Gregg "Hobie" Hubbard, an Apopka native, will perform May 4 in Apopka with Sawyer Brown.

Dream was right size for Hubbard

By John Peery Apopka Chief Staff

Growing up in Apopka, Sawyer Brown keyboardist and singer Gregg "Hobie" Hubbard had a pretty big dream, but he wasn't sure it would ever come true.

The dream was a career in music – playing the piano, singing, and writing.

After 38 years as a key member of country music band Sawyer Brown, it's safe to say that Hubbard's dream has been fulfilled and then some.

"I think there were moments where the dream almost felt like too big of a dream," Hubbard said this week during a telephone interview.

"There were moments growing up where I knew I hoped I would get to do something that involved writing and music, but there was that thought, 'Oh, I wonder if you do it for a living, would that make you stop enjoying music.' I couldn't risk that in my head, but fortunately, that is not the case because there is probably not a day that goes by that I don't listen to music. Not ours, but somebody else's."

A 1978 Apopka High School graduate, Hubbard thinks he might have followed his parents, C.W. and Myrtle Hubbard, as an educator had that dream not come to fruition.

"What I thought about was I would have loved to write for a newspaper or magazine, but probably the apple wouldn't have fallen far from the tree and I would have been a teacher," he said.

Access for visually impaired to city's website could cost Apopka $500,000

By John Peery Apopka Chief Staff

The city of Apopka could be on the hook for a $500,000 expense to update all the documents on the city's website so that software readers used by the visually impaired can access the documents.

And, at least for the time being, documents posted on the website, such as PDF copies of City Council meeting information packets, have been taken down and are no longer available without requesting them individually.

The changes occurred after the city received a request for some city documents from a resident of Daytona Beach, who sent the city a letter earlier this month asking for electronic documents of the city's budgets for 2015-2018, and City Council meeting packets for 2016-2018, who stated that he was legally blind.

"My screen reader (software) would not work with your electronic documents," Joel Price of Daytona Beach wrote in a letter that was dated February 18, but received by the city on March 8.

"Would you please make these documents accessible in your site so that they will work with screen readers?" Price wrote.

Robert Hippler, the city's information technology director, and city attorney Joe Byrd told the City Council at its meeting on Wednesday, March 20, that to accommodate that request could eventually cost the city up to $500,000 to get all the documents in line to be read by the screen reader software and to have all future documents be prepared in a manner where the software would verbally read the documents to visually impaired persons.

Most of the documents, Hippler said, are in PDF format and those software tags that are readable by the screen reader software.

The federal Americans with Disability Act requires documents be prepared that way, although the federal Department of Justice has not issued regulations on how that is to be done, making it difficult for the city to comply, Byrd said.

Hippler told the City Council that it will cost about $8,100 for the city to fulfill Price's request.

During discussion with city commissioners and Mayor Bryan Nelson, there were questions posed to Hippler

Apopka faith community will use software to help aid the homeless

By Teresa Sargeant Apopka Chief Staff

A technology expert unrolled to the Apopka faith community a new technology platform designed to better coordinate church resources when assisting the homeless and people in poverty.

Called Spirit, the platform shows its users where and how individuals received help (called clients) and which church in the area provided it. Working as a network within the community, Spirit would allow churches to see each client's journey and therefore know which questions to ask given the situation and better direct cli-

Community bankers finally work together

By John Peery Apopka Chief Staff

In the age where large financial institutions open up a branch location seemingly on every street corner in town, another bank is poised to open next week. This one, however, is different in that the top two officers in the Apopka location have served as bankers in town for decades, but never working together.

After competing for business once in a while in Apopka, but at least working in their own domain, David Rankin and Bill Arrowsmith are now teaming up as part of a startup bank with One Florida Bank poised to open next week with the Apopka branch location at 21 E. Third Street and one in south Orlando at 1601 S. Orange Avenue. The original bank charter was bought and transferred from a small community bank in Chipley, located in Florida's Panhan-

Our position

Apopka's special events reflect its community spirit

A couple of weeks ago, the annual Apopka Fair was held to great crowds as people enjoyed themselves at the event that also raises funds for the Apopka Rotary Club's many charitable efforts that are completed throughout the Apopka community.

In another five weeks, on April 27-28, the annual Apopka Art and Foliage Festival will once again delight locals and visitors at Kit Land Nelson Park. The event has been going on for nearly 60 years and has grown so that the quality and the quantity of the art are among the best anywhere. Of course, the foliage on display and on sale at the festival are world-class as the Apopka area continues to grow the best indoor foliage, bar none.

A week after that, on May 4, the Apopka Proud concert featuring country music stars John Anderson and the group Sawyer Brown will take the Apopka amphitheater stage at the Northwest Recreation Complex.

John Anderson and two members of Sawyer Brown, Gregg Hubbard and Mark Miller, are all Apopka High School graduates and Apopka is home to all three, no matter how long they have been away from Apopka, thrilling thousands of country music fans throughout the United States.

All of these events, plus others throughout the year, are indicative of the community spirit that pervades in Apopka.

Yes, we have our modern-day issues like anywhere else, but one thing that Apopka has that very few communities still have is a spirit of wanting to help others and make contributions to the betterment of those who live here.

So many places are just bedroom communities where people come and go, and have no other local connection than to sleep and go to the grocery store. Some of Apopka is like that, but we also know that there is a community spirit in our town that keeps people here and engaged in local happenings.

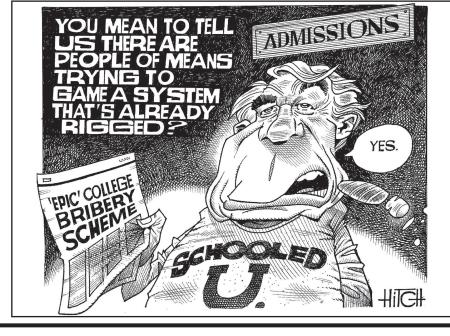

We are especially thankful for the Apopka Woman's Club that sponsors and organizes the Apopka Art and Foliage Festival. The event is a great spring festival that draws thousands to Kit Land Nelson Park on the fourth weekend of April. Just as the Apopka Rotary Club does with funds raised through the Apopka Fair, the Apopka Woman's Club returns the proceeds from the festival back to the community each year, most notably through scholarship money to seniors at Apopka and Wekiva high schools.

The Apopka Proud concert is a one-time event, but it will certainly bring a smile to many faces of those who grew up with Anderson, Hubbard, and Miller, as well as those who are fans of the country music stars.

Not surprisingly, the tickets for the permanent seating area at the amphitheater sold out very quickly, but lawn seating at the amphitheater is free. Parking will be $10 per vehicle, so a family can enjoy all that great music for a mere $10.

With the event starting at noon on May 4, it's sure to be a great time for everyone involved and we cannot wait to see these fantastic musicians from Apopka performing here in their hometown for the hometown fans.

We hope you take advantage of all these events to get out and enjoy our beautiful weather this time of year, but also to enjoy the true community spirit that comes with living, working, and/or playing in Apopka, or if you are really fortunate, doing all three here.

All need to take action now

New Hope Missionary Baptist Church was the site for a meeting last week about putting an end to violence in Apopka, especially violence that ends in a senseless loss of lives.

I attended with my staff listening as parents of young men who had been killed expressed their grief. Mothers and grandmothers addressed challenges surrounding raising children in single-parent, lowincome households. Young people expressed concern over a lack of dedicated activities to bolster our community.

Clergy, law enforcement, and Apopka City Commissioner Alexander Smith spoke to the crowd County Commissioner District 2 about their outrage over recent murders. I learned so much. The attendees then challenged their city and county commissioners to make improvements.

I believe strongly in four categories of government: self, family, church, and civil – local, state, and federal. No one level can solve all the problems.

You and I have little influence over foreign policy, how other families choose to live their lives, or manage their households, or what goes on every day in the legislative chambers in Tallahassee. Yet, we can do a bangup job in our own areas of responsibility. There is a time and place to air concerns, grieve, and ask questions. Likewise, there is a time and place to take action. Now is that time.

The Orange County Commission has a large budget, in fact more than $4.4 billion. While much of the funding is rightly budgeted for infrastructure needs: roads, sewer, Michael Walker, Community Resource Network technology director, explained Spirit's features at the faith community meeting on Tuesday, March 19, at First Presbyterian Church of Apopka.

"Spirit kind of connects a lot of these dots. It's a tool," Walker said. "It's not going to give us the answers. It's not going to pop up and say 'Ahh' with some magical thing. We wish we could think to do that, but this is a complex problem."

The March 19 meeting is part of a series of workshops and gatherings the faith community has had in conjunction with Community Resource Network, an Altamonte Springs nonprofit that has been collaborating with the Apopka faith community since December 2017 on the homelessness issue.

CRN pulls together a network of organizations, nonprofits, and faith communities in Central Florida to address family housing instability and homelessness in Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties.

Spirit can support collaboration in Apopka by tracking a family history and transaction history, record case management for relationship-based care, and enable sharing of cases and associated notes with other churches.

The platform also provides community intake, which is the process of collecting a client's identification, information of circumstances, and whereabouts in finding help and resources

To avoid duplication of services for Spirit, clients would be required to provide some form of identification, which is as simple as name and date of birth. "Instead of you having to completely ask every question from the beginning, you get a subset to start your conversation," Walker said.

Clients' information on Spirit is shareable but could be done so at the churches' and clients' discretion without being made available to the pub-

Byrd said that non-visually impaired persons may request City Council meeting packets or other such documents by calling the city clerk's office at 407-703-1704.

On its website, the city has posted the following message:

"Please be advised that this website is currently under renovation to ensure accessibility to our disabled residents and visitors. Should you encounter any inaccessible material or difficulty in using our site, please contact the City Clerk's office by calling 407-703-1704 or by email at cityclerk@apopka.net."

Byrd said, "We wanted this to be clear and up front to the public. Why we were doing this was in response to the request for accommodation."

Alcohol ordinance

Some portions of the alcohol ordinance that the city adopted in December 2017 was tweaked in various ways, including the hours of service.

Among the changes were allowing on-premises consumption of alcohol at restaurants and bars beginning at 9 a.m. from the current 11 a.m. Monday through Saturday. Sunday sales will be able to start at 11 a.m.

There can be expanded hours for special events, however. City officials cited World Cup soccer televised events that sometimes start at 7 a.m. local time and fans want to gather to watch the games and have alcohol available.

The special events must be approved by the City Council.

The changes in the ordinance also include a definition for microbrewery and to clarify the use.

Also, the prohibition of sales within 500 feet of schools was expanded to include churches, which had been in a previous city ordinance but was removed in the December 2017 ordinance.

Other items

The City Council gave unanimous approval to the sale of alcohol at the Apopka Proud concert that is scheduled for May 4 at the Apopka amphitheater on the grounds of the Northwest Recreation Complex.

