Vernon approves Christmas bonuses

By RANDAL SEYLER

VERNON — The Vernon City Council approved Christmas bonuses for city employees Monday night at the November council meeting.

Council chairwoman Tina Sloan said last year the employees received a $200 bonus, but this year she would like to see that amount increased.

"I would like to see them get $500," Sloan said. "That was the same thing I wanted last year." She said the council last year waited on approving the bonuses, and the employees wound up only getting $200.

Council member Byron Biddle asked if the topic could be tabled until the next workshop.

"We won't have time to get them to them by Christmas if we wait," Sloan said.

Biddle made a motion for employees to receive a $300 Christmas bonus. Sloan asked if the city's two supervisors could get $500 bonuses, since they had not received raises this year; and Biddle amended his motion. The bonuses were approved unanimously.

HERE COMES SANTA CLAUS

Vernon's annual Christmas Parade will be at 1 p.m. Dec. 8.

The Grand Marshal will be "honorary citizen of Vernon" Brent Heard. Line-up will be held at 12:30 p.m. at the track behind City Hall. Anyone wishing to be in the parade should contact City Hall at 535-2444.

Refreshments will be served in the Community Center and Santa Claus is scheduled to make an appearance as well.

County commissioners sworn in

'Project Pipe' subject of upcoming FDOT meeting

CHIPLEY — Newly elected County Commissioner Alan Bush was sworn into office Tuesday, and less than 10 minutes later he was named chairman of the Washington County Board of County Commissioners.

The board met Tuesday to swear in two new commissioners, Bush and Lynn Gothard, and to re-swear in Charles Brock, who was re-elected to office when he won a narrow 48-point victory over challenger Tray Hawkins on Nov. 6.

The board also held its reorganization meeting, in which Bush was nominated and elected chairman for 2012-13, while Commissioner Todd Abbott was chosen vice chairman.

"I want to recognize and thank County Judge Colby Peel for running the very successful election," Brock said. Peel was on hand to swear in the commissioners. "It was a very impressive job."

man congratulated the new members of the board then asked Commissioner Abbott to accompany him, County Administrator Steve Joiner and County Engineer Cliff Knauer to a meeting at the Department of Transportation on Nov. 28 to discuss "Project Pipe."

"Project Pipe" has been an ongoing attempt to build a railroad spur so The Concrete Company, based in Columbus,

Ga., can bring what was described in the 2009 edition of the Washington Chamber of Commerce Advocate as a project in which "about $12.75 million in capital investment will be used to construct a full-service site facility, bringing over 150 jobs with an estimated $5.1 million annual payroll to the county by the final production phase, which will take about two years."

As of 2009, the project was more than three years old, according to the Chamber newsletter.

Grant monies were sought by the county to build a rail spur and industrial-grade road for the project. Part of the requirement for the grant was that jobs would be created as a result of the project.

CHIPLEY — Joe Taylor was sworn in as the new Washington County School District superintendent on Nov. 20.

Taylor replaces Dr. Sandra Cook, who lost to Taylor in the August primary election. Taylor, a Republican, went on to defeat Democratic contender Pat Aukema Dickson for the office.

New school board member Milton Brown, representing District 3, also was sworn in on Nov. 20. Brown narrowly defeated incumbent Pam Cates in the primary.

District 2 Board member Wayne Saunders, who was uncontested in the election, was also sworn back in to his position.

In the reorganizational meeting, board member Terry Ellis was elected to serve as board chairman, and Susan Roberts was chosen vice chairman.

"Thank you for your confidence in me," Ellis said.

The board voted to keep the meeting time and date the same in the coming year — the school board meets at 5 p.m. second Mondays.

Holmes County man dies in house fire

From Staff Reports

BONIFAY — An elderly man died in a house fire Thursday night in northern Holmes County.

The Holmes County Communications Center received a call Nov. 22 at approximately 5:20 p.m. about a mobile home fire on Highway 79 north of Bonifay.

The Holmes County Sheriff's Office, Holmes County EMS and Fire Departments responded. Bonifay and Esto Fire Department arrived and extinguished the fire. Firefighters then located the remains of 64 year-old Michael Lynn Krontz inside the residence.

Firefighters had the fire extinguished in minutes. The residence was a total loss.

Krontz was the only occupant of the residence.

The fire is under investigation by the State Fire Marshal's Office and the Holmes County Sheriff's Office.

The project slowed late in 2007 as the company put its energies into building two new facilities in Georgia and Alabama, according to the Chamber newsletter.

In addition to the grant money, the county has a bank loan for the project, which Goodman asked the board to extend for another year while county officials met with The Concrete Company and the FDOT to try and work out details on the stalled project.

