Business will go on as usual at TIMCO's Lake City facility after the Greensboro, N.C.-based company was purchased for $388.8 million.

The day-to-day operations of Lake City's TIMCO facility will go unchanged as corporate executives prepare to sell ownership of the company for $388.8 million to Hong Kong Aircraft Engineering

Company Limited (HAECO) in Greensboro, N.C.-based TIMCO Aviation Services announced "a definitive agreement has been signed for [TIMCO] to be acquired by [HAECO]" in a press release Wednesday night.

"HAECO is acquiring TIMCO in whole," TIMCO's Vice President of Marketing and Business Development Leonard Kazmerski, said Thursday. "One hundred percent of it will be owned by HAECO. That said, the brand and management team and all of the

Two persons were transported to Lake City Medical Center following a three-car collision near the intersection of U.S. 90 and I-75 Thursday morning, LCPD reports. A black 2006 Acura TL was traveling west on U.S. 90 and entered a turn lane leading to the I-75 southbound on ramp while two vehicles, a bronze 2000 Buick Regal and a Blue 2005 Chrysler Town and Country, were traveling east around 11:15 a.m. Thursday, according to LCPD's report. The Acura then turned in front of the other two vehicles and collided with the left front end of the Buick, causing the Chrysler to strike the side of the Acura as well, the report said.

Both the driver of the Buick, 83-year-old Carmen Josephine Keene, and her passenger, 86-year-old Sidney R. Keene, were transported to Lake City Medical Center for possible injuries while all three vehicles were towed from the scene, the report said. The crash closed both westbound lanes of U.S. 90 for 45 minutes, according to eyewitness reports. The Acura's driver, Ernest Gulley, 35, of Gainesville, was found at fault for the crash and cited for failing to yield right-of-way and driving with a suspended/revoked license for the ninth time, the report said. Gulley was booked into Columbia County Detention Facility without bond. He faces charges of driving with a suspended/revoked license (habitual offender) and a probation violation.

Report: Man flees, hides under house

By STEVEN RICHMOND

Maeweather

Law enforcement arrested a man suspected of possessing crack cocaine and hiding under a house following a foot chase, CCSO reports. Sheriff's deputies' interaction with Keaven Leon Maeweather, 30, of 106 NE Milton Terrace, began after they watched him drive his green Toyota in an erratic manner near the intersection of Bascom Norris Drive and Marion Street, the arrest report said.

When deputies pulled Maeweather over, he exited his vehicle and began walking around with an "odd demeanor," staring at a deputy before walking side to side without paying any further attention to him, the report said. The vehicle also contained another male passenger and a flat screen television in the back seat, deputies said. During their investigation, the driver suddenly took off on foot westbound toward Main Boulevard and tossed an unknown object aside before deputies briefly lost sight of him, the report said. Believing the suspect entered a home on Alma Street, deputies made contact with the owner, who said no one entered the house, the report said. Deputies checked under the home, which stood slightly above ground level, and found Maeweather hiding under neath, the report said. An investigation of the original traffic stop revealed a green pill bottle filled with three large pieces of a substance consistent with crack-cocaine, deputies said. Maeweather was arrested and booked into Columbia County Detention Facility on $17,000 bond. He faces charges of drug equipment possession, cocaine possession, resisting an officer without violence, evidence destruction and driving with a suspended or revoked license.

Crown's new chief has high hopes

Workforce head optimistic about jobs picture.

By TONY BRITT
tbritt@lakecityreporter.com

More than 90 days in a new position and Robert Jones continues to exhibit the "can do" attitude — the attitude that employers and employees need to be successful. Jones is the new Florida Crown Workforce Board Region VII executive director and attitude plays a huge role in his position when dealing with employers and prospective employees for any new jobs that may become available.

"I'm excited about being the executive director," Jones said. "It's something I've looked forward to for quite a while. I've been the finance director here for 10 years, so this is kind of like the next step forward to me."

Jones

The Florida Crown Workforce Board Region VII office provides services for residents in Columbia, Dixie, Gilchrist and Union counties who are seeking employment. Services are available for people 18 years old and older, free of charge, though clients must register to use the services. Florida Crown Workforce Board Region VII has offices in Lake City, Trenton and Old Town.

A Lake City native, Jones has been working with the Florida Crown Workforce Board since 1998 and said the experience he gained at the agency in the financial department has helped in his transition to the new position. He became the Florida Crown Workforce Board executive director on July 1.

"I've been around for quite a while and it's been like a natural progression for me to move into this position," he said. "My experiences in coming up from the finance position has helped me especially with the budget matters and things like that."

The Florida Crown Workforce Board experienced a budget reduction at the beginning of the year. However, Jones said his plans are to continue providing the services residents need to gain employment.

Romney's cookbook more than recipes

Mitt Romney cooks. He washes dishes. The former Republican presidential candidate even does his own laundry.

The candid revelations come from his wife, Ann, who is taking her own turn in the media spotlight with a bestselling cookbook, "The Romney Family Table: Sharing Home-Cooked Recipes & Favorite Traditions."

Filled with photos and tales of everyday life inside the Romney household, Romney's new book isn't just about cooking. It offers readers a peek into the lives of a prominent American family, and she says, helps to dispel the myths of maids, personal chefs, chauffeurs and caretakers.

"I think people would be surprised to see how we really did live our lives," Romney said in a recent interview.

She chuckles at the image of her family being waited on hand and foot as she and Mitt raised five sons. They now also have 22 grandchildren.

"I was doing the cooking. Mitt was washing the dishes. The boys were misbehaving. Life wasn't perfect. It was messy," she said.

With recipes ranging from Mimi's buttermilk pancakes to mango salad, lasagna noodle bake, Mitt's meatloaf cakes and banana trash pudding, the book has reached the New York Times advice best seller list.

Romney said her husband first started cooking when she was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in 1998, a disease that ravaged her in the beginning, sapping her energy and forcing her to rest constantly, something she wasn't used to doing.

"He learned how to roast a chicken, how to steam vegetables," she said, adding that things have changed a bit since the disease went into remission.

"It's really interesting that he's forgotten all about it now that I'm better," she joked, noting that he was probably at home making himself hot dogs while she travels to promote her book.

She said proceeds from the book's sales will be donated to research at the Center for Neurologic Diseases at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston where she has been treated since her diagnosis.

But why a cookbook? Romney explained it simply: It was a "more upbeat, positive, cheerful thing to write about than politics."

Duke of Windsor's Cadillac coming to NYC

NEW YORK — A 1941 Cadillac custom-built for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor is heading for a New York City auction.

Dubbed "The Duchess," the limousine features rose-colored broadcloth upholstery, four jewelry cases and three cigar lighters.

It's estimated to fetch between $500,000 to $800,000. It is being sold Nov. 21 by Sotheby's and RM Auctions.