City ordinances require the City Council to approve any sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages on city-owned property during events.

Each of the lots is just under one acre in size. Each of the lots will house a building of 7,490 sq. ft. with varying warehouse and office square footage, depending upon the need of the business.

There was no mention in the city documents of what type of business will be utilizing the buildings.

The first reading of three annexations were read and given unanimous approval, as were several other items, including a change of zoning and other developmental issues.

Among the approvals given was an amended development agreement for Bridle Path, a residential subdivision of 152 homes planned for the west side of Plymouth-Sorrento Road about a half-mile north of Kelly Park Road.

A final development plan for members of Renewal Church to build a new church building at 2335 Appy Lane, near the north side of the Northwest Recreation Complex off Jason Dwelley Parkway.

A special exception was required as the area was zoned agriculture estates, which is for singlefamily houses on large plots of land.

The building will be acre site and will have landscape buffers, as well as a split-rail fence, which city officials said would be in character with the immediate area.

No neighbors spoke against the plan to build the church.

Strangers in a Foreign Land

Living next to a state park means having some interesting visitors and checking our yard each morning before letting out our inquisitive, fearless little pup who might meet some "bad guys" and get hurt faster than we can keep up with her. We've seen wild turkey families "fly" over our 8' fence to sit down in the corner of the yard for a little rest before moving on, sometimes joined by a feral cat who passes through the middle of them without incident. A raccoon uses our roof as a connector from our back yard to the front; seasonally, she comes with 2 or 3 babies. There are possums, birds of all sizes from Cardinals to Hawks and Eagles, various snakes - I killed a coral snake before it killed my silly cat, who was determined to try batting it around! And, (shiver) ... spiders. Bears, too, who break through the same part of our fence periodically. Then, there's a whole world of wild, dangerous things outside one's yard... too many are non-native, with numbers increasing faster than the ability to control them.

Those bright green Iguanas tourists love to watch eat flowers in the Caribbean are a huge problem for South Florida homeowners, leaving their calling cards of destruction and filth. Laying an average 40 eggs per clutch per year, they're multiplying like rabbits while damaging landscapes, seawalls, roofs,, and patios ... not to mention contaminating pools with p__ p! Thomas Portuallo, owner of Fort Lauderdale's Iguana Control, says the invasive lizards are out of control with "many hundreds of thousands" in Broward, Miami-Dade and Palm Beach

Texas is the only state with more wild hogs than Florida says, an assistant professor of Wildlife Ecology at UF's Institute of Food And Agricultural Sciences, Bill Giuliano. Wild or feral hogs are found in at least 35 states, with a nationwide population of about 3 million, 1 to 2 million in the southeast alone. Florida's some 500,000 wild hogs are found in every county, causing problems for native plants, residents, farmers and health officials. These big pigs usually weigh 100-200 pounds, are very fast and capable of causing serious injury with their tusks. (Did I mention, Ugly?) Although they prefer flight over fight, they become aggressive and dangerous when injured or cornered. Millions are spent yearly to prevent damage from hoas.

Burmese pythons also inhabit our state, mainly in the south, but their existence has been verified in Tampa-St. Pete, Altamonte Springs, New Smyrna Beach, Ocala, Gainesville, Jacksonville and west to Panama City. Something that bugs me about Pythons is that people who didn't do their due diligence owned them as "pets", only to find them to be more than they could handle, so, since there's no Python Rescue program, apparently, or whatever ... they just set them free. For the rest of us to deal with. So, while politicians are trying to decide what constitutes an invasion, and by whom, Florida has been dealing with invasions of the ugly, dirty, dangerous kind for a while and are in a sometimes desperate search for solutions to those invasions. I for one, as the owner of two small pets, who are vulnerable to those invadersalong with parents of young children - hope there is one and hope it's found soon.

WELLS FARGO

Give your money a raise

Make your money work harder by earning higher interest rates. Talk to a banker for more details. Offer expires March 22, 2019.

Platinum Savings Account

Annual Percentage Yield for 12 months¹

Enjoy a special interest rate for 12 months with new money deposits of at least $25,000 and a minimum daily account balance of $25,000 or more.

Fixed Rate CD

Annual Percentage Yield for 11 months²

Both accounts are FDIC-insured up to the maximum allowable limit. Platinum Savings offer available in CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA. Fixed Rate CD offer available in AL, AZ, CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NM, NV, NY, PA, SC and VA. Portfolio by Wells Fargo® customers are eligible to receive an additional interest rate bonus on these accounts.³

1. To qualify for this offer, you must have a new or existing Platinum Savings account and enroll the account in this offer between 01/21/2019 and 03/22/2019. This offer is subject to change at any time, without notice. This offer is available only to Platinum Savings customers in the following states: CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA. In order to earn the Special Interest Rate of 2.08% (Special Rate), you must deposit $25,000 in new money (from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates) to the enrolled savings account and maintain a minimum daily account balance of $25,000 throughout the term of this offer. The corresponding Annual Percentage Yield (APY) for this offer is 2.10%. The Special Rate will be applied to the enrolled savings account for a period of 12 months, starting on the date the account is enrolled in the offer. However, for any day during that 12 month period that the daily account balance is less than the $25,000 minimum, the Special Rate will not apply and the interest rate will revert to the standard interest rate applicable to your Platinum Savings account. As of 12/10/2018, the standard interest rate and APY for a Platinum Savings account in CT, DC, DE, FL, GA, MD, NJ, NY, SC and VA with an account balance of $0.01 to $99,999.99 is 0.03% (0.03% APY) and with an account balance of $100,000 and above is 0.05% (0.05% APY). Each tier shown reflects the current minimum daily collected balance required to obtain the applicable APY. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. The amount of interest earned is based on the daily collected balances in the account. Upon the expiration of the 12 month promotional period, standard interest rates apply. Minimum to open a Platinum Savings account is $25. A monthly service fee of $12 applies in any month the account falls below a $3,500 minimum daily balance. Fees may reduce earnings. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Offer not available to Private Banking, Wealth, Business Banking or Wholesale customers. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 01/21/2019 and 03/22/2019. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term: For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually, A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the Special Rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Wells Fargo reserves the right to modify or discontinue the offer at any time without notice. Offer cannot be combined with any other consumer deposit offer. Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. Offer cannot be reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the bonus interest rate on all eligible savings accounts, and discounts or fee waivers on other products and services, will discontinue and revert to the Bank's then-current applicable rate or fee. For bonus interest rates on time accounts, this change will occur upon renewal. If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product

April emphasizes changes and values of 911 resource

Editor's note: The following was submitted by Orange County 911 administration.

In 2008, the United States Congress established April as National 911 Education Month. In Orange County, we begin this month-long campaign to help our citizens of all ages recognize the importance of 911 and the role they play in ensuring effective and efficient emergency response in times of origin

For 50 years, 911 has served as the vital link between our citizens and our emergency services. As our citizens utilize new communications technologies and devices, 911 education takes on an increased importance for everyone.

Recent 911 educational campaigns include:

* Call if you can, text if you can't: Text to 911 is now available in Orange County. This service will benefit individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing, have a speech impediment, or for anyone who has a police, fire, or medical emergency and making a voice call to 911 would put you in danger. When seconds matter, a voice call to 911 is the best and fastest way for the 911 operator to retrieve and deliver lifesaving information, so you should only use text to 911 when a voice call is not an option.

If you have to text to 911, always provide your exact location and the nature of the emergency. Location technology is not the same with text as it is with a voice 911 call. Avoid using slang, social media jargon or abbreviations, and do not send photos, emojis, GIFs or videos. Also, don't send a group text. Finally, make sure to mute your phone if you are in a dangerous situation. Remember – call if you can, text if you can't. * Know your location: Wireless calls to 911 can provide inconsistent location information, so 911 call takers will need more specific information from you. Be prepared to provide detailed information on where you are so that help can get to you as quickly as possible.

* Stay calm and don't hang up: Until you are instructed to do otherwise, stay on the line with the 911 operator so you can provide any necessary information or assistance to the 911 operator, and so the 911 operator can provide you with lifesaving instructions. If you accidentally call 911, don't hang up. Stay on the phone and inform the 911 operator that you dialed accidently and that there is no emergency. If you don't stay on the phone, valuable 911 resources will be used to locate you to ensure emergency services are not needed. Public safety agencies throughout Orange County will be recognizing 911 Education Month with various activities such as educational events, sharing information on their websites and social media, and including 911 education in their local Neighborhood Watch meetings. If you would like a 911 professional to present at an informational meeting or event, please email your request to 911MSAG@ocfl.net.

Corbeil: Take time to learn truth about legalized use of marijuana

The Epoch Times as "A Cure For Fake News Syndrome" states that "the very Fabric of America is under attack – our freedoms, our republic, and our constitutional rights have become contested terrain." The Epoch Times, a media committed to truthful and responsible journalism, is a rare bastion of hope and stability in these testing times.

The lead (and sizeable article) in the Business and Opinion section's 12 pages does a truth number on

Sen. Cory Booker's campaign to legalize marijuana in an excellent article by Christopher Hull who exposes Booker's lack of true information on cannabis.

Hull's major lead states, "Diagnosable cannabis use disorder accounts for 11 percent of all psychosis cases in emergency rooms, reaching 90,000 cases, about 250 a day."

Hull covers a report by Alex Berenson, "Former New York Times reporter and author of the new book "Tell Your Children the Truth About Marijuana, Mental Illness and Violence." A five-year study in Australia of patients with chronic pain showed cannabis use was associated with greater pain over time

In a 2017 speech, Booker claimed that the states that legalized marijuana, "are seeing decreases in violence."

"Not so," says Hull.

"The first four states to legalize marijuana for recreational use saw a five-year increase of 37 percent for murders and 25 percent for aggravated assaults, far greater than the national increases.

Likewise, a 2013 journal article studying 1,600 psychiatric patients in Southern Italy found marijuana use was associated with a 10-fold increase in violence.

In a super article on the nut job Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, writer Marc Rubin hits many excellent home runs, including this grand slam. He writes, "For those with lingering doubts about the tectonic shift this country is undergoing, the Great New Deal is revelatory. That it could be taken seriously by lawmakers wouldn't have been a surprise to George Orwell. His only error was one of timing, because he expected the transformation to have been completed by 1984."

In 1984, I couldn't put down "1984." I read it several times. Ocasio-Cortez would have fit perfectly in a world where 'love is hate,' 'war is peace,' and truth is lies.'

The "Arts and Entertainment" eight pages is a wonderful study in movies, paintings, music, and a book review of the biography of the late Charles Krauthammer "A Life Well Lived" by Linda Wiegenfeld. I give you an A+, Linda. Ending the first edition of The Epoch Times is a page full of write-ups of Things To Do in Manhattan in wonderful detail.