The plan was for the county to own and maintain the railroad spur, leasing it to tenants including Frank Foley, president of The Concrete Company.

The purpose of the Nov. 28 meeting is to try and come up with a schedule on the project to submit to the DOT by the calendar year. Goodman asked for a board member to attend the meeting and asked that the project be made a line item for discussion at the commission's next workshop.

Goodman requested that Vice Chairman Abbott attend the meeting because Abbott has been involved with the project for a number of years.

"I have never felt good about this project until today," Abbott said. "This meeting is forcing all the parties involved to get together."

Brock asked Knauer his honest opinion on whether or not the project would ever be completed.

"If I based my honest opinion on past performance, I would have to say 'no,'" Knauer said. "This meeting coming up should be the chance for the county to say 'yea' or 'nay.' I think this is a great opportunity for the county to say 'we're moving forward' or 'let's do something else.'"

Florida League of Cities honors Roger Brooks

By CECILIA SPEARS

BONIFAY— Associate Director of Membership Development for the Florida League of Cities Sharon Berrian was present of the behalf of the League to honor Bonifay City Council member Roger Brooks for his 30 years of elected service during the Bonifay City Council's regularly scheduled meeting on Monday.

"This is in honor of not only your dedication to Bonifay but to our state and to the cities throughout our state," Berrian said. "This is in recognition of the fact that you have provided a lifetime of dedicated service to your citizens, and I want you to know I really feel honored to be here tonight to present this resolution to you on behalf of the Florida League of Cities."

Berrian then read the resolution to the council and residents in attendance.

Berrian said she was honored to be there and the Florida League of Cities would be honoring Brooks on their website, Facebook and Twitter as well as at their headquarters.

"It's never been about me," Brooks said. "It's always about the people."

In other council news, Resident Ray Brooks came before the council with concerns about the streets of Bonifay.

Brooks pointed out because of water leaks, many roads have broken pavement and indentures.

Mayor Lawrence Cloud explained that the city was aware of every issue he brought up and these issues were because of their previous contractor and the city was getting in contact with the contractor to correct their mistakes. The only drawback would be if the contractor refused to correct the damage because the one-year warranty is up.

City Superintendent Jack Marell also informed Brooks that it is mandatory that all inspectors update the city on a regular and timely basis.

The council learned there were still two local businesses in violation of the grease trap ordinance and needed to be dealt with.

The council approved of Councilmember Richard Woodham's suggestion of sending the business a letter, have the local agency pump their grease trap for them and add the bill to their water bill.

"That way if they don't pay then their services will be disconnected until they do," said Woodham.

The council approved of paying Baxter's Asphalt $1,131 for the paving done on Varner Street.

The council also approved of granting Jack Locke access to the easement already granted to Verizon to their cell-phone tower.

The next regularly scheduled Bonifay City Council meeting is set for 6 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 10, at the Bonifay City Hall.

City Clerk Dian Hendrix also informed the council that the Vernon Fire Department security system was in need of an upgrade and requested approval for $3,000 for the improvements.

"We bought a new computer for the system, but it was so old it didn't work with the new computer."

The council approved the request.

Vernon resident Bill Dobbins asked the council to look into collecting Department of Transportation contingency funds on the Highway 79 bridge project, which has gone nearly a year over schedule.

"I think there are funds there that the city can recoup from the DOT, because of the construction company being behind schedule. There are fines and contingency funds that will just go back to the DOT."

The council also learned that the DOT's check for the old Washington County Canning Center building had been received by the city. The property was purchased from the city for $158,500, and the city is in the process of getting the equipment moved into storage.

Baby giraffe arrives at ZooWorld

By VALERIE GARMAN
747-5076 | @valeriegarman
vgarman@pcnh.com

PANAMA CITY BEACH — “Baby G” is three weeks old and already taller than most grown men.

The six-foot two-inch tall baby giraffe arrived to his new home in Panama City Beach on Nov. 16 as the newest addition to the ZooWorld family.

“Friday night I didn’t sleep; I stayed up with him all night,” said Tom Walling, assistant director at ZooWorld. “He loves people, that’s the whole point. He’ll never go back out in the wild, so it just makes sense for him to get comfortable around people.”

Although the male giraffe doesn’t have a permanent name yet, ZooWorld employees are calling him Baby G in the meantime.

“He’s still kind of clumsy, but he’s learning,” Walling said last week as Baby G galloped around his corral during one of his twice daily exercise sessions. “He’s learning his new perimeter and what his limitations are. He’s already gone over and investigated the (fence) cable and licked it.”

At three weeks old, Baby G is drinking a half gallon of lamb’s milk four times a day. When fully grown, he will stand about 17 to 18 feet tall.

