SVTA: No more comp time

Board adopts 1983 policy on interim basis; will re-address matter June 9.

By SARAH LOFTUS
sloftus@lakecityreporter.com

The Suwannee Valley Transit Authority adopted an employee handbook from 1983 on Tuesday after finding no evidence the current manual, from 2012, was ever formally approved. The SVTA board will take more permanent action at its June meeting.

The 1983 handbook doesn't address issues concerning comp time that have generated controversy in recent weeks, so the board voted not to allow comp time to be cashed out for the next month. The board's next meeting is on June 9.

At that meeting the board plans to finally approve the March 26, 2012 draft handbook, then amend that document to address comp-time issues.

Board members Bucky Nash of Columbia County and Ricky Gamble of Suwannee County had asked the board to adopt the 2012 policy as its current manual at Tuesday's meeting in Live Oak, but the motion failed. Hamilton County Commissioner and SVTA board member Beth Burnam said she couldn't vote to adopt the 2012 policy because she hadn't read it.

The 2012 policy, drafted but never approved by the board, says administrative staff can receive overtime pay if approved by the administrator.

The vote to eliminate comp time made an exception for employees who are fired, quit or retire.

Former SVTA administrator Gwendolyn Pra and previous director of operations William Steele both collected large comp

Pinemount nurse faces charges for pill theft

Stole students' meds from nurse's station, according to reports.

A Pinemount Elementary School nurse who resigned Friday was arrested Tuesday afternoon for stealing pills from the school, law enforcement officials said.

Marilee Boozer, 24, of Lake City, was arrested by the Columbia County Sheriff's Office Tuesday afternoon at her home. She was charged with petit theft and possession of a controlled substance and booked into the Columbia County Detention Facility on $5,000 bond.

Murray Smith, Columbia County Sheriff's Office public information officer, said the investigation was launched Friday after the sheriff's office was contacted by school officials.

"We were contacted about the possibility of a theft from the school nurse's station of medication," he said. "School resource deputies go out, they start the investigation and it finishes today (Tuesday) with

Gas tax renewal hearing to be set

Four-cent levy is already in effect.

By TONY BRITT

Columbia County officials are hoping to set a date when they can have a public hearing on renewing the four-cent local option fuel tax that funds local road projects. The tax is levied on a per-gallon basis.

County Manager Dale Williams said Marlin Feagle, county attorney, is expected to request a date for the public hearing during Thursday's 5:30 p.m. Columbia County Commission meeting, at the Columbia County School Board Administrative Complex Auditorium, 372 W. Duval St.

"The purpose of that public hearing will be to consider the renewal of four of the current seven cents that is levied in local option gas taxes," Williams said.

Big changes to Suwannee power plant

Duke Energy will build new generators to help meet growing demand.

By JIM SAUNDERS
The News Service of Florida

TALLAHASSEE — Duke Energy Florida on Tuesday said it will propose a $197 million project in Suwannee County to build two new generators to help meet electricity needs at times of peak demand. The project, with a total generation of 320 megawatts, would replace three 1950s-era plants.

The company also plans to build a $1.5 billion natural-gas power plant in Citrus County while also shutting down two old coal-fired generating units.

Duke, the state's second-largest electric utility, indicated last year that it was likely to move forward with such a plan. But the announcement comes after other high-profile changes that have included shuttering a damaged Crystal River nuclear plant and scrapping plans to build two nuclear reactors in Levy County.

The new 1,640-megawatt plant would be built on 400 acres of land adjacent to the company's Crystal River complex and would start producing electricity in 2018. The two coal-fired units, which also are at Crystal River, are expected to be shut down that same year.

Flood assistance extended to 2 Panhandle counties

FORT WALTON BEACH Federal assistance has been extended to more parts of Florida’s Panhandle, where flooding cleanup continues.

Individual assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency previously was approved for Escambia and Santa Rosa counties. Now people in Okaloosa and Walton counties with homes and businesses that sustained damage from April 28 through May 6 also can apply for federal assistance.

Officials say the money can help pay for temporary housing, emergency home repairs, disaster loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration and other disaster-related expenses not covered by insurance.

8-year-old helps mom deliver baby at home

TAMPA — Thanks to a 911 dispatcher, an 8-year-old girl helped her mother deliver her newborn brother while waiting for paramedics to arrive at their Tampa Bay-area home.

According to Tampa Fire Rescue, Krystle Garcia was in labor at home Monday morning when she called 911. The dispatcher alerted paramedics, but they weren’t quick enough to get there before the baby started to arrive.

Authorities say the dispatcher “expertly and compassionately” talked Garcia and her daughter Jazmine through the delivery of the baby boy. During the more than eight-minute call, Jazmine calmly relays the dispatcher’s instructions to her mother, gets towels and other items for the baby and secures the baby’s head.

When paramedics arrived, they took the baby and Garcia to a hospital. Authorities say both are doing fine. The baby was named Joseph James Snyder.

Video shows Fla. officer kicking child to ground

BOYNTON BEACH — Boynton Beach police are investigating after a video surfaced of one of their officers kicking a child’s legs from under him while the child’s hands appear to be restrained behind his back.

Police spokeswoman Stephanie Slater said one officer has been placed on administrative duty after the footage was found online Tuesday. It’s unclear what the child was being charged with. Slater said she could provide no further details because the incident was under investigation by the internal affairs section.

The video shows two boys apparently being arrested. An officer approaches one and appears to kick him, causing the boy to fall to the ground. Slater says no formal complaints have been filed over the incident but police are “concerned as to the initial appearance of the video.”

Clay Aiken wins NC Dem congressional primary

RALEIGH, N.C. — “American Idol” singer Clay Aiken won what had been a hotly contested Democratic primary for a North Carolina congressional seat according to a final, unofficial vote count that was posted Tuesday, a day after the accidental death of his closest rival.

