Cocoa plans open house to promote involvement

By Jamie Desena-McFarland
For Hometown News

COCOA – Residents in any given locality might pay their water bill, notify officials about a pothole or use any number of services that directly affect their everyday lives.

It's not as common, though, for citizens to attend a city council meeting or be otherwise actively involved in the governmental process.

The city of Cocoa is inviting residents to increase their participation in local government by learning more about its inner workings at an upcoming open house.

The event will be presented in celebration of Florida City Government Week, an initiative of the Florida League of Cities, from 4 to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 24, at Cocoa City Hall, 65 Stone St.

A City Council meeting is planned for 6 p.m. "The goal of Florida City Government Week is to raise public awareness about the services that cities perform and to educate the public on

World's most tattooed couple are local

By Austin Rushnell
arushnell@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE – Getting a tattoo requires dedication and not a little hardiness, and with tattoos becoming better accepted into society, more people are deciding to go under the needle for a bit of ink.

For Melbourne residents Charles "Chuck" Helmke and Charlotte Guttenberg, however, a "bit of ink" wasn't quite enough.

Mr. Helmke and Ms. Guttenberg hold Guinness World Records titles for the "Most Tattooed Senior Citizens" in the world.

Mr. Helmke is the "Most Tattooed Male Senior Citizen" and the person with the "Most Skulls Tattooed on the Body" in the world, while Ms. Guttenberg is the "Most Tattooed Female Citizen" in the world.

What makes the pair even more interesting is that they are a couple, and have been dating since they met in a tattoo shop in 2006.

The two are covered from head-to-toe in tattoos except for the majority of their faces, and Ms. Guttenberg is even looking forward to

SHINE helps clients navigate Medicare maze

By Brittany Mulligan

bmulligan@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD COUNTY - With Medicare's Open Enrollment Period now available through Dec. 7, navigating through the many insurance policies and health care plans can be tricky, and sometimes downright frustrating.

This is when SHINE comes in. SHINE (Serving Health Insurance Needs of Elders) is an award-winning volunteer program of the Florida Department of Elder Affairs. It provides free, unbiased and confidential counseling and information for individuals and their families on Medicare.

SHINE Counselor Lance Jarvis has been with the program for nine years and highly recommends its services for those confused or having trouble understanding the complicated lingo of Medicare.

"Medicare is a maze," Mr. Jarvis said. "There's numerous options that can be confusing, difficult to understand and making choices very difficult for people. SHINE makes things easier for Medicare beneficiaries because we're well-trained to understand how Medicare works."

SHINE Volunteer Counselor Tom Sawyer meets with Denise and Paul Stonecipher of Melbourne about Medicare options.

SHINE operates year-round and residents are able to call or visit one of its 10 locations in Brevard County.

With open enrollment now available, Medicare beneficiaries are able to make changes to their plans, which become effective starting Jan. 1.

These can include changing Medicare Advantage Plans or stand-alone Part D Prescription Drug Plans, switching from Original Medicare to a Medicare Advantage plan or vice-versa, or adding a Part D

Prescription Drug Plan to your coverage.

Seeing a SHINE counselor about open enrollment could save beneficiaries hundreds, if not thousands of dollars.

One example of late Mr. Jarvis shared was being able to share with a client the new 2018 plans and saving them money by switching to a new option.

"They shared with me what medications they're on and what plan they're in, and I was able to save them $2,070 next year by just changing from the plan they have now to a different plan next year," Mr. Jarvis said. "That's a big saving."

It's a rewarding experience for counselors to see the change in clients' faces from when they first come in looking anxious to leaving with a smile, he added.

"We take lots of time to explain to clients what their options are, helping them to understand the pros and cons of various options, as well as the costs of these options," Mr. Jarvis said. "We narrow it down for them."

Counseling sites can be found by visiting www.floridaSHINE.org.

To contact a SHINE volunteer, call (321) 752-8080 or call the Elder Helpline toll-free at 1-800-963-5337.

how city government works," said Public Relations Specialist Samantha Senger.

"It is a time for us to provide and foster civic education, collaboration, volunteerism and more," continued Ms. Senger. "We hope residents will take this opportunity to come and meet City staff and hopefully stay for the City Council meeting after the Open House to see local government at work."

Each city department will have an informational table set up during the open house and will be offering promotional giveaways aplenty, including stickers, sunglasses, pins, magnets and other items.

Hymn festival marks 500 years of Luther's Theses

By Austin Rushnell
arushnell@hometownnewsol.com

BREVARD COUNTY – On Oct. 31, 1517, theologian and scholar Martin Luther posted a list of propositions on a series of churches in Wittenberg, in response to the increasing sale of papal indulgences in his area, particularly by Johannes Tetzel.

According to Luther's contemporary Philip Melancthon, "Luther, burning for the study of godliness and outraged by Tetzel's ungodly and nefarious sermons, published propositions concerning indulgences ... And publicly posted them at the Church, which is next to the Wittenberg castle, on the eve of the feast of All Saints in the year 1517."

Martin Luther's propositions, which later came to be known as his famous "95 Theses," planted the seeds for the schismatic splitting of the Church known as the Reformation.

To mark the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther's work, Advent Lutheran Church in Suntree and Our Savior Lutheran Church in Vero Beach will jointly present a Reformation Hymn Festival this weekend.

The Reformation Hymn Festival is a free event and will be presented at two locations: at 2 p.m. Oct. 21 at Advent Lutheran Church, 7550 N. Wickham Road, Melbourne, and at 4 p.m. Oct. 22 at Our Savior Lutheran Church, 1850 6th Ave., Vero Beach.

