Girl isn't only one with big heart

Folks pitch in to make hog sale proceeds – which she'll donate – a sizeable sum.

By DEREK GILLIAM
dgilliam@gmail.com

The little girl with the big heart got $26 per pound for her 270 pound pig at the County Fair Youth Swine Sale. At her request, the $7,020 will be donated to Shands Children's Heart Unit.

After the hog sold, 13-year-old Ansleigh Summers, who herself suffers from a serious heart ailment, was too excited to sleep. Her grandmother, Janice Summers, said she didn't get to bed until 2 a.m. Friday.

"I wasn't expecting half of that," Janice Summers said. "It's just unreal."

She said she was stuck at home sick the night of the sale. She said 26 people pooled their money together and made it all possible. She said the donations ranged from $4 or $5 a pound down to 50 cents a pound.

Bob Smith, a ring man at the county fair for 16 years, was there. He helped collect the bids.

"Our little close-knit community all chipped in," he said. "It makes you proud to be part of a community that helped make that happen."

Rachael Ray donates $500K for Sandy pets

LOS ANGELES — Rachael Ray is donating $500,000 to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to help pets and families who are struggling to rebound from Superstorm Sandy.

Ray

The Emmy-winning chef said Friday that her pet food brand, Nutrish, is also shipping 4 tons of wet and dry dog food for Sandy animals, and her Yum-o! organization is donating $100,000 to City Harvest and the Food Bank for New York City.

"When you make your living in food, you have to give back in the same way," the host of "Rachael Ray," the syndicated CBS Television show, said.

The ASPCA had rescued more than 250 animals and treated or provided supplies to nearly 6,000 in New York City and Long Island. It will use the money to lease a building that can be used as a central shelter for Sandy animals and to continue searching for lost pets, provide mobile veterinary services and hand out supplies.

The donation is the largest single gift made by Rachael's Rescue, whose nearly $4 million in donations to date are funded by the sale of Nutrish products.

"I hope this becomes a center of very happy endings," Ray said.

Madonna fan guilty resisting arrest

NEW YORK — A former firefighter with a crush on Madonna has been convicted of resisting arrest outside her former New York City apartment building as he spray-painted poster boards with love notes.

Madonna

A jury delivered its verdict Friday in Robert Linhart's trial. He could face up to a year in jail.

Defense lawyer Lawrence LaBrew told the New York Post that Linhart will appeal.

Linhart was arrested in September 2010. Police say he parked his SUV outside the singer's Manhattan apartment, laid out a tarp and wrote out such messages as "Madonna, I need you."

Jurors told the Post they felt it was fine for Linhart to express himself to the Material Girl. But they said they believed police testimony that he resisted arrest by flailing his arms.

State GOP picks speaker designate

TALLAHASSEE — Republicans have wasted no time replacing Rep. Chris Dorworth as their choice for Florida House speaker in 2014-16.

They announced that Rep. Steve Crisafulli will be the new speaker-designate on Monday, immediately after a hand recount confirmed Dorworth's defeat at the polls.

Democratic lawyer and retired firefighter Mike Clelland wound up 146 votes ahead of Dorworth. Both District 29 candidates are from Lake Mary in central Florida.

Clelland had a slim 37-vote lead when regular ballots were counted Tuesday. That expanded to 123 votes after provisional ballots were counted Thursday, and then to 140 after a machine recount Sunday.

Dorworth last week wrote a farewell letter to fellow House Republicans, saying he did not expect the recounts to change the results.

Groups call for more early voting

TALLAHASSEE — Labor unions and other liberal groups are urging that Florida expand early voting days and sites.

They proposed several recommendations Monday in response to long lines for early voting as well as on Election Day and delays in getting ballots counted in last Tuesday's election.

Sen. Oscar Brayon, a Miami Gardens Democrat, said he would sponsor legislation based on the recommendations.

They also include proposals that local election officials be given more discretion to select early voting sites and that they dedicate more resources and voter assistance, including translators, for early voting.

The groups want to return to 14 days of early voting. The Republican-led Legislature reduced it to eight days. Critics said that was an attempt to suppress voting by Democrats who vote early in larger numbers that Republicans.