Aiken will face Republican incumbent Renee Ellmers in November in the GOP-leaning district where Mitt Romney won nearly six in 10 votes in 2012. Ellmers won by 56 percent that year and is looking for a third term. The county-by-county tally of the 2nd Congressional District race posted by the state Tuesday confirmed Aiken got more than 40 percent of the vote needed to win the three-candidate race.

On Monday, second-place finisher Keith Crisco, 71, died after falling at his home. Hours earlier, campaign manager Christine Botta said they had counted the absentee votes in two key counties, forcing Crisco to acknowledge defeat. He had decided to concede his loss to Aiken on Tuesday, she said.

Aiken issued a statement of regret at Crisco’s death on Monday and said he was suspending campaign activities for a time. Aiken’s campaign website was black but for that statement on Tuesday. Aiken’s campaign declined to comment Tuesday.

the arrest of school nurse Boozer.”

Smith said authorities have not determined the exact amount or type of drugs that were taken from the school nurse's station. He said the investigation is continuing as they try to determine those facts.

Upwards of 30 pills have been taken, he said.

Smith said concerns about the missing pills were brought to authorities' attention by school officials.

“They kind of got suspicious because there had been allegations some pills had been dropped down the sink,” he said. “That’s how they initially became suspicious and they had us come in and conduct an investigation.”

Smith said he was also told that a student's parent came to the school about missing pills.

“That combined with some clerical auditing errors, got them suspicious and they called us and we conducted the investigation,” he said.

Boozer's resignation was part of the school board's consent agenda addendum items Tuesday night indicating her resignation was effective May 9. Her resignation was not a part of the original agenda issued earlier in the week.

Following Tuesday night's school board meeting, Terry Huddleston, Columbia County Superintendent of Schools, said he too is uncertain when Pinemount Elementary School officials first noticed pills were missing.

“I do not know,” he said, “That’s part of the investigation and I’ve not seen it.”

He also said he does not know what kinds of meds went missing.

However, he noted that he was confident with the safeguards the district has in place.

“I have not seen the report, however there are very, very stringent protocol for administration of or receiving of meds at school,” he said. “A lot of that comes from the state level. I don’t think there is any need to change anything that we’re doing. This is one of those isolated incidents I would never dream of dealing with. So our procedures are correct and I don’t see anything else to do, except our folks have to follow those procedures — they’re more than adequate.”

Scott to veto speed limit bill

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Responding to pleas from highway troopers and the state's sheriffs, Florida Gov. Rick Scott said Tuesday he will veto a bill that could increase the speed limit on Florida highways from 70 to 75 mph.

Scott said that he has decided to “stand with law enforcement” who urged him to veto the legislation that narrowly passed the Florida Legislature late last month.

Earlier this month, a Florida Highway Patrol trooper who was mourning a colleague killed after being struck by a vehicle told Scott that raising the speed limit “wasn’t a bright idea.” Trooper Tod G. Cloud also told Scott the job he feared the most was working an accident on Interstate 75 because people “do not drive with common sense.”

Cloud talked to Scott following the Ocala funeral of Master Trooper Chelsea Richard. She died along with two others May 3 after they were struck by a vehicle while standing alongside Interstate 75 near a traffic accident.

“I want everybody to stay safe, I don’t want anybody to be injured,” Scott said. “I think by doing this we are doing the right thing for our troopers and the right thing for law enforcement. I’ve been to too many law-enforcement funerals.”

The bill (SB 392) would not raise speed limits automatically, but would allow the Department of Transportation to increase them when it saw fit. The department could also raise the speed limit from 65 to 70 mph on rural, four-lane divided highways and up to 65 mph on other roads.

Legislators only approved the bill after a contentious debate where opponents said raising Florida's speed limits would embolden motorists to drive faster and result in more accidents.

Sen. Jeff Clemens, D-Lake Worth, and one of the sponsors of the bill, contended that the safety concerns were not accurate.

“Unfortunately, the issue became more about emotion than about facts,” Clemens said. “We’ve raised the speed limits in the past and it simply did not result in increased fatalities.”

The maximum speed on Florida highways has been 70 miles per hour since 1996.

The Florida branch of the motorist organization AAA and several Florida sheriffs praised Scott for his decision to veto the legislation.

Polk County Sheriff Grady Judd, who is currently president of the Florida Sheriffs Association, called the veto “welcome news.” Kevin Bakewell, senior vice president of the Auto Club Group, said that “maintaining Florida's current speed limits will undoubtedly prevent injuries and save lives on our roadways.”

Affordable Care Act application a new requirement for indigent care

By TONY BRITT

tbritt@lakecityreporter.com

Residents hoping to sign up for the Lake Shore Hospital Authority's indigent care program will face a new eligibility requirement.

Monday afternoon the board unanimously approved a new requirement stipulating anyone who wants to be a client for the local indigent care program must have signed up for the Affordable Care Act. People who are refused acceptance in the Affordable Care Act program will be considered for the Hospital Authority's indigent care program.

“We’re going to require that everybody that applies for this program, before they are approved, to apply for the Affordable Care Act,” said Jack Berry, Lake Shore Hospital Authority Board executive director.

Berry said the new requirement could impact the Hospital Authority's indigent care program.

“If it works the way it should work, it should eliminate this program,” he said. “Is it going to work that way, I don’t know, but we’ve got to give it a shot and see.”

Berry described the Affordable Care Act and the Columbia County Indigent Care program as a pair of last resort programs for people who can't afford traditional insurance.

The Hospital Authority's indigent care program has 387 people, including 46 renewals last month and nine new applicants.

“Even if we have only one person, we’ll keep the program going,” Berry said. “We’re here to help people. We don’t have a set number of people we have to have in the program for it to work.”

Berry said the LSHA will work with the Columbia County Health Department and he hopes they'll be able to install a station at the Hospital Authority Building to help potential clients.