This event will feature the combined choir groups of both churches, singing beloved Lutheran songs such as "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

"A Mighty Fortress" is one of the best-loved hymns of the Lutheran tradition," said Betty Jo Couch, Advent Lutheran Church choir director and Hymn Festival co-coordinator and organist. "The music and the words, which is a paraphrase of Psalm 46, were both written by Martin Luther between 1527 and 1529, well after he posted his 95 Theses on the door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany."

The event will also be co-hosted by Ryan Hostler, Our Savior Lutheran Church minister of music and conductor, will co-host the event.

"It is often said that the Lutheran Church is a 'singing church,'" Mr. Hostler said. "Singing by the gathered people of God, while not unique to Lutherans, is a hallmark of who we are, [and] Lutherans have a rich tradition of the visual arts, as well. In a Lutheran understanding, both of these artistic forms can rightly be used to communicate the word of God and therefore, when joined together, are a rich way of commemorating the 500th anniversary of the Lutheran Reformation in 2017."

During the festival, songs such as "Built on a Rock," "Amazing Grace," and "Come All Ye People," and others will be presented.

For more information about the festival, call (321) 426-9378 for the Advent Lutheran Church in Suntree, or (772) 567-2253 for Our Savior Lutheran Church in Vero Beach.

What about insurance?

Insurance renewal of your auto or homeowner policy many times will include changes not only to the premium but also coverage.

For seniors in particular, those changes may be inadvertently overlooked until too late after a claim.

There ought to be a law requiring companies or independent agents responsible for calling and discussing with the insured so they understand.

And another thing, no premium increases ever above ten percent.

'Calvary' vs. 'Cavalry'

I was watching the news recently and here's another entry into the butchering of the English language. This one is by a spokesperson from California about the wildfires.

This person said, "Don't worry about it, the calvary is on its way." It should have been pronounced as "CAVALRY." I've heard that many, many times all over the place.

Thank you

I want to tell Sheriff Wayne Ivey thank you for the fundraisers he has organized and done for domestic violence. I also want to tell all police officers, advocates and people who help domestic violence victims thank you, as well.

It's a true problem in this county, it's a true problem in this state, and it's a true problem in this country.

It's not as easy to get out of the problem as people think. Some of the biggest homicides and mass shootings stem from domestic violence abusers.

I just wish there was more fundraising done in October for the cause. There's a lot of fundraising done for Breast Cancer because it's also in October, and if these two organizations can get together, maybe there'd be some more powerful help coming to the domestic violence cause.

Driver's license rip-off

The State of Florida of Motor Vehicles just ripped me off.

It was time for me to renew my driver's license. Nowadays, they require a lot of proof of who you are, and rightfully so. You need to bring in your old driver's license, birth certificate, two letters that are addressed to you at your current address, and you have to take an eye test.

I couldn't find my birth certificate, but since I was born in the state of Florida, all they have to do is look it up on the computer and they can see that I was born here.

In order for them to look it up on the computer, I have to give them my old driver's license. Dig it, my old driver's license isn't good enough to get me my new driver's license, but it is good enough to get me my birth certificate, which they can print out right in front of me, and charge me $18.

Now, they take my new copy of my birth certificate and it's good to get me my new driver's license. This is a spin and a rip-off.

It doesn't make sense to me how they can get away with this when the proof is in the computer and in two seconds they can see I was born in the state of Florida. Then they charge me $18 for my birth certificate and another $54 to renew my driver's license.

They're ripping me off and they're ripping you off, too.

Which way? This way

Do we want nonprofits?

In light of all that is happening in Brevard County regarding nonprofit funding, now might be a good time to step back and review the entire process.

To the title of today's column I could add, "Do we need nonprofits?" Based on the way funding is derived from private and government sources, I believe that is a most pertinent question.

Generally speaking, most nonprofits are funded through federal, state, and local government, private donors, program fees, United Way, and foundations, which make up about 7 percent of the total raised. So you see that nonprofits are quite dependent on varying sources for their livelihood.

Since most funds are developed at the local level, it is important that all donors understand where their dollars are going.

Answering the "want/need" question is difficult. If this were a perfect world, I might opt out of wanting nonprofits.

However, in a not-so-perfect world, it would be difficult for government to fill the void left by nonprofits. Look at the way nonprofits stepped up to assist those damaged by Hurricane Irma. That is why I became concerned when county commissioners voted to eliminate $510,000 in nonprofit funding from the county budget. Considering that 150,000 citizens in Brevard are elderly, does this diversion of funding from senior programs to road repair reflect true needs?

HELPING SENIORS OF BREVARD

Just as the use of taxpayer money by local government is decided by our commissioners, the use of donated monies to a nonprofit is dictated by its governing board of directors, not by the people who need assistance. For instance, if you donate to the United Propeller Club October luncheon: This luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, at Cruise Terminal 5.

The luncheon will be presented in conjunction with the 91st Annual Propeller Club Convention. The guest speaker will be Canaveral Port Authority CEO Capt. John Murray.

Since this luncheon is being held in conjunction with the convention, all planning to attend are asked to pay in advance, either online by credit card, or by sending a check to the convention address: Propeller Club of Port Canaveral - 2017 Convention, P.O. Box 735, Cape Canaveral, FL 32920. All annual sponsor and package membership prepaid lunches are being honored for this luncheon.

For more information about the Propeller Club of Port Canaveral, visit www.propellerclubcanaveral.com, email propellerclubcanaveral@gmail.com or call (321) 323-9886.

EEL Program Selection and Management Committee to meet: A meeting of the Environmentally Endangered Lands Program's Selection and Management Committee, established by the Brevard County Board of County Commissioners will be from 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 20, at the EEL Program Office, 91 East Drive, Melbourne.

The purpose of this meeting is to review lands under consideration for public acquisition and management by the Brevard County Environmentally Endangered Lands Program.

Any questions regarding this meeting should be directed to Laura Clark at (321) 255-4466 or at Laura.Clark@brevardfl.gov.

