Gatorama invites visitors for egg hatch

PALMDALE-Do your children think education is boring? "It definitely does not have to be," say Allen and Patty Register, owners of Gatorama. It is the time of year that chirping, grunting and snapping baby alligators emerge from their shells to meet the world. Gatorama is marking this occasion by hosting an "Alligator Hatching Festival" Aug. 22 through Sept. 1, at their animal park at 6180 U.S. Highway 27, Palmdale.

"This is a great opportunity for parents to teach their children about one of nature's fascinating life cycles," says Allen Register. "For the next two weeks we will welcome over two thousand alligators into the world at Gatorama. Guests will actually be able to see these little baby alligators wiggle out of the eggs."

Visitors to Gatorama will also be able to learn about the history of the American alligator and how the populations have been protected through one of the most truly successful, sustainable-use management programs ever implemented. American alligators have been off the endangered species list since 1987 and populations are still growing. Alligator farming is an important part of the program.

There will be five programs Monday through Saturday and three on Sundays. For guests that want a hands-on experience, a "Hatch and Hold" package is available. This package allows the guest to actually hold an egg and let the baby alligator hatch in their hands.

Gatorama opened in 1957 as one of Florida's first alligator attractions. It is still a popular tourist attraction as well as an operating alligator farm. One of Gatorama's

Waterways are home to manatees

Boaters and manatees pass three navigation locks from the Gulf to Lake Okeechobee

By Nena Bolan
Glades County Democrat

GLADES COUNTY -- There are three navigation locks along the Caloosahatchee River, which is the west section of the Okeechobee Waterway. These locks have large mechanical gates that open and close when a vessel locks in and out. Some of these structures have acoustic sensors that pick up the presence of manatees as they travel up or down river. The detection sensor allows them to go through the gates safely.

Manatees travel the west section of the Okeechobee Waterway through estuaries, then up the Caloosahatchee where they linger among oxbow vegetation, and browse through little Lake Hicpochee. This river route is part of Florida's Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. Manatees must swim through three navigation locks before they enter Lake Okeechobee.

From the Gulf coast near Ft. Myers, manatees and boaters first encounter W.P. Franklin Lock, which was built in 1965. This structure is about 33 miles east of Ft. Myers in Lee County near the small community of Olga. The Franklin Lock is the spillway that separates the fresh water of the Caloosahatchee from salt water of the Gulf.

Clewiston's Pop Warner teams aims for bright season

Jamboree Classic is this weekend (Aug. 22-23)

By Naji Tobias

INI Florida

CLEWISTON - Ready, set. Go.

That's what the Clewiston Cougars football program is looking forward to do, with the season beginning this weekend.

The Pop Warner program's six teams are the Tiny Mites, the Mighty Mites, the Junior Pee-Wees, the Pee-Wees, the Jr. Midgets and the Senior Midgets.

As the program looks to build on the success it had from last year, one thing certainly won't change: And that's focusing on the fundamental basics, which have been key to each team finishing with a winning record last season.

Of all the six teams from 2008, it was the Jr. Midgets who looked the strongest in the Cougar program.

The Jr. Midgets (10-2 last season) won the Peace River Conference championship with a victory over the North Fort Myers Knights.

Unfortunately, that team lost the next playoff game, a regional contest held in Tampa.

The Sr. Midgets, who finished with a 6-3 record last season, qualified for the Peace River Conference playoffs.

Meanwhile, the Pee-Wees were 5-4 to finish the 2008 year, with a first round playoff loss to the Englewood Wildcats.

As for the Jr. Pee-Wees, they fared even better, reaching the Peace River Conference championship game.

The Jr. Pee-Wees loss to the North Port

Mustangs in the championship put them at 9-2 to conclude the 2008 season.

Juan Norton, the Jr. Pee-Wees head coach, likes to keep this upcoming year and last in proper perspective.

With 27 players on Norton's team - 12 returning and are 15 newcomers - he knows anything can happen this season.

"Our strength is our defense," Norton said on the Jr. Pee-Wees. "We're very young, but we'll try to do what we did last season, and that's sticking to the basics. It carried us to the playoffs last season."

Cougars fans can expect to see simple running and passing plays from the Jr. Pee-Wees at this weekend's Jamboree Classic.

The offensive line will be a key determinant in how far the Jr. Pee-Wees go this season, with many of them either moving up from the Mighty Mites or playing football for the first time.

Most of the returning players are on defense, so it won't be much to ask the players to stop the opposition's run and passing attacks throughout the year.

The Jr. Pee-Wees, as well as the Pee-Wees, the Jr. Midgets and the Sr. Midgets, will be playing in the Jamboree preseason game Saturday in LaBelle.

First half action will be played against the LaBelle Longhorns, while the second half is slated to see the four Cougars teams and their counterparts from the Naples Hurricanes get into action.

"We won't do anything spectacular this weekend," Norton said.

The same can't exactly be said for the Mighty Mites, as they finished last season with an undefeated 8-0 record.

Incredibly, the Mighty Mites, who field 26 players, haven't lost a game in more than

INI/Naji Tobias

Two of Clewiston's Tiny Mites, Tyreeq Merit and Mike Johnson, engage in a tackling drill during this past Monday's (Aug. 17) afternoon practice, held near the John Boy Auditorium.

three years, according to April White, the Cougars program secretary.

White simple sums up what's expected from this team in 2009.

"For the Mighty Mites to lose a game this season, it would be devastating not only to the kids, but to the coaches as well," she said.

The Tiny Mites, meanwhile, finished last season 6-2, with both of its losses coming to LaBelle.

Neither the Mighty Mites or the Tiny Mites can qualify for the playoffs, as there's no system in place for it.

Nevertheless, both teams will grace Cane Field on Sunday when they host the Jamboree Classic.

And that's fine with White, who has been impressed with all six teams thus far.

"All of them are stars," White said of the Cougars players. "They've been practicing real hard and now they're looking forward to the Jamboree."