Twin toddlers die in home fire

NEW PORT RICHEY — Authorities said twin toddlers have died in a fire at their mobile home in the Tampa Bay area.

The Pasco County Sheriff's Office reported that the 3-year-old children were home with their mother when the fire started Monday morning. The mother was taken to a hospital.

The victims' names were not immediately released. Authorities said the toddlers were a boy and a girl who were fraternal twins.

Neighbors said two older children who also lived in the home were at school.

One neighbor said the children's mother was trying to extinguish the flames with a garden house. Other neighbors tried to pull out the home's air conditioning unit to try to reach the children.

Fire officials said flames coming out all the windows made a rescue impossible.

25 families displaced by blaze

PLANTATION — The state fire marshal says careless smoking sparked a fire that displaced 25 families living in a South Florida apartment building.

Battalion Chief Joel Gordon said an occupant in the Plantation apartment where the fire started admitted he had been smoking. Gordon told the Sun Sentinel that the resident's attempt to extinguish the fire himself delayed a call to 911.

Officials said the fire was confined to two apartments. At least seven other apartments in the three-story building were damaged by smoke and water.

Boater finds floating body

FORT WALTON BEACH — Authorities said no foul play is suspected in the death of a man whose body was found floating in the waters off the Florida Panhandle.

The Northwest Florida Daily News reported that a boater found the body of 24-year-old David Burch Jones on Saturday in the waters off Fort Walton Beach.

Okaloosa County Sheriff's Office spokeswoman Nicole Wagner said an initial examination of Jones' body revealed nothing unusual.

Ex-ICE chief gets prison sentence

WEST PALM BEACH — A former top U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement official in South Florida has been sentenced to 70 months in prison on a federal child pornography conviction.

Anthony Mangione faced a minimum of five years in prison after pleading guilty in July to using his home computer to receive and transmit images of minors engaged in sexually explicit conduct.

Mangione ran ICE's South Florida operations from 2007 to 2011, including numerous child pornography investigations.

Community Concerts of Lake City will bring The Raleigh Ringers to town on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The concert will be held at the Levy Performing Arts Center on the campus of Florida Gateway College.

The concert is the first of six concerts the Community Concerts of Lake City will host this year.

The Levy Performing Arts Center holds 500 people, and Murdock expects a big crowd.

The Raleigh Ringers have recorded five CDs and a DVD of a holiday concert that was broadcast in 44 states, according to the Raleigh Ringers website.

Murdock said the group has one of the most extensive collections of bells and bell-like instruments of any hand bell ensemble in the world.

"Not only do you get to hear the music you get to see it being made," he said.

Tickets cost $20 for an adult or $5 for a student in kindergarten through 12th grade. They will be available one hour before the show at the lobby ticket table.

Clubhouse complete

Renovations to the clubhouse of the Woman's Club of Lake City finally are finished.

On Thursday, the Woman's Club and Garden Club — which share the clubhouse — held a ribbon-cutting ceremony and showed off the renovations.

The renovation began three years ago, starting with the kitchen, said Rosemary Coleman, president of the Garden Club.

The renovations continued with new windows and new siding. Then came improvements to the porch.

The clubs tried to raise money for the renovations by selling bricks along the walkways and on the front porch. The bricks have the names of people who donated money.

The donations weren't enough. There's still $37,000 left to pay for the renovations, Coleman said.

OUR OPINION

Ansleigh, you're an example for us all

We've used this space before to extoll the virtues of young people whose acts of charity or kindness belie their years.

Today we turn our attention to 13-year-old Alsleigh Summers, a young girl who suffers from cerebral palsy as well as a serious heart condition.

As documented in a Sunday, Nov. 4 article in this newspaper, Ansleigh decided to donate all proceeds from the sale of her hog at the county fair to the heart clinic at Shands UF.

She wanted to help other kids just like her.

Well, word spread and folks pitched in to make that donation a sizeable one. The hog fetched $26 a pound. Ansleigh will be able to give the good doctors at Shands more than $7,000.

Thanks, Ansleigh.

You're an example to us all.

And thanks as well to all the folks who pitched in to make her gesture all the more special.

