Dead fish at Eagle Lake a natural occurrence

No cause for concern, say officials

By Joyce Marie Taylor
joycemarie.taylor@gafnews.com

Some local fishermen became alarmed when they went out to do a little fishing at Eagle Lake on PotashCorp White Springs owned land this past weekend and saw lots of dead fish floating in the lake. According to Suwannee River Water Management District (SRWMD) and PotashCorp, the dead fish were a natural occurrence due to oxygen deprivation, or perhaps coupled with a natural process called inversion within the lake, and there is no need for concern. PotashCorp Public Relations Manager Mike Williams said on Monday, Sept. 15, that the lake is most likely already reopened to the public.

Erich Marzolf from SRWMD said he was not aware of the specifics related to a fish kill in Eagle Lake, but that an inversion is a reasonable hypothesis for a fish kill following a large storm, such as the one which occurred over Sept. 5-6.

"In deeper lakes, such as Eagle Lake, the water can become stratified during summer, with warmer water at the surface and a much cooler deep layer," Marzolf explained. "The large temperature difference creates a large difference in water density that does not allow these two layers to mix under typical conditions. This deep layer does not come in contact with the surface and does not receive air exchange with the atmosphere. It also does not receive much, if any,

It was a beautiful day in the neighborhood and the weather couldn't have been more perfect for the Inaugural Jennings Peanut Festival, held Saturday, Sept. 13, in the center of town.

A huge crowd turned out to partake of the festivities that included browsing through all the vendor booths, playing carnival games, watching the kids get their faces painted or go for a romp in the bounce house, as well as enjoying the Peanut Pageant. Live music was provided by the band "South Bound". A LifeSouth Bloodmobile was also on hand to accept donations. All donors received a free hat in navy, pink or camo.

Hungry diners came out early for a free pancake breakfast from 9-9:30 a.m. Meanwhile,

The Hamilton County School Board continues to assess the possibility of outsourcing custodial services for all the county schools and have been given presentations from two companies vying for the job; GCA Services Group and Southern Management-ABM.

Senior Sales Director Liz Strunk from GCA Services Group had given a presentation to the board on May 27 and she and other representatives from the company again gave an overview of their proposal at the Sept. 8 meeting of the board. GCA offered an initial bid proposal in May of $407,900, which Superintendent Thomas Moffses said would be a savings of $46,837 to the district, roughly a 10 percent savings of what they are currently spending.

When the project went out for bid later at the

White Springs crunching the numbers

By Joyce Marie Taylor

The town of White Springs, like many other government entities are doing around this time of year, has been holding budget workshops in preparation for hearings and final budget approval for the next fiscal year. The first workshop was held Aug. 19, and a second one was scheduled for Aug. 26, but due to advice from counsel that reasonable notice was not given to the public, the workshop was rescheduled for Friday, Aug. 29.

Grandparents Day at North Hamilton Elementary

On Friday, Sept. 5, North Hamilton Elementary School (NHE) welcomed grandparents of attending students for a special Grandparents Day lunch.

Students enjoyed spending quality time with their grandparents over a delicious lunch of ham and potato casserole, baked ham, mashed potatoes, green beans, sweet peas, rolls, fruit and milk. NHE is grateful for the 125 grandparents who participated in this event, as well as to the entire Jennings community as they continue to support the efforts of the school. This event would not have been possible without the hard work of the outstanding NHE cafeteria staff.

Life in WHITE SPRINGS

By Walter McKenzie

lifeinwhitesprings@gmail.com

I'm told that the biggest crowd ever showed up for the "Old Time Music Weekend" Friday and Saturday night concerts last weekend at the Stephen Foster Park, and that they were well rewarded by some spectacular performances. If you missed it there is still hope, as more good music and other events will be coming to White Springs in the future. The biggest shame would be that you missed it because you "didn't know about it" and that leads me to one of my pet peeves. Why is it that I so often hear people remark, "I wish I had known about that" after they discover that they missed an event or a meeting that took place in their community? It is a problem that easily is solved. First and foremost, read the paper! Newspapers are still the most comprehensive sources of community happenings. For a second source there is the internet, and with a little effort you can sort through all the scrap and find some jewels that are informative. For some folks, nothing short of an engraved invitation delivered to their doorstep will serve as an effective reminder of upcoming opportunities to get out and enjoy life beyond their couch. I guess they will just have to continue wishing they had known about all the events that they will miss. I wish it weren't so because I know that most of us, once we make the effort to be informed about upcoming events and actually attend them, truly do enjoy the fruits of our efforts.

So, in the interest of keeping you informed, here are some upcoming events that you can put on your calendar. "Community Hypnotherapy with Khrys" at the White Springs Yoga Studio will take place from 6-7p.m. on the last Monday of the month on the following dates. September 29, "Creating Prosperity". This session applies prosperity in the holistic sense facilitating an overall prosperous mindset. October 27, "Health and Wholeness". November 24, "Restful Sleep". Seating is limited; for reservations or more information, call Khrys Kantarze at 386-234-0846.

Mayor Helen Miller, stated, "White Springs' budget, like any household budget, is a delicate balance between income and costs, and never easy to attain. For White Springs, much of its potential revenue is lost to adjacent cities and counties where our residents spend their monies for clothing, household items, vehicles and medical care."

The fire department continues to cause concern as the largest cut to their budget was to capital outlay, which the department had been operating off of. Those reserves have diminished and there is no carry-over as in the past.

Funds have been requested to add to the budget for animal control to take care of stray dogs, and a line item for mosquito spraying was removed because that function is provided by the county.

Aug. 29 workshop

Lawrence added a breakdown of salaries and benefits for town employees, and accurate insurance quotes, along with a breakdown of fire department monies. Some of the fire department funds are not being included in the operating budget upon advice from counsel, Lawrence explained, but they will be available for viewing from the public.

The council again went over the budgets for all of the departments and there was much discussion on each, as well as suggestions to come up with a balanced budget.

There were a couple of items that garnered a lot of discussion, one being Police Chief Tracy Rodriquez taking the company vehicle home with her to Jacksonville where she resides. That benefit was included in her $34,500 package when she was offered the job.

Vice Mayor Walter McKenzie said if they took that benefit away from Rodriquez, "we'd be setting ourselves up to put the position in jeopardy."

"We've got a good chief with years of experience, is well accepted throughout the community, and her package is not overpaid," McKenzie said.

Miller added, "In addition, she has recruited an excellent police force and it's a team we're looking at,

as well."

Lawrence, a former police officer, explained that the police chief is basically on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, so he saw no issue with her taking the car home with her.

"It's part of the job," he said.

A second item that evoked even more discussion was whether or not the town intended to lower sewer rates. Some of the council members seemed adamant about lowering rates, but Lawrence reminded them that if they cut sewer revenue, then they would have to make even more cuts to other departments to the tune of about $18,000. Lawrence said the budget was already down to the bare bones and it would be difficult to make any more cuts without raising property taxes.

