

FIGURE 18. Mylohyus floridanus type, mandibular symphysis, dorsal view, UF 18002, Haile XV A; X 1.0.

other peccary, Platygonus, is very abundant. Similarly, in the Coleman IIA fauna of Irvingtonian age, Platygonus outnumbered Mylohyus eleven to one. The presence of Mylohyus at Haile XV A suggests an ecological distinction, as will be discussed further in the paleoecology section (below).