Quincy to keep city manager

Jack McLean supporters wear T-shirts, sing, speak to commissioners on his behalf

CURT WILKERSON
Times Correspondent

With a 2-3 vote, the motion to terminate City Manager Jack McLean's contract was struck down at the Tuesday, Oct. 22 meeting of the Quincy City Commission. The vote was met by a round of applause from a multitude of citizens who had arrived at city hall wearing pink shirts that read, "I support the City of Quincy Manager."

The motion had been initiated by Commissioners Derrick Elias and Micah Brown, who had expressed concern over Quincy's current financial situation, and the failure to prepare the internal audit by June 2013 as originally scheduled. Many Quincy residents addressed the commission, speaking in support of McLean and often citing his strong work ethic.

"On any given Sunday, after he's gone to church, you can come by city hall and see him," said former Quincy City Manager Willie Earl Banks. "He works hard all the time."

Others commented on McLean's accessibility.

"There has never been any concern that we couldn't go to him, whether the issue was great or small," said New Birth Christian Center Pastor Jarvis Alls, who said he had canceled Bible study to attend the meeting. "Let's do everything we can to keep him here."

In addition to those who spoke on McLean's behalf, Marva Alls was on hand to lead members of the Gadsden Open Door Male Choir, who sang a touching rendition of "Cornbread and Black-eyed Peas" in McLean's honor. The public outpouring, however, did little to sway the opinions of Elias and Brown.

"I, too, believe that

Deadline looms to comment on public education

TALLAHASSEE — The deadline for citizens throughout Florida to provide input on Florida's English language arts and mathematics standards is Thursday, Oct. 31, to submit feedback on the standards adopted by the State Board of Education in July 2010.

So far, the Department of Education (FDOE) has received nearly 13,000 comments and suggestions. All comments and suggestions will be reviewed and an update provided to the State Board of Education at its Nov. 19 meeting at Santa Fe College in Gainesville.

Florida's standards are state-level expectations of what students should know at each grade level. Decisions about specific curriculums and instructional materials are made by local school districts and educators.

Floridians can submit their feedback on the standards via email at flstandards@fldoe.org or through the website at www.flstandards.org/.

All comments on the standards must be submitted by Oct. 31 to be considered for review.

Purposeful stride

Gadsden County Sheriff Morris Young took a bold step early Friday morning — and another, and another — 34 miles' worth, from Chattahoochee on the western border to Midway on the eastern side.

Wearing a hot pink shirt that on the back identified him as the sheriff, he walked to bring attention to male breast cancer during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Supporters joined him, most going only a portion of the way.

When the sheriff and the other walkers passed through Quincy, a number of people stopped to wave and cheer them on.

Gadsden County Election Supervisor Shirley Knight was one.

It means a lot for people to be aware of what's going on in the community with breast cancer," she said, "so anyone that's supporting breast cancer, it means a lot to me."

Aaron Kissler, administrator of Gadsden County's health department, joined the sheriff on part of his walk, as did his wife, Jennifer.

Kissler said the walk was an important opportunity to raise awareness about the importance of testing and early detection.

Quincy police have now made four arrests in connection with an Oct. 15 shooting at Haupilla Produce, 1800 Florida Ave., Quincy.

Dontavious Shorter

Tavarous Livingston

According to a Quincy Police Department press release, Dontavious Shorter, 17, 838 Sykes St., Quincy, has been arrested on charges of aggravated battery with a firearm and robbery with a firearm.

According to a QPD arrest report, Tavarous Livingston, 18, 427 S. Stewart St. #53, Quincy, was arrested Oct. 25 on a charge of accessory – aggravated battery/deadly weapon.

Livingston reportedly told police he left the Quincy Recreation Center with Shorter and two other co-defendants who are juveniles and all four walked to West End Grill. Livingston told police he served as a lookout while Shorter and another juvenile broke into a vehicle parked on the road next to the restaurant and stole a gun, a black 9-millimeter Ruger, and walked from there to Haupilla Produce where the shooting occurred, according to Livingston's arrest report.

Livingston was charged Oct. 25 with accessory-armed burglary, according to a QPD arrest report.