Enjoy!

Note: The front page of the last section has a frame sized full-color painting (13.5 in. by 8.5 in.) "Mother and Daughter" by Hughes Merle. It's beautiful.

"Buy the truth, and sell it not: also wisdom; and instruction, and understanding." Proverbs 23:23.

Moore: Share early learning tips

water - there is a significant portion allocated for safety and quality-of-life issues. South Apopka has its own community center, first-rate park, and beautiful new elementary school. The community is serviced by the city of Apopka and Orange County Government for police and fire services. They provide backup for one another when needed. The Neighborhood Services Division offers grants for neighborhood improvement, signage, and homeowner improvements. Neighborhood Services can also come to the Bridges Center to train community members on how to improve properties, erect appealing signage, and run homeowner associations. I propose identifying potential leadership and conducting these types of sessions. As your District 2 county commissioner, I can make this happen.

The Bridges Center offers a quality, federally funded early learning program in the Head Start Program administered by the county. Head Start works not only with children, but on parent training and other necessary life skills. I propose we encourage more families to enroll in these programs at the Bridges Center. Additionally, I'm in the process of starting a new Toddler Time program at Wheatley Park, interviewing area daycares, and working with developers to bring more quality early-learning programs to the region. Research shows that children who enter kindergarten behind are often those same students retained in third grade and, sadly, who later drop out of school. Quality early learning is a first line of defense against a lifetime of heartache and struggle. Meeting attendees mentioned the need for more programs at the Bridges Center.

I would like to report that I am researching this now, and look forward to identifying such opportunities in future columns.

My ideas for improving communities come from the 10 years I spent restoring quality education and improving the reputation of certain local schools. The task is not an easy one, but it can and must be done. I believe the process of bettering communities is quite similar. Leaders must provide quality leadership, work fastidiously with people living in the community, and facilitate an improvement model. A variety of researchbased programs should be presented to residents, and together we can determine which ones will work. Those that work provide measurable results.

Here is the list of ideas I currently have. While some would need to be vetted, it's time to brainstorm. My aide, Kathy Marsh, suggested developing a concert series at the amphitheater in Wheatley Park, while I'm working on a Toddler Time program. I wish to recruit some midpriced, corporate-owned daycares to open in the community. I'm meeting with the county's chief planner about rezoning some of Clarcona Road to allow for expanding new commercial businesses. I will meet with county economic development staff to recruit these small businesses to relocate into these newly rezoned parcels. Orange Technical College is also in the process of securing entitlements to build a job-training center next to Wheatley Elementary. Additionally, public works is investing $100,000 in infrastructure improvements. Finally, I'm looking into a midnight basketball program. We can always find those things that need improvement. It is much harder maintaining sustainable improvement models. This is now the task we have at hand. I'm grateful to those who convened the meeting last week, and now I look forward to leading some county-jurisdictional improvements. I hope that together – the community and my office -we will celebrate many little successes along the journey.

I'm honored to serve as your county commissioner.

things that would make everyone proud. I want to share some of the things I saw. Caroll Grimando, principal of Wolf Lake principal of Wolf Lake Elementary, showed me around her beautiful school whose walls are filled with snapshot photographs of the happy, smiling faces they house.

It was "house" day so the kids and teachers were wearing their "house" colors

The school is divided up into "houses" and each "house" has a distinctive character trait. There is an ongoing competition where "houses" are awarded points and the excitement throughout the campus could be felt.

The kids were happy and excited.

She had just gotten back from a walking field trip to the park where a group of students went to have lunch and celebrate with their parents.

As I entered classrooms, I continued to see this excitement. One classroom had baby chicks hatch the day before. They were more than happy to answer our questions and were quite the chick experts.

I spent a few minutes talking to kindergarten teachers who were planning a thematic unit on dinosaurs after break. They will incorporate all the content areas into the theme, teaching math, language arts, and writing into the study of dinosaurs.

This is bound to be a fun learning experience for those kiddos.

Some students in the gifted cluster classroom shared with me the Apprentice program they are doing at the school. They are preparing and teaching concepts to other students in an Apprentice competition, like the television show.

The excitement for learning in this school is evident the moment you walk in. Under the leadership of Ms. Grimando, these teachers transform their classrooms into spaces that embrace creativity.

This is what learning should look like.

And it does. Everywhere I visit.

My next stop was to Wolf Lake Middle where Principal Cindi Haupt walked me around the school. Most people would think that middle school couldn't be much fun, but that is not what I saw.

We visited a math classroom that was celebrating Pi Day with, you guessed it, pie! They had various desserts and cookies and were working in groups to measure and record the circumference and diameter, then they computed the pi.

Groups then discussed their findings and compared results.

The students were engaged and learning all while having fun. But the fun didn't stop there.

I then visited a language arts class that was working together in groups to compile essays. The individuals had already written on a subject that they had to work to bring their writing together to create a group presentation.

The kids were situated all over the room in groups and they were actively talking and communicating with their partners. It was a fantastic display of collaboration that will serve these young people well into adulthood.

Finally, we stopped by the band and chorus rooms. I got to see a presentation from the percussion group and the chorus. Both of them were amazing and so in sync. That doesn't happen by accident. These kids work hard and rely on each other and have fun while doing it.

Yes, there are wonderful things happening every day in our classrooms in our schools throughout Apopka.

It's easy to get wrapped up in the negative at times but the educators I see when I'm in the schools deserve our adoration and respect.

What they are doing every day for our youth is spectacular.

president/commercial lenders, will run the Apopka office together after spending more than 30 years working for different banks.

"Bill and I have been friendly competitors for a number of years," Rankin said. "Not very often did we compete directly for a piece of business, but every now and again, we'd run across some. Bill had his clients and I had my clients, and they all referred business to us."

Both men are involved in the Apopka community on several levels, Arrowsmith serving for many years as a city commissioner, Rankin somewhat in the background, but still involved. As their friendship grew and the banking industry changed, the pair of community bankers chatted about working together.

"As the financial institution industry started to consolidate and the banks got fewer, but they got bigger, community banks were getting squeezed out, and we'd get absorbed by them," Rankin said.

"He (Arrowsmith) and I had talked for a number of years about doing something together, but the opportunity didn't present itself or the timing just wasn't quite right.

"In this particular case, I'm pretty sure that Bill was ready to make a move and I know that Amaris (Diaz, vice president/office manager) and I and our team were ready to make a move. We moved with Randy Burden, the head of our investment group, and I introduced him to Bill a couple of months ago.

"We figured we can accomplish more together than we can separately. If the reception from both of our respective customer bases is any indication, we're poised for great things."

Arrowsmith has been in banking in Apopka for nearly 50 years, starting at State Bank of Apopka, which was in Apopka for decades until eventually being bought out in the

"We're both community bankers at heart. That's what we're looking for, to get back to the original community bank atmosphere," Arrowsmith

While Rankin has been with several different banks through the 30-plus years he's been in banking in Apopka, many of the changes due to buyouts, Arrowsmith has not seen the name on his paycheck change quite as much, although some customers might think so.

"David has had a lot more experience with startups. This will be my fourth bank in almost 50 years, but people say, 'Why are you moving around so much," Arrowsmith said with a smile.

Gathered in their yet unopened office on Third Street, Rankin and Arrowsmith said in an age where large banks dominate the landscape, having a community bank is imperative.

"We don't want to take potshots at our bigger competitors, but I'm a firm believer that just because you're bigger doesn't necessarily make you better. I think we can outmaneuver our competition. I firmly believe that," Rankin said.

"At the end of the day, the product is the same. It's money. They may re-title it or re-package it, but the differentiating factor is the service and a big part of the service is the turnaround time in providing it at a fair price. We're not going to look for every opportunity to earn money here or charge a fee there. Let's just provide excellent service, great service, at a fair

"For a community to thrive, I think you have to have a community bank."

Arrowsmith agreed that the need for a community bank is there.

"The last count I took, we've got 26 or 27 financial institutions, but we don't really have a community bank that meets the needs of our community. I think there is a definite need here for that," he said.

"We want to answer our own telephones and we want to meet people when they come in the lobby, and we know who they are and they know who we are. We want to limit (employee) turnover. That's important to have your co-workers who have been in the community for a long time and plan on staying in the community. I think that's a big factor. I couldn't tell you today who the branch manager is of any other bank in this community."

"We used to know them all," Rankin said.

"If I did know one of them, I'm pretty sure they wouldn't be there long. They'd be gone somewhere else. I think that's the same way customers look at it. It's frustrating to your customers when they go into bank," Arrowsmith said.

For Arrowsmith and Rankin, the talk through the years has finally come to fruition with One Florida Bank.

"We talked about it in principle 10 years ago, 'Wouldn't it be great to go together and have a community bank here?' If you say it fast, it sounds easy, but there's so much involved. That's where Randy Burden, our chairman of the board, came into play. He's done this four times in the last 20 years and he knows how to do it and knows how to raise the necessary capital," Arrowsmith said.

"Our prospectus calls for us to raise $60 million in capital and I think last week we were up to $71 million, and we've got another $15 million from people who said they were interested in doing it. I think it will probably cap off at $75 million to $80 million, but who knows."

That money has come from what Arrowsmith called "heavy hitters from Orlando," but also from some Apopka-area inves-

In addition to Rankin, Arrowsmith, and Diaz, several other longtime Apopka banking employees are joining the duo. Rankin says his customers at former banks will recognize the names of Gayle Altman and Wanda Cox, among

The community bankers expect Apopka's continued growth to pay off for the new bank.

"It's the largest city in Orange County geographically and the second largest in terms of population," Rankin said.

"There's so much potential out here. It's coming. We want to be in position to take advantage of it."

Dream: He's teamed up with fellow Apopkan

Both of his parents are gone now, but they had influence on thousands of Apopka High School students through the years, especially Hubbard's mother, who was a senior English teacher, Apopka High Senior Class sponsor, and gentle corrector of grammar for former students many years out of her classroom and even those who never were in her class.

Apopka Proud concert

Hubbard and Sawyer Brown, including fellow Apopkan Mark Miller, will team up with Apopka native John Anderson for the Apopka Proud concert on Saturday, May 4, at the Apopka amphitheater that is located at the Northwest Recreation Complex off Jason Dwelley Parkway. While tickets for seats under the amphitheater covering sold out very quickly a few weeks ago, seating on the vast lawn area at the amphitheater will be free. Parking will be $10 per ve-

For Hubbard, playing in Apopka on the same day as John Anderson, a 1972 Apopka High graduate, is something he's looking for-

"It's a huge deal for us to get to play there, and to get to do a show with John Anderson makes it even better. We're definitely looking forward to being home," Hubbard said.

