Mr. and Mrs. Claus to visit library

CHIPLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Claus will visit the Chipley area on their worldly trip at Christmas time. While in Chipley, they have been seen shopping for vegetables for the reindeer at several of the local stores. When making these visits, Mr. and Mrs. Claus always stop at the Washington County Public Library to read to the little ones during story time, have a picture made and spread some Christmas cheer. The Community South Credit Union has arranged for the jolly couple to arrive at the library at 10:30 a.m. Dec. 15. Bring your camera for this special visit from Santa. For more information, call Zedra at 638-1314.

Washington County Chamber annual Holiday Open House

CHIPLEY — The Washington County Chamber invites you to the annual Holiday Open House from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dec. 15 at 672 Fifth St. in Chipley. Please bring any canned food items you wish to donate during the holiday season. Please stop by to celebrate the holidays with some good food, good music and good folks. If you have a favorite finger food you wish to showcase at our open house, contact Chris at 638-4157.

Vernon Annual Christmas Parade

VERNON — The City of Vernon's annual Christmas Parade will be Dec. 10 at 2 p.m. The line-up will be at the track behind City Hall. Anyone wishing to be in the parade should contact City Hall at 535-2444. Refreshments will be service in the Community Center and Santa Claus is scheduled to make an appearance as well.

Vernon plans Christmas parade

By Cecilia Spears
Staff Writer
cspears@chipleypaper.com

VERNON — Council member Tina Sloan confirmed that the parade permit for the annual Vernon Christmas Parade was given during their regularly scheduled workshop on Monday, Dec. 5.

The Christmas Parade will be Dec. 10, at 2 p.m. The line-up will be at the track behind City Hall and the city asks that anyone wishing to be in the parade should contact City Hall at 535-2444.

The parade will lead to the Community Center where the council will hold a Christmas party with refreshments and a chance for children to meet and have their picture taken with Santa Claus.

Council member Tray Hawkins also announced that his company is helping Tri-County Community Council raise money for a grant.

"The way their funding structure is set up is as follows: In order for them to apply for grants they have to have matching funding. Their match is 2 percent. My goal was to raise $10,000 and that sounds like a lot but that is only 14 sponsors.

Schlenker awarded Trustee of the Year by Florida Hospital Association

By Nicole Barefield
Washington County News

Northwest Florida Community Hospital president and CEO Patrick Schlenker recently was awarded the Trustee of the Year in the Under 150 Bed category by the Florida Hospital Association.

Schlenker said he feels blessed to have received this award, but to him it's more about the strides made in staffing, operations and service over the years to earn it.

About Patrick A. Schlenker

Patrick A. Schlenker has worked in health care for over 46 years and is currently President and the Chief Executive Officer of Northwest Florida Community Hospital Chipley.

Prior to this he was an executive with Sacred Heart Health Systems in Pensacola, which he served for over 18 years in various administrative positions, including COO of the 500 bed Sacred Heart Hospital in Pensacola.

As Regional Executive he was responsible for coordinating the design, development and construction of Sacred Heart Hospital on the Emerald Coast in Destin. Schlenker retired from Sacred Heart on Feb. 29, 2004, the day prior to assuming ownership of NFCH.

Schlenker is a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives. He earned his bachelor's degree in economics from Cornell University, and an MBA in finance from St. Mary's University. He's also done post-graduate work in human resources and accounting.

Prior to joining Sacred Heart Schlenker spent 20 years in the Army, retiring as a lieutenant colonel in the Medical Service Corps. His last assignment was administrator of Georgas Community Hospital, a 250 bed acute care hospital in the Republic of Panama. He also served two tours in Viet Nam and held administrative positions at Walter Reed Army Medical Center and the Army Surgeon General's Office.

Schlenker has served on numerous non-profit boards including Gulf Coast Health Technologies, Consumer Credit Counseling, the United Way, Chamber of Commerce of Pensacola, and Santa Rosa County Community Clinics.

He just completed his second term as chairman of the Covenant Hospice board of directors in Pensacola and is one of two members representing 29 rural hospital's on Florida's Low Income Pool Council for the allocation of Medicaid funding to Florida Hospitals. He is also on the executive board of the Washington County Chamber of Commerce.

Pat and his wife, Vicky, have four children and four grandchildren.

Goodwill to build complex

By Cecilia Spears
Staff Writer
cspears@chipleypaper.com

CHIPLEY — Goodwill Industries Big Bend Inc. announced Monday, Dec. 5, that they will be building a 15-unit apartment complex for the disabled in Chipley near the Tyndall Federal Credit Union on State Road 77, and president and CEO of Goodwill Industries Big Bend Inc., Fred Shelfer, said that he hopes to have construction started by summer 2012.

"Goodwill has enjoyed being a part of Washington County and the city of Chipley for many years," Shelfer said. "Our Chipley retail store and career training center has done exceptionally well. We are now proud to be able to supply housing to those in the area that need safe, affordable and accessible apartments."

It will be a 15 unit apartment complex and units will consist of 10 one-bedroom and 5 two-bedroom units for 14 people with disabilities, and one two bedroom unit will be for a resident manager.

Shelfer explained that the project is to benefit residents by providing affordable housing and independent living.

The units will be built using green building standards, star energy appliances, water conservation fixtures, and the location is to guarantee that the residents have easy access to shopping, recreational, public transportation and emergency facilities, Shelfer said.

"All apartments and all common areas will be fully accessible to people who use wheelchairs or other mobility aids and extensive accessibility features will be included in these apartments," Shelfer said.

"This includes stoves that have the dials located on the front of the stove instead of the rear, lower cabinets for easy accessibility, a space at the sink to allow wheelchair access, emergency switches to alert management and so much more."

Chipley Tigers win despite fire, tire blow-out, near wreck

By Pat McCann
Executive Sports Editor

The journey of the Chipley High School football team to this week's Rural Class 1A state championship football game soon will become the subject of legend in Washington County.

The Tigers rallied for a 25-21 win over Northview on Friday night despite having a lengthy trip west when the team bus blew a tire on Interstate 10 near DeFuniak Springs, then caught fire on the shoulder of the highway. Football players and team equipment were transferred to a band bus accompanying the squad, and the Tigers arrived in Bratt, located near the Alabama state line north of Pensacola, at 7:10 p.m. for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Chipley fell behind 14-0 after less than nine minutes of play, but somehow maintained focus and punctuated its comeback with two fourth-quarter touchdowns by Ryan McIntyre.

The odyssey wasn't quite complete, however.