The two juvenile co-defendants were arrested Tuesday, Oct. 29, in connection with the case, including the alleged Oct. 15 burglary of a car. According to QPD Capt. Troy Gilyard, a 15-year-old and 17-year-old co-defendant were arrested on charges of acces-

Haunted maze right for screaming, howling

JAYME WARNER
Times Correspondent

When darkness falls and the gate is open, a number of people lined up to enter the Haunted Millet Maze this past weekend at Rocky Comfort Farm. The maze is a course set up through a millet field decorated with spider webs and skeletons — and visitors shouldn't be surprised to wind up at a few dead ends.

Debbie Parramore, owner of the farms, puts on this event every year.

"We are here to serve the public,' she said. "Smile, smile, smile. Serve, serve, serve is our motto."

Parramore inherited 230 acres of farmland when her grandparents passed away. She didn't want the land to go to waste or have people come and build random buildings on it, so she decided to make it an agritourism destination.

She started opening the farm to visitors in 2010. Back then, few people came, but as the years have passed more and more people are starting to hear about it and coming out to join the festivities.

"I haven't went through the maze, but I hear people coming out of it screaming all the time," said Wendy Taylor, who works at the farm. "And I don't think I have the guts to go through the trail either."

The millet maze is the big attraction around Halloween time. The haunted trail has one way in and one way out. Other attractions at the farm include a pumpkin patch, hay rides and sometimes entertainment during the day. But the real fun begins when the sun goes down.

he (McLean) is a good person," said Brown. "But it's not always the good you see in people; you have to think about what has happened, too."

After four votes were cast, the commission was in a 2-2 deadlock with commissioners Larry Edwards and Andy Gay voting in McLean's favor. Mayor Keith Dowdell then cast the deciding vote, opting to keep McLean in office.

In response to the decision, McLean expressed his gratitude to the community, but also acknowledged the need for unity among the commission moving forward.

"I would like to thank the commission for your continued support," said McLean. "We need to now all get on one accord."

In other Quincy business:

- The commission voted 5-0 to grant the North Florida Educational Development Corporation use of Tanyard Creek Park for the First Annual Big Bend Cultural and Diversity Harvest Festival. The goals of the event are to build bridges between the African-American and Hispanic communities, to celebrate successful African-American families in Gadsden County and to promote small businesses throughout the community. The free, community-wide event will be Dec. 6.
- The commission accepted contract terms offered by Interim City Attorney Jerry Miller.
- The "Rock the Block" festival will not be held this year, but is still being considered for next year.

Along Twin Ponds Road

"Peewee would have been here if weren't for those teenagers driving too fast."

"My son (Peewee) was just about Patrick's age, the kid we met at the pool yesterday."

These are a few of the statements that my wife, Judy, has made to me and/or others more often than she realizes, but especially at this time of the year, the first anniversary of the tragic death of her son, Ward, or "Peewee," as she still refers to her firstborn child.

Her mother, taken from her two years ago, would have had a birthday last week. She also lost her younger brother and father a short time ago. Her dad's birthday was within a few days of the mother's.

I'm sure several of you may have lost a loved one recently or a short while ago, but Judy lost both parents and her eldest of two sons and a younger brother within a rather short period of time. She has reason to be sad, although most of the time she wouldn't let you know that.

There is only so much I, or one of you, can do to ease the pain of one who has lost a child or family member, or in Judy's case, several loved ones.

It's Halloween time again, and I had to do a little research to ensure that the holiday somehow would fit this column.

Wikipedia would inform us that Halloween, also known as, All Hallows' Eve, is an annual celebration observed in several countries on Oct. 31 as the time of the liturgical year dedicated to remembering the dead.

It's somehow appropriate that my wife and I lament the passing of so many loved ones in such a short period at this particular time of year.

As so often happens when reading my daily devotional, Our Daily Bread, today's message was so appropriate to my column today.

Joe Stowell, in his essay, "The End?" reminded readers the world will eventually end, and that at times it could be disheartening.

He stated that, indeed, life ultimately comes to an end, and all of us who have stood by the casket of a loved one who died sooner than we expected, the pain and emptiness could be felt all the more.

Judy's son was only 46 when struck from behind while on his motorcycle by a carload of teenagers speeding on a rainy day. Her son, of course, had all the proper safety equipment, and more, that a safe biker should have, but all for naught.