Petraeus: What a waste

Dale McFeatters
mcfeattersd@shns.com

There is this to be said about Gen. David Petraeus' resignation after 38 years of exceptional service to this country: What a waste.

Petraeus was the model of what the modern military is seeking in its top officers: a combination of warrior, leader, diplomat and scholar with a doctorate from Princeton. It is not exaggeration to say he was the nation's most esteemed military leader.

Driven to succeed both militarily and intellectually, he became a brigadier general at 46, successfully oversaw the "surge" that allowed us to extricate ourselves from Iraq, moved on to U.S. Central Command that oversees global U.S. military operations and then at the behest of President Barack Obama accepted what was effectively a demotion to take over the faltering U.S. effort in Afghanistan. (Curiously, he replaced another general who had to resign in disgrace.)

In September 2011, again at Obama's behest, he returned to Washington to take over the CIA. His resume and careful cultivation of Congress led to speculation of a political future, if not as a presidential candidate certainly as a running mate.

Sometime after his return, according to emerging accounts, he took up with Paula Broadwell, 40, a West Point graduate and Army reserve officer who had written a glowing biography of Petraeus.

The affair came to the attention of the FBI when Broadwell sent threatening emails to a friend of the Petraeus family whom she apparently perceived as a threat. The FBI found that there had been no laws broken and no threat to national security but reported the affair to Director of National Intelligence James Clapper who immediately advised Petraeus to resign, which he did.

An ordinary politician might have been tempted to ride it out, with the obligatory confessional press conference, the wronged wife standing stoically in the background and a boilerplate plea "to put this incident behind us, give my family the privacy to heal and get on with the work of this great country."

Petraeus had no choice but to resign. The country, including several of its presidential commanders in chief, may find the military's adherence to a code of honor and fidelity quaint, but the uniformed services do not. Petraeus was nothing if not a soldier.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Worried about nation's direction

To the Editor:

I must congratulate the Lake City Reporter on an excellent-Sunday editorial page. On the left, appropriately, is a hilarious editorial reprinted from the Miami Herald, that I presume the LCR agrees with. The editorial states the election is all about our being "sick of gridlock and extreme partisanship." The president and Congress must work together! Are you kidding me!! Our country is broke, our nation's credit has been devalued and our lawmakers are supposed to come together, raise taxes and spend more? Again?

On the right is a more sobering column by Star Parker, in which she invites Republicans (and everyone else) to recognize the reality of a nation where "not being white, not being married, not having traditional values on family, sex and abortion — is becoming the rule." In the first place, people of all backgrounds have always been welcome to work and become successful in America. Being a minority among fellow hard-working Americans is not an issue for a white person or anyone else for that matter. However, being expected to support moral decay and fiscal dependency is another matter entirely.

There are extremely hard-working Americans of all colors and backgrounds, from the west side of Lake City to the east, from north to south. These Americans are trying to support their families only to see politicians — of all parties by the way — plunge this nation into unrecoverable debt to buy votes by paying people to live out of wedlock, to have babies, to abort their babies, to not work and to buy beer and lottery tickets with food stamps.

Let's be clear: Americans have been and always will be the first to help someone in need. But this nation has just allowed the dependency constituency to elect Santa Claus and institutionalize the "gimmee" mentality. The next four years are going to be very interesting, indeed. When will the free stuff run out? Anyone, ANYONE, with a Columbia County business license or with a job, trying to survive in this age, is rightfully worried about the direction our country is headed.

My fellow veterans, I salute your sacrifice to this once great nation of ours. I am embarrassed that you have to watch, helplessly, as it decays into fiscal and moral ruin.

Ellisville

'Rags' flying at VA Medical Center

To the Editor:

Been by the VA Medical Center lately — like this morning? I see they have put up the rags, I mean flags, again this morning. Wadded up, dirty, jammed up into trees, faded. This his how we honor veterans and yesterday was Veterans Day, Nov. 11. Or is this just another holiday and these are just "bunting" for decoration?

Such careless disregard and disrespect of our national flag. They were not up over the weekend — Nov. 10, the United States Marine Corps birtdhay — and when they had their little veterans ceremony out front of the VA Medical Center; nor were they up yesterday, on Veterans Day. I suppose we are simply celebrating the government taking a day off. The rags ... er, flags ... do imitate the reality of that.