Here's the 2009 season schedule for the Clewiston Cougars program:

Saturday, 8/29 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars at Riverdale Wildcats (Away)

Saturday, 9/5 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars vs. Lehigh Acres Raiders (Home)

Saturday, 9/12 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars vs. Estero Mustangs (Home)

Saturday, 9/19 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars at Naples Bears (Away)

Saturday, 9/26 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars at Lake Placid Dragon (Away - Roger Scarborough Field)

Saturday, 10/3 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars vs. LaBelle Longhorns (Home)

Saturday, 10/10 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars vs. Fort Myers Junior Firecats (Home)

Saturday, 10/17 @ 10 a.m. - Clewiston Cougars at Cypress Lake Hornets (Away)

Saturday, 10/24 - BYE

The Peace River Conference playoffs will likely begin the week after Clewiston's bye.

For more information, you can visit the Internet at www.google.com and type in Peace River Conference on the toolbar.

More Swine Flu deaths are confirmed in Florida

Additional laboratory confirmed H1N1 Swine Flu deaths have been verified in that of the following: A 27-year-old female in Osceola County, a 28-year-old female in Hillsborough County, a 25-year-old female in Orange County, a 70-year-old female in Orange County, a 45-year-old female in Dade County, a 53-year-old male in Dade County, a 60-year-old male in Dade County, a 65-year-old male in Dade County, and a 53-year-old male in Lee County.

While most cases of H1N1 Swine Flu are mild, there are exceptions.

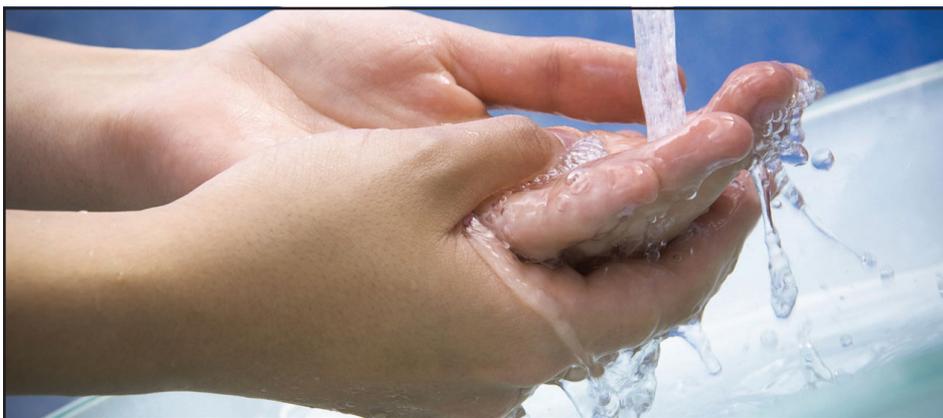

Pre-existing health conditions often play a role in how individuals react to the flu.

To-date, there have been 41 laboratory confirmed H1N1 Swine Flu deaths in Florida.

“Our hearts and prayers go out to the family and friends of these individuals,” said Surgeon General Dr. Ana Viamonte Ros.

“H1N1 Swine Flu, like seasonal flu, can in some circumstances be very serious, therefore, all of us should continue to adhere to good health practices including, stay home if sick, cover cough and sneeze, and wash hands frequently.”

All four Department of Health laboratories have received testing supplies from the Center for Diseases Control and can test samples to confirm H1N1 Swine Flu.

Health professionals are encouraging everyone to wash their hands more frequently to lessen the spread of diseases like Swine Flu.

This testing capability allows the Department to expedite results as we no longer need to send probable cases to CDC laboratories.

The Department of Health continues enhanced surveillance and outreach to physicians, hospitals and other health care professionals.

The surveillance system, consisting of sentinel physicians, reporting influenza activity, DOH laboratories receiving specimens from physicians and hospitals and our ability to monitor emergency room cases and overthe-counter drug sales is fully operational.

We have activated our response plan and are ready to respond if needed.

Department of Health continues its enhanced surveillance with a network of sentinel physician providers.

These providers send selected samples of laboratory specimens to state laboratories for testing if they have patients with influenza-like illness (ILI).

These physicians also continue to report weekly ILI cases to the Department of Health.

The World Health Organization (WHO) alert level is at Phase 6 “pandemic.”

The pandemic (WHO level 6) status is based on geographic distribution and not the severity of swine flu.

In effect the WHO is saying that swine flu H1N1 is now circulating world-wide.

The State Surgeon General provided these recommendations:

People with respiratory illness should stay home from work or school to avoid spreading infections, including influenza, to others in the community.

- Avoid close contact with people who are coughing or otherwise appear ill.

- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

- Wash hands frequently to lessen the spread of respiratory illness.

People experiencing cough, fever and fatigue, possibly along with diarrhea and vomiting, should contact their physician.

If you think you have influenza, please call your health care provider and discuss whether you need to be seen in their office, emergency department or stay home.

A Minute of Health from the HCHD: Quit for your Family's Sake

By: Valarie L. James

Approximately one in five people in the U.S. still smoke, despite its well-known and highly publicized negative health effects, including cancer and heart disease.

It harms nearly every organ of the body.

Why should you quit smoking? Here's one reason: your family cares about you.

We are not alone.

There's a wonderful world around us. Full of fascinating places. Interesting people. Amazing cultures. Important challenges. But sadly, our kids are not getting the chance to learn about their world. When surveys show that half of America's youth cannot locate India or Iraq on a map, then we have to wonder what they do know about their world. That's why we created MyWonderfulWorld.org. It's part of a free National Geographic-led campaign to give your kids the power of global knowledge. Go there today and help them succeed tomorrow. Start with our free parent and teacher action kits. And let your kids begin the adventure of a lifetime.

It's a wonderful world. Explore!

Each year, almost half a million Americans die from this addiction.

Quitting smoking has immediate and long-term benefits for you and your loved ones.

There are many effective strategies out there to help someone quit smoking, but most smokers don't use them.

Proven interventions, such as assistance from a health-care provider, medications, and counseling, can increase a smoker's chance for success.