Baby G was acquired from a zoo in Virginia for $25,000, all of which came from contributions from the community.

Walling said donations will also be used to expand the giraffe pen in the future and hopefully help ZooWorld bring in a friend and potential mate for Baby G.

The same zoo where Baby G was born currently has two pregnant giraffes, and Walling has his eye on a female, though he hasn’t decided if the two will breed or not.

Walling said if a female is born, she could join the ZooWorld family as soon as January. Females cost about $60,000, and although not enough has been raised to cover the cost, Walling said someone has come forward and offered to loan ZooWorld the money.

“If one of those comes out a female, she’s mine,” Walling said. “We’ll just keep thinking pink and keep our fingers crossed.”

After the death of long-time ZooWorld staple Sydney the giraffe in July, Baby G has given employees a chance to look to the future.

“Sydney was an icon,” said Stephanie Sinnett, ZooWorld’s director of education. “Age just finally caught up to him and it’s hard when that happens.”

Sinnett said ZooWorld employees are working with Baby G so he will be comfortable in interacting with visitors up close like Sydney was during his 20-plus years in Panama City Beach.

ZooWorld will continue to focus on educating visitors about the dire need for protection of rare animals like the giraffe, which reside mostly in zoos and conservation parks.

“The wild is not the wild anymore — there’s very little wild left,” Sinnett said. “There are so many factors against these guys in the wild now.”

Prattler's history of the Holmes County Advertiser

When the first edition of the Holmes County Advertiser went to press on Aug. 11, 1892, my great-grandfather, John Coleman Wells, and his wife, Lucinda Speigner Wells, had already settled in Holmes County.

It was in the early 1880s that my ancestors moved to the area, bringing three small children with them, including my grandfather, James Thomas Wells, daughter Mary Elizabeth Wells and a second son, Jasper Green Wells. Their first home was west of Bonifay on what was named Wells Hill, now Boswell Hill, with the road there so-named.

Reportedly, my great-grandfather came here for employment providing cross ties for the P. and A. Railroad, which was being built through the area at the time. His date of death, Feb. 3, 1894, came when the Holmes County Advertiser was less than two years old.

When my grandparents, James Thomas Wells and Hannah Malinda Wells, married on Sept. 18, 1894, they spent the first year of the marriage in a log camp where he was engaged in cutting timber and cross ties, while Grandma became the cook for the logging crew.

Their first home was in Washington County, approximately six miles from Bonifay, where he purchased land and set up a farming operation where he remained throughout life. My father, Hugh Thomas Wells, was the last son born into that marriage, with two daughters following. My parents, Hugh and Marie Harris Wells, never moved from the only home they ever had, a property that is still in the family and is at the corner of Lee and Brackin Road.

PERRY'S PRATTLE

When your writer came into the world on August 24, 1927, as the second in the series of eight children of the above parents, the Holmes County Advertiser was a young 35-year-old newspaper. It began in Cerro Gordo, on the western shores of the Choctowhatchee River. Its first editor was William Davis Williams, later known far and wide as "Old W. D."

The publication survived some hard times, including two fires, missing a few issues of the paper and forced to cease operations for a while when the county seat of Holmes County moved to Bonifay from Westville. In 1907, the Advertiser again came to life at its new plant in Bonifay and soon regained its strength. The weekly paper continued with editors E. A. Williams and N. DeVane Williams, prior to passing it to other ownerships. Now it has reached the 120 anniversary as the Holmes County Times-Advertiser.

The Prattler does not remember a time when the Holmes County Advertiser was not a regular "fixture" in our home. Our grandfather, a rather frugal man, walked the half mile to our home when he knew the paper had arrived on Friday, its day of publication at the time. He relied heavily on Editor Williams in guiding his views and ultimately his vote, especially on state and national issues.

Your writer recalls the mysterious masthead on the paper, "Labor is Honest, and Pluck Wins," but doesn't recall ever having the courage to inquire as to what it meant. Now I know that The American Heritage Desk Dictionary gives one of the definitions of the word as "resourceful courage and daring in the face of difficulties." This statement leads your writer to the conclusion that the early editors coined their masthead phrase for the historic newspaper, which was to become a household necessity for readers in Holmes County and the surrounding area.

Bonifay was the convenient place my parents chose to get married. It was on Sept. 12, 1925, that the two slipped into the courthouse and were married by County Judge J. R. Carswell, with the ceremony witnessed by Ira C. Bush and Mrs. Katie Yates, who happened to be in the courthouse at the time. My dad always said that he "turned 20 years old on Sept. 9 and three days later went before a judge and swore that he was 21."