'Pet-Watch' calendar release party: The "Pet-Watch" calendar release White Pawty, hosted by Mrs. Elite Florida, Laura Kutryb and other calendar models, will be from 7 to 11:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, at Fishlips Waterfront Bar & Grill in Port Canaveral.

The calendar was produced in the spirit of a "Baywatch" theme, with pets and models appearing in beach scenes. Models will be on hand to autograph complimentary calendars for attendees.

The fundraiser will feature live entertainment and dancing, appetizers, non-alcoholic beverages, and a cash bar. Participants should wear white attire. All guests will receive a complimentary calendar.

Proceeds will benefit the Brevard Humane Society for the cause of helping homeless animals. Tickets can be purchased on Eventbrite.com for $40 or at <http://bit.ly/2z2nmvz>

For more information, call (321) 636-3343 x209 or email media@brevardhumanesociety.com

Dance, dance, dance: A dance on most third Fridays of each month will be Oct. 20 at the Tropical Haven Ballroom, 1205 Eddie Allen Road, Melbourne.

Lessons are at 7:30 p.m., with the dance from 8 to 11 p.m.

Way and its board of directors believes that children are the No. 1 priority, then your contribution will probably go to children's programs, unless you specify otherwise.

Helping Seniors has approached United Way for four years and been told repeatedly that seniors are not a priority. If that is true, then I would recommend all senior donors become designated donors.

By stipulating where your dollars are spent, you will help those who are most likely to help you.

I think most donors would be quite surprised if they did a search of the IRS 990 statements that all funding sources are required to post. Having said the above, I cannot fathom why any board of directors that collects money from the public would not entertain giving some of that back to seniors and the frail elderly.

The other part of the giving and collecting equation regards overhead expenses of nonprofits that serve the public. If I review an organization's 990 and see that about 40 percent of its revenue is directed to salaries, benefits, and operational costs, I would be most cautious about donating. This is not unusual and is a practice in which major charities engage. They just will not have me engaged with them.

As we approach the giving season, do some research on where you want your dollars spent. If you are a United Way donor, you can designate where your dollars go. I am quite certain many nonprofits who serve seniors could use your support.

So to answer my own questions, "Yes, we do need nonprofits." Moreover, we want organizations like United Way to review its giving priorities and consider doing more to support seniors and the frail elderly.

Florida Frontiers Festival mixes history with fun

By Austin Rushnell

arushnell@hometownnewsol.com

COCOA – With new and controversial insights into Brevard County's history from Ret. Col. Douglas T. Peck's hypothesis of a Melbourne Beach landing for Florida's discoverer Ponce de León, keeping an eye on Florida's history looks to be an exciting task in the following year.

Returning for its "2nd Annual Frontiers Festival," Florida Frontiers and the Florida Historical Society are once again pairing up to provide fun and Florida-history-themed festivities for the public on Oct. 21.

The second annual festival will be from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Brevard Museum of History & Natural Science, 2201 Michigan Ave., Cocoa. Advance tickets are $15, and VIP tickets, which include complimentary beer, wine and food all day in the airconditioned VIP lounge, and reserved seating in front of the stage, are $75, according to officials.

"The history of Brevard County represents the history of our entire state from the pre-historic people of Windover to Spanish exploration, pioneer settlements and the space program," Executive Director Dr. Ben Brotemarkle said. "All of that and more is represented in the exhibits inside the Brevard Museum of History & Natural Science."

Tickets to the Florida Frontiers Festival also include a ticket to the Brevard Museum of History & Natural Science.

The festival will host a number of musical talents such as the 2017 Folk Heritage Award Winning Willie Green Blues Band, Florida Artists Hall of Famer Frank Thomas, and the Native Rhythms Festival Ensemble.

Beyond the music, there will be demonstration and various vendors, food and drink available (including a beer garden), and a Kids Corner, with crafts and entertainment.

"The Florida Frontiers Festival builds on the work that the Florida Historical Society does with our Public Radio program Florida Frontiers," Dr. Brotemarkle said. "Our media programs and this festival highlight the rich and diverse cultural heritage of our state, [and] the performers and demonstrators represent many different aspects of Florida culture."

New additions to this year's festival include a large overhead tent to screen guests from the sun, as well as a free ticket for children under 12 with an adult ticket.

Events like the festival help support research and study of Florida's history, which helps not only to educate people, but also helps fund research into new issues in history, such as Ret. Col. Peck's argument that Ponce de León landed in Melbourne, or the more recent case of the historical canoe that was washed up in the wake of Hurricane Irma.

For more festival information, visit myfloridahistory.org/frontiers, or call (321) 690-1971.

Art and astronomy come together at Florida Tech

By Austin Rushnell

arushnell@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE – With so much information and technology available to the public, science has found itself infused into a variety of venues, but science and art are no strangers to each other.

Throughout history, early scientists and ‘natural philosophers’ before them have used art to portray their subjects, and artists have used science to express themselves in new ways.

Florida Institute of Technology is celebrating that relationship with a two-part exhibit featuring astronomy in photography and in paintings through Jan. 6, at the Foosaner Art Museum, 1463 Highland Ave.

The Photography exhibition, titled “The History of Space Photography,” will provide to guests information on the “extraordinary variety and depth of space photographs that have been taken since the development of photography in the first half of the 19th century,” according to officials.

The second portion of the exhibit, titled “Guardians of the Cosmos: Paintings by Raimundo Martin,” features astronomically-themed paintings by Miami-based artist Raimundo Martin.

“There are two different exhibitions:

one is [on] space photography, and the other is Raimundo [Martin's work],” said Carla Funk, executive director and chief curator of university museums at Florida Tech. “I wanted to bring Mr. Martin in with the space photography because I thought it would be fun to have some paintings that look at some of the same themes.