He's expecting to see many lifelong friends at the concert.

"There are so many friends we grew up with who are going to be there, so it's going to be a fun day. It's going to be great. It's going to be like a reunion," Hubbard said.

The Apopka connection with Anderson has been strong and started early in the band's career, Hubbard said

"When Mark and I first moved into town, John drove in from Smithville to listen to some stuff that we were writing and gave great advice," Hubbard said.

"He was one of the first people that would say, 'Boys, carve yourself out a way to continue to work live once you get this thing started because that will always be the thing that you're going to want to be able to do.'

"He was incredibly right. Any time we've crossed paths with John, our day is made. It's a visit from home and with his singing, it doesn't get any better than that."

Although the amphitheater seats are sold out, Hubbard, who has seen the amphitheater site, said that shouldn't deter fans from showing up and staking claim to a place on the hill.

"You can sit on that hill on the grass and it's a great view. Knowing us, we're going to play loud enough that you're going to hear it wherever you're sitting," he said.

Hubbard said the Apopka Proud concert took a lot of work from all parties involved, but he credited a lifelong hometown friend with being one of the main reasons the event has been scheduled.

"We're really glad to be coming home. This is a really nice thing. I know (Apopka Mayor) Bryan (Nelson) and everybody there in the city has worked hard to make this thing happen. And who knew you'd grow up with the mayor, right?" Hubbard said of

"We're happy for all the hard work that he's done and the city's done to make this happen."

A long career

Hubbard and Miller are the two mainstays of Sawyer Brown. The group began its career in 1981 as Savanna, winning a talent competition on "Star Search," a television show. That was in 1983, just two years after the band had formed. During the show, the band members were just worried about doing well, not realizing how far reaching the show had been. "It was a working experience about what the power of television is," Hubbard said.

"When we were doing the show night to night, we were just focusing on like a hundred people in the audience. We were just focused on that instead of thinking about whoever might or of people. Once we went back out on the road after the show, it was like, 'Oh, my gosh, this is what it's like to be dropped into several million people's living rooms."

The lifelong dream of Hubbard's has certainly been fulfilled, even as the decades roll by.

"It is an amazing run for us," he said. "We continually feel blessed that we get a chance to do this because when we first started, we hoped we would have a career that would go for a long time. In the beginning, you hope you just get a career, period.

"It's been exactly what we wanted because we still get to go out and play live a lot, which is our very favorite thing to do. It's just way in the blessing column for us."

Hubbard sang and played piano in church through his high school years and began writing songs when he was in college. He has co-written several of Sawyer Brown's hits, including "The Dirt Road," "Drive Me Wild," "'Round

Here," and "Outskirts of Town," as well as several songs on the Sawyer Brown Christmas albums.

As the years roll by, Hubbard and the other members of Sawyer Brown do all they can to make sure they keep doing the band's trademark high-energy shows.

"The thing that truly keeps us going is the fact we've got this audience that comes and wants to have a good time," Hubbard said. "That's exactly what we're there to do and want to be a part of. That really, truly is the fuel to the fire. I think that's that part that will always keep us going.

"We all do whatever we can do to make sure we stay in the best shape we can so we all don't have to ride out there on scooter chairs. I think it's the fact that we're still having fun that still gives us energy.

"We don't see the end in sight. We're still enjoying it and we're seeing the crowds are having a blast out there. I don't see the end of the road at this point, which also feels good."

City commissioner visits Israel to discuss economic growth

By Teresa Sargeant Apopka Chief Staff

Following a trip last January to Israel for an economic partnership summit, an Apopka city commissioner hopes to see further economic developments in the Apopka area through strategies proven successful in Israel.

Commissioner Douglas Bankson, who is also senior pastor of Victory World Church in Apopka, attended the 2019 International Economic Partnership, marking his third visit to Israel "but the first time for something of this nature," he said.

In Israel, Bankson connected with several key figures such as Eli Cohen,

City commissioner Douglas Bankson (I) met with Nissim Vaturi (c), a Likud party candidate for the 2019 Israel election, and Eli Cohen (r), Israel's minister of economic development and industry.

Minister of Economic Development and Industry, and Regional Mayor Haim Rokach and Vice Mayor Eshkol Shokron of Golan Heights. The meeting with Cohen made national news in Israel.

At the February 20 Apopka City Council meeting, Bankson recounted his trip, goals and takeaway from it. He believes the council is "very excited about it" with a "real desire to work together."

"(While touring through Israel,) we saw how economic development benefited on that side - that it benefits everyone," Bankson said. "Of course we know of the political tensions, but the fact is, on the ground, economic development helps to stabilize the region. It brings jobs to both Israelis and Palestinians."

The partnership in boosting Apopka's economic development stemmed from Bankson's fall 2018 meeting with Edward Houstoun, founder and chief executive director for Covenant Ministries, a group that supports Israel and the Jewish people.

Houstoun has worked closely with the Israel Defense Forces, and civilian security officers and the police force. Houstoun has built bomb shelters for citizens and children in Israel.

Their conversation expanded to include Tomer "Tom" Lahav and other business leaders in fall 2018. Lahav is a commander of a group working to keep the Syrian border and the villages there safe and secure and has been in-

Mind-Body Connection

are someone who "lives inside your head," that is, who thinks a lot or who dwells on things, positive or negative, you are probably aware that your thoughts have an effect on your body.

Thinking too much about our plans for tomorrow turns into worrying about tomorrow and keeps us awake and leads to a generally unhealthy state of mind and body.

Conversely, keeping our minds focused on positive things, such as all the things we have to be thankful for, generally leads to positive feelings which suffuse the body with a sense of peace and gratitude. What fills the mind eventually makes its way into our bodies, and what fills the mind very often comes to us through our bodies. If we want to have peace of mind, therefore, we should guard our eyes, our ears, and even our mouths.

What we see and hear most certainly enters our minds, but what comes out of our mouths also has its effect on our bodies. Think of the pangs of regret we have immediately after saying something unkind or imprudent.

The mind-body connection works in both directions: what goes into our minds affects our bodies and what we do with our bodies affects our

Center focuses on poison preventive measures and outdoor hazards

The Florida/USVI Poison Information Center-Jacksonville is educating the public on poison prevention and outdoor hazards during National Poison Prevention Week, March 17-23. The nationally designated week was first observed in 1962 to highlight poisoning dangers and how to prevent them.

"This week is important for all of us to raise awareness about the potential for poisonings around the home and preventative measures we can take to keep our loved ones safe," said Dr. Jay L. Schauben, Director of the Florida/

USVI Poison Information Center -Jacksonville. "Additionally, we want to remind the public that a specially trained healthcare professional is just a phone call away at 1-800-222-1222, providing free treatment advice in the event of a potential poisoning."

Poison center education staff, along with the student chapter of the Florida Society of Health-System Pharmacists/University of Florida College of Pharmacy, will provide poison prevention information and free educational materials to the public this

Outdoor improvements boost home value

Whether home improvement projects are design to improve the interior or exterior of a house, focusing on renovations that make the most financial sense can benefit homeowners in the long run. The right renovations can be assets if and when homeowners decide to sell their homes.

So how does one get started? First and foremost, speak to a local real estate agent who is knowledgeable about trends in the community.

While a swimming pool may be something coveted in one area, it may impede sales in another. It also helps to study generalized trends and data from various home improvement industry analysts to guide upcoming projects.

The following outdoor projects are just a few renovations that tend to add value.

ue" report indicates that an $11,000 deck can add about $9,000 in resale value to the home, recouping around 82 percent of the project's costs.

• Door update: Improve curb appeal with a new, high-end front door and garage doors. If that's too expensive, a good cleaning and new coat of paint can make an old door look brand new. These easy fixes can improve a home's look instantly.

• New landscaping: The National Association of Realtors says an outdoor makeover that includes well-thought out landscaping can net 105 percent ROI. Installing a walkway, adding stone planters, mulching, and planting shrubs are ideas to consider.

Many different outdoor projects can add value to a home.

volved with various projects in Israel such as building aqueducts.

Lahav also manages a company that assembles mobile command centers, which are trailers filled with high-tech equipment for police, military, or civilian use in cases of storms.

The centers establish communication via satellite uplink. Since the centers have been successful in Israel, the group discussed bringing this concept to Apopka.

Currently Bankson, Lahav, and Houstoun are waiting for a response from Governor Ron DeSantis's office about a meeting date regarding the expansion of economic opportunities in Apopka.

Besides meeting with DeSantis to gain his support, other objectives are putting together an economic exploratory delegation for Israeli representatives, establishing a coalition of cities and potential markets, and expanding in other areas economic opportunities including water conservation, horticulture/ agriculture, fire suppression, security, high technology, medical technology, education, and aviation/ drone maintenance.

Bankson said he spoke with President Robert Agrusa of the Apopka Area Chamber of Commerce about the economic opportunities from Israel to Apopka.

According to Bankson, in spite of media reports, the Israeli nation and all nations intermingled in that region do desire peace.

"I love getting past the political things we hear and seeing the realities that are there," Bankson said. "The people, they work together, they get along together. Much of what we hear in the news is not what the common people feel. It's more of those who come in and stir up those particular issues for their political ends."

Baked Brown Bread pairs well with Boston Baked Beans

From friends at Northside Baptist Church, we Broccoli have Casserole from Louise Ustler. It looks pretty simple and quick.

Kitchen by Nancy

Dell's Corn Casserole comes to us from Carolyn Cartmill in Northside Baptist Church's cookbook. Using canned Niblets Corn, it should be easy. You need to cook rice first to make the dish.

From simplyrecipes.com, we have Boston Baked Beans, cooked in a slow cooker. They give optional directions for using a Dutch oven and baking the beans in a slow oven. Make sure you keep an eye on the water level. Nothing worse than dried out baked beans. You will notice, a recipe for Brown Bread follows this recipe! Brown bread is MADE for baked beans.

From The New York Times NEW Natural Foods Cookbook, by Jean Hewitt, we have Baked Brown Bread. This makes a moist loaf similar to steamed brown bread and is good with baked beans.

Jane Gnann shares her recipe for canned tuna baked in a dish that she named Mock Deviled Crab. It comes to us through our friends from Plains, Georgia, in Plains Pot Pourri.

Rosemarie Miceli's Artichoke Dip for Crackers, found in New Vision Community Church's Feeding the Flock, looks pretty good. It calls for canned artichoke hearts.

LOUISE USTLER'S BROCCOLI CASSEROLE #1 Recipe from Northside Baptist Church's cookbook

4 packages chopped frozen broccoli

1 stick butter

1 8-ounce package Velveeta Cheese Salt to taste

Cook broccoli and drain well. Add Velveeta and butter. Heat on low heat until cheese and butter are melted. Pour mixture into greased 9 x 13-inch pan. Add crumb topping. Crumb Topping: 1 stick soft butter

1 roll Ritz crackers

Put crackers in a large plastic bag and crush until fine. Mix with the soft butter and sprinkle on the broccoli mix. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until slightly brown.