In my upbringing, the statement from my parents of "going to town" was synonymous with "going to Bonifay." It was in Bonifay where my father entered into an agreement with N. D. Miller Wholesale Company to furnish him baby chicks to be grown into layer hens with the eggs to be sold to the supplier. Bonifay was his first peddling route for home grown vegetable and other farm products. Randall Roberts remembers Hugh Wells for the fresh purple top turnips greens that he uprooted, washed to a glowing cleanliness and delivered to Bonifay merchants just as they opened for business. Randall states "those greens were on the table for the working men of the town at noon that very day."

Our mother's only full brother, Edward Harris, was an early barber in the town of Bonifay. He reportedly was cutting hair at the Faro Lewis Barbershop at the age of 17 and continued his trade until his old age, while also serving as a Primitive Baptist Minister. He and our Aunt Lela, daddy's oldest sister, were our connection with townfolk early in life.

Bonifay was the place where brothers, Jim and Earl Barber, were treated to our first "picture show," provided by our teacher at Brackin School, Gertrude Farrell, as our reward for not missing a day of school during the first semester. Later, it was our sad experience to observe that movie theater burn to the ground on a Saturday night as the town was filled with late shoppers.

Christmas shopping also meant a trip into Bonifay for the Wells children. With our allotted quarter, or later 50 cents, we learned how to do some serious comparisons before parting with our money. It was in Pelt's 5 and 10 cent store that our youthful brother, Clyde, asked the clerk, Lettie Clark, if she had change for 50 cents that he planned to use in his first purchase of a Big-Little Book, the forerunner of all comic books and priced at a nickel.

In adulthood, the country folk became more acquainted and integrated with townspeople. Your writer met and married Esto girl, Hester Lucas, who graduated from Holmes County High School in 1945. Jack Tison, a 1943 graduate from the same school, married my sister in 1949.

Other Holmes County folk met at my University of Florida days include Shoupe Howell (later Superintendent of Schools), Howard Strickland (served later as Tax Assessor), Clifford McGriff, Paul Belser and many others not listed here. Congratulations to the present day Holmes County Times-Advertiser who has brought the paper to the 120th year of providing news to the citizens of the area. With their commitment to continue to bring the news in an accurate and speedy manner, subscribers to the local paper can look forward to many more years of service from their hometown newspaper. See you all next week.

Celebrating the Advertiser's 120th birthday

BONIFAY — Cecilia asked me to write something commemorating the birthday of the Advertiser which was a part of my family all my life. Jack and I were already subscribers when our oldest son was maybe 8 or 9 years old (about 1960), and the publisher sponsored a subscription promotion in which they offered a bicycle to the student who sold the most subscriptions. Renewals counted too and with our help, Hiram sold the most and was awarded the bicycle.

The Holmes County Advertiser and The Chipley Banner as far as I can remember came to our home on Bonifay Route One, the Advertiser on Friday and the Banner on Thursday. Though there were no comics in the weeklies as there were in the daily paper, I enjoyed looking at the social page with pictures of brides and the description of their dresses, their weddings and their parties. My dad, if he was home when the mail came, would read portions aloud, which annoyed my mother as she preferred to read it for herself when she had a few minutes to take a breather from the chore of cooking and serving a meal. Grandpa Wells walked up the hill to our house to read the Advertiser.

Later, in high school, I liked to read the review of the local sports. I remember reading the account of my alma mater, Vernon's basketball game. They called us a scrappy team. I asked the coach why they used such a derogatory term. He explained that they meant the team was willing to fight to win. Spirited, not made up of bits and pieces as I thought of scraps.

To prepare for this article, I went and perused some 1948 copies of the Holmes County Advertiser. There were only 3 grocery stores that were advertised: Manuel Grocery and Market and J. S. Hasty, both in north Bonifay, and Pick and Pay Supermarket, which advertised large cans of tomatoes for 13 cents and cooking oil for $2.99 per gallon. I know there were other grocery stores in town. Just south of the pool hall were Methvins and O.K. Williams, which became O.J. Carnley's.

Only three businesses operating today with the same name were found: Padgett Drugs, Miller and Jerkins (Jerkins Inc.) and Miller Service Station, which advertised seed oats and seed potatoes. Bonifay boasted at least three clothing stores: Evans, Schienbergs and R. E. Barkers Cash Store. Peacock's Dry Cleaners, L. & K Restaurant, King's Radio Service, A. B. Dykes, watchmaker and jeweler R. L. Dowling, Rich Feed and Seed and Johnson's Furniture store all were advertised. C. Thomas advised, "Don't throw those shoes away. Have them repaired at Thomas Shoe Shop." In the Classifieds a seven-foot kerosene refrigerator was advertised.