What made this tragedy even more difficult to bear was, as is so often the case, the teenagers got away with a tap on the hand and a small fine. Boy, does that irk me!

What's more maddening is the teenaged driver responsible for killing my stepson has received additional speeding tickets and is still driving! I can't stop myself from wondering if he even remembers his carelessness behind the wheel caused another man, veteran and husband and father's death.

I feel my wife's pain and have found myself overcome with sadness and grief at unexpected times that has actually caused me to breakdown and sob audibly.

For those of us Christians, thankfully Jesus can step into the fray of terminal disappointments and through His death and resurrection interject hope, courage and stamina for us.

As Stowell has written: "In Him 'the end' is a prelude to a death-free eternity, and words like 'it's over' are replaced by a joy-filled 'forever.'"

As Paul would say in 1 Corinthians 15:51-52: "Listen, I tell you a mystery: We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed — in a flash, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed.... v.54-55: "Death has been swallowed up in victory." "Where, O death, is your victory? Where, O death, is your sting?"

So if your heart has been troubled lately, especially over the death of a loved one, keep your eyes focused on the life everlasting that the Bible promises us.

And, if you have no reason to lament at this time of the year, I guess, in addition to being thankful for your blessings, that you'll have nothing better to do than to make sure you are in possession of plenty of those candy treasures the little trick-or-treaters in your neighborhood will be seeking, or the boogeyman might get you!

God bless you.

Big Bend Hospice commemorates Hospice Month

In 1974 the hospice movement gave birth to a new concept of care for the dying in America. Thirty years ago, that concept became practice in Florida's Big Bend area of Leon, Jefferson, Madison, Taylor, Gadsden, Liberty, Franklin and Wakulla counties. Led by a group of community advocates and volunteers, Bid Bend Hospice was founded in 1983.

November is National Hospice and Palliative Care Month. Hospice and palliative care is the model for quality, compassionate care for people facing a life-limiting illness or injury. Big Bend Hospice uses a team-oriented approach to provide expert medical care, pain management, and emotional and spiritual support tailored to the patient's needs and wishes. At the heart of Big Bend Hospice's care is the belief that each of us has the right to die pain-free and with dignity, and that our families will receive the necessary support to allow us to do so.

Care can be provided in the patient's home, in a nursing home, assisted living facility, retirement community, or at Big Bend Hospice's freestanding care center, the Hospice House in Tallahassee. Hospice services are available to patients of any age, religion, race, or illness and are covered under Medicare, Medicaid, most private insurance plans, HMOs and other managed care organizations.

Physician Dame Cicely Saunders founded the first modern hospice, St. Christopher's Hospice, in a residential suburb of London, and applied the term "hospice" in 1967 to the specialized care for dying patients. The roots of the term "hospice" date back to medieval times when it referred to a place of shelter or rest for weary or ill travelers on a long journey.

Dame Cicely introduced the idea of specialized care for the dying to the United States at Yale University in 1963. Her lecture, including photos of terminally ill cancer patients and their families depicting the dramatic before and after symptom control difference was presented to medical students, nurses, social workers and chaplains. This lecture set the foundation for the development of hospice care as we know it today.

Big Bend Hospice's care team focuses on managing the patient's pain and symptoms, assisting the patient with the emotional and psychosocial and spiritual aspects of dying, providing necessary drugs, medical supplies and equipment, coaching the family on how to care for the patient. Hospice care can also involve delivery of special services such as speech and physical therapy when needed; making short-term inpatient care at the Hospice House is available when pain or symptoms become too difficult to manage at home; providing respite time off for caregivers; music therapy and spiritual support; and providing bereavement care and counseling to surviving family and friends.

Hospice introduced the idea of controlling people's pain while helping them remain alert, and allowing patients to spend their last months organizing their affairs and saying goodbye. "Patients are able to work things out and get their affairs in order," explains Cathy Adkison, president and CEO of Big Bend Hospice.

When Big Bend Hospice opened in 1983, it was a privately funded volunteer organization serving only a handful of patients. Last year, Big Bend Hospice served 5,230 patients and their families throughout the eight-county areas. This includes 3,653 patients and their families who participated in services available through the Big Bend Hospice Bereavement program.