General Motors delivered the limo to the Windsors at the Waldorf Astoria, where they had a suite. The duke paid $14,000 for it.

One of the first Cadillacs to have power windows, it's fitted with satin privacy curtains.

It's being sold with the car title bearing the duke's signature.

The current owner is a Birmingham, Ala., food critic and Cadillac collector. Morgan Murphy found it in a barn next to a tractor in Texas in 2005.

AG challenges medical marijuana

TALLAHASSEE — Florida Attorney General Pam Bondi is challenging a proposal to allow the use of medical marijuana in the state.

Bondi criticized the proposed amendment in a filing she made Thursday to the Florida Supreme Court. By law, the attorney general asks the court to review proposed amendments.

The Supreme Court could throw out the amendment if it agrees with Bondi.

The Republican attorney general called the amendment misleading. Bondi told the court that if passed by voters the measure would allow marijuana use in limitless situations.

Bondi also said the amendment could confuse voters that medical marijuana use would be allowed under federal law.

The group pushing the amendment — People United for Medical Marijuana — needs to gather nearly 700,000 signatures in order to make the 2014 ballot.

Online abuse victims reach out

WASHINGTON — Sarah Ball was a 15-year-old high school sophomore at Hernando High School in Brooksville, Fla., when a friend posted on Facebook: "I hate Sarah Ball, and I don't care who knows."

Then there was the Facebook group "Hernando Haters" asking to rate her attractiveness, plus an anonymous email calling her a "waste of space." And this text arrived on her 16th birthday: "Wow, you're still alive? Impressive. Well happy birthday anyway."

It wasn't until Sarah's mom, who had access to her daughter's online passwords, saw the messages that the girl told her everything.

More young people are reaching out to family members after being harassed or taunted online, and it's helping. A poll released Thursday by The Associated Press-NORC Center for Public Affairs Research and MTV found incidents of "digital abuse" are still prevalent but declining somewhat. It found a growing awareness among teenagers and young adults about harm from online meanness and cyberbullying, as well as a slight increase among those willing to tell a parent or sibling.

"It was actually quite embarrassing, to be honest," remembers Ball, now an 18-year-old college freshman. But "really, truly, if it wasn't for my parents, I don't think I'd be where I'm at today."

The survey's findings come a week after two Florida girls, ages 12 and 14, were arrested on felony charges for allegedly bullying online a 12-year-old girl who later killed herself by jumping off a tower at an abandoned concrete plant.

Driver hits, injures 3 students

BOWLING GREEN — A driver who didn't realize a school bus had stopped to pick up students swerved onto the shoulder of State Road 62 and hit three children.

The Florida Highway Patrol says one of the children — 9-year-old Caylin Morgan Skipper — was critically wounded Thursday morning. Two other children suffered minor injuries.

Troopers say 69-year-old Louis Edward Stephen told them he thought the red lights on the school bus were the flashing lights at a nearby intersection. By the time he realized it was a school bus, he wasn't able to stop. To avoid a collision, Stephen swerved right and hit the children, who were getting onto the bus.

The critically injured child was flown to Tampa General Hospital.

"My main plan is to continue to provide services to our customers - job seekers, employers and people who need help in filing their re-employment claims. Basically, we're here to help," he said.

After months of decreased unemployment rates, the local jobless rate increased in early summer, only to fall again when the school year started.

According to statistics released from Florida Crown Workforce Board earlier this year, at least 64 people apply for every one position that's posted with the agency.

Jones said he expects the local unemployment picture to improve.

"So far we're looking pretty good," he said. "We're below the state unemployment average here in Columbia County and three of our four counties are below the state unemployment average - the only one that is not is Dixie County - and I've heard some encouraging news about them opening up the old paper mill there, so that should help the Dixie County employment rates.

"Hopefully the unemployment rate will continue to go down as more and more employers seek out new employees and we can get some of those new people to work," he said.

According to Kazmerski, HAECO "made a commitment" that there will be no changes to facility staffing levels, including Lake City, but that potential future job growth was part of the value both companies saw in the arrangement.

The agreement, as it currently appears, can be likened to Facebook's $1 billion acquisition of Instagram in April 2012, in that TIMCO will remain largely intact as it stands today, just under the umbrella of a larger publicly-traded company that has made similar acquisitions in the past.

Kazmerski said that referring to TIMCO as a subsidiary would be the most accurate way of describing the new "com-be able to do new work here that would have otherwise gone overseas."

TIMCO said the Lake City airframe facility employs 623 of the company's 2,750 employees throughout the United States as of October, and is the fourth largest employer in Columbia County behind PCS Phosphate-White Springs (706), the VA Medical Center (1,100) and the School Board (1,374), according to data from the Chamber of Commerce.

Workers there primarily handle the maintenance, repair and overhaul of aircrafts and their components, including things such as structure, fuselage and various other mechanics.

Kazmerski said the deal wasn't necessarily indicative of increased air traffic in the future, but only "the amount of work will increase. The work performed can take anywhere from a few days to [several weeks]."

Kazmerski said senior staff have January 2014 as a goal for the agreement's finalization, pending bureaucratic hurdles such as paperwork, financial details and foreign investment clearance from the federal government.

HAECO is a publicly traded company on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange (SEHK: 0044, OTC Pink: HKAHEY) and owns aircraft maintenance facilities within Hong Kong, mainland China, Singapore and Bahrain. This will be the first agreement of its kind HAECO has made with an American company, Kazmerski said.

OUR OPINION

Last chance to Punt for a Pickup

Tonight's your last chance to cheer on the Columbia High Tigers at home and maybe, just maybe, win a new pickup truck. You know how it works.

Just go to the game against Lee tonight at Tiger Stadium and hang on to your ticket stub.

A few minutes before halftime, a random drawing will select the evening's contestant.

If you hear your number called, quickly make your way to the north end zone to fill out a few forms and formally attest that you are not an NFL ringer.

Then comes the fun part.

You'll line up at the 25-yard line and try to punt a regulation football into the bed of a brand new Ford F-150 parked on the endline 35 yards away.

If the ball travels through the air, lands in the bed of the truck and stays there, you win the Ford.

If not, you'll likely have the time of your life trying.

This is the last home game of the season and the last installment of Punt for a Pickup.

It's been great fun so far.

We hope to see you tonight.

'Here's your sign'

I watched the "Blue Collar Comedy" redneck comedy show recently, starring Jeff Foxworthy and his team. In his standup routine, Bill Engvall says, "Here's Your Sign!" to point out how we miss obvious clues life gives us. Maybe it's true: We're given signs at major crossroads in our lives, and we're given opportunities to change the very direction of our lives?

Do you believe that life gives us "signs?" Are they really "coincidences," or do some things happen because they're "supposed to?" Is there such a thing as "luck?" I asked my minister about a belief in "signs." He thought about it, and includes the idea of receiving signs in his beliefs.

