Commissioners sworn in

LaBelle City Commissioners Hilda Zimmerly, top, and David Lyons took the oath of office, administered by Mayor Paul Puletti. The commissioners were unopposed for city office. The brief ceremony occurred before the August 9 commission meeting.

HCSO prepared for medical emergencies

"If elected one of the things I would do for the Citizens of Hendry County as Sheriff would be to implement EMD. I have arranged with Hendry County Emergency Services to implement training of Hendry County Dispatchers and certify them as Emergency Medical Dispatchers (EMD)". (2008)

As of June 1, 2012, all Hendry County Communications Operators have been certified as Emergency Medical Dispatchers. All Dispatchers have undergone 32 hours of required training and have also completed a four hour ride along with First Responders. All Dispatchers are CPR Certified and must be recertified every two years.

While this has been a long and difficult task, Dr. Han Louis-Charles, MD of Hendry Regional Medical Hospital reviewed and approved the Association of Public Safety Communications Officials (APCO) medical guide cards on April 2011.

Hendry County Senior Dispatcher Tonya Jennings completed the APCO EMD training and became an instructor. Tonya, along with Hendry County Public Safety Operations Chief Donna Akin, co-instructed the 32 hour in-house training to the remaining Hendry County Communications Operators.

In addition, Hendry County Communications Supervisor Margie Phipps has required that all dispatchers complete a four-hour ride along with First Responders,

Through the APCO Institute, the Emergency Medical Dispatch Program is based on the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's (NHTSA) National Standards Curriculum for EMD. This certification must be renewed every two years and communications operators are required to attend at least 24 hours of Continuing Dispatch Education activities every two years to maintain their certification.

Dispatch

Emergency Dispatch is a systematic program of handling medical calls for assistance.

Trained Communication Operators, using locally-approved EMD Guide cards, can quickly and properly determine the nature and priority of the call; dispatch the appropriate response; and provide the caller instructions to help treat the patient until the responding EMS unit arrives if necessary.

What this means for Hendry County's citizens and its visitors

When you call 9-1-1 have you ever wondered "What's with all the questions?! All I want is to get this patient to the hospital for treatment as quickly as possible. I don't have time for all these questions."

Emergency Communications Operators in Hendry County are now required to utilize EMD, a potentially life-saving system, for every medical call they receive.

A fire rescue truck or ambulance does not have to be the first unit on the scene of a medical emergency; a dispatcher can be there within milliseconds, by telephone, providing medical information and pre-arrival instructions. That's the concept behind EMD.

First, Emergency Dispatchers must assess the seriousness of the incoming request for medical service to determine the level of response, no response, non-emergency transport or emergency transport.

The 9-1-1 Operator will ask a series of questions in order to determine what the medical situation is; if intervention is needed immediately; what resources may need to be dispatched such as fire, police, EMS.

Correction

LaBelle's Country Rhythm Cloggers performed at Kings Dominion in Doswell, Va., June 23-24 - not Kings Mountain as was stated in last week's edition. We apologize for the error.

If pre-arrival instructions are needed to be given to the caller, such as CPR, control of bleeding, child birth instructions, the 9-1-1 dispatcher, with the approved medical guide cards, can talk the caller through assisting the victim until medical units arrive.

The second part of EMD consists of providing pre-arrival instructions to the caller, so they can immediately help the victim.

The level of telephone assistance can vary from just simple advice (call your doctor), to complete instructions for CPR. This is the most visible component of EMD and, if you're the victim, perhaps the most valuable feature - saving lives.

Pre-arrival instructions are most commonly provided on medical flip cards, arranged so the dispatcher can question the caller and, based on the answers, quickly go to the card that contains the correct advice, instructions, etc.

While you are talking with the 9-1-1 Operator, the 91-1 Operator is entering your information in to the system. Based on the nature of the call the communication operator sends, or dispatches, the appropriate help.

In many instances a second Communication dispatcher is dispatching help based on the information shared by the primary call taker while they are still on the phone with the caller.