In the end, Lawrence said the balanced budget summary reflected $1,157,584, down from last year, and is based on projected revenue being down.

"Obviously, our goal will be to look at many different ways of increasing revenue," said Lawrence. "We're doing that almost every day.

First budget hearing

On Tuesday, Sept. 9, the first budget hearing was held, just prior to the regular council meeting. The first reading of the tentative budget ordinance reflected $691,224 in the general fund and $590,986 in the Enterprise fund for a total budget amount of $1,282,210. Additionally, Miller announced a proposed millage rate of 6.0 mills shown in the TRIM notice and Lawrence proposed a millage rate of 4.3691, which is the rolled back rate for 2014. The meeting was recessed until Sept. 15.

Sept. 15 budget hearing

continuation

On Monday, Sept. 15, Lawrence advised council members that appropriations for the general fund were reduced to $677,212 and the Enterprise funds were reduced to $572,466.

Lawrence noted that the new proposed budget reflected a decrease that would allow water/sewer rates to decrease, and that there are no funds left for capital projects for the upcoming fiscal year, which will put the existing five-year capital budget behind schedule. The budget for the 2014-15 fiscal year is $1,249,678, which will take effect Oct. 1, and end Sept. 30, 2015. An ordinance stating as such passed on the first reading.

Lawrence also noted that the town has just applied for a $187,000 grant for road and drainage improvements.

The final budget hearing is set for Sept. 23, at 6:30 p.m. at town hall and the board will cast their final votes on the millage rate and the budget for 2014-15.

HEART MATTERS

In this politically charged season, much is said, many promises made, and insinuations are flying. Telling the truth seems to be little more than a well-worn phrase in a speech. On the other hand, deception is used as a "means to an end" and often not taken seriously as a sin. However, according to the Bible, deception is incredibly dangerous. Proverbs 26:19 addresses this problem: "Like a madman shooting deadly arrows is a man who deceives his neighbor and says, 'I was only joking!'" The Message Bible gives us a contemporary look at this same verse: "People who shrug off deliberate deceptions say, 'I didn't mean it, I was only joking,' are worse than careless campers who walk away from smoldering campfires." In the political world, the status quo is to simply blame someone else for the resulting forest fire. The point made is that deception causes everyone to get burned!

The definition of deceive is to lie; to cause others to accept that which is false as true or valid, while "deceitful" implies the intent to mislead by a false appearance or double-dealing. Leading others to believe you are something you're not, or that you will do something you have no intention of doing qualifies as deceit. It is very interesting that the original Greek word for deceit actually means, "trap". In this context, have you ever felt as though you were "trapped" by someone else's lie? Left holding the bag by someone you thought you could trust? Or maybe you were the one laying the trap to protect yourself or just to get what you wanted. The problem is that while practicing deceit may get you off the "hot seat" immediately, or let you have your way, Psalm 7:15 warns us that "He who digs a hole and scoops it out falls into the pit he has made."

The Bible records several instances of deceivers being caught up in a trap of deception. The 27th chapter of Genesis tells one such story of Jacob deceiving his father, by pretending to be his older brother in order to gain the firstborn's portion of inheritance. It worked. He must have felt quite clever. Fast-forward to chapter 29, and we find the shoe on the other foot. Jacob's future father-in-law deceived him into working seven years for his daughter's hand only to find after the ceremony that it was the wrong woman wearing that wedding dress! Jacob now knew what it felt like to be on the receiving end of deception; he fell into the very pit he scooped out with his own hands!

Practicing deception is wrong because it contradicts the very nature of God. God is truth. By its own definition, deceit lays a trap, but the Bible tells us that the truth will set us free. (John 8:32) Not only are we called to speak the truth, we are also called to be strong enough to hear it. Let's require honesty from those we elect to any office, and not fall into the trap of desiring easy answers to difficult problems...because our hearts matter!

God does not ordain same sex marriage

There is a battle raging in the courts now for Florida to approve same sex marriage. My prayer is that the Church will stand up in unity and cry with a loud voice "No No No", we will not accept that which God does not ordain. As we look at the history of man we see that in the beginning God created man in His own image. Then God said, "Let us make man in Our image, according to our likeness; (Gen 1:26a). Verse 27 says "So God created man in His own image; in the image of God He created him; male and female He created them."

God's creation clearly teaches that He created a man and a woman in His own image to become one and to multiply. God hates homosexuality; and His word is very clear on the subject. What has happened to our society that man chooses to leave God's plan of one man and one woman? What has caused a man to desire another man; a woman to desire another woman; when God's Word is so plainly against it. As I have said before "I believe it is one of the most compelling signs of the soon return of our Lord for His Church." How sad would it be for some who name the name of Christ as their Savior to be caught in such a horrendous sin.

Jesus said in Luke 17 when asked by the pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, one of His answers found in verses 28-29 was "Likewise as it was in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all." The big sin of Sodom was homosexuality. Study Genesis 19 and you will see. I realize that our government supports this sin; more and more so called churches are supporting this move; but know this, if it was a terrible sin for Sodom it is even a worse sin for America because we should know better. Leviticus 18:22; "You shall not lie with a male as with a woman. It is an abomination." In other words God says it is disgusting. It carried the death penalty (Lev. 20:13). Paul wrote in 1st Corinthians 6:9 that homosexuals will not inherit the kingdom of God.

We must remember the thing that God hated in Leviticus and in 1st Corinthians He still hates today. Hebrews 13:8 says: "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever."

I call on every God called Preacher of the Gospel to proclaim to your people what a terrible sin it would be for any state to approve same sex marriage. If you have any doubt, study 2nd Peter Chapter 2. If still in doubt, study Romans Chapter 1; but in verses 24-27 Paul says: "Therefore God also gave them up to uncleanness, in the lusts of their hearts, to dishonor their bodies among themselves, who exchanged the truth of God for the lie, and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever. Amen. For this reason God gave them up to vile passions. For even their women exchanged the natural use for what is against nature. Like wise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust for one another, men with men committing what is shameful, and receiving in themselves the penalty of their error which was due." God's Word speaks for Itself.

OUTTA' THE WOODS

Huntin' season is here!

By Tony Young

Even though you can hardly tell, summer is almost over. Kids have returned to school, football is back on TV, and hunting season has already been going on for a month now in south Florida. Finally, the time of year we've been waiting for is here. And although some of us still have to wait just a bit longer for our season to come in, most of us have already finished our preseason scouting, and we've hung our tree stands along well-traveled deer trails, next to a mature oak that'll soon begin dropping acorns. I don't know about y'all, but I got a bad case of BUCK FEVER!

Hunting season always comes in first in Zone A in south Florida. Archery and crossbow seasons there started Aug. 2. But the boundary line between zones A and C has changed this year.

