Nuisance defined.
 Ord. 7, Sec. 1,
 April 14, 1888.

SEC. 696. The word nuisance in this ordinance shall mean anything that is noxious or offensive, or anything that interferes with the comfort of the citizen, or that is injurious to the public health.

Slaughter house regulations.
 Ib., Sec. 2.

SEC. 697. Slaughter houses or slaughter yards shall be provided with an ample supply of pure water. Blood of slaughtered animals, offal and all excrementitious substances shall be removed from the premises, and the premises shall be maintained in a cleanly and sanitary condition by the owner thereof. No diseased animal shall be introduced into or slaughtered in any slaughter house or slaughter yard. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction before the Municipal Court, be fined not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not less than twenty-five nor more than ninety days.

Privy vaults.
 Ib., Sec. 3.

SEC. 698. It shall not be lawful for any person to excavate, construct, or use or maintain any privy vault, or bury any human excrement within the city limits, except as hereinafter provided. The occupants or tenants of any premises in the City of Jacksonville, and where there is joint occupation of premises by several families, the owner or owners, agent or agents, or occupant, shall remove or cause to be removed, the contents of every privy or privies belonging to such premises as often as the health officer shall demand, the removal and deposit of such contents to be performed as directed and ordered by the health officer. And the contents, or any portion of the contents of any privy shall not be deposited within the city limits, except under direction of the health officer, but must be removed beyond the boundaries of the city, except as above mentioned, to a place or places designated by the health officer. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall, on conviction before the Municipal Court, be punished by a fine of not less than one dollar or more than twenty dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than five or more than twenty days.