There is no shame. It were better to not display than to do it wrong.

R.D. Erickson,
Lake City

America is no more

To the Editor:

On Nov. 6, 2012, I relinquished my God-given freedom for free stuff. I put the Bible, prayer, Ten Commandments, United States Constitution and the Bill of Rights away for good for free stuff. I ushered in more abortion, homosexuality, government control of my life, for free stuff.

I unhinged all regulation on aliens so they can flood into America for free stuff. I put my approval on hating wealthy people for free stuff. I joined the crowd to hate Israel and embrace our enemies for free stuff. I blotted out all the brave men and women that gave their lives at Bastogne, Burma, Anzio, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Vietnam, Iraq, Afghanistan and other places for America's freedom for free stuff.

The takers outvoted the producers. If you voted for Barack Obama for president on Nov. 6, 2012, you did it for free stuff. There is no other possible reason.

America is no more.

We must do more as troops return

On Veterans Day, we symbolically repaid the debt we owe our troops. I believe, however, that we have a heavier debt to pay now than in the past because our soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines are volunteers. Conscription ended in 1975.

Yes, we have a moral obligation to demonstrate our gratitude for the sacrifices of our warriors. But there is another important reason for showing our gratitude, one that gets little attention in the media.

"To suggest that efforts to support our veterans with meaningful jobs and education are based solely on repaying a debt is both limited and dangerous," wrote Mike Haynie and Robert Murrett for the Christian Science Monitor. "Instead, it's critical for policymakers, politicians, and most important, the American public to understand that the support and care of wounded warriors, veterans and military families is also a national security imperative if the United States is to maintain an effective all-volunteer force."

Haynie, a former Air Force officer, is executive director and founder of the Institute for Veterans and Military Families at Syracuse University. Murrett is a retired vice admiral in the Navy, former director of the National Geospatial Intelligence Agency and deputy director of the Institute for National Security and Counterterrorism at Syracuse University.

They argue that the efforts of the various branches to attract new service members may fail if potential recruits continue to see today's veterans return from battlefields only to struggle to find jobs, medical care and affordable housing.

And what are potential volunteers to think when they hear of hundreds of veterans committing suicide each year? Who will believe the ads promising the "good life" for having served the nation?

Haynie and Murrett point out that the National Security Strategy, the comprehensive blueprint for protecting the nation, has determined that all of our resources are crucial to national security. Our troops are a vital resource. Therefore, we must rededicate ourselves to supporting them and their families. ...

Many of us came of age under the watchful guidance of the "greatest generation," a generation of veterans supported by citizens and communities that intimately understood the role that those veterans had played in our national defense," Haynie and Murrett wrote. "That same understanding doesn't exist today .... Public discourse related to the support of our veterans and military families must be broadened to include how and why supporting our returning veterans with jobs, health care, education, and community is a duty and responsibility that goes far beyond repaying a debt.

"It's about keeping us safe, and paying forward on an obligation to future generations of Americans."

national training competition. The event is designed to give the public an opportunity to see the results of wild horses becoming trained mounts. The purpose of the Extreme Mustang Makeover is to showcase the beauty, versatility and trainability of the rugged horses that roam freely on public lands throughout the West, where they are protected by federal law.

Sylvia is a 5-year-old, wild mustang that was captured in California in September 2010. Cargo-Ogburn met and picked up Sylvia on Aug. 3 from Pauls Valley, Okla.

"We drove out there and picked her up," she said. "The horse has never been touched. She's a completely wild animal — never been touched by humans whatsoever. I have until Nov. 16 to train her, to ride and run barrels because it's the Extreme Mustang Makeover Barrel Slot Race."

If Ogburn wins the competition, she has a chance of collecting at least $20,000.

Cargo-Ogburn, 34, who has been a working with horses her entire life, was one of 25 trainers selected from across the country to compete.

During the 90-day training period, the mustangs are trained for barrel slot racing. There are three components to the training that will be just in the competition — mustang maneuvers for 30 points; an exhibition barrel run for 30 points and barrel slot racing, based on time, for 40 points.

