Sales hit high mark

By AMANDA WILLIAMSON and STEVEN RICHMOND

Columbia County's real estate market is steadily growing, with July posting the highest number of closed sales since at least January 2009, according to a monthly market report from Florida Realtors.

According to the report, there were a total of 48 closed sales of single-family homes for all of Columbia County in July, higher than any other month since at least January 2009.

"I guess the numbers speak for themselves," executive vice president of the Lake City Board of Realtors Dan Gherna said. "The South Florida market is strong and it's beginning to filter into our

TDC drafts code for visiting teams

By TONY BRITT

Rude, rowdy and reckless guests at area hotels for sports tournaments may want to be on their best behavior or risk tournament disqualification now that local motels have a code of conduct in place.

Members of the Columbia County Tourist Development Council issued a universal code of a policy that can be catered to each motel's needs.

Harvey Campbell, TDC director, said they created a brief document and modified it for local facilities.

"It tells what kinds of behavior is not going to be accepted," he said during a TDC meeting Wednesday.

The document that was presented and passed out at the meeting included a separate document called Proposed Guidelines to Deal with Unruly Conduct, which listed suggestions for motel owners on how

First lady to appear on 'Sabado Gigante'

MIAMI

Michelle Obama is scheduled to appear on the popular Spanish-language variety show "Sabado Gigante."

Univision says the first lady will deliver a message Saturday to Hispanic children and families about the importance of eating healthy and staying active. Michelle Obama has made combating childhood obesity a priority through her "Let's Move!" campaign.

A study from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention found that after decades of rising, childhood obesity rates have essentially been flat in recent years. About 12 percent of all U.S. children ages 2 to 5 were obese in 2009 through 2010. However, for Hispanic children that number was about 4 points higher.

"Sabado Gigante" or "Giant Saturday" is the world's longest-running variety show. It airs at 8 p.m. on Univision. It's filmed in South Florida.

Police: Intruder found at Lopez's estate

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. — Police say an intruder had been living for a week on Jennifer Lopez's property in the Hamptons while she was away.

Southampton police said Wednesday she had an order of protection against 49-year-old John Dubis of Rhode Island. Information on why the order was obtained wasn't immediately available.

Newsday says workers discovered Dubis in the pool house of the Water Mill mansion on Aug. 8.

He was arraigned the following day on charges of burglary, criminal contempt, stalking and possession

One Direction's Malik, Perrie Edwards engaged

LONDON — One Direction has one less eligible bachelor.

Band member Zayn Malik is engaged to Perrie Edwards of the group Little Mix. They're both 20.

Edwards was spotted wearing a diamond ring Tuesday at One Direction film premiere "This Is Us" in London.

Edwards' mother, Debbie, confirmed Wednesday that her daughter and Malik were engaged. She told Real Radio: "It's true. They got engaged on Sunday and it's absolutely lovely."

Columbia Records confirmed in a statement that "Zayn and Perrie are engaged, but any further detail regarding their relationship is private."

Like boy band One Direction, female trio Little Mix formed on British TV talent show "The X Factor," winning the competition in 2011. One Direction placed third in 2010, but went on to top charts around the world.

AROUND FLORIDA

Fla. ranked as 12th least obese

TALLAHASSEE — A new report says that Floridians rank 12th in the nation when it comes to having a healthy weight.

The report released this week found that 35 percent of Floridians have a healthy weight — while the overall adult obesity rate is 25.2 percent. The report was put together by the Trust for America's health and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

That makes Florida the 12th least obese state in the nation. Colorado had the lowest adult obesity rate in the country while Louisiana had the highest.

Florida's rate remained steady from last year, but State Surgeon General Dr. John Armstrong says obesity remains a problem in the state. The Department of Health estimates costs associated with four obesity-linked diseases could cost $34 billion over the next 17 years.

State boy amoeba-free

MIAMI — Family members of a 12-year-old boy who was infected by a rare and deadly amoeba say the organism that was attacking his brain is gone.

According to a Facebook page the family set up to support Zachary Reyna, doctors told family members Wednesday morning that antibiotics defeated the infection, and tests showed negative activity from the amoeba.

"Thank you Jesus for giving us another day with Zac and another day of hope," a Wednesday Facebook post said.

"This is a small victory but we know the battle is not over. Extensive damage was done to his brain

FPL to cut hundreds of jobs

MIAMI — Florida Power & Light and its sister company, Nextera Energy Resources, plan to eliminate about 1,000 positions nationwide over the next two years.

The utility announced the cuts Wednesday. It includes 6.7 percent of the companies' combined workforce.

An FPL spokesman said only about 160 workers will lose their jobs. The remaining cuts will come from the elimination of open positions, early retirement and normal attrition.

The first 80 workers are expected to be laid off next week, with 60 of those positions coming from Florida.

The cuts will include all job functions, from entry level to management.

Juno Beach-based NextEra Energy is the parent company of both FPL and NextEra Energy Resources. It employs approximately 15,000 people, 10,000 of whom work at FPL. NextEra Energy operates in 26 states, plus Canada and Spain.

EMT students save woman

PENSACOLA — Eighteen students enrolled in an emergency medical technician class at Pensacola State College sprang into action when a woman was involved in a crash near the campus.

The Escambia County Department of Public Safety recently sent letters to the students, commending them for helping to save a fellow student's life on July 17.

Fire assessment hike questioned

By STEVEN RICHMOND
srichmond@lakecityreporter.com

Local residents gathered in the Winfield Community Center Thursday evening to hear the county's proposed fire assessment changes explained and vent their concerns.

County Safety Manager David Kraus, county Fire Chief David Boozer and County Commissioner Ron Williams gave a presentation explaining why the county plans to raise fire assessments.

The current rate for residential properties, $77, may increase to $183.32, pending a Sept. 5 public hearing and the votes of county commissioners.

Their reasoning is that the proposed changes and rate increase will cover the full cost of fire services as well as maintain the county's ISO rating, which determines local home insurance premiums.

"Even if we didn't comply with the new ISO rules," Kraus said. "The rates are still going up. There's nothing we can do about that."

He said the inability to resist rate increases stems from laws passed by the state legislature as well as a decrease in the county's general fund that was used to pay for parts of the county fire service the current assessment doesn't cover.

An additional $11 on top of the proposed ISO-friendly rate will ensure the construction of new fire stations that will provide adequate fire safety for 90 percent of the county's unincorporated areas.

Many citizens, including Margie and David Hogan, resisted the changes based on what they perceived as "just another tax."

"You keep piling on all these new taxes and what-not," David Hogan said, "and we just can't afford it. Eventually, there's going to be a breaking point."

Boozer countered by retelling the story of a woman who paid her insurance regularly only to have a sudden hike in her premiums.

"She went in to the office to pay one day," Boozer said, "and they noticed she hadn't updated her account in a while. Turns out her ISO ranking was demoted and she had to pay an extra $700 for the same coverage."

While Kraus, Boozer and Williams argued that an increase in insurance premiums would far exceed the proposed fire assessment changes, some people weren't won over.

"Take my son, for example," Margie Hogan said. "He owns a double-wide that he can't get insurance on, and a lot of other people here don't have insurance or can't afford it. Why should they have to pay more?"

Boozer acknowledged that even though many homeowners lacked insurance, having adequate and efficient coverage was worth the cost.

"What are our jobs," Boozer asked, referring to himself and a handful of county firefighters in attendance. "We're here to protect you. Buildings don't matter. You do."

He reminded the audience of a time in Columbia County's history when Fort White had insufficient fire coverage during emergencies.

"I didn't feel right to me that it took us that long to get there," he said. "Sometimes it'd take us 20 minutes to get there, and you know what we would find? Ashes. These improvements are being put in place to make sure that doesn't happen again."

There will be two more community meetings for explaining the proposed changes and fielding questions at Westside Community Center on Monday, Aug. 26, and at Fort White Recreation Center on Thursday, Aug. 29. Both meetings will be at 6 p.m.

Case dropped against marijuana defendant

From staff reports

Lindboe

The Third Circuit State Attorney's Office has declined to file charges against a Lake Butler man following his arrest last week in Lake City on drug charges.

Thomas Blake Lindboe, 30, was arrested Aug. 15 for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Documents filed with the court Wednesday indicate the state will not pursue the case.

"[N]o marijuana was found on the defendant's person and ... the defendant did not live at the residence" where the marijuana was found, court papers said.

Pavilion at sports complex may be put on fast track

By TONY BRITT

tbritt@lakecityreporter.com

The Columbia County Tourist Development Council wants to add a pavilion to Southside Sports Complex.