On the return trip to Chipley on I-10, the team bus encountered a vehicle traveling west in the east-bound lane on I-10. An accident was avoided. According to a Chipley booster closely affiliated with the Tigers coaching staff, the school resource officer was able to detain the driver of the wayward vehicle near the Holmes County line on I-10.

The football team was able to travel the remainder of the distance back to Chipley without further incident. Efforts are being made to raise money to send the team to State. Students are going to all local businesses for donations and sponsorship. If you are interested in making a donation, contact Mr. Davenport of Chipley High School at 638-6100 ext. 525.

"This is recognition of everything we've done and our staff," said Schlenker. "It doesn't get much better than this."

Since then, more than $9 million has been invested in new property plans, including a new roof and Emergency room. Schlenker said every major piece of equipment has been replaced or upgraded, including a now state-of-the-art CT Scanner, digital mammography equipment and, most recently, a hyperbaric chamber for the its Wound Care Center. The hospital also now pays about half-a-million in taxes annually.

"Our No. 1 without-a-doubt reason for success is our staff," Schlenker said. "We have an unbelievably dedicated staff and they're supportive of our mission."

The hospital has 249 employees and Schlenker spends significant time recruiting high quality clinical and management staff to provide superior primary and specialized care.

"The medical staff is one of the best, most supportive I've ever worked with," he said, stressing the value of strong physician recruitment as a key component of their success.

Selection of a healthcare accounting firm was also critical for the hospital's progress. Schlenker had brought in Wipfli in 2006 to help improve their system and the firm did a "top-to-bottom" assessment of the hospital finances and services. One of the outcomes was commitment to a cost-containment program.

"When we came in the hospital was in terrible shape. It had lost $5 million in the previous four years and $1.9 million of that the year before," Schlenker said.

Another audit outcome was a "zero-tolerance guest relations program" to turn-around poor relations between staff and patients. Schlenker explained surveys show patients judge their care on the quality of service and concern shown by staff.

Schlenker offers other reasons for the hospital's success, including an active board of directors and strong community support, which wasn't the case when he took over.

"We feel strongly the hospital has to provide healthcare but also support the community — and that in turn the community supports the hospital. It's a two-way-street," he said.

Good luck also had a role to play. "Sometimes bad things turn into good things," Schlenker said, explaining how destruction caused by Hurricane Ivan in 2003 resulted in the area's designation as a disaster shelter, allowing NFCH to apply for a mitigation grant that helped pay for the roof and window replacements.

The hospital's designation as an acute care shelter also gave Schlenker access to low interest SBA loans, which he used as working capital, including funding for new equipment.

"This is the most rewarding thing done in my career," Schlenker said. "I was with Sacred Heart for 18 years, when this opportunity came about I took it on as a mission."

Schlenker said the hospital, a recipient of the 2010-11 Hospital Choice Award, is in much better shape than most to weather the current economic and healthcare storm. "We've got along way to go, and a lot still to accomplish," Schlenker said. "But I'm enjoying it."

With the shoot generating $720 for itself, my method of math was 20 rounds, 12 shooters per round, $3 per shot," Hawkins said. "With that $10,000 they will turn it into $500,000 to help the entire community."
 The Turkey Shoot will be Saturday, Dec. 10 at 6 p.m.
 Council member Byran Biddle said that Diane Hendrix will be stepping up to fill in for Peter Herbert as City Clerk until the matter of his probation violation with FRS was resolved and asked that it be put on the agenda that she be paid City Clerk pay until then.
 Biddle also asked that it be put on the agenda to pay the required match of $10,000 for the city's upcoming energy grant, which is to replace street lights, stop lights and generators with much more energy efficient units as possible.
 Biddle asked that the agenda include a motion to pay an overdue bill of $20,000 for the water and sewer upgrade, which Biddle informed, was 50 percent reimbursable.

 "I would also like to ask for support for the upcoming ballot to allow slot machines in Ebro," Biddle said. "The economic implications for our city are pretty good."
 Hawkins said he wanted to be sure that the pros outweighed the cons.
 "I just want to make sure that the money gained in the endeavor will benefit the citizens of this county and that the negative doesn't outweigh the positive," Hawkins said. "I know this means a lot of jobs for this area and a lot income for the county, but we can't ignore that it also brings with it a negative image."
 Council member Gwen March said that she experienced something similar where she grew up and that slot machines didn't bring crime, but that the crime was already present.
 "Slot machines and gambling doesn't really change a place all that much," March said. "And lets face it, people around here could really use the jobs."

 Sloan said that she would like to see something on the agenda about restricting signage in the city limits.
 "A good example is right at the Tom Thumb, where you've got yard sale signs and business signs all over the place," Sloan said. "If any city personnel sees those signs littering our street they should be pulled up immediately."
 Also to be placed on the nex agenda is a proposed ordinance to do away with the exemption placed in occupational license, which allows farmers to sell their produce in city limits without having to pay the $25 per year fee for an occupational license.
 Hawkins informed them that there would two public hearings which will include a two readings before the exemption could be nullified.
 The next council meeting will be Dec. 12 at 7 p.m.

The family history of Thomas Harrell

Thomas Ray Harrell, age 89, passed away in his home on November 28. His death marks the passing of another generation of pioneer settlers, the Harrell family. He was the youngest and the last child born to James Wilson (Jim) Harrell and Arcola Cook Harrell. The parents, along with a brother, Tolva, and a sister, Evelyn Harrell Brock, preceded him in death.

who moved frequently from farm to farm in an effort to hold the family together.

The older brother, Tolva, entered the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) and left home. The sister, Evelyn, had already married J. N. Brock.

The mother and young Thomas Ray first lived with the grandmother, Mary Cook. He reportedly did much of the cooking for the family, washed and ironed clothing and helped with the family chores while still trying to attend school. He was diagnosed with high blood pressure at the age of 16, although living a full and active life and reaching the ripe old age of 89.

On June 9, 1934, at the tender age of 12, Thomas Ray, along with cousin, Charles Downs, were accompanying his father, who was walking to a designated spot near Cook's Mill, to meet a social worker to discuss possible financial assistance for the family. Jim Harrell, known to have serious medical problems, and his wife, Arcola, also in poor health, were having extreme difficulties in providing for the family.

Just as the parties arrived at the rendezvous with the state worker, Jim Harrell became seriously ill. Mrs. Bonnie Rich Trawick, the health professional, drove him to the nearby Dr. L. H. Paul hospital in Bonifay. The boys ran to the family home to report the sad developments.

An aunt, Oma Dee Cook Wade, was on the scene shortly and drove the family to Bonifay where the father died that evening as a result of an aneurysm on the brain, causing a stroke.

