The happy couple return to their own home, the man having just returned from a trip to Europe, where he was fortunate in meeting with his old friends of younger days all glad to welcome him back. His name was mentioned with a sly glance at his companion. The news of his arrival was the order of the day at the library, where a special meeting was held to discuss the matter. Mr. C. S. Motte, of this city, was united in marriage with Miss E. F. Campa, (Mrs. W. H. Motte, Jr.), the reception being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawney. The reception was well attended, and as Mr. and Mrs. Lawney returned to their own home, it was with the satisfaction of knowing that they had done all they could to make the wedding a memorable occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawney returned to their own home after the reception, and as they drove away, the street was alive with the sound of music and the cheers of the guests. The weather was perfect, and the sky was a brilliant blue. The sun was shining, and the birds were singing. All was well in the world, and everyone was happy.