Hendry County Sheriff Steve Whidden said, "This is just one more way we are moving the Hendry County Sheriff's Office, to a more professional level."

He continued, "Our dispatchers have worked very hard to get this program off the ground and to be successful. They are doing a great job and I am very proud of them."

Stroke, osteoporosis screenings coming to LaBelle

Residents living in and around the LaBelle community can be screened to reduce their risk of having a stroke or bone fracture. American Legion Post #130 will host Life Line Screening on August 20.

The site is located at 699 Highway 80 West in LaBelle.

Four key points every person needs to know:

- Stroke is the third leading cause of death and a leading cause of permanent disability
- 80 percent of stroke victims had no apparent warning signs prior to their stroke
- Preventive ultrasound screenings can help you avoid a stroke
- Screenings are fast, noninvasive, painless, affordable and convenient

Screenings identify potential cardiovascular conditions such as blocked arteries and irregular heart rhythm, abdominal aortic aneurysms and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which is a strong predictor of heart disease.

A bone density screening to assess osteoporosis risk is also offered and is appropriate for both men and women.

Packages start at $149. All five screenings take 60-90 minutes to complete.

For more information regarding the screenings or to schedule an appointment, call 1-877-237-1287 or visit our Web site at www.lifelinescreening.com. Pre-registration is required.

Grants for Cogongrass treatment available from Forest Service

Tallahassee, FL – The Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' Florida Forest Service has announced that the Cogongrass Treatment Cost-Share Program will accept grant applications through Tuesday, August 28.

The program supported through a grant from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Forest Service, offers assistance to non-industrial private landowners who conduct herbicide treatments to control Cogongrass (Imperata cylindrica), a non-native grass that is regulated as a state and federal noxious weed.

"Cogongrass infestations increase the risk and severity of wildfires, degrade the quality of forests and rangelands, and out-compete native vegetation," said Commissioner Adam Putnam. "Cogongrass is considered one of the worst weeds in the world, and an aggressive treatment approach is necessary to control it."

The program is available in all 67 Florida counties. It offers reimbursement of 75 percent of the cost to treat Cogongrass infestations with herbicide for two consecutive years with a maximum of $100 per acre per year.

Qualified landowners may apply to treat up to 100 acres of infested area. All qualifying applications received during the submission period will be evaluated and ranked for approval.

Consumer Services

by Matt Kindermann

When entrepreneurs talk about their business plans, you usually do not hear concerns about small business insurance or Workers Compensation costs.

Likewise, job seekers are more concerned with finding a job rather than dealing with an old health insurance claim.

Matt Kindermann

Fortunately, the State of Florida has a central division that caters to all of these considerations and more.

It is the Division of Financial Services and their Web site is www.myfloridacfo.co.

This Web site is a virtual gold mine of information.

Starting at the Finances and Economy section, Holocaust survivors can download forms to waive international wire transfer fees.

Under the Citizen Resources tab, Senior Citizens can learn about common fraudulent practices targeting them such as reverse mortgage and annuity sales.

You can also report insurance fraud or a commercial scam through a link or by calling the Consumer Helpline at 1-877-693-5236.

Most importantly for employees and employers, the Business and Professional section will take you to the Consumer Services Division. Consumer Services allows you to search insurance providers to determine if they are themselves insured, are licensed or have recently settled a lawsuit.

It would nice to know that your insurance agent is recognized by the State before doing business!

There are guides to file a civil remedy concerning legal actions against insurers, as well as an Insurance Market that lists contact information and comparisons to the different Health, Commercial and Residential insurance agents authorized to operate in Florida.

The On-Demand library also offers multi-media presentations on everything from small business disaster preparation to residential sinkhole coverage.

Teen driving, it's a privilege not a right

by Pat Dobbins R.N., M.S./H.S.A.