Quitting smoking is not easy, but it is worth the effort.

Walk in the Past: The Treaty of Moultrie Creek

The day Seminoles relinquished 24 million acres to the United States Government

By Butch Wilson
Clewiston Museum

La Florida became a United States territory when the Adams-Onis Treaty was drawn up in 1819.

In the terms of the treaty, the United States relinquished claims to parts of Texas and agreed to pay Spain $5 million for the territorial rights to Spanish Florida.

Spain ratified the treaty in 1820 and the United States ratified it in 1821.

The United States now owned La Florida, a territory whose fertile lands awaited the southern settler's plows and grazing cattle.

To the Southern settlers, the purchase of Florida was indeed "Paradise" gained, but to its Indian and black inhabitants, Florida had become "Paradise Lost."

The Indian leaders knew they must now comply with the new government's demands, if there was to be peace between the Seminole Nation and the United States.

The signatures on the Adam-Onis Treaty's legal documents probably didn't have sufficient time to dry before the American representatives were asking the question, "What are we going to do with the Seminole Indians and blacks?"

The question was a valid, but very difficult one to answer because there were no short-term resolutions to the Indian and black problem in Florida.

In 1821, the United States became the guardian of over 5,000 Seminole Indians living in Florida.

Their villages were scattered across northern Florida and extended south to Tampa Bay.

However, most of the Seminoles lived between the Suwannee River and Alachua, which was considered by some Americans as one of the richest and most valuable territories in Florida.

One of those Americans was William P. DuVal, who was appointed Governor of Florida in 1822.

He advocated whites should have the rich farmlands and that the Florida Seminoles be relocated to Alabama, where some of the Upper Creeks lived or further west to the Mississippi.

President James Monroe disagreed with DuVal's Indian Policy, but later started whistling a different tune when white settlers began pressuring him to remove the Indians from Florida.

In 1823, President Monroe recommended the Indians be removed from Florida or placed on reservations.

The lands out west hadn't been fully explored by the United States government, so Secretary of War Calhoun proposed that commissioners be appointed to negotiate with the Seminoles and obtain their agreement to move to lands south of Charlotte Harbor and Peace River.

Calhoun also granted the commissioners the authority to move the Indian land boundary as far north as Tampa Bay, if the lands south of Peace River were infertile.

Calhoun appointed James Gadson of South Carolina, Bernardo Suqui of Florida and William P. DuVal as the commissioners to negotiate with the Seminoles.

The area selected for the negotiations was on the north bank of Moultrie Creek, which was about five miles from St. Augustine.

Approximately 425 Seminoles traveled from villages as far away as 300 miles to attend the negotiations.

A temporary shelter was constructed for the negotiations that lasted two weeks.

The Seminole leader, Neamathla, who had fought against Andrew Jackson in the First Seminole Indian War, stated that he was willing to move on a reservation, but pointed out that the lands south of Peace River weren't fertile.

The reservation boundaries were enlarged and extended north of the Peace River to Ocala.

The final negotiations resulted in a Seminole Indian reservation that would later be increased to 5,865,000 acres in 1827.

An amendment was also made to the original draft, so that Neamathla and several other chiefs could continue to live in their villages along the Apalachicola River in North Florida.

The Treaty of Moultrie Creek was signed in 1823 by thirty-two Seminoles and three United States representatives.

The ten article treaty called for the Seminoles to relinquish nearly 24 million acres, which the American government could sell to white settlers for $1.25 an acre.

In return the Seminoles were allowed to stay in Florida on the lands designated as Indian Reservations.

The larger, central reservation (5,865,000) boundaries stopped just north of present day Ocala and extended south of Tampa Bay.

Coastal boundaries restricted the reservation inland 15 miles on the west coast and 20 miles inland on the east coast.

These inland boundaries were established to discourage the Cubans from trading arms and ammunition with the Seminoles.

The Seminoles would be paid an annuity of $5,000 for the next twenty years, food supplies for a year, plus provisions for a school, farming implements, livestock, and other domestic improvements.

An American military post would be established on Tampa Bay to stop the Cubans from trading with the Indians.

A fort was built in 1824 on the banks of the Hillsborough River, which flowed into Tampa Bay.

The fort was later named Ft. Brooke, after its commander Colonel George M. Brooke.

The Treaty of Moultrie Creek took lands from the Seminoles and placed them on reservations that graphically divided them.

White encroachment and restricted reservations would lead to frictions between the Seminole Nation and white settlers.

I hope you have enjoyed this story. Please contact the Clewiston Museum if you have questions, artifacts, pictures, or a "Whale of a Tale" that you would like to share.

The Museum's hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The museum provides an interesting fossil display of prehistoric animals that once roamed the Glades thousands of years ago and artifacts that reflect the heritage of Clewiston.

Its theater has a 65-seat capacity and presents movies on the history of Clewiston, sugar cane harvesting, and the orange industry.

Come by and enjoy a 45-minute group tour for only $2 per person.

Teens getting behind the wheel

By Pat Dobbins R.N., M.S./H.S.A.

Ah! Getting behind the wheel -- that magical feeling of freedom!

Teenagers can hardly wait to get behind the wheel for the very first time but parents tend to have mixed feelings.

Reaching teens with any kind of message is a difficult challenge for parents.

Parents are relieved that they don't have to always be the chauffer, but worry about their teen's safety.

Parents need to "practice what they preach."

Teens are more likely to wear a seatbelt, follow the rules of the road, and be a calm and courteous driver if they see you doing the same.

Teens need to remember that driving is a privilege, not a right, and not all teens are ready to drive even when the law says they can.

Just because a teen has a permit, doesn't mean they are ready for every driving condition.

Most crashes involving teen drivers include one of the following factors: Nighttime driving, speeding, teen passengers, weather conditions, reckless driving, inexperience, and alcohol.

Motor vehicle crashes are the number-one cause of death among American teens and sixty-five percent of teen passenger deaths happen when another teenager is driving!

Over 5,000 teens die each year in car crashes!

That's over 13 teens per day!