The Harrell family was left in shock due to the death of the father. They were existing on meager earnings as sharecroppers Bess Yates Harrell, the wife of Thomas Ray Harrell for 69 years, is the daughter of Ferry Yates and Pearl Pipkin Yates. Her parents are also a founding pioneer family of the area.

Thomas Ray and Bess grew up in the Pleasant Hill Church Community. Both attended Vernon High School with Bess graduating in 1941. Due to the economic hard times, Thomas Ray was unable to finish high school but later received his GED.

Although with little formal courtship, other than seeing each other at church, school or at some community activity, their love for each other was obvious to those around them.

The mothers of Thomas Ray and Bess knew of their romantic interest in each other and possibly suspected some serious marriage thoughts when the aspiring Thomas Ray began a concerted effort to find a job other than picking cotton or other menial chores of farm labor.

It was on a hot and sunny August 1, 1942 day in Bonifay when the two met up by coincidence. He had been to DeFuniak Springs in pursuit of a job and had just returned by Greyhound. Upon alighting from the bus, he saw Bess, her mother, Pearl Yates, his mother, Arcola Harrell and his sister, Evelyn Brock stopped at U.S. Highway 90. He immediately stepped up on the running board of the 1934 Chevrolet Coupe, driven by Evelyn and rode to uptown Bonifay. He and Bess were dropped off near the courthouse. The ladies went to buy groceries.

Totally unplanned, Bess, dressed in her two-toned blue pebble crepe dress and Thomas Ray, in his blue trousers and matching sport shirt went straight to the courthouse and got married. Honorable Klien McDonald did the honors. After paying $5 for the license and $1 for a certificate, they were left with one nickel. They walked back downtown to meet their ride where they spent the nickel for a Coca-Cola, which they shared, while agreeing among themselves that it would be unwise to reveal the marriage until sometime later.

Time proved to be at the home later that evening when Bess was making milkshakes for all those gathered. The Marriage Certificate was revealed and the announcement made. Tears of joy were shed by family members and thus they began their life together without one penny in their pockets.

Thomas Ray secured employment with the State Road Department and worked until retirement. Born to them were Barbara Jean, Marcus and Marilyn, all who have successful working careers. Four grandchildren and three great grandchildren have graced the family.

Thomas Ray and Bess united with Bethel Primitive Baptist Church on April 2, 1966 and have remained faithful to their church since. He was selected as Church Clerk and later ordained as a Deacon, an office he actively served in until health problems prevented participation.

The funeral service was held at Bethel Church on, November 30 with Elders Bobby Willis and Dawson Stanaland presiding. Arrangements were entrusted to Sims Funeral Home of Bonifay. The two-sons-in-law, John Teusink and Ken Rogers, both life time professions in funeral directing, participated in the funeral at the request of the father-in-law.

The ministers spoke of Thomas Ray Harrell's Christian virtues: His love for Christ and the Church, his kindness, meekness and ability to regard others above self. Also stated was that Thomas Ray followed Christ's commandment to "provide well for his own household", further commenting that, even in death, his countenance reflected honor and dignity. 2nd Samuel, Chapter 3, Verse 38: "And the King said unto his servants, Know ye not that there is prince and a great man fallen in Israel?" See you all next week.

VERNON HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT OF THE MONTH RECIPIENTS

It is our pleasure to announce the Community South November Student of the Month recipients at Vernon High School. Congratulations to Jaquarius Leverette, Qua'Sean Davis, Tyrell Peterson, and Lane Evans. Each of these students received a gift card and knap sack filled with goodies for being selected. These students will also participate in a reward trip at the end of the semester. Hats off to our winners for working so hard!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CITIZENS OF HOLMES COUNTY

There is a group of young men who have worked hard to get where they are and are not being supported by the community. They are the Holmes County High School Football Team.

They played Liberty County in the first round of the playoffs to a far less than full house, less even than some home games. Also, the PA system, which had problems most of the season was not working at all. Why wasn't it repaired? Supposedly it was repaired for the second round of the playoffs but it wasn't.

It has been reported Holmes County received 1.74 million dollars. Lets spend some of that on a PA system.

Of the current elected county and school board officials, the only ones I saw (and I went to all home games) at Chipley, Marianna, and Bozeman which were all away games were Harry Bell and Owen

Powell. Former officials Howard Owen and Jerry Cooley also attended at least one game.

Unfortunately, the season is over. It was an interesting season and even though a state championship wasn't to be, these young men - future leaders - exceeded the expectations of many. Hopefully the community will support the team next season.

Now a question or two. Why wasn't the flag raised at the North end of the stadium as at all other home games?

Why doesn't Holmes County start the game with a brief prayer? Other districts do.

To the band, please don't play during a play. It distracts both teams. Also for a superior rated band, please learn the National Anthem.

Friends,
I just want to take time to wish you and your family a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year. I have something weighing heavy on my head and there is no better way to get it off than ask a few of my closest friends to help you carry it. I have always been very blessed and it is more apparent everyday how God has touched my life and made his presence known in every way. My family and I were at church Sunday and the Pastor started preaching about "the pot" no not what you are thinking about, The Pot is what as a community we can do. We as one-person can't do but so much, but we as a whole can do great things. That message hit me hard and I could not stand to sit one more minute in the pew. I was on fire, so straight to the alter I went to pray about the message that was clearly sent to me. The reason I say it was sent to me is because the week before I was planning a fundraiser for Tri-County Community Council, we were going to have a Turkey Shoot and match what the shoot made with donations made from private and corporate sponsors. I wanted to donate the money for the Angel Tree and still do but after speaking with

Mrs. Cindy Lee from Tri-County the message made so much more since to me. The way their funding structure is set up is as follows: in order for them to apply for grants they have to have match funding, their match is 2%. My goal was to raise $10,000 that sounds like a lot but that is only 14 sponsors with the shoot generating $720 for itself, my method of math was 20 rounds, 12 shooters per round, $3 per shot. With that $10,000 they will turn it into $500,000 to help the entire community. I have been involved in local youth sports from the time I was born until present. I did not realize that if the kids that are under privileged wanted to play a sport but their parents did not have the money that was not a problem, Tri-County would pay for it. If you are going through a hard time and your power bill was just a little too much, no problem, Tri-County would help. I am sure you probably could ask enough people and you could find someone to give you a story that is not positive about Tri-County but I bet if you dive in to find the negative you would be over whelmed with the positive.

Merry Christmas,
Tray Hawkins

Hooked on Outdoors

If this wind ever stops, the surf fishing should be pretty good. I realize hunting season is just around the corner, but not everyone hunts. A lot of people come down from the north, and they find the surf and pier fishing to their liking.