Carg-Ogburn named the mustang Sylvia, after a friend who died in June.

"The first 30 days of training was based on ground work, teaching her how to pick up her feet, load, lead, tie and bathe — and touch her," Cargo-Ogburn said. "The first day I went out there to touch her, she ran around me like I was a cougar coming to get her. The first 30 days was based on just letting her know I was not going to kill her and teaching her to saddle. The first time I saddled her, she jumped out of the riding pen."

Cargo-Ogburn then committed herself to spending time with Sylvia each day, and soon the two formed a bond.

"After 30 days, and I'm talking about being out here 10 to 15 times a day working with her, just putting my hands on her and touching her and letting her get that trust," Ogburn said. "I had to build a relationship with her, and on day 30 that I had her here. We were riding her for the first time."

After that, it took 60 straight days of work to prepare her for competition.

Sylvia is normally ridden two to three times a day in short intervals.

"I had to teach her all these things in just a short amount of time, but it goes to show how smart they (mustangs) are," Cargo-Ogburn said. "They are extremely intelligent animals, and once they have that trust for you, you can asked them to walk through fire for you and they will. They are pretty amazing animals — a lot different from a domesticated horse."

Cargo-Ogburn said she is looking forward to this weekend competition to see how well she does compared to some of the bigger horse trainers from around the country.

"I want to see how my training did," she said. "If I am up to their levels, hopefully I win, that's my goal, definitely not to go out there and get second place."

At the end of the competition, the participating mustangs will be available for adoption through competitive bidding. Cargo-Ogburn said she wants to keep Sylvia.

"I would like to try to buy my horse back, but there is a possibility I might not be able to bring her back," she said. "I would be heartbroken. I understand it's part of the business, but I would be very heartbroken. ...

"I haven't formed a bond with a horse like this in a long time. When you train horses for a living, you don't get the opportunity to form a bond with them because they're other people's horses. This horse has been mine. She is mine, and she just trusts me wholeheartedly."

He didn't want to discuss whether the $26 per pound was a record, saying it's kind of like catching a fish — everybody always says they had one that was bigger. But he did say he couldn't remember another time that sale proceeds were donated to a specific charity.

"I don't know if that has ever been done before," he said.

When Ansleigh, who also suffers from cerebral palsy, first saw her grandmother, "She said, 'I win, meme. I win,'" Janice Summers said. "'Take my money to the doctor now.'"

Ansleigh's plans to donate proceeds from the sale were detailed in a Sunday, Nov. 4, story in the Lake City Reporter.

Jancie Summers said her family was thankful to everybody who donated money.

"We were just tickled pink," she said.

Sgt. Ed Seifert, Columbia County Sheriff's Office public information officer, said four homes were evacuated as authorities established a perimeter.

Crisis Negotiation Unit detectives spoke with the suspect for hours and were able to convince him to come out of the house unarmed.

Janigan was then taken into custody after a brief scuffle with deputies. He was then taken to jail.

Seifert said no injuries were reported as a result of the incident.

He said residents in the neighborhood were allowed to return to their homes about 6 a.m.

Half head to playoffs

Three Fort White opponents finish undefeated.

By TIM KIRBY
tkirby@lakecityreporter.com

FORT WHITE— Half of Fort White High's football opponents are looking ahead to the playoffs, while the 2012 curtain has closed on the other five.

The Indians ended Santa Fe High's season on Thursday with a 22-7 win in Alachua. Sante Fe finished the season 1-9 overall and 1-4 in District 5-5A, which was won by Eastside High.

Fort White plays at The First Academy in Orlando on Friday in the opening round of the Class 3A playoffs. First Academy beat Jones High, 45-41, to post a 10-0 regular season.

Trinity Catholic High lost at Class 5A Palmetto High, 27-7. As District 3-3A champions, the Celtics (7-3, 1-0) play host to Melbourne Central Catholic High in Friday's opening round of the playoffs.

Wakulla High polished off a perfect season with a 24-8 home win over Escambia High. The War Eagles (10-0, 3-0), top ranked in Class 5A, bring in Gulf Breeze High for their opening playoff game.