“We going to work with the health department to see if we can come up with a plan to have somebody here that can walk potential clients through the process,” he said. “It will have to be done on a computer.”

The open enrollment period for the Affordable Care Act is Nov. 1 - Dec. 31.

John H. Hale Farmers Market opens Friday

From staff reports

LIVE OAK — The annual farmers market at John H. Hale Park, 215 NE Duval Street, Live Oak is now open on Fridays from 12 to 6 p.m.

The market features locally grown fresh fruits and vegetables and encourages local farmers and food entrepreneurs to join. The market will operate on a “make it, bake it, or grow it” philosophy.

Formerly managed by Tower View, Inc., the market is currently under the operation of Sharon L Yeago, LLC. The market will continue to be managed onsite by Jennifer Turner of Turner Farms.

The market is being supported with marketing and technical support from the City of Live Oak Community Redevelopment Agency.

Interested local farmers and food entrepreneurs can obtain market rules at Live Oak City Hall, Suwannee County Extension Office, the Suwannee Valley Chamber of Commerce, or at the Market on Fridays.

The market serves the greater Suwannee Valley and some farmers accept WIC and Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program Coupons. Credit, debit and SNAP access are planned for the future.

ANOTHER VIEW

Our eroding rights

What's that you hear? It might be the sound of mice in your walls. Or maybe it's just the Florida Legislature, slowly gnawing away at the idea of open government.

In the recently ended regular session, legislators passed 22 new open-government exemptions, according to Barbara Petersen, president of the First Amendment Foundation.

If you're keeping score, that's a record.

In addition, nine other exemptions were re-enacted. In fact, 12 percent of all bills passed restrict access to public records. Just as upsetting was what didn't pass that could have helped affirm the public's right to know.

Ms. Petersen, who has been head of the First Amendment Foundation since its creation in 1995, acknowledges that most of the exemptions passed would not have a major impact. But she still was concerned with the number of exemptions, which topped by far even the 12 passed during a regular session and five special sessions in the paranoia of post-Sept. 11.

Of special concern to Ms. Petersen was Senate Bill 1320, which provides exemptions from public records for information held by the Office of Financial Regulation relating to family trust companies. The exemptions make it almost impossible to find out how these companies operate. The constitutionally required "public necessity statement" in SB 1320 lists concern that identifying members jeopardizes their personal and financial safety and that release of some information could "damage a family's reputation."

We're sorry, but inconvenience is no reason to close public records.

Ms. Peterson also was baffled by the death in the House of SB 1648/HB 1151, after it passed the Senate unanimously. The bill would have made it easier to request public records.

The Florida League of Cities was leery at first, but the First Amendment Foundation worked with the League on changes, and in the end, the league's president endorsed the bill.

Part of the five-point agenda of the pre-session "Work Plan 2014" of Senate President Don Gaetz and House Speaker Will Weatherford was improving government accountability. It's a shame Mr. Weatherford apparently forgot that goal over the session's 60 days.

There was a bit of relief from bills that didn't pass, including an exemption for the university presidential searches and an exemption for email addresses held by tax collectors.

But it's a sad day when the public is left to celebrate not having a precious right further eroded.

Evil must be confronted

What is it about girls going to school that infuriates so many grown men, turning them into beasts?

The appalling abduction of well more than 200 Nigerian school girls and the shocking delay in the West before mobilizing a response are two more indications of how far the world is from nailing this civilization thing.

The girls, some of Nigeria's best and brightest, were dragged out of bed by Islamic militants and spirited away in trucks. According to a girl who escaped, they were treated like slaves. Two weeks later, as the Nigerian government hemmed and hawed about not finding the girls and with countries such as the United States and Great Britain observing diplomatic niceties before helping, militants were boasting about selling the girls into sexual slavery or as child brides.

On Capitol Hill, all 20 women senators, who rarely agree on anything, demanded to know why it was taking so long to find the stolen girls.

We are reminded of Malala Yousafzai, the brave Pakistani girl who was shot in the head by the Taliban for speaking out about the importance of educating girls. As she heals, the 15-year-old wrote in her book, "I Am Malala," that her life's work will be the education of girls.

We remember the years of terror in Rwanda where women and young girls were gang raped to impregnate them as a weapon in civil war.

As Americans pull out of Afghanistan after more than a decade, the Taliban has quickly reverted to shutting down girls'

Ann McFeatters

schools, terrorizing women who walk alone and otherwise trying to drive females back to the Stone Age.

Americans have traveled a long, winding road toward equality in education. Even many educated fathers (and mothers) wanted their daughters to marry, breed and obey their husbands more than they wanted female children to get an education, use their minds and be able to support themselves.

Ignorant Islamic militants wrongly use misunderstood religious precepts as an excuse to keep girls uneducated and used as sex slaves without rights or, often, decent living conditions. These militants burn with righteous fervor but they are basically cowards who fear a world where their prehistoric beliefs are not ascendant.

What should scare us is how many misguided militants there are and how quickly they can prevail in countries where poverty and political turmoil tamp down human rights. As Vladimir Putin is to Ukraine's sovereignty so are Islamic militants to the rights of women everywhere.

Former British Prime Minister Gordon Brown has become an outspoken champion of ending discrimination against girls whether they are in Nigeria, Pakistan or India. He says that discrimination against girls is akin to the discrimination against blacks and that the world has a duty to fight both. He is correct, and President Obama should be more forceful on this issue.

Too many men are too unsure of their manhood and their place in the world to tolerate the prospect of girls becoming their equals. So they grab their guns and some kind of uniform and get together in gangs — such as Boko Haram in Nigeria — to try to go back to an era where violence against women was accepted.

Every day we see the vestiges of the cruelty people inflict on others. The sultan of Brunei oversees new laws that call for flogging and stoning same sex couples, adulterers and women who have abortions. The owner of the Los Angeles Clippers hates black people. A bigot in the West steals a million dollars in grazing rights from taxpayers and is lionized by politicians.