Oh, that magical feeling of freedom when you get behind the wheel! Most teenagers can hardly wait to start driving but most parents tend to have mixed feelings. Getting teens to fully understand safety messages about driving can be a difficult challenge for parents. Some parents may feel relieved that they don't have to always be the chauffeur, but at the same time, parents worry about their teen's safety. Parents need to "practice what they preach." Teens are more likely to wear a seatbelt, follow the rules of the road and be a calm and courteous driver if they see their parents doing the same.

Patricia Dobbins

Teens need to remember that driving is a privilege, not a right, and not all teens are ready to drive even when the law says they can. Just because a teen has a permit, doesn't mean they are ready for every driving condition.

Most crashes involving teen drivers include one of the following factors:

- Distracted Driving – Which includes:
  - o Texting
  - o Talking on cell phone
  - o Eating
- Reckless Driving - Which includes:
  - o Speeding
  - o Tailgating
- Driving with teen passengers
- Not using seatbelts

- Driver Inexperience and weather conditions

- Nighttime driving
- Impaired Driving – Don't drive while under the influence of medication, alcohol or drugs.

Teen Driving Data

- Car crashes are the leading cause of death for teens in the United States, taking the lives of eight teens a day.

- In the last decade, over 68,000 teens have died in car crashes.

- Sixty-five percent of teen passenger deaths occur when another teenager is driving.

The best thing a parent can do is to start teaching children at a young age about safe driving and then once the teen has a permit, let them practice-practice-practice! Ultimately, the teen will have to make decisions about their driving habits, but it's up to parents to be role models and enforce rules to encourage safe driving.

Ask your insurance agent or the local department of motor vehicles for more information on teen driving. You can also visit the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration website at <http://www.nhtsa.gov/Teen-Drivers/> or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's website http://www.cdc.gov/Motorvehiclesafety/Teen\_Drivers/teen-drivers\_factsheet.html

Remember to buckle up!

Ticks can be in your back yard!

By Pat Dobbins

It's summertime! Baseball games, swimming, camping, hiking or just playing outdoors. These are all great summer activities, but don't forget about ticks that may be in the same environment.

There are several things you can do to help prevent tick bites and reduce your risk of tick-borne disease.

After being in wooded areas, grassy areas or even after a summer picnic, you should check your scalp and hair, behind the ears, the neck and under the arms. Usually ticks try to find a nice warm spot to hide and latch onto to your skin, but sometimes they can choose the strangest places, so please check your whole body thoroughly.

Some ticks are small enough to crawl into shoes or through socks, so when you are hiking or taking a stroll through wooded areas, tuck your pant legs into your socks so that they cannot crawl up the inside of your pants.

Also, it's a good idea to wear light-colored clothing, because it will help you spot any ticks that may be crawling around looking for a place to bite!

For added protection, you can also use an insect repellent with DEET, but please always follow the product instructions!

Repellents containing 20 percent or more DEET can be applied to the skin, and can provide some protection for several hours.

Please talk to your healthcare provider before applying any insect repellents on young children.

Before you go into your home, check your clothing and your pets for ticks. Ticks may be carried into the house on clothing and pets and any ticks that are found should be removed immediately.

Watch for signs of illness such as rash or fever, and see a health care provider if these develop. Remember that it can take up to 30 days before you have symptoms of a tick related disease.

Your risk of getting a tick-borne illness depends on many factors, including where you live, what type of tick bit you and how long the tick was attached. If you become ill after a tick bite, please see your health care provider.

You can get more information about ticks at this Web site: <http://www.cdc.gov/ticks/>

Record Python Reminder to Call 1-888-IveGot1

If you see a Burmese python of any size, an Argentine tegu lizard or a Nile monitor, we want to hear from you.

Altamonte Springs, Fl — A 17.7 foot Burmese python carrying 87 eggs is a record for Everglades National Park and a reminder that these problem snakes are here to stay.

The Nature Conservancy has been working to prevent their spread out of the Everglades by training responders to pick them up when sighted.