Although the complex is in the midst of a $2.9 million upgrade project, no pavilion is included in the plans.

"At present, the pavilion is in the master plan," said Harvey Campbell, TDC director. "It was certainly not planned for this early. It was planned for down the road, but promoters and parents will tell you that it would be nice to have a large structure where kids can get out of the weather because thunderstorms and lightning are part of the outdoor activities."

Talk at the meeting centered around the building being approximately 80 feet by 100 feet, on a concrete slab with lights and ceiling fans.

STRIPES: Program promotes high achievement

Widergren said. "It's time to start recognizing them for their great achievement."

Conceived by Widergren and developed by Cooper, STRIPES requires each student per semester to remain on the A/B honor roll, miss no more than two days of class and avoid referrals. At the end of each semester, prizes are awarded. If the students maintain all the conditions, they will be awarded an even bigger prize at the end of the year. The school hopes to obtain a car via donation to award to one of the students who maintain perfect grades, behavior and attendance throughout the year.

Already Timco has donated $5,000 to CHS. The Lake City Reporter, Herff Jones and Little and Williams Construction are also sponsoring the project.

"We've put a lot more requirements and stress on the students with the new testing, so in a lot of ways it's like work," Widergren said. "Obviously, we can't pay them to come to school, but this provides incentive."

Cooper has been instrumental in organizing STRIPES and gathering sponsors, Widergren added. The teacher was working his way through a master's degree in education leadership at Saint Leo University, where he had to complete a project that required the community and the school to work together.

"I went to Mr. Widergren to find out what we needed," Cooper said. "He thought it would be a great idea to come up with a student incentive program. I think a lot of the students have responded in a positive way."

Students who stay on track and become winners will be announced at football games and on the morning news. In the past, there has never been an incentive to keep students in class.

STRIPES stands for Scholarship, Teamwork, Respect, Integrity, Pride, Excellence, Success, said Cooper. The mission statement listed in the new STRIPES handbook states CHS strives to ensure an environment where academic excellence is achieved by every student.

"I was thinking of tigers," Cooper said. "The first thing that I thought of was stripes, but I didn't just want to call it Stripes. I wanted it to mean something. ... I pretty much created it, but [the administration] ran with it. They've supported me every step."

Widergren seems excited for the new program to get rolling. The school implemented the program this week after spending the summer straightening out the kinks and finding sponsors.

If STRIPES attracts 50 percent more students to come to school, Widergren believes that means the program succeeded.

"If I can get them to school and get them prepared, then we're good to go," he said, "because I've got some great teachers. We're changing the work habits and changing the behaviors of students. So, it's going to take a little time."

CHS teachers have embraced the program, and students seem ready to rise to the challenge as well.

AP Human Geography students Jameson Carter and JonElliot Antognoni, both 14, already have been on the A/B honor roll, but neither does it for the certificate, which they said can be easily forgotten.

"[STRIPES] gives students something to look forward to if they follow the rules," JonElliot said. "Instead of just getting a pat on the back, they get something they can use."

Jameson thought many of her fellow classmates didn't participate or come to school because there wasn't an incentive. She feels the new program will boost grades and attendance, especially since it focuses on the three main things a student needs to do well in school: grades, attendance and behavior.

Honor roll and AP Human Geography student Ashton Lee is excited for the program to start. She already tries to avoid missing school, but feels the program will encourage her to miss even less.

EXPANSION: 15 new jobs

than 1,600 workers.

"They've completed construction," said Jesse Quillen, Columbia County Economic Development Department director. "It was a quick build, and they were ready to go once the county approved their incentives and tax investments."

Gov. Rick Scott's press office announced the project Thursday, but company and county officials said expansion is complete.

Quillen said U.S. Cold Storage has met its employment agreement by hiring 15 new employees.

"Business is looking very good for them, and they are looking forward to a big year this year and in the coming years," he said.

Quillen said the county's economic development department will have to monitor the company for five years to make sure it maintains its job levels in order to get the promised abatements.

The Columbia County economy will be a beneficiary of the expansion and the 15 additional jobs that were created, Quillen said.

HOMES: Sales rebound

Of those sales, 26 were paid for in cash, indicating people have more money on hand, Lake City Board of Realtors president Stan Batten said.

Higher cash sales are a useful indicator of the extent to which investors are participating in the market, according to the report. It explained that that is because investors are more likely to have cash on hand to purchase properties instead of homebuyers who typically need a mortgage.

The median sale price of homes in the county is $100,000, and has remained relatively stable since spring 2012.

However, a 12 month inventory of available homes selling for around 85-90 percent of their original list price indicate that the market still favors buyers, the report said.

"What we need to do is get builders back to work building houses," Batten said. "A $150,000 home will put $90,000 back into the community," referring to income generated from the material purchases and job creation.

However, Batten said the outlook for Columbia County's real estate market is good.

"I see more consumer confidence," Batten said. "People are more stable now. It appears the market is making a slow recovery, but it is a recovery."

CODE: Rowdy visitors could face sanctions

to deal with problems and issues.

The code of conduct policy rules such as:

■ We do not allow unattended children. Please be sure there is always an adult present to ensure good behavior;

■ No shouting in hallways or loud horseplay in the corridors or front desk area;

■ Please report behavior problems or safety issues to the front desk clerk immediately;

■ Absolutely no glass in the vicinity of the swimming pool. Use plastic or Styrofoam containers instead; and

■ Make sure sound levels and activities in the hallways are respectful of all guests after 11 p.m.

The document also included local points of interests for visitors who may have a surplus of spare time.

The punishment for repeated violations could result in the disqualification of a team.

The policy suggests that visitors get three warnings before they're asked to leave.

"We are asking tournament promoters to make the result of a third warning to be the disqualification of the team involved," the document said. "Those affected will be expected to pack up immediately and no refund will be offered."

DeVeda Jackson, a front desk clerk at America's Best Inn, said soccer and softball tournament teams have stayed at the hotel and she thinks the new policy will help control the behavior of guests who come for tournaments.

"I think the code of conduct will help them to behave more and respect the policies of the hotel more," she said. "I think it will help because the players want to keep coming and playing, and I know they don't want that opportunity to be taken away from them."

John Parker, Cabot Lodge general manager, said he saw a draft that the TDC suggested and he believes it's a step in the right direction.

"I understand there have been several hotels that had some issues with some of the teams and their conduct," he said. "We've experienced very little of that here."

"However, there are instances where adult parents and chaperones have gotten off to themselves and let the kids run wild.

There have been some cases where the adults behaved worse than the kids. I've worked in other areas and that's just one of the inherent problems that you have when you deal with sports teams, and its pretty much up to the hotel to manage that."

Parker said a hotel under Cabot Lodge management in Germantown, Tenn., has a similar policy and it's been successful.

ANOTHER VIEW

Scott has mixed record so far

Speaking of the economy, John F. Kennedy famously said that “a rising tide lifts all boats.” With the 2014 election coming into view, the big question in Florida is whether the state’s economic tide is rising fast enough to lift Gov. Rick Scott out of the political doldrums and put him on course for a second term.

Scott’s approval ratings have been well below-average for governors seeking re-election. But the former hospital executive is betting that his emphasis on boosting the Florida economy and creating jobs will ultimately pay off in votes. The future is looking brighter in the Sunshine State — at least by comparison with the post-real estate crash years before 2011 — but the governor can’t convincingly claim a big share of the credit for the rebound.

The national economy is so large and multifaceted that even the president of the United States, arguably the most powerful individual in the world, can’t steer it. Florida’s economy is, of course, part of the national economy and heavily influenced by general trends in business. The governor of Florida can’t issue edicts correcting the course of the state’s large economy; however, the governor can have some influence — good or bad — on its general direction.

Scott’s overall role in the key economic issues has been positive. He came into office touting his decisiveness as a CEO and found that a governor can’t wield the same power as a CEO — unless he or she is a very effective politician. No one has accused the very businesslike Rick Scott of being a master politician.

Even so, he has worked hard in areas where he does exercise control, such as serving as a salesman touting Florida as a great place to do business. Scott has made economic development a top priority, and followed through by focusing on lowering taxes and streamlining regulations that stifle job growth.

So he should get some credit for recent job gains in Florida, which is doing better as measured by the unemployment rate than the nation as a whole.

But Scott needs to rack up some more economic and political accomplishments to bolster his re-election resume.

He can put a check mark beside one of his top priorities for the 2013 legislative session — eliminating a sales tax for manufacturing equipment. The elimination of this business expense should help spur the expansion of industry in Florida.

Scott also has been relentless in pushing to expand foreign trade, a key sector of the state’s economy.