The best thing a parent can do is to start teaching children at a young age about safe driving and then once the teen has a permit, let them practice-practice-practice!

Ultimately, the teen will have to make decisions about their driving habits, but it's up to parents to be role models and enforce rules to encourage safe driving.

Ask your insurance agent or the local department of motor vehicles for more information on teen driving and remember to buckle up!

Volunteers help new parents calm their babies

By Judy Paskvan

As a result of a partnership between the United Way, Christ the King Lutheran Church volunteers and the Hendry County Health Department-Healthy Families Program, new parents will receive parenting training and a free swaddling blanket for their new baby.

Volunteers from Christ the King Lutheran Church in LaBelle are making 41" x 41" swaddling blankets from materials being supplied by funding from the United Way.

Healthy Families' home visitors will teach new moms and dads how to swaddle their newborns using the techniques discussed by Dr. Harvey Karp in the Happiest Baby on the Block video.

Swaddling is a technique used by parents to help calm fussy newborn babies.

Healthy Families is a program of Hendry County Health Department.

Golden minutes: Aeromed Medical transport

Aeromed fills need in area

By Patty Brant
INI Florida

Medical air transports are all about speed; getting a critical patient to the best medical care possible from a remote location.

Now with a permanent base at LaBelle Airport Aeromed, out of Tampa General Hospital, is covering calls in Hendry-Glades and in Charlotte County. They also have a mutual aid agreement with Lee and Collier counties.

Beginning last May 1, the company embarked on a shared risk program: Aeromed handles the medical crew and dispatching, while Air Methods Corporation provides the aircraft, pilot and mechanics.

According to Public Safety Director Randy Bengston, the partnership has thus far been "outstanding," Mr. Bengston has a unique perspective on Aeromed, both as a long time emergency medical professional and as a former patient. It was an Aeromed team that transported him in an emergency situation about a year ago. In addition to excellent medical care in flight, he said the crew's report to the doctors at the hospital was very professional. Mr. Bengston quickly adds that it's not his status as the county's top emergency officer that earned this treatment. "Everybody says the same thing," he assures you. It's just the standard Aeromed performance.

"Aeromed offers another option for patients," Mr. Bengston said. Hendry County also uses air flight transports out of Lee, Collier, Martin counties and Miami on occasion, depending on availability. However, having Aeromed located in LaBelle expedites patient care.

Dubbed Aeromed 5, the LaBelle Airport station joins four other Aeromed sites: Tampa, Sebring, Wildwood and Bartow.

Chief Flight Nurse Dan Kresge heads up crews that pair up a nurse/paramedic like himself with a paramedic. They typically work 24-hour shifts. The mobile home beside the Aeromed hangar provides a home away from home for the medical crew. A pilot, working a 12-hour shift, rounds out the team.

Mechanics work regular shifts, keeping the 40' twin engine EC 135 helicopter that is the workhorse of the operation in good repair. The $3.5 million machine averages about 30 hours flying time per month. That may not sound like a lot, but those hours represent critical minutes when a life is in the balance.

Aeromed requires five years critical experience for RNs and for paramedics in an Emergency Medical Services position. Dan said Aeromed medical crews average ten years experience per member. Most Aeromed pilots were military trained with an average flight time of some 6,000 hours.

Pilot John Barber said the biggest difference in flying medical transport is that they're landing on roads or off-road areas that are not as controlled as an airport.

Dan explains what happens when a call comes through. A Hendry County ambulance team arrives at the scene and concludes that they need a helicopter transport. They call their dispatcher, who calls the Aeromed dispatcher and a team takes off. Using GPS coordinates, the flight team contacts the local crew at the landing zone.

The local fire department team at the scene sets up the landing zone and secures it by clearing the ground. The LZ is usually marked with a strobe light at night or cones by day.

At the scene, the Aeromed team assesses the patient. Trauma victims are usually taken to Lee Memorial - about a 15 minute flight from Hendry County.

According to Mr. Bengston, there are 47 established landing zones in Hendry County although several, including Pioneer Shell, Southern Gardens, Airglades and the LaBelle Airport are primary locations.

Pilot John Barber began as a helicopter pilot in Viet Nam in 1971. He said he's "amazed at what they do in the back," especially when you consider the jostling that can happen in the air.

John said, from a pilot's perspective, the worst calls are usually at night in marginal weather. Dan said the biggest medical challenge is usually a trauma alert or big car crash. "Nobody likes pediatric calls," he said, "but we're glad we're there." Burns are tough, too, he added.

Paramedic Noah Connell has six years experience in the medical field. He's been on the job with Aeromed for three months. He also works on the Seminole Tribe Fire Department at Brighton Reservation.

When not on a call, the team stays busy with routine education and daily duties.

Dan helped set up Aeromed 3 and 4 and understands the need to develop close relationships with the local fire departments. He wanted to thank Hendry County Fire/EMS for the red carpet they've rolled out for Aeromed and the smooth incorporation of its services into the county.

Patients are billed for the service. Mr. Bengston said all the county had to provide was a certificate of need. In fact, Aeromed rents the doublewide trailer at the airport for its personnel, along with half of the Fixed Base Operator hangar and office space. They also purchase fuel from the county. Altogether, it's a "win-win" situation for the county, Mr. Bengston said.

Tom Vaughan, manager for both the LaBelle Airport and Airglades, echoes that statement. "They're being here is a good benefit from an economic standpoint in addition to providing a service for the community," he said adding that, with this economic downturn, they help make up for the loss in income from general aviation.

Aeromed provides the inestimable component of time to critical medical emergencies - at no cost to the county.

INI/Patty Brant

Aeromed, at no cost to the county itself, will be providing emergency coverage to the residents of Hendry County.

Higher education: Partnering with EC Campus

By Patty Brant

INI Florida

The Edison State College Hendry-Glades site is poised to usher in a partnership with the surrounding community.

In fact, the collaboration of the school and the community is Dr. Pat Land's top priority. Dr. Land is the Charlotte Campus President. She took over the Hendry/Glades campus last August.