The new line now begins at the Gulf of Mexico and runs northeast through Charlotte Harbor and up the Peace River until it intersects with State Road 70. The line then follows S.R. 70, running east until it meets U.S. 441 north of Lake Okeechobee. It then follows U.S. 441 south, where it proceeds around the eastern shore of Lake Okeechobee. The line then turns off U.S. 441 and onto S.R. 80 and runs just a few miles before turning east and following County Road 880, running just a few miles before joining back up with U.S. 98/441/S.R. 80/Southern Boulevard until it reaches the Atlantic Ocean.

Zone B, which makes up part of the Green Swamp Basin, lies south of S.R. 50, west of U.S. 441 and the Kissimmee Waterway, north of S.R. 60 and east of the Gulf of Mexico. This year, archery and crossbow seasons there start Oct. 18.

The line that divides zones C and D begins at U.S. 27 at the Florida-Georgia state line (in Gadsden County) and runs south on U.S. 27 until it meets S.R. 61 in Tallahassee. From there, it follows S.R. 61, running south until it hits U.S. 319. There, the line follows U.S. 319, continuing south to U.S. 98. It then runs east along U.S. 98 until it gets to the Wakulla River, where the river becomes the line, heading south until it meets the St. Marks River and continues going downriver until it meets the Gulf.

If you hunt west of that line, you're in Zone D, where archery and crossbow seasons begin on Oct. 25 this year. In Zone C (east of that line), archery and crossbow seasons open Sept. 13.

To hunt during archery season, you'll need a Florida hunting license and an archery permit. During crossbow season, you'll need a hunting license and crossbow permit. If you're a Florida resident, an annual hunting license will cost $17. Nonresidents have the choice of paying $46.50 for a 10-day license or $151.50 for 12 months. Archery and crossbow permits cost just $5 each, and all deer hunters must have the $5 deer permit. Anyone planning on hunting one of Florida's many WMAs must purchase a management area permit for $26.50.

And don't forget to pick up the WMA brochure for the area you wish to hunt, because hunting season dates on many of the areas often differ from zonal dates. You can pick up a copy of WMA brochures at your local tax collector's office or read them at MyFWC.com/Hunting.

During archery season and that part of crossbow season that runs concurrent with archery, you can take both legal bucks and antlerless deer (except for spotted fawns). But after archery ends, during the remaining portion of the crossbow season, only legal bucks may be taken. The daily bag limit on deer is two. Bag limits for deer on WMAs can differ, so check the specifics of the area before you hunt.

You can hunt wild hogs on private lands year-round with no bag or size limits. On most WMAs, there's also no bag or size limits, and hogs are legal to take during most hunting seasons except spring turkey. On a few WMAs though, bag and size limits do apply, so be sure to check the brochure for the specific area to be certain.

It's also legal to shoot gobblers and bearded turkeys during archery and crossbow seasons, assuming you have a turkey permit ($10 for residents, $125 for nonresidents). You can now take two turkeys in a single day on private lands, but the two-bird fall-season limit still applies, and the daily bag limit for turkeys is still one on WMAs. It's against the law to hunt turkeys in Holmes County in the fall, and it's illegal to shoot them while they're on the roost, over bait, when you're within 100 yards of a game-feeding station when bait is present or with the aid of recorded turkey calls.

The archery permit allows you to bow hunt during the archery season. On private property, a crossbow permit enables you to hunt during the crossbow season with either a crossbow or a bow. On WMAs, only hunters with a disabled crossbow permit are allowed to use crossbows during archery season. All bows must have a minimum draw weight of 35 pounds, and hand-held releases are permitted. For hunting deer, hogs and turkeys, broadheads must have at least two sharpened edges with a minimum width of 7/8 inch.

Bo and Luke: A slapstick flashback

Dwain Walden
The Moultrie Observer

A few days ago I saw a television commercial where Bo and Luke Duke were brought back from the "Dukes of Hazzard" to promote some product. Once again they were in "The General" outrunning the law. I don't even recall the product they were hawking, but it made me stop and think about that old programming and just how juvenile it really was — just short of "Scooby Doo."

I never watched but a few of those shows back when they first came on. It seemed to me that this show was designed to entertain people who couldn't figure gas mileage and thought the moon landing was faked and Bigfoot was real.

So this past week I watched bits and pieces of some old "Dukes of Hazzard" episodes. And once again, the same questions and observations popped up.

Did you ever notice that here was a show with two grown men who never had jobs. They didn't sell cars, drive tractors or climb utility poles. They just drove around yelling, "yahooooooooo!"

In every episode, they apparently were suspects in some kind of social malcontent. They were always being chased by Sheriff Roscoe P. Coltrane. So at what point do you become a habitual violator?

Then we have "Boss Hogg." He was the lone commissioner of Hazzard County. So in what state in the union does an elected sheriff of a county answer to one commissioner?

Supposedly, this setting was in north Georgia. Oops! How did the San Rafael Mountains of Southern California get in the background? Go figure.

And apparently there were no fences in Hazzard County. The Duke boys were always running "The General" right out through the woods ... an unlikely occurrence anywhere in Georgia. The roads didn't have ditches. You ever notice that?

I don't recall ever seeing a paved road in any of the episodes. And apparently the county seat didn't have a municipal police force ... kind of like Mayberry I guess.

Every episode had "The General" going airborne at some point, jumping creeks where the bridge was washed out or jumping over a chicken house. I really don't believe that cars have suspension systems that would allow this. Nor would one find that many ramps that just happened to be in the right place to send a vehicle airborne at any given time.

And as many times as the Duke boys got arrested, they never had a lawyer. Again, go figure.

Apparently there was an exception for the Duke boys. With all the high speed chases (every episode) they never seemed to lose their driver's licenses. So how many points did they get on their licenses and who would insure them?

But then most males watching the show had their eyes fixed on cousin Daisy Duke. She wore those patented denim shorts and a skimpy little shirt. The Duke boys could have been driving Fred Flintstone's car and yelling "Yabba Dabba Doo" and most male viewers wouldn't have picked up on that time warp.

But as much lawlessness as was projected in that show, no one ever got shot. The show was narrated by country singer Waylon Jennings so there were few lines for the actors to learn. Bo and Luke always wore long sleeve shirts so the few lines they had could be written right there on them. Daisy didn't need any lines. She had curves.

Oh well, it's all make believe. It's entertainment.

And as lame and slapstick as it was, it still beats the heck out of the Kardashians.

Is the Sabal Trail pipeline necessary?

By Lori McCraney
Suwannee Alliance for Sustainable Growth

I am pleased that the Hamilton County Board of Commissioners has issued a resolution challenging the location of the Sabal Trail pipeline in the vicinity of the Withlacoochee River. Hamilton County resident Chris Mericle did an excellent job of explaining the risks of locating the pipeline in such fragile karst terrain. Sable Trails LLC quickly responded by saying that it will move the crossing to the west, possibly crossing the Suwannee River somewhere near the Suwannee River State Park.