CAROLYN CARTMILL'S "DELL'S" CORN CASSEROLE Recipe from Northside Baptist

Church's cookbook

2 12-ounce cans Niblets Corn. drained

1 medium onion, chopped

1 green pepper, chopped

1 stick margarine 2 cups cooked rice

1 can mushroom soup

1 small jar pimiento, chopped 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce

1 cup grated cheese

top with grated cheese.

Saute onion and pepper in margarine. Combine all ingredients except cheese. Pour into a 9 x 13-inch glass dish or pan. Bake 30 minutes,

Recipe from simplyrecipes.com 1 pound (2 to 2-1/4 cups) dry white beans such as navy beans or great northern beans (can also use kidney beans)

1/3 cup molasses 1/3 cup brown sugar

3-4 tablespoons Dijon mustard

1/8 teaspoon ground cloves 3 cups hot water

1/2 pound salt pork (can substitute bacon) cut into 1/2-inch to 1-inch pieces

1 medium onion (1-1/2 cups) chopped

Place beans in a large pot and cover with 2 inches of water. Soak overnight and drain. Alternatively, bring a pot with the beans covered with 2 inches of water to a boil, remove from heat and let soak for an hour, then drain.

Mix the molasses, brown sugar, mustard, and ground cloves with 3 cups of hot water.

(or a Dutch oven if you are cooking in the oven) with half of the salt pork (pick the fattiest pieces). Layer over with half of the drained beans. Add all of the chopped onion in a layer.

Top with another layer of beans and the remaining salt pork. Pour the molasses water mixture over the beans to just cover the beans.

Cover and cook in a slow-cooker on the low setting for 8 hours (or in a 250-degree Fahrenheit oven) until the beans are tender. Check the water level a few hours in, and if the beans need more water, add some. Add additional salt to taste if needed.

Note that fresher beans will cook faster than older beans. Your beans may be ready in less than 8 hours, or they may take longer. Best the next

Ray's Fish & Chips seafood selection is off the hook

Chef Raymond and his wife, Ruth, first opened their Ray's Fish & Chips seafood restaurant in Forest City, Florida in 2006 after moving from their home in The Bronx, New York.

Run-away success from the beginning forced them to relocate into a larger space in 2012 in nearby Apopka to handle the crowds who had discovered the best seafood in the Orlando area.

Ray's Fish & Chips immediately received rave reviews on social media and restaurant review websites, and accolades from restaurant reviewers Scott Joseph and Heather McPherson of the Orlando Sentinel. EatingOrlando.com named Ray's the "Best Fish & Chips in Orlando."

Since 2006, Ray's Fish & Chips has been serving New Englandstyle seafood at its finest. The restaurant is famous for lobster rolls, Florida shrimp, and Maryland-style cakes. They also serve fresh haddock, fresh cod, steamers, islandstyle shrimp, live Maine lobsters, and so much

Wekiva's Butts lands 9A state coach of year award

By Neal Fisher Apopka Chief Staff

History repeating is exactly how the Wekiva Mustangs girls basketball team wanted the recent season to end. In fact, the most positive of outcomes in the form of history repeating was produced by the Mustangs.

The Mustangs ascended to Class 9A state champion and claimed the right to reign supreme for the next year. Then Florida Dairies coach of the year honors for the class was awarded to Tommie Butts.

When the 2013-14 season ended, Wekiva was the home of both titles.

"Winning coach of the year honors as coach of the state champion is often hand-in-hand," Butts said. "Logic dictates the coach of the state champion should also be the best. However, in our case, the story is all the underlying ingredients making up the process of ending the season possessing both is hand-in-hand. Either sticks out as as individually prestigious as possible, let alone achieving both. And now both ultimate goals have been achieved not just twice, but in two different classifications. The coach of the year award is directly expressed as an individual honor. My name is inscribed on the plaque. However, only a team effort makes achieving the honor possible and is in the same vein as the state championship.

"Thanks to Principal (Michelle) Erickson, Mr. (Bobby) Biaggi (athletic director), the families, the school as well as local community for the invaluable support and contribution."

Celebrating this state championship was a familiar endeavor as the instinctive and sixth sense of what to do was possessed by everyone involved en route to creating the expected site.

Players exploded upright from the seats on the sidelines and with a forceful, dynamic intention in mind sprinted to center court. Upon joining the others, a soulful, pulsating cheer of exuberance was heard as the mid-air huddle formed. Upon landing, the standing pile-on was in full swing.

The coaching staff embraced in an airtight circular hug in front of that very same bench, communicating without words a spirit of reflection and the specific obstacles which had to be overcome.

A steady flow of family, fans and other Wekiva faithful joined in during the next 10 minutes.

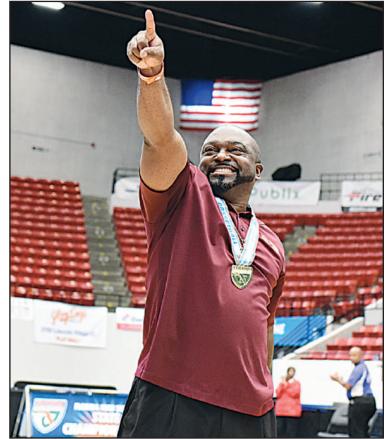

Simplistic, never-wanting-toend scenes of joyful smiles, pictures, hugs while finally able to feel the release of potent emotions took center stage once again.

The official coronation of the champion followed. Erickson placed the medal representing the beginning of the Mustangs' reign over high school basketball around the necks of the players, coaches and support staff.

Blue Darters hovering about .500 early in baseball season

By John Peery Apopka Chief Staff

The Apopka Blue Darters split their first two games in the Tate Aggie Classic in Pensacola, keeping the team's overall record even at 4-4.

Those games followed a Thursday, March 14, loss to Lake Brantley, putting the Blue Darters at 0-2 in District 9A-3 competition.

At the Tate Aggie Classic, Apopka toppled Piedmont (Okla.) 7-3 on Monday, March 18, in the first tournament game for both teams. Bentonville (Ark.) scored five runs late to down the Darters 6-5 on Tuesday, March 19. Apopka played Moore (Okla.) High on Wednesday, March 20, past press time. A placement game was played Thursday, March 21, also past press time.

This is the second year in a row that the Blue Darters have traveled to Pensacola for the tournament that, this year, features 20 teams, nine of them from Oklahoma. Last year, Apopka came home with a 3-1 record in the event.

Apopka banged out 11 hits with first baseman Zach Weaver picking up two singles and a solo home run in four at-bats for the Blue Darters. Weaver had 2 RBI for the Darters.

Third baseman Ty Greene, hitting in the cleanup spot, had two hits, as did Adam Sopher, who also added an RBI.

Garrett Fore, Jose Class Jr., Zack Lindsay, and Matt Prevesk had 1 RBI each to help the Blue Dart-

After giving up a pair of runs in the first inning, Apopka pitcher Garrett Brewer settled down to shut out the Wildcats through the fifth inning.

Meanwhile, the Blue Darters scored once in the third on Weaver's homer and then took the lead with a pair of runs in the fourth inning as Class and Sopher each singled home a run.

Apopka nursed the 3-2 lead until the top of the seventh when the Blue Darters exploded for four runs.

Greene got the rally going with a one-out double that was followed by walks to Class and Brewer to load the bases. A bunt single by Lindsay, a single to center by Weaver, a fielder's choice grounder by Prevesk, and a single by Fore accounted for Apopka's runs in the inning.

Brewer allowed just four hits and struck out four. Grayson Adams pitched two innings of relief, giving up one hit.

"We got a couple of key hits," Apopka coach Mike McDaniel said. "Zach Weaver came up a couple of times in some big spots and came through for us. It broke the game open and gave us some breathing room. We had a good start from (pitcher) Garrett Brewer and our bullpen came in and did a good job."

Greene has been playing more recently, something that is deserved, Mc-Daniel said.

"He played his way into the lineup. He's given us a little bit of a punch that's been missing. He's earned that spot and he's done a good job. We needed some offense and he's helped provide that."

Former Blue Darters baseball coach will be honored

Pete Dunn was the Apopka High baseball coach from 1975-77 before moving to Stetson University.

Apopka Blue Darter baseball and the community of Apopka will honor college baseball legend Pete Dunn with a special "Pete Dunn Night" at Jay Barnes Field on Friday April 5, immediately before the scheduled home game vs. Melbourne High School. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Dunn, a former Apopka High baseball coach, will throw out the ceremonial first pitch and long-time PA announcer Steve Schwarze will read a tribute to Dunn that highlights his many accomplishments in the game of baseball and as head coach of Blue Darter baseball. Many former players from Dunn's years as Apopka's head baseball coach, 1975-1977, are expected to attend.

Roger Franklin Williams, a member of Dunn's 1975 district championship team, Dunn's first team as a head coach, said, "I want to thank coach Mike McDaniel and athletic director Russell Wambles for this special occasion. Coach McDaniel and Russell both have a heart for the deep tradition of Apopka High School baseball and all of us old school Blue Darters deeply appreciate the opportunity Coach McDaniel and Russell have provided to recognize the deep impact coach Pete Dunn had on Apopka Blue Darter baseball."

Dunn, who completed his 37-year career as Stetson University head baseball coach as 15th in all time wins in NCAA Division I baseball with 1,312 wins, was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 2014. He is also a member of the Florida Sports Hall of Fame, inducted in 2007 along with former Atlanta Braves Hall of Famer Chipper Jones, who is Dunn's god-son

Dunn's first year at Apopka was 1975 when he was hired by legendary Apopka Principal Roger A. Williams. Dunn took over a program that had suffered three losing seasons in a row and had won just three games in 1974. In his first year, Dunn led the 1975 team to a district championship and the state quarterfinals, which, at the time was only the fourth district title in Apopka baseball history. Dunn's '76 and '77 teams posted winning records, establishing a string of 30 consecutive winning seasons for Apopka Blue Darter baseball.

As Apopka's head coach, Dunn also presided over the construction of Jay Barnes Field. Dunn was responsible for raising the money and acquiring other resources, such as the sod for the field, from Apopka businesses. When the funding and materials were acquired, coach Dunn and his 1976 team literally built Jay Barnes Field.