“[These are themes such as] looking at images of our planet Earth, the moon and the sun, and thinking about our relation to those entities,” Ms. Funk continued. “Raimundo Marin does that with his paintings.

“It’s a very interesting stylistic mix: he’s got the flat frontality of medieval icons, and a lot of the symbolism and history with Christian paintings, which draws from Renaissance painting traditions,” Ms. Funk added. “But then he mixes an element of Surrealism with his paintings, so he really does blend [different styles.]”

The photographic portion of the exhibit is part of a traveling exhibition hosted by curator Jay Belloli, who will deliver a gallery talk at 2 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 16, at the museum, officials said.

For more information about the exhibit, visit www.foosanerartmuseum.org or call (321) 674-8916.

play area where residents can colorfully document what they enjoy about Cocoa.

“When residents attend the Open House we will have a graphic display where each person will have the opportunity to either write or draw what they love about their city,” Ms. Senger said. “We will be displaying that final product at City Hall after the event has concluded.”

This is the first year the city is hosting an open house for Florida City Government Week. Officials would like to make it an annual occurrence and bring the program into local schools.

Brevard Symphony Orchestra presents tasty evening

By Brittany Mulligan

bmulligan@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE BEACH – The Brevard Symphony Orchestra is hosting a unique event in which residents can wine and dine among orchestra members while supporting professional musicians.

The BSO's inaugural "Forks & Corks" fundraiser is from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 22, at Djon's Steak and Lobster House, 522 Ocean Ave.

The evening will feature food from Djon's, a range of wines from around the world, live and silent auctions and music provided by local entertainer Alfie Silva.

Mr. Silva will perform popular songs and does impersonations of Dean Martin and Frank Sinatra.

"Djon's Chophouse has a wonderful piano bar and is the perfect setting for a singer to perform," said Darcia Jones Francey, BSO board member. "Alfie has a great voice and is enjoyed by our community. So the two go hand-in-hand."

Tickets to Forks & Corks cost $100 per individual and $175 per couple.

As Brevard's premier professional orchestra for more than 60 years, the BSO has worked with the community through creating special events, educational programs and quality performances.

Planning for each performance, which takes place at the Maxwell C. King Center for the Performing Arts, 3865 N. Wickham Road, Melbourne, takes many months of preparation, according to Fran Delisle, the BSO's executive director.

Maestro Christopher Confessore also works with the orchestra to ensure another year of quality concerts.

"As the BSO's music director and principal conductor, I am focused in working with our outstanding musicians to present thrilling performances of the greatest music in a wide variety of genres," Maestro Confessore said.

"Everyone works together to ensure the success of our Brevard Symphony Orchestra."

Residents and guests can expect a season of "firsts" from the BSO this year, as the orchestra will be the first in the area to present a properly licensed presentation of a feature-length film, Maestro Confessore said.

The BSO will provide live accompaniment to Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" in November.

More firsts for the orchestra this concert season include Dvorak's "Symphony No. 6," Prokofiev's "Symphony No. 5" and works that haven't been performed by the BSO in 20 years or more: Mendelssohn's "Scotch Symphony," Schubert's "Rosamunde Overture" and Barber's Violin Concerto.

"Personally, I always look forward to events during our season where we present Educational and Family Friendly Concerts," Maestro Confessore said.

On Sunday, Oct. 29, the BSO will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the Cultural Arts Showcase, which is in partnership with the King Center, with a free event. The BSO will present a Halloween-themed "Symphonic Spooktacular" at 2 p.m. on the King Center main stage.

Hours of Operation: Monday - Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

What separates your business from its competition in the county? We are a 501(c) 3 non-profit organization that gives the profits to the Cocoa Beach, Cape View Elementary, Roosevelt Elementary, Freedom 7, Cocoa Beach High and Cape Canaveral schools. We take pride in how unique, clean and organized our items and store are. We paint furniture. We also run 'A Rose Fantasy,' our flower business, out of our store. We have been in the flower business for 25 years.

Why did you open your business? To help the beach schools. I went to these schools.

What are your top-selling items/services? Our top-selling items are furniture, flowers, coastal decorating.

For those who have not done business with you, why should they? We carry very unique items. We are not the typical thrift store. We sell new and used items. We also sell live edge fresh cut cedar wood slabs and cedar carvings. We also like to have the students earn their volunteer hours here, especially artsy students.

These turtles are being raffled off at $15 a ticket! Once 15 are sold, a winning ticket will be drawn! Proceeds go to Mrs. Tomacari for Roosevelt's art class.

Dr. Hennessey joins a night of big-band tunes

By Brittany Mulligan

bmulligan@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE - What do musicians like Sammy Davis Jr., Frank Sinatra, Natalie Cole and the Space Coast Symphony Jazz Orchestra have in common? They have all worked, at one time or another, with Stetson University's Dr. Patrick Hennessey.

Dr. Hennessey will direct the Space Coast Symphony Jazz Orchestra for an exciting night of "Big Band Favorites" at the Scott Center for Performing Arts at Holy Trinity Episcopal Academy, 5625 Holy Trinity Dr., Melbourne.

The concert is at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21. Advance tickets cost $20 when purchased online at www.spacecoastsymphony.org or $25 at the door. The concert is free for those 18 and younger or with a student ID.

The evening will feature three decades of Big Band Era hits from band leaders such as Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Duke Ellington and more. Jazz vocalist Lisa Kelly will join the group to round out the evening.

"We are very fortunate to have Dr. Hennessey a part of our family," said Aaron Collins, conductor and artistic director of the Space Coast Symphony Orchestra. "He has a deep knowledge of history and theory, not only in jazz, but in all musical genres. One thing I find that differentiates him from other band leaders is he lets the musicians' personalities shine, while putting his own stamp on the performance."

Dr. Patrick Hennessey will lead the Space Coast Symphony Jazz Orchestra for a night of 'Big Band Favorites' this weekend.