Taylor County High beat Florida High on the road, 27-20. The Bulldogs (6-4, 2-1) travel to Yulee High for the first round of the Class 4A playoffs.

Union County High and Newberry High were both off last week to prepare for the Class 1-A playoffs.

The Tigers (10-0, 4-0) host Crescent City, while the Panthers (7-3, 3-1) travel to Wildwood High.

The most interesting game for the teams ending the season was Yulee at Hamilton County High. The Trojans (2-8, 1-2) were waxed, 56-6, but got to play against phenom Derrick Henry.

The Hornets' running back ran for 409 yards on 21 carries against Hamilton County, and scored six touchdowns. Henry has rushed for 3,266 yards this season and 11,130 in his career. He is 102 yards behind all-time national leader, Kenneth Hall, who rushed for 11,232 yards at Sugar Land High in Texas from 1950-53.

CHS bowlers 5th at state

From staff reports

Columbia High's bowling team placed fifth in the FHSAA Finals state tournament at Boardwalk Bowl in Orlando on Wednesday and Thursday.

Park Vista Community High won the state title.

The Lady Tigers qualified eighth after individual bowling to make the 16-team finals. Half of the schools were eliminated after the qualifying round.

Four Lady Tigers bowled four individual games — Courtney Schmitt 779, Christine Peters 720, Lauren Snipes 669 and Linden Barney 668. Victoria Wise rolled 456 in three games and Shea Spears bowled a 104 in one game.

Columbia lost its first Baker scoring team match to West Orange High, 3-1, to fall into the elimination bracket.

Columbia stormed back with wins over Island Coast High, University High and Eau Gallie High to force a rematch against West Orange. The result was the same as the other meeting, leaving the Lady Tigers one match short of making the semifinals.

Columbia came back on Island Coast after losing the first game to win 3-1. Against University, Columbia won games one and two, but lost the next two to force a decisive fifth game. The Lady Tigers won it.

Facing Eau Gallie, the team that eliminated Columbia last year, the Lady Tigers and the Commodores split the first four games. Columbia won game five, 173-146.

The rematch with West Orange was the same situation, with the teams splitting four games. This time, the Warriors came out winners in game five, 202-182.

It was the best state showing for Columbia, which has made the state field the last three years.

"When we started on Wednesday, all the lanes were full," coach Brian Saunders said. "When we left this year, just a few lanes were being used. People know what Columbia High bowling is, and we can now be known as a bowling school. The girls should be proud of the statement they have made about the school."

PREP ROUNDUP

Lady Tigers cross country 10th in region competition

From staff reports

Columbia High's Emma Tucker was one spot shy of qualifying for state at the Region 1-3A cross country meet at Sunny Hills Farms in Tallahassee on Saturday.

Fort Walton Beach High won the region competition, followed by Chiles High and Creekside High.

Susan Givens of Chiles was region champion with a time of 18:32.99.

Tucker ran 19:30.59, which was 16th with one of the individual runners in the mix. Columbia placed 10th in the 16-team field.

"We ran the best we could," coach Brooke Solowski said. "It is a really tough region." Solowski noted the times for Tucker and Ashley Jones were personal bests.

Other Lady Tiger runners with place and time were: Ashley Jones, 59th-21:18.31; Sydni Jones, 70th-21:44.47; Hayley Lewis, 75th-21:53.12; Michaelle Charlotin, 76th-21:56.44; Abby Williams, 81st-22:04.14; Ashlyn Martin, 103rd-23:43.42.

JASON MATTHEW WALKER/Lake City Reporter

Columbia High freshman Emma Tucker was runner-up at district in cross country and placed 16th in the region meet.

Columbia swimming

Columbia sophomore Hannah Burns placed 1-2 at state in the same events, but in the opposite order from last year.

In the state meet on Thursday at Central Florida YMCA Aquatic Complex, Burns won the 200 IM and placed second in the 100 breaststroke.

Burns was seeded first in the 200 IM after a 2:04.03 in the preliminary. She took off more than three-tenths of a second for the win in 2:00.82.

Sop Cattermole of Lemon Bay High was second in 2:03.58.