The juxtaposition of the World Economic Forum for Africa being held in Nigeria while militants openly kidnap school girls is maddening. We must make human traffickers afraid. We must punish those who degrade others. We must make clear that civilized people will not tolerate this evil.

When children anywhere are denied education and brutalized, it's OK to be angry, very angry, and to demand retribution.

■ McClatchey News Service columnist Ann McFeatters has covered the White House and national politics since 1986.

Children in cars with drunk drivers

Four-year-old Taylor Dyer died in what authorities say was a drunken-driving car crash last weekend.

He was a passenger in an SUV that struck a concrete median on Interstate 55 in in Bolingbrook, Ill., flipped, and ejected him and two other young boys from the back seat. The other boys, 2 and 7, were seriously injured.

The alleged drunken driver who caused this horrific accident? Shannard Dyer, Taylor's father. He has been charged with six counts of aggravated DUI.

Many people think DUI-related deaths among children typically happen when an impaired driver crashes into a car in which children are riding. But a study published recently in the journal Pediatrics confirmed earlier studies that show that's not true. The study found that 65 percent of children killed in crashes involving alcohol are riding with the impaired driver.

The horrific toll: From 2001 to 2010, 2,344 children under 15 were killed in crashes involving at least one alcohol-impaired driver, the study found. Other disturbing findings:

– Child seat belt use decreased as the child's age and the blood-alcohol level of the driver increased. The drunker the driver, the older a child, the less chance the child will be belted in.

– In more than 7 of 10 cases, the impaired drivers survived the crash in which their child passenger died. That strongly suggests that had the child been properly restrained, he or she would have survived as well.

– Drunken-driving crashes in which child passengers died were more likely to involve only one vehicle and happen at night compared to crashes in which children died as passengers of nondrinking drivers.

Encouragingly, the number of children killed riding with an alcohol-impaired driver decreased by 41 percent in the decade studied, the authors reported. That mirrors a national decline in motor vehicle crash deaths and drunken driving deaths over the same period.

What will it take to drive down these appalling figures? The study's authors suggest expanded use of sobriety checkpoints, tougher enforcement of DUI laws and seat belt laws, and wider use of ignition locks for DUI offenders, even first-time offenders. "These are tragedies that we've got to find ways to prevent," says lead author Dr. Kyran Quinlan, a pediatrician at Erie Family Health Center in Chicago.

People know that if they get caught driving drunk they'll likely lose their license. But they may not know that if they're convicted of drunken driving in Illinois and had a child in the car at the time of the violation, they face up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine even if no one is hurt.

Shannard Dyer is out of the hospital and in jail, awaiting trial. The courts will decide Dyer's innocence or guilt. If he is convicted, the punishment may be harsh or light.

His son will still be dead. Anyone who gets drunk and then piles kids unrestrained in the back seat of an SUV isn't likely to be persuaded by all the powerful reasons not to do that. That person serves best as a warning to others: You may not die from your recklessness but ... you may wish you had.

OBITUARIES

Joyce Turner Horton

Mrs. Joyce Turner Horton went home to be with The Lord on Monday, May 5, 2014. She was cradled in the loving arms of her family as she passed from this life into eternity. She was born in Athalia, Ohio on July 7, 1940 to the late Robert and Freeda Wilson Turner. Mrs. Horton spent the early years of her life in Ohio having graduated from Springfield High School in 1958. She married the love of her life Howard Horton on May 3, 1963. They moved to the Belle Isle area of Orlando, Florida in 1976. Mrs. Horton became a well loved real estate broker in the South Orlando area as she and her husband owned Horton Realty ERA for many years. During her years in real estate she earned numerous prestigious designations and forged lifelong friendships. Mr. and Mrs. Horton moved to Lake City in 2009 to be close to their 3 precious grandchildren. She loved playing games and enjoyed cooking. She was a lifelong collector of cookbooks. Her true joy came from spending time with her grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her parents Robert and Freeda Wilson Turner, her brother and confidant Ron Turner, her brother in law Tom Greeno and precious niece Cindy Greeno Bartholomew, brother in law Chuck Horton, beloved mother and father in law Jane "Mom" Horton and Clyde E. Horton.

Her survivors include her devoted husband of 51 years Howard Horton of Lake City, FL., children J. Robert Horton of Los Angeles, CA, and Karena Horton Crews (Brian) of Lake City, FL. Her sister and best friend Karen Greeno of Port Orange, FL., her sister Jessie Turner of Ormond Beach, FL. Her life and love, her grandchildren Turner, Weston and Meredith Crews, all of Lake City. She also leaves behind numerous cousins, nieces and nephews whom she cherished greatly. Mrs. Horton was blessed with the lifelong love and friendship of her "Other" daughters Tammy Conley Bullard and Jill McKnight Magee. She shared a special bond with her physician and friend Dr. Miguel Tepedino of Lake City. In lieu of flowers the family asks that donations be made to the American Diabetes Association or Haven Hospice in her memory.

George F. "Jeff" Le Clerc

Mr. George F. "Jeff" Le Clerc, 75, passed away Friday, May 9, 2014 at the Suwannee Valley Care Center (Haven Hospice). He was born in Boston, Massachusetts to the late Frederick H. and Lillian E. [Langley] LeClerc and had lived here in Columbia County for the past 32 years. He was a kind and loving husband, father, grand & great grandfather who will be dearly missed. Survivors include his devoted wife of 30 years, Josephine A. Le-

Clerc; sons, Jeffery LeClerc and Thomas J. "TJ" Sims; daughters, Gina Barrington, Sherry Snipes and Wendy Marker; 8 grandchildren & 2 great grandchildren.

Herman Lewis Waters, Jr.