Dr. Land said her ultimate goal is for the community to develop a feeling of ownership of the college. She wants the community to feel at home there, treating it as a central part of its life. She not only envisions it as a favorite place for meetings and events, but as the center for equipping a qualified workforce.

Dr. Land looks forward to a time when LaBelle will be considered a "college town" with integration between the college and the community as a whole.

The Hendry/Glades campus has two full time instructors - Math and English - along with a number of part time instructors in various classes. Although the Hendry/Glades campus has a limited staff, EC maximizes its teaching resources by sharing expertise between campuses. In addition to LaBelle, students are attracted to this campus from Clewiston, Moore Haven and Immokalee.

For about ten years, the Hendry/Glades site, which until this month was located on the LaBelle High School campus, held night classes with a part-time faculty only.

By contrast, when classes begin on August 24, the new campus will provide daytime classes for the first time, in addition to the on-site evening and distance learning classes local EC students have become accustomed to. For small on-site classes, two-way audio-video hook-ups will provide a link to ongoing main campus classes.

No access to a computer at home no longer bars the way to a higher education. Students who do not have a computer at home may use an open computer lab on campus, affording them access to that important resource.

Hendry-Glades students will also have access to a quiet room for individual study and a group study room for projects and open discussion.

Students may make an appointment with a tutor in the math or reading center and there are rooms for remedial counseling and peer tutoring.

With almost everything on line these days, the library has an electronic database. Still couriers can bring books as needed from the Fort Myers or Charlotte Campus.

The college will continue to cater to adult fit for the community, Dr. Land explains.

Even Dr. Land is surprised at how quickly this campus is growing. She said the Curtis endowment provided funds to renovate and purchase this facility. She said it's a "good investment," but even so hopes to build a more extensive campus on SR 80 one day.

She points out that the pursuit of grants for a specialized facility to study biofuel pro-

Ms. Gilfert said she is looking at the enrollment patterns of younger students to expand course selections. She said these students seem to be excited about this new college campus.

As of August 12, enrollment at the Hendry-Glades Campus was 375. With a typical enrollment of 450-500 students, staff is confident this year will meet or exceed those figures. Even so, Ms. Gilfert said many students are taking fewer classes - perhaps a sign of the weak economy. Students may continue to register through August 28.

Look for additional courses to be added.

The campus is also geared toward providing non-credit training programs with the Economic Development Council. These types of programs help provide a ready workforce, thereby recruiting businesses to the area or helping local established businesses enhance employee skills.

Dr. Land has high expectations for this campus. She foresees that, in just a few short years, it will have outgrown this facility and that big campus on SR. 80 will be a reality. She sees this facility offering a full complement of programs. In short, she visualizes a bright future for Hendry-Glades.

She is sure this center will evolve differently than Charlotte or the other EC campuses, reflecting the different needs of this community, "This site will go where the county needs to go," she said, "This is a community to be proud of."

Dr. Land hopes to provide a strong college experience to the community and feels involving the chamber of commerce and the Hendry County Economic Development Council is step one.

In her view, "The community needs a bright light." She is sure that Edison State College Hendry-Glades will be that light and that the two will move into the future together.

For information you can call the Hendry-Glades campus at 675-0408 in LaBelle.

Caloosa Belle/Patty Brant
Administrative Specialist Heath Daniels has been with Edison College-Hendry-Glades for ten years. He is an alumnus and a student in the business management administration program. Heath is pictured helping Patricia Rivera of LaBelle register for a math class. She is a 2007 graduate of Moore Haven High School studying to become a dental hygienist. Patricia is entering her third semester at EC.

students with evening classes, but will now be more equipped to provide for daytime students as well.

Dr. Land is no stranger to this area. Her first teaching assignment was at Clewiston Middle School in the 1970s, where she taught English for two years. She lived in Port LaBelle. This fourth generation Floridian, born in Tampa, then moved to Tennessee for 25 years. In 2002 she came to Edison College.

The college is currently screening candidates, hoping to hire a dean for the Hendry-Glades campus. Dr. Land said there are a number of good candidates from all over the country going through the process. They will be meeting community leaders. Since the ultimate choice will be required to live in this community, he or she must be the right sibilities is one way the campus could make its way into the future. What lies ahead for the college is unknown, but Dr. Land believes that it will be a collaboration with the community that will lay the path to that future.

Christy Gilfert, Director of Student Services at Charlotte, is responsible for developing student programming at Hendry/Glades and is currently filling in for Brooke Bruhn, who is on maternity leave.

Caloosa Belle/Patty Brant

RFP FOR SECURITY SERVICES

FOR THE HENDRY COUNTY COURTHOUSE RFP NUMBER: 2009-16

OPENING DATE AND TIME: September 3, 2009 at 2:00 p.m.

Hendry County is seeking firms interested in providing security services for the Hendry County Courthouse. Firms properly registered in the State of Florida are encouraged to submit their proposal for consideration. All submittals (see Part IV, Submission Requirements) received in response to this RFP will be reviewed by a County Evaluation Committee. In order to be considered, submittals must be received by the Board of County Commissioners at the C.E. Hall Building (Clerk's Office) in the Hendry County Courthouse Complex, 25 E. Hickpochee Avenue, Labelle, Florida by September 3, 2009 at 2:00 p.m., at which time all responses to this request will be recorded in the presence of one or more witnesses. Any proposals received after the above noted time and date will not be opened or considered.

A copy of the Instructions and RFP Documents can be obtained from the Hendry County Purchasing Department, located at 165 S. Lee St., Labelle, Florida (for pick up), Post Office Box 2340, Labelle, Florida 33975 (mailing address), or by calling (863) 675-5220 or (863) 983-1585.

This solicitation does not commit Hendry County to award any contracts, to pay any costs incurred in the preparation of a response to this RFP, or to contract for any services. The County reserves the right to reject any or all submittals received as a result of this solicitation, or to cancel in part or in its entirety this RFP, if it is in the best interest of the County to do so.