Burns also was seeded first in the 100 breast with a time of 1:04.56. She improved to 1:04.12 in the final, but finished behind Meghan Haila of Creekside High, who won in 1:02.95. Haila and Burns also were 1-2 in the region meet.

Junior Lindsay Lee qualified for the finals in the 100 backstroke with a 59.11 for 11th place. She was 12th in the final in 59.25. Lee just missed the finals in the 50 freestyle, placing 17th in preliminaries in a time of 24.93.

Fort White soccer

Fort White High's boys soccer team lost 4-1 to Santa Fe High in a district match at home on Nov. 6.

Matt Otto scored the goal for the Indians with a penalty kick in the 70th minute.

Fort White tied Hamilton County High in the opening match of the season on Nov. 5.

The Indians play at Keystone Heights High at 7:30 p.m. today, following the Lady Indians match at 5 p.m.

Columbia High swept the competition at the Capital City Invitational over the weekend with a 3-0 record to earn the tournament championship.

Dylan Sessions led the charge, playing a role in all but one goal scored in the tournament.

"He's the strength of the midfield," Columbia head coach Trevor Tyler said. "He's very athletic, strong and works really hard."

The Tigers opened the tournament against district opponent Mosley High with a 1-0 victory.

Austin Williams scored the goal off an assist by Sessions.

"It's not good to have to play them in tournaments, because we have to play them three times in a year now and four including the district playoffs," Tyler said. "We take what we get and played very well. They only came out with one goal, so we held strong on the defensive end."

The Tigers came out with a 4-1 victory in the second game against Maclay School. It was the only goal scored against keeper Ty Williams in the tournament.

"He came up big this weekend," Tyler said. "He had 25 saves throughout and some of them were really good."

Austin Kim scored the opening goal with 10 minutes remaining in the first half, off an assist by Sessions. Sessions added his own goal with an assist from Tristan O'Steen four minutes later. In the second half Braden Lehman scored on an assist from Travis Berry and Sessions closed out the scoring with an unassisted goal.

The Tigers closed out the tournament with a 4-0 win against Santa Fe High.

Andrew Picklo and Kim scored with assists by Sessions, and Sessions added two goals of his own with assists by Alex Ray and O'Steen.

As a whole, Tyler feels good about where the Tigers are early in the season as Columbia improved to 4-0.

"We played very well and I am impressed with the whole team," Tyler said. "Our passing was really good across the midfield. Our defense was really strong all the way through and that was shown by only one goal being scored on us."

The Tigers host Leon High at 7 p.m. today. The JV plays at 5 p.m.

Columbia's junior varsity opened its regular season on Thursday with a 2-1 home loss to Suwannee High.

Gator Collins, a defender, scored on a header. Alex Exum had the assist.

Basketball teams from three counties gathered at Columbia High on Friday to settle Special Olympic basketball challenges on the hardwood.

The Columbia County 2012 Special Olympics Basketball Championships were at the CHS gymnasium with athletes competing in different basketball-related contests.

"It's our local games, but being that we don't have enough teams to have a competition against each other, we invite surrounding counties to come in play against us," said John Brown, Columbia County coordinator for Special Olympics.

The competition featured six teams from Bradford County, four teams from Hamilton County and seven teams from Columbia County.

The Special Olympics championship contests included basketball games, basketball team skill contests and 3-on-3 basketball games for male and female contestants.

"We had a pretty big competition going on," Brown said.

Gordon fined $100K

Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Four-time NASCAR champion Jeff Gordon avoided suspension Monday when NASCAR instead fined him $100,000 and docked him 25 points for intentionally wrecking Clint Bowyer at Phoenix International Raceway.

Gordon also was placed on probation through Dec. 31. But he'll be allowed to close out the season at Homestead-Miami Speedway despite his actions in Sunday's race, which triggered a fight in the garage area between the two crews.

"I take responsibility for my actions on the racetrack," Gordon said in a statement. "I accept NASCAR's decision and look forward to ending the season on a high note at Homestead."

The penalty drops Gordon to 11th in the Chase for the Sprint Cup championship. He's now four points behind Martin Truex Jr. for 10th, and only the top-10 drivers have formal roles in the awards ceremony.