Despite his efforts to sell the state to companies across the country, he has yet to land a really big fish, such as an auto manufacturer bringing thousands of good jobs. If a major manufacturer does move to the state in the next year, Scott will be in a good position to take the credit.

Florida’s unemployment rate is below the nation’s, but at 7.1 percent it’s still high by historical standards.

The self-proclaimed “get-to-work” governor needs to see many more Floridians get back to work before he can feel reasonably confident about his re-election chances.

Take care of your mental health

Most of us know how to take care of our bodies—our physical health. We know to eat properly, exercise, and avoid dangerous situations, accidents, drugs or alcohol, and illness. But what do you know about your mental health, its care and maintenance? How do you know when there’s a problem? Here are some things to do that should help you build that happy, healthy, and good life for yourself.

- Protect yourself! Sports? Wear that helmet or head protection, whether you’re playing football, cycling, running, or other banging or jarring sports. Only recently has science explored the devastating effects from repeated or strong blows to the head. Nerve cells can be destroyed, and minor concussions often go unnoticed.

- Like physical health, mental health also depends on good nutrition and regular physical activity. No, you don’t need to become a nutritional expert. There’s little evidence that “brain foods” even exist, or that mega doses of vitamins, minerals, or herbal remedies help. The best evidence seems to point to a balanced, well-rounded diet, including a large variety of proteins, carbohydrates, and yes, even fats. Eating properly will go a long way towards good mental as well as physical health.

- Visit your doctor for an annual checkup. It’s an opportunity to talk about your worries, concerns, problems, concerns, or bad feelings. Many mental health issues are linked to physical disorders, and physicians are trained for handling psychological issues as well as physical concerns. They can help with primary counseling, and can prescribe appropriate medications. They refer you to mental health professionals if needed.

Robert Denny
Bob.Denny8@gmail.com

- Talk with your religious leader if you have one. Ministers and priests are considered qualified to offer counseling or consultation with a theological perspective.

- Have fun! We all need to play. Watch how your dog or pet likes to play with a ball, a toy, or just a string. My dog gets so excited when we get ready to take a walk. Have a good laugh with friends. Watch your favorite comedy TV show. Pick up that hobby, and enjoy it. Take some time to put fun into your day.

- Connect! Take advantage of those wonderful group opportunities you can find at church, in classes, sports, clubs, scouts, senior centers. Make friends.

We’re social animals, and really need to be connected. Get involved!

- Find your purpose. What are you here for? What do you have to offer those around you—your friends, neighborhood, community, your world? Find out what you love doing, and develop it! Every day TV news has stories of ordinary people doing wonderful things, making the world a little better place because they’re here. What could you do?

- Don’t worry about it! Do you keep checking the door to see if it’s locked, or the stove to make sure it’s off? Sometimes lose sleep worrying? Everyone has some dysfunctional symptoms. Those in the medical field can be the worst! But the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual, the accepted psychiatric reference book for making diagnoses, tells us to be a mental health “disorder,” the symptoms must be “significant, persistent, and must significantly impair one or more major areas of your life” like your career, social relationships, or everyday functioning. If that applies to you, I suggest that you contact your doctor or a mental health provider.

You’re okay! Jump in, and build that even better and happier life for yourself.

It’s a certainty you won’t win

If you want to worry about the state of math instruction in this country, just note the number of people who buy lottery tickets on a regular basis. They spend about $2 million a week in which there is no special jackpot.

That number rises exponentially when there is a huge pot at stake, as there was this summer when the Powerball winners divided up $448 million. That sounds like a lot until federal, state and local taxes kick in. And whose benefit did you think the lottery was run for? Yours or the government’s? Hint: The states took in almost $20 billion from their lotteries last year. How well did you do?

What you get for a $2 ticket is the ability to daydream about what you would do with all that money. The problem is, many winners fulfill their dreams and in no time are living in the back of their ‘87 Camaro — the Mercedes has been repossessed, as has the McMansion — and subsisting on specials from the dented-can bin.

There is a skill to managing large amounts of money, and most of us don’t have it because we’ve never had large amounts of money to practice on.

(Even then, you rarely see gambling executives actually playing

Dale McFeatters
mcfattersd@shns.com

their own casinos’ games. If they do, it is with house money in the belief that the example being set will cause you to part with your own. Similarly, that’s why investment bankers much preferred speculating with customers’ money.)

There is actually an outfit — the Sudden Money Institute — that works with those rare folks who hit the lottery big and helps them invest their winnings after the various tax offices finish picking over it.

Working with the institute and a bank, The New York Times estimated that a winner wanting to spend $1 million a year, adjusted for inflation, over 55 years would need about $36 million after taxes to invest. This presumes the winner has the internal discipline to keep his hands off the $36 million before it’s invested.

The lottery plays on a universal weakness that seems to transcend intelligence and even common sense. The reasoning goes: “Somebody has to win. Why not me?”

Here’s why not you. The odds against winning the Powerball are 1 in 175 million, and they don’t change much even if you buy a bunch of tickets. What you are buying is $2 worth of escapism — hence, the lotteries’ appeal to lower-income workers.

Last year, the American public spent $69 billion on lottery tickets — $5.9 billion on Powerball alone. Not that this will much impress anybody who isn’t 70 or older, but $69 billion was roughly the size of the entire federal budget in 1955 at the height of the Cold War.

Does that mean you should never play Powerball? Absolutely not.

When the jackpot grows to a truly interesting size, take up a collection in your office and send somebody out on his lunch hour to load up on lottery tickets. Lock the tickets in the office safe.

And enjoy your daydream.

Linda Lou Pierce Hardwick

Linda Lou Pierce Hardwick, 66, passed away Friday, August 16, 2013 at Baya Point nursing home in Lake City, Florida after a long and courageous struggle with Parkinson's disease. She was born to the late Henry H. and Rosa Cooper Pierce in Miami, Florida on March 16, 1947. In 1972 she married the late Richard William Hardwick, Sr., who was a mail carrier in Lake City. She was the mother of three wonderful children and later worked as a sales clerk and greeter at Walmart in Lake City. Many who shopped there will remember her for her bright smile, her joyful spirit and outgoing personality. Growing up in Miami, Linda was a member of University Baptist Church where she sang in the choir. Music was always an important part of Linda's spiritual life, and her deep Christian faith was sustained by many remembered hymns as her health declined. She is survived by two sons Robert Alan Hardwick (Nickie) and Richard William "Bill" Hardwick, Jr. (Stephanie), both of Madison Heights, VA, and one daughter, Lisa Evonne Lizotte (Jered), of Wellborn, Florida, one sister, Rosemarie Pierce Ferry (Curtis), of St. Augustine, Florida. She is also survived by eight beautiful grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. A memorial service will be held at 11am on Monday, August 26, 2013 at Mt Olive Baptist Church in Wellborn, Florida. Interment will be later in the day at Big Creek Baptist Church Cemetery in Coolidge, Georgia, where Linda's parents and many generations of the Pierce family are buried. In lieu of flowers, please make a donation to Mt Olive Baptist Church for the nursery and preschool wing to be renovated in her honor. Arrangements under the direction of GUERRY FUNERAL HOME, Lake City. Please sign the guestbook at www.guerryfuneralhome.net

Isaiah 55 - God's plan

Isaiah chapter 55 is one of the most blessed chapters in the Book of Isaiah. It is about the salvation of God by His grace.

Let me encourage you to take time and read and meditate on this blessed chapter. It tells us that our salvation is free and cannot be bought or earned. Verse 3 says "Incline your ear, and come to Me. Hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you — the sure mercies of David." (See II Samuel 7:8-15; Isaiah 89:28; Acts 13:34.)

Verse 6 tells us to "Seek the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near". We should understand that now is the time for salvation; that God's spirit will not always strive with man. This is what God told the people just before the flood that came and destroyed them all in Genesis chapter 6; and we should hear that plea today.

The verse that I want to focus on today is the eleventh: "So shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth; It shall not return to Me void, but it shall accomplish what I please, and it shall prosper in the things for which I sent it". Void means "to make of no effect".

I ask you...is the word of God true? Is it possible that some of it is not true? The answer is "no", a thousand times "no"; for every word is true. So if it is true — and it is — verse 11 says when the word goes forth it will not return void. So why is our country in such a moral-

BIBLE STUDIES

Hugh Sherrill
ems-hugh4.3@comcast.net less state? Why are so many churches failing? The only answer is: the whole counsel of God's word is not being taught and preached.

