School board honors longtime teacher

By Chris Segal

Florida Freedom Newspapers

CHIPLEY — Washington County District School Board member recognized former educator Pat Green Peacock on Monday night for her contributions to Chipley High School and the district.

Peacock was born Nov. 15, 1911, and began teaching in Washington County after graduating from Florida State College for Women in 1933. Peacock retired from teaching in 1977 with 35 years all at one school, said School Board member Susan Roberts.

"She is a special lady," Roberts said. "Someone said you never misbehaved in (her) class, not because she was strict — she never raised her voice — but because you respected her so much and you did not want to disappoint her."

For Peacock's contributions to the community, the City Council of Chipley declared Tuesday as Pat Green Peacock Day, to commemorate her 100th birthday.

"Thank you so much; I just did my job," Peacock said at Monday night's meeting.

Before the regular board meeting, a public hearing was held to adopt and revise school board policies and procedures.

More than 25 policies were adopted or changed, including new policies to allow service animals and the recognition of a provision of the Interstate Compact on Educational Opportunities for Military Children.

The new policies were presented to the board by Pat Collins, the director of administrative services. None of the revisions was made by the school board but were adopted to meet compliance with Florida statute changes. No members of the public spoke during the public hearing and the new and revised policies were approved by a unanimous board vote.

The board chairman also pulled two items for discussion. The first was the revised job description for the director of finance.

The position is currently held by Myra Henderson, who plans to retire June 30, 2012.

Superintendent Sandra Cook asked the board to approve a new job description and a request to advertise the position.

Board member Vann Brock asked the job description that changed one qualification for the job to require a master's degree be changed back to a minimum of a bachelor's degree.

"I just fell like at this point if we start restricting criteria we might not open ourselves up to some quality people who might apply for the position," Brock said.

The School Board members agreed with Brock and changed the qualifications and approved the job description and request to advertise for a new director of finance.

The second item on the consent agenda that was pulled for discussion was the approval to enter into a contract with Linc Energy and Building Solutions. Roberts asked that the item be tabled and that another workshop be held.

The project offers the district the ability to improve utility usage; the issue has been discussed at three workshops, Cook said.

"We are just trying to make the right decision," she said.

The next School Board meeting will be the annual organization meeting to choose a chairman and vice chairman.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 9 a.m.

"The Place To Shop, If Money Matters!"

EVENTSSilent auction

CHIPLEY — Looking for a great Holiday gift? The Washington County Public Library Director announces a silent auction involving surplus computers and associated items.

The WCPL will have a silent auction for surplus computers and related items on Monday, Nov. 14, at 5 p.m., and it will continue until Friday, Nov. 18 at noon. All items will be displayed in the meeting room at the Chipley location.

Seventeen desktop units will be available for inspection and bidding. Each computer will have a specification sheet attached to it, and the unit set will include a mouse, monitor, and keyboard. Spare accessories will be available also.

Each of the computers was in working condition when it was retired from Library service. All sales are final, and there are no warranties associated with any unit or accessory item.

A minimum bid of $125 is required for each computer set. Minimum bids for the spare items will be posted at the time of the auction.

For more information, contact Dorothy Pichardo on any Thursday at 638-1314, or by email at webmaster@wcplfl.com.

The Library Director has the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

Memories of a local vet

Circumstances bring my thoughts today of memories of my grandfather James Franklin Harris and family. He was the father of my mother, Marie Harris Wells.

PERRY'S PRATTLE
Perry Wells

Writings of the past explained that my mamma, at age 4, and her 2-year-old brother, H. E. (Edward) Harris, were left motherless upon the death their youthful mother, Eliza Cook Harris. Their maternal grandparents, Charles Florella Cook and Mariah Christina Cook, took both children into their home and reared them to adulthood. I regret never having opportunity to thank those noble great grandparents for their act of kindness and love.

After the death of my grandmother, Grandpa Harris married Anna Watson, daughter of Warren Watson and Jane Yates Watson. Four sons and two daughters were born to that union. Each of those sons served stints in the Civilian Conversation Corps in the mid 1930s. With the onset of World War II in 1941, the three older boys, James Archie, Arthie Franklin and Arlie Warren were called to U.S. Army. Willie Arnie entered the service of the U.S. Navy. The oldest daughter, Arie, married Millard Anderson, a combat veteran of World War I. Arean, the youngest child, married Franklin Helms after his discharge from World War II service in the U.S. Navy.

Grandpa Harris and "Miss Anna" and their children were an integral part of the lives of all the Wells children. The two younger sons were only a few years older than Jim and me. We were classmates at Brackin School and worked together on the farm, doing chores from picking cotton to making syrup and killing hogs. Our playing together included swimming in Gum Creek and marble competition.

Spending the night with the grandparents was always a treat even though they lived in modest circumstances. My Harris kin could boast of living in a newly built home! However, the house was built of small logs cut from the property of my uncle Edward Harris. He was their landlord, as well as employing those of working age on his farm and turpentine operation.

The house was always immaculately clean, but the crudeness of its log construction with, rough, unplaned boards for flooring and walls, is still vivid in my mind today. The windows were covered with wooden shutters and the doors constructed of wood. The kitchen on the north side contained a wood burning stove, a dining table with seats of benches and a screened safe for leftover food.

My fondest memory is the delicious breakfast "Miss Anna" prepared: Salt mullet, fried to perfection, homemade biscuits and a plentiful supply of delicious cane syrup.

The main body of the log cabin consisted of one room, heated by an improvised wood burning metal drum with a pipe carrying the smoke through an opening called a flue. The south side of the building had a "shed" room taking up half of a front porch. That was the bedroom for the Harris boys, who slept on home made mattresses. Light was from a kerosene burning lamp.

Water was furnished from an open well. My uncles' "night work", as they termed it, included filling a half wooden barrel with water, which was situated on the front porch. That was for drinking and minor bathing. Water pails were filled in the kitchen, as were as one or more kettles on the stove, to assure necessary water for cooking.

Bathing in summer was usually at the open well, with one male counterpart drawing water and dashing it on each other. That method allowed for a cool night of sleep. In the winter, bath water was heated in a "wash pan" heated on the wood burning heater, with privacy being limited.

Now for the circumstances causing specific reflections today on the Harris connection in my family: The only surviving member of that family is my Uncle Arlie Harris. His 90th birthday is Nov. 13 and a celebration is scheduled at noon time on that date, following services at Palm Chapel Primitive Baptist Church in Crestview. Hester and I, along with many of the Wells, kin plan to be in attendance and break bread with our uncle and his immediate family along with fellow church members. This event will be history by the time this is printed.

A second memory is brought to mind of this family as Veterans Day has just been celebrated in our country. Even though many honoring events transpired in paying tribute to our brave and courageous military heroes, there could never be an overplay on this special day.