Williams said Dunn's impact on his first team in 1975 was dramatic, "Coach Dunn brought much needed structure, discipline, and professionalism to our team. He taught us to play fundamentally sound baseball and he demanded that we set high goals and standards of behavior, on and off the field, and that we represent Apopka Blue Darter baseball with dignity and class at all times, which included our on-the-field appearance and de-

Kyle Busch captures 200th checkered flag

In scoring his 53rd career Monster Energy Cup Series victory and his 200th in a major NASCAR series, Kyle Busch showed that he deserves the attention his quest for 200 victories has drawn. Busch and his No. 18 Toyota were dominant from the start of Sunday's Auto Club 400 at Auto Club Speedway in Fontana, California, but it took a spirited drive late in the race to secure the victory.

After starting fourth, Busch took the lead for the first time on Lap 13 and swept both 60-lap stages. But at the end of the second stage, he was nabbed for speeding on pit road and was dropped to 18th in the running order, and postioned behind several lap-down drivers as well.

While many figured the setback might give Team Penske drivers Brad Keselowski and Joey Logano a chance to battle for the win, Busch wasn't done. He retook the lead after just 38 laps. He lost it briefly during a round of pit stops, but quickly chased down Logano and Keselowski and drove away from them for the final 26 laps. At the finish, he was 2.354 seconds ahead of runner-up Logano, with Keselowski finishing third over Kevin Harvick, Ryan Blaney and Busch's older brother, Kurt, who was the highest-finishing Chevrolet driver for the third time in five races this season.

Logano said he was proud of his career-best Fontana finish, especially considering how fast Busch was.

"Gosh, we came so close," he told reporters after the race. "Proud of the effort. Hung in there all day, hung strong. Just didn't have enough for the green car [of Kyle Busch]."

Busch's Cup crew chief, Adam Stevens, was among those praising Busch after his milestone win, which was his fourth in Cup at Auto Club Speedway.

"It's pretty cool," Stevens said. "The 200 deal, it's awesome. It's important for people to remember, it's not my 200th win by any means, but it's cool to be a part of his career. He's as good as they get. Probably be a first-ballot Hall of Famer. I don't know how anybody could argue that.

"To be that close to that level of talent, to help him achieve what he's achieved, is a tremendous honor. I don't take it lightly. I never Stevens said Busch is no longer the "bad boy" he was for much of his early career.

"I think we've all seen a lot of growth in Kyle through the years," Stevens said. "I've seen the most not behind closed doors, not dealing with him on the team. He's always been as good as he possibly could be in that regard.

"The frustrations through the weekend and on the racetrack affect him less than maybe they did a few years ago."

Busch agreed with Stevens' assessment and said that as he's matured he's been able to expand his support among race fans.

Kyle Busch celebrated his win at Auto Club Speedway atop his No. 18 Toyota with a flag custom-made for the occasion.

"I feel like my fan base has been picking up over the years, growing up a little bit," he said in his winner's interview at Fontana. "I turned off plenty in the early days. You're never going to change those minds, which is fine. ...

"Overall, I think winning obviously kind of helps that. I certainly have to give a huge shoutout and praise to the Rowdy Nation fans that have been with me since the beginning, that have been with me since the Kellogg's days, my Xfinity days, before I was a Cup guy."

At this point in the season, while still relatively early, Joe Gibbs Racing and Team Penske appear to be ahead of their competitors when it comes to speed and performance with NASCAR's new higher downforce/lower horsepower package. Gibbs has three wins — with Busch at Phoenix and Fontana and Denny Hamlin at Daytona while Penske has wins by Logano at Las Vegas and Keselowski at Busch said that no matter how the rest of the season — and the rest of his career - goes, he's not planning on declaring himself the greatest NASCAR driver of all time.

"I would just like to be attributed or in that mix of the top five, top eight guys," he said. "I think by the time I'm all said and done, I could be in the top two or three of those guys of greatest of all time.

"I think it's going to be really, really hard to exactly pinpoint how you can define 'greatest' when that time comes."

Dillon turns in a solid run while battling a bug

Austin Dillon, the polesitter for Sunday's Auto Club 400 at Auto Club Speedway, ran the entire race despite suffering from flu-like symptoms. He was the second driver this season to complete a Monster Energy Cup race while battling illness. Brad Keselowski won at Atlanta Motor Speedway on Feb. 24 despite being under the weather.

Dillon had Saturday's Xfinity race winner, Cole Custer, standing by in case he needed a relief driver, but Dillon stayed behind the wheel of his No. 3 Chevy and finished 10th.

He was treated at the track's care center both before and after the race. "Really thankful for all the NASCAR infield care center staff," Dillon wrote on Twitter. "They [definitely] helped me finish that race. Some type of flu bit me bad. The adrenaline has worn off, and the pain is setting in. It was worth it for our first top-10 of the year."

Dillon's Sunday drive wasn't without incident. He had a tire going down near the end of the first stage, and that led to a brush with the wall and several pit stops for repairs.

His Fontana finish moved him up one spot in the points standings to 20th place.

Austin Dillon's No. 3 Chevy leads the field to the green flag to kick off the Auto Club 400.

Cup qualifying — or lack of it — leads to head-scratching and heckling

Just a week after a qualifying session at ISM Raceway in Phoenix was so intense that a fistfight broke out between drivers

Michael McDowell and Daniel Suarez, Cup qualifying at Auto Club Speedway was a dud comparatively.

With many drivers electing to wait until the last second to go out and qualify, none of the top 12 ended up making a lap in the third and final round of qualifying. So the starting lineup was based on second-round speeds, with Austin Dillon inheriting the pole for the

Fans in the grandstands weren't happy, and neither were many of the drivers

"I have seen it in other sports, but never seen it in ours," Clint Bowyer said after the strange session. "We just got booed, and it is disappointing. It is disappointing for everybody involved."

Ryan Newman was similarly frustrated.

"I don't think that was a very successful use of TV time for our sponsors," said Newman, who has been vocal all season with his suggestion to go back to single-car qualifying. "That is the way qualifying should be. The gamesmanship that goes on, the lack of 100 percent, it is not what qualifying is all about.

"That is the program that NASCAR set forth and the rules they laid down and the box they put us in. Shame on us for not getting a

The current higher downforce/lower horsepower package on the cars combined with the group qualifying format has drivers and teams trying to game the system.

The way to turn a fast lap is to catch another driver up ahead and take advantage of the draft to boost one's overall speed on that lap. The problems arise because no one wants to leave pit road first and be the "hunted." Drivers wait until time has nearly expired in hopes of being a "hunter" in the draft. NASCAR officials promised to make changes to the format before the series returns to Texas Motor Speedway — the next track on the schedule where speeds are high enough for the draft to be a factor.

Cole Custer kept Kyle Busch out of Victory Lane for a day

Cole Custer's third career Xfinity Series victory, which came in Saturday's Production Alliance Group 300 at Auto Club Speedway, wasn't the one for the record books that many were expecting. But it was extra special for the 21-year-old racer from Ladera Ranch, California.

For most of Saturday's race, it appeared that Kyle Busch, who led 98 of 150 laps, would cruise to the checkered flag for his 200th major NASCAR win.

But a slow pit stop during a caution period at Lap 112 dropped Busch from first place to 13th and opened the door for some series regulars, including Custer, to compete for the win. With 19 laps remaining, Custer took the lead from Christopher Bell as Busch was slicing his way through the Busch got to second place five laps later, but Custer began to match — and often better — Busch's lap times, and then drove under the checkered flag 1.927 seconds ahead of Busch. Bell finished third ahead of polesitter and series points leader Tyler Reddick. Chase Briscoe completed the top five.

It was the first time an Xfinity regular had won at Auto Club since Scott Riggs in 2002.

"It means a ton," Custer said in his winner's interview. "As great a driver as Kyle Busch is, he's going to be one of the legends of our sport. To keep him one race more from getting 200 means a lot. I'm sure he's a little bit frustrated, but we have a great time racing him."

Drivers approach a restart during the Xfinity Series race at Auto Club Speedway in Fontana, California.

Busch, who had to battle back from two problems on pit road, said his car just wasn't fast enough at the finish. "Lack of grip there at the end," he said. "We just didn't have the speed we needed with the No. 00 [Custer]. ...

"At the end there, he was really good and really fast and had a good car. They got better throughout the day and got closer to our rear bumper there on that second-to-last run before we had our pit road problems and dropped us back in the pack."

Custer, who is now second in the points standings, has shown significant improvement this season since being paired with veteran crew chief Mike Shiplett. In the five races to date, he has two poles, three top-five finishes and an average finish of sixth.

Blue Darters fall to Lake Brantley in district baseball

After getting back to the dugout, catcher Jose Class Jr. is congratulated after hitting a single. High school rules allow courtesy runners for catchers and pitchers.

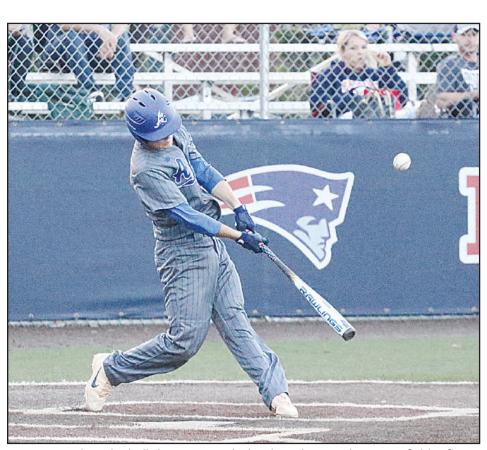

Senior righthander Caleb Stallings was the starting pitcher for the Blue Darters in the 8-3 loss at Lake Brantley High School. He pitched three innings.

Apopka got on the board in the bottom of the first inning when Fore scored after reaching base on an error. He crossed the plate on Greene's fielder's choice grounder.

Bentonville tied it at 1-1 in the top of the second off a balk, but the Blue rallied to go up 4-1 with three runs in the bottom of the fourth. A two-out double by Weaver plated two and then he scored on a Bentonville error off the bat of Lindsay.

The Tigers went ahead for good in the top of the fifth with five runs thanks to a bases-loaded grounder that hit third base and popped into left field, allowing runs to score.

"A little bit of unfortunate luck there," McDaniel said. "It was one of those deals where it hits the bag and it can go either way, either behind you or in front of you. It bounced up over us and behind us.

"It happens in baseball. You can't really prepare for something like that. They say the ball takes funny hops and that was a funny hop."

Apopka scored once in the bottom of the sixth to tighten the game as Mc-Grath drew a bases-loaded walk, but the Darters couldn't push any more runs across.

Coach McDaniel used four pitchers, Caleb Stallings, Nick Rigali, Justin Lewis, and Josean Nieves.

"The good thing about our guys is they haven't backed down or given up.

They keep competing. They understand that the schedule's tough," McDaniel said.

"When you're on the road and you're with each other all day, they start to see each other in a different way, a good way for us. The guys are still competing and playing really hard. It's creating a bond at the same time, which is what this trip is all about."

Lake Brantley 8, Apop-

The Patriots scored in every inning but one en route to a second-consecutive District 9A-3 victory over the Blue Darters on Thursday, March 14.

