

“Wasn't it nice?”

“Yes, Rosy,” said her mamma, “and I hope that my little chicken will always run to my side as quickly as these did to their mother. You see she knew that they were in danger when they didn't themselves; and so do I sometimes when my Rosy thinks she is quite safe.”