If you see a sun-bathing python or any other invasive species, like Nile monitors, take a photo and please call 1-888-IveGot1 and report your sighting to the Python Patrol.

"We have 24-hour response by law enforcement in 10 counties, although anyone in Florida can leave a message," said Nature Conservancy Biologist Cheryl Millett, who runs the Conservancy's Python Patrol program.

The counties where a responder trained by the Conservancy to capture invasive snakes is dispatched are: Miami-Dade, Monroe, Collier, Hendry, Broward, Palm Beach, Glades, Martin, St. Lucie and Okeechobee counties.

The Nature Conservancy began the Python Patrol in 2008 to help prevent the spread of snakes out of Everglades National Park and into the Florida Keys where one had been discovered after feeding on an endangered Key Largo wood rat.

People who work outside for a living were encouraged to call in sightings and trained responders up and down the Keys captured the intruders.

Now the program is being implemented across the southern part of the state.

Pythons eat a wide range of wildlife species, including birds, mammals and alligators up to 4 feet long.

University of Florida scientists studying Florida's largest snake found to date said its size would allow it to eat most anything. Capture of the record snake was announced by UF Monday.

"By capturing snakes in the counties on the edges of the major infestation in the park we may be able to stop the spread and prevent new breeding.

And by capturing them in the park we hope to suppress the population," Millett said.

Sightings can be filed on-line at IveGot1.org as well. There is also an iPhone App available through iTunes called IveGot1 that was developed by the University of Georgia.

The phone number and web site are open for reports of all invaders, including fish. The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission is partnering with the Conservancy to respond to reports.

And wildlife officers continue to be trained to properly capture and bag snakes.

"We encourage everyone to become more familiar with distinguishing invasive from native reptiles by taking the free online REDDY training offered by the University of Florida," Millett said.

Online REDDY training is at <http://ufwildlife.ifas.ufl.edu/reddy.shtml> and offers a certificate at end of the 40-minute free training, plus ID and reporting handouts.

FHSAA reminds schools of new standards to protect student-athletes

With the fall sports practice season about to begin, the Florida High School Athletic Association (FHSAA) today reminded schools of new standards that have been put in place to safeguard the health and well-being of student-athletes. The FHSAA's director of athletics will conduct a workshop on the new safety requirements at a compliance seminar next week.

Pre-season practices officially begin Monday (August 6) for student-athletes competing for their schools in football, golf, swimming/diving and girls volleyball, and new procedures are in place to protect the youths from the heat, inadequate hydration and concussions. Cross country and bowling practices begin one week later.

"For coaches, parents and everyone else associated with high school athletics, nothing is more important than the safety of the students," said FHSAA Executive Director Dr. Roger Dearing. "At the FHSAA, we are committed to making sure our members understand what they must do to ensure that competitors have safe, enjoyable experiences as high school athletes."

The FHSAA's Board of Directors adopted new heat-related policies in June, designed to ensure that young athletes drink plenty of water and do not practice too many hours each week. Under the new policies, schools must:

- Limit weekly practice time to 18 hours during the first two weeks of practice, to allow student-athletes to adapt to conditions
- Ensure that for every 30 minutes of practice, student-athletes get a minimum five-minute rest and hydration break
- Require unrestricted access to water for student-athletes at all times
- Require coaches and others in authority to never deny a student-athlete access to water if requested.

The FHSAA also adopted a new concussion and heat-related illness form intended to create safety awareness among students and their caretakers by explaining the risks and symptoms associated with each problem. A concussion action plan developed by the FHSAA's Sports Medicine Advisory Subcommittee and adopted by the Board requires that:

- Any student-athlete who exhibits signs, symptoms or behaviors consistent with a concussion – such as loss of consciousness, headache, dizziness, confusion or balance problems – must be immediately removed from the competition and cannot return to play until he or she is cleared by an appropriate health care professional.
- All head coaches and other paid coaches are required to view an online education course about concussions.