Bonifay had a theater in 1948 and advertised the movie, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." On the front page was a news story about the upcoming movie, "The Best Years of Our Lives," the first three hour movie since "Gone With The Wind."

The Personal Mention column reported on local business and social happenings in and around the town. The outlying areas had their own columns. I have mentioned before that Mrs. Nix Nelson wrote the Bonifay Route One News. There were also reports from Live Oak, Open Pond, Otter Creek, Isagora and others, I am sure. They all told church happenings, who had the flu, who visited within the community, who ate Sunday dinner with whom, who went on a business trip to Bonifay or Dothan.

A regular school section was in each issue. Sonny Lutz wrote several articles for the high school section. Four-H news reported Mike Carroll of RT. 2 entered the district poultry show at Chipley and received $5.75 prize money for his best of show entry. Lavell Pennington won 3rd place on her egg exhibit and Ernie Hall's exhibit of Japanese Silkies attracted a lot of attention in his division.

In other farm news, it was announced the Carl Colombi was preparing for a large demand for sweet potato draws. The Farmers Market was buying all kinds of greens, broccoli, collards cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, long green cucumbers, parsley, parsnips, spinach, sweet corn and turnip tops.

The Bank of Bonifay listed its cash balance, balances with other banks, reserve balance and cash items in process of collection as $902,280.67 signed by E. J. Folmer, cashier, J.W. Van Landingham, H.B. Douglas and A. P. Drummond.

Several items of news: Edward A. Williams Jr. was among the 300 to graduate from The University of Florida with a Bachelor of Arts in education. Shoupe Howell made the dean's list at U of F Miss Edna Jean Brock, Bonifay Route 1 was home from Florida State College for Women visiting her family. Judge B. Helms announced his candidacy for Clerk of Courts.

In fact there were several political announcements. Lonnie Hagan, pool hall operator, was running for constable as was Gus Urquhart, taxi driver. On the same page the current constable was charged along with 3 others with breaking and entering, public drunkenness and reckless driving. Sounds like it was time for a change.

The Holmes County Times Advertiser has been an integral part of the history and development of Holmes County. It has always been based on sound journalistic practices. 1932-2012: EIGHTY YEARS OF GARDENING WITH THE CHIPLEY GARDEN CLUB: PART II

PHOTOS SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

1960s to 1980s were years of change for garden club

By GWENETH COLLINS
Special to Extra

CHIPLEY — Time changes everything, including the garden club in a small, rural community. As more women began to enter the workforce in the 1960s, the Chipley Garden Club's membership declined from 70 members to about 55. Although smaller, the club continued to provide hospital floral arrangements, and tray corsages were provided for patients during Christmas. The first floral design shows and classes were held, and more memorial trees and magnolias were planted around town. As the train rolled through town, passengers admired the beautiful rose bushes we planted along Railroad Avenue. Chipley's Blue Star Marker was petitioned and granted in 1960. The bronze marker honors servicemen and women of the U.S. Armed Forces and is located in a stone flowerbed in front of the Florida Department of Transportation offices on U.S. 90. It is still maintained today by club members.

Other projects during the 1960s included high school/middle school gardening for girls and garden therapy for exceptional students. Members also collected Christmas gifts for inmates at the Apalachee Correctional Institute and collected clothing for needy school children.

The 1970s was the era of flower shows for Chipley Garden Club, and we had lots of them! Themes ranged from Potpourri, America the Beautiful and Flowers & Fairy Tales to A Day at the Circus and Signs of the Times. Projects included a city-wide campaign to "clean up, paint up, and fix up," beautification of the original Roulhac Middle School, providing table arrangements for the Farm & City Banquet and providing altar flowers to the hospital chapel.

Beginning in the 1970s, the Chipley Garden Club's yearbooks no longer listed members as Mrs. John Doe; members now had first names for the first time — Jane! The little white gloves and stylish hats were traded in for garden gloves, straw sunhats and sunscreen.

Flower shows continued into the 1980s, and we claimed our club butterfly, the monarch. New projects included a style show, planting marigolds in memory of the American poet Charlotte Wilder and awarding the first Yard of the Month on behalf of the City of Chipley. Memorial trees were planted at City Hall and cypresses at the convalescent center. The club also assisted in replacing magnolias on 77A's Magnolia World War II Memorial Lane and participated in the county clean-up efforts.

In 1988, the local radio station, WBGC 1240 AM, broadcast the Garden Club of the Air on Mondays and Fridays at noon narrated by Mrs. George Horne, club president.

There have been many changes to Chipley Garden Club since 1932, but the club mentality remains same — civic mindedness, horticultural education for young people, the love of nature, recycling and waste management, protecting the natural world and beautification of our community.

