The Atlanta Journal is in a quandary as to whether near beer or heat is responsible for the present over-crowded condition of Grady Hospital. Probably both.

If 1,800 drunks occurred in prohibition Atlanta during the past six months, as recorded by the police department, what would have been the number under the open saloon system?

James J. Hill predicts prosperity for the country when the tariff gets out of the way. The present indication is that the tariff will gradually disappear upward, says The Atlanta Journal.

If Billy Possum Taft stands by his promise to revise the tariff downward he will earn the gratification of a long-suffering public. But the indications are that he will have to wield the Big Stick over the heads of the tariff robber Senate to do so.

The Times-Union Short Talks editor says The Crystal River News apologizes of being late with its last two issues with the statement that the water was three feet deep all around its office, two weeks ago last Friday. It says that fishing in the streets of Crystal River was a common sight on July 2, owing to the heavy rains and high tides causing the whole town to be flooded, and that some little boys caught a total of 100 pounds, which they sold at the fish houses and netted a neat little sum.

The Lakeland News says: "If, as Lawyer Wells says, the prohibition amendment would be inoperative if passed, there is no sense or reason in the saloon people fighting it. Why not let the poor, misguided prohibitionists have the fun of passing it anyway, if it can do no harm? 'Tis true Don C. McMullen comes along and makes Wells' contentions look like the lowly and despised 30-cent piece—still, let all those who believe the Wells proposition help pass the amendment. Then they will have a good joke on the prohibitionists."

The number for July of Florida Health Notes is a "special typhoid fever" number, treating of the disease from a scientific viewpoint and also containing much in the way of practical advice. It has an interesting article on "Septic Tanks," a subject upon which there should be more information available than there is at present. It begins as follows: "Queer things, these septic tanks! You just run raw sewerage in at one end, and you don't put any chemicals or anything else in but the sewerage, and you see nice clear water come out of the other end. Queer, isn't it?" Health Notes says there are two of them at Tallahassee, one at Gainesville, one at Lake City, and a private one near Jacksonville. The Times-Union has information that there is a private septic tank in Jacksonville in West Riverside. Of the septic tank, Health Notes declares: "It is the coming method of sewage disposal for our island towns. It is the ideal for the country home. They are being made suitable also for a small family, or for two or three families. The cess pool is getting out of date of the past, and rightly so." Times-Union Short Talks

A DAY'S DISPATCHES.

News dispatches, when considered collectively over a long period, are used by historians as a thermometer by which to gauge the trend of conditions. Even a single day's news may serve to give us a line on the pulse of the nation.

We read in a dispatch from Washington that the bigger half of 90,000,000 consumers of the United States appear to resent the proposed advance in tariff rates. The President's mail is clogged with protests against the Payne-Aldrich bill.

An Associated Press dispatch from New York informs us that both William E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who arrived from Europe, and Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation's board of directors, who was sailing for France, characterized the Payne-Aldrich measure as an ideal prospective law.

Mr. Corey said that "almost everybody is satisfied with the tariff bill as it now stands," and predicted that the result of the bill's change would be a "speedy acceleration of prosperity and a long era of good times."

Judge Gary declared "the new bill should be generally satisfactory, and President Taft, the cabinet, and Congress are entitled to great credit for their successful work. The revision has been conservatively downward. Business will improve rapidly from now on, and steel will come into its own again, with new high records."

A Washington news item tells us that the Hon. John A. M. Adair, speaking in the House of Representatives, declared: "There surely is much alarm in the fact 4,000 men now own over 85 per cent of all the wealth of the country, and each one of the balance of the 90,000,000 people owns less than $500 in property. The records show that 51 men, who have been the beneficiaries of special legislation, now own $4,000,000,000 of this country's wealth. It is a lamentable fact that one thirty-fifth of the entire wealth of the United States is therefore concentrated in the hands of fifty-one men, and these men are today dictating the legislation of this special session of Congress."

Still another dispatch informs us that Bishop William Bell, of Los Angeles, in addressing the Yosemite Valley Chautauqua, declared that "if President Taft fails to make good on the tariff and disappoints the people after making them promises, it may be necessary to recall to the White House Theodore Roosevelt."

After scoring the ministry for indifference to politics, Bishop Bell closed by saying: "Wealth is centered in a few individuals, and the time is coming for a division of this wealth, even if a revolution is necessary."

And all this information was conveyed in a single day's news! We wonder if Senator Aldrich ever reads the newspapers?

Governor Comer of Alabama has called an extra session of the Legislature for action on sixty-five subjects, among which is the submission of an amendment for constitutional prohibition to the people, as well as amendments for biennial sessions of the legislature and the establishment of new counties of less area than is now permitted. Pre-eminent in the call is suggestion for strengthening prohibition laws being urged to prevent storage in clubs or public sale places of intoxicating liquors, making goods thus stored contraband, to prevent foreign agencies from establishing in the State to sell liquors, to lay tax on such liquors as may be sold, and provide speedy punishment for violations. Better laws against gambling are also included.

HON. W. A. BLOUNT.

Hon. W. A. Blount of Pensacola, conceded to be the leading member of the Florida bar, will in all probability be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Tallafiero.

Of Col. Blount and his probable candidacy for this most important office, The Pensacola Journal of last Sunday says:

"Friends of Hon. W. A. Blount in Escambia county and throughout Florida will be pleased to learn that he is seriously considering becoming a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator James P. Tallafiero.

"It has been intimated for several weeks that Mr. Blount was considering the matter, and yesterday he stated that he would very probably become a candidate. Regarding his probable candidacy he said: 'I have given the matter serious consideration for several weeks, and it is both possible and probable that I will be a candidate in the primaries of 1910.'

"It is understood that Mr. Blount will become a candidate for the high office if he can satisfactorily arrange his law practice.

"Friends of Mr. Blount have been urging him for the past several weeks to enter the campaign for Senator, and have assured him of their support. This support, it is stated, does not lie alone in Pensacola and West Florida, but all over the State, and with the vigorous campaign which he will make if he decides to enter, will make him an exceptionally strong candidate.

"It is advanced by friends of Mr. Blount that West Florida should have a representative in the United States Senate and that no abler or more energetic man could be found in the entire State than Mr. Blount.

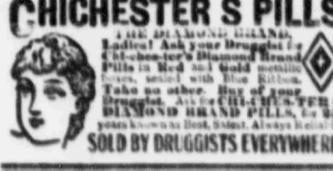

"Mr. Blount left yesterday for Tate Springs, Tenn., where he will remain for several weeks. Within a short time after his return it is expected that a formal announcement will be made of his candidacy, provided he can in the meantime see clearly how he can satisfactorily arrange his practice."

It is thought that the Georgia Legislature will pass a compulsory educational law at the present session.