Born in New Orleans, Dr. Hennessey said he grew up surrounded by music in the birthplace of jazz. His father played piano by ear, his mother occasionally sang with a vocal group that was featured on a radio station, and his brother played trumpet.

"He bought me my first jazz albums," Dr. Hennessey said of his brother. "As a teenager I learned about the wonders of the French Quarter and the music on Bourbon Street. I walked up and down the street endlessly, taking in the music emanating from inside of places like the Famous Door, Your Father's Mustache and Mason Bourbon. It was always the music that reached me in the deepest sense and still stops me in my tracks."

Dr. Hennessey's musical experiences have led him to working with some of the biggest bands in the country. He spent 26 years playing with the Royal Hawaiian

Band as its principal trombone player, and has been included in touring Broadway shows such as "A Chorus Line," "Hello Dolly," "Evita," "Grease," and "Anything Goes."

Working with musicians such as Liza Minnelli, Sammy Davis Jr., Frank Sinatra and Natalie Cole was "amazing and humbling at the same time," Dr. Hennessey said.

"The challenge is always to be respectful and professional when working with any major entertainer, despite whatever sense of awe you may feel," Dr. Hennessey explained. "When playing Mr. Sinatra's show, I was warned that he would try to intimidate the 'new guy,' so when the time came, I honed in on my music, blocked everything out but kept my ears wide open. Thankfully, I passed the test!"

Dr. Hennessey plans on presenting some lesser-known big band tunes.

"I have tried to find music recorded and performed by the best-known big bands while avoiding those selections that have been overplayed," Dr. Hennessey said. "I assume we have all thoroughly played and listened to the 'hits' of the Swing Era over the years. Presenting a program that reminds us all that there is a wealth of great music by these terrific bands is both one of my greatest joys and greatest challenges."

Rescue service offers Walk for Wildlife fundraiser

By Michael Gaffey

mgaffey@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE - In its first nine months, WILD Florida Rescue, a non-profit service, has traveled more than 25,000 miles across Brevard County to help more than 900 injured or trapped wild animals.

In order to continue its mission, the organization is presenting its first fundraising event. Walk for Wildlife is from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29, at Wickham Park, 2500 Parkway Drive.

The family-friendly event gives walkers the choice of taking part in a scavenger hunt, in which prize-seeking participants find answers to a sheet of questions at six information tables, or a poker run, in which walkers pick up playing cards at five tables and trade in a card at the sixth table in hopes of getting the best hand.

"A lot of people are going to go home with zoo tickets, dinner tickets, movie tickets or something," said marketing director Kathleen Buice, whose son, Matt, co-founded the 501(c)(3) organization. "It's going to be fun."

Funds raised from ticket sales will help the service purchase safety and capture equipment, Ms. Buice said. Rescued wildlife is brought either to the Florida Wildlife Hospital in Palm Shores, sanctioned animal rehab experts or Dr. Donna Craig, the group's veterinarian who runs Out-back Mobile Veterinary Service.

Though separate from the wildlife hospital, the group got its start after Matt Buice and Heather Pepe met while volunteering at the hospital.

"They recognized that nobody was picking up wildlife. It was getting just shuttled off, and animals were dying," Ms. Buice said. "So they formed this company and it's just been gangbusters since then."

Since launching in December, the service has rescued all sorts of Florida wildlife, such as raccoons, pelicans, gannets, squirrels, hawks, osprey, tortoises, rabbits and deer, Ms. Buice said.

"We got a bald eagle, and we just picked up a great horned owl," she said "We get snakes. You name it, we get it. It's just amazing the variety of things that we have seen."

In addition to the twin walks, the Oct. 29 event also offers a number of free activities for adults and children, including animal bingo and rock and face painting, Ms. Buice said. There's also a photo booth, food trucks and vendors.

Tickets for walkers have been reduced to $25 due to Hurricane Irma, and the first 100 people to sign up get a T-shirt, Ms. Buice said. Extra T-shirts are $20 apiece.

Funds raised from ticket sales will help the service, which is on call 24 hours a day, purchase safety and capture equipment, Ms. Buice said.

"If you call us, we will come to you," she said. "We cover Brevard County. It's a lot of driving, but we pride ourselves in answering every call and taking care of animals."

Breast Cancer Awareness walk at The Avenue Viera

By Austin Rushnell

arushnell@hometownnewsol.com

VIERA – October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and to celebrate 25 years of fighting breast cancer and helping to support breast cancer victims, the American Cancer Society hosts its “Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk” on Oct. 28.

The walk will be The Avenue Viera, 2261 Town Center Ave. Registration starts at 7 a.m., and the walk begins at 9 a.m.

Senior Community Development Manager Michelle Oesterle stated that at the event, “communities embrace a bitter-sweet mix of purpose – celebrating survivorship and paying meaningful tributes to loved ones lost. From research to education, prevention to diagnosis, and treatment to recovery, we provide support to everyone impacted by breast cancer.”

Walkers will head north, then turn west toward the Viera Government Center, then return to The Avenue Viera.

Local sponsors include Health First Cancer Institute, Ron Jon Surf Shop, the American Muscle Car Museum, and the Parrish Cancer Center, among others.

According to officials, more than 13 million supporters have raised more than $810 million nationwide since 1993. In Brevard, about 10,000 walkers helped to raise more than $329,000 in 2016.

For more information about the walk, or to find out how to donate, visit MakingStridesWalk.org/BrevardCountyFL.

For Breast Cancer Awareness month this October, the American Cancer Society will be hosting its ‘Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk.’

Viera Company is 'Making Strides' against cancer

For Hometown News

newsml@hometownnewsol.com

After participating in last year’s Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk as a Bronze sponsor, The Viera Company decided to join forces with the American Cancer Society again this year as a Silver sponsor for the annual event.