Have you ever thought there were times when you were given a sign? Did things ever seem to come together, just at the right time? Did a sign point out an important moment, where you faced crossroads, and saw an opportunity to make major life changes?

One day 25 years ago, my girlfriend and I walked on the windy overcast beach. Deep in conversation, we sat down in the sand at the edge of the crashing surf. Love had brought us joy, and a deep caring for each other. We mused over where it was going. We talked about an uncertain future, and about our hopes and dreams.

A sunbeam slipped through a break in the stormy clouds. I said, "What if it shone on us, would that be a sign?" The sunny spot on the ocean advanced towards us, and when it reached us, we were bathed in the bright yellow warm sunlight. Our sunbeam lingered briefly. We smiled at each other, we felt that somehow everything was going to turn out right for us. Yes, there were goose bumps. Now and then, all of these years later, we still get a thrill when we share the memory.

Robert Denny
Bob.Denny8@gmail.com

We've been married all these years now, free of anger, hostility, or fights with each other. We're "soulmates," and we're best friends. What's our story? She was two years out of a bad relationship, and had decided to stay single. One day her friends talked her into going for a day cruise to Catalina Island, on an old 115-foot sailing ship. She only agreed to go at the last minute, and believing that she would show up, they had bought a ticket for her.

At that time in my life, I was restless, and sought new adventures, and new directions. I had surfed and sailed small boats for years, and had a love for the ocean. I stumbled upon an opportunity for a day trip to Santa Barbara Island, and enjoyed it so much that I hired on to help crew that ship the following weekend. It was on that trip, on the open ocean, that I met that wonderful lady. We hit it off right away. We dated. We soon realized that we were "meant to be soulmates."

Another sign? I've always had an interest in psychology and counseling, and wanted to do counseling. I earned a bachelors' degree in psychology, but couldn't qualify in California as a therapist without a master's degree. A few years later, my parents were living in Florida, and my mom passed away. My dad was devastated, and we moved to Florida to help and support him. It so happens that in Florida you can work as a counselor trainee with just a BS degree. So I applied as a youth counselor for troubled youth and families, earned the masters' degree and became a licensed mental health counselor. I found the career of my dreams, and since then, I've enjoyed my favorite career, and helped kids and families for many years.

You never know when "fate" may give you a sign, and shed the light on a direction you're "supposed" to go. Don't miss that sign when it comes up!

■ Bob Denny teaches psychology at Florida Gateway College and enjoyed a career as mental health therapist for families and troubled youth in Florida. Address your comments to Bob. Denny8@gmail.com or 386-454-4950.

Unacceptable lapses at missile bases

In the Cold War years of the 1950s and '60s and even into the '70s, America's nuclear arsenal - its size, deployment, the aircraft and rockets that would deliver it and the Air Force officers and crews who oversaw it - were front and center in the U.S. defense posture....

The Associated Press has detailed two instances this year when Air Force launch officers failed to secure blast doors intended to keep terrorists and intruders from gaining access to the missile bases' underground command posts.

For security reasons and to avoid embarrassment and awkward questions, mishaps and errors at missile bases and nuclear facilities rarely become public. One did in 2007, when six armed nuclear cruise missiles were inadvertently loaded aboard a B-52 and flown from North Dakota to Louisiana. The mistake was not discovered for 36 hours.

As in the case of the blast doors, the Air Force quickly punished the responsible officers, but that does not address the broader issue. As the AP put it, "The problems, including low morale, underscore the challenges of keeping safe such a deadly force that is constantly on alert but unlikely ever to be used."

Inescapably, however, these are problems that must be faced. Unceasing vigilance in this case is more than just a platitude; it's a vital element of our defense against an enemy that sees martyrdom as not only a tactic but a desirable goal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Why is USDA in the home loan business?

To the Editor:

Can someone please explain to me why the U.S. Department of Agriculture is underwriting housing loans? Anybody ever heard of Freddy Mac or Fannie Mae or the FHA? OK, maybe I could understand if the home is associated with a working farm/ranch then maybe the USDA might be involved.

The "our opinion" (who is "OUR," by the way) article states that up to 80 percent of the Columbia County housing market falls into the rural category.

So how is rural defined? Does the home have to set on ½ acre, 1 acre, 5 acres, 10 acres or maybe does it just have to be located in a "rural" county? This sounds to me like another "Big Government" wealth redistribution/vote buying scheme. Why do my federal tax dollars need to subsidize the rural buyer? Are the rural buyers a protected class? I do realize that they are a minority of the population but that 5 percent minority provides food for the other 95 percent.

It seems to me that this unsigned opinion piece is a backdoor attempt to assign the blame for the current housing downturn, because of the Federal government "shutdown," on the conservative movement. Has it occurred to anyone that maybe people are beginning to think twice about a housing purchase when they can't be sure their work hours won't be reduced to part time or have their health insurance cost double. I'm pretty sure the hard-working middle class of this country is fed up providing, through their tax dollars, 100 percent underwritten USDA loans to citizens that have no skin in the game and thus have no incentive to repay the loan if things get tough.

When I do communicate with Senator Rubio and Congressman Yoho you can bet it will be to thank them for voting NO on the continuing resolution and trying to close the damper on outrageous spending.

Wellborn's Spectacular Fall Festival

From staff reports

A full day of fun, games, a community-wide yard sale and the semi-annual "World's Largest Used Book Sale" are all on the schedule for Saturday, Oct. 26 at the Wellborn United Methodist Church celebrates its first annual "Spectacular Fall Festival." It promises to be a big day of activity, with something for all ages, not to mention a fabulous German-style lunch.

Activities will kick off with a yard sale and used book sale beginning at 8 a.m. Everyone is invited to set up to sell their "junk and treasures" free of charge. Those wishing to take part in the yard sale are asked to bring their own tables and chairs. Parking is available across the street at the Outreach Ministries building. All used-books will be sold by donation, and proceeds will benefit both the Wellborn community library and the Wellborn United Methodist Church. There will also be a bake sale held concurrently with the book sale, with many delicious homemade goodies available for purchase.

The wide range of children activities begin at 10 a.m. with a special flag presentation by local Boy Scouts. Throughout the day, there will be a bounce house for children and numerous other games including a marshmallow on a string game, spoon relay race, three-legged race for adults and children and more.

Beginning at 11 a.m., chef Roy Van Sise will be offering a German luncheon, which will include bratwurst, sausage or hot dog, potato salad, chips and ice tea. The cost will be $5 for adults and $1 for children.

This is the first fall festival for the Wellborn United Methodist Church, and we encourage you to come make a day of it as we celebrate the arrival of fall.

Wellborn United Methodist Church is located at 12005 County Road 137. Call Rev. Dr. Everett L. Parker at 386-688-1358 for more information.

Tabernacle and Christ

Any student of the Bible knows that there are pictures and types of Jesus throughout the Old Testament. The late Dr. M. R. DeHaan once said "that unless you have found Christ in the Old Testament passages you have not yet found the whole meaning of it".