The same problems still exist with tunneling under the Withlacoochee River in Lowndes County, Georgia and tunneling under the Suwannee River at two locations in Suwannee County. As Mr. Mericle explained about drilling under our rivers, "The horizontal directional drilling could intersect spring conduits, affect spring well flows, and ultimately river base flow. Grouting in this cavernous, fractured terrain will likely be ineffective and could contaminate fresh water resources."

The SRWMD recommends that the proposed pipeline route be modified to avoid highly sensitive water resource features, karst topography, and the unconfined drinking water source (the Floridan Aquifer) within the district. The pipeline route runs far beyond the district, through the extensive Florida Springs Protection Area (mapped by the Florida Geological Survey) in northern and central Florida. Excavating a six foot wide, seven foot deep trench through the unconfined aquifer (unprotected from surface water runoff and contamination) could cause sinkholes and threaten the sole source of drinking water and the soul source of spring discharge along its route. Affected landowners will forfeit the use of a 100 foot wide easement across their properties.

A natural gas compression station is also planned for Suwannee County as well as other Florida counties. This is where natural gas will be compressed and cooled. Water and contaminants are removed in this process, creating hazardous waste. Water for testing pipeline integrity will come from the aquifer, will be contaminated in the testing process, and must be handled as hazardous waste, not injected back into the aquifer. Natural gas is highly explosive, and carries contaminants that corrode pipelines.

The parent company of Sabal Trail, Spectra Energy, has a terrible safety record. Spectra Energy has been fined over $15 million for pipeline spills at 89 sites, and is responsible for over $8 million in property damage.

Is the Sabal Trail pipeline necessary? In April, the Environmental Protection Agency sent a 17-page letter to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) that questioned the need for the Sabal Trail pipeline and suggested alternatives like improved energy conservation measures that would allow Florida Power and Light to otherwise meet the power needs of its customers. The recently completed (2011) Southeast Supply Header System was designed as an "alternative natural-gas source during hurricane-related disruptions in the Gulf of Mexico."

The EPA asked why another 36-inch-diameter line is needed so soon after this one just built three years ago, and also said Sabal Trail has not provided documentation nor sufficient information to show a need for the additional diversity and reliability cited.

FPL recently estimated that in 10 years Florida's demand for power will increase approximately 13 percent. But the Sabal Trail pipeline would increase current delivery capability by 33 percent. What would FPL do with the remaining 20 percent? Power companies do not buy and store fuels for future use, they use it or sell it for a profit. So, FPL could sell the excess supply to natural gas exporters who are poised to export liquefied natural gas (LNG) to Europe and Asia. American manufacturers are opposed to exporting LNG. This would drive up the price of domestic natural gas as jobs and consumer benefits are sent abroad along with the fuel. This could reverse the current trend of manufacturing companies returning to America.

The costs of building new gas-powered energy plants, with a Florida PSC-guaranteed Return of Equity averaging 10.5 percent, will be charged to power company customers. The cost of the Sabal Trail pipeline will be fully recovered via the fuel surcharge on customers' bills. Publicly traded utilities have a fiduciary responsibility only to their shareholders, not to their customers or to Florida's citizens. These utilities have everything to gain and nothing to lose, so plants and pipelines will be built whether they are truly needed or not.

The standard argument for the pipeline is that it will be good for Florida's economy, and our local and state representatives are lulled by the vague promise of jobs and tax revenues. But where are the detailed statistics to back up these claims? Pipeline construction jobs are not guaranteed for Florida's workers, and permanent Florida jobs will likely be limited to a few dozen. These energy projects are given significant tax breaks by the federal government, so American taxpayers will take up that tax burden.

Recent studies have challenged the popular theory that fracked methane (natural gas) is a sustainable fuel for the future. About 10 percent of fracked methane gas escapes into the atmosphere as it is extracted. Fracking uses enormous amounts of water and contaminates groundwater. Methane is a greenhouse gas that is 86 times more potent than carbon dioxide. This negates its benefit as a bridge fuel to renewables.

Alternatively, renew-ables are making great strides in providing zero-emissions, affordable energy for our future, and should be the top priority in our nation's energy plan. Why invest billions of dollars in infrastructure for finite fossil fuels that are driving climate change?

There is something you can do to affect the outcomes of these critical issues. Call your local, state and federal representatives and demand a smarter course to a clean energy future. The voices of citizens, when resounded together, can have an impact.

The Sabal Trail pipeline can't be built without approval of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). You can use FERC's e-comment system (<http://ferc.gov/docs-filing/ecomment.asp>) to contact them directly, and anyone who registers there can see all comments. Or you may send e-mail to efiling@ferc.gov, or call 202-502-8258, or mail written comments to: Kimberly D. Bose, Secretary; Federal Energy Regulatory Commission; 888 First St. N.E. Room 1A; Washington, D.C. 20426. Use docket number PF14-1 for the Sabal Trail pipeline.

FERC will be taking comments for a limited time before making its decision. Let's stop the unnecessary and destructive Sabal Trail pipeline before it is too late.

Strunk said, "I enjoyed walking your schools and then participating in the RFP (Request for Proposal) process with you guys. We are the largest provider of custodial grounds and maintenance across the country. We are working with over 315 school districts, colleges and universities right now, but more importantly, we feel like our Florida market is extremely important to you guys as a resource. Right now, we're working with nine different districts in the state of Florida."

Strunk said because of their presence in Florida and their experience with Florida schools, they believe their company can properly maintain the schools in Hamilton County. She said they also have a 98 percent retention rate of clients.

Division Vice President Trey Brock, along with Director of Operations Ryan Brock, Regional Operations Manager Don Thompson and Business Development Manager Keith Baker from Southern Management-ABM were at the Sept. 8 meeting to give their presentation. Thompson, Brock told the board, is a former graduate of Hamilton County High School and his territory is North Florida and Georgia.

Trey Brock said his company often competes with GCA for new accounts. GCA, he added, is a qualified, reputable company and they and Southern Management-ABM offer basically the same type of service.

"I guess you're going to have to make a decision as to who you feel more comfortable with," said Brock. "You have a couple of good options here... a couple of good companies who do quality work."

Southern Management, Brock explained, is the K-12 arm of American Building Maintenance (ABM Industries), a 4.8 billion publicly traded company and has in excess of 115,000 employees with 34 office locations in Florida and Georgia combined. The company has been around for more than 100 years, he said, starting out as a small window washing company in San Francisco.

"We cleaned our first K-12 account 45 years ago," said Brock.

Hamilton County Schools Director of Business Services Mary Loughran and Coordinator of Food and Nutrition Services Ida Daniels were tasked with reviewing both proposals.