My youngest uncle, Arnie Harris, served honorably and proudly in the U.S. Navy aboard the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid. His ship was constantly in enemy territory, thus frequently being fired upon by the opposing forces. He returned home safely and unscathed from his wartime experience. His post-war employment was at the U.S. Navy Base in Panama City.

Uncle Arlie Harris was in the U.S. Army during the hostilities. He came home without injuries and worked in Civil Service at Tyndall AFB and Mobile, before retiring from Eglin AFB.

The third uncle, Arthie Harris, served in the same U.S. Army unit with the fourth uncle, Archie Harris. Both were in the European Theater of battle, serving in North Africa, Sicily, Anzio Beach, Italy, France and Germany. Arthie's work after the war was in Baytown, Texas in the oil refineries. Archie's employment career was at the U.S. Navy Base in Panama City.

Archie Harris died at an early age, never fully discussing his combat experiences.

Archie Harris talked fairly freely in later life about his wartime duties. On Oct. 11, 2003, a special celebration to honor his war service was held at Bethel Primitive Baptist Church, arranged by J.J. (Pat Davis), Thomas Beasley and your writer. Some of his heroic acts were outlined by the speakers. His Silver Star, Bronze Star, Arrowhead Award, Purple Heart, European Theater Ribbon and Good Conduct Medal were among the awards displayed that day.

A belated salute to all who served in the Armed Forces of all branches of services.

See you all next week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

City code enforcement confusing, inconsistent

Dear Editor,

I am a black merchant with a storefront in Chipley, Fla. I am writing this letter to inform the citizens of Chipley of the events which led up to the Nov. 8, 2011 city council meeting.

In the article written by the Foster Follies reporter, it stated my husband John Holmes was angry and was shouting at the council. Yes, he is angry and upset because of the injustice done to us. First of all my store is named "Everything Must Go," it is a thrift store with lots of extras. My husband is an auction hunter, among other things, and we come across a lot of different kinds of items some that we don't have room for in the store. We began having yard sales.

We started out setting up on the property of Advance Auto along with several other people. After a couple of times of selling there, we were approached by the city of Chipley code enforcement officer and he told us we would have to purchase a permit to have a yard sale. We then told him we already have a occupational license. He then stated we need a permit to conduct a yard sale.

I had never heard of this and felt the office must be misinformed. He also stated we could no longer be on that property having yard sales because Advance Auto doesn't want us there. Later the management of Advance Auto stated this would be our last day we could sell on their property because the code enforcement officer, Mr. Pettis, said they would be liable for anything that happened on that property, traffic and other wise.

We then moved to Highway 90 W. on a vacant lot next to Holland's Glass Company. Again the Code enforcement officer came and said we had to purchase a permit to have a yard sale. That following Monday I went and purchased a permit. I told Mr. Pettis that I didn't have a problem following the rules as long as everyone else is being forced to abide by the same rules as me.

At this time I asked him could I have a copy of the ordinance regulating yard sales. He told me he had to research that and he would get back to me with that information. The next day he called me and told me I needed to fill out a public records request form, I did. Several days later I was contacted by someone at city hall asking me what ordinance was I requesting. I told her I wanted the yard sale ordinance: she informed me that the city of Chipley "does not regulate yard sales."

I told her "yes they do because I paid $75 for a permit to have a yard sale." She said the only ordinance she had was an ordinance outlining occupational license. I then told her to give me that, if that's all she had. After receiving this information it is clear that the City of Chipley does not have an ordinance regulating yard sales or anything pertaining to this matter. My question is how can you force me to pay for something that doesn't exist? After a few days I received a letter at my store from the City manager, Dan Miner, stating that "they had discovered that we have incorrectly calculated water and sewer charges on your previous bills."

The letter also stated "I have enclosed copies of the ordinances for your convince." I am now feeling singled out because I am questioning your rules.

Meanwhile, I observed several business and individuals having yard sales. I asked them if they had to have a permit to have a yard sale? They all stated "No," and one business owner said the has a occupational; licenses and that he was covered by that. I went to see Mr. Pettis and told him about others having yard sales without a permit. He assured me he would look into this matter. I know if I sell someone a piece of land that don't exist, I would be charged with fraud.

What is the difference in the City of Chipley imposing fees and enforcing ordinances that don't exist? I feel my business has been targeted without cause!

Pamela Holmes Chipley, FL

Goodwill steps up to help America's heroes

In 2010, more than 20 million men and women in the United States over the age of 18 were veterans. As service members transition to civilian life, they face a bleak job market in addition to other significant challenges that make it more difficult for them to find work, grow their careers and provide for themselves and their families. Physical and psychological disabilities, substance abuse, homelessness, long waits for benefits and other support services are just a few of those challenges.

That's why Goodwill has ramped up its efforts to prepare veterans for careers post-deployment and connect them to necessary support services, including Veteran transition and job assistance and mental health care. Goodwill helps promote the leadership, teamwork, and efficiency skills developed in the military, and capitalize on familiarity with following orders and the chain of command.

On Veterans Day and every day, Goodwill remains committed to giving back to the men and women who have given so much to preserve our freedom and way of life. Your support of Goodwill helps us serve America's heroes as they build new lives for themselves and their families.

A TRIBUTE TO ROSEMARIE (ROSE) TAYLOR

A Rose by any other name

By Roger Dale Hagan

Washington County is such a wonderful place to live and raise a family. I can't imagine living any place else. On occasion, I feel like it is my personal responsibility to make sure that nothing ever happens that makes our county a worse place to live. Well, something happened two weeks ago that makes Washington County a little worse off and I couldn't do anything about it—nor could any other man.

We are a little worse off today because of the passing of Mrs. Rosemarie Gerren (Rose) Taylor. I am sad that we are worse off but I am more glad (if that is a correct phrase) that we were made a better place to live because Mrs. Rose lived here.

It has been my privilege to have known Mrs. Rose and Mr. Andy for over 30 years. When I first became the County Administrator, Mr. Taylor was the Veterans Service Officer for the DAV. Often times, he would in our office to confer with the County Veterans Officer whom we shared with Holmes County. It looked sometime as if Mr. Taylor was getting lots of Mr. Leon Armes' business because we did have to share Mr. Armes with Holmes County. There was never any doubt where veterans stood with Mr. Andy. It was about this time, or just before, that Mrs. Rose began her storied career at Washington County (Northwest Florida Community) Hospital. What a wonderful team in ministering healing in their respective areas.

This year marks my fortieth year as a credentialed minister. In all that time, I have never experienced a greater—more appropriate celebration of life than that of Mrs. Rose Taylor's Memorial Service. For a family to be able to find the composure to plan and present such a celebration makes me believe that her prayers are still being answered from beyond the grave.