The FHSAA also developed a new consent form related to concussions and heat-related illness to ensure that parents understand the conditions and the rules that apply to them.

About the FHSAA

Since it was established in 1920, the Florida High School Athletic Association has provided opportunities for high school students in Florida to participate fairly and equally in interscholastic athletic programs that produce vital educational benefits. The FHSAA sponsors championship programs through which 108 teams and more than 720 student-athletes are crowned state champions in 30 sports each year. Through participation in these athletic programs, almost 800,000 students annually are extended opportunities to receive lessons in leadership, sportsmanship and citizenship.

Bicycling fun at Barron Library

Did you know it's against the law for anyone under the age of 16 to ride a bike without a helmet, and if caught doing so can be ticketed? This was one of many rules of the road Sgt. Brown taught kids who attended the final summer program at Barron Library. The children were instructed in all aspects of how to be a safe bike rider, from making sure their bike was in good working order before getting on it, to learning proper hand signals. Every child in attendance was fitted and presented their very own bike helmet, then given the opportunity to test their bike skills on the obstacle course. Thank you so much to the Hendry County Sheriff and his staff for offering free bike training to the children of our area. It has been a summer full of a variety of great educational programs at Barron Library, from Basic First Aid, to learning pointers about acting, creating a vanity tag, getting to taste all different kinds of fruits and vegetables and finally learning how to be a safe bike rider. The library would like to thank all presenters as well as all attendees for participating in the program this summer. We wish everyone a happy and safe school year. Follow Barron Library on Facebook to keep up with all of the activities available and to find out about new books you may want to read. Come by to see or ocean. It's full of sea creatures.

Finished up my cataract surgery this week and #1 daughter drew the short straw and was on Mom Duty. Upon going in for the procedure the nurse said, "We'll call you in an hour or so if you want to leave ... As Suzy bolted out the door she said... And I'm ALMOST sure I heard her right ... " Can you just keep her for a few days and I'll come back on Friday?" To which the nurse replied, "No, we can't." And I'm ALMOST sure she said, "She'll be sitting on the curb outside if you should choose to be late."

STATE OF FLORIDA
DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION
NOTICE OF INTENT TO ISSUE PERMITS AND CONSENT ORDERS

The Department of Environmental Protection gives notice of its intent to issue to the South Florida Water Management District, 3301 Gun Club Road, West Palm Beach, Florida, 33406, 1) an Everglades Forever Act (EFA) watershed permit and associated EFA consent order for the construction, operation and maintenance of the ECP STAs (STA-1E, STA-1W, STA-2, STA-3/4 and STA-5/6) and 2) a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) watershed permit and associated NPDES consent order for the operation and maintenance of the ECP STAs as detailed in the applications on file with the Department. The STAs and their respective discharge locations are generally located in the following areas: STA-1 East is located in central Palm Beach County immediately adjacent to the northeastern border of the Arthur R. Marshall Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge (Refuge); STA-1 West is located in central Palm Beach County immediately adjacent to the northwestern border of the Refuge; STA-2 is located in south central Palm Beach County immediately adjacent to the western boundary of Water Conservation Area 2A; STA-3/4 is located in south central Palm Beach County and northern Broward County and is bordered by the Holey Land Wildlife Management Area (WMA) to the west and WCA-3A to the south; STA-5/6 is located in southeast Hendry County and lies immediately adjacent to the western boundary of the Rotenberger WMA. The proposed permits, consent orders and supporting information can be accessed via the Department's website at <http://www.dep.state.fl.us/water/wqssp/everglades/ecp-sta.htm>

The application files are also available for public inspection during normal business hours, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except legal holidays, at the Department's Office of Ecosystem Projects, 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, M.S. 24, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000, at phone number (850) 245-3180.

Each of the Department's four proposed agency actions noticed herein shall become final unless a timely petition for an administrative hearing is filed under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, before the deadline for filing a petition. The procedures for petitioning for a hearing are set forth below.