"There was two of us who did the tabulations of the bid proposals; Ida Daniels and myself," said Loughran. "They were both very impressive and we did rank them very closely, but overall, the top contender was Southern Management-ABM. They stood out throughout all the information that was provided, so that was the recommendation that Ms. Daniels and I made to the superintendent."

Southern Management submitted two amounts: $398,925 (market value) and $449,803.86 (based on current wages). GCA submitted $516,731 (based on current wages), but did not submit a proposal for market value, according to Moffses' office.

Moffses stated, "Both proposals do save money for the district."

Board member Johnny Bullard said the board was given a lot of information to review from both companies and that he needed more time, perhaps by the next board meeting, before he could feel comfortable making a decision.

"I'm in agreement with Johnny," said board member Jeanie Daniels. "I'm not ready to vote on it. Both presentations were really, really good and I don't want to make a decision like that tonight without going over everything and going through it more thoroughly."

Bullard also said he would like to check references by calling some of the other school districts being served by both companies or even visiting them. Board member Sammy McCoy was in agreement. Moffses said they could table the matter until their next meeting and suggested they go as a group to visit some of the other schools. Dates for the field trip will be decided upon and noticed, Moffses said. The board unanimously voted to table the matter.

sunlight, so there is little oxygen created by algae during photosynthesis. However, there can be considerable respiration by bacteria so that the level of oxygen in this deep layer can drop very low if not to zero."

During the fall and winter as the surface water cools, Marzolf said the density difference between the layers can decline so that the layers slowly begin to mix.

"This slow mixing does not create a rapid decrease in the oxygen level in the surface water," he said. "However, a large storm can create enough wind and inflow of runoff to rapidly mix a stratified lake."

When this inversion occurs, Marzolf said, the quick mixing of low oxygen water can reduce the overall oxygen content below what fish need to survive and a fish kill occurs.

Williams said not all the fish in the lake were killed, just in some isolated, small areas. He said when it is hot, when there is a lot of rain with a lot of cloud cover, it blocks the photosynthesis process and depletes the oxygen in the water. Duckweed, he said, can also consume a lot of oxygen.

The lake, Williams added, is constantly monitored and after the fish kill was reported, all appropriate tests were done to ensure there was nothing more serious going on. The decision to close the lake for a couple of days was to keep the public from being alarmed if they spotted a bunch of dead fish. Williams said the water is safe, and any fish caught in Eagle Lake are safe to eat.

On a positive note, all the other aquatic creatures like alligators, turtles and osprey got to have a nice meal without having to hunt it down, Williams said.

Inaugural festival a hit in Jennings other food vendors were gearing up for the lunch crowd, including Pastor Phillip (PJ) Jackson, who was grilling mouthwatering ribs that were smothered with his wife Lydia's special barbecue sauce, dubbed "A Dab'll Do Ya". PJ says it's the best barbecue sauce around.

The Peanut Pageant drew a large crowd of onlookers as 17 young boys and girls walked across the burlap runway. There were four different age categories; Tiny Peanut King and Queen-3-5 years; Little Peanut King and Queen-6-9 years; Junior Peanut King and Queen-10-12 years; and Mr. and Miss Peanut King and Queen-13-17 years,

Some of the youngsters were shy and bashful knowing there were so many eyes in the audience trained on them, but others were poised and graceful with beautiful smiles and outfits. All of them were unique in their own special way.

An esteemed panel of judges, Laura Dees, Anita Jones and Scott Burns, rated each contestant on beauty and poise, as well as their outfits, along with the all important answer to the question of the day, "What is your favorite peanut product?" The answers varied from peanut brittle to Peanut M&M's, which seemed to be the favorite of many of the contestants.

Once all the judge's votes were tallied, Mistress of Ceremonies Samantha Pruetter announced the winners in each age group. Six contestants walked away with a sparkling crown and a burlap sash... or a hat in the Mister Peanut category, for each of the different age groups.

The winners:

Tiny Peanut King - Easton Register
Tiny Peanut Queen - Haleigh Vargason

Little Peanut King - Andres Vargason

Little Peanut Queen - Stephanie Hasty

These projects partner with local governments, agriculture and industry to protect our springs.

"This funding is critical to accomplish our project goals for springs protection and restoration," says Ann Shortelle, SRWMD executive director. "We genuinely appreciate Governor Scott's and the legislature leadership in making funding available to improve our springs."

These projects will offset existing groundwater withdrawals and reduce nutrients in the Upper and Lower Santa Fe Basins, Middle and Lower Suwannee Basins, Levy Blue, Fanning Springs, and Ichetucknee Springs.

Together, the projects will reduce groundwater use by an estimated 26.5 million gallon per day (MGD). Additionally, nutrient loading to our springs will be reduced by nearly 750,000 pounds per year.

Senator Bill Montford said, "Water is the most critical issue that Florida will face in the next decade, we owe it to our children and grandchildren to give this precious resource the attention it deserves. Every dollar this state puts toward springs restoration is a dollar well invested."

they were entertained by dance routines performed by Fancy Dancer.

"This evening as we kick off our United Way's 2014 community fundraising campaign, we will begin to hear the stories of how our community impact partner agencies create happy endings," said McKee.

Those present also heard from pacesetter companies that conduct their United Way campaign in advance of the kickoff to set the pace for the season.

A video was shown to serve as an introduction and introductory chapter for a trilogy of campaign season events at which agency stories of creating happy endings was shared. McKee thanked TD Bank for their sponsorship of the video and all who helped produce it. He said everyone there has a part in creating happy endings.

"They (happy endings) result from the collective impact of United Way of Suwannee Valley; the affiliated agencies; their staff, boards of directors, and many volunteers," said McKee.

He said it was also a community effort that generously supports the United Way.

PotashCorp White Springs Community Relations Manager Mike Williams announced the goal of raising $500,000 and the challenges of meeting it. Challengers' Club Chair Don Fenneman was asked to come up and give the daily breakdown of what their contributions can do.

"Every contribution is important," said Fenneman. "You may be surprised if you consider whether you could be a member of our United Way's leadership givers, the Challengers' Club; $1.37 a day, the cost of a drink and a snack from the break room vending machines; $9.61 per week, the cost of a fast food meal."

He said their goal for the year was to raise $150,047 (with the $47 signifying the 47th year of UWSV).

At the end of the evening McKee thanked everyone for coming and for helping support United Way of Suwannee Valley, and he looked forward to seeing them at next month's event at Camp Weed.

mils and the voted on additional operating tax levy of 0.25 mills, which brings the total millage amount to 7.390, down from last year's 7.992.

Loughran said, "The Board approved a $13,739,569.09 final budget for the 2014-15 fiscal year, which was adjusted from the advertised tentative budget for 2014-15 of $13,440,762.28, which was approved on July 28."