One of the most beautiful pictures of Jesus is found in the Tabernacle. God gave Moses instructions to build it in Exodus 25. It would be a place where God would meet with man. It was called "the tabernacle of the congregation." The Tabernacle was a moveable tent seventy-five feet wide, one hundred and fifty feet long. God always wants to dwell with, have fellowship with, and communicate with His people (Exodus 25:22).

The Tabernacle and its courtyard were constructed according to God's plan. The Tabernacle helps us understand the steps that God laid out for sinners to approach a Holy God. It was the place where God dwelt with His people for 400 years from Exodus to King Solomon. It was in the center of the camp of the Israelites, surrounded by the 12 tribes. This tells us that today Christ should be the center of our lives.

There are about 50 chapters in the Bible that discuss the Tabernacle. It was a shadow of things in heaven. Hebrews 8:1-5 tell us that the real Tabernacle is in heaven. This is where Jesus himself, our High Priest, is (Hebrews 8:2). The Tabernacle was built out of material that today would cost well over a million dollars. Our salvation cost the blood of the Lamb of God, Jesus.

The Tabernacle had seven pieces of furniture. First, Bronze Altar, the place where the animals were sacrificed for sinful people. The blood was important to justify the people before God (Exodus 27:1-8). Jesus is our perfect sacrifice and shed His blood for our sins (John 1:29; Hebrews 10:10; Romans 4:25). Second, Laver of Brass (Exodus 30:18; 38:8). The priest washed himself here after the sacrifice. We, as children, also need to be cleansed (I John 1:8-9). Third, Golden Candlestick. It was fueled by oil and provided light in this otherwise dark room. Jesus called himself the Light of the world (John 12:46). We are to be the light in the absence of Jesus (Acts 13:47). Fourth, Table of Shewbread (Exodus 25:23-30). It held the 12 loaves of bread that were eaten by Aaron and his sons; replaced every week on the Sabbath. Jesus said He is the "Bread of Life" (John 6:35; 6:51). Fifth, Altar of Incense (Exodus 30:1-10). Incense was to be burned constantly on the altar. Incense represents the prayers of the faithful (Revelation 5:8; 8:3-4). Sixth, the Veil that separated the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place where the Ark of the Covenant was kept. When Jesus died on the cross, the veil was rent from top to bottom. Now mankind can go directly into the presence of God (Hebrews 4:16). The Seventh, Ark of the Covenant and the Mercy Seat. This was the Most Holy Place where God spoke to the high priest. Through Jesus, God speaks to Christians today. The Bible says we are all kings and priest. So God deals with us one on one. Trust Him today.

These seven pieces of furniture in the Tabernacle all had a special meaning. Today all you and I need is the Lord Jesus Christ. It is His blood sprinkled on the altar for our sins that is the only perfect sacrifice for our sins. Trust His shed blood today.

Building up the members

In his letter to the Ephesians, Paul tells them that one of the purposes of the "apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers" (4:11) is to build up the church. Obviously he is not talking about the physical building, but rather the members of the body of Christ.

Paul seems to indicate that one of the missions of the church is to build up the members. In this context he is talking about increasing their faith based upon what will be taught. He does not want them to be like children or waves of the sea which are tossed to and fro by every wind of doctrine. He wants the members to be strong and stable. The question is, what can the church do to accomplish this goal?

The word "church" is used in the New Testament in two ways. One is when the context is talking about all of the saved in a given region or the entire world. An example would be when Paul speaks of the church being the "body of Christ." The other use of the word "church" in the New Testament is when it is speaking of a group of Christians working together to accomplish what Jesus wants accomplished; such as the church at Ephesus.

There are several things which a local church can do to strengthen the faith of the members. One of the things which can be done is to hold weekly Bible studies. We commonly call this "Sunday School." Either before or after the Sunday morning service in which a sermon is preached, many churches hold classes for various age groups. These classes should have a lesson taught using the Bible as the focal or reference point. The emphasis should be on teaching what the Bible says and then make applications to our daily lives. A character study of an individual in the Bible, with the emphasis upon understanding why and how they were faithful to God, possibly could inspire others to live for God like that individual did.

In the Bible class a book of the Bible could be studied in a way that the student becomes familiar with the text. Again with the idea of how can the learner make application to their lives. A study of some of the Old Testament books will illustrate the character of God along with how He dealt with people. From such a study our confidence in God would be greatly increased. Members can be built up in their love for God because they can read about all the things which He has done to benefit other people.

Another way to build up the members is to have special events periodically where Bible lessons are taught. Maybe these lessons will be on a topic which the listener can put into practice in their lives. Maybe these lessons will be on a subject germane to salvation or the work of the church or how members can be edified.

Still another way that the local church can build up its members is by publishing written material that the members can take home and read. There can be material bought and distributed that small groups can use for a group discussion at any location.

Building up the faith of the members is just one function or purpose of the local church. Without members becoming stronger, they will fall away and the local church will die. If the local church dies, then our communities will suffer morally. Let's encourage local churches to spend more time teaching the Bible to their members so they will be built up.

THE GOD OF WONDERS

jackexumjr@yahoo.com

Growing up, I remember times when we would gather on the porch and watch as storms could be seen "coming in." The temperature would drop, dark clouds would cover the sky, and the thunder could be heard along with the flashes of lightning. We would say, "Wow! Did you see that lightning dad?!" Just sitting in our rocking chairs, we were all amazed at God's grand power.

Now mom and dad are gone, we still sit and watch the storms roll in. Sometimes we go out on the porch at night and look at the sky, filled with stars and are so amazed at God's creation. We sat and watched the program the other night called, "God of Wonders" narrated by Creation Scientists, and I just wanted to note a few things that were mentioned on this great program.

In Romans 1:20 Paul says, "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities—his eternal power and divine nature—have been clearly seen, being understood from what has been made, so that people are without excuse."

The sun's core is twenty seven million degrees Fahrenheit. Five million tons of energy leaves the sun every second. One million earths would fit into the sun, and yet our sun is average in size compared to other suns. "Arcturus" is the brightest star (one hundred times brighter than ours). "Betelgeuse" is one hundred times brighter than that. Yes, "The LORD reigns, he is robed in majesty; the LORD is robed in majesty and armed with strength; indeed, the world is established, firm and secure" (Psalm 93:1). "By the word of the LORD the heavens were made, their starry host by the breath of his mouth" (Psalm 33:6). Without the sun, all life would just disappear! So, "Let all the earth fear the LORD; let all the people of the world revere him" (Psalm 33:8). There are hundreds of billions of galaxies, maybe a trillion billion galaxies... how great is that?! "Great is our Lord and mighty in power; his understanding has no limit" (Psalm 147:5).