The good thing about fishing off the beach or a pier is that there is no boat to lug around. All a person needs is a folding chair, some sand spikes and some good spinning rods. Another added attraction is if you are from out of state and you fish from one of the cement piers on the beach, you will not need to buy a fishing license.

If you enjoy fishing from the surf, you are in for a surprise because a fish that generally is gone by this time of year is still is around. Pompano are being caught from the surf and also the piers along the beach.

If you are new here and don't know the area, you have four piers to choose from. On the west end of the beach there is the City Pier located at Pier Park. A little farther to the east, you have a carbon copy of the City Pier called the County Pier or M.B. Miller Pier. Both of these piers are new. Farther to the east is the St. Andrews State Park pier. It is a wooden pier that is about half as long as the cement piers, but there are a lot of fish caught off there. If you fish this pier a lot, it is cheaper to buy a pass to enter the park than to pay at the gate every time you fish.

Another pier is located in Mexico Beach on the end of Tyndall Air Force Base. It is a long ride from most places in Bay County as it is on the easternmost border. It is a wooden pier like the state park and doesn't go as far into the Gulf as the cement piers. Some fine redfish are caught off this pier, however.

King mackerel, which should have been gone long ago, still are being caught off both cement piers. Another winter staple is whiting, and these also are being caught off all the piers and out of the surf.

Like the weather, the fishing soon will be cooling off, but for a month or two a visitor to the beach should be able to stretch a line every now and then.

Sheepshead occasionally prowl very shallow water, particularly on warm winter afternoons. They can be caught on unweighted fresh shrimp in these situations, but they're easily spooked.

SHEEPSHISH BEHAVIOR

Winter's panfish can excite the fisherman, delight the palate

By Frank Sargeant
Florida Fish and Wildlife
Conservation Commission

Set the hook just before they bite.

That is the sage advice of salty old sheepshead aficionados, who like to pull the leg of those with less experience at extracting Archosargus probatocephalus from coastal waters. The seeming paradoxical how-to is nearly correct, though, because no fish in the sea can steal a bait more quickly. In fact, some people, outdoors writer-types mostly, call them "convict fish" for their nefarious behavior — and of course they wear the same black and white stripes you used to see on prison road-gangs so the look also suits.

Sheepshead are shaped like a sort of giant saltwater bluegill, with average weights of 1 to 4 pounds. The big attraction at this time of year is that they continue to bite when reds and trout are hunkered down shivering in the holes, and when Spanish, kings and cobia are enjoying a few margaritas off Key West.

The limit on sheepshead is liberal — 15 daily — which means if you have two or three anglers aboard and happen into a swarm of hungry 'heads, you can actually fill the cooler; a rarity with any species these days.

You won't be taking home any 20-pounders, as you might with gags or red snapper; to be sure, (the all-tackle sheepshead record is 21 pounds, 4 ounces) but a stack of 1- to 3-pounders is likely in winter; and if you fish rockpiles off the beach during the March/April spawn, you may add some fish of 5 to 8 pounds to the box. The jetties at St. Andrews are a famed spot for this. (Minimum size is 12 inches total length.)

Don't expect any line-class record 'heads, either; the IGFA does not extend their respect to the species by keeping class records, though they do provide this honor to the mighty black sea bass (all-tackle record 10 pounds, 4 ounces, not half the size of the biggest sheepee.)

Sheepshead are not wimps, either; they're remarkably powerful critters for their size. A five-pounder caught on the flats is a match for a redfish of similar size — though it's rare to catch 'em on the flats because they are so much more wary than redfish. And when you hook up with a heavy one around a piling, he's just as quick to wrap up and cut you off.

The sheepshead is a member of the porgie family, thus his shape.

Sheepshead are named for their mouthful of teeth, which they use to crop shellfish off pilings, rocks and reefs. The teeth make them tough to hook, experts say.

They are named for their teeth, which do look somewhat sheeplike, and enable them to crunch up the shellfish and crabs that are their primary diet. Inside the mouth are hard, bony nodules that complete the crushing operation; they can grind up anything from oysters to mussels to barnacles — if you've ever tried to scrape barnacles off a boat bottom, you have to admire the power in the sheepshead jaws because they nip them off like carrots.

Catching sheepshead is a learned art. It looks as if it should be very simple; toss a piece of fresh-cut shrimp in front of them and they eat it, most of the time. But that parsimonious mouth is very stingy when it comes to ingesting hooks; often they nip off the bait and leave Mr. Gamakatsu hanging naked.

First, it's essential to use a hook small enough to fit the relatively small mouth of the fish; size 1 or 1/0 is the ticket to admission. Actually, smaller hooks work even better, but the teeth are so strong that the fish can occasionally bite right through the light wire of smaller hardware — choose small hook size made in a strong wire for best results.

Sheepshead can also bite through mono or fluoro leader and line, and there's not much you can do about that if the hook goes in far enough for them to chomp on, either. Adding wire leader is not an option — they'll rarely eat even the tastiest bait suspended on wire.

You usually need a sinker of some sort because 'heads are most often found in holes, channels and cuts, usually around rocks, concrete or other hard structure where shellfish can fix and grow and where small crabs live.

One good way to rig is to put the hook on a dropper made of 20-pound test "hard" mono like the Mason's that's a favorite of offshore anglers, or fluorocarbon, which is nearly twice as dense as mono, then hang the sinker on the bitter end of the line about 18 inches below — it's like the drop-shot rig preferred by bass anglers, and a neat hook for the job is the new VMC Spin-Shot hook, which has a swivel on each side and stands out vertically between line and leader.

With this rig, you can immediately feel it when a fish starts nibbling on the bait; if the sinker is above the hook, as in a standard rig, the fish has to bite hard enough to move the sinker before you feel anything — and by that time the bait may be long gone.

Another rig that works well in winter is a one-eighth to one-quarter-ounce jig head with an oversized hook, size 1/0 or so, on which a piece of fresh cut shrimp, about thumbnail-sized, is impaled. With the jig, you feel the bite immediately, and it casts more easily than a separate sinker/dropper rig.

While fresh shrimp is by far the easiest bait to come by, sheepshead also readily take an assortment of other natural baits; fiddler crabs, tubeworms and oysters are all high on the list of sheepshead experts. In some areas, you can scoop up sand fleas with a basket rake, and these make ideal bait not only for sheepshead but also for pompano. (Parboil them in salted water; store them in plastic zipper bags and freeze them, and you've got fresh bait any time you need it.)

By the way, the traditional tactic of putting an oyster on a treble or double hook to catch sheepshead is no longer legal; it's single hooks only for the species.