Those changes, Loughran explained, reflected adjustments made to the budget from that time until the public hearing for the final budget was held on Sept. 8, which included adjustments to salary as the new year shapes up, and for the FEFP second calculation versus the Legislative Run used for the tentative budget.

"The second calculation increased the state funding by $174,493," Loughran said.

Board members voted unanimously to approve each of the tax levies, as well as the budget for the 2014-15 school year.

Multiculturalism is a failure

VIEW

© 2014 Creators Syndicate

BY WALTER WILLIAMS

German Chancellor Angela Merkel declared that in Germany, multiculturalism has "utterly failed." Both Australia's ex-prime minister John Howard and Spain's ex-prime minister Jose Maria Aznar reached the same conclusion about multiculturalism in their countries. British Prime Minister David Cameron has warned that multiculturalism is fostering extremist ideology and directly contributing to home-grown Islamic terrorism. UK Independence Party leader Nigel Farage said the United Kingdom's push for multiculturalism has not united Britons but pushed them apart. It has allowed for Islam to emerge despite Britain's Judeo-Christian culture. Former British Prime Minister Tony Blair said the roots of violent Islamism are not "superficial but deep" and can be found "in the extremist minority that now, in every European city, preach hatred of the West and our way of life."

The bottom line is that much of the Muslim world is at war with Western civilization. There's no question that the West has the military might to thwart radical Islam's agenda. The question up for grabs is whether we have the intelligence to recognize the attack and the will to defend ourselves from annihilation.

Multiculturalism is Islamists' foot in the door. At the heart of multiculturalism is an attack on Western and Christian values. Much of that attack has its roots on college campuses among the intellectual elite who see their mission as indoctrinating our youth. In past columns, I've documented professorial hate-America teaching, such as a UCLA economics professor's telling his class, "The United States of America, backed by facts, is the greediest and most selfish country in the world." A history professor told her class: "Capitalism isn't a lie on purpose. It's just a lie." She also said: "(Capitalists) are swine. ... They're bastard people." Students sit through lectures listening to professorial rants about topics such as globalism and Western exploitation of the Middle East and Third World peoples.

Some public school boards have banned songs and music containing references to Santa Claus, Jesus or other religious Christmas symbols. The New York City school system permits displays of Jewish menorahs and the Muslim star and crescent, but not the Christian Nativity scene. One school district banned a teacher from using excerpts from historical documents in his classroom because they contained references to God and Christianity. The historical documents in question were the Declaration of Independence and "The Rights of the Colonists," by Samuel Adams.

The U.S. is a nation of many races, ethnicities, religions and cultures. Since our inception, people from all over the world have immigrated here to become Americans. They have learned English and American history and celebrated American traditions and values. They have become Americans while also respecting and adapting some of the traditions of the countries they left behind. By contrast, many of today's immigrants demand that classes be taught -- and official documents be printed -- in their native language. Other immigrants demand the use of Shariah, practices that permit honor killing and female genital mutilation.

Multiculturalists argue that different cultural values are morally equivalent. That's nonsense. Western culture and values are superior. For those who'd accuse me of Eurocentrism, I'd ask: Is forcible female genital mutilation, as practiced in nearly 30 sub-Saharan African and Middle Eastern countries, a morally equivalent cultural value? Slavery is practiced in Mauritania, Mali, Niger, Chad and Sudan; is it morally equivalent? In most of the Middle East, there are numerous limits placed on women, such as prohibitions on driving, employment and education. Under Islamic law, in some countries, female adulterers face death by stoning, and thieves face the punishment of having their hand severed. In some countries, homosexuality is a crime punishable by death. Are these cultural values morally equivalent, superior or inferior to Western values?

Multiculturalism has not yet done the damage in the U.S. that it has in western European countries -- such as England, France and Germany -- but it's on its way. By the way, one need not be a Westerner to hold Western values. Mainly, you just have to accept the supremacy of the individual above all else.

Explaining Sensory Processing Disorder

Educators and parents must now be more cognizant today about the various needs of their students and children. The lines between certain learning disabilities and conditions are not always easy to decipher, and this is especially true with a condition known as sensory processing disorder.

Sensory processing disorder, sometimes referred to as sensory integration dysfunction, involves the way the nervous system receives messages from the senses and transforms them into appropriate motor functions and behavioral responses. When a child has SPD, his or her sensory signals are not organized into appropriate responses. This can present challenges when performing everyday tasks, says the Sensory Processing Disorder Foundation. Clumsiness with regard to motor skills, behavioral problems, difficulties in school and anxiety are just some of the conditions that may result from SPD if no treatment is sought.

A person with SPD may find clothing, physical contact or some sort of sensory input, like light or sound, to be uncomfortable, while another may underrespond to certain stimulation, such as not reacting quickly enough to pain. Others with SPD may not have adequate motor skills, leading them to consistently fall or trip. Some people with SPD overly seek out stimulation and sensation to a point where they are often misdiagnosed with ADHD.

Identifying and understanding SPD is essential, as such an understanding can mean the difference between getting the right treatment or being misdiagnosed. Some people with SPD are medicated for other issues, when SPD really is the cause of their problems.

SPD is most common in children, although it can occur in adults. The exact cause of the condition, and other neurodevelopmental disorders, have not been entirely identified. Doctors believe SPD is often inherited and SPD causes are ingrained in DNA. Prenatal and birth complications also have been implicated, and environmental factors may be involved. However, researchers believe SPD is the result of factors that are both genetic and environmental.

An accurate diagnosis of SPD means that most children will be treated with some form of occupational therapy. Listening therapy and other therapies may be combined. Therapy may take place in a sensory-rich location that is challenging but fun. Additional support may be needed in the classroom for school-aged children. Because kids with SPD have brains that are wired differently, they may require different approaches to learn their lessons. The disorder does not make them any less intelligent; it just means lessons need to be tailored to meet their needs.

The best course of action is to ask a doctor to conduct tests to determine if a child has SPD.

Research shows that families who work together with educators, therapists and other family members have the highest levels of success with regard to making life easier for someone with sensory processing disorder. Furthermore, parents who suspect their child has SPD can refer to this checklist, which is available at www.sensory-processing-disorder.com/sensory-processing-disorder-checklist.html. A child may not exhibit all signs of SPD, but the list can be a good starting point for conversations with a doctor.

Around the Banks of the Suwannee

By Correspondent
Johnny Bullard

"The Long Hot Summer" is more to us who live around the Banks of the Suwannee than the title of a movie based upon a Tennessee Williams play. We live the meaning of it for close to half a year, but things really "turn up" on the thermometer during late July and the month of August. Well, some people raised here might not recognize a change in the weather, but if you've lived here, and North Florida summers are familiar to you, you can detect at least a "feeling in the air", that in the words of the old tune sung by the late Sam Cooke: "A Change is Gone Come".