The only place the Gospel is found is in God's word. Salvation is found only in Jesus Christ. "There is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

Men are standing today and talking all around the truth of God's word or else more would come to Jesus for salvation. I Corinthians 15:1-4 is God's simple plan of salvation. If this plan is rejected, then the only other alternative is a devils hell. One way is to heaven, the other to hell.

Out of the 27 books in the New Testament, 21 are written to the church, God's people, telling us how we ought to live.

Too many today are omitting the truth of God's word to the church. Too many in the church act like there is no judgment day. God's word says there is and that all of God's people will receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad.

Preachers and teachers have the responsibility to warn men and women of the impending judgment.

Paul told Timothy to "Preach the word: Be read in season and out of season. Convince, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and teaching" (II Tim. 4:2).

No one knows how long God will continue to hold back His judgment on earth; but according to His word, it can't be long. So, hear His plan today and accept His salvation.

■ Hugh Sherrill, an ordained Baptist minister and Bible teacher, is available for special Bible studies and revivals.

Resolving conflicts between people

Conflicts between people are going to happen. Someone has said that when two people get together, the potential for conflict is always there. How we deal with resolving conflicts determines whether or not a relationship continues. So how can we resolve conflicts?

Jesus gave some instructions as to how members of a church are to resolve conflicts. Matthew's gospel (18:15-17) records Jesus as saying that "if your brother sins, go and reprove him in private; if he listens to you, you have won your brother." This indicates that the first effort to resolve a conflict is to be a private matter; no one else needs to know about the sin.

It may be very hard for us to approach this brother about living a different way, about his sinful activity. But, by reaching the goal of winning the brother back, the relationship has been restored and has a great possibility of becoming stronger.

However, if the brother does not change his ways, Jesus instructs us to take one or two with us so that the facts can be established and confirmed. By having others with you, the tension may not be as high as it could be. Another benefit of having people go with you is that they can help the "offending party" to see what you are saying from a different perspective. If the conflict is resolved, the relationship has been restored.

However, if this does not work, then Jesus instructs us to bring the matter before the whole church. The major reason

BIBLICAL MEDITATION

Carlton McPeak
carlton_mc@msn.com

for telling the congregation is so that everyone can approach this brother in love with an intense effort to correct his behavior. Compassionate peer pressure, the fear of losing close relationships, can be a great motivator in changing someone's behavior. Everyone wants this brother to be part of the group.

However, if this does not work, then Jesus instructs the church to treat the brother like a "Gentile and a tax-collector." This phrase means that the brother is to be treated like an outsider.

It should not be done with a mean spirit. By applying pressure upon this church member, he realizes that he has lost something and thus he is motivated to change his actions. By making the necessary changes he can obtain God's forgiveness.

But will this procedure work in the family? Will it be effective in the workplace? What about in a school environment? With neighbors? Yes. The principle can be applied in any setting.

If we will approach the one who is at fault in private there can be a great hope that the conflict will be resolved in private; no one else needs to know. Soliciting the assistance of concerned individuals can help resolve the conflict. Involving everyone in the group, whether it be family, fellow-employees, schoolmates or next door neighbors, can apply a tremendous amount of pressure to get the offending party to change his behavior.

The fear of being cast out can be very motivational.

Conflicts can be resolved. How much do we love the one who has "sinned"? How much effort are we willing to exert to get the brother to change? Let's work to resolve conflicts between people.

Even Moses needed to ask for help

Don't you agree that it is wise to take advantage of the learning from other people's successes and failures? It certainly is much easier (and less painful) than having to experience everything first-hand. Likewise, using hindsight can give us a good idea of what eventually turns out to be a good or bad decision ... after all it is 20/20.

"In the 40th year, on the first day of the 11th month, Moses proclaimed to the Israelites all that the Lord had commanded him concerning them: "See, I have given you this land. Go in and take possession of the land that the Lord swore He would give to your fathers — to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob — and to their descendants after them." (Deut. 1:3,8)

Moses is a great leader about whom the Bible gives us a great deal of detail related to his decisions, successes, and failures. This passage includes what Moses considers important elements of his journey leading the Israelites out of Egypt. Interestingly, the first token had to do with the issue of responsibility:

"At that time I said to you, 'You are too heavy a burden for me to carry alone. How can I bear your problems and your burdens and your disputes all by myself? Choose some wise, understanding and respected men from each of your tribes, and I will set them over you.'" (Deut. 1:9,12-13)

Moses' admission helps us understand how all kinds of

HEART MATTERS

Angie Land
angieland3@windstream.net experiences can add stress to our already overloaded lives. While not many of us will lead thousands through the desert, Moses' delegation of tasks could be a great stress reducer for anyone going through a difficult season.

Perhaps this extra pressure comes in the form of added responsibilities at work, caring for a sick child or parent, financial strain, personal health problems or even a welcome change like a new baby, building a new home or getting a new job. Whatever is adding extra stress in your family, could a reassignment of responsibilities help lighten the load?

Perhaps your spouse could use a break from juggling the bills on a tight budget, or your teen would enjoy a weekend pass on their chores while balancing work and school. What about the relative taking care of elderly parents? How much would they enjoy a little help? On the other hand, Moses' example reminds us that it is wise to ask for help when you are the one overwhelmed with responsibility. We have come to equate asking for help with admitting failure, but as the Israelites answered Moses, "...What you propose to do is good." (Deut. 1:14)

I believe they understood it was not only good for Moses, but for them, as well. Asking for help during difficult times or crisis may just be the very best thing we can do for those we love ... because every heart matters.

Blessings,
Angie

When going home is not safe

This is difficult, but it must be addressed. We just finished a look at Luke 15, ending with the story of the lost son.

There was no balancing the books for him any more than for the unmerciful servant of Matthew 18:22-38. We need to learn we cannot balance the book with work in God's sight.

If it were not for the father's unconditional love and amazing grace and forgiveness, this parable would not end the way it did. The father would have been bitter, and the son would have been deeply disappointed, hurt and lost. Home was special even more now to him.

The things he didn't like about home, now he deeply loves and appreciates. The rules of his father were now followed out of love, not resentment. Would he leave again and run off to that far off country? No way! He was home to stay.

But some homes are not safe to go home to! There are those who are lost and want to come home but know that home is not safe.

What can be said or done to help? They know that waiting for them is judgment and harsh words and maybe a back-handed slap, or more. They know this because that's why they left. Should this one go home? In this case, find a safe place (through a church or abuse hot line). But find a safe haven until home is safe.

jackexumjr@yahoo.com

A word to the abusive parent: Please, get some help! Refuse to let another day pass without getting on the phone and making an appointment with someone qualified to help you. Forget about blame. Aim for the most important thing — a new beginning.

The solution here begins with mom or dad or both. So much can be gained by just sitting, being open and honest and getting the help that is so desperately needed.

The key to getting someone home is to make home worth coming home to. Make home safe, loving, kind ... a place where communication is welcome and where tempers, throwing things, striking out are strictly forbidden. Home is the one place where both parents and children should be able to come to for safety. A place, when the front door is shut, the world is locked out and love is locked in.

Paul said, "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres. Love never fails" (I Corinthians 13:4-8a). "Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her" (Ephesians 5:25). "Fathers, do not exasperate your children; instead, bring them up in the training and instruction of the Lord." (Ephesians 6:1-4). (I remind you again... the father forgave his son when he left. The son received forgiveness — no questions asked — when he came home.)

Does this little article solve everything? Of course not. These suggestions are just the best I have, for those who are needing help.

"With the same letter heaven and home begin, They dwell together in the mind, And those who would a home in heaven win, Must first a heaven in home begin to find."

Thomas to start at QB

Tigers play Trinity Christian in kickoff classic.

By BRANDON FINLEY
bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

Columbia High will have one final preview of what the 2013 football team will look like tonight with the kickoff classic against Trinity Christian.

The Tigers kickoff at 7:30 p.m. with the starters slated to play the first half and the backups and junior varsity playing in the second half.

The question on most everyone's mind, however, is who will receive the start at quarterback for the Tigers?

"(Jake) Thomas is going to get the nod," Columbia head coach Brian Allen said. "At the end of the day, I think Jake has won it. Nate (Thomas) definitely pushed him to the end. You look at it two fold, and you have two good quarterbacks. They can be very good before it's all said and done. You never know when the other is going to get his shot."

Allen said he's excited to see what the Tigers can do in their first action against another team since a 50-0 win against Fort White High in the spring game.

"For two quarters, being able to see them get at it real good, we will have an opportunity under the lights," Allen said. "Offensively, we're a brand new group. Defensively, we're a brand new group. What a better opportunity to find out who we are than against a pretty good Trinity Christian."