The Viera Company also threw its support behind one of its own: Todd Pokrywa, senior vice president and us planning & development, as he raises funds for the Real Men Wear Pink – American Cancer Society Fundraiser.

Michelle Oesterle, senior community development manager – American Cancer Society - is getting ready for the race and continuing fundraising efforts for the event.

“It’s nice to know that we can depend on the support of The Viera Company year after year,” Oesterle stated. “In addition to supporting the event financially, The Viera Company staff has taken time out of their busy schedules to brainstorm with me so that this event can continue to improve and have a significant impact on those affected by breast cancer. The Viera Company truly cares about our community and it’s a pleasure to partner with them.”

Funds raised through the Real Men Wear Pink fundraiser and The Viera Company’s charitable sponsorship donation will go toward the overall fundraising amount for the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk on Oct. 28. As of Oct. 13, the Real Men Wear Pink fundraiser had already raised more than $12,000 for The American Cancer Society. That will be added to the more than $58,000 that the 170 registered teams and 778 registered participants have currently raised for the Making Strides 5K.

This year the walk will begin and end at The Avenue Viera, kicking off at 7 a.m. with Mike and Mindy from Lite Rock hosting the opening ceremonies at 8 a.m. The walk starts at 9 a.m.

Pizza Gallery & Grill will be hosting a brunch immediately after the race with a portion of the proceeds going to Making Strides.

“I am honored to join other community and business leaders as one of the Real Men Wear Pink candidates again this year as we work to raise awareness and funds in the battle against this terrible disease that affects too many individuals and families,” Pokrywa said. “The Real Men of Brevard have so far raised a combined total of nearly $12,500 but they need all of our help to hit that $50,000 goal by their Oct. 31 deadline. Please support my efforts, or those of any of the other Real Men candidates, as we join the fight during Breast Cancer Awareness Month to have a meaningful impact in striving to end breast cancer. I know that together we are making a difference.”

To donate to or learn more about the “Making Strides Against Breast Cancer” event and the “Real Men Wear Pink” gentlemen, visit their website at Real Men Wear Pink of Brevard and sign up to race at Making Strides of Brevard Event Page.

Brevard County businesses donating to research

For Hometown News

newsml@hometownnewsol.com

Several Brevard County businesses are pitching in this month to combat breast cancer.

Inmon Automotive Services, 55-A N. Tropical Trail, Merritt Island, is offering free brake pads to customers and donating 10 percent of parts and labor costs to breast cancer research through Oct. 31.

Manager J.P. Snead said the auto repair shop is one of more than 100 shops teaming up with national group Brakes for Breasts to help fund research for a possible breast cancer vaccine undergoing studies at the Cleveland Clinic.

“We’ve had lots of calls from people who’ve turned down brake service in the past, and they’re scheduled to come in specifically for this,” Mr. Snead said. “Those folks know that breast cancer affects everybody, so anything we can do to help, we’re glad to do.”

Call (321) 338-1221 for more information.

At Melbourne BMW, 1432 S. Harbor City Blvd., the dealership will donate $25 to Making Strides Against Breast Cancer of Brevard for every visitor who takes a test drive.

having the soles of her feet tattooed in the following weeks.

Mr. Helmke and Ms. Guttenberg told Hometown News about their tattoo experiences in their "home" shop, Alternative Connection along with local tattoo artist Billy Haydock, Steven Vance and his wife and shop owner Lisa Pheanix.

When asked how many tattoos they each had, Ms. Guttenberg said, "I have one."

"They're all connected," she continued. "Sometimes you can't tell different, distinct tattoos because I think it morphs into something else, like it becomes another scene, other than it just being an individual tattoo."

Both Mr. Helmke and Ms. Guttenberg contacted Guinness World Records following the deaths of previous record-holders Tom Leppard, who died in 2016, and Isobel Varley, who died in 2015, and were inducted into the Guinness Book of World Records.

"They asked us to keep it secret until September of 2016," Ms. Guttenberg said. "Which we did. That was so hard! It takes so long for their book to be put together and released. They release the new addition in September of every year."

While much of the couple's faces are left un-tattooed, Mr. Helmke says that he would get a full facial tattoo on one condition.

"If I were in New Zealand, and the Māori [peoples] adopt me into their tribe (which they did for one man)," she said. I would let them do my whole face if it were the Māori doing it."

The Māori are indigenous Polynesian peoples in New Zealand, known for their tattoo customs, including rituals of maturity through tattooing.

Mr. Haydock was the first to tattoo Mr. Helmke when he visited the shop for the first time, and has since worked on both Mr. Helmke's and Ms. Guttenberg's "sleeves," which cover the length of their arms.

"Not only are they fantastic individuals, they're [also] wonderful for promotion, and just being part of the family," Mr. Vance said. "That brings people here to see them, to meet them, and to come to the same shop that they've chosen as their home shop."

"They've been so kind to us and taken such good care of us that we just love them," Ms. Guttenberg said.

Although neither Mr. Helmke nor Ms. Guttenberg regret any of their tattoos, Ms. Guttenberg did admit that her first tattoo, completed in her 50s, was eventually covered-up by a professional. The tattoo now is a medium-sized, colorful butterfly on her chest.

"I actually had a little yellow butterfly down underneath it, done earlier in the year by an amateur," Ms. Guttenberg said. "She didn't want to do it, but I had begged her do it because I wanted a tattoo. Well, it didn't look so great."

And I looked around at other people's tattoos, and I asked them where they got them, and a couple of people had told me it was this same woman," Ms. Guttenberg continued. "So, I had decided I wanted to get tattooed by a woman, and I went over to see her, and that's how this [tattoo] happened."

Mr. Helmke and Ms. Guttenberg are looking forward to more tattoos in the future with Alternative Connection.