To fund that growth, Big Bend Hospice relies on two sources: community support through the United Way of the Big Bend, donations and bequests; and reimbursements from Medicaid, Medicare and private insurance companies. No one is ever refused services from Big Bend Hospice based on inability to pay.

Minimum wage back to 1950 level on 75th anniversary

HOLLY SKLAR
American Forum

The minimum wage has put a floor under workers' wages since taking effect 75 years ago on Oct. 24, 1938. But at $7.25 an hour, today's federal minimum wage is the same as it was in 1950, after adjusting for inflation.

Too little, too late minimum wage raises are the next best things to eliminating it for minimum wage opponents.

"If we would have had our druthers," said Murray Weidenbaum, chairman of President Ronald Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers, "We would have eliminated it." But, as the Wall Street Journal reported, "Because that would have been such 'a painful political process,' Mr. Weidenbaum says that he and other officials were content to let inflation turn the minimum wage into 'an effective dead letter.'"

The two longest periods without a minimum wage increase have both occurred since 1981. We're on that road again with a $7.25 minimum wage since 2009. The minimum wage has lost nearly a third of its value since its 1968 high point of $10.75 in today's dollars.

As the wage floor has sunk below poverty levels, millions of workers find themselves with paychecks above the minimum, but still earning poverty wages.

Workers and consumers are not two different species. When a growing share of workers make too little to buy necessities — much less afford a middle-class standard of living — it hurts Main Street businesses and our communities.

Workers' share of national income has been driven down to record lows while corporate profits' share has risen to record highs. As JP-Morgan's "Eye on the Market" newsletter said in 2011, "Reductions in wages and benefits explain the majority of the net improvement in (profit) margins."

Between 1968 and 2012, as the minimum wage eroded, the top 1 percent of households doubled their share of our nation's income from 11 percent to 22 percent.

The top 1 percent took 95 percent of all the income growth from 2009 to 2012. That's terrible for our economy and our democracy.

Today's big business CEOs make more in a year than most small business owners make in their lifetimes.

The typical big business CEO got a 16 percent raise in 2012 to $15.1 million. They make more in a couple hours than full-time minimum wage workers do in a year — about $15,080.

Bloomberg News spotlighted the growing pay gap between workers and CEOs in the fast-food industry. "The disparity has doubled at McDonald's Corp. in the last 10 years," Bloomberg reported. "At the same time, the company helped pay for lobbying against minimum wage increases."

Who are the 'church people'?

Nancy Kennedy
GRACE NOTES

Recently, someone passed on a bit of gossip to me.

This person said, according to reliable sources, a certain person at a certain local church did something that, while doesn't technically violate the letter of any of the Ten Commandments, is unseemly for, as this person put it, "church people."

That same week my pastor said someone came to him and informed him that a certain person who was attending the pastor's class with the intent of joining the church was, indeed, not a very nice person, maybe even a despicable one.

"I don't want people like that in my church," the person told the pastor.

That said, here's the question: Just who are "church people" — who should they be?

I think there's a huge misconception about "church people," and it stems from the messages either preached from the pulpits or messages endemic to the church culture itself.

If you believe that to be a member of a church you need to practice a certain moral code, follow a set of do's and don'ts, then you believe that being a Christian means being a good person. Your church attendance is evidence of your goodness. Really good Christians are in church every time the doors are open, as some believe.

Some believe that church is a place to learn the rules and a sermon is the pastor's tool to whip the people into shape, get them to stop sinning and act "Christianly."

In some churches, if you don't leave a Sunday service feeling simultaneously guilty and resolved to do better throughout the coming week so you can feel like you deserve your spot at the next Sunday's service, then the pastor didn't do his job.

In churches where the emphasis is on morality and behavior, people don't feel free to share their personal sin struggles with one another or with their pastor. Churches like that breed insecure, guilty, judgmental people who take notes on others.

Non-church people know this and don't want any part of it, and who can blame them? Who wants to be part of a group with standards no one can meet and maintain, where its members constantly feel guilty and discouraged?

But there's another kind of church, a church where not very nice, even despicable, people are welcome. This is the church that believes being a Christian and being a member means a person wholeheartedly embraces his or her identity as a sinner and who knows his or her standing with God is based solely on Christ's sacrificial atoning death on the Cross.