All of this is circling and spinning, and moving in sync and design and by plan! To try and cross our galaxy would take an estimated twenty eight billion light years. (Light travels about 671 million miles per hour.) I am reminded of what Isaiah says, "Do you not know? Have you not heard? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Have you not understood since the earth was founded? He sits enthroned above the circle of the earth, and its people are like grasshoppers. He stretches out the heavens like a canopy, and spreads them out like a tent to live in" Isaiah 40:21-22.

Truly, "The heavens declare the glory of God; the skies proclaim the work of his hands. Day after day they pour forth speech; night after night they reveal knowledge. They have no speech, they use no words; no sound is heard from them. Yet their voice goes out into all the earth, their words to the ends of the world. In the heavens God has pitched a tent for the sun" (Psalm 19:1-4).

"God of Wonders" is the name of the program, look it up, watch it, think about it... Our God is an Awesome, Awesome God... He reigns!!! He loves you!!! He gave His one and only Son just for you and me.

Boaz and Ruth teach lessons on respect

"Just then Boaz arrived from Bethlehem and greeted the harvesters, 'The Lord be with you!' 'The Lord bless you.' they called back. Boaz asked the foreman of his harvesters, 'Whose young woman is that?' The foreman replied, 'She is the Moabitess who came back from Moab with Naomi. She said, 'Please let me glean and gather among the sheaves behind the harvesters.' She went into the field and has worked steadily from morning till now, except for a short rest in the shelter.' So Boaz said to Ruth, 'My daughter, listen to me. Don't go and glean in another field and don't go away from here. Stay here with my servant girls. Watch the field where you are harvesting, and follow after the girls. I have told the men not to touch you. And whenever you are thirsty, go and get a drink from the water jars the men have filled.'" — Ruth 2:4-9

So far the only thing we have learned about Boaz is that he was related to Naomi through her deceased husband. Since you never get a second chance to make a good first impression, let's make sure we get it right! According to Matthew 12:34, we can rest assured that "...out of the overflow of the heart the mouth speaks." Which means even without a personality profile or a lengthy resume, we can learn plenty about someone by paying close attention to the words they speak and the way they interact with others...

The first words we hear from Boaz are a greeting to his employees, "The Lord be with you!" Webster's dictionary defines a greeting as an expression of kind wishes. In his commentary on the book of Ruth, Matthew Henry points out, "...language such as this would not be heard in our fields, but on the contrary, that which is immoral and corrupt." Would an outsider listening in to your workplace conversations form a very different opinion than what we see in Boaz? How we speak to those we work with is a true test of character, especially those who are under our authority...a test Boaz passes with flying colors. From the friendly exchange, it appears that Boaz is kind and respectful, and this is consistent with the respect that is returned by his workers.

HEART MATTERS

angieland3@windstream.net

As a woman, the next thing we observe makes me want to stand up and clap!! Take note of the way that Boaz speaks to Ruth: first of all, he calls her daughter! What a great standard for any man to set...to treat every woman he encounters the same way he would want to treat his own daughter treated! To keep things fair, I need to talk to the girls for a second...understand that most men will treat you according to the "vibes" you send out. If you want respect, make sure that it is obvious that is what you are looking for...catch my drift? The other day, I stood in the grocery checkout line behind a beautiful young woman with expletives in huge letters on the back of her t-shirt. I mean, honestly, what kind of message are we trying to send? The way we talk, act, and dress affect the way we are treated. Beyond that, make sure that your standard is set. If you are accepting of dirty jokes and vulgar language in your presence, don't expect to be respected. Surely we can raise the bar!

The Bible records James 3:2 to remind us that "we all stumble in many ways. If anyone is never at fault in what he says, he is a perfect man, able to keep his whole body in check." From beginning to end, Boaz's speech was respectful, kind and helpful to others...how much more productive our own relationships could be if we followed his example...

Because every heart matters, Angie

Pope expels German 'luxury bishop' from diocese

By GEIR MOULSON and NICOLE WINFIELD
Associated Press

VATICAN CITY — Pope Francis expelled a German bishop from his diocese on Wednesday pending the outcome of a church inquiry into his 31 million-euro ($43-million) new residence complex.

The Vatican didn't say how long Bishop Franz-

Peter Tebartz-van Elst, 53, would spend away from the diocese of Limburg but it refused calls to remove him permanently. It gave no information on where he would go or what he would do.

The Vatican said the bishop was leaving pending the outcome of a German church investigation into the expenditures and his role in the affair. Fellow bish-

Tebartz van Elst

"This is a crisis of confidence that will be hard to overcome," said the dean of the cathedral chapter, Guenther Geis.

Limburg's vicar general, the Rev. Wolfgang Roesch, who had been due to start Jan. 1, will instead begin work immediately and will run the diocese during Tebartz-van Elst's absence, the Vatican said.

At the center of the controversy is the huge price tag for the construction of a new bishop's residence complex and related renovations. Tebartz-van Elst has defended the expenditures, saying the bill was actually for 10 projects and there were additional costs because the buildings were under historical protection.

But in a country where Martin Luther launched the Reformation five centuries ago in response to what he said were excesses and abuses within the church, the outcry has been enormous. The perceived lack of financial transparency has also struck a chord since a church tax in Germany brings in billions a year to the German church.

Tebartz-van Elst's leadership style has also been criticized. In August and September, more than 4,000 people signed an open letter to the bishop criticizing what they considered his authoritarian style.

Smoke advisory issued for I-75

From staff reports

The Florida Highway Patrol is monitoring a stretch of I-75 in Columbia and Alachua counties for visibility issues due to smoke from a 300-acre controlled burn near Falling Creek Road.

Mile marker 406 through 416 is affected, an FHP media release said.

Motorists are urged to reduce their speed and use low-beam headlights in these areas, FHP said.

U.S. 129 in Hamilton Co. to close Saturday

From staff reports

U.S. 129 south of Jasper is scheduled to close to traffic all day this Saturday, October 26, to accommodate the relocation of a dragline used by PCS Phosphate.

The road will be closed east of Interstate 75 (Exit 451) on the south end and at Southwest 55th Drive on the north end. The closure is approximately two miles south of U.S. 41 and four miles south of Jasper. The closure will begin at 8 a.m. and end by 5 p.m.

The closure will allow a dirt ramp to be built across the two-lane roadway and a giant dragline to be moved across the roadway from PCS property on the east side of the road to their property on the west side of U.S. 129. Once the dragline is moved across the roadway, the dirt berm will be removed and the area cleaned up.

All traffic will be detoured to County Roads 158 and 249.

The detour is approximately 15 miles long. A weight limit of 20 tons exists on CR 158 at the Mitchell Creek bridge. The relocation is taking place on a Saturday to minimize disruption to school buses and traffic who use this section of U.S. 129 traveling to Hamilton County High School.

This is the first time the 2-million pound dragline is moved across U.S. 129. A larger dragline was moved across U.S. 41 in August 2012.