In listening to the remarks and eulogy, it made me think there could have been worse things than to be part of the Andy and Rose Taylor family. I am not too sure about all the world traveling, but the rest of it sounds like it was quite an experience.

As I listened to the reminiscing, I remembered the cards, notes and calls that I got from Mrs. Rose. When members of my family would be hospitalized and I would run into Mrs. Rose while visiting, she would always reassure me that she was praying for them. I never thought for one time that when Mrs. Rose said she would pray but what she would do it. Sometimes we say, "I'll be praying for you" and we kind of mean, "We hope everything is alright", or "We will be thinking about you." But when we say "I'll pray for you," we really need to pray, and I believe Mrs. Rose did. And she didn't just stop at that. If things were really bad, you could expect a call, card or note. She wanted you to know that the whole world might not know what you were going through, but she did, and she cared!

After my mother retired, I never met Mrs. Rose without her asking about her. After my father's death, I never met her that not only did she ask about mother's health, but also about her well being and how she was adjusting to my father's absence. As one of the grandchildren said of Mrs. Rose at the memorial, "She was never alone even when she was alone". I think Mrs. Rose was reaffirming that my mother was never alone even when she was left alone.

Mr. Andy and Mrs. Rose were married 64 years — my parents lacked one month in reaching 64 years at his passing.

In one of my books of illustrations, I recall a story of a preacher asking a reprobate what he had against God. The sinner replied, "I ain't got nuthin' against Him, it's just some of His people that gives him such a bad name". Well, I can tell you one thing, that sinner never met Mrs. Rose. God never had a better representative than she.

I read a wall hanging one time that said

"Preach the Gospel every day, use words if you have to." Mrs. Rose did use words, but she didn't have to. Her life preached the gospel every day. One of my favorite scriptures says "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." (Matthew 5:16) That was Mrs. Rose.

In his play, Romeo and Juliet, William Shakespeare gave us this line "...a rose by any other name would smell so sweet...". I read that the meaning of that line is that what matters is what something is, not what it is called. Literally, that says that had she been called Esther, Mabel, Ethel, or Gertrude, she would have still been the lady she was. But if you will allow me "writer's privilege," let me say when I consider the beauty and fragrance of her life, I think Rose must have been God's choice for her name.

Time and space will not allow me to offer full commentary on Proverbs 31:10-31. But allow me to share these excerpts, minus the commentary, which I don't think the reader will need. "Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her. She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life.. She...giveth meat to her household..She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she reacheth forth her hands to the needy.. Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the LORD, she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates." Mr. Andy sure did a good day's work when he picked his Rose.

In a 1922 address at St. Andrew's University in Scotland, James Matthew Barrie, the Scottish novelist best known at the creator of Peter Pan said, "God gave us memory so that we might have roses in December". As long as we remember Mrs. Rose as her family did, and as we do now, she will always be with us.

There is a Christian song we have sung over the years called "Gathering Flowers for The Master's Bouquet". The chorus of that song says, "Gathering flowers for the Master's bouquet, beautiful flowers that will never decay. Gathering by angels and carried away forever to bloom in the Master's bouquet".

On Oct. 28, 2001, a beautiful Rose was added to the Master's bouquet.

CAUGHT ON CAMERA

SPECIAL TO FLORIDA FREDOM

This fawn and its sibling have been on camera daily with its mother feeding on iron peas, clover and corn. All have also been spotted feeding during bow season but the mother is off limits due to her still traveling with spotted fawns.

SPECIAL TO FLORIDA FREDOM

This young and healthy buck was captured on a game camera last week with half his rack missing. He's got 4 on the remaining side, meaning he was probably an 8 point. He likely lost it before it was fully formed and will be a good buck next year.

There's more to Crab Island than a party

By Tina Harbuck
Florida Freedom Newspapers

During the summer months and even into early fall, Crab Island just north of Destin bridge is covered most weekends with boats filled with folks looking to enjoy the warm, shallow water and soak up some sun and fun.

However, Crab Island has more to offer — especially for those searching for a whopper redfish.

Last week, I had the chance to join Peter Wright Jr. and Starnes King of Ship's Chandler in a hunt for redfish. But instead of using live bait, we used all top water lures.

"It's all about the bite," Wright said. "And having it on top is cool."

Fishing from the 22-foot Pathfinder using light spinning tackle, we headed out to just about a half mile north of Crab Island.

"The grass is getting thicker" near the island, Wright said. "And the bait are feeding. It's real lively now. There's been a lot of bait in the water lately ... cigar minnows, herring and greenies. That helps with all fishing."

Using 6- to 7-foot rods loaded with 10- and 15-pound Braid, we were on our way. The top water lure of choice was a Badonk-A-Donk.

"Anything with chartreuse" is a good color, Wright said.

There was a lot of bird activity going on about a 50 yards out from Clement Taylor Park. We headed over, and King started casting.

"You want a slow intake and twitch it on the way in," King said.

Wright made a cast near the activity on the water — and then he saw him.

The redfish exploded on the top water lure, and the fight was on.

"Sometimes they circle around it ... like they are gearing up for it," Wright said. "Wait until he for sure eats it before you set the hook."

With the line zinging, Starnes took over the trolling motor to help Wright keep up with the redfish.

It was huge. Wright told King to just get his head in the net and then we'll get him in the boat.

The redfish weighed about 30 pounds. After a few photos, Wright lowered him back into the water, revived him and sent him on his way.

The slot limit for redfish is 18 to 27 inches. Anything smaller or bigger has to go back. This fish was past the slot by about a foot.

We ventured just north of Crab Island and then drifted south, blind casting for redfish.

It took a little bit, but then Wright had a strike. I thought at that point he had the fish on, but then he said, "Watch out! He's headed your way."

Seconds later, the redfish just rolled on my pink Badonk-A-Donk and Wright yelled, "set the hook."

I set the hook, and it was "fish on."

At that point all I could do was just hold on. The redfish took us for a little ride before he wore down.

Again, King was the net man. We got the fish on the boat, snapped a few photos and then Wright released him to swim another day.

Law enforcement officers use the robo-deer to attract and apprehend poachers.

ROBO-DEER

Fake target an effective law enforcement tool

By Stan Kirkland
Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission

Conservation law enforcement officers are always looking for tools to help them do their jobs. They have a number of things at their disposal, but one tool that's become invaluable is the robotic deer, or robo-deer, for short.

Officers in a number of states now use robo-deer to apprehend deer poachers, but Florida's history with the robo-deer dates back to the early 1990s. Law enforcement officers of the then-Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission began using cardboard deer cutouts. To say they were effective is an understatement.