Whatever the bait, the trick is to hold light tension on the line when Sheepshead may be the only game in town as cold weather sets in along the Panhandle, but they provide good action and great eating for those who learn how to hook them.

you feel that first bump. If you can sense weight there as you take up the slack, set the hook; you miss some, but you hook most once you develop the touch. Microfiber line like PowerPro helps a lot; better sensitivity and more authority to set the hook.

Finding sheepshead

You can often visually locate sheepshead in clear water; they tend to hang near the surface, and you can spot them as they turn and flash. But even if you don't see them, you can often stir fish up by chumming around crusty pilings and riprap; use a hoe or spud to scrape the barnacles. As this stuff showers down, sheepshead will smell it and move in from considerable distance.

All bridges that span coastal waters are likely sheepshead hangouts in winter; West Bay, DuPont, Hathaway, Shalimar and others are all worth checking. Keep moving, probing residential canals, holes at creek mouths, rip-rap edges and oyster river habitat; it's like prospecting for any other fish, and you may go an hour or two before you find a congregation. Once that first 'head bites, however, you can be sure that there are many more in the same vicinity.

Larger 'heads congregate on rockpiles and ledges in 8 to 30 feet of water to spawn in March and early April; rocky channel edges and many nearshore reefs also hold them at this time.

There is also a limited flats fishery here and there during late fall and through warm spells in winter. On the lowest tides, it's not uncommon to see them up in the shallows waving that gray tail as they root out whatever they can find on bottom. However, a sheepshead seen in this way is not a sheepshead caught; they are paranoid on a level that makes redfish seem like carp. If you land an artificial lure anywhere in the same ZIP code, they will instantly vaporize. The only tactic that has ever worked for me is to cast a whole shrimp, unweighted, on a light spinning rig uptide from the fish and let it sit there. Sometimes the fish smells it, swims up and eats it — when that happens, you have achieved one of the pinnacles of flats angling. They put up a nice battle in the shallows, too, with some fast, powerful runs.

Oddly, these same fish may travel to nearby potholes when the spirit moves them — usually on low full and new moon tides — and then they become dumb as catfish; most of the large winter catches are made by finding these backcountry holes. They also settle into rocky holes in many coastal rivers during cold weather — they like the same habitat as winter reds and black drum.

Sheepshead are in the same family as the pinfish, which explains something about their physiography — they are armed with some of the sharpest, longest spines in fishdom, and the armament sprouts in all directions, from the back, the chest and the nether regions; there is hardly a safe way to pick up a sheepshead except with tongs.

But pick up a sheepshead you must, because that's what it takes to extract those wonderful white filets. As you might expect of a creature that eats only shellfish, the taste of sheepshead completely belies the barnyardian name; it is among the finest of all fishes, right up there with hog snapper — another critter with a nasty name and a wonderful taste, come to think of it.

McIntyre sparks Chipley

Bus fire, Northview can't stop Tigers

By Brad Milner

Florida Freedom Newspapers

BRATT — A bus fire couldn't stop Chipley on Friday. Neither could Northview.

The Tigers arrived late to the Rural Class 1A state semifinal after the team bus was destroyed by fire, but that did little to impede their playoff surge as they defeated homestanding Northview 25-21. Chipley, which overcame a 14-0 deficit, advanced to Friday's state championship game in Orlando against Jefferson County, which defeated top-ranked Union County in the other semifinal.

Chipley will take an 11-2 record into the inaugural Rural title game. Northview, which lost to Chipley 34-27 during the regular season, finished 8-4. Ryan McIntyre had 301 total yards, including 221 rushing and scored four touchdowns, two in the fourth quarter that overcame a 21-12 Northview lead.

He quickly joined his teammates for a celebration following a harrowing day.

The Tigers' bus blew a tire on Interstate 10 and then started on fire. Players and coaches moved off safely and equipment was saved, but some personal items were lost as the bus was engulfed in flames at about 4 p.m. near DeFuniak Springs.

The team transferred to the band bus and continued the journey to the small community near the Alabama-Florida border north of Pensacola. The trip was expected to take more than three hours without delay, and the accident extended travel time far beyond that.

Chipley coach Rob Armstrong refused to let the predicament become an excuse. He offered "we're fired up" before the game as the team trotted on the field to warm up at 7:10 p.m. The game started on time at 7:30, despite guidelines that provide a team at least 30 minutes for preparation when facing extenuating circumstances.

"I was asleep, and the bus driver was screaming 'get off the bus,'" McIntyre said. "It was crazy, but we stick together as a team, always."

McIntyre scored on a 1-yard run early in the fourth quarter to close Chipley's deficit to 21-18. Chipley forced a punt but was stopped on fourth down on its next possession.

Another Northview punt ensued, and McIntyre and Chipley started at the Tigers' 31. Three plays later, Josh Myers found McIntyre in the middle of the field, and he gathered in the pass for a 53-yard scoring play that turned out to be the winning touchdown with 1:11 to play.

Northview, which was led by running back LaMikal Kyles' 131 yards rushing, drove to Chipley's 21. Kyles was inserted at quarterback on the final drive, and his exchange with Roderick Woods was fumbled. Cody Kriser covered the loose football for Chipley, and the Tigers' offense ran out the clock.

"We started slow, but we knew what we are capable of," McIntyre said. "This is because of all the hard work we've put in practice all year."

Chipley was stopped on a three-and-out on its first series and fumbled the ball away on the second possession. Northview capitalized with two early touchdowns.

The first scoring drive covered 61 yards on nine plays, the last 25 yards by Kyles. The Chiefs went ahead 14-0 with a 68-yard drive bolstered by a 56-yard run from Chad Smith to the 5. Woods carried the rest of the distance for early momentum.

Chipley countered with a 73-yard burst from McIntyre but a missed extra point only pulled the Tigers within 14-6 with 1:35 to play in the first quarter.

The Tigers had the ball deep in Chiefs' territory in the second quarter but were stopped on fourth down at the 29. They moved into Chiefs' territory a second time and converted with McIntyre's 27-yard scamper bringing them within 14-12. That's what the score remained at halftime when a 2-point conversion run failed.

CATHRINE'S NASCAR PIT STOP

A closer look at Carl Edwards

By Cathrine Lamb
Editorial Assistant
clamb@chipleypaper.com

Carl Edwards was born Aug. 15, 1979, in Columbia, Mo. He started his racing career at the age of 13 racing four-cylinder cars in Missouri, where he grew up. He is considered one of the most voracious competitors in NASCAR. Carl has under his belt as a driver two track championships, three Rookie-Of-The-Year titles and more than 75 featured wins while racing on both dirt and pavement track throughout the country. In 2003, he joined the team he has been with for the last seven years, Roush Fenway Racing. He started his NASCAR career in the Camping World Truck Series and in 2005 went on to drive full-time in both the Nationwide Series and the Sprint Cup Series. Edwards finished his eighth season with Roush Fenway Racing in second place in the Chase for the Championship. Edwards spends his spare time with his wife, Kate, daughter, Anna, and his son, Michael.

