princess."

Now Kenny Bob was quite sure he knew what would awaken her, but he wasn't sure he could find it in this new Fairyland. So he hurried down to the kitchen and asked Old Dutch Cleanser.

"I don't know," she answered, but the Thirsty Fibre Man could tell you, because he travels everywhere."

There was no telling when the Fibre Man was likely to appear so Kenny Bob waited all morning at the Palace gate. At last he saw a very tall man hurrying down the road with a very tall hat on his head and a very small cane in one hand. He decided this must be the Thirsty Fibre Man, so, shouting at the top of his voice, he set out after him.

The man had such long legs, however, and took such long strides that it was a long time before Kenny Bob caught up with him.

"Ah, yes, yes," said the Fidgety Fibre Man, when Kenny had whispered something mysteriously in his ear. "I'm going to Ben's house, myself, and you can come along, if you like. Only, hurry; it's getting fearfully late!"

Congratulations

We congratulate the Senior Class of 1926, St. Petersburg High School, who have so successfully completed their High School course, and we sincerely hope for this Class, individually and collectively, the same measure of success and happiness in their future endeavors.

We congratulate the school and the faculty whose influence has been instrumental in molding the exceptional personnel of this Class; and the City of St. Petersburg, whose future valued citizens this Class will be.

We congratulate the Class on the happy selection of the No-So-We-Ea Staff and Advisor. We know the Class will appreciate their untiring efforts and the splendid results accomplished.

And we congratulate ourselves that we were permitted to print this issue of No-So-We-Ea. We have tried hard to bring our work up to the standard the Staff has achieved, and if we have succeeded, we know we are deserving.