The cutouts were placed in fields and wooded roads where poachers were likely to look for an easy deer to kill. Those who shot the fake deer were quickly pounced on by officers.

It soon became apparent that officers needed a more durable and realistic-looking deer, so they switched to neoprene, archery-type models. After using the archery models for a while, they switched to models covered in actual deer hair.

Perhaps the biggest switch and advancement was the use of robotics. Models today have moving parts, and from a distance they look like the real McCoy. That's what makes them so effective.

"It really doesn't matter which model we use; the purpose is the same," said Capt. Ken Parramore, area supervisor with the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC). "The robo-deer helps us combat the opportunistic road hunter who rides around looking for a deer to shoot."

Early on, Parramore said robo-deer were used mostly at night, but now they are used during daylight hours as well. They are particularly useful in problem areas where there are complaints about illegal hunting and trespass.

A benefit of using robo-deer in Florida and elsewhere is the fake deer can be patched up and used again, unlike a living deer shot by poachers.

"People know they are in use but they never know when or where. There are a small percentage of people who poach but we want them to know they are risking a lot, if they engage in this kind of activity. They can lose firearms, face stiff fines and they can even lose their ability to purchase a license for legal hunting," he said.

Parramore said the deterrent value of the robo-deer is amazing. He said people often comment to officers that they saw the robo-deer, when in truth the officers and robo-deer were nowhere around.

Hooked on Outdoors

The train is pulling out, and you had better get on. The train I'm talking about is the fishing in the saltwater ponds stretching from Phillips Inlet to the land-locked saltwater lakes all the way to Destin.

These lakes are very different from any other in Florida. At certain times of the year, they are connected to the Gulf by an inlet that lets as much brackish water out into the Gulf as it lets salty water in.

That keeps these lakes salty enough to support a variety of saltwater fish such as speckled trout, redfish, drum, mackerel, flounder, mullet as well as the bass and bream that survive in the less brackish streams that feed these lakes.

Western Lake is in Walton County in the community of Grayton Beach. The forward-thinking commissioners of Walton County posted "No personal water craft" signs on their lakes in this area. That means you can fish or swim and not be harassed by jet skis.

You also have Camp Creek, which mostly is freshwater, and you have Deer Lake, which hardly ever connects to the Gulf but does enough to enable flounders to enter the lake.

Phillips, Eastern and Western lakes have healthy populations of speckled trout as well as sand trout or yellow mouth trout.

If these lakes break open to the Gulf in the summer months because of high rains, a wide range of fish will enter from the Gulf as juveniles. If the lake closes to prohibit them from re-entering the Gulf, they will grow up there.

You never know what you will catch in these brackish lakes. Some took in large amounts of menhaden during the summer and as a result are full of white bait to use to fish for anything from trout to flounder to Spanish mackerel.

TROUT look gold when deep in the water and change to a darker color as they are brought to the surface.

You will also catch what the old-timers called ronkers. I have heard them called croakers, but only by people not from this area. They will make a ronking sound when caught. Some very big ones up to 4 pounds were being caught with live bait last week.

Fishing is changing every week as is the weather, so if you want to get in on this fabulous saltwater fishing, you had better hurry. When it gets really cold, it will be over with.

Chipley stomps Graceville 48-0

By Brad Milner
Florida Freedom Newspapers

CHIPLEY — Chipley tuned up for the playoffs with a rout of Graceville Friday night.

The Tigers broke open the game in the first quarter and sent the visiting Graceville Tigers home with a 48-0 loss. Chipley finished the regular season 8-2 with a regional semifinal looming next week. Graceville ended 2-8.

Chipley relieved a bit of the sting left from a loss to Holmes County that relegated the Tigers to second place in District 3-1A. However, undersized and outmanned Graceville is vastly different than next week's Region 2-1A opponent Blountstown.

That said, Chipley enjoyed its regular-season finale just the same. Graceville had no answer for Chipley's rushing attack which chewed up 394 yards.

Kobe McCrary rushed for 116 yards and two touchdowns. His last gallop covered 75 yards and he didn't have a defender within 30 yards of him when he crossed the goal line. Ryan McIntyre added 115 yards rushing and James Voorhees covered 90 on the ground.

Graceville's offense sputtered to minus-1 yards of total offense in the first quarter. Chipley went ahead 21-0 on the strength of rushing scores by McIntyre, Voorhees and McCrary. Graceville inserted Rasheed Campbell at quarterback in place of Jared Padgett in an effort to slow the game down and keep Chipley's offense at bay.

It worked for a time, as Chipley didn't run an offensive play in the second quarter. Graceville gained 71 yards in the quarter, but still found itself trailing 28-0 at the half, when Josh Myers returned a Campbell fumble 65 yards for a TD.

Jarrett Brodgon paced Graceville with 89 yards, including 52 rushing. Campbell was crisp, finishing 6 of 8 for 69 yards passing. He was held to 7 yards rushing on 18 carries.

Chipley travels to District 4-1A champion Blountstown to open the Rural Class 1A postseason. The teams are grouped in Region 2-1A along with Holmes County and Liberty County, with the Blue Devils hosting the Bulldogs in the other semifinal. The winners play in the regional championship Nov. 25.

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES-ADVERTISER

Holmes County takes down a Marianna player. Marianna beat the Blue Devils 9-3. It was Holmes County's first loss of the season.

Marianna gives Holmes County 1st season loss

By Jason Shoot
Florida Freedom Newspapers

MARIANNA — It took until the final second of the last game of the season, but Marianna's football team got its biggest win of the year Friday night.

Hakeem Holmes made two crucial plays in the second half, teammate Israel Davis intercepted a pass at the Bulldogs' goal line as time expired and Marianna held on for a 9-3 victory over previously undefeated Holmes County at Bulldog Stadium.

Marianna didn't qualify for the state playoffs this year, but the Bulldogs can go into the offseason proud to be the only team thus far to beat Holmes County (9-1). The Bulldogs successfully rebounded from a disappointing 1-point district loss against Taylor County and finished the season on a positive note at 5-5.

Thanks to a pair of passes totaling 71 yards, Holmes County advanced the ball from its own 9-yard line to Marianna's 20 with 16 seconds left. The Blue Devils failed to score, however, as Davis hauled in Ethan Russ' desperation pass for an interception as the clock reached zero.

Holmes broke a 3-3 tie with a 40-yard romp late in the third quarter, powering through arm tackles before breaking into open field on his way to the end zone and a six-point lead with two minutes left in the quarter. That carry was part of a 111-yard rushing output for the Marianna senior.

Holmes made another big play when he intercepted Russ with 2:44 left that seemed to have cemented the outcome.

The loss doesn't affect Holmes County's place in the Region 2-1A semifinals set to begin next Friday.

