Comptroller Murray's efforts to hold bank directors to a full responsibility deserves the thanks of every bank depositor and stock owner.

Gen. William Miller of Washington county is dead. He was one of the best fighters the Southern cause had during the war and was widely known.

Women's suffrage on the American plan, with marble palaces and governors and millionaires as accessories, is so different from the English idea—with policemen and jails as the outcome.

Within a few weeks Madison county's third consecutive tobacco crop will have been cured and in the packing houses. The crop this year, as usual, has been reported very good, both as to quality and the yield.

The Jacksonville Young Men's Christian Association's charter membership numbers two hundred and twenty-five. They have just taken possession of their new building, which is one of the finest in the South.

Whatever the real cause for the trouble within the Mexican Republic, the American nation cannot lose sight of the fact that President Diaz in every way possible fosters and still fosters the closest ties of friendship with the United States.

Miss Irene McCreary, daughter of the editor of The Sun, is now furnishing the State news items for this paper, as well as contributing many of the local news items. She has taken to the work like a duck takes to water, and the editor is confident that her services will be of great assistance to him.

The watermelon season in Taylor county is nearly over. The Perry Herald held a contest, a year's subscription being offered to the one bringing in the largest melon. This was won by Hon. R. L. Stripling, his melon weighing 56½ pounds. Others weighing from 53½ down to 37 pounds were very fine.

As a number of people from various sections of the State have recently inquired of the editor of The Sun as to Congressman Frank Clark's health, we take great pleasure in informing them that Mr. Clark appears to be (and says he is) in the very best condition physically. He has already opened his campaign for renomination and is "taking in" the picnics in the country districts, where he is cordially received by the people.

In about three weeks more Sanford will have a new electric light plant completed. Almost all of the business houses and residences have already been wired. Along the city dock to the landing there will be plenty of lights. No poles have been erected on the principal streets, but the wiring is run from the side streets. This was more expensive but prevents poles from being down the middle of the street, which is a great nuisance.

FRANK CLARK AND THE TARIFF.

To the Editor of The Telegraph: I see in a recent issue of The Telegraph a clipping from The Gainesville Sun in which the Hon. Frank Clark is warmly praised for his course during the extra session of Congress just closed. Judging from opinions expressed editorially from time to time I believe I would not badly misrepresent the editor of The Telegraph by saying that he holds largely the views expressed in the clipping.

It is very probable that Mr. Clark's conduct will be a much-discussed topic during the next campaign, and to him is justly due the praise of having cleared the political atmosphere by presenting to the voters of the second district a definite issue, thus making the campaign something more than a mere discussion of the personalities of the different candidates.

Mr. Clark, says this clipping, is an advocate of the orthodox Democratic doctrine of a tariff raised solely for the purpose of revenue. Is it possible that the writer of this clipping can be ignorant of Mr. Clark's speech made in the House during the tariff discussion? He, as an ardent admirer of Mr. Clark, surely cannot be, and the fact is all the more remarkable considering the rather questionable celebrity that the speech has obtained. On this occasion did not Mr. Clark come forth with the open, gratuitous announcement that he would support any bill the Republican managers might present to him provided it contained provisions which he conceived to be advantageous to the people of his district. Is not the doctrine thus enunciated perfectly consistent with that held by Payne, Dalzell and other advocates of a high protective tariff; and would Mr. Payne have had any difficulty in writing the tariff bill to suit himself if all Congressmen had held similar opinions?

I do not say that the voters of the second district will disapprove of Mr. Clark's position, but at least it involves an inconsistency which it is impossible to overlook. A READER. Theressa, Fla., Aug. 10, 1909.

The writer of the above communication leaves room for a wrong deduction by not giving the substance of Mr. Clark's speech more fully. What Mr. Clark said was that the Republican majority were going to write the tariff bill to suit themselves in spite of protests from the minority and that if they would write into it items that would be to the advantage of his district he would vote for the bill. The items referred to by Mr. Clark were a protective duty on Sea Island cotton, lumber and pineapples. When the Republicans declined to include these items in the protected list Mr. Clark voted against the bill.

The truth about the tariff is that the expenses of the Government have grown to such an enormous figure that they cannot be met without affording a certain measure of protection to the industries of our country. A tariff that did not give this incidental protection would not raise revenue sufficient to meet the expenses of the Government. This is a condition that cannot be surrounded, no matter what party is in power. In view of this condition it is folly for the South not to look out for itself and see that her industries share in whatever measure of protection must be afforded in raising the Government revenues.—Starke Telegraph.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Governor Gilchrist, says The Brooksville Argus, is making a splendid record as Governor. He did well in using his veto on freak legislation—he stopped all too soon in that, however. He has done fairly well as sentinel at the door of the pardoning board, so that some murderers have been hung and few have escaped. In New York in an able speech, he added to the political reputation of Florida Democracy, and in an address at the great Seattle exposition he exploited the many advantages of Florida as the State for all industrious men to come to and bring their families for homes, health comforts and luxury. Up to date the Governor has shown himself to be all right.

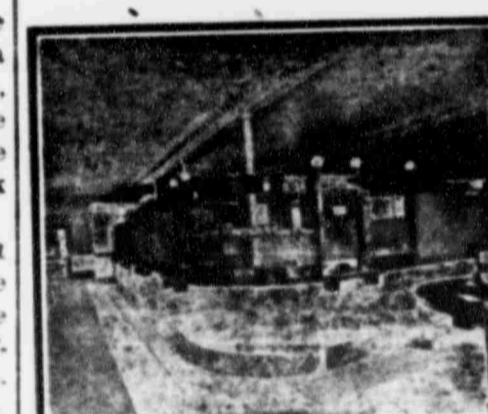

Every year the farmers in the great grain bearing States call loudly for 50,000 or more hands to help harvest the crops and there is usually disappointment because they cannot get them. There would be less difficulty in securing help if the work were permanent, but as it is it scarcely pays people to leave the cities at their own cost for two or three weeks' work in the fields. Probably the solution in most places will be found in smaller farms and more diversified farming, both of which would mean more permanent hands to each square mile of country, besides producing better financial results.

It is noticeable that the telephone girl who answers the constant ring of the instrument in a pleasant manner and soft tone of voice generally finds a good husband. A girl operator who can always answer your telephone call in a sweet tempered voice is calculated to be able to make a good wife, for her vocation is not at all times an agreeable one.