Mr. Herman Lewis Waters, Jr., age 61, of Lake City, passed away on Thursday afternoon May 8, 2014 at the Avalon Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center surrounded by his family after an extended illness. He was born in Rockmart, GA on September 29, 1952 to Herman Lewis, Sr. and Betty Brewer Waters. He lived most of his life in Lake City, having moved here in 1964 at the age of 12. He was an avid fisherman and loved his Chevy truck; he also loved to play bingo. He served in the United States Army and was of the Baptist faith. His family would like to thank the loving and caring staff of Avalon as well as the staff at Suwannee Valley Haven Hospice for their loving and caring support during this difficult time.

He is preceded in death by his wife: Jerry Ellen Waters and his parents: Herman Lewis Waters, Sr. and Betty Brewer Waters.

He is survived by his brother and sisters: Marvin Waters of Alachua, FL; Stacy McRae (Mark) of Lake City, FL; Helen Waters (Charlie) of Rockmart, GA and Jean Calderwood (Bud) of Alachua, FL; his aunts: Mrs. Helen (W.F.) Brewer of Rockmart, Georgia and Marylou (Lamar) Rutherford of Elko, Georgia. Many grandchildren, nieces and nephews also survive.

Memorial services for Mr. Waters will be conducted at 10:30 A.M. on Saturday May 17, 2014 in the chapel of the Dees-Parrish Family Funeral Home with Rev. Kenneth Edenfield officiating. The family will receive friends from 9:30-10:30 A.M. (one hour prior to the services) at the chapel. Arrangements are under the direction and care of the DEES-PARRISH FAMILY FUNERAL HOME, 458 S. Marion Ave., Lake City, 32025. The family will hold private interment services at a later date in the Taylorsville Cemetery, Taylorsville, Georgia. ## The Thyroid Summit: Watch for free

Dear Readers,
Are you tired, and frequently cold? Do you have poor memory? Are you overweight and losing hair? You are probably wondering why I ask such personal questions. I've been your "dear pharmacist" for 15 years so I'll tell you like it is: All of those symptoms could be connected to one thing, low thyroid hormone levels in the body. It's worth testing for, but the problem is that conventional tests miss a lot of thyroid disorders. You're told "It's normal" when you feel terrible. If overlooked, you'll be on the medication merry-go-round, and you better hold on.

Medications and vitamins can support your thyroid gland, but it has to first be detected. Over the past year, I've been involved in a special project, my best professional accomplishment. I've been working closely with my friend and thyroid expert, Dr. David Brownstein.

DEAR PHARMACIST

jostery@comcast.net

Together we have created an online experience called a "summit" that will enable anyone from around the world to listen to, and watch a slide presentation from home. It's free and to sign up you just go to TheThyroidSummit.com and 'save your seat.' We begin broadcasting various presentations on June 2, 2014 for 7 life-changing days.

People have asked me why I am hosting the thyroid summit. I had a mild case about 10 years ago, that went undiagnosed for about 2 years, and I figured it out myself. I put a picture of myself for you to see in my book, Thyroid Healthy which is out now. It's not the most flattering picture because I had 15 pounds on me, but I'm proud of myself now, because I am 49 years old, only 110 pounds and have perfect thyroid, and I'm on a mission to help others. We've interviewed 32 health care experts. Among the greats, you will hear from Dr. Mercola, Mike Adams founder of Natural News, Dr. Jacob Teitelbaum, Dr. Jonathan Wright, Dr. Kent Holtorf, Actress and thyroid thriver Gena Lee Nolin, Dr. Tom O'Bryan, celebrity nutritionist JJ Virgin, Activist Mary Shomon and many others. Dr. Brownstein and myself are also in the line up.

If you're not aware of a thyroid problem, you could develop psychological, cardiovascular and neurological disorders. At the thyroid summit, you will learn:

- * How anxiety, bipolar, mood swings and depression are tied to thyroid

- * How certain medications can induce thyroid disease

- * Why a diagnosis of chronic fatigue and fibromyalgia are often given to thyroid patients

- * What lab tests actually uncover it

- * What natural remedies work to relieve symptoms

- * Which medications and supplements help, and which harm

- * How to help your dog or cat with thyroid disease

I'm so proud of this project and the goodness that will come from it. The thyroid summit will help you rediscover health and educate yourself well enough to speak to your medical professionals (and be taken seriously). I'll see you online, at the thyroid summit on June 2nd, sign up today. www.TheThyroidSummit.com

UF: Simple technique may help older adults better remember written information

From staff reports

University of Florida researchers have advice for older adults who need to remember detailed written information: Don't just read it, tell someone about it.

That recommendation comes from a new UF study that showed that older adults who read a text and then described what they had read to someone else remembered more details of the text than older adults who simply re-read the passage multiple times.

The findings appear in the April issue of the journal Aphasiology.

Older adults are better able than younger adults to recall the gist of information they learn, but they have more difficulty remembering details, said lead investigator Yvonne Rogalski, Ph.D., who conducted the research as part of her doctoral dissertation work at the UF College of Public Health and Health Professions.

"Older adults can rely on things they've learned in the past and they can build on that vast wealth of semantic information that they've collected over the years. That works as long as the information is familiar, but where it breaks down is when they have to read something that is unfamiliar and has a lot of details," said Rogalski, now an assistant professor in the department of speech-language pathology and audiology at Ithaca College.

For the UF study, 44 healthy adults ages 60 to 75 used one of two methods to recall details from texts on real — but unusual — animals. Participants who used a technique called "Read and Reread Attentively" read the entire passage aloud once, then re-read each paragraph three times aloud in succession. Those in the "Read Attentively, Summarize and Review" group read the whole text aloud once, then for each paragraph they read it aloud, summarized it from memory and then re-read it aloud again. Participants in both groups were tested immediately after studying and 24 hours later.