PET TALK

Pot-bellied Pigs

Unlike their barnyard brethren, pot-bellied pigs are commonly found as pampered pets living indoors with their owners these days. Native to the country of Vietnam, a full grown potbellied pig averages roughly around 120 to 150 pounds.

"A good candidate for owning a pot-bellied pig, as with any pet, is someone who has time to devote to caring for the animal and who is prepared financially to provide veterinary care, should it become ill or have other problems," says Dr. Kevin Washburn, associate professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences.

Pot-bellied pigs are popular pets because they are very intelligent and can be housebroken. Pigs are also able to openly express their fondness for their owners, much like other domesticated house pets.

These pets need a fenced area to protect them from dog attacks.

Pigs, no matter what their age, have no defense against these attacks despite what some people think. It is important for owners to research the animal's diet. Even though it might be tempting to feed a pot-bellied pig table scraps or other human foods, they have their own specific nutritional needs that must be met.

"The only food pot-bellied pigs should eat is a commercially available pot-bellied pig feed," says Washburn. "People should not feed them human food as this usually results in obesity, which, therefore leads to health problems later in life."

Washburn recommends feeding twice a day at amounts according to the instructions on the feed bags.

When looking to purchase a new pet, the common health problems of the animal should be considered.

Washburn explains that overfeeding leads to obesity which is the most common cause for discomfort in these animals. Obesity then leads to arthritis as the pig ages.

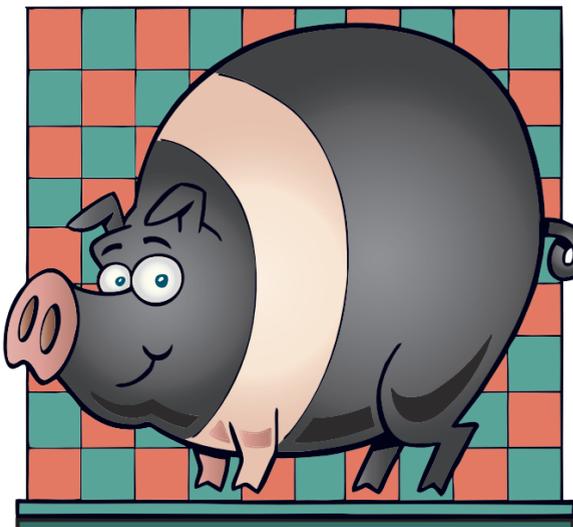

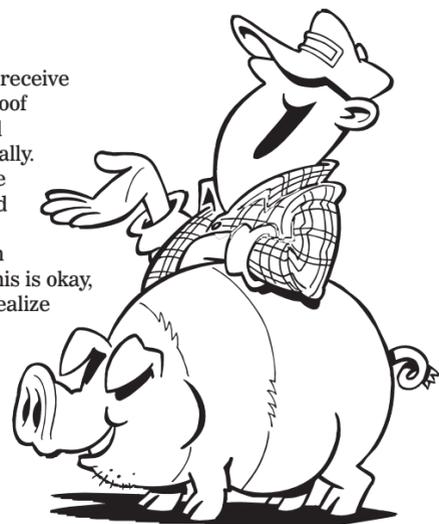

"Also, in unspayed females, uterine cancer is very common when they get older," says Washburn.

Pigs should receive vaccinations, hoof trimmings, and physicals annually.

Many people keep pot-bellied pigs as house pets. Washburn explains that this is okay, but one must realize the potential pitfalls of this such as the pig rooting up carpet or floors, eating walls, or overturning household items such as plants or dining chairs.

It is best if the pig is kept only as a part time house pet for these reasons, which are normally due to a pig becoming bored.

Also, if an owner is looking to keep an exceptional garden outside or a perfect lawn, it would be wise to fence that area off. Pigs naturally root through the ground for the purpose of obtaining necessary vitamins and minerals from the ground as well as food such as grubs or acorns.

Potential owners should make sure to check the local zoning laws before buying to ensure that keeping a pot-bellied pig is allowed.

Pigs that have been neutered or spayed are generally sweet natured animals, and they do not have sweat glands, rendering them an almost odorless pet. If a potential buyer is willing to put in the tender care and work that these adorable animals need, a pot-bellied pig can make for a great pet!

Chipola shines at state afc convention

MARIANNA—Chipola College was one of the most talked-about colleges at the 2011 Association of Florida Colleges Annual Convention in Naples. Chipola garnered numerous honors, including chapter recognition, membership awards and leadership awards. The Chipola Chapter was named a Platinum Chapter, the highest recognition a chapter can receive for chapter leadership and activities. The Chipola Chapter accepted a special membership award for having 83% of full time employees at Chipola as AFC members. Chipola College Publications Coordinator Evelyn Ward presided over the statewide conference as the 2011 Association President. Ward has served in this position since January and will conclude her year of service on December 31. During her term as president, Ward facilitated the name change of the organization, which was formerly known as the Florida Association of Community Colleges (FACC). Ward said, "We are excited to have the opportunity to change the name of our association to better reflect the exciting changes in our state system and to better represent our constituents — the Florida colleges and their employees." Ward is the fourth Chipola employee to serve as statewide president, including Chipola Executive Assistant to the President, Joyce Traynom; Chipola athletic director Dr. Dale O'Daniel, and former associate athletic director Sandra Harrell.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

During the convention, Ward also presented an Educational Session on the new AFC Certified College Professional leadership program beginning in February 2012. This program will provide AFC members with the opportunity to earn a designation related to their work as a college professional, and expose them to content and leadership experiences they may not be able to obtain elsewhere. The designation will be recognized not only by their college, but by the entire Florida State College system. Chipola College Network Coordinator Matt White presented an Educational Session, "There's an App for That! Are you getting the SMART out of your smartphone?" White's presentation highlighted how to get the most out of smartphones, including new and exciting apps and tips. White also serves as the State Parliamentarian on the State Board of Directors. Pat Barfield was honored as the Chipola College Unsung Hero for her outstanding work in the chapter. Barfield, Departmental Staff Assistant for Institutional Development and Planning, also serves as the Vice President-Elect for Regions and Chapters and sits on the state Board of Directors. Several Chipola employees will serve in state leadership roles next year. Pat Barfield will serve as the Vice President of Regions and Chapters, Evelyn Ward will serve as Past President, and Alice Pendergrass will serve on the state Credentials Committee. Also attending the convention from Chipola, were: Katy Flowers, Stacey Hinson, and Dr. Jim Froh. AFC is a statewide organization open to all employees, retirees and trustees of Florida's 28 state colleges. AFC provides professional development opportunities for its members, and represents the interests of community colleges before the Florida Legislature. Today, all 28 of the state's public colleges support the work of the Association as do nearly 9,000 individual employee and retiree members.