Allen said how much the starters play will depend on the quality of their work.

"Everybody is going to play the entire two quarters," Allen said. "I definitely want two quarters of play. Nobody is going to get any down time for the most part. We're going to get it out of the starters. We'll go from there on how we adjust in the third and the fourth. We probably will play the starters for the first series of the second half."

And even though Gainesville High is looming in week one, Allen said they won't be thinking of next week.

"We definitely are not looking ahead," Allen said. "I didn't really require coaches to game plan, just like the spring classic. I don't feel like there's a real need to game plan as far as game planning and coming in hours and hours."

Welcoming back a rival

Fort White to host Dixie County in kickoff classic.

By TIM KIRBY
tkirby@lakecityreporter.com

FORT WHITE — Fort White High football is hosting a kickoff classic game today and the Indians will be welcoming back an old rival in Dixie County High.

Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. at Arrowhead Stadium.

"Dixie has got a good team and we will have our hands full," Fort White head coach Demetric Jackson said. "They will be ready to play us."

Fort White and Dixie County played eight times from 2001-08 with the Bears winning five of the first six. Jackson then took over as head coach for consecutive wins of 58-22 and 44-27 and Dixie County dropped off the schedule.

"We have played them in middle school sports as long as I can remember and my thing is to try and schedule those teams," Jackson said. "They are the first ones I always call to schedule games."

Dixie County is coming off a 6-4 season and is in District 7-1A with returning Fort White High players huddle up at practice earlier this year. The Indians play Dixie County High in the kickoff classic tonight.

district schools Chiefland, Newberry and Union County. Williston High has replaced Baldwin High.

Dixie County's Brent Wilkerson is entering his 15th season as head coach. He has the Bears poised to return to the state playoffs for his ninth time. The last time was in 2009.

Dixie County is led by receiver and cornerback Duke Dawson, who has verbally committed to University of Florida.

James Bowers and Kendall Copeland return at running back, and the stated plan for the season was to use them in a Wing-T offense led by sophomore quarterback Aaron Thomas. Shaquille Mitchem started at quarterback last year and has been moved to receiver. Eli Long is a returning starter on the offensive line.

The varsity players will give way to backups and junior varsity for the fourth quarter of the classic.

"Practice didn't go badly this week," Jackson said. "We had hot weather and had to dodge some rainy weather. We are anxious to get going."

Local chapter receives check for scholarship fund.

It was football with a cause as the Lake City Seminole Club hosted its annual kickoff party at The Country Club at Lake City on Thursday.

The club was presented a check by Florida State Assistant Director of Programs Tom Block for $1,500 for the club's scholarship fund.

"These fundraisers are significant, because it's the traditional start to the year," Block said. "It's when our spirits are at their highest and we're ready for football."

Keen agreed, and he seemed eager to start a season in which he thinks the Seminoles will finish as champions.

"I expect to be 14-0 with an ACC and national championship," Keen said. "This is a kickoff to jump start the season for local guys and a fund raiser for us to hand out a couple of scholarships."

Florida State kicks off the season at Pittsburgh on Sept. 2.

Joey Logano Wins Pure Michigan 400; Drivers Make Mad Dash for the Chase

Joey Logano scored big on a couple of fronts at Michigan International Speedway on Sunday. His win in the Pure Michigan 400, his first of 2013 and his first in Sprint Cup since going to work for Roger Penske, propelled him into a position to make a serious bid for a berth in the Chase for the Sprint Cup, which begins after three more regular season races. He's now 13th in the standings, 17 points outside the top 10, but also eligible for a wild-card berth should he not finish the regular season among the top 10.

And his victory gave Ford Motor Co. bragging rights as the winner of the inaugural Michigan Heritage trophy that goes to the winning manufacturer of Cup races at Michigan.

The trophy, inspired by professional hockey's Stanley Cup, celebrates the spirit of the automobile and its importance to the Michigan track, which is the home turf of the U.S. automobile industry.

But a bigger reward for Logano and his Penske-owned No. 22 would be a spot in the Chase. And with races left to run at Bristol, Atlanta and Richmond, the battle for the final Chase berths is a close one.

The top 10 in points after Richmond are in the Chase, along with two wild-card entries, which will go to drivers in the top 20 with race wins.

Dale Earnhardt Jr., in seventh place and winless so far this season, is in jeopardy of missing the Chase as he's just 20 points ahead of 11th-place Kasey Kahne. Logano's teammate Brad Keselowski is eighth in the standings but only eight points ahead of Kahne — and without a win that would make him eligible for a wild-card berth. Kurt Busch, also winless for the season, is ninth, six points ahead of Kahne, who likely will make the Chase as a wild-card entry even if he's outside the top 10 because he has two race victories.

The other wild-card contenders at this point are Martin Truex Jr., in 12th, Logano and Ryan Newman, who is 15th in points, 27 markers out of the top 10. Each has one win so far this season.

For the 23-year-old Logano, and for those close to him in the standings, there's little room for mistakes or stumbles the next three weeks.

"I think we've got to be consistent," said Logano, who outdueled eventual runner-up Kevin Harvick on a late-race restart, then took the lead for good when Mark Martin ran out of fuel. "This is something Todd (Gordon, crew chief) and I talk about before we come to the race track every weekend — how aggressive we need to be to try to get into this Chase.

"We kind of decided we needed a win a couple weeks ago. So we did one, we got one. ... We need to try to figure out how aggressive we need to be."

For Earnhardt, who led 20 laps in the early going at Michigan before blowing a tire, smacking the wall and fading to 36th at the finish, the pressure is on for the next three weeks.

He insists his team is worthy of contending for the championship in the season-ending, 10-race Chase.

"There are guys in worse positions than us," Earnhardt said. "We ain't got to outrun just one guy; there's a lot of guys. And all of them have got to have clean races, just like we do."

"I think we'll be all right. We're not an 11th-place team. We're a top-five team. We're consistent. We're more consistent than most. We've just got to shake this luck, whatever is going on; it's something different every time."

Points leader Jimmie Johnson had misfortune once again at Michigan, one of the few Cup tracks where he's never won. He wrecked his primary car in practice, drove his backup all the way to the lead in the race only to blow his engine and finish 40th. He's still atop the points standings and locked into the Chase, but he regrets not being able to score a strong finish as he heads into the run for the championship.

"I hate having momentum not work in our favor late in the regular season," Johnson said. "I think we would have had a very strong race today if not a win. That momentum is key rolling into the Chase. That is the biggest downfall to me."

For Johnson's and Earnhardt's teammate Jeff Gordon, a mediocre run at Michigan put his title hopes in jeopardy.

Gordon's 17th-place finish leaves him 14th in the standings, 26 points out of the top 10 and without a win, but he overcame the odds last year to secure a Chase berth in the regular-season finale at Richmond.

Joey Logano hoists the winner's trophy in Victory Lane after prevailing in the 44th Annual Pure Michigan 400.

Joey Logano (left) battles Kurt Busch (middle) and Jeff Burton (right) for the lead in Sunday's Pure Michigan 400.

NOTEBOOK

James Buescher makes the most of his opportunity

Most of the time, when Kyle Busch races in the Nationwide or Camping World Truck Series, he can handle most any challenge from the series regulars, which is why he has 118 major NASCAR victories — 27 in Cup, 59 in Nationwide and 32 in the Truck Series.

But on Saturday in the truck race at Michigan International Speedway, it was young James Buescher taking Busch to school in the closing laps.

With a little over four laps left to run, the 23-year-old Buescher was third behind two far-more-experienced drivers, Busch in the lead and second-place Brendan Gaughan. But in the span of two corners, Buescher passed them both and held on for the win, his first of the season and fifth overall in the truck series.

"How the 31 (Buescher) can get a run on the 62 (Gaughan), who's got a run on me is beyond me," Busch said. "It blows my mind. He got a run on all of us, and I got down in turn three way too low on my entry to try to block, and I got loose."

"I don't know if he was that close to me or not, but I had to save my truck and in doing so he just drove right on by."

Buescher's victory moved him within one point of Jeb Burton, who is second in the standings, but they're both a ways out of first place. Matt Crafton is on top with a 51-point lead over Burton.

"It's a good way to start that turnaround," said Buescher, the defending series champion. "It's no secret that it's not the season we've been expecting."

Tony Stewart won't be behind the wheel again this season

Stewart-Haas Racing announced on Monday that Tony Stewart will miss the remainder of the Sprint Cup season due to the broken right tibia and fibula in a sprint car crash Aug. 5 at Southern Iowa Speedway in Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Veteran Mark Martin has been hired to drive Stewart's No. 14 Chevrolet for 12 of the remaining 13 races, with Austin Dillon, who drove for Stewart on Sunday at Michigan, taking the wheel for the Oct. 12 race at Talladega Superspeedway.