Club meetings are first Wednesdays at the homes of members or a public venue. We welcome new members at anytime. If you would like information on current projects or would like to attend a meeting, call club president Karen Roland at 638-9968 or email her at blueorchidosis@yahoo.com.

'Tools of the Trade' to teach about Falling Waters history

By SCOTT SWEENEY
Falling Waters State Park
Special to the News

CHIPLEY — All things considered, life is pretty darn easy. If you're hungry, there are three grocery stores in town, not to mention a dozen or so restaurants to silence your growling stomach. Shelter, transportation and communication are also easily had with the relatively new technology to which we have all grown accustomed.

Go back several hundred years, and the new technology around these parts was a rock. If you were lucky enough or were handed down the skills to fashion that rock into an arrow or spearhead, then dinner was on. Walk through any freshly tilled field around this neck of the woods, and with little effort, you'll find evidence that someone else called this area home. Pieces of pottery and arrowheads dating back thousands of years can be found across Washington County.

To help tell the story of Falling Waters, an archaeological survey was conducted to find evidence of people inhabiting the hills that are now a state park. Once it was completed the survey produced hundreds of artifacts including many arrowheads and pottery fragments.

On Dec. 1, starting at 6:30 p.m. at the Blue Lake Community Center, Falling Waters State Park will be presenting the last program of the year, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the park and titled "The Original Floridians, Tools of the Trade." TJ Moore and Roy Yeoman will share a history of stone tools as well as demonstrating this ancient art form known as knapping. Both TJ and Roy have many years' experience making arrowheads, spear points and knives using the same techniques that have been handed down for many generations. They also will have some of their beautiful artwork available to take home.

The program is free to the public at the Blue Lake Community Center just south of Interstate 10 on State Road 77. For more information, call 638-6130.

Bonifay educator represents honor society in Japan

Special to The News

BONIFAY — Sixty Japanese women educators recently became part of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, a professional honor society for women educators with more than 90,000 members. Established in 18 countries around the world, Japan represents the first Asian nation in the organization. More than 45 local women belong to Delta Theta Chapter of the society. Elizabeth Bell from Marianna is the chapter president. Delta Theta member Dr. Beverly Helms, international president, flew to Japan to officiate in the founding of the Japan state organization and initiation of members.

The founding of the Japanese arm of the organization took place Oct. 14 in Kochi-Shi, Japan, on the island of Shikoku. Kochi Prefecture Gov. Masano Ozaki and Mayor Seiya Okazaki were present to applaud the 60 women educators being initiated and installed into the society. The governor presented a gift to Helms as the official representative of the organization.

"Opening our organization to Asia adds a new aspect of cultural experience and educational understanding for our members," Helms said. "I was honored to serve as the international president.

"This expansion of our society into Japan will help to solidify the bonds of women educators worldwide. We can create many opportunities for collaborative problem-solving, cultural sharing and the development of friendships across borders. As leading women educators, impacting education worldwide, DKG is honored to accept Japan into our organization. Wearing a kimono, sharing in a formal tea service and trying the local food were also very interesting."

This initiation/installation ceremony came at the heels of the New York International Convention, where the International Executive Board approved the expansion of the society into Japan. Seven Kochi women educators attended the convention of about 2,000 members with sponsors from Hawaii.

The society defines its mission as promoting professional and personal growth of women educators and excellence in education.

Regional conferences for members will be in July and August 2013 in five locations. Japan will join its sponsoring organization Hawaii in the Southwest Region, which will meet in Branson, Mo.; Southeast Region will meet in Orlando; Northeast Region in Portland, Ore.; Northwest Region in Cheyenne, Wyo.; and Europe Region in Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

The honor organization of key women educators was formed in Austin, Texas, on May 11, 1929, by Dr. Annie Webb Blanton from a nucleus of 12 founders representing all levels of education, kindergarten through university. Professor of rural education at the University of Texas, Blanton was elected president of the Texas State Teachers' Association in 1916, the first woman to hold that office. She was also the first woman to serve Texas as State Superintendent of Public Instruction, having been elected in 1918. Society Headquarters is near the capitol in downtown Austin.

Fishin' tradition

Area river fishing remains a favorite family pastime

TINA HARBUCK
Fish Flash

After watching folks for 31 days straight in October bring in their catches during the Destin Fishing Rodeo, when November rolls around the angler in me is ready to reel in a few of her own.

Earlier this week, my brother Jerry and I headed toward Apalachicola in search of Mr. Trout, just like we have for the past 30 years — give or take a few years. We launched his 17-foot flats boat at Bay City Lodge and headed down the St. Marks River.

It didn't take long to find Mr. Trout at home. The first trout to answer the door wasn't quite as big as I had hoped, but the big ones came later.