The last chance to punt for a pickup

From staff reports

One lucky fan of Columbia High School Tiger football will get the final chance to punt for a pickup during Friday night's home game against Robert E. Lee High.

During halftime, a fan will be chosen at random and given the chance to punt a football from the 35 yard line into the back of a pickup truck. If the fan can punt the football through the air into the bed of the truck and it stays in, he or she will be the proud owner of a new Ford F-150.

"Tonight's the night! This is the final attempt and we're ready for a large senior night crowd at the CHS football game to come through with a winner," said Todd Wilson, Lake City Reporter publisher. "There has been a lot of buzz about this promotion all year and I want to thank all of our sponsors for making this exciting contest possible. It has been a lot of fun."

Contestants must be 18 years old and other restrictions apply. Three of the first four contestants have come close to punting the ball into the truck.

The contest is made possible through the Reporter's primary sponsors Rountree Moore Ford and Drawdy Insurance Services. Co-sponsors include S&S Food Stores, Advance Dry Cleaners, Phone Shack, Florida Gateway College, The Ichetucknee Partnership, Foreman & McInnis Attorneys, and Cheek and Scott Pharmacy.

Proceeds from the contest will benefit Principal Todd Widgren's new CHS STRIPES total student program.

Friday's game against Robert E. Lee High will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the CHS Tiger Stadium. Each fan's gate ticket automatically enters him or her into a chance to punt. This will be the last opportunity to participate in Punt for a Pickup.

Return to form

Columbia looks to get back on winning track.

By BRANDON FINLEY

bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

Columbia High returns to action tonight and the Tigers hope to return to form. The Tigers Lonnie Underwood was listed as day-to-day all week, but head coach Brian Allen made it known on Thursday that the Tigers don't have him in their plans for Friday. Underwood is still recovering from a hip flexor injury.

"He's not going to play," Allen said. "I haven't practiced him at all. He's rehabbing. I'm not holding him out because I'm trying to rest him. He's not ready to go. It's not benefiting us if he's not 100 percent. It'll further hinder him from being able to dress later."

Kemario Bell and Darian Dallas will split time at running back with Bell getting the start in Underwood's absence.

"That'll be our plan and we have Dalvin Sheppard that's pulled up," Allen said. "We'll be able to get through."

And it's an opportunity for the younger backs to showcase what they bring to the table.

"Kemario has had a great week of practice," Allen said. "Dallas has been solid, but ball-turnover issues have been his deal. Kemario is going to be a good back for us as he continues to mature. You can see all of that with him. It's just right now, being able to continue to learn the game as it slows down."

The Generals will try to establish the ground game against Columbia.

"From what I've seen, they want to try to establish the run," Allen said. "They do various things offensively. They have various formations. They have a multitude of things with trips open, twins open and, again, trying to run the ball out of it with zones and isos. They'll have QB sneaks and draws. We'll get Iso a bunch and zone a bunch from the stuff that we've watched, so that's to be expected. They have some good looking kids. They turned the ball over a ton last week against Ed White, so with the way our defense has been playing, we should be able to establish some things."

Defensively, Allen sees some holes for the Tigers to exploit.

"On the defensive side, they come out with a four-man front," Allen said. "They blitz the edge at times, sending an outside backer. It's something we see a lot. They'll play Cover 3 a good bit. At this point, you're going to see an even or odd front. We've pretty much seen it all from the different teams that we've played. They're doing some different stuff showing even and odd fronts. They'll bring five or six. Our screens and draws should be good with them bringing that many if we can get it blocked up."

The Generals come into Lake City at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Bulldogs back Indians meet Suwannee today

By TIM KIRBY

tkirby@lakecityreporter.com

FORT WHITE — When Fort White High head coach Demetric Jackson was playing football at Columbia High, Suwannee High was in the midst of its four-year run as state champions.

Jackson remembers the rivalry and has worked to get the Bulldogs back on Fort White's schedule.

The Indians host Suwannee at 7:30 p.m. today. Fort White is 5-0, while the Bulldogs are 5-1.

"They had an emotional win against Dunnellon last week and we had an emotional win, too," Jackson said.

Fort White split with Suwannee in 2009-10 and the teams played in the pre-season classic last year.

"In my playing days against Suwannee, they had a rich tradition," Jackson said. "The fans care about football. We want to mimic those schools like Suwannee, Lake City and Baker County that really support football."

While Fort White has been on a roll under Jackson, Suwannee has fallen on hard times. The Bulldogs have made 15 trips to the playoffs and added a state runner-up in 1999 to go with the state titles. However, Suwannee has not made the playoffs since 2003.

Coach Jamie Rodgers, a Baker County High graduate, has the Bulldogs at 4-1 in district play and one win away from getting back to the playoffs. Rodgers coached under Bobby Johns, who was at Columbia with Danny Green, and an advocate of weight training and defense.

Fort White will try to win its first district championship at Taylor County High next Friday, but today's game is important for momentum and bragging rights.

"Suwannee will bring people," Jackson said. "They travel well and that is what I want this community to do. Fort White football is the best thing going on here and we want people to come out and support."

Fort White's 19-13, playoff-clinching win over Madison County High last week was punctuated by a drive that started at the Indians' 1 and used up the final 4:15 on the clock.

"Those types of moments show the character of our team, what we are made of," Jackson said. "You couldn't ask for a sweeter victory. That should persuade even the casual fan to come out and see us and get behind these guys. They won't be disappointed."

Cards even series at 1-1 heading home

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

BOSTON — Michael Wacha won again in October and the St. Louis Cardinals got just enough help from Boston, beating the Red Sox 4-2 Thursday night to tie the World Series at 1-1.

Down 2-1 after David Ortiz hit a two-run homer in the sixth, the Cardinals rallied for three runs in the seventh to end Boston's nine-game winning streak in the World Series that started with a sweep of St. Louis in 2004.

Matt Carpenter's tying sacrifice fly set off a chain of Red Sox misplays. Catcher Jarrod Saltalamacchia let the wide throw home skip off his glove, then pitcher Craig Breslow made a wild toss that wound up in the Fenway Park seats. Carlos Beltran followed with an RBI single.

Wacha improved to 4-0

this month, pretty impressive for any pitcher, let alone a 22-year-old rookie.

Trevor Rosenthal struck out the side in the ninth for a save. John Lackey took the loss.

Game 3 is Saturday night at Busch Stadium. Jake Peavy is set to start for Boston against Joe Kelly.

Wacha had already extended his scoreless streak to 18 2-3 innings — a record for a rookie in a single postseason — before Ortiz tagged him in the sixth.

A day after Ortiz homered after nearly hitting a grand slam earlier in an 8-1 romp, Big Papi connected for his fifth home run of this postseason and 17th of his career.