Chipola student art on display

MARIANNA — Original works by Chipola College art students are now on display in the Art Gallery of the Violet McLendon Building. All art and craft work was created by students of Chipola art instructors Chuck Carbia and Kelly Boehmer. The exhibit is open to the public for viewing on Mondays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Dec. 7.

Chipola students visit bluffs and reserve

MARIANNA—Chipola College biology professor Dr. David Hilton and 14 students from Conservation Biology (BSC1059) recently hiked the 3.75-mile Garden of Eden Trail at the Apalachicola Bluffs and Ravines Preserve near Bristol. The students were able to observe steephead ravines, some of the rarest of freshwater habitats. Dr. Hilton says, "These unique features are the only places on earth where two rare evergreens, the Florida Torreya and Florida Yew can be found." The trail begins in a longleaf and wiregrass upland and ends with a spectacular view at Alum Bluff, 135 feet above the Apalachicola River. The hike is moderately difficult as hikers climb down into and then out of two of the ravines. The 6,295-acre Bluff and Ravines preserve is owned and maintained by the Nature Conservancy. Several restoration projects are currently underway, from the re-introduction of native species to the control and removal of invasive, non-native species. The

Whatever happened to cute?

By the Rev. James L. Snyder

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage had commandeered the Christmas decorating operation for yet another year. I am not quite sure how she remembers when to start all of this, because the thought had not yet entered my mind.

Here it is Christmas and I am about as prepared for Christmas this year as I was last year. One of the great things about my wife is that she keeps all of these holidays in order and on time. I am still reeling from my Thanksgiving Day turkey indulgence.

Once again, our home is in decorating mode. My great contribution to the Christmas holiday decorating plan is to keep out of my wife's way. One year I tried to help her and let's just say we will not repeat that again. I just have no decorating expertise at all. I cannot tell the difference between a wrapping bow and a Christmas tree bulb.

Before I could get out of the way of the decorating frenzy in our home, I ran across something in the back of a box. How it got there, I have no way of knowing. How I got up this morning, I have no way of knowing either. However, there was a photo album from when I was a young person in the back of a box.

I want to stress the fact that there was a time when I was a young person. We will not discuss how long ago that was, but just know that there was a time in my illustrious career when I was a young person.

I opened up the album and saw photographs from when I was a young person. The photograph that really caught my attention was one taken before I was a year old. I had forgotten this photo. Of course, I have no recollection of when that photo was taken. I was about nine months old and I was mostly occupied with the rascal who confiscated my bottle.

I had simple concerns at that time. I was not worried for example about world affairs, politics or the economy. As long as I knew where my next bottle was coming from, I was a happy little camper in a diaper. I miss those days of naivety. I am looking forward someday, to returning to that state of mind.

I delighted looking at all of the pictures of what was supposed to be me when I was very young. I Then found a picture I had completely forgotten about.

It is valuable at times to go back and relive the past. I know you cannot really relive the past, but you can look at the past and see how far you have come. Photographs are a marvelous way of reliving the past. These photos were the old black and white photographs, so you know how long ago that was.

The photo that really caught my attention was when I was very young. I believe this is the first photo ever taken of me. It was in the year of our Lord 1951 and I was nine months old. Looking at that picture I had to admit to myself that I really was a cute little guy.

It was a black-and-white photo but my mother had carefully colored it with crayons. She did a marvelous job but then she had a great piece of work to begin with, if I say so myself.

The important thing about this photo was it was a picture of me, but it was also a picture of the winner of the cutest baby award in our community in 1951. I had won a beauty award when barely 9 months old. How many people can boast about that?

I really do not know any of the details of that beauty contest. After all, every nine-month-old baby is cute. I really do not think I was the cutest baby but then again I won the title and I have the picture in my hand. Unfortunately my beauty career peaked then and it has been on a downward slide ever since. I have the skid marks to prove it.

After looking at that picture for a while, I went into the bathroom and looked into the mirror. What a shock. I could not see any resemblance in the mirror to anything in the picture. It would be a stretch for anybody to say that the two pictures were of the same person. When anybody says that beauty is in the eyes of the beholder I would like to correct them and say that beauty is in the hands of the holder of a picture of the baby who won the cutest baby award in 1951.

In the years since that picture was taken, I have lived quite a bit and Father Time has carved his initials on my face. I can honestly say I am not the same person in that photo. What innocence then. What naivety. There in that photo was a person who had not yet experienced the lumps of life yet.

The verse of Scripture that has encouraged me throughout my life has been Proverbs 3:5-6 (KJV), "Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

Life is full of ups and downs, gains and losses but in the end, those who trust Christ are marvelously guided throughout life and enjoy life of blessing to the Lord.

FEED THE HUNGRY

Worldwide, countless millions go hungry every day, and yet there is seemingly an abundance of food. It might seem odd to most Americans, for whom there is food in abundance and a "dollar menu" on almost every corner, that there are so many hungry people. Part of the problem is in how the food and the money are distributed. Over a billion people on this planet (roughly one-sixth of the world's population) subsist on less than a dollar a day, and roughly 40% lives on less than two dollars a day, according to the United Nations. So, even if they had access to the dollar menu, it wouldn't do them much good. It is easy enough in the wealthy, developed countries of the world to feed ourselves; indeed, many of us suffer from the effects of having too much food. According to the CDC, two-thirds of Americans are overweight. But, in the developing world, food is scarce and poorly distributed. And although it is probably too simplistic of an approach, it would go a long way towards ameliorating poverty and hunger if the two-thirds of us who are overweight would just eat less and use the money saved to help alleviate hunger in the developing nations. In a more practical way, we should study and reflect on the problems of hunger and malnutrition throughout the world, and then do something concrete to help feed the hungry.

Then they also will answer, 'Lord, when did we see thee hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister thee?' Then he will answer them, 'Truly, I say to you, as you did it not to one of the least of these, you did it not to me.'