The researchers found that participants who summarized the information aloud remembered more details about the texts than those who just re-read the material. In addition, combining the summarization method with an immediate post-test showed the most benefit for remembering text details after a 24-hour delay.

"We think it is effective because by reading the information and then putting it into your own words you have to do quite a bit of processing of not only the information, but also the relationships among bits of information," said Lori Altmann, Ph.D., an associate professor in the UF department of speech, language, and hearing sciences, and a study co-author along with John Rosenbek, Ph.D., also a professor in the department. "Picking out the relationships that are important to you as you see them can help to order the information in your own memory."

Older adults can put the principles of the summarization technique to work for themselves whenever they want or need to learn detailed information, such as a magazine article or medication plan, the researchers say. They suggest that people read the information and then describe it from memory to a partner who can check for accuracy.

"The RASR method is a very functional treatment and it's something that healthy older adults or even people with mild dementia could use on their own to try and improve their memory," Altmann said. "It doesn't involve anything high-tech, and that's the beauty of it."

Emergency vehicles: What to do

From staff reports

Each year in the U.S., thousands of motorists crash into emergency vehicles, including fire trucks, ambulances, and police cars. These crashes often occur at intersections while an emergency vehicle is running lights with/without sirens or while they are parked on scene with lights running.

According to a report from the National Fire Protection Agency, more than 4,000 firefighter injuries in 2012 occurred in a motor vehicle accident, while they were responding/returning from an accident.

As such, Columbia County and Lifeguard Ambulance Service would like to remind motorists of some tips in order to safely share the road with emergency vehicles and personnel.

Safety Tips:

1. Don't drive distracted:

- Remember to check surroundings and look in rearview and side mirrors
- Turn down the music volume, as vehicles are now designed to be more soundproof making it difficult to hear approaching sirens

- Do not drive while using headphones, headsets, or other listening devices (exceptions, including hearing aids, are listed in Florida Statute 316.304)
- Pay attention to the road and do not text, email, or read while driving

2. For stopped vehicles:

According to the Move Over Law:

- On a multi-lane roadway, check for an opening, use signals, and safely move to the opposite lane of the emergency vehicles and SLOW DOWN
- If unable to move over or if on a two-lane roadway, decrease speed to at least 20 mph below the posted speed limit

3. Vehicles from behind:

- Slow down and check the surrounding traffic flow

- Identify an opening in traffic, use signal, and safely move as far right as possible

- Stop completely

- Wait for the emergency vehicle to be a safe distance ahead and pull back on the road

- Stay at least 500 feet behind an emergency vehicle running lights with/without sirens

4. Intersections:

- Use extreme caution at intersections, as emergency vehicles may be approaching from any direction and may need to turn across your lane

Remember to implement these tips and safely share the road with the first responders, as they put themselves in danger every day in responding to emergencies throughout the community.

Leaders emerge for CHS in spring

JASON MATTHEW WALKER/Lake City Reporter

Columbia High's Caleb Carswell makes a catch at practice.

Competition a plus in drills for Tigers

By BRANDON FINLEY
 bfinley@lakecityreporter.com

Three weeks is all coaches get when it comes to evaluating their teams for the upcoming season during spring football practice.

Although the time is short, Columbia head coach Brian Allen said that the Tigers have already made an impression in a little under two weeks.

Columbia has two practices left this week before taking the field at Memorial Stadium at 6 p.m. on Friday for the annual Purple & Gold game.

After that, the Tigers will round out the spring with a game against Fort White High, another Columbia County football team. That game will take place at 7 p.m. on May 24 in Lake City.

Despite such a short evaluation period, Allen said that some of the returning players have already established themselves as leaders for next year's team.

The biggest reason that leaders have emerged — competition.

"We've been competing every day, and that's the one thing that has been consistent," Allen said. "The main guys have come out and established themselves. Lonnie Underwood, Roger Cray, Zedrick Woods have all done a good job."

But it's not just the starters from last year's team that have been in leadership roles. Kamario Bell is a young player entering his second season with the team that Allen said has made strides in his second spring.

"He's been a pleasant presence for us," Allen said.

And Bell is joined by a host of other players that are looking to make an impact.

"Caleb Carswell has had a good spring and established himself as the go-to guy in the passing game," Allen said. "Latrell Williams is a guy that we're expecting to give us some help as well. Lucas Bradley is playing well at fullback and our offense will go as our fullback goes. Jessie Nolan returned to the program and he's been solid."

Of course, the Purple & Gold will serve as another evaluation point for CHS.

DEAR ABBY

A Dear Abby dinner party blends good food and fun

Abigail Van Buren www.dearabby.com

DEAR ABBY: I love cooking for my wife and friends. There are few things I find more pleasing than to put out a nice spread of food and watch people enjoy. I'm always on the lookout for more cookbooks, and you hold the key to my next big party.

I was reading through your archives and have seen many people asking about your cookbooks. I'd love to get them. Can you print the ordering information again, so I can be sure I'm sending the right amount to the right place? Thanks! — MAN IN THE KITCHEN IN NORTH LITTLE ROCK

DEAR MAN IN THE KITCHEN: I'm glad to oblige. I have been a compulsive cookbook collector for many years, so I can relate. (I'm sure you will be pleased when you see that my cookbooks, while wide-ranging in content, take up little space on your bookshelf.)

Your idea of throwing a "Dear Abby Dinner Party" is a good one, and I have been told the recipes provide a fun, traditional eating adventure. All of them are simple, easy-to-read and delicious.

One reader described creating place cards for her guests decorated with hearts and flowers. The centerpiece was a "bouquet" of envelopes addressed to me. Another reader said she copied questions from my column, printed them out and, as a party game, asked her guests to supply the answers. (She said that after a few glasses of wine, some of the responses were hilarious, but couldn't be printed in a family newspaper.)