(Quote about their love of tattoos would be good here)

Orchestra hosts a 'Fantastical' evening

By Brittany Mulligan

bmulligan@hometownnewsol.com

MELBOURNE – This Halloween season, the Melbourne Community Orchestra is getting in the spirit by returning to the Melbourne Auditorium for a lineup of "Fantastical Frights."

The performance is scheduled to take place at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 25-26, at 625 E. Hibiscus Blvd.

Admission is free. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

"I'm excited about finally getting on stage for a performance!" MCO Conductor Mark Nelson said. "After being 'hurricaned out' of our season-opening concert, we're all eager to entertain our audience. The orchestra has worked extremely hard to put together an eclectic array of music that is sure to please."

The evenings will feature music familiar to the audience, as well as some new pieces that may soon become audience favorites, Mr. Nelson said.

The concert will include the main theme from the movie "Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them," Antonin Dvorak's "Noon Witch," Bach's "Kom Susser Tod" (translated as "Come, Sweet Death") and "Tocatta and Fugue in D Minor," as well as pieces that will remind audiences of the evil witch from "Hansel & Gretel" and the pirate ghost ship "The Flying Dutchman."

Before each season begins, a music committee convenes to discuss concert themes, suggest selections, listen to arrangements and comes to a consensus as to what works well for the orchestra, what audiences might like to hear and what new literatures can be introduced that could become audience favorites, Mr. Nelson said.

"The audience can expect a thrilling performance of themes they already know, some Halloween standards and a few hidden gems that will become one of their 'new' favorites," he added.

As a nonprofit, all-volunteer orchestra, the MCO has been performing free concerts for the community. The orchestra is comprised of 50-plus musicians ranging from student players to full-time professionals.

Maestro Nelson was a co-founder. See FANTASTICAL, page 19

Q. Is there some way naturally I can reduce the congestion due to colds, flu or allergies?

A. Congestion is the build up of mucus in the sinuses and the lungs. The body produces mucus to protect the lining of the respiratory system from air borne allergens or irritation from germs. Unfortunately, this mucus provides a perfect breeding ground for bacteria. Garlic supplements thin the mucus allowing the sinuses to drain and the lungs to bring the mucus up thus reducing the bacteria or virus population. Get concentrated garlic in pill form. Choose Health Comes First garlic, which is enteric-coated, this allows the garlic to digest in the small intestine to reduce the garlic smell.

You are not going to do anything halfway this week, Scorpio. Come to think of it, you never do things halfway. Nevertheless, be cautious and considerate with your pursuits.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov. 23/Dec. 21

Sagittarius, you are not the type of person who is willing to settle. This week, in regard to your career, you will demonstrate just how eager you are to get ahead.

CAPRICORN - Dec. 22/Jan. 20

Capricorn, the greatest asset you can have this week is the capacity to communicate. Always express your feelings clearly so that nothing can be misconstrued.

AQUARIUS - Jan. 21/Feb. 18

Relationship matters are on the mend, Aquarius. You couldn't be happier with the changes. You're not prone to going it alone, and having a mate at your side is key.

PISCES - Feb. 19/March 20

Pisces, associates and friends have been cautious and guarded, leading you to believe you should act the same way. Don't follow the crowd.

Decorating In The Beach Cities

I believe that the weather has so much to do with style in our beach or coastal areas. The trend today is more of a beachy cottage than traditional (and one I love). Lighter colors and brightness gives us a cool airy look in the hot days we have here. “Less is more” these days too.

Where to start? The goal is to make your space look homey and comfortable! Pick out your focal piece and work around it with lighter walls brighter colors. Not every wall needs a picture, adding small groupings to decorate more interesting than putting an art piece for plant on every table.

When you are just trying to freshen up an area you can do it with just a few little changes. Start with a blank slate: Remove all your art work, step back and look at how your furniture is positioned? Typically, our living spaces are focused around the TV. Moving furniture just at an angle can make a room feel like a big change, remember it doesn't have to all be against the wall. Remove furniture that is not really serving a purpose. You can add it back later. Now start adding back to the room and try switch things up by putting pictures in different areas of the room. Think about mixing furniture from other rooms, old antiques and Shabby Chic and make an interesting pair or a tradition painting over an old painted cupboard used for a TV console. Less is more and it's ok to complete the room over time, you may want to live with some of the changes for a few days and then continue to make minor adjustments

For more helpful ideas, come see us at Personalities Of The Past. Bring us pictures and we can help you with your decorating challenges!

MELBOURNE - A unique event is coming to town, catering to those living with Parkinson's disease and the families who support them.

The 2017 Parkinson's Care Fair is an educational event, which will feature guest speakers, and is designed to provide support for those affected by the disease.

Hosted by Brevard Parkinson's Support Group, the free event is from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 26, at the Hilton Melbourne Rialto Place, 200 Rialto Place.

Now in its fifth year, the Care Fair has grown exponentially since its inception in 2013. The first Care Fair featured Dr. Richard Unger and a panel of care professionals, with 160 attendees. In following years, attendance grew to more than 200, along with sponsorships and the addition of vendors and a keynote speaker.

"I don't know of any independent support group anywhere that has organized, funded, and procured speakers of the magnitude that we have today or even in the past three years," said Marieke Kreps, president of the Brevard Parkinson's Support Group.

"Our vendors are always impressed how we can attract so many attendees," she added. "I think we have been able to do so because I have attended many symposiums and made acquaintances with so many representatives of pharmaceutical companies, foundations such as Davis Phinney, and special speakers and services. Through these relationships we have been able to attract the people who bring valuable information and funding for such an event."

Guest speakers for the 2017 Care Fair include John C. Alexander, ambassador for the Davis Phinney Foundation; Dr. Nisha Chhabria, movement disorder specialist for Parkinson's Disease & Movement Disorders Center of Boca Raton; and Rebecca Hahessy, program director for American Parkinson Disease Association of South Florida Chapter.