The cry of this church is: "Sola fide! Sola Gratia! Solo Christo!" and "Sola Deo Gloria!" (Faith alone, grace alone, Christ alone and glory to God alone; the remaining "sola," Sola scriptura, is the Word of God alone.)

In churches where the emphasis is on the grace of God, people are free to be who they are — sinners in process. Church becomes a place of safety and hope, where the message from the pulpit is not "Here's the standard, here are the rules — follow them to keep yourself in God's grace," but "Here's the standard, here are the rules — you can't keep them, but Jesus did and he gives you the credit for it. Because of that, rest in that."

When that's the message, an amazing thing happens. Church people start changing. They're not afraid to bring their sin to church with them because they don't have a "good" reputation to live up to and maintain.

It's not that we glory in our sin, but in the God whose grace covers it all, past, present

Enjoy Your Favorite Produce ALL YEAR LONG

FAMILY FEATURES

Even though the cooler weather has arrived, you can still enjoy mouth-watering peaches, juicy tomatoes and sweet corn — all your summer favorites — thanks to the can. Fruits and vegetables are picked at the peak of their ripeness, when they're at their best, and canned just hours after picking. The canning process, therefore, locks in their nutrients, freshness and flavor naturally, without the need for preservatives. So, they're available and in-season all year long.

Additionally, many canned fruits and vegetables have equal or more nutrients than their fresh and frozen counterparts. Canned peaches, for example are more nutritious than fresh, according to an Oregon State University study, because they have higher levels of vitamins A, C and E, as well as folate and antioxidants.

These delicious recipes will allow you to enjoy the flavors of summer, no matter what time of the year it is. Remember, your favorite fruits and vegetables are only a can away.

Munroe topples Temple 47-12

After a shaky start, the Robert F. Munroe Bobcats found their groove and throttled visiting Temple Christian Academy from Jacksonville on a crisp homecoming night this past Friday at Corry Field.

Temple started the scoring with a 40-yard pass from quarterback Donald Brown to receiver Tywann Williams on the opening possession. The Bobcats answered on a methodical 70-yard drive that culminated with a Myles Edwards 2-yard run (Cole Skipper kick) to take the lead 7-6.

The lead was short-lived as Temple's speedy Quabeon Finch took the ensuing kickoff up the middle and outraced the Munroe defenders for a 65-yard return for a touchdown.

From there, however, the Bobcats would hold Temple scoreless while finding the end zone six more times throughout the course of the game. Defensive ends Walt Kelleher and Sean Newton kept the elusive Brown bottled up and the Bobcat defense would register three interceptions by cornerbacks Kyle and Cole Skipper and linebacker Bo Bailey (returned for a touchdown) in keeping the visitors from Jacksonville at bay.

Offensively, the Bobcats were led by Bailey, who rushed for 115 yards and two scores, and Edwards, who gained 78 yards on the ground with two touchdowns. Edwards was also the recipient of an 8-yard scoring toss from quarterback Will Harris. Fullback Daniel Winburn added a scoring run.

"The coaching staff is very proud of these kids," said Interim Coach Joey Edwards. "They didn't play their best last Friday at Rocky Bayou, but they found some energy this week. It was a good night. The four seniors got a win in their last home game, Olivia Fletcher was crowned Queen, and we had a good crowd on hand. It was a good night to be a Bobcat!"

With two road games remaining, the Bobcats take on North Bay Haven this Friday. The game will be played on Panama City Beach Arnold's home field and kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. EST.

"North Bay Haven is a talented team that can run and pass equally well," said Edwards. "They have a good quarterback in David Smith, who is an accurate passer, but can hurt you if you don't contain him. We'll have to keep the momentum going from Friday if we're going to be successful."

North Bay Haven stands 1-6 on the season, but their record contains a forfeited win over Rocky Bayou and losses to Panhandle powers Baker and Cottondale.

The Munroe volleyball team defeated a very good FAMU-DRS volleyball team twice during the regular season. Once they won in five games, going overtime in the fifth game of the match before winning 17-15. The second time they met, the Lady Cats played some of their best volleyball of the year and dominated the Rattlers in three straight games.