My cookbooklet set contains more than 100 tasty recipes, ranging from soups to salads, appetizers, main courses and desserts, that can be used when families get together to celebrate holidays and other special occasions. My mother used many of them when she hosted parties, as have I. To order, send your name and mailing address, plus check or money order for $14 (U.S. funds) to: Dear Abby - Cookbooklet Set, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. Shipping and handling are included in the price. You will find tips on entertaining at the beginning of the first booklet. Anyone who hasn't entertained before should be sure to read them.

By following these suggestions, even the most nervous, first-time host can be confident. I know you will enjoy the recipes as much as we have and serve them with pride.

DEAR ABBY: After breakfast on Saturdays, my husband and I settle in, listen to music and read the newspaper. It's our Saturday morning ritual.

As part of it, when I get to your column, I read it out loud to my husband. We enjoy the letters and your advice. When I finish, my husband almost invariably says, "You know, those letters are made up."

Abby, I think they are real, albeit edited, but genuine. He thinks they're fake. Who's right? — TRUE BELIEVER IN MICHIGAN

DEAR TRUE BELIEVER: You are. I could never make up anything as interesting as the mail that arrives from my readers day after day.

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

HOROSCOPES

THE LAST WORD Eugenia Last

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Moderation will be required to avoid mishaps. You can say "no" once in a while and still maintain your status quo. Don't let an argument drive a wedge between you and someone you love. Compromise more and criticize less.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Show everyone what you have to offer. Dependability and determination are your strengths and can carry you to and beyond your destination. Explore new possibilities and stabilize important partnerships. Deal with red tape concisely and avoid being red-flagged.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Assisting people is fine, but do so for the right reason. Having motives behind your do-good attitude will backfire if you aren't honest and upfront about what you are hoping to get in return. Love is in the stars.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Live a little. Participate in networking events or social activities. You'll discover someone you have a lot in common with and share some interesting ideas and plans that will help you reach your personal or professional objectives. Strive for equality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Engage in conversations that will bring you knowledge or information that can help you make a good decision and an appropriate move. Don't let hype or trends cost you or lead you into an excessive situation. Channel your energy into romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Short trips, attending an exhibit or networking with colleagues will all lead to valuable information and the courage to make some positive changes to the way you live. Someone respected in your community will offer expert advice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't succumb to demands or forceful action at home or at work. Stand up for your beliefs, but be prepared to make changes as a result of your actions. Weed out what isn't working in your life and make your move.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Check out different lifestyles, beliefs and organizations. Expanding your interests will bring you in touch with someone you click with creatively. Do something unusual to your home that will add to your pleasure and attract unusual visitors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You'll have to dig deep if you want to get all the information you need to make a good decision. Take the initiative and make domestic changes that will improve your life and your relationships, but don't overspend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Offer a helping hand or well-thought-out suggestion, but step back if someone wants you to pay for or do the work on his or her behalf. Strive for equality in all your dealings. Don't take on a losing battle.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Listen carefully and make decisions based on the information you discover. A money deal looks good and a gift, loan or offering is heading in your direction. Love is highlighted and a promise can be made, along with a positive domestic change.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Look over documents and important personal papers. Present your plans to someone who is in a position to help you. A new venture looks promising and can open the door to some fascinating connections. Expand your outlook and your interests.

NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR APPROVAL OF A PRETREATMENT PROGRAM MODIFICATION
In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 62-625, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.), the City of Lake City has developed and submitted for approval by the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), a pretreatment program modification for its wastewater facility (WWF), consisting of revisions to the City's sewer use ordinance. DEP has made a preliminary determination that this pretreatment program modification meets the requirements of Rules 62-625.500(4) and 62-625.540, F.A.C. The requirements found in those rules are designed to assure a pretreatment program which will (a) prevent the introduction of pollutants into WWFs which will interfere with their operation, including the use or disposal of residuals; (b) prevent the introduction of pollutant into WWFs which will pass through the treatment works or be otherwise incompatible; and (c) improve opportunities to recycle and reclaim municipal and industrial wastewaters and residuals. The pretreatment program modification document is available for inspection and/or copying at the address listed below:
Department of Environmental Protection
Domestic Wastewater Section, MS# 3540
2600 Blair Stone Road
Tallahassee, Florida 32399-2400
City of Lake City
City Hall
205 North Marion Avenue
Lake City, Florida 32055

Interested persons are encouraged to submit written comments on the submission. All written comments submitted in a timely manner will be considered by DEP in the decision on whether or not to approve the submission. In accordance with Rule 62-625.510 (2)(c), F.A.C., this public notice comment period will end thirty (30) days from the date of publication. Any interested person may request a public hearing concerning this proposed pretreatment program. Such a public hearing is for informational purposes only. The request for public hearing must be filed with the Department within 30 days of the publication of this notice. Persons requesting a public hearing must state their interest in the matter and state reasons why such a hearing is warranted. A public hearing will be held if there is significant public interest. Send comments or requests for public hearing to the attention of Ms. Sharon L. Sawicki, P.E., at the address at the top of this notice.

GOLF REPORTS

Players Blitz tie

The Players Blitz teamed local golfers with a pro partner playing in the third round of The Players Championship.

The A flight ended in a tie between Terry Hunter/Lee Westwood and Ken Radcliffe/Sergio Garcia at +12. Mike Jacobs (+9) had the best individual score.

Mike Yacovelli/Sergio Garcia finished first in B flight with +14, two points ahead of Ron Bennett/Gary Woodland. Eddy Brown had the best individual score with +7.

Timmy Rogers pocketed three skins; Hunter had two, including an eagle. Players with one skin included Radcliffe, with an eagle, Brown, Randy Sommers, Jerry Smith and Bob Randall.

Dennis Crawford logged a hole-in-one on No. 7 with a 7 iron. Despite carrying a scratch handicap over most of his 30 years of golf, it was Crawford's first ace.