Dustin Pedroia drew a one-out walk and, with the Fenway Park crowd on its feet, Ortiz hit a full-count changeup over the wall in left-center field for a 2-1 edge.

Jamie McMurray takes checkered flag at Talladega — second non-Chase driver Sprint Cup victory in a row

In winning the Camping World RV Sales 500 at Talladega Superspeedway on Sunday, Jamie McMurray became the second-straight non-Chase driver to win a Sprint Cup race this season. It was the first time since 2006 that non-Chase drivers won back-to-back Chase races. In '06, Tony Stewart and Brian Vickers won at Kansas and Talladega, respectively, then Stewart won another two straight, at Atlanta and Texas.

McMurray's win, his first since 2010 at Charlotte and the seventh of his career, came a week after Brad Keselowski surged to victory at Charlotte Motor Speedway.

McMurray won at Talladega from an unlikely position — holding the lead halfway through the final lap. Just as it looked as if eventual second-place finisher Dale Earnhardt Jr., with plenty of drafting help in the form of Austin Dillon, was about to make a move on McMurray off Turn Two, third-running Dillon and fourth-running Ricky Stenhouse Jr. wrecked.

That brought out the caution flag and sealed the win for McMurray as NASCAR set the finishing order by how the drivers were running when the yellow flag was displayed.

Behind the leaders, Jimmie Johnson, with a 13th-place finish, took the points lead from Matt Kenseth, who finished 20th after leading 32 laps earlier in the race.

Other than the last-lap crash, the race was far from typical for Talladega. There was no "Big One" crash, and instead of running in a big pack in the closing laps, the leaders wound up running single-file in the outside groove, and essentially finished where they were running when the race was flagged for the Stenhouse-Dillon crash.

Earnhardt, who finished second, said he didn't make a move earlier because he feared no one would go with him and he'd drop to the back of the pack.

"I was in perfect position to be patient and wait as long as I wanted to," Earnhardt said. "So that's why we didn't go any sooner than that. I just can't anticipate a caution coming out every single time we run at Talladega race on the last lap, so I just assumed it would go to checkered, and was planning my move on the back straight-away."

McMurray said he was doing all he could to keep Earnhardt at bay.

"When I got to the lead, I was trying to enter [the corners] a little bit lower so we weren't using so much race track, so that if everyone behind me would follow, maybe the bottom line wouldn't develop and move up as fast," he said. "Every time I entered lower, I would get away from [Earnhardt], and I feel like he was getting more of a run on me off the corner.

"As those laps counted down, I was kind of trying to do something different each lap so that he couldn't prepare for it."

When the running order was sorted out, Stenhouse finished a Cup-career-best third, followed by Paul Menard. Chase contender Kyle Busch was fifth, with non-Chase drivers David Ragan, David Gilliland and Martin Truex Jr. taking positions six through eight.

All told, six of the top eight spots went to non-Chase drivers, a reversal of the usual scenario in the Chase.

Jimmie Johnson, driving the No. 48 Chevrolet, moved to first place in the Sprint Cup standings with his 13th-place finish at Talladega.

'Wild card' oval tracks challenge drivers with back-to-back Sprint Cup races

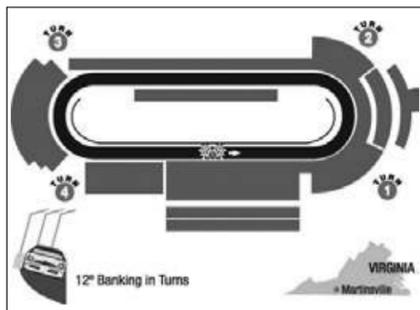

A standard deck of playing cards has two jokers, much like the typical Chase for the Sprint Cup has two "wild cards" in the form of back-to-back races at Talladega Superspeedway and Martinsville Speedway. Those two tracks — one the longest oval on the Cup circuit and the other the shortest — have little in common other than their propensity to set the stage for crashes that can quickly scramble the finishing order and thereby bring about great change in the Cup points standings.

Two Chase leaders — Jimmie Johnson and Jeff Gordon — are among the best ever at Martinsville, with Johnson owning eight wins, including one there in April, and Gordon seven.

On the other hand, Matt Kenseth, who lost the points lead to Johnson at Talladega, has never won at Martinsville and has an average finish of 15.8. His best Martinsville finish came back in 2002, when he was runner-up to Bobby Labonte.

But since moving to Joe Gibbs Racing for the start of this season, where he's a teammate to four-time Martinsville winner Denny Hamlin, he has an all-new outlook about the tricky, paper-clip-shaped track nestled in the picturesque Virginia foothills.

He's particularly encouraged after his run there in April, where he wound up 14th, but felt he was capable of a much higher finish.

"We got off a little bit in the middle of the race, and then we pitted at the end and lost some spots, but I thought we were going to finish sixth or seventh if we wouldn't have pitted," he said, pointing out that he led more laps in that race (96) than he had in all of his previous Martinsville starts (73). "I thought we had a good car there."

Kenseth said that while he's not generally considered a short-track specialist, his results this year are showing that previous performances while he was driving for Roush Fenway Racing are no indication of the way he'll run this year at Gibbs.

"You look at tracks that you feel are some of your worst, and then you look at some you feel are your best, and if I just look through the last five weeks, I think we've had our best finishes at the two tracks I thought would have been our worst," he said. "And some of our worst finishes so far are at the tracks I thought would have been our best."

"You don't know what's going to happen. It's been a fun year because [Joe Gibbs Racing] has made me run a lot better at tracks where we usually don't run good at. Hopefully, Martinsville will be one of those."

Gordon, on the other hand, said he believes his past performances at Martinsville are an indication that he has the potential to shine on Sunday, if he and his Hendrick Motorsports team can fix a few weak spots.

"I'm excited about Martinsville," he said. "I love that track. We always run well."

"We've got to figure out how to lead as much in the second half of the race as we do in the first half. That's where our focus is. You know there are going to be some classic battles there. It's short-track racing, hard-braking, side-by-side; it's probably one of the toughest places that we race at and certainly plenty of contact."

Jimmie Johnson takes over Sprint Cup points lead after Camping World RV Sales 500

Points standings and race results following the Camping World RV Sales 500 at Talladega Superspeedway:

1. JIMMIE JOHNSON

(finished 13th) 2,254 points; leader

The new points leader admitted that he spent much of the race keeping tabs on his Chase rivals. "Thirteenth isn't the best finish, but with what we are trying to do and win a championship, we beat the competition today and that is good."

2. MATT KENSETH

(finished 20th) 2,250 points; behind -4

He said the disappointment of losing the points lead won't linger for long. "I feel like we can go everywhere else and race with anybody when we're at our best. Hopefully, we'll be at our best the next four weeks, and we'll give them a run for their money."

3. KYLE BUSCH

(finished fifth) 2,228 points; behind -26

After wrecking hard in Saturday's Truck race, he was happy to finish without incident on Sunday. "It's God's grace that allows us to finish one of these things, especially coming home with another top-5."