Hendry County is an Equal Opportunity Employer and Drug/Smoke Free Work Place.

With school year beginning, preparing for Swine Flu

Hendry and Glades Counties - As schools begin the 2009/10 school year, the Hendry and Glades County Health Departments are working with the Hendry and Glades County School Districts in making preparation for what health officials say will be the next wave of H1N1 (Swine) Flu cases.

"The partnership between the health departments and the schools is essential in preparing for the H1N1/Swine Flu and the seasonal flu season. We also request that parents join us in the promotion of good hand washing and other healthy habits. The most important thing we can ask parents is to please keep their child home from school if they are sick" said Pat Dobbins, R.N., M.S./H.S.A., Administrator for the Hendry and Glades County Health Departments.

The following steps have been put in place to address H1N1 (Swine) Flu concerns during the 2009/10 school year:

- Increased awareness by school staff to identify students exhibiting flu-like symptoms;

- Custodial duties - increased focus and frequency of cleaning commonly touched areas such as doorknobs, computer key boards, light switches, handrails, etc.

- Students with flu-like symptoms will be sent to the school's office for evaluation by a Clinic Assistant and/or School Nurse.

- Clinic Assistant and/or School Nurse will determine if a sick child should be isolated due to their symptoms (Schools will identify an area where students can be isolated from general student body).

- Parents/guardians of the isolated students will be contacted and requested to pick up their child as soon as possible.

- Students with influenza-like illness must remain at home for at least 24 hours after their fever has completely gone away (some medicines can reduce fever, but the child may still need to stay home)(A fever is a temperature which is higher than 100 degrees).

- If the child's symptoms continue or get worse, parents should seek medical care from their health care provider.

- Students will be allowed to use hand sanitizers at school under the supervision of adults.

- Hendry and Glades County Health Departments and Hendry and Glades County School Districts will continue to work closely together monitoring and evaluating the situation to determine if any additional steps or actions are necessary.

In addition, the Hendry and Glades County Health Departments and the Hendry and Glades County School Districts want to stress the following actions to help minimize the affects of the anticipated wave of H1N1/Swine Flu cases to our communities:

- Stay at home: If you or your children are sick, stay at home at least 24 hours after your fever has completely gone away.

- If symptoms continue or get worse, please see your health care provider.

- Cover Your Cough: You should cough or sneeze into a tissue (and throw that tissue away) or sneeze into the bend in your elbow to avoid contaminating your hands.

- Wash Your Hands: Vigorous hand washing with soap and water for twenty seconds however, if soap and water are not available, please use an approved hand sanitizer.

- Avoid: Avoid close contact with people who are coughing or otherwise appear sick.

- Don't Touch: Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

The party will take place Sunday, Aug. 23, beginning at 5 p.m.

There will be games, door prizes, free school supplies and refreshments for all pre-school and school age young people.

Julius and Lisa Castellanos will be in charge of the games.

Jean Rush will be in charge of refreshments, that include pizza, cup cakes and soft drink.

The new youth minister and wife, Artie and Dora Carnes, will be introduced. They will be in charge of the program and music.

Every young person will receive a free bag of school supplies!

For further information you may call the Evangelist, Jackie Miller, at 863-983-1804 or 863-983-6704.

Food Bank at Iglesia Vida Nueva

Everyone hits hard times at some point. To ease the crisis a small food bank is open at Iglesia Vida Nueva on Sundays from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Restrictions apply. Iglesia Vida Nueva is located at 217 East Aztec Ave in Clewiston.

For more information please call 863-983-1070.

Services Times at Iglesia Vida Nueva

Sunday services will be 11 a.m. V.I.D.A Kids 4-10; V.I.D.A Teens 12-18 celebration services will begin at 6 p.m.

Monday services begin at 7 p.m. C4 Youth Group for ages 12-18.

Wednesday prayer and bible study services will begin at 7 p.m., Friday prayer and bible study will also begin at 7 p.m.

Opening this fall with 16 ER treatment rooms ready for your emergency.

Inside the emergency entrance at the new Lakeside Medical Center is a big Emergency Room equipped with technologically advanced life-saving equipment.

And the first person you'll see is a highly trained, fully qualified nurse. Which means treatment begins immediately, and you'll receive the care you need.

It's health care as up-to-date as the future. And the future is almost here—right here at home.

Quality care right here.

Six simple steps to prepare for severe weather

- Create a family disaster plan – The Department of Commerce (DOC) recommends that families create a disaster plan that they practice and maintain. The DOC suggests the plan include instructions for evacuations, health emergencies, safety, loss of water, gas, electricity and/or telephone.

- Know the difference between watch and warning – A severe weather WATCH means conditions are possible in the specified area usually within 36 hours. A severe weather WARNING means conditions are expected in the specified area within 24 hours.

- Inspect home and yard for potential hazards – The Home Safety Council (HSC) advises homeowners to remove outdoor items such as lawn furniture and trash cans as they may become airborne during a severe storm. It also is important to trim or cut down weak trees and branches which are easily broken off by high winds and may damage a home. Severe weather can bring intense rainfall. The HSC recommends homeowners keep rain gutters, outside stairwells, window wells, drain lines and down spouts clear to prevent flooding.

- Secure backup power – Flashlights cannot power refrigerators or life-saving medical equipment and candles are dangerous. The only way to ensure access to power when a power outage occurs is to install an automatic standby generator. The American Red Cross suggests that for power outages, permanently installed stationary generators are better suited for providing backup power to the home than portable generators.

- Protect your home's openings – The National Institute for Business and Home Safety (IBHS) lists the protection of openings as one of the most important precautions homeowners can take to improve the chance their home will survive a storm. Openings include all windows, entry doors, sliding glass doors, garage doors and gable end vents.

- Check your insurance policy – Most homeowner policies do not cover damage from flooding that may result from a hurricane or severe weather. Ask an insurance agent or emergency management office for information about the National Flood Insurance Program or other flood insurance programs.

Phosphorus reduction passes quality requirement

Stormwater Treatment Areas treat water before it enters the Everglades, ridding it of phosphorus agents.