Mike Jacobs topped the A flight of Wednesday's blitz with +11, three points up on Jordan Hale, Joe Paul and Mike Gough, who were in a three-way tie for second.

Ron Bennett won B flight with +9 over John Raulerson, Mickey Willcox and Don Combs in another three-way tie for second.

Skins winners were Lynn Smith, Dennis Crawford, Jerry West, Jerry Smith, Steve Patterson, Paul, Gough and Willcox.

The threesome of Carl Ste-Marie, Curtis Mixon and Mike Boris won the Thursday PM Scramble by a stroke over two other teams.

The trio of Casey Clemons, Pete Skantos and Roger Whiteside split pot hole money.

Joe Paul (+10) edged Dave Mehl by a point for first place in Sunday's blitz. The other money spots went to Bob Wheary, Shelton Keen, Terry Hunter and Dell Sanders.

ners were Scott Kishton on Nos. 5 and 7 and Keen on Nos. 15 and 17.

Paul fattened his take with three skins; Hunter had two and Charlie Timmons, Steve Peters, Mehl and Keen had one each.

The LGA Ringer match ended in a three-way tie at the top among Gloria Rowley, Faye Warren and Roberta Whitaker at 31. Dottie Rogers and Suzi Davis tied for fourth with 32.

Nicole Ste-Marie and Ann Bormolini split the chip-in pot.

In the first of three Good Old Boys contests, the team of Don Christensen, Bob Sonntag, Rhea Hart and Jim Bell took a 6-4 win over the team of Jerry West, Jim McGriff, Bobby Simmons and Paul Davis.

Match 2 was a bit lopsided when the foursome of Ed Snow, Monty Montgomery, Emerson Darst and Tom Elmore beat the foursome of Rob Brown, Dave Cannon, Jim Stevens and Nick Whitehurst by a 7-3 count.

The week's final match went to the team of Joe Persons, Howard Whitaker, Bill Rogers and Dan Stephens over the team of Dennis Hendershot, Merle Hibbard, Stan Woolbert and Shelton Keen, 5-2.

West went sub-par with a round of 36-34-70 for medalist honors. Risk (35-40-75) was the closest pursuer. Also on the top tier were Snow (38-39-77), Woolbert (40-38-78) and Montgomery (39-39-79).

Davis took front nine play with 37 over Steven's 38.

Christensen and Darst had 37 on the back nine.

The Kiwanis Charity Golf Tournament is Friday. The course will be closed from 12:30-5:30 p.m.

Ace for Poultney

A big congratulation this week to George Poultney for making a hole-in-one on No. 15.

Monday's Top of the Hill winners were Jack Tuggle taking first place with a +5, followed by Ronnie Ash in second with a +4, and Bob McGraw and Tim Tortorice tying for third place with +3.

The Wednesday Blitz was a very close race, with Rick Cahill taking first at +6, Frog Niewisch in second with a +5 and Keith Denmark in third with a +4.

Skin winners were Joe Herring, Mike Kahlich, Rick Cahill and Jim Munns.

Closest to the pin winners were Randy Heavrin on No. 3, Tony Kent on Nos. 5 and 11, Cahill on No. 15 and Herring on No. 17.

The Wednesday Scramble winning team members were Todd Carter, Mike Anderson and Brady Anderson. Second-place team members were Mike Kahlich, Tony Johnson and Rick Hawn.

The scramble pot rolled over again.

Friday Dogfight winner with a +3 was Ronnie Ash. Taking second place was Gerald Smithy with +2, and in third was Joe Herring with a +1.

Skin winners were Herring with three, Ash with two, and Bob Jaeger,

Sunshine State hoops champs

From staff reports

The Richardson Community Center/Annie Mattox North USSSA 11th-grade and 7th-grade Wolves won Sunshine State Games championships over the weekend in Gainesville.

The two Lake City teams produced three Most Valuable Players and four others who were selected to their respective all-tournament teams.

Jordan Coppock and Darrell Jones were named co-MVPs for the 11th-grade tournament and Doreyon Taylor was named MVP for the 7th-grade tournament.

Mareo Robinson and Kelvin Jonas joined Coppock and Jones on the 11th-grade all-tournament team, while Jordan Smith and T.J. Jones joined Taylor on the 7th-grade all-tournament team.

The 11th-grade Wolves defeated two teams from Ocala on Sunday's final day. The Wolves crushed Ocala Heat, 71-39, in the championship game, but it was the semifinal game that showed the team's mettle.

In the semifinal game, the Wolves trailed the Ocala Rising Stars by 11 points, 38-27. A tenacious man-to-man defense set the tone for the second-half comeback and the Wolves escaped, 57-56.

Leading scorers for the Wolves were Coppock, 27, Dilan Hall, 13, and Jones, 11. Leading scorers against the Heat were Jones, 23, Hall, 15, and Coppock, 12.

In Saturday's games, the Wolves beat the Heat, 50-27, and the Orlando Griffins, 58-44.

Leading scorers were Hall, 13, Jones, 12, and Robinson, 10, against the Heat, and Hall, 17, and Jones, 16, against the Griffins.

The 11th-grade team won last year in the 10th-grade division.

The 7th-grade Wolves went 4-1 in the tournament, defeating the Ocala Falcons in the championship game, 66-62.

Results follow with leading scorers:

■ Championship: Wolves 66, Falcons 62; Smith 26, Jones, 12, Jermal Myhand, 11;

■ Game 4: Gainesville Stampede 53, Wolves 47; Smith, 17, Jones, 13, Myhand, 9;

■ Game 3: Wolves 57, Thunderstruck 52; Smith, 17, Jones, 11, Willie Jernigan, 9;

■ Game 2: Wolves 66, Alachua Raiders 41; Jones 19, Smith, 15, Darrell Brown, 10;

■ Game 1: Wolves 66, Falcons 54; Smith 27, Jones 22.