Baker stings Vernon

By Randy Dickson
Florida Freedom Newspapers

BAKER — It was a Senior Night celebration for the Baker football team Thursday. Five Gator seniors teamed up to score seven touchdowns as Baker coasted to a 48-14 win over Vernon.

All of Baker's points came in the first half and the final two quarters were played with a running clock.

Cory Harper led the senior assault on the Yellow Jackets (4-6) with three touchdowns.

Ivory Smith, who led Baker with 138 yards rushing on just three carries, scored on runs of 81 and 57 yards. Colton Bouchard and Steven Grant also scored.

And while senior quarterbacks Chris Nixon and Vada Moore didn't cross the goal line, each threw one pass that resulted for touchdowns.

Baker (7-3) never trailed as Vernon, the District 2-1A champion, won the toss and deferred the option to the second half.

The Gators started the opening possession of the game on their own 35-yard line, but were penalized for a delay penalty before the first snap.

The extra five yards didn't seem to matter, as Moore did most of the work on the drive, carrying the ball six times for 40 yards. It seemed as if Moore would do the honors with the game's first score when he scampered into the end zone from 12 yards out, but a holding penalty negated the play.

The penalty only delayed the inevitable as two plays later Nixon hit Grant with a 16-yard scoring strike. Malcolm Griffith added the extra point and, with 8:02 left in the first quarter, the Gators were in front for good.

The third Vernon turnover of the night, a fumble recovered by Josh Lawson at the Yellow Jacket 30, set up Baker's final score of the season.

Vernon scored on a safety in the third quarter and Tyshawn Potter scored a touchdown on a 34-yard pass from Dylan Kirk to close out the scoring.

The Gators piled up 347 yards rushing on 35 carries and added 26 passing yards.

Moore joined Smith with a 100-yard plus game going for 118 on 11 carries.

COMING SOON TO VERNON HIGH SCHOOL:

'A Bad Year for Tomatoes'

By Cecilia Spears
Staff Writer
cspears@chipleypaper.com

VERNON — If you were to overhear a conversation from the students in the Vernon High School drama department, you might hear them requesting a view of the set they built for their upcoming production of "A Bad Year for Tomatoes," which will be showing Nov. 17-19.

"The kids built everything," said drama director Kevin Russell. "They built the walls, they're working on painting the walls and learning how to texture, and when the production is over they'll take the walls down."

Russell placed an emphasis on the importance of the students needing no parental participation when erecting a set.

"This is so much deeper than the students building a set; it's building confidence and character," he said. "It gives them pride in work they've done, confidence in completing a task and it helps with practical application when applying for a scholarship."

Russell also said building a set is an important aspect of drama.

"This gives them a well-rounded feel of all that goes into theater," he said.

Student Caiti Vaughn said building the set was something she enjoyed doing.

"I had to take drama but didn't want to act, and I like to build things," Vaughn said. "When I first started I didn't know how to build a wall, and now it's like wow, I built this."

The lead actress, Kori Maynor, has more than 3,000 lines to memorize in a two-hour show during which she only leaves the stage once.

"This is the first time I've been on stage since elementary school," Maynor said. "The hardest part is the lines; I've got to say the same thing so many times, but each time a little differently, and I'm essentially playing two different characters, so that makes it a little difficult, too."

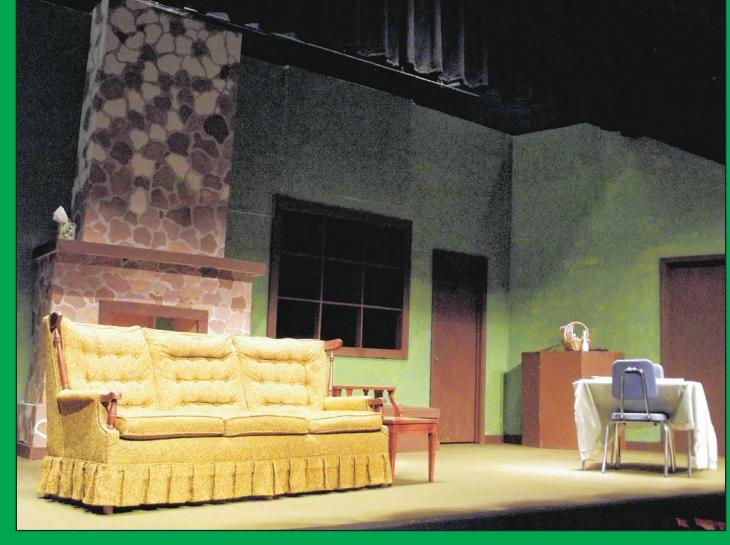

Maynor said that drama has helped in other areas as well.

"It's brought me a lot closer to people, kept me busy, made me not as nervous as I would have been, and remembering my lines has helped me remember a lot of little things, like in homework and on tests," she said. "I've very nervous about the show, but at the same time I'm really excited."

She said after she graduates, she plans on going to college to become a registered nurse.

"It's about getting them out of their comfort zone and experiencing something beyond themselves, and my greatest thing is watching them grow and transform into anything they can imagine," Russell said. "Like with Maynor, she pretty much runs the show; she's basically playing two very different people during the whole play and is on stage almost for the entire show."

slowly expanding and doing some transforming of its own, with newly painted back walls and plans for additional lighting, Russell said.

"We're able to do so much more because we've got such a supportive staff and administrators," he said. "It's very important to have that level of support."

Russell said even allowing the students to take the lead on most productions, he maintains his role as supervisor and adviser.

"These kids worked together as a team, and they can say they built it with their own hands, without the aid of an adult," Russell said. "I've got a great group of kids that are obviously proud in the work they've accomplished, so I invite all to come to see the set that they built."

Tickets are on sale for the Vernon High School Theatre Department's fall comedy, "A Bad Year for Tomatoes," directed by Russell. The cast includes Maynor as Myra Marlowe, Jeffery Bouet as Tom Lamont, Kate Burke as Cora Gump, Amanda Burt as Reba Harper, Dylan Rudd as Piney, Ansley Holland as Willa Mae Wilcox and Dakota Ball as the sheriff.