West Palm Beach, FL - For the 14th consecutive year, water flowing out of the farmlands in the Everglades Agricultural Area (EAA) and into the Everglades achieved phosphorus reductions that were again better than the 25 percent reduction required by law.

With the continued implementation of improved farming techniques, results for the 2009 monitoring period show a 68 percent phosphorus reduction in the 500,000-acre EAA farming region south of Lake Okeechobee.

"The region's agricultural community has continually strengthened its commitment to protecting and improving South Florida's ecosystems," said SFWMD Governing Board Chair Eric Buermann.

"The solid performance record and continued commitment will serve to further improve water quality."

Phosphorus reductions were largely achieved through Best Management Practices, or BMPs.

BMPs are improved ways of farming — all with the goal of improving water quality.

In the EAA, the most commonly used BMPs are improved fertilizer application, improved stormwater pumping practices and erosion controls to reduce the amount of phosphorus discharge to the Everglades and connected water bodies.

Phosphorus can harm the Everglades ecosystem when stormwater runoff carries excess amounts into the protected wetlands.

To meet the requirements of Florida's Everglades Forever Act, the amount of phosphorus leaving the EAA must be 25 percent less than before phosphorus-reduction efforts started.

Data for the 2009 annual monitoring period show that a 68-percent phosphorus reduction was achieved this year.

The average reduction from the implementation of BMPs over the program's 14-year history is 54 percent, more than twice the amount required by law.

When measured in actual mass, 278 metric tons of phosphorus were prevented from entering the regional canal system, which sends water into the Everglades, during the monitoring period from May 1, 2008, to April 30, 2009.

Over the past 14 years, the BMP program kept approximately 2,000 metric tons of phosphorus out of the Everglades.

Together with best farming practices, water leaving the EAA receives additional treatment in one of several Stormwater Treatment Areas (STAs) before entering the Everglades.

These wetlands — constructed by the SFWMD — are filled with native vegetation and use "green" technology to further reduce phosphorus levels.

Since 1994, STAs south of Lake Okeechobee — with a combined area of more than 52,000 acres — have retained more than 1,200 metric tons of phosphorus that would have otherwise entered the Everglades.

The latest data indicate that through treatment wetlands and the BMP program, more than 3,200 metric tons of phosphorus have been prevented from entering the Everglades.

Overall, Florida has invested more than $1.8 billion to improve Everglades water quality since 1994.

While the EAA continues to meet its targets, work is continuing to improve water quality in the C-139 Basin, approximately 170,000 acres of primarily pasture land, row crops, citrus and sugarcane located west of the EAA.

Unlike the EAA, the predominantly sandy soils and gravity drainage within the C-139 Basin present unique challenges to achieving nutrient reductions.

While the C-139 Basin achieved phosphorus reduction goals in 2008, results for Water Year 2009 (May 1, 2008 – April 30, 2009) indicate the basin fell short of targets in the Everglades Forever Act. A BMP program has been in place for seven years in the C-139 Basin.

The District is currently expanding several water quality improvement projects to further enhance its water cleaning efforts:

- The SFWMD Governing Board approved a 4,656-acre expansion of treatment wetlands in southeast Hendry County. Construction of "Compartment C," a $47.5 million investment in restoration, will connect two existing Stormwater Treatment Areas (STA-5 and STA-6) in the EAA and more than double water treatment capability at the site.

- The renovation of Stormwater Treatment Area 5 in Hendry County is enhancing plant growth and water movement through the 8,000-acre treatment marsh.

District crews moved 407,270 cubic yards of soil in STA-5, shaping the land surface more evenly so that a larger area of wetland vegetation can improve the treatment area's ability to remove phosphorus from Everglades-bound waters.

The District's historic plan to purchase land from the U.S. Sugar Corporation represents the next step in improving Everglades water quality, complementing the BMP program with a managed system of storage and treatment to protect Florida's coastal estuaries and to better revive, restore and preserve the fabled River of Grass.

Environmental benefits include:

- Increasing water storage to reduce harmful freshwater discharges from Lake Okeechobee to Florida's coastal rivers and estuaries.

- Improving delivery of cleaner water to the Everglades.

- Preventing tons of phosphorus from entering the Everglades.

- Eliminating the need for "back-pumping" water into Lake Okeechobee.

Lord of all Creation

By Pastor John Hicks

First United Methodist Church

God's wisdom is seen in the making of the elephant.

The four legs of the elephant all bend forward in the same direction.

No other quadruped is so made.

Because of this, elephants, with their great mass, can rise up from a prone position.

Horses rise up from the ground on their two front legs first.

Cows rise from the ground first by their hind legs.

It's amazing how our Creator God has put everything together.

Watermelons have an even number of stripes on them.

Oranges have an even number of segments.

An ear of corn has an even number of rows, and each stalk of wheat has an even number of grains.

Every bunch of bananas has an even number of bananas, and each row decreases by one.

And I've been told that ocean waves roll in on shore twenty-six per minute in all kinds of weather.

Looking around, we can see God in all creation, and realize even more fully that our Lord has an order for His creation so that it will carry out plans and purposes.

How great it is to think about the way our Creator God planned everything so carefully, everything with a plan.

God is all around us, evidenced in His creation.

It brings to mind the words of the great hymn; "O Lord, my God, when I in awe-some wonder, consider all the worlds Thy hands have made, I see the stars, I hear the rolling thunder, Thy power throughout the universe displayed.... When through the woods and forest glades I wander, and hear the birds sing sweetly in the trees.... Then sings my soul, my Savior God, to Thee; How Great Thou art, how great Thou art!"

"For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—His eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that men are without excuse." Romans 1:20.

Conscientiousness!

By Jackie Miller, Evangelist

First Christian Church

Our word "conscience" is derived from two Latin words "con" and "scio". "Con" means "with" and "scio" means "know". From "scio" we have our common word "science".

So, conscience simply means "con-sci-ence", or "know with" or "agree with".

The conscience is a faculty that passes judgment upon a man's own thoughts, feelings, and actions.

