King Edward's private secretary denies the report that his Majesty has made a killing in the New York stock market. The private secretary is evidently not posted on his master's stock speculations.

China may receive several millions to promote the cause of higher education. Instead of being regarded as a venerable grandfather, that country seems to be fast becoming the favorite son of the world.

When one feels inclined to be disgruntled about taxes to be paid, the best thing to do is to make an effort to think that it is good to possess something of sufficient value to be taxable, remarks The Albany Journal.

The temperature of the fire of a moving locomotive has been determined to be 13,350 degrees F. at a speed of 31 miles an hour, and 12,800 degrees F. at 19 miles. The draft and the temperature are greater than when the engine is at rest.

Crete occupies a peculiar position among the nations. It nominally belongs to Turkey, which is not allowed to administer its affairs. Nearly all its population is Greek and Christian, yet Greece dare not annex it. Four of the great powers that have no historic or racial connection with it have for years carried on the government and preserved order. Crete itself is unanimous for annexation to Greece. Turkey will not give up its title, and the four powers who might easily give the Cretans the opportunity to carry out their wishes refuse to do so. Altogether it is a queer mix up.

The Federal census is one of those things that had better be left undone than not done properly. It is a National stock-taking, and what the nation wants is the facts so that it may know as accurately as possible how it stands on those matters concerning which the Government seeks information. It is a business affair just as truly as is the stock-taking of a private firm, and it needs to be done in the same business-like way. Therefore the President's order prohibiting the mixing of the census with politics is most welcome. It is welcome because if obeyed it will mean the most accurate census ever obtained, and it is also welcome because it lifts the whole question out of politics, with all its corrupting and inaccurate features, into the domain of business.

Evidences multiply that this country has entered upon a new era of commercial prosperity. How beneficial this prosperity may prove to the average man and his family depends upon the use he makes of it. To spend every dollar as fast as it is made or earned is to face disaster and poverty in the time of business depression which invariably follows, sooner or later, a period of good times. The opportunity for providing for a rainy day is not when stocks are tumbling, factories closing and men by the thousands are thrown out of employment, but when prices and wages are good and employment abundant. It is like the difference between a ship unprepared being thrown on its beam end by a sudden squall and a ship in readiness for every contingency.

FISH INDUSTRY IN FLORIDA.

That was an interesting report recently issued by the Bureau of Commerce and Labor on the fisheries of Florida, says The Pensacola Journal. The statistics covered the year 1908 and will prove a revelation to many—even to Floridians themselves, few of whom are likely aware of the full extent of the industry and its different phases.

For instance, in the year named nearly ten thousand men were engaged in commercial fishing—9,212 is the exact number given in the report—who employed three hundred and twenty-seven vessels valued at $618,674, while the total investment in the industry reached the large sum of $2,122,639. This investment seems to have been warranted by the value of the products, which amounted to $3,381,799.

It is safe to say that most people will be surprised at the enormous catch of mullet, which was over three times the catch of red snappers, the former 24,716,390 pounds, the latter only 7,718,900. It will be especially difficult for Pensacollans to understand this, for here the receipts and shipments of snappers are far in excess of their humbler competitor.

There were shipped from the State besides, 1,480,890 pounds of the despised catfish, no doubt now being consumed by connoisseurs while sailing under the name—and colors, too—of prime salmon steaks, and 1,966,800 bushels of oysters; while those who are inclined to rank alligators with fish—which the Government may do just as it decided frogs legs to be chicken—will be interested to know that 59,900 hides of the big saurians were sent away to be turned into traveling bags, shoes, purses and other articles of beauty and usefulness.

Altogether the report is a notable one and tells the story of the teeming life that inhabits the waters which gather about the peninsula.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

Commenting upon an interview with Captain Geo. M. Lynch, Professor of Secondary Education in the University of Florida, in its issue of Aug. 23rd, and which is reproduced in today's Sun, The Pensacola News says:

"We wish to call special attention to the interview, in another column of today's paper, with Professor Lynch, of the State University.

"The figures revealed by this educator are startling to say the least. They are figures which should arouse our public men, professional and business men, and cause them to join in the movement proposed for this great educational campaign. It is not an hour in which to plead lack of time, but it is the duty of every patriotic Floridian to respond to the call of these educators and see to it that Florida does not longer continue to go backward in an educational way."

Every place, small or great, should have a day in spring or summer on which all the people and the city authorities may engage in a systematic cleaning up of premises, alleys, streets and vacant lots. Dirt breeds flies and disease, and that means discomfort, ill health and suffering. In the spring before the hot weather comes is the best time for such a city housecleaning, even as prevention is better than cure. But if the spring passed without such an occasion a day in summer devoted to it will work wonders in the way of cleanliness, health and attractiveness.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

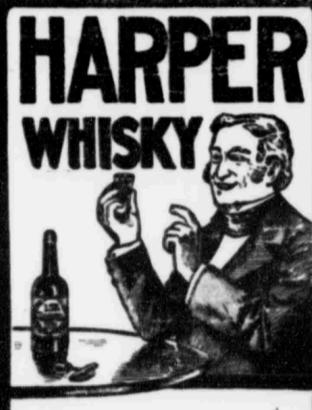

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.
