

only two came, and went away again directly.”

“We must go out and see the reason of that,” said papa, smiling, — “you and I, Rosy, directly after breakfast. We must go and tell the dear birds that Rosy has come.”