These are judged to be either good or bad, depending upon what they are, and how a man has been taught to look upon them.

If a man has been correctly schooled and does right, he has a good conscience.

If he has been correctly taught, but does wrong, he had a bad conscience.

If he has been incorrectly instructed, but acts according to his teaching (which is wrong), he will have a good conscience.

Thus, it was with Paul, who, though he did many things that were right and few things that were wrong, "lived in all good conscience until" the day that he spoke (Acts 23:1).

For a man to have a good conscience or a bad conscience is no accurate measure of his thoughts, feelings, or actions.

A bad conscience is one that has not been honored by the best of man's ability to think, feel, and act as he had been taught that he should.

It is apparent then, that when we call "bad" conscience is one that reproves a man's thoughts and feelings, or actions (or all three) as not being what they should be, and that a "good" conscience is one that approves a man's thoughts, feelings, and actions as being what they should be.

Conscientiousness is having knowledge influenced by the conscience.

It is allowing thoughts only that have been censured by the inner man.

It is permitting feelings only that have been approved by a man's best self.

It is consenting to actions only that have been consented to by one's ideal.

Applied, it is living the way we would secretly wish to live if it were convenient; living the way we would advise others to live.

As far as God is concerned, unless an awakened conscience smites one to act immediately, a man ceases to have a good conscience.

If the conscience smites once, it is conviction, but if he must smite twice, it is condemnation.

Don't forget, that in order for the conscience to be a safe guide, it must be fed the TRUTH!

One can feed his mind falsehoods and thus rest in false security.

Instead of "always letting your conscience be your guide" a much better motto would be "always let THE BIBLE be your guide"!

For Jesus said, "and ye shall know the TRUTH and the TRUTH shall set you free" and "thy word is TRUTH O God."

Revelation: Gifts and challenges, and more than just a book

By The Reverend Samuel S. Thomas, Ph. D.

Saint Martin's Church, Clewiston

People say bad things about growing old.

Try as we may, it's still happening and nobody has come up with an antidote for the outcome.

That seems like how God intended it to be.

However, He has given us some ways to abundant life while we're still on His earth; to use, to savor, to enjoy, to be thankful.

I remember having read in the Bible one of the typical signs of old age.

"Isaac was old, his eyes were so weak he could no longer see (Genesis 27:1)" and Moses being a noted exception; "Moses was one hundred twenty years old when he died, yet his eyes were not weak nor his strength gone (Deuteronomy 34:7)" are two examples.

Eli, who mentored Samuel was described as "very old (1 Samuel 2:22) and "...whose eyes were becoming so weak that he could barely see... (ch. 3, v. 2)" is another reminder that age somehow brings limited vision.

It also brings problems with knees and backs.

In the evolutionary chain of development, one of the last things to be accomplished was walking upright; knees and backs are still in need of perfection.

Ask anyone with a cane or a walker; they can tell you about what wears out first!

Today, there are interventions and replacements that make possible getting around without pain or paralysis.

A T.V. documentary the other evening featured a completely paralyzed scientist sending messages via his computer, monitoring his brain waves and in turn allowing him to compose messages solely by his thoughts.

Another woman controlled a wheel chair through her mental processes only; directing it toward the door of her home and then turning it around.

The fountain of youth is still a myth; but the amelioration of living is ours.

I choose to see it as a gift from God.

The eyes that used to grow dim now see; and sometimes see better than ever before; the limitations of mobility are no longer as limiting, and many walk or even play sports when they were formerly confined.

We are verging on ways of combining our very wishes to move or communicate with electro-mechanical ways to overcome all sorts of handicaps.

Where does God have a place in it all?

I choose to see it as revelation.

In the midst of all of the problems we face; the environment, the economy, the job market, the ongoing wars, the depletion of needed resources, God is making it possible for us to still be around and live well!

He seems to be saying "I'll make your life better, now solve your problems and be able to make full use of the gift of a long and better life here!"

God is saying "Care for my world, stop senseless tragedies, make use of the things you have learned to give you a better life, love one another..." and with it will come a foretaste of Heaven.

God has given us many ways to enjoy it; the rest is up to us!

an RV park on the north side of the structure, and a picnic area and boat ramp are on the south side. Visitors can get to the RV park by way of S.R. 78 on the north side, and they can find the picnic area and boat ramp on the south side from Old Olga Road off of S.R. 80. This summer 2009, the lock was closed for a brief time while a manatee sensor was installed onto the gates. Sometimes tourists are able to see manatees and their calves from the Franklin Lock area.

Traveling further east, manatees and boaters come to the Ortona Lock which was built in 1937 by the Corps of Engineers. The structure is found in the small community of Ortona on the north side of the river. The Ortona Public Use Area is an RV park on the south side, and is commonly known as the Ortona South Campground.

Visitors can find the lock and the Ortona community in Glades County off of S.R. 78. The campground is accessible on the south side of the river by way of S.R. 80. A large boardwalk and observation area let tourists get a nice view of manatees if they are present during their migration.

The Moore Haven Lock is further east another 15.5 miles. It was first built in 1918 when Moore Haven was the new county seat for Glades County. It was reconstructed in 1935, and is part of the historic section in this river city; which is located at the original headwaters to Lake Okeechobee. Manatees have been seen in the area in the spring, and one was sighted in mid-June near the span bridge and Fisherman's Village neighborhood.

Manatees are mammals that live their entire lives in water, and rise to the surface to breathe. They forage in Florida's ocean waters, and migrate to inland fresh water in the winter season. They are also known as sea cows because they are slow moving and graze on aquatic vegetation.

The large sea mammals have front flippers and a broad, flat tail. Some people think a manatee looks like a walrus only there are no tusks. They feed on water plants and rise to the surface about every four minutes to inhale fresh air. A mature manatee can weigh more than one thousand pounds, and grow longer than 10 feet.

These grazing sea cows are protected by federal law, and boaters must be observant because boat propellers will kill or severely maim them. For more information go to www.fwc.com.