Because of those two districts wins, the Lady Cats entered straight into the district final game of District 1-2A and faced FAMU–DRS in their home gym this past Thursday. Despite many lead changes in all games, the Munroe team lost in four close games with scores of 20-25, 22-25, 25-17, 21-cause it "sends a good message to folks that they can do some of the same things in their lives. I thought it was pretty impressive."

Shanda Wright, who is chairing Gadsden County's Relay for Life in 2014, said she met the sheriff in Chattahoochee about 5:30 a.m. before he started walking to support him because she couldn't walk with him because she had to go to work at Stewart Street Elementary School.

"I think it went very well," she said of the walk. "From what people have told me and all the different pictures I've seen on Facebook, I think everybody was super-excited about it, and people have said they hope it becomes an annual event and I'm very supportive of it."

At the end of the walk about 6 p.m. Friday, Young told those present that during his walk across the county, he thought about a lot of things that plague this county.

"We need to pray for Gadsden County."

rounding communities, with an emphasis on economic development, jobs creation, health and wellness, youth, children and senior citizens initiatives, nutrition, lifelong learning and sound environmental stewardship.

"I was motivated to follow through to make this a successful event. We didn't have a large attendance but the performances were great. I look forward to next year. The number one goal is to get our community to attend the event," said Christine Jones, who chaired the event.

She said one of her goals is to reach out to local pastors and their congregations, encouraging them to work with the organization to better the community.

The festival performers included: Theessalonian, Treu Believer, Demarcus Haggins, the Rev. James Youmas, Sensational Harmonets, The Angelic Messenger and New Season. Audrey Lewis served as emcee.

"There was a small number of people who attended, but the performers were uplifting and fantastic," Jones said.

Gospel Fest is used to inspire the community to give their absolute best to help support the organization in its community projects, and as a fundraiser for renovation of the Old Havana Northside High School Complex.

25 — and proving it's tough to beat a good team three times.

Karleebeth Perkins and Maddey Pappadakis led offensively for Munroe, combining for 21 kills. Katie Howell and Olivia Fletcher each added seven kills. Defensively, the team stepped up with seven different players having six digs each. Pappadakis, a junior setter, tossed up 21 assists.

The loss dropped the team to 8-16 on the season, and more importantly, put the team on the road, travelling to Jacksonville on Wednesday night to play the District 2-2A champs, Christ's Church Academy. Should they slip by them, and FAMU defeat Peniel Baptist of Palatka, the two will meet again on Nov. 5.

West Gadsden was eliminated from the District 2-1A tournament. That tournament was won by Sneads. East Gadsden also lost in districts. Victory in their District 2-4A tournament went to Florida High.

and future.

So, as the people surrounding you in the pews readily admit they are just as sin-flawed as you, together you remind each other that God's grace will help you all get better — and you do get better, because you feel safe and secure.

It's as we often sing, "For God the just is satisfied, to look on him (Jesus) and pardon me."

It's the pardon that compels us toward change and not guilt or the threat of punishment.

Dear friends, church was never intended to be a showcase for good people, but a place of refuge for those who know they're not.

Welcome, sinner — come on in!

STEALING HARTS

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You enjoy the attention early in the week, but it might be a good idea to opt for some privacy by week's end so that you can have more time to consider an upcoming decision.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You unearthed some surprising facts. Now you need to consider how to use them to your advantage. Meanwhile, it might be best to keep what you've learned secret for now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A comment by a colleague piques your curiosity to know more. Best advice: You'll find people more likely to offer information if you're discreet when making your inquiries.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your energy levels begin to rise by mid-week. This allows you to catch up with your heavy workload and still have plenty of get-up-and-go to go out on the town this weekend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're probably roaring your head off about a perceived slight from a longtime critic. Ignore it. That person might just be trying to goad you into doing something you might later regret.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) The early part of the week is open to spontaneity. Then it's time to settle into your usual routine to get all your tasks done. A personal situation could require more attention from you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A meeting of the minds on a workplace project might well develop into something more personal for Librans looking for romance. Aspects are also favorable for platonic relationships.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A more-positive mood might be difficult to assume in light of a recent problem involving the health of someone special. But by week's end, your emotional barometer should start to rise.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Look for a changed attitude from a former adversary once he or she realizes you have your colleagues' full support. Now you can refocus your energies on that workplace project.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) This time, a difference of opinion might not be resolved in your favor. But be patient. It ultimately could all work out to your advantage, as new information begins to develop.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A tug of war develops between the artistic Aquarian's creative aspect and his or her practical side. Best advice: Prioritize your schedule so you can give appropriate time to both.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You could be entering a career phase awash with job-related demands. But avoid being swamped by the overflow and, instead, keep treading water as you deal with demands one by one.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are an exceptionally loyal person, and you're respected for your ability to keep the secrets entrusted to you.