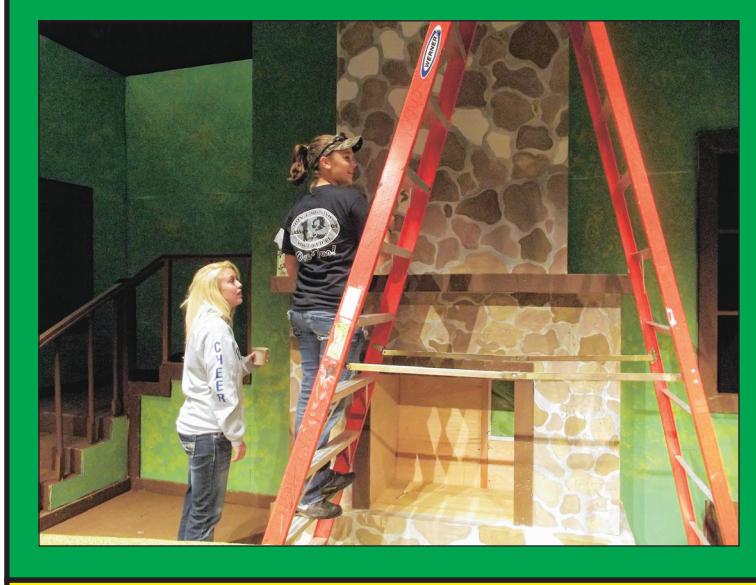

Fed up with the pressures and demands of her acting career, the famous Myra Marlowe leases a house in the tiny New England hamlet of Beaver Haven and settles down to write her autobiography. She is successful in turning aside the offers pressed on her by her long-time agent, but dealing with her nosy, omnipresent neighbors is a different matter. In an attempt to shoo them away and gain some privacy, Myra invents a mad homicidal sister who is kept locked in an upstairs room, but who occasionally escapes long enough to scare off uninvited visitors. The ruse works well at first, but complications result. So Myra announces that her imaginary sibling has suddenly gone off to Boston, which brings on the sheriff, and the suspicion of murder. The uproarious doings will keep audiences laughing right up to the final curtain, and then some.

"A Bad Year for Tomatoes," written by John Patrick, will take the stage Thursday-Saturday, Nov. 17-19, at 7 p.m. nightly. General admission tickets are on sale to the public at the VHS Main Office. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. VHS is at 3232 Moss Hill Road. For more information, contact Russell at vhstheatre@gmail.com or 535-2046.

Take Stock In Children selects scholarship recipients

Take Stock In Children (TSIC) held a combination Mentor Appreciation Dinner and new student scholarship contract awards dinner on Tuesday evening, Nov. 8, at Pattillo's on the WHTC Campus in Chipley. David Solger, president of the Washington County Scholarship Foundation, Inc., operator of the Take Stock In Children program conducted the meeting with assistance from other officers and directors.

Now in its 7th year, the TSIC program has provided 120 credit hour (four-year) tuition scholarships to 53 Washington County high school graduates, and counting the nine new recipients, there are 36 middle and high school students with scholarship contracts working towards high school graduation. The current value of the tuition scholarship through the Florida Prepaid Program is $15,400, which is adjusted each year as college tuition rates increase. A student accepted into the TSIC program in seventh grade may receive a value much greater than the current level as the program has seen increases in the tuition base from $5,000 in 2008 to $15,400 currently.

The new recipients of the TSIC scholarship contracts (listed alphabetically) are:

Marguez Brown, 7th grade, Vernon Middle School. His mentor is Milton Brown. Sponsor of his contract was Jim Town.

John Alan English, 8th grade, Vernon Middle School. His mentor is Robert Knight. The sponsor for his contract was Townsend Building Supply represented by Philip Pippin at the presentation.

Courtney Lee Hendrix, 7th grade, Vernon Middle School. Her mentor is Nancy LyBrand and the contract sponsor was One South Bank represented by Andy Fleener at the presentation.

Paige Rebecca Pope, 9th grade, Vernon High School. Her mentor is Elizabeth English and the scholarship contract was sponsored by Karin and Charles Dunn.

Courtney Poppell, 10th grade, Vernon High School. Her mentor is Sue Harcus and the contract sponsor was Capital City Bank represented by Tammy Deemer at the presentation.

Cheyenne Rabon, 8th grade, Roulhac Middle School. Her mentor is Pat Dixon and the contract sponsor was Guettler & Guettler represented by Charles Dunn at the presentation.

Kylee Rhodes, 7th grade, Roulhac Middle School. Her mentor is Patsy Justice and the contract sponsor was Rey Gustason.

Perla Valdovinos, 7th grade, Roulhac Middle School. Her mentor is Tonya Pippin and the contract sponsor was Laura Joiner.

Eli Whitehead, 8th grade, Roulhac Middle School. His mentor is Matt Orwatt and the contract sponsor was Chipley Kiwanis Club represented by Bill Howell at the presentation.

Every student has an adult mentor that donates 15 to 45 minutes each week during the school year to meet with the student. There are 36 mentors active in the program at this time and many more throughout the county who have previously served. Mentors provide an adult presence outside the family to help students set goals, evaluate their circumstances, seek solutions to life's problems, and just be available on a regular basis as an adult role model. Many mentors have worked with more than 1 student and return to TSIC after their student graduates from high school to work with a new student working towards high school graduation and conversion of the TSIC contract into the scholarship.

Over the last seven years, the foundation has raised local donations of about $377,000 that with the matching funds represents a scholarship value of about $766,000 program that double the local contributions, and those combined funds are then placed with the Florida Prepaid College program to grow until the selected student becomes fully qualified by graduating from high school.

A highlight of the program was a presentation by Joelle Fondo who was a TSIC recipient, a Vernon High School graduate, and is currently a sophomore at the University of West Florida with her tuition fully paid by TSIC. She spoke directly to the new contract recipients about her experiences with the TSIC program, her mentor Pam Cates, and how having the scholarship contract helped keep her focused on making the most of her high school years in preparation for further education.

Washington County Scholarship Foundation, Inc., is a Florida non-profit corporation with an I.R.S designation under Chapter 501(c)(3) that makes local donations tax deductible, operates the program for Washington County under a contract with the Florida TSIC, Inc. The Foundation is also capable of accepting endowments and bequests that can help fund the program in future years.

For information about the volunteer opportunities or to make a donation, contact David Solger, 638-1276, or visit takestockinchildren.com. At present, over 80 Washington County citizens have been, or are currently, involved in supporting the program as volunteer mentors, or in other committees and leadership roles to make the program effective; new volunteers are always welcome.

CHIPOLA MATH ED STUDENTS ATTEND FCTM CONFERENCE

Students in the mathematics education program at Chipola College along with their instructors recently attended the Florida Council of Teachers of Mathematics Conference in Jacksonville. The FCTM conference provides mathematics teachers from throughout the state the opportunity to share teaching strategies for grades K-12. Participants also attended sessions to review new teaching materials and to learn about the new Florida mathematics requirements. The pre-service teacher candidates were joined by other Chipola mathematics education graduates from the college district. Pictured from left, are: Jesse Carter, Stephanie Lawson, Ashley Pavik, Dr. Lou Cleveland, Tammy Smith of Vernon Middle School, Dr. Cherry Ward, Jessica Haid, Joe Whitfield, Jordan Coley, Sam Griffin and Robbie Grawson.