A person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department's agency actions may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. The petition must contain the information set forth below and must be filed (received) in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000.

Petitions filed by any persons other than those entitled to written notice under Section 120.60(3), Florida Statutes, must be filed within twenty-one days of publication of the notice or within twenty-one days of receipt of the written notice, whichever occurs first.

The petitioner shall mail a copy of the petition to the applicant at the address indicated above at the time of filing. The failure of any person to file a petition within twenty-one days of receipt of notice shall constitute a waiver of that person's right to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. Any subsequent intervention (in a proceeding initiated by another party) will be only at the discretion of the presiding officer upon the filing of a motion in compliance with Rule 28-106.205, Florida Administrative Code.

A petition that disputes the material facts on which the Department's action is based must contain the following information:

- The name and address of each agency affected and each agency's file or identification number, if known;
- The name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner; the name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner's representative, if any, which shall be the address for service purposes during the course of the proceeding; and an explanation of how the petitioner's substantial interests will be affected by the determination;
- A statement of when and how the petitioner received notice of the agency decision;
- A statement of all disputed issues of material fact. If there are none, the petition must so indicate;
- A concise statement of the ultimate facts alleged, including the specific facts the petitioner contends warrant reversal or modification of the Department's proposed action;
- A statement of the specific rules or statutes the petitioner contends require reversal or modification of the Department's proposed action, including an explanation of how the alleged facts relate to the specific rules or statutes; and
- A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action petitioner wishes the Department to take with respect to the Department's proposed action.

A petition that does not dispute the material facts on which the Department's action is based shall state that no such facts are in dispute and otherwise shall contain the same information as set forth above, as required by Rule 28-106.301, F.A.C.

Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the Department's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the Department have the right to petition to become a party to the proceeding, in accordance with the requirements set forth above.

Mediation under Section 120.573, Florida Statutes, is not available for this proceeding.

Creating your computer systems restore point

In our last column, we discussed using system tools like defrag and disk cleanup. This week, we'll talk about 'System Restore Points' - specifically what they are and why and when you might want to use them. To understand this, let's talk about that mysterious thing called the Windows "registry." What is the registry? Wikipedia describes it pretty well:

"The Windows Registry is a hierarchical database that stores configuration settings and options on Microsoft Windows operating systems. It contains settings for low-level operating system components as well as the applications running on the platform."

So, what does this have to do with System Restore Points?

Actually, it has everything to do with it. When you create a System Restore Point, you're really creating a "snapshot" of registry. That being said, taking that "snapshot" at a time when your system is running well provides an opportunity to restore to that point when and if your system starts to "act up."

When should I create a system restore point?

A good time to consider creating a system restore point is just *prior* to installing new software programs. Installation of software typically writes to the registry; if things are running well before you go to install a great new program you've purchased or downloaded, it makes sense to create a "snapshot." That way, if the new program you install makes the system unstable or causes problems, you can "go back" to that restore point in time and regain control of your computer.

As a precaution, some software actually does this automatically during its installation routine. Whether the restore point is created by the installation of software or performed manually by you, you can identify them by their creation date which is part of the "restore point" name.

To create a system restore point or to restore to a previously saved restore point, click "Start/Programs/Accessories/System Tools" then select "System Restore."

IMPORTANT: The registry is a core component of every Windows system. Most users should not edit the registry directly without being aware that doing so may damage their operating system and possibly cause the system stop functioning. As always, when in doubt about anything involving your computer system, contact a qualified technician for help and advice.

The road to state certification

All divisions of the Hendry County Sheriff's Office showed off the up-to-date "tools of the trade" in the parking lot at the old Flora & Ella's Restaurant last week. Vital elements of dispatch, SWAT, Road Patrol, the DARE program, volunteers, new patrol cars and more were all there for the public's perusal. The display was part of the enormous effort for the sheriff's office to become state certified. The certification team has talked to HCSO employees, checked out policies and procedures and is currently in the process of making its decision.