With Martin moving from his part-time ride in Michael Waltrip Racing's No. 55 Toyota to Stewart's car, the No. 55 will be driven by Brian Vickers, who has been sharing the ride with Martin, and team owner Michael Waltrip. Waltrip will drive the No. 55 at Talladega Superspeedway as scheduled earlier in the year. Vickers already has been named full-time driver of the Aaron's-sponsored No. 55 for 2014 and 2015.

Stewart is expected to return to the No. 14 in time for preseason testing in January 2014.

"After consulting with Tony's doctors and speaking with Tony, we agreed it was best for him to focus on his recovery," Greg Zipadelli, competition director at Stewart-Haas, said in a team release. "For the No. 14 team, our focus is on positioning them for a run at the owner championship. Mark Martin and Austin Dillon give us the best opportunity to do that, and we certainly appreciate Michael Waltrip Racing and Richard Childress Racing for making Mark and Austin available to us."

Waltrip said in his own team's release that the agreement between the teams involved is mutually beneficial.

"This opportunity to help two (future) Hall of Famers in Mark (Martin) and Tony Stewart at the same time, while getting the opportunity to run the rest of the year with Brian makes sense for MWR," Waltrip said. "But nothing could happen without the support of Aaron's, Toyota and the other MWR sponsors. Each of them saw the same benefits in such a move and helped make it happen. This is a truly win, win, win situation."

James Buescher celebrates his victory in Saturday's Michigan National Guard 200.

Juan Pablo Montoya's future uncertain as Chip Ganassi Racing makes a change

For Juan Pablo Montoya, the news last week that he was being dropped from the driver lineup at Chip Ganassi's Sprint Cup team wasn't as much of a surprise as it was to the rest of the racing world.

"To be honest with you, I think I knew from quite a while ago," Montoya told reporters at Michigan International Speedway last week. "(Ganassi officials) had an option earlier in the year, and they didn't take it, so I kind of knew it was going to be something different next year. ...

"They confirmed it this week and that was it."

Montoya, a 37-year-old native of Bogota, Colombia, said he's unsure what the future might bring for him, but he's looking to be in a situation where he can resume his winning ways.

"Whatever else I do, don't know what I'm going to do, but I want to make sure I'm in a winning car," he said. "It was a fun seven years with the Target car and Chip (Ganassi) and everything. We worked really hard and we had our ups our downs, but at the end of the day I want to win races."

Historically, it's been extremely difficult for drivers like Montoya to make the transition from high-downforce, rear-engine, open-wheel cars to NASCAR, with its low-downforce, fendered, front-engine cars. The open-wheel vets generally excel on road courses in NASCAR but struggle on the oval tracks that dominate the schedule.

But Montoya did better than most. He won two road course races, but overall he has 23 top-five and 56 top-10 finishes along with nine poles in 240 career Cup starts. He made the Chase in 2008, but has struggled the past three seasons, as has his teammate Jamie McMurray, who won three races in 2010 but has since been winless with only three top-five finishes since 2010.

Montoya, who won seven times on the elite Formula One series and has an Indianapolis 500 victory, said he believed he did a good job of making the transition to Cup cars, and attributed his lack of success at Ganassi's team to inconsistency within the team.

"I thought I picked it up pretty well," he said. "I run really well. I made the Chase in my third year."

"One of the hardest things ... is the amount of changes. There was never any consistency. ...

"It wasn't because they were doing it on purpose, they were just trying new things and trying to make things better. The problem is every time you make changes it makes it harder."

Jimmie Johnson said he agrees that consistency within a race team is a key to success once a driver gets accustomed to NASCAR's cars and tracks.

"I feel like you need five years to really know the tracks and the cars," Johnson said. "So, Juan is at that seven- or eight-year mark."

"You kind of get to a spot where you've got the experience, and there are many reasons why things might not work, and I firmly believe in the relationship between the driver and the crew chief is where the magic lies — especially once you're past that five-year mark."

Johnson has been with his crew chief Chad Knaus for his entire Cup career.

Whatever the problems were for Montoya and Ganassi, NASCAR stands to lose one of the drivers who often makes things interesting for race fans, dating back to his Cup debut at Homestead-Miami Speedway in 2006 when he tangled with Ryan Newman and wrecked.

So is Montoya going to try to stay in NASCAR? "I don't know," he said. "As I said, the number-one priority for me is trying to be in a winning car."

NOTICE OF TWO DECISIONS
Regarding Florida Power and Light Amendments to Existing Special Use Permits for Pole Replacement and Underground Utility Line Construction

USDA Forest Service
Osceola National Forest
Baker County, Florida
District Ranger Ivan Green has signed two Decision Memos to amend existing Special Use Permits held by Florida Power and Light (FPL) authorizing FPL to 1) replace 7 deteriorating utility poles and 2) construct 1300 feet of underground utility line for the purpose of providing electricity to a private residence. The Forest Service has determined that both projects are exempt from further analysis in an Environmental Assessment (EA) or Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) under 36 CFR 220.6(e). No extraordinary circumstances exist that would preclude use of this category. Associated project documents are on file at the Osceola Ranger District office, 24874, U.S. Highway 90, Sanderson, FL 32087. The office is located 12 miles east of Lake City, Florida on U.S. Highway 90. Office hours are weekdays 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. excluding federal holidays. No comments or statements of interest were received during formal 30-day periods provided for these projects, therefore neither decision is subject to appeal pursuant to 36 CFR Part 215.12. Implementation may begin immediately. For additional information concerning this decision or the Forest Service appeal process, contact Ivan Green, District Ranger, Osceola Ranger District, Osceola National Forest. 386-752-2577.

Columbia High's Roc Battle returns an interception in the Tigers' playoff win last year over Bartram Trail High.

Breaking down the 2013 Tigers

By BRANDON FINLEY
bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

Part of the excitement of high school football is the uncertainty of new players taking over each year due to graduation. Here's a look at Columbia High's 2013 offensive and defensive units:

■ Backfield — The Tigers are especially strong in the running game as head coach Brian Allen expects Lonnie Underwood to challenge for the school's single season rushing record.

"He has potential to break the record depending on how the line matures in front of him," Allen said.

"They need some time in the driver's seat like any good racer would."

Columbia will also replace fullback Darren Burch, but Allen is expecting good things out of Lucas Bradley.

"There's a lot of irony to year one with Burch, because Bradley is making the switch from linebacker as well," Allen said. "He's not quite there yet, but as the season goes on we expect him to play as well as anyone. He loves contact and as our fullback goes, so does our offense."

Backing up Underwood at running back will be freshman Kamario Bell, but Allen also expects Trey Marshall and Rakeem (Roc) Battle to take reps.

"Bell is a freshman with a lot of ability," Allen said. "He has the ability to flex out as a slot receiver and we expect him to be big for us right away. Keep in mind, we also have Trey and Roc, and we'll try to utilize them wisely. If we had an offensive minded head coach, there's no way they'd be playing defense. We've seen glimpses of what they can do last year and in the spring."

The quarterback position is the biggest question mark for the Tigers heading into the season.

Indians return a host of starters

By TIM KIRBY
tkirby@lakecityreporter.com

FORT WHITE — Fort White High football has starters returning all over the field, but the concern is where it counts — the scoreboard.

Trey Phillips and Michael Mulberry, who both signed college scholarships, combined for 20 of Fort White's 36 touchdowns in 2012.

"Touchdown production, that's what we've got to figure out," coach Demetric Jackson said. "Everyone on offense started for me last year, but they may be playing different positions."

Jackson has the luxury of four-year starter Andrew Baker at quarterback. Last year, Baker threw for 1,713 yards and 15 touchdowns. He added 223 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns.

"Andrew is understand-

A sense of urgency

By TIM KIRBY

FORT WHITE — Urgency returns to the Indians in 2013.

Fort White High football had a luxury of sorts for the last two seasons. After Williston High dropped out, the Indians played in a two-team district with Trinity Catholic High.

Since district champions and runners-up make the state playoffs, both teams were in before playing a game.

That's not to say Coach Demetric Jackson eased up on his scheduling. Including Trinity Catholic, Fort White played five playoff teams and beat two of them. A loss to The First Academy of Orlando in the opening round left the Indians with a record of 6-5.

"We don't shy away from tough teams," said Jackson, who will be entering his seventh season as head coach at Fort White. "We want to be a playoff caliber team and you have got to play good teams to prepare you. We don't want to play all cupcakes and get in the playoffs and lose."