GIVING THANKS

As we near the annual celebration of Thanksgiving, many of us reflect on the many reasons that we have to be thankful. And, given the abundance of things to be thankful for, it is certainly wise and appropriate to do so. But, shouldn't we be thankful during the rest of the year as well, and shouldn't this attitude extend beyond the typical things for which we are thankful, such as our families, our work, and food on our plate? Indeed, if we pause to reflect on the ultimate source of our being and life itself, we realize that gratitude should be a fundamental part of our lives and a constant mode of our being in the world. That is, our very lives, and existence itself are things for which we should be profoundly thankful. And though some may consider the question of existence (and where it all came from) to be a fundamental mystery, certainly no one is responsible for bringing himself into existence. And thus, we owe our existence to someone or something outside of ourselves. Existence is indeed something to be reverentially thankful for, and not surprisingly, the more gratitude we have in our lives the better our lives seem to become. Those cynics who look around and see war, famine, and injustice are quick to point out that it is hard to be thankful for the evil we see in the world; however, they neglect to see that the people who are perpetrating crime and injustice are themselves lacking in this fundamental attitude of Thanksgiving. So, we can make our lives better by making every day a day of Thanksgiving, and taking time each day to reflect on all that we have to be thankful for.

In everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you. - New K.J.V.1 Th 5:18

When two fools meet

Ms. Nona loves to talk about her departed husband, Emit. She shared a story with me recently that I just can't get off my mind. "Emit was a man who loved to trade. He and a friend had stopped in to see a person who had something they would have liked to have bought", she said. She couldn't remember what it was.

However, she does remember that as they were talking with the man about the object, the man who owned it said "he had been offered", she wasn't sure about the amount, but said "we will say it was $5,000." Nona said "that after the man said 'he had been offered $5,000' for it that Emit turned around and went and sat in the car.

Later, his friend came to the car also and asked Emit, 'Why did you just walk off like that?' Emit replied, 'When he said he was offered $5,000 for it I knew that was when two fools met. The first man was a fool for making the offer and the second man was a fool for not taking it.'

As I heard Nona lovingly tell her story, my mind could not help to think, in my life I have witnessed the meeting of many fools. Think about it, how could a nation which God has blessed with more resources than anyone has yet to truly comprehend, (such as oil), let smaller countries hold us at gun point and basically destroying our economy by continually raising the price for no reason other than greed.

HEART
Tim Hall

So the one which has the most oil under its own shores and soil, which has hundreds of thousands of people out of work getting government welfare (unemployment) will not drill or refine that which God has blessed us with because we might have to relocate some rat or bug. Do they think the countries we are buying oil from are protecting their rats and bugs? As they say "out of sight out of mind" I guess. They forget "unemployed people, depending on the government rather than free enterprise is socialism," and "idle hands are a devil's workshop." At the same time, they are destroying the work force in this great land in the name of protecting some rat or bug; our government pays people to murder their own innocent children (Abortion). Go figure that if you can!

On top of that, men are arrested and put in jail because they choose to use the freedom of speech our forefathers fought for and burn a Koran, yet our soldiers are ordered to burn the Holy Bible as trash because it may offend someone in another country and individuals burn the flag that represent everything we stand for while they get free education, food, shelter and health care from those whose flag they burned.

Our politicians make laws to govern the people who elected them to office while they exempt themselves from the same laws. I have always heard "what is good for the goose is good for the gander."

The same elected politicians continue to borrow money from countries which do not honor the Lord Jesus Christ we love, and I have seen figures that say by 2016 or sooner, China will be the greatest power in the world. If things continue as they are going, America would fall to be the slave of its debt (Proverbs 22:7). It seems the foolish met and continue to meet as they become more foolish. As we walk away from government by the people and for the people to following a Pied Piper trading the path our forefathers fought for, for a road leading to self-destruction laced with candy coating.

It is time that we join together as a people of God and seek wisdom because The Holy Bible says "If a wise man contends with a foolish man, Whether the fool rages or laughs, there is no peace" (Proverbs 29:9). It also says, "My brethren, count it all joy when you fall into various trials, knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience.

But let patience have its perfect work, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking nothing. If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him. But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea driven and tossed by the wind. For let not that man suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord; he is a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways (James 1:2-8 NKJV).

If there has ever been a time in history that the words that Paul wrote in 1 Corinthians 3:18-23 need to be heeded, it is the day in which we live. "Let no one deceive himself. If anyone among you seems to be wise in this age, let him become a fool that he may become wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, 'He catches the wise in their own craftiness'; and again, 'The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are futile.' Therefore let no one boast in men. For all things are yours: whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas, (and I would paraphrase this list to include Hall, Stanley, Haggie, Platt, Osteen, Obama, Bush, Clinton or Reagan) or the world or life or death, or things present or things to come—all are yours. And you are Christ's, and Christ is God's."

Johnny Johnson

Johnny Johnson, 64, of Westville, entered into rest Thursday, Nov. 10, at his residence. Johnny was a member of the 1965 graduating class of Ponce de Leon High School.

His favorite hobby was fishing. He was a nature enthusiast and enjoyed not hunting, but simply watching all the animals in the woods around his home as they fed and played. He was a man who liked to travel and loved his family dearly.

Johnny was preceded in death by his parents, Lemuel and Maude Johnson Wilcox.

He is survived by his loving wife of 46 years, Dian Bradley Johnson; one daughter, Shelia Kelley and husband, Mike, of Samson, Ala.; two grandchildren, Bradley Wise and wife, Brittany Phillips, Curtis Phillips Jr., and Anna Phillips; one great-grandchild, Lila Olive; one brother, Walter R. Phillips and wife, Maureen, of Ponce de Leon; two sisters, Pat Infinger and husband, Ronnie, of Red Bay and Darlene Walker and husband, Bud, of Ponce de Leon.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 13, at Otter Creek United Methodist Church with the Rev. Rodney Infinger officiating. Interment followed in the Otter Creek Church Cemetery with Peel Funeral Home of Bonifay directing.

She was preceded in death by her husband,

William Henry Watson Sr., and son, William Henry Watson Jr.

Mattie Watson

Mattie "Wilma" Watson, 92, went home to be with the Lord on Nov. 2. Mrs. Watson was born Aug. 12, 1919, to the late Benjamin Dewitt and Lucille Bailey. She has been a resident of Chipley since 1954, coming from Carrabelle, and is a Baptist by faith, serving as a church member at Holmes Creek Baptist. Mrs. Wilma also worked at the Council on Aging in Chipley.

She was preceded in death by her husband,

William Henry Watson Sr., and son, William Henry Watson Jr.

James C. Creel, Jr.