Mr. Alexander will speak on "The Journey Begins with a Thousand Miles - Thriving with Parkinson's Disease Through Hope, Optimism, and Perseverance."

Dr. Chhabria will speak on "Research 101: The Latest in Medical Advancements for the Treatment of Parkinson's Disease." And Ms. Hahessy will speak on "Get It On

Time - Advocating for Yourself in the Hospital."

The Brevard Parkinson's Support Group website has a list of national and local services for those living with Parkinson's disease. Its support group has special speakers every month with either information on research, medications, exercise, therapies, nutrition, emergency preparedness, mental health and others, Ms. Kreps said.

In the next year, she added, the group plans to host creative, fun meetings with art projects, dance, and laugh-a-thons.

It is Ms. Kreps' hope that in 2018, the group can find a venue and teachers who can assist with programs involving singing, dancing and art therapy.

"It is important to join a support group when you are ready after diagnosis," Ms. Kreps said. "Through a good support group one discovers you are not alone. I was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease in 2011. I attended my first support meeting a short time after diagnosis."

Ms. Kreps volunteered to assist with the support group's newsletter and later became its leader.

"I think I just have a vision and am driven for all of us to have the support we need for quality care and programs to live our lives as best we can," she said. "So, our group strives to educate ourselves and the medical community as well to accomplish this in the future for people living with Parkinson's in Brevard County."

Brevard Parkinson's Support Group meets on the fourth Thursday of every month except in November and December. The group meets at The Fountains Assisted Living, 4451 Stack Blvd., Palm Bay, from 1:30-3 p.m.

Simple tips for ramping up your retirement savings

No matter where you are in your life, saving for retirement is likely one of your most important financial goals. But, even if you have professional guidance and a clear strategy for your desired future, you could still be missing some straightforward ways to maximize your savings.

The reality is most people do not save enough money for retirement. In fact, the National Institute on Retirement Security estimates that Americans have at least a $6.8 trillion gap between the amount they have saved and the amount they need. Alarming, the institute found the gap could be as high as $14 trillion.

Major life events and financial changes always need to be addressed, but let me share some simple ways to increase your savings now.

Reevaluate small budget items

Changing major aspects of your budget — such as your housing or healthcare costs — can significantly impact your savings potential, but may also take time to implement. To start saving more today, look at the little places where you spend money and see where you can trim your expenses. For example, do you eat lunch out every day or buy a specialty coffee most mornings? Do you have entertainment packages you aren't really using, such as cable TV or online memberships? Saving a few dollars each day can add up to thousands of dollars over a year, which is money you can put toward your retirement.

FINANCIAL LITERACY
AUGUST H. VELTEN

Remember to imagine the retirement you desire

Effective retirement strategies often focus on building a clear vision of how you would like to spend life after your career. As you go about your daily life and make financial decisions, how often do you reflect on this vision? Rather than only thinking about your retirement goals during financial reviews or major choices, start incorporating this picture into your regular decision-making process. For example, each time you make a purchase, ask yourself if you'd rather have this item or put the money toward the retirement you desire. You may discover that by grounding each purchase in this way, you spend less on items you don't really care about — and have more money to put toward the retirement you've dreamed about.

Capture your employer's full 401(k) match

U.S. employees lose $24 billion a year by not saving enough in their 401(k) to claim their company's full matching.³ If your employer matches your retirement contributions, make sure you contribute at least enough to claim what is essentially free money. And if you are age 50 or older, remember that you can contribute an extra $6,000 each year to your 401(k) on top of the $18,000 annual limit.

Invest additional funds

When you receive a raise, bonus, tax refund, inheritance, or other financial windfall, spending the funds can be very tempting. Instead, if you choose to invest this money into your retirement, you can boost your savings without affecting your current bottom line. In addition, if you put a bonus into a 401(k) or IRA, you may also enjoy tax benefits and not owe anything until you withdraw the funds.⁵ Investing those additional funds into a ROTH IRA may make sense. These funds would produce tax-free income for tax efficiency in retirement.

Saving for retirement is a big responsibility, but it does not have to be a burden. With these simple changes — and support from professionals who care about your future — you can focus on creating a lifestyle that matches your dreams.

Held in conjunction with the city's ever-popular Monster Mash Dance Party, Trunk or Treat gives local residents, businesses, nonprofits and municipal services an opportunity to engage with the Cape Canaveral community and distribute candy in a safe, supervised setting. This event is geared towards kids 12 and younger and features a DJ, games, costume/dance contests and lots of candy.

Spaces are limited for the Trunk or Treat, and preregistration is required.

Set-up will begin at 5 p.m., and the event will open to trick or treaters at 6:30 p.m.

For more information or to reserve a spot for the Trunk or Treat, contact the Culture & Leisure Services office at (321) 868-1226. Visit online at www.cityofcapecanaveral.org/events.

Residents and area guests can sample foods from a variety of both well-known establishments and newcomers to the Space Coast dining scene all in one evening.

The Taste of the Coast will feature land and sea favorites, specialty appetizers, locally brewed and produced beverages along with live entertainment and a silent auction.

Admission includes sampling of all food and beverage offerings. Local band Gypsy Rain will provide live entertainment.

A limited number of non-food vendor marketing tables are also available for $75 for Chamber Partners and $100 for Non-Chamber Partners.

General admission is $20 per person in advance and $25 at the door and includes sampling of all food and beverages offered.

Additional beverages are available for purchase.

Tickets may also be purchased at the Cocoa Beach Regional Chamber of Commerce's three offices at 400 Fortenberry Rd. in Merritt Island, 3800 N. Atlantic Ave., Ste. 2, Cocoa Beach, or the Avenue Viera location at 2261 Town Center Ave., Ste. 103, Viera.