4. KEVIN HARVICK

(finished 12th) 2,228 points; behind -26

His team's best-laid plans went awry at the end. "We got ourselves in position to be where we needed to be at the end of the race ... then lost everything that we gained on the last pit stop again. We were just last off of pit road."

5. JEFF GORDON

(finished 14th) 2,220 points; behind -34

He remains within striking distance of the Chase leaders despite a mediocre Talladega finish. "We didn't really gain anything, but we didn't really lose anything, so it was sort of a wash ... and we just move on to the next four (races)."

6. DALE EARNHARDT JR.

(finished second) 2,202 points; behind -52

He said his car was as good as he's had in a long time. "Our car was a rocket, and we were able to be aggressive, and I just tried to lead every lap of the race."

7. GREG BIFFLE

(finished 11th) 2,201 points; behind -53

Like many of his peers, he was happy to still be running at the end. "We made it through. That is half the battle at this place. It was typical Talladega ... at the end of the day, we missed the wreck and that is all I really care about."

8. CLINT BOWYER

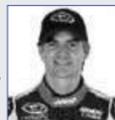

(finished 10th) 2,197 points; -57

His third top-10 finish in the Chase wasn't enough to help him gain much ground on the leaders. He shaved six points off his deficit, but has only four races to make up the rest.

9. KURT BUSCH

(finished 18th) 2,193 points; behind -61

He was in the lead pack for much of the race, leading twice for three laps, but not when it mattered most. "When it counted at the end, we weren't there. I tried to make something happen, but couldn't get there."

10. CARL EDWARDS

(finished 17th) 2,186 points; behind -68

His No. 99 Ford was at the head of the pack with less than 20 laps remaining, but he couldn't keep it there. "I thought we were in a really good spot, and it just did not work out. I tried my hardest, and that is what we got."

11. RYAN NEWMAN

(finished ninth) 2,182 points; behind -72

It was a relatively quiet race as far as he was concerned. "I rode around in the back all day, basically just trying to keep my nose clean. I was waiting for something to happen the whole race, but it never really did."

12. JOEY LOGANO

(finished 16th) 2,179 points; behind -75

He blamed the shark-fin-like spoiler NASCAR mandates for the cars for his inability to move up at the finish. "That is why the bottom lane doesn't work, and it is never going to work until they change that."

13. KASEY KAHNE

(finished 36th) 2,153 points; behind -101

His disappointing Chase continued as his plans to drop back and play it safe at Talladega backfired when he lost the lead draft and was penalized for speeding on pit road. With just three caution flags all day, he never got a chance to get back on the lead lap.

NOTEBOOK

Crew chief Todd Parrott suspended indefinitely

Veteran Sprint Cup crew chief Todd Parrott faces an uncertain future after he was indefinitely suspended from NASCAR last week for violating the sanctioning body's Substance Abuse Policy.

Parrott has 31 career victories and was working as crew chief for the No. 43 Ford driven by Aric Almirola at Richard Petty Motorsports before his suspension.

Sammy Johns, the team's vice president of operations and competition, took over the crew chief duties of the No. 43, which started on the pole at Talladega and finished 22nd.

Johns said in a statement that he and his team support NASCAR's substance abuse policies.

"We have an expectation of all RPM employees to conduct themselves at the highest level of professionalism and within the competitive confines as set forth by NASCAR," Johns said. "We are very disappointed that one of our employees did not meet our expectations, and we completely support NASCAR, their policies and final decisions when it comes to the substance abuse policy."

Sauter victorious in CWTS Fred's 250 at Talladega

While 12 of his competitors were wrecking behind him on the last lap at Talladega Superspeedway on Saturday, Johnny Sauter had clear sailing at the front as he sped across the finish line to win the Fred's 250 Camping World Truck Series race.

It was Sauter's third win of the season and the ninth of his career, and it came in a race that saw a track record 29 lead changes for a Truck race.

"I had a pretty good idea what was going to happen (at the end)," Sauter said. "Everybody was fighting for the same real estate. I've always wanted to win at [Talladega], and to be able to do it today was big."

Justin Lofton was the only driver to suffer an injury in the crash. He has a fractured left thumb, according to his team.

NUMERICALLY SPEAKING

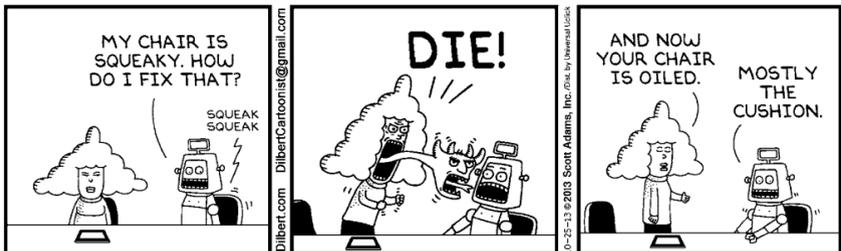

2,156 Laps led in the past 17 Sprint Cup races at Martinsville Speedway by Jimmie Johnson, tops among drivers.

0 Career laps led at Martinsville by Joey Logano, in nine starts — the fewest of any driver in the Chase for the Sprint Cup.

30 Points separating Jamie McMurray, 14th in the Sprint Cup standings, and Brad Keselowski, 15th, as they vie for a bonus that goes to the highest-finishing non-Chase driver.

9 Sprint Cup finishes of 30th or worse this season by Denny Hamlin, after his 38th-place finish at Talladega.

YOUTH INCENTIVE

PROGRAM

In order to provide an education agenda for students participating in the Livestock Programs, we realize the need to provide further training in Livestock Production and Husbandry.

Exhibitors work hard to develop their projects, but from time to time need advice and direction on taking the project to fruition. Through the Youth Incentive Program they will learn how to contact potential buyers, sponsors, and advisors while obtaining knowledge. We have all been in a position with our jobs or personal lives, to approach someone and present a convincing discussion on an idea, but the ability was not at hand.

This program will provide the following:

- How to develop a presentation
- How to contact potential sponsors / buyers
- How to respond to questions
- How to set goals
- How to work with others to the successful conclusion of the program

The Program

1. All contributions will be deposited into the Incentive Program special account.

2. ONLY qualified exhibitors will be allowed to participate (exhibitors whose animals do not make ending weight, etc)

3. Total funds will be used in the following manner:

- Any exhibitors bid not valued at current market price, will be funded to increase the sale of their animal to an established low bid.
- Balance will then be distributed equally among all qualified exhibitors.
- Pledges and monies (minimum of $50.00) may be sent to: Columbia County Resources, Inc, LLC
Post Office Box 1376
Lake City, Florida 32056-1376 to the attention of the Livestock Sale on or before November 1, 2013.
- Any exhibitor accepting funds outside this program can and will be disqualified.