James Clyde Creel, Jr., 31, of Caryville, closed his eyes and entered into eternal peace and rest on Sunday, Nov. 6, at 7:16 p.m., after a brave and courageous battle with brain cancer. He was at home and surrounded by those most precious to him. Clyde was born on March 23, 1980, in Geneva, Ala., and was the oldest of five children. As anyone who know Clyde would agree, he was hardworking, faithful, dependable and honest, kind, patient, humble, generous and forgiving.

He loved his family with all of his heart and took great pride in being the caretaker of and providing for his family. He loved his Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and tried his best to live a life that would be pleasing to Him. He was definitely an avid outdoorsman who in his spare time could be found setting a trot line in the Choctawhatchee River, scouting for a wild hog in the afternoon thicket, skinning a deer or cleaning a mess of fish, cutting down a tree or hauling in a load of wood, planting or tending a garden, canning fruits and vegetable for his family, helping a buddy with a building project or simply spending time with his wife and children. He

Funeral services were held at 1 a.m., Thursday, Nov. 10, at Caryville Church of Jesus Christ with the Rev. Edward Williams officiating. Interment followed in the Caryville Cemetery with Peel Funeral Home of Bonifay directing.

14 teams compete in golf tourney

CHIPLEY — The Kiwanis Club of Chipley hosted its annual Marvin Ingram Memorial Golf Tournament on Saturday, Nov. 12, at the Sunny Hills Golf & Country Club. The event is named after long-time Kiwanian and civic leader Marvin Ingram.

The start was delayed slightly because of a frost on portions of the course, but the remainder of the morning was ideal for golf as the temperature increased to a comfortable level and the sky was clear. Last year, the tee-off was delayed almost an hour by frost on the greens.

Event chairman Colby Peel said 14 teams had signed up and sponsors were especially generous with door prizes and tournament team awards, so he expected the net proceeds to Kiwanis for youth-oriented projects would be at least equal to last year, maybe better.

Individual prizes went to Mark Odom for closest approach shot to the pin on Hole 5, and B.J. Lashley won for closest to the pin on Hole 15. Chipley Pawn &

THE BONIFAY GARDEN CLUB

The Bonifay Garden Club held their November meeting Friday, the 11th. In keep with the Garden Club's tradition of hosting a demonstration on flower arranging for the holidays, Hazel Tison presented interesting tips on creating an arrangement with materials from your own yard. For instance, the short-needle pine greenery came from the Tison home property in Washington County. Tison grew the ornamental asparagus fern in her backyard. The beautiful Debutant Camellias, which are early bloomers, were cut from healthy Camellia bushes in the Tison Blueberry Patch. The arrangement was nicely complimented with "slightly used" Christmas bulbs and shiny, glittery Christmas ornaments from yesteryear. Her arrangement was created in a low, wide presentation to fit nicely on a fireplace mantel.

In addition, Faye Helms sported a beautiful homemade wreath with materials readily available in local stores.

She started with a simple round plastic wreath with limited silk greenery attached. A wide roll of sturdy tulle (or netting could be used) was carefully formed into large billowy bows that Helms attached to the wreath. Helms demonstrated several options for themed decorations to highlight the wreath such as feathers, used Christmas bulbs, snowmen or Santa Claus ornaments, or possibly Christmas lights.

The Garden Club is especially proud of the newly formed Jr. Garden Club with students from Ms. Barone's 6th grade class at Bonifay Middle School. The students have learned how to root plant cuttings under the direction of Hazel Tison, a former school teacher. Tison emphasized the importance of recycling and using materials readily available in nature for this propagation project.

The Garden Club will meet December 16th, noon, at Simbo's Restaurant. Visitors are invited.

Sharing sickness

The little puppy you brought home is adorable. She saves the best of her sweet looks and affectionate gestures for you. In turn, you want her to have the best of everything you can give. In this mutual exchange of love, you also need to ensure that the pet doesn't give you something you may not want to take — a zoonotic disease (a disease that can spread from animals to humans).

We usually do not think that we get diseases from animals, but these instances happen more than we think. In many cases, people do not realize that they may have got the infection from their pets, says Dr. Stacy Eckman, lecturer at Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine (CVM). In some cases, the animals themselves suffer from the disease while in other cases they are not affected by it, she says.

Infestation with intestinal parasites such as roundworms and hookworms are common zoonotic diseases affecting household pets like dogs and cats.

"A large percentage of the new puppies I see have hookworms and roundworms," Eckman says.

So what are symptoms of intestinal parasitic infection in pets that one should watch out for?

"Poor skin and hair, and a potbellied appearance," she states. These zoonotic diseases are, however, more common in third world countries because of poor sanitary conditions. Proper hygiene is essential to help prevent the spread of these diseases to humans, she says.

Cat owners need to be aware of toxoplasmosis — a disease transmitted through the feces of cats that can affect the unborn child in pregnant women. Eckman recommends that households with pregnant women and cats contact their veterinarian and physician about precautions. Cleaning the kitty's litter box twice a day, preferably by other members of the household is a good option, she says.

One could also get diseases from larger animals as well. Leptospirosis is a bacterial infection that can cause serious liver and kidney problems. The infection can occur through skin contact with infected water contaminated with urine.

"Large animals like cattle, goats, pigs, sheep and horses are reservoirs for this disease and may pass this to our companion animals," Eckman says.

"Humans can then acquire this disease from infected urine from their pets. Awareness and education helps prevent zoonotic diseases," she says.

What can pet owners do to prevent these infections?

"When you first get a new pet, contact your veterinarian and have an exam performed. Most veterinarians talk to you about these things to protect yourself and your pets," Eckman says.

Zoonotic diseases need not always be transmitted by pets. Other animals which we encounter can also pass on diseases. For example, bats are potential carriers of rabies, a fatal disease.

Eckman warns that people should never touch bats. Anybody who comes into contact with a bat must contact the local rabies authorities as soon as possible. This is especially important in the case of young children since they may not be aware that they may have been bitten.

"Often times, prophylaxis may be recommended, especially if the sample is too decomposed to test," she says.

The good news is that all these zoonotic diseases can be avoided with a little bit of preparedness. Veterinarians do routine exams for dogs to check for different diseases such as intestinal parasites and external parasites that may transmit blood borne disorders.

Routine vaccinations for both cats and dogs are available with different protocols in different states. Monthly heartworm preventative medications also help prevent against parasites like hookworms and roundworms.

Many zoonotic diseases depend on the local conditions prevalent in the area. So what about Texas?

"We are hot and wet, and so we literally get everything," she says.

Her take-home message: To consult your veterinarian regarding your pet.

"Each patient is different," she stresses. With awareness and care, zoonotic diseases can often be prevented to ensure a healthy pet and a healthy owner.