Christmas is about the mission

Every year people get all uptight about whether it is politically correct to say "Merry Christmas" or not, and should we call it a Christmas tree or a Holiday tree. The truth is, it's according to who YOU truly are. If you are born again and know the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Lord and serve Him as such in your everyday life, then you know and understand that Christmas is not about gifts, trees, musicals, programs, family, sales or greetings.

Rahal-Miller Chevrolet in Marianna, Florida has a wonderful commercial they play each year about this time on TV. The commercial begins with a boy reminding us that Christmas is about Jesus Christ. I applaud them for doing such a commercial in this anti-Christian age, country and world in which we live. If I thought I could trade cars with them the way I like to trade, I would do all my car trading with them, just because of that one commercial they run every year. But to tell the truth, they come out strong and bold at the beginning of the commercial, but at the end they make my skin crawl when a little girl says "Christmas is for kids."

Yes, from the world view (non-Christian) Christmas is for kids, young and old. Because we like to make everything about us. But in reality Christmas is about the greatest love story ever told, about the greatest missionary that ever walked the face of this earth, Jesus Christ. No, it's not really only about a baby in a manger, but about the only begotten Son of God, Jesus Christ (John 3:16): Who has always existed in the Trinity God Head, Who took a great part in creating not only this wonderful world we live in and these wonderful bodies that we have, but Who created the Universe and everything that has ever been created, from nothing, because He spoke it into existence (Genesis 1:1-2; Colossians 1:15-18). Then because of His love for mankind who He created in His likeness (Genesis 1:26) to have a loving relationship with, Christ left that glorious place and placed Himself in the womb of a virgin, that He might be born, live thirty-three years without committing the first sin as laid out in the laws which He gave Moses. He allowed Himself to be shamefully crucified, on an old Roman cross, that

His blood could redeem all fallen mankind that would repent of their sins (Acts 3:19;26:20), while He would place their sins on Him and place His righteousness on them that He might redeem (purchase) us, that we might obtain the privilege to become His eternal bride, Hallelujah! (Galatians 3:13-14; 1 Peter 1:18-20)

No, I promise you I am not a scrooge, but Christmas is not for kids, nor is it about you or me. Christmas is about Christ and nothing else if you belong to Him. If you don't belong to Him its about anything you might want it to be and that will not offend me, because I don't just celebrate Christmas on December 25th, but everyday of the year.

Do you realize that the last words that Jesus spoke on earth just before He ascended back to the Father was "... you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth" (Acts 1:8 NKJV). Which says to me, when Jesus left this earth He had missions on His mind, which also means, Jesus came as a missionary from Heaven that he might make us missionaries for Heaven. This leads me to believe, that Christmas is a great day for Disciples of Christ to share the good news of the Gospel since the name of the day has His name in it, but I should consider everyday Christmas because I do not deserve what He has done for me. Yet all He asks of me, is to live everyday as an ambassador of Heaven (2 Corinthians 5:18-21) because the greatest need of everyone is not that they get a Christmas gift, a turkey, ham or pie, but that they understand they can have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ, Whom this day represents. "If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!" (Luke 11:13).

Charles M. Ford

Charles Matthew Ford, passed away in Danbury, Conn., on Nov. 23, 2011, at the age of 98. Charlie was born in Waterbury, Conn., and spent his early childhood living at Wallingford's Gaylord Sanatorium, where his father was the chef. When his father was offered a position as a cook/guard overseeing the kitchen at Sing-Sing Prison, the family settled in the Loh Park neighborhood of Tarrytown, N.Y. Charlie graduated from Washington Irving High School and worked as a bicycle messenger while attending NYU. He served in Casablanca and Dakar during World War II. Upon returning home after the war, Charlie owned a stationery store, then a soda fountain, before becoming an accountant. During this time, he married Dorothy Volz Ford and moved into her family home in Sleepy Hollow. Charlie worked in the business office of Homelite for several years but found he was happiest in blue-collar positions that enabled him to "move around more" and interact with people. That led him to his second career as a hardware man working at Reynolds Hardware Store on Main St. in Tarrytown, alongside his childhood friend, Charles Conklin. He eventually moved his family to a home in Pleasantville where he lived until his retirement. Upon retirement, Charlie moved to Chipley, where he was involved in the local AmVet organization and found pleasure in home and garden projects. Charlie was always eager to spend time with his children and grandchildren. Together the family enjoyed camping at Canyon Lake in the Texas Hill Country or sightseeing in San Antonio, hiking or off-roading in Georgia, and taking day trips through Tennessee, the Hudson Valley, Conn., and to the South Shore of Massachusetts. Charlie always demonstrated a great capacity for laughter, fun and exploration. He was always willing to try something new. He loved to reminisce and tell stories, tinker with various crafts projects, spend time with his three grandchildren, play with family pets and eat anything chocolate. He was a great music lover and history buff. Charlie Ford was predeceased by his wife, Dorothy Volz Ford, known as The Story Lady for her work in the children's department of Warner Library, and two siblings, Mildred Ford and Thomas Ford. Charlie's humor, mellow sense of adventure and many kindnesses will be missed by his daughter, Linda Ford and her husband William Ficker; of Danbury, Conn.; son, Billy Ford and his fiancé Gleice De Lima Silva of Duluth, Ga.; grandchildren, Thatcher Ford of Brooklyn, N.Y., Emma and Cade Ford of Duluth, Ga.; step-grandchildren, who brought a different kind of happiness into his later years, Christine and Buzzy Ficker Smith and Cathie Ficker Graugard; a niece and several nephews in whom he took great delight, and sister, Ruth Ford Chew, of Massachusetts. Service will be held graveside at Sleepy Hollow Cemetery in the summer when family can all gather together to celebrate Charlie's life. If you wish to pay tribute in some material way, Charlie would undoubtedly be pleased by your contributions to The Sleepy Hollow Cemetery Historic Fund, Sleepy Hollow, N.Y.; The American Red Cross; or The SPCA of Westchester, in Briarcliff Manor, NY

Incorrect Insertion Policy

For Classified In-column Advertisers

All ads placed by phone are read back to the advertiser to insure correctness. The newspaper will assume correctness at the time of the read-back procedure unless otherwise informed.

Please  your ad.

Advertisers are requested to check the advertisement on the first insertion for correctness. Errors should be reported immediately.

Your Florida Freedom newspaper will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion, nor will it be liable for any error in advertisements to a greater extent than the cost of the space occupied by the error.

Any copy change, during an ordered schedule constitutes a new ad and new charges.

We do not guarantee position of ANY ad under any classification.

Publisher's Notice

"SCAM"

To avoid possible scams, it is recommended that consumers should verify caller information when receiving calls regarding credit card payments. Consumers should also contact the local company themselves instead of giving this information to individuals who are contacting them directly.
