

they had been. Jack took the cord off the bag, and took out the cat. The king did not know what a cat was; for he had no cats in his land.