After scoring twice in the top of the second inning and once in the top of the third to take a 3-2 lead, Apopka was outscored 6-0 the rest of the way.

Lake Brantley collected 10 hits and the team's powerful bats put up single runs in each of the first two innings, then scored twice in the third, fourth, and sixth innings.

"That's the best lineup we'll see all year from anybody. We knew that coming in. We know they're heavily touted and they've got eight Division I guys in that lineup, and a guy who is going to West Florida as a Division II player. We know that everyone of those guys can hit and if you make a mistake, it hurts you," Mc-Daniel said.

'If you look at the scoreboard, the first four innings, they scored one or two every inning. When we battled back to take a lead, they scored again. The pitching tonight wasn't good enough to beat their bats. That's baseball."

With one week of district play in the books, Lake Brantley and Olympia are tied with 2-0 records, while Apopka and Wekiva are 0-2 each. West Orange has yet to play a district game.

"We put ourselves behind the eight ball in the district playoff situation because now we're 0-2 in the district," McDaniel said. "What we'll have to do to get in the top couple of seeds is probably sweep everybody else. I feel like there are other teams that will compete. The district's going to be a wild race in my opinion."

The Blue Darters got on the board and took a 2-1 lead in the top of the second when sophomore first baseman Brewer slapped a bases-loaded, one out single to center field, scoring McGrath, who had singled, and Wesley Luttfring, who was a courtesy runner for catcher Class, who had reached on a single.

After the Patriots tied the game at 2-2 in the bottom half of the second, the Blue Darters surged ahead again when a McGrath single scored Dilan Moore, who had reached first as a hit-batsman and then stolen second and third.

From there, the Blue Darters had chances but couldn't push any more runs across, while the Patriots methodically put up six more runs.

"When a team is hot - and they're hot - it's contagious and it carries over, and you've got to do something to stop it on the mound and on defense. We just didn't do that. It wasn't the week we prepared for, but it was the week we got. We'll move forward and continue to work, and we'll get a chance to see them in the district tournament." McDaniel said.

What's ahead

After playing four games over spring break at the 26th annual Tate Aggie Classic, two of the games past press time, the Blue Darters will be back in Apopka and will jump right back into action with three games next week, two of them District 9A-3 contests against longtime rival West Apopka will play at West Orange on Wednesday, March 27, at 6 p.m. and then host the Warriors on Friday, March 29, for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

The Blue Darters will end the week by playing a rare Saturday game on March 30 at 1:30 p.m. at Osceola High School in meanor. His knowledge of the game seemed to be limitless. Coach Dunn had that rare ability to demand discipline, accountability and high standards, but at the same time keep the game fun."

After the 1977 season at Apopka, Dunn was offered the opportunity to return to Stetson University, where he had had an allstar career as a hard-hitting catcher in 1969 and 1970, to serve as an assistant coach to then-head coach Jim Ward, Dunn's former college coach. When Ward retired at the end of the 1979 season, Dunn was promoted to head coach at Stetson.

Dunn's career as Stetson head coach lasted 37 seasons, from 1980 until he retired and assumed the position as head coach emeritus in the spring of 2017. During his career as Stetson head coach, Dunn achieved 1,312 wins, led Stetson to 17 NCAA tournament appearances, and had 84 former players go on to play professional baseball, including Cy Young Award winners Jacob deGrom and Corey Kluber. His 1,312 career wins place him at 15th all-time in NCAA Division I baseball career wins.

The 1975 Apopka High School baseball team won the district championship in Pete Dunn's first year as coach. It was just the fourth district championship to that point in school history.

In 2014, Dunn was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Associainducted into the Florida Sports Hall of Fame in 2007. As a player at Stetson, Dunn's roommate was tion Hall of Fame. He was Larry Jones, father of Atlanta Braves Baseball Hall of Famer Chipper Jones.

Prior to coming to Apopka, Dunn had served as a graduate assistant for coach Ron Polk for a Georgia Southern program that went to the College World Series. After his career as a player with the Hatters, he was drafted into professional baseball by the Kansas City Royals organization and played two seasons for Kingsport in the Appalachian League.

Coach: Butts gives credit to assistant coaches, players and managers

ed strongly in order win races as well as championships. There is a whole team working who possess just as much of an intense effort to win, but not in the most conducive situation for drawing the attention and notice first as well as foremost. A strong car won't reach the potential of winning races or championships without an equally strong driver. And no strong driver will ever win either without the team producing a strong car.

"The attention and notice first as well as foremost in basketball is directed to the front of the bench, where the head coach stands. However, even though the process starts with the coaches and no matter how consistently correct the decisions are, without the players properly executing, the staff preparation as well as the often overlooked managers providing the means, winning is rare. Being named coach of the year and on top of winning the state championship certainly isn't old or routine. Or using a cliché for sports, next to every coach achieving the success I have is a strong staff, players and managers."

Latoya Russ, Keisha Brown-Griffin and George Spearman make up the coaching staff as well as have stood by Butts' side for most of the tenure.

Making up that loyal and ready to serve staff of managers was Amrita Haimdas and Mary Grant.

Myanna Garrett, Sedayjha Payne, Shaniyah McCarthy Madlyn Touze, Brierra Williams, Emmy James, Danesha Boles, Jacqulyn Butler, Alexis Choice and Erica Simmonds composed the 2018-19 team.

"Winning a second state championship is glorifying for the players, myself, the coaches and the school in general," Butts said. "This championship was earned in a uniquely their (the players) own way. The players will always have the names in the history books of Wekiva and state champions."

Building a program

How times have changed with Butts bringing an adeptness rarely seen when making decisions regarding adjustments from season-to-season as well as contest-to-contest, many involving the intangible feel teams take on in relation to the strengths passessed.

the strengths possessed.

Celebrating in 2014 was about satisfaction as intense as possible after the frustration experienced during the first six seasons.

"As said immediately afterward, the first state championship was for all who have been a part of the Mustangs family and the city of Apopka, the alumnus, relatives, coaches, the administrators as well as support staff," Butts said. "All of which still applies because Wekiva is no longer a state champion once. Promise or potential of joining that elite level of multiple state champion has been fulfilled after suffering those lean calendar years and losing seasons."

The Mustangs never even totaled 10 victories during a season before Butts' arrival.

"Deciding to come to Wekiva wasn't about building a team which won a state championship," Butts said. "I wanted to build and establish a program. In other words, establishing a culture in which winning is the norm and expected.

The Wekiva High girls basketball team won a second state championship under the leadership of coach Tommie Butts (I).

A culture is the foundation for success like we have achieved or failure. Two state championships and qualifying for the FHSAA postseason tournament six straight seasons is achieving the vision. Remaining a name on the state level every season is the goal and the realization grows out of the culture we now have.

"No one is unwilling to make sacrifices and be held accountable for actions on and off the court. The joy is tied to that vision about the big picture being achieved."

Since rising to blueblood

Still, as head coach implies, every decision is ultimately approved or rejected by Butts.

And often a team's road to the championship comes to an end or continues onto a successful conclusion because of decisions made by the head coach.

So many of those decisions made by Butts which have ultimately proven to be correct as far as creating the positive impact needed according to the general or even specific situation have been of the subtle, behind the scenes nature as well.

Even to the point those subtle, behind the scenes decisions tops the list of why the Mustangs rose to and have maintained state blueblood status.

Not all decisions have obviously resulted in a state championship.

Wekiva takes a back seat to no one when comparing the consistency of creating the opportunity to compete for state championships though.

A handful of teams in the entire state have earned berths into the FHSAA postseason tournament, five district championships and 20 plus victories during the last six seasons.

Usually several seasons are required to rise from toiling in anonymity. The Mustangs went from never producing at least 10 wins to claiming the state championship in one and during the 2013-14 season.

During the 2013-14 season, Wekiva was the proverbial hunter in specific terms. The general goal of joining the state's bluebloods was the motivation.

When looking from the prism of one season to the next, the 2014 state championship is an amazing turnaround. However, then-athletic director Lamarr Glenn stressed the amazement of claiming the state championship is not as intense when considering all the credentials required to advance during the postseason were garnered during the regular season the regular season.

Watershed marks were steadily accumulated during the 2013-14 season progressed and so did the frequency as well as the significance. A list of several all conference and all district selections, winning streaks of over 10 contests, 20 victories, the FHSSA postseason tournament berth, the district championship was forged. Then and with with every victory during the postseason, a new round the Mustangs had advanced to was achieved.

Wekiva was specifically the proverbial hunted this season after all the success achieved during the last six seasons. The general goal and motivation was to further strengthen the status of state blueblood.

Only six losses were suffered by both teams.

However, the specific impact brought through a loss having the potential to derail the process of claiming the state championship was never faced by the 2013-2014 team as the newcomers. Announcing a new entry has arrived on blueblood status and with the forceful thrust required was pursued in the context of the general to the specific. Previous seasons as a whole were compared. The opposite took place this season as the hunter and intending to further strengthen state blueblood status.

Blessings in disguise

Losses to Montverde, Winter Haven, Father Lopez, DME and West Orange (twice) were accrued this season. And along with Ferguson during the state semifinal round of the 2017 FHSAA postseason tournament, the losses were a blessing in disguise.

The consequences of those losses were motivation to never feel the same way afterwards and lessons learned about making that smallest of improvement which is the difference between being a perennial qualifier for the FHSAA postseason tournament and winning all five contests required en route to the state championship.

"Resiliency was as equal to winning this championship as the skill and design of the play," Butts said. "The prospects for winning the state championship were thought of as bleak a couple of times after poor performances. However, faith in general and about how the coaches wanted the team to play was never lost. Every time performances during an entire contest or even stretches of bad play during contests had to be overcome the belief of possible remained strong.'

Both finalists from each district championship tournament advance to the FHSAA postseason tournament. Hosting contests during the FHSAA postseason tournament is the advantage of winning the district championship though.

And placing second among District 9A-3 was more of a statement about being in the same district as West Orange than Wekiva not having the stuff to contend for the state championship. Rarely are two teams who earn 20-plus victories during the regular season as well as subsequently ranked inside the state's top-10 throughout members of the same district.

Nonetheless, losing the final of the District 9A-3 championship tournament sent the Mustangs on the much more difficult path of traveling during the first two rounds of the FHSAA postseason tournament.

The response to traveling during the first two rounds of the FHSAA postseason tournament was play as good as ever under Butts.

Wekiva went to work as far as turning the old cliche of the exception which proves the norm into fruition during the second half against the Timber Creek Wolves. When all was said and done, the performance during the second half generated by the Mustangs had more impact than the Wolves' during the first. In particular, two runs during the third quarter overpowered Timber Creek into submission despite earning the right to play at home and tallying the first nine points.