Fort White has moved up in class to District 2-4A and the three opponents will prove a challenge. Madison County High, Taylor County High and Fernandina Beach High will fight the Indians for the two playoff spots.

Madison County has to be the favorite. The Cowboys are coming off back-to-back seasons as a

Marshall's time to shine

By BRANDON FINLEY

bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

It seems like every year Columbia High produces one of the nation's top-ranked athletes.

This year is no different as Trey Marshall has offers from across the country, but the senior safety has no intentions of letting the recruiting game become a circus.

Marshall committed to Florida State University this summer in order to focus on his last year with the Tigers and despite the eyes being firmly on him this season, he doesn't believe there's going to be anything different from past years.

"There's no pressure," Marshall said. "At the end of the day, it's just playing football."

Marshall said it was important for him to make a decision prior to the season, because he doesn't want the distractions of nightly phone calls from colleges and recruiting services.

"It's important, because I wanted to know what I was going to do beforehand so that I could focus on my season," Marshall said. "My only goal this year is winning state."

Still, Marshall isn't all about being a one-man wrecking crew. He knows that he has talent, but he also knows that the Tigers have talent around him. He also knows that it's going to take every bit of that

BRANDON FINLEY/Lake City Reporter

Columbia High senior Trey Marshall leads the Tigers' defense in 2013 and has already committed to play at Florida State University.

talent to help him accomplish his ultimate goal of winning a state title in his senior season.

"Everyone has to do exactly what they're supposed to do," Marshall said. "We have to compete every game like it is our last. We have to play how we can play and play how we know to play."

Marshall knows all too well what it's like to go home after a loss in the playoffs. The Tigers have been knocked out in the second and third round of the playoffs during the last two seasons, respectively.

Marshall said last year's loss at Navarre High still weighs on him.

"It's definitely something that I still think about," Marshall said. "When something like that happens, you're never going to forget. It's my one firing drive for this season."

Marshall is a part of a secondary that returns all four of its starters from last year's team. Along with Roc Battle, Roger Cray and Ben Kuykendall, the secondary has the potential to be the strength of the Tigers this season.

"I think we have the ability to be great," Marshall said. "It's a matter of how close we are both on and off the field. We all know how to play varsity football."

One of the biggest things Marshall looks to add to his game is being more of a vocal leader for the Tigers this season.

"It's not really a challenge," Marshall said. "I'm going to talk and tell them exactly how I feel."

Columbia starts the season fast and Marshall said that the Tigers will have an early indication of just where they stand.

"We have Lincoln and Gainesville in our first two games," Marshall said. "It'll be important, because we'll get to see where we are at."

Still, the senior knows that the first two games won't make or break the season. It's about learning from the mistakes and coming back strong each week.

"We should get better every day and every game," Marshall said. "We should be at least as good as we were last year if not better."

And Marshall's biggest supporter may be his head coach.

"Trey has all the accolades you need already," Columbia head coach Brian Allen said. "He's been named first team all-state. He's been invited to the Nike combine in Oregon and ran the fastest time in the country. He's been nominated to play in the U.S. Army

All-American Game. He's a Florida State commit. That just speaks volumes about him. We've developed a strong relationship. He works his butt off. He's been named the Lake City Reporter male athlete of the year, but he's a positive role model. Sometimes when people get success they're knuckleheads, but he does all the right things."

Kellen Snider: a family man for Fort White

By TIM KIRBY

tkirby@lakecityreporter.com

FORT WHITE — Kellen Snider has grown up around football and he is very good playing it.

So good, that Snider has received and accepted an offer to play at Miami University (Miami of Ohio).

Snider is a four-year starter at linebacker for the Indians and his high school career has been overseen by his dad, Ken Snider, the defensive coordinator for Fort White and a high school coach for two decades.

“We watch a lot of film together,” Snider said. “Sometimes he brings dad to the field, but he doesn’t bring coach at home. Being my dad he is tougher on me, but he doesn’t pick on me.”

There is not much to criticize about the senior who was all-state last year.

“He’s been around it all his life,” Coach Snider said. “It’s been in his blood. He had no choice, but he loves the game and is passionate about the game. It will be an emotional year, from watching him mature as a football player and a young man.”

Kellen’s affinity for football goes back even before he was born. Coach Snider said he got the name from the great tight end Kellen Winslow

“(Kellen) works hard and deserves everything he is getting,” Coach Snider said. “He has got to finish things on a good note at Fort White.”

After giving Snider a taste of the offensive backfield over the years, head coach Demetric Jackson seems determined to use him at tailback this season to back up Tavaris Williams.

“Kellen has worked real hard to improve,” Jackson said. “I really see his confidence, especially from an offensive standpoint. He is ready to go.”

Snider has only a couple of career catches and maybe a rushing attempt or two, but he did play quarterback in middle school.

“A couple of years ago, I realized being a senior and a leader means doing what the team needs you to do,” Snider said.

“If that is what Coach Jackson wants and needs, I am ready to take that role.”

Leading the defense from his linebacker position is Snider’s primary role.

He received the Most Outstanding Defensive Player award last year.

“I feel like my job is to be the quarterback of the defense, to get everybody lined up right,” Snider said. “I am really proud of this defense. We have one of the best defensive lines we have ever had, our secondary is great and I am surrounded by great guys at linebacker.”

Snider welcomes the challenge of a new district for his senior year.

“We respect all the teams in the district, they all have strong traditions,” Snider said. “Everybody’s goal is to win and we put in the hard work over the summer. I believe it is our year.”

Snider’s early college commitment will allow him to concentrate on football.

“I am happy with my decision,” Snider said. “Miami was my best fit. I have it behind me and I get to focus on my senior year and maybe lead our team to its first district championship.”

Football has been a part of the Snider family and so too has Fort White.

“I am excited, but it is kind of sad,” Snider said. “I will still have football, but there is nothing like your senior year. We are like family. We all get along with each other. It will be sad leaving my brothers.”

CHS: Defense looks to be the strength of 2013 Tigers' football team

Jake Thomas and Nathan Taylor are battling for the final spot.

"Jake might have the edge, because he played as a freshman as our No. 2 quarterback last year," Allen said. "Nate is pushing him hard, and I think they both will have an opportunity to start before the season is over."

■ Offensive line — Columbia will only return two starters with Milla Chasteen and Deonte Crumitie. Crumitie will move to left tackle where he will replace Ole Miss signee Laremy Tunsil. Though there are question marks, Allen expects the unit to eventually gel into a strong force.

"We have those two guys with experience as three-year starters," Allen said. "They're bigger, stronger and faster. They understand the expectations and we want them to be more vocal. They're veterans."

The question on the line is what comes in behind the two veterans.

"Ethan Bailey is a guy we brought up in spots for the games," Allen said. "He's also bigger, stronger and faster. Andrew Gaylard and (Dalton) Masters are two more guys that we're looking at. Masters might be the strongest kid on the team, we're just looking for him to put that on the football field. Kody Mixon is another guy that we need to be strong. We want this unit peaking during the playoffs."

■ Receivers—Rounding out the offense is a unit that could be as good as the Tigers have had at the position in a while. Caleb Carswell, Akeem Williams and Alex Weber all have experience and could make life easier for whoever is taking snaps.

"Carswell leads the group," Allen said. "He may have suffered a couple of broken ribs over the summer, but we never once heard him complain. He has to be the toughest kid on the team. He's just out there doing his job to the best of his ability. He's the ideal football player. He's continued to progress since he's been a freshman, so this is his time to shine."

Williams and Weber also expect to see a lot of action this fall.

"Williams has been battling through a groin injury, but his potential is extremely high," Allen said. "We just want to see it every day. Weber is the veteran of the group and J.T. Bradley will line up in the slot. We need these guys to play big. We need them to step up."

■ Defensive line — There's no doubt that the defense will be the strength of the Tigers in 2013 and that unit has to get big-time play from Tyrone Sands after returning from a season lost due to an ACL injury.

"He's running around at about 95 percent, but he's better than most at 100 percent," Allen said. "He's going to be big for us. If he can get back to where he was as a sophomore and have 10 or 11 sacks."

Helping out Sands coming off the end will be a 330-pound force in the middle. Malachi Jean is supposed to be Columbia's next dominant defensive tackle.

"He's starting to mature into what we need him to be," Allen said. "He's going to be one to be reckoned with. He's still learning, but he's a 330-pound kid that's as quick as some linebackers and backs. If he can play to his ability, I don't know who is going to be able to block him."

Carlos Vega and Robbie Moon are two more players that Allen is expecting big things from on the front.