The first official day of autumn will "come in" on Tuesday, Sept. 23, and while it's not time just yet to pull out your flannel and corduroy, at least there is a promise for you that the day may come sooner rather than later.

Fall is my favorite of all seasons... when, with the first breath of cool air after a long, hot summer, autumn kisses the Suwannee Shore. Even though now we are love bug infested and the curtain of heat and humidity is still upon us as familiar as our own skin, we can take heart and know that some relief is on the way.

I have a childhood friend who lives up in Toronto, Canada, and with the technological advances of Facebook, we can share in the various seasons in various places all around the world. This friend recently posted a photo of a fire burning in his fireplace, cheery and bright, as well as some photos of turning leaves in his newly adopted city. I smile, at times, reading his posts, as well as viewing his photos. He is in charge of tourism and its marketing and outreach for Toronto, Canada, and travels all over the world promoting the city, and yet, he still expresses excitement when he is able to run into the food truck purveyor who sells the "best soul food in the city". You can take them to town and dress them up and polish them up, but once this North Florida sand is in their shoes, it's hard to "shake it out".

Fall in our homeland... football games, bonfires, homecoming parades, church homecomings, carnivals, festivals, Trick or Treat, Halloween, Thanksgiving, pumpkins, sweet potato pies, dried corn stalks, orange, amber, deep reds, jewel tones, mist rising from the breast of the old slowly moving black river, the Suwannee, as she ceaselessly makes her way to the sea. The musical sounds of hunting hounds cutting the North Florida air with a song that is old and familiar.

Don't put your shorts away just yet but cooler weather is "a coming" and it's closer than it has been. Fall is the season that brings a whole new life to our part of the world, puts a little pep in our steps, and makes us feel a little bit better. Get out and enjoy it. There's a lot to do... a lot to enjoy, and so much of the beauty of what is great about our part of the world can be found very close to us; wonderful state parks, hiking trails, visits to area festivals and concerts, happenings...

Here in my home of White Springs, there are three or four events that for me, at least, always mark the fall season: Annual Homecoming at Swift Creek Church, Sunday, Sept. 28. Swift Creek United Methodist Church, now Swift Creek Church, about four miles north of White Springs, off US 41, near Facil, is said to be the second oldest Protestant Church in the state of Florida. The Swift Creek Homecoming Committee does a great job keeping this tradition alive, and this year will be no exception. Come join many who gather near the banks of Swift Creek, as they have since the church was established in 1821. The homecoming begins around 10:45 a.m. Sing, listen to the sermon, or walk across the road to the historic cemetery bearing members of some of Florida's pioneer families who figure prominently into the establishment of the Sunshine State.

Saturday, Oct. 4, White Springs United Methodist Church will host its annual garage/yard/jumble sale from 7:30 a.m. until... at the church fellowship hall. Come join us for this annual event. Everything is sold from "soup to nuts" and this year, you can purchase breakfast and enjoy it before you venture out on your shopping trip among tables and tables of all kinds of treasures.

On that same date, Saturday, Oct. 4, the oldest special event at Stephen Foster Folk Culture Center, the 63rd annual "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair and Stephen Foster" Auditions at Stephen Foster Folk Culture Center State Park, beginning at 10 a.m. This event, sponsored by the Florida Federation of Music Clubs and recognized by ASCAP, American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, as one of the most outstanding events of its kind in our part of the world is held annually on the east lawn of the historic Stephen Foster Museum, weather permitting, and if inclement weather, inside the historic museum or tower. It is a wonderful musical event celebrating American music and particularly that of Stephen C. Foster, who composed Florida's state song "Old Folks at Home", better known to many as "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River". He never saw the river, but he surely immortalized it, and we are eternally grateful to him in this part of the world.

Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park has several festivals during the fall of the year. Go to their website or pay attention to your local papers. I enjoy so much their ongoing Bluegrass Radio Program, which is broadcast on 98.1 FM, live from the park, each Saturday at 3 p.m. with Dr. Don Miller and Charles Cornett. It is just a "taste" of "home" to me, at least. Tune in and enjoy. Great bluegrass music, announcements of local events, and some great "down home" humor. I love this program.

Well, I've rambled here, there and everywhere, and don't know that I've hemmed a thing up. My daddy used to say about folks who were bow legged, "Did you see how bowed those legs were? He couldn't hem a hog in a ditch, poor thing." Well, I may have been there with this column this week.

Anticipation and the blessings of the coming fall season, wonderful events that are so dear to us here in our home; church, music, family, laughter. That's what the fall is in our part of the world and that's who we are as a people.

Get out and enjoy this beautiful time of the year, as we enjoy the blessings of each season here in our beloved home "Around the Banks of the Suwannee".

From the Eight Mile Still on the Woodpecker Route north of White Springs, wishing you a day filled with joy, peace, and above all, lots of love and laughter. So blessed to be in the number, "one more time".

A Healthier You

By Johnny Bullard
Florida Department of Health-Hamilton County

"I'm walking, yes indeed."
"Walking to New Orleans."
"Walk on By."
"Walk hand in hand with me through all eternity."

No, we are not talking about song lyrics this week. We are here to discuss something that more than 145 million adults across America are doing: including walking as part of a physically active lifestyle.

More than 6 in 10 people walk for transportation, or for fun, relaxation or exercise, or for activities, such as walking the dog. The percentage of people who report walking at least for 10 minutes or more in the previous week rose from 56 percent (2005) to 62 percent (2010).

Physical activity helps control weight, but it has other benefits.

Physical activity such as walking can help improve health even without weight loss. People who are physically active live longer and have a lower risk of heart disease, stroke, Type 2 diabetes, depression, and some cancers.

• Improving spaces and having safe places to walk can help more people become more physically active. Aerobic activities like brisk walking, running, swimming and bicycling make you breathe harder and make your heart and blood vessels healthier.

• Americans need more physical activity, as less than half of all adults get the recommended amount of physical activity.

• Adults need at least (150 minutes) a week of aerobic activity. This should be at a moderate level, such as a fast paced, walk for no less than 10 minutes at a time.

• Women and older adults are not as likely to get the recommended level of weekly physical activity.

• Inactive adults have higher risk for early death, heart disease, stroke, Type 2 diabetes, depression and some cancers.

• Regular physical exercise helps people get and keep a healthy weight.

• Walkable communities result in more physical activity.

• More people are walking now, but just how many more depends on where they live, their health and their age.

• The West and Northeast regions have the highest percentage of adults who walk compared to other regions of the nation, but the South has shown the largest percent increase of adults who walk compared to other regions.

• More adults with arthritis or high blood pressure are now walking, but not those with Type 2 diabetes.

• Walking increased among adults 65 or older, but less than in other age groups.

• People need safe, convenient places to walk.

• People are more likely to walk and move about more when they feel protected from traffic and safe from crime and other hazards.

• Maintaining surfaces can help people who walk from falling and getting hurt. This also helps wheelchairs and strollers and is safer for people with poor vision.