A final score of 73-45 against West Orange did not leave any doubt as to the thoroughness of the victory during the second round. Butts' belief about the possibility of claiming a state championship came to fruition with the victory as well.

Then fingernail-scratching-the-blackboard-feel of a contest followed three times as Sandalwood, Deerfield Beach and Miami provided the opposition.

While play was far from high quality on a consistent basis in general and certainly compared to the first two contests, the Mustangs' defense forced each opponent's offense into the lowest level of production. And Wekiva used that lowest level of production as the springboard to manufacturing the series of plays with the most impact while at the right time according to the specific direction the contest had taken on.

Field goal percentage was only 36 percent for the Mustangs during the three contests. However, opponents were able to convert only around 30 percent of attempts. Eventually, that small difference of six percent had the cumulative consequences of creating effectiveness when executing the gameplan in comparison high enough to earn the last three victories needed to capture the state championship.

Crowning of State Champ

And the most tangibly climactic direction the last contest of the season took was as appropriate as possible. Forty minutes were required to decide the 45-41 outcome in the favor of the Wekiva.

A fingernail-scratching-the-blackboard feel of a contest was taken to the utmost with the Miami Stingarees occupying one side of the court. The Stingarees used the physically, bruising, grinding, initiate-contact-at-every-opportunity style of play to post the record of 28-6 and advance to the final. Adeptness at crowding personal space and relentlessly made just moving the ball from player to player another a chal-

In fact as well as for all intent and purposes, the final was the basketball equivalent of two heavy-weight boxers standing in the middle of the ring and toe-to-toe, trading the heaviest of punches possible until a knock-out is produced.

Trying to survive that one last round after absorbing every kind of punch in order to reach the final round, the boxers forgo relying on the other skills.

Miami was eventually beaten at its own game of uglying up the game.

"Defense is always capable of traveling first as far as the impact and allowed us to match Miami at its game almost possession for possession," Butts said. "Holding field goal percentages to the lowest level of production travels first as far as the impact in particular. Offensive play isn't always at the best when facing the best teams. However, when holding opponents to that lowest level of production a lot of the pressure is removed from the offense. Room for a couple of mistakes is created when the defense is giving up so few points.

"And in order to reach the level of defensive play, conditioning has to be peak. The wild-card ingredient propelling us to the state championship was physical conditioning and impossible without. In particular, a system fatiguing was never experienced by us while opponents' often did during the late stages of contests. Physical conditioning was as important a factor and decisive as possible in the outcome towards our favor during the state semifinal and final rounds. Muscular conditioning of the Stingarees wore down during the final. During halftime, whomever accepts losing first will was the message."

With a second opportunity to drain the three-point field goal, Williams tied the score at 32-32 and sent the contest into overtime. The offensive rebound was grabbed by Boles. Surging into the lead for good was also because of Boles efforts' as the first field goal of the second overtime was converted.

"The knockout could have been delivered on the last possession of regulation by Miami and the first field goal attempt was no good in particular," Butts said. "Focusing on setting up another field goal attempt and starting with the offensive rebound remained the priority."

Simplicity

Butts makes no bones about simplicity's place in itself when coaching. Successful coaches let the players play. Successful players let the coaches coach, including creating an unsophisticated blueprint or gameplan. When that blueprint remains simple, players creating positions in which strengths possessed can be used most effectively is facilitated.

"With such success, the thought of the approach being complex as far as having a lot of components or elements is understandable," Butts said. "However, the approach is rather simple and minimal. The first line of the approach is keep the ball away from the opponent as much as possible. Points can't be scored if the ball isn't possessed. Either force a turnover in order to create transition opportunities or move the ball upcourt quickly after field goal attempts. So, there are only two statistics we pay attention to the most, turnovers and rebounds.

"In fact and like every successful team I know of from youth to the NBA, calling a play is according to the situation. Even more so as far as every successful team, we only run a handful of plays on each side of the court when comparing the fundamental intent. Creating situations most conducive to a player using the skill-set possessed with the most effectiveness is the focus. We are not trying to use the skill-set to create the situation."

Trust and Faith

Building relationships was stressed by Glenn when Butts was hired and has continued into the present ultimate success.

"When coming to Apopka, I was taken in as one of its own and trusted to change the fortunes of the Mustangs, from the players to the community in general," Butts said. "In particular, there has been a trust and faith when decisions about what adjustments need to be made.

"The nature of the decisions about adjustments this team needed to make were very different. This team was blue-collar through and through. No player had a specific role and was seen in the statistics. Every statistic for each contest saw a different player at the top. Most teams with no holes as a whole is because each player fills a specific role. There wasn't any Wekiva player who stood out in one aspect or statistic from contest to contest. The ability of all players to execute every aspect or statistic was solid and without holes though."

For example, Payne and Williams combined for 34 points against Deerfield Beach. Eleven rebounds were grabbed by Garrett. High total against Miami was only 10 and accumulated by three players. Garrett was leading rebounder in both contests with 11 and 12, respectively. However, at least two rebounds were grabbed by eight players during both contests.

Leading scorer for the season was Williams with 12.1 points per contest. As the sixth man, 10.5 were scored by Boles. Nine players averaged at least five. Rebound averages were nine players between 6.6 and 3.7.

"There was a heart, energy and passion these players had which is why all the intense work was put in in the first place and the assistant coaches set the example." Butts said. "The play during a contest is usually the same as practice. What happens during practice usually carries over into contest. Making a 180-degree change from a lackluster effort to putting in all of one's heart energy and passion is against human nature in general. The culture based on intense work is important but only comes to fruition when put in all the

"And I can not stress the place that level of focus when putting in the work to improve had in winning the state championship. Adding the individual fingerprint to the process of continuing to create an intensity at a level which makes for focusing on practicing with the same heart, energy and passion at all times is considered the challenge all others fall under and a source of pride. Every player coached is the exemplification of where and what intense work as well as determination can lead to when coming together and and fits in perfectly with the city of Apopka.

AdventHealth opening two new offices on old hospital campus

By Teresa Sargeant Apopka Chief Staff

AdventHealth continues to expand its roster of services, this time with two new practices – a primary care practice that opened March 4, and a pediatrics practice that will open this June at the former Florida Hospital Apopka site on North Park Avenue.

The primary care practice is a combination of three separate clinics in the Apopka area that joined to form a larger group offering different services, comprised of many practitioners, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants in the office. Each individual has a different expertise.

Currently there are five providers, but hopefully a sixth would be added to the staff this May, said Dr. Lau-

"The idea would be we'd be in teams of two, so if any provider is out or unavailable, your teammate would be available to take care of your patients," said Bedney, a graduate of Loma Linda University School of Medicine in California who had her residency at Florida Hospital (now Advent-Health) Winter Park.

The practice also provides sports physicals, back-to-school physicals, and immunizations to children, as well as chronic disease management such as diabetes.

with limited medical services and 50 hospital beds. In 2017, the hospital relocated near the convergence of state roads 429, 451 and 414 into a $203-million facility with a seven-story, 450,000-square-foot building containing 120 private rooms. Expanded services and new amenities include surgical services, advanced surgical suites, a catheterization lab, and imaging services.

Although much of the old hospital site on Park Avenue was recently torn down, the newer parts there still serve as a medical office building. In addition, the University of Central Florida Business Incubator, formerly located on McGee Avenue, rents out a portion of a building there.

"The whole strategy is wanting to keep primary care closer to the community, and we actually have all the specialties out there (at the new campus)," said Liliana Parra, business/network development senior manager for AdventHealth. "So we don't have PCP (primary care physicians) out there."

Last January, Florida Hospital Apopka rebranded itself as a national facility, capped with a reflection of its name change to Advent-Health.

All Florida Hospital locations nationwide have been part of Adventist Health System's national network of hospitals and care sites. Every one of those sites adopted the new name on January 2.

New general pediatric service

The six-room general pediatric wing of the North Park Avenue location will open this June. Previously, child patients saw pediatric specialists in Orlando or Winter Garden.

The Ocoee-Apopka

Road campus has a pediatric emergency department with a separate waiting room and a handful of rooms that have walls colorfully decorated with safari animals.

The AdventHealth Apopka emergency department team received the same training the Advent-Health for Children staff had. This way, the Apopka team would be well equipped to handle families with children.

"If someone needs a follow up appointment for an ear infection, they can come here (to the North Park Avenue location)," Parra said. "For any emergency, they can go to the Ocoee-Apopka campus, where we have a dedicated pediatric-training staff."

Tickets on sale for Apopka Mayor's Prayer Breakfast

Tickets are now available for the Apopka Mayor's Prayer Breakfast slated for Thursday, May 2, at the Apopka Community Center/VFW Post, 519 S. Central Avenue.

Gian Paul Gonzalez, a motivational speaker, will give the keynote address at the breakfast.

Tickets, which are $25 each, may be purchased online at ampb2019.event brite.com or in person at The Apopka Chief and The Planter office, 400 N. Park Ave., and the Apopka Area Chamber of Commerce, 180 E. Main Street. Tickets will not be sold after Monday, April 29.

The breakfast is sponsored by the Apopka Christian Ministerial Alliance.

The doors and the breakfast buffet will open at 6:30 p.m. with the program beginning at 7 a.m.

As a speaker, Gonzalez has had the opportunity to motivate many, from Super Bowl champions and Forbes 500 corporations to high schools and churches.

During the New York Giants' Super Bowl run in 2012, much of the team's inspiration is attributed to Gonzalez. Prior to the Giants' Christmas Eve game with the New York Jets, Gonzalez delivered the now-famous "all in" rally cry message during the Giants' chapel service and is now recognized as having inspired the New York Giants to their Super Bowl victory.

Gonzalez was featured on ESPN on Super Bowl

Keep Those

Sunday, and has had appearances on Fox News, ABC, and CNN. He has traveled across the nation as a motivational speaker for the NBA's Portland Trailblazers, the Army Cadets at West Point, United States Air Force, Anheuser-Busch, Sam's Club, as well as many other corporate, athletic, government agencies, and educational institutions.

Gonzalez, a high school teacher in Union City, N.J., was asked to lead a chapel service for members of the Giants the night before the team's Christmas Eve 2011 game against the New York Jets. There was little hope then that the Giants would make it to the playoffs.

Auto technicians say the key to keeping vehicles running well – today and down the road – is routine maintenance. Yet many drivers tend to stall when it comes to keeping up with some everyday auto-basics. A recent survey by the Car Care Council found:

25% of cars had low or dirty engine oil. 13% had low or contaminated brake fluid.

18% had dirty air filters.

17% had inadequate cooling protection or low coolant levels.

16% needed new windshield wiper and 27% had low or contaminated washer fluid.

18% needed new belts.

Overall, 89% of vehicles were in need of at least one service or repair.