"Carlos had a big third-down stop for us at Oakleaf that put us in position to win the game," Allen said. "He's short, but he's quick. Moon, I'm as high on him as I have been with anyone. It's scary how good he can be in the next three or four years."

■ Linebacker — Playing Allen's old position is a tough task for any Tiger, but the coach feels that he has a couple of good ones this season.

"Terry Calloway and Zedrick Woods are going to lead the group," Allen said. "Terry led the team in tackles last year and is an all-area type kid. He had 12 tackles for loss and he's a vocal guy for our team. Zedrick is ready to blow off the map. He's replacing his brother and has been unbelievable. He's a cannonball with a lot of flexibility."

Laquavious Paul and Bryan Williams will fill out the linebackers.

"Bell is a sophomore that will move inside to play SAM," Allen said. "He has good footwork and will only get better with time. He's maturing every day. Bryan Williams is a guy that played safety for us, but can help us out at linebacker replacing Drew Clark. He's smart enough he can do whatever we need him to do."

■ Defensive backs — The defense is the strength of the Tigers, but the strength of the defense comes in the secondary. Allen expects this group to be as good as any that has ever played at Columbia. The group is led by Trey Marshall, Roc Battle, Roger Cray and Ben Kuykendall.

"They're the strength of the team with all returning starters," Allen said. "Trey is the leader of the group being a three- or four-year starter. Roc is a two-year starter with seven scholarship offers. Ben has started three years and Roger is in his second year starting as only a sophomore."

Allen said what makes the unit special is their ability to feed off each other.

"They all play to each other's strengths," he said. "Marshall is the leader and the signal/huddle caller. Battle is the quickest and led the team with four interceptions. Ben is the thumper of the group and Roger had as good of a freshman campaign as anyone I can remember having here. We hope to see them all progress even more this year."

A look through Columbia's 2013 schedule

By BRANDON FINLEY
 bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

The road to the playoffs is a long one with trouble at every stop for Columbia High, but the Tigers look to qualify for the third time in as many years under head coach Brian Allen. A look forward at the upcoming season with Allen's comments:

Gainesville High — "Last year, there were all kind of implications. A lot of sports writers had picked us to be the two teams to represent in the state championship game. We got knocked off in the third round or that would have been the case. It's not as big of a game this year in the sense of them being No. 2 at the time and us being No. 3. I don't think either of us will be ranked that high going into week one. I think it will still be a huge game. We have a bitter taste from those games and want to get some redemption."

Lincoln High — "It's a game that's always been a huge. Lincoln was always on the schedule. They beat us in the second round with (coach Craig) Howard. We've both had ups and downs. We want to get the rivalry back going. They always have very good players. We look forward to going over to their place and have a very talented football game."

Buchholz High — "Buchholz has been getting themselves back rolling. We played them in week three and beat them, but they got things going and made the playoffs. It'll be the third team in a row that we play that went into the playoffs. Again, I think it'll be a very challenging game."

Terry Parker High — "I know there are some coaching changes. They team could be completely revamped. From our perspective, this will be the fourth game. We have to be ready for district play and set the tone to be where we want to go and that's the playoffs."

Englewood High — "They've struggled the last couple of years. They may have only won one, but we're worried about handling our business in that game. It's a playoff atmosphere in a district game. We have to establish ourselves as a team to win on the road."

Orange Park High — "Always a great time to have the band, alumni of CHS and the football team coming back home for homecoming. It's good to see what's going on with the football team. It's an exciting time to be back. We want to show ourselves against that Orange Park team. There's been a coaching change, but we want to continue to play the way we have."

Ed White High — "They're probably the powerhouse of the district if you have to name someone as one. They've had good football teams in the last couple of years. They've put kids into college. We are looking to have a competitive game against them after hopefully our fourth district win. If we can get one more, then we can establish ourselves as district champions."

Robert E. Lee High — "The last home game and it's always kind of bitter-sweet to pass your seniors off. They have to get ready for college and the next phase of their lives. That's a big part of what that's all about. There will be emotions and the young guys will be ready to play for the seniors. They'll be motivated and ready to go."

Middleburg High — "We're back at their place. The luck of the draw, we played over there, but the way we drew numbers, we're back there again. We could be undefeated in the district. They will want to blemish our record."

Suwannee High — "You have to look at it as they're going to come out and give us their best shot. We're going to have to play good football. They're going to look at it as they're the greatest team on grass. They're going to talk all year about beating us."

Fort White High's Tavaris Williams looks for running room in a game last season.

STARTERS: Most return

ing what we are working on this fall and that's getting us out of bad plays," Jackson said. "If you see something, audible."

Tavaris Williams returns at running back. Williams rushed for 888 yards last year and scored seven touchdowns.

Both fullbacks, Blair Chapman and E.J. Garrison, return, as do all five of the interior lineman — A.J. Kluess, Chris Waites, Randall Fraddosio, Dre Brown and Brason Caley.

"All our offensive linemen are back and that is a big plus," Jackson said. "We also have a couple of guys returning to give them back-up and that is an added bonus."

Receivers Melton Sanders and Caleb Bundy return. Kellen Snider is set to provide relief for Williams at running back. The one newcomer on offense is tight end Christian Helsel, who transferred from Santa Fe High.

"Christian is 6-3, 250, a big target that allows us to do things we were not able to do," Jackson said.

On the other side of the ball, you will see many of the same names.

"We should be solid on offense, but the problem is a lot of them play defense and that is where we have to be smart," Jackson said.

John Mattison is the nose guard for Fort White's 3-4 defense. He will be flanked by Waites and Helsel.

The linebacking corps of Cameron White, Snider, Chapman and Garrison is back.

Williams will be at one corner with Isaiah Sampson and Devaundre Mathews working at the other corner. Sanders is at one safety and will be relieved by John Byrne. Elijah Bryant or Baker will be at the other safety.

Sanders has added the kicking duties to his job of punter.

state runner-up. Madison County has won the state championship twice and finished second three other times.

"Madison is traditionally a great team — fast, strong and physical on defense," Jackson said. "They are coached by Mike Coe, but we don't know a lot about them."

Fort White was in the district with Madison County from 2005-08, and played them home and away the next two seasons. The Cowboys won all seven games, one as a rematch in the playoffs.

"We play them here and that is always good," Jackson said. "You keep chopping that tree and it is going to fall down."

Taylor County is a long-time opponent for Fort White, both in and out of district. Coach Ryan Smith's Bulldogs went to the playoffs last year after losing to Fort White in the regular season.

"We have played them every year I have been here," Jackson said.

"When we were fighting for (a district) runner-up spot, we beat each other two times. They have got a couple of good players coming back — their quarterback (Daniel Wentworth) and a receiver (honorable mention all-state Moral Stephens)."

Fernandina Beach is relatively new for Fort White, but Jackson scheduled them the last two years and won both games. Last year, the score was 31-14.

"They dropped down in classification from 5A," Jackson said. "Their coach, Travis Hodge, is from Madison. They play fundamentally sound. You have got to beat them."

Fort White has made the playoffs in five of Jackson's six seasons. This year, it is not assured.

"We have three tough opponents to prepare for," Jackson said. "We are familiar with all three teams. They have a lot of the same coaches on offense and defense and we know what they are going to do."

District play begins on Oct. 4, and Fort White will have played five games before then.

Dixie County High visits for the kickoff classic, then the Indians play Hamilton County High, Newberry High, Bradford High and Chiles High.

"We haven't played Dixie in 3-4 years, and they have probably their fastest defense," Jackson said. "It is always a good physical game with them."

Newberry went on to make the third round of the playoffs after Fort White beat the Panthers, 21-7.

"Newberry is always real physical and they will test you," Jackson said. "You find out where you are when you play them."

"Hamilton County has a new coach and a big buzz going on. They had more than 100 players come out in their three programs.

"We play Bradford in all the other sports and it is good for both communities."

Chiles will be the homecoming opponent on Sept. 20, after the original foe dropped sports. The Timberwolves are in Class 7A.

"Chiles has got some good-looking players, but they are not traditionally football players," Jackson said. "They have still got a lot more kids to chose from."

The district half of the season will be broken up by Suwannee High, and Buchholz High is the final opponent after playoff teams are settled.

"We played Suwannee in the classic last year," Jackson said. "They have got some skill players and a lot of talent. They are solid, but young. They are struggling with linemen."

Jackson coached with Mark Whittemore on the Bobcats staff for two years. Buchholz beat First Coast in the (7A) playoffs last year.

"You don't want to play a school that big with that tradition," Jackson said. "I did it for the money."