• People need to know where places in the communities exist that are safe and convenient.

• Walking routes in and near neighborhoods encourage people to walk to shops, for buses, trains, and trolleys.

• State or local governments can:
• Consider walking when creating long-range community plans.

• Consider designing local streets and roadways that are safe for people who walk and other road users.

• Consider opportunities to let community residents use local school tracks or gyms after classes have finished.

• Make sure existing sidewalks and walking paths are kept in good condition, well lit and free of problems such as rocks, trash and fallen tree limbs.

• Promote walking paths with signs that are easy to read, and route maps that the public can easily find and use.

Employers can:
• Create and support walking programs for employees.

• Identify the walking paths around or near the workplace and promote them with signs and road maps.

• Provide places at work to shower or change clothes when possible.

Individuals can:
• Start a walking group with friends and neighbors.

Healthiest Weight

• Help others walk more safely by driving the speed limit and yielding to people who walk.

• Use crosswalks and crossing signals when crossing streets and not jay-walk.

• Participate in local planning efforts that identify the best sites for walking paths and sidewalks.

• Work with parents and schools to encourage children to walk to school where safe.

All of the above suggestions are made by the Federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. Walking is an exercise that is available to most of us and can lead, as you have read, to "A Healthier You". So "Walk on By"...and keep walking, walking, walking to your "Healthiest Weight" and "A Healthier You", because you are worth it.

Georgia country artist wins Florida State 2014 Country Showdown at the Music Park

After months of competition in the largest country music talent search in America, Florida selected its winner Sept. 13 at The Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park & Campground (SOSMPC) in Live Oak.

With six acts - three solo singers from Florida, one band from Florida, and a duo and one solo singer from Georgia - judges had their work cut out for them as these were the best of the best out of hundreds who competed in the earlier stages of this annual contest. The winner - Nate (Nathaniel) Kenyon, 24, a singer, songwriter, guitarist of Baxley and Statesboro, Ga., who had earlier won the WAAC of Valdosta, Ga. competition - was absolutely overjoyed and stunned to hear his name called as the winner.

Kenyon, a young man who searched for his place in the music world for years, realized he belonged in country about a year ago during a song writing session with a friend. Before that day was over, he knew what his heart had been telling him all along, he belonged in country music! Living in Statesboro, Ga. at the time, Kenyon made some quick decisions. "The next day I quit my job and moved home to Baxley with my family," Kenyon said in an earlier interview. "I wrote an album, cut it with Ben Wells with eight songs and never looked back." Since then he's been building his fan base in country music, entertaining everywhere he can and loving every minute of it! For Kenyon, this win almost didn't happen, according to friends. Kenyon became very ill earlier in the week of competition and wasn't sure he would be able to perform. After a visit with the doctor and some really good care, he did make it - all the way to the win!

Kenyon received a check for $1,000 presented to him by WQHL's Stevie D on behalf of the Country Showdown. He will now move on to the Regional competition Nov. 22 where winners from eight states, including his home state of Georgia, will compete for the one winner's slot. If he wins there, Kenyon will go to the Grand Ole Opry Stage Jan. 21, 2015 where he would compete with four other Regional winning acts from across America for the grand prize of $100,000 and the title of The Best New Artist in Country Music! Watch for exciting news about the Southeast Regional competition and where it will be held coming to you very soon!

Other artists competing in the state contest were 309C Band of Palatka, Fla. (WQHL 98.1 Live Oak, Fla.), Angelia Marsaglia of Marco Island, Fla., soloist (WOKC/Okeechobee, Fla.), Jennifer Johnson of Pensacola, Fla., soloist (WKNK/Panama City Beach, Fla.), Kurt Stevens of Tallahassee/Vero Beach, Fla., soloist (WAVW/Port St. Lucie, Fla.) and Amy & Alex Brooker of Albany, Ga., duo (WKAK/Albany, Ga.). All gave wonderful performances and were among the many who congratulated Nate Kenyon on his win.

The Jackson Lawrence Band, fresh off a tour with Jason Aldean, was the house band backing up the soloists and played during intermissions at the Florida finals.

WQHL 98.1 of Live Oak, Fla. Momin' Ride Momin' Host Stevie D was the emcee for the event and did an outstanding job. Stevie D is also the emcee for all WQHL Country Showdown shows held at The SOSMPC.

Trojans dominate Chiefland

Submitted

The Trojans took on the Chiefland Indians Friday night at home and defeated them 33-7. The single A contest (the first of the season for the Trojans, having played AAAA Fort White and AAAAA Suwannee in the first two games) pitted the Indians, ranked sixth in some polls, against the Trojans, not ranked at this time.

The Trojans defense stepped up again, giving up only 25 yards rushing in the first half and shut down the running game of Chiefland. The Indians were held to 150 yards of total offense on the night. Even the young players who played in the fourth quarter stepped up and stuffed the Indians.

With 4:45 left in the first quarter, Kentwan Daniels, junior quarterback for the Trojans, rambled seven yards for a touchdown with the point after kick by Santiago Granados good, making the score 7-0. The defense continued to stuff Chiefland, led by Travion Weary, Cornelius Lanier, Malik Randolph, Ethan Land, Darrell Walker, Jesse Alsing, Deangelo Robinson and others. DeMarco Webb on a four yard run, capped a drive to give the Trojans a 13-0 halftime lead after there was some problem with the placement of the ball for the point after. Ridge Cone attempted to run the ball in for two, but was stopped by Chiefland.

Three minutes into the third quarter, Kentwan Daniels ran for three yards to score the third touchdown of the night for the Trojans and Granados kick was good making the score 20-0. The Indians woke up and after a Trojan turnover and 15 yard penalty pushed their only score of the night into the endzone on a two yard run. The point after kick was good.

With two minutes to go in the third quarter, Malik Randolph scored from one yard out and Granados made the kick again, making the score 27-7.

In the fourth quarter, Kentwan Daniels hit LaMarcus Webb on a 71 yard strike for the final touchdown. The pass play was well thrown and Bud "Lamarcus" Webb outran all defenders. The point after kick failed.

Defensively, the Trojans forced the Indians to punt seven times in the first quarter, setting the tone for the night. An interception by Darrell Walker with a great return set up one of the Trojan touchdowns. Ethan Land almost had another interception when he batted the ball up and almost caught it. Jesse Alsing caused a fumble to give the offense the ball back on one drive as well.

The offensive line, led by seniors Hunter Hill, Kaleb Sadler, Marcus Williams and helped by junior Amaad Gandy, and Sophomore Fabian Reid, accounted for 322 yards of offense averaging 7.5 yards per play.

The Trojans host Maclay this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at home. The defense will be tested, as the AAA Maclay Marauders put up 34 points against the number four ranked Lafayette Hornets. Come out and support your team.