Using a 6 ½ feet long rod and Shimano spinning reel loaded with 15-pound test Power Pro Braid and a blue and chartreuse Bass Assassin Sea Shad with a ¼ ounce jig head, it didn't take long to get a hook up.

On the first stop and about the second cast, it was fish on. Jerry was still getting the trolling motor set and I was already in business. It wasn't quite big enough, but it made for a hopeful day.

It wasn't long after Jerry had a fish on, but again it was about an inch to short.

The bag limit for speckled trout is five per day and it has to fall in the 15-20 inch slot. Included in that five per day, anglers can take one bigger than 20 inches.

Although the first few fish were not in the slot, there's nothing like the tug on the line to get the adrenaline pumping.

Bouncing the grub off the bottom, I finally pulled in a keeper that measured 18 inches.

At that point, Jerry and I decided we were in the right spot and we worked it hard. We managed to reel in two or three that weren't even in question as to whether they fell into the slot limit — if you catch my drift.

Besides just being in one of the most serene areas around, I love all the fishermen you run into on the river — you never meet a stranger.

Conversation often goes like this. "Doin' any good?"

"We've caught a few."

"Any size to 'em?"

"We've got a few 18-inchers."

"How about ya'll?"

"We're doin' OK. We've got a few."

Sure this all sounds good, but you never know with fishermen if they are stretching the truth or holding out on you because they don't want to give away any secrets — for fear you may get their honey hole. But one thing is for sure they are always friendly.

Even the folks we passed on the back roads driving down to Bay City Lodge were friendly. I don't think we passed a vehicle where the driver didn't throw up a hand and wave. You just don't see that much anymore.

Anyhow, back to fishing.

We did quite well on Monday and went back for more the next day. We tried some different spots on Tuesday. Jerry changed out his color of grub — he went to one called "candy corn." If you were to see it you would know how it got its name — the coloring of the grub looks just like the candy that the kids get on Halloween.

Fishing was good down on the grass flats, if you like catching the small ones. After an hour or so of reeling in those 14-inchers, we headed back to the area we were Monday. I'd tell where that was, but if I did my brother would kill me. I've already given up more than he would like.

Jerry was the winner on Tuesday with the biggest trout coming in at 21 inches — I guess kids are not the only ones that like candy corn.

Legendary Marine wins prestigious dealership award

Special to Halifax Media

Legendary Marine, with sales and service locations in Destin, Fort Walton Beach, Panama City and Gulf Shores, Ala., was named Dealer of the Year by Boating Industry Magazine as part of its annual TOP 100 awards program held in Orlando on Nov. 14. The Dealer of the Year award is the most prestigious and most highly coveted recognition in North America for marine retailers and is presented annually to only one dealer at an exclusive gathering of the marine industry elite.

"It was with great pleasure that we have chosen Legendary Marine as our 2012 Boating Industry Top 100 Dealer of the Year," said Boating Industry magazine Editor Jonathan Sweet. "Simply making the Top 100 list is an honor as only the best of the best make this elite list, chosen from thousands of dealers across North America. To be chosen as Dealer of the Year is especially impressive.

We were so impressed by Legendary Marine's rapid growth, strong financials and heavy investments in marketing, education and service."

Legendary Marine Managing Partner Fred Pace, his wife, Leslie, and the dealership's senior leadership team accepted the award at the gala ceremony of more than 1000.

"We are thrilled and honored by this distinction and credit our entire team for the achievement," Pace said. "It has been a challenging few years for dealers across the country, so we especially appreciate the recognition as our team has worked hard to not only survive, but to thrive. Our team is very pleased and humbled by this recognition."

It has been a year of outstanding recognition for Legendary Marine. In addition to this extraordinary honor, Legendary Marine won the No. 1 Dealer Nationwide for Sales from Sea Hunt Boats, Columbia, S.C., and the No. 1 Dealer Nationwide for Everglades boats based in Edgewater. It also received the No. 1 Top Customer Service award for the region for Cobalt Boats, which is based in Neodesha, Kan.

On a regional basis, Legendary Marine was voted by readers of Emerald Coast Magazine as the "BEST of the Emerald Coast for Boat Sales and Service." This is the 10th consecutive win in this category, along with similar titles for both Destin Magazine and the Finest of the Emerald Coast by readers of Northwest Florida Daily News.

Bulldogs down Tigers in 2-1A

By BRAD MILNER

bmilner@pcnh.com

BRISTOL — Grant Grantham's lucky shorts worked again on Friday.