DEAR ABBY

Dog pays the price for owner's inattention behind the wheel

DEAR ABBY: I want to share my experience with being a distracted driver. One gorgeous, sunny day a few months ago, I happened to glance down at my iPad and the next thing I knew, I had hit the car in front of me. The airbags engaged and hit me and my golden retriever, who was in the front seat with me. He was so freaked out he jumped out the window into oncoming traffic. I chased him, but lost him as he darted through traffic on the busy streets.

Fortunately, a couple found him and brought him to a vet who scanned his chip. I got him back, and it is a gift from heaven – but he was severely injured. With time, he will make a full recovery, but my stupid mistake hurt my most cherished companion. I can't forgive myself. From now on, those devices go in the trunk. – REFORMED DISTRACTED DRIVER

DEAR REFORMED: That's a start. And in the future, your cherished companion should ride in the BACK seat – with the windows closed and wearing a restraint so that in the event of another traffic problem he won't be reinjured. Because you are in communication with your veterinarian, ask him or her what type is recommended.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mature, adult woman in my 40s who has never had a good relationship with my mother. Candidly, she is a mean person who has left a lot of hurt feelings in her wake. It makes being close to her impossible. Our entire family feels the way I do about her, including her only surviving sister.

I will be remarrying soon. Although I feel that inviting my mother to my wedding is the right thing to do, it could mean potentially inviting disaster – literally. I'm having trouble coming to terms with this decision and would love your input. -- NEEDS GUIDANCE IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR NEEDS GUIDANCE: Your mother appears to be a bitter, possibly disturbed woman. If she isn't invited, the hurt and angry feelings could reverberate for years. Because the rest of your family knows the way she is, consider inviting her on the condition that she will be on her best behavior – AND with the understanding that if she "lapses," some family members will escort her out.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has met my co-workers and their spouses at various company-related events. He recently mentioned that he has seen "Wally," who is married to one of my co-workers, "Anna," with another woman on more than one occasion. Apparently, Wally didn't recognize my husband.

Should I "casually" mention to Anna that my husband saw her husband and where, and let her figure it out for herself? My husband said it's up to me to decide whether to tell her or not. If it were me, I'd want to know. – OLDER BUT NOT WISER IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR O.B.N.W.: I suppose you could casually mention it to Anna, but don't be surprised if she casually responds that the woman is his sister, his cousin or a daughter by a former marriage. It may be perfectly innocent.

Gators take sting out of Hornets

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE — Alabama State coach Lewis Jackson hopes his players will learn what it takes to tangle with the best teams in the NCAA.

The Hornets fell 84-35 to No. 10 Florida on Sunday in a game that was lopsided from the opening minutes.

The Gators were up 47-9 at halftime in their delayed opener and led by as many as 57 points.

The lopsided defeat came just two days after Alabama State lost 97-53 at Middle Tennessee. The Hornets (0-2) go to UCF today before returning home.

"We schedule a tough non-conference preseason schedule so we can see where we are and if we can compete at a high level," Jackson said.

The Gators (1-0) overmatched Alabama State at both ends of the court. The Hornets missed 19 of their first 20 shots and finished the game just 10 of 53.

Their nine points at halftime were the fewest Florida has allowed in the first half since the implementation of the shot clock.

Kenny Boynton scored 22 points for Florida. Boynton shot 8 of 10 and made all four of his 3-point tries. He also had six rebounds and five assists.

Patric Young had 12 points, 12 rebounds and two blocked shots for the Gators.

Erik Murphy added 15 points and Mike Rosario had 14.

Florida forward Will Yeguete (15) skies for a dunk against Alabama State on Sunday. Florida beat the Hornets, 84-35.

What are Mini Dental Implants?
Mini Dental Implants are titanium screws that can replace the root of missing teeth or stabilize loose dentures. Mini Dental Implants are thinner in size making the easier to fit into resorbed bone. For Dentures and Partials, a housing is attached precisley inside your appliance to hold it in place securely with an O-ring and functions like a button does, snapping in and out. Mini Dental Implants may also be an excellent option for replacing missing teeth as a more affordable option than Standard Dental Implants.
Call Aspen Dental Group Today for your FREE Consultation and find out if you are a candidate for Mini Dental Implants.
