

FIGURE 2. Glossotherium chapadmalensis: upper dentition X 0.85.

and G. robustus. The fourth molariform is relatively small compared to the Argentina specimen of G. chapadmalensis, although it is identical in shape.

The palate is very constricted in the area of the last upper teeth and considerably expanded at the anterior end of the maxilla. Both of these