Harold Armstrong rushed for two touchdowns and Liberty County held Blountstown's offense in check for a 14-7 win in the Region 2-1A championship. Liberty County, winners of nine in a row, advanced to host the winner of Bratt Northview, which defeated Freeport 35-28 in overtime, in next week's state semifinal. Blountstown finished the season 7-5.

It's the Bulldogs' deepest postseason run and first semifinal appearance in Grantham's seven seasons at the school. Grantham sported the shorts he started wearing after a 1-2 start.

"We'll retire them after two more wins," Grantham said.

The long-standing rivalry saw the first post-season matchup between the schools separated by a bridge and a few right turns. It was a rematch of a regular-season game won by Liberty County that helped the Bulldogs (10-2) secure control of District 4-1A.

That game featured two big passing plays to give Liberty County a 14-0 half-time lead. The Bulldogs led again at half, this time 7-0 when Armstrong capped a 17-play drive with a 1-yard run early in the second quarter. The drive encompassed 80 yards and the Bulldogs also were forced to punt, fumbled and ended their third possession as the half expired.

Both defenses stood tall in the first 24 minutes, the teams combining for just 183 yards. Blountstown had 78 of those yards and squandered an early chance for points.

Liberty County forced a three-and-out on the game's first drive, but the ball touched a Bulldog returner and Blountstown took over at the 25. The drive ended when Andrew Bennet's 24-yard field goal was wide right. Blountstown's second possession was stunted with a Alex Marlowe interception in the end zone and the Tigers also punted there.

"We had it down there and missed an opportunity and in the playoffs you can't do that," Blountstown coach Greg Jordan said. "There's no doubt you need to get points there."

Grantham credited his defense, which held Blountstown to 79 yards rushing, with making the critical early stand. The offense went on to 14 unanswered points, adding a 9-yard Armstrong scoring run in the third.

Blountstown finally cracked the scoreboard on Alex Mayorga's 7-yard reception from Hunter Jordan with 26 seconds left in the game. Jordan, who was 7 of 20 for 128 yards, didn't get a chance to tie the game, as Liberty County recovered the onside kick and ran out the clock with a kneel down.

"We didn't play our best, made some mistakes, but that's a credit to them," coach Jordan said.

Liberty County also wasn't explosive on offense, but the Bulldogs did enough against a Tigers' defense that had shut out three of their four previous opponents. Marlowe led all rushers with 55 yards, while Armstrong added 38.

Grantham and the Bulldogs will look to extend their streak to 10 at home next week.

"I always say I don't mind going on the road," Grantham said. "But it will be nice to play here and this team has played well at home all year."

Girls just wanna have fun — while learning

By JESSICA MCCARTHY

PANAMA CITY — Gopher tortoises are Isabella Connors' favorite part of her studies at Girls Inc. right now.

"My favorite is the gopher tortoise because he is a keystone feature," Connors said. "That means if that animal is moved (away), everything will die."

The girls are in the second part of their environmental science series, focusing on the longleaf pine tree and local ecosystems grown around them; the first was covered sea grass and the ecosystem of the bay.

Tammy Dunaway, executive director for Girls Inc., said they wanted to connect the dots for the girls.

"The longleaf pine and the original ecosystem the longleaf is the cornerstone of, that's what's being refurbished or grown at the beach (in the park)," Dunaway said. "When we heard about that, we wanted our girls to be aware of everything in Bay County, from the sea grass and its importance to the bays, and the conservation park is important to our county for many reasons."

The girls got a first-hand look at those ecosystems on Nov. 20 during the "Thankful to Live in Northwest Florida" celebration at Frank Brown Park. The event included crafts, storytelling and a guided tour of the conservation park.

The girls also learned about weaving using longleaf pine needles and they spent time Monday preparing foods eaten by early settlers like hard tack bread and blueberry beef stew.

Other lessons at Girls Inc. include the range of the longleaf, red-cockaded woodpeckers, milkweed (butterfly weed), pitcher plant, controlled burns and the gopher tortoise, whose burrows help more than 120 different species of animals and insects survive and thrive.

"This covers all of STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) as well," Dunaway said. "When you sharpen girls' interest in the outdoors and later relate it botany, science, you never know what is going to spark in the girls that they may study further. At the very least we will have created good citizenry and character."

First Federal donates $500 anniversary prize to HCHS Band

Special to The News

LAKE CITY — First Federal Bank of Florida has announced that the Holmes County High School Band received the most votes in the recent 50th Anniversary Donation Giveaway. In this contest, three local organizations were candidates to receive $500 from First Federal, and the community voted on which organization should receive the donation.

"In honor of our 50th anniversary, we wanted to reiterate our commitment to our community by asking the community to choose an organization that could benefit from additional funds this year," said Keith Leibfried, First Federal president and CEO. "We also hope that our contribution can be an encouragement to