The Garden Bug

Acclimating outdoor plants

Potted plants that have been outdoors should be groomed well before wintering inside! Trim off dead or yellowing sections. Lower the pot and base of plant into a tub of soapy water to force ants, earwigs, centipedes, grubs, etc. out of the soil; gently scrub the surface of the pot while it is soaking. Treat for any remaining pests, and allow all to dry thoroughly before bringing inside.

U.S. Women's Chamber of Commerce CEO Margot Dorfman says, "Big corporations that pay poverty wages count on small businesses and taxpayers to subsidize them by providing food stamps and other public assistance to workers and their families who can't make ends meet. Raising the minimum wage will help level the playing field for businesses like my members who treat their employees fairly and invest in the communities in which they are rooted."

Nearly half of America's 50 million public school children have family incomes so low they are eligible for free or reduced lunch. The share of low-income students jumped from 38 percent of all students in 2001 to 48 percent in 2011, according to a new report by the Southern Education Foundation.

Walmart pays workers less now than when Sam Walton started the company in 1962. The average wage for Walmart sales associates — $8.81 an hour according to IBIS World industry research — is lower than the 1962 minimum wage of $8.91, adjusted for inflation.

The Walton heirs on the Forbes 400 list of richest Americans have a combined net worth of $136 billion. Walmart workers top the state lists of employees depending on the public safety net.

In enacting the minimum wage during the Great Depression, our government understood we couldn't revitalize the economy when workers couldn't afford even the basic products that businesses had to sell. Boosting workers' wages was key to long-term recovery.

The Fair Minimum Wage Act would gradually raise the minimum wage to $10.10 in three steps and then adjust it annually to keep up with the cost of living.

That's the least we can do to restore the fallen wage floor under our economy.

many benefits for our patients and families. When choosing a hospice, ask for Big Bend Hospice. There is a difference," said Adkison. "We are your hometown hospice. Our staff and volunteers live in your community. We have services not offered by any other hospice available to our patients."

Along with seeing more people, the Big Bend Hospice offers more programs and services. Family members can attend bereavement support groups. Big Bend Hospice also provides a music therapist and chaplains for our patients. For children and adolescents who have lost loved ones, the Big Bend Hospice provides Caring Tree program, to help youth to express feelings and sorrows they may not otherwise be able to articulate. The Margaret Z. Dozier Hospice House in Tallahassee has 12 home-like patient rooms and provides care for patients who need constant nursing care or whose primary caregivers need respite. In 2014, the doors to the Jean McCulley Family House will open to provide even more services to the families and caregivers of loved ones in the Hospice House.

were 14.6 cents per gallon lower than the same day one year ago and are 0.6 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 13.3 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 26.4 cents per gallon lower than this day one year ago.

"Last week saw new downward momentum in crude prices- after staying above $100/bbl for 111 days since early July, crude prices fell below $100 and just days ago closed as low as $96/bbl," said GasBuddy.com Senior Petroleum Analyst Patrick DeHaan. "In turn, the sudden drops in crude prices have pushed gasoline futures down as well, with motorists on the winning side of this all. The national average has picked up some steam on its downward trend and in some areas of the U.S., the wholesale price of gasoline is nearing yearly lows, which is adding up to significant savings for motorists. Americans are spending over $100 million per day less on gasoline than they did a year ago, and I'm willing to bet if every motorist used the GasBuddy app, the savings would be twice as significant," DeHaan said.

GasBuddy operates Tallahassee-GasPrices.com and more than 250 similar websites that track gasoline prices at over 140,000 gasoline stations in the United States and Canada.

In addition, GasBuddy offers a free smartphone app which has been downloaded over 25 million times to help motorists find the lowest gasoline prices in their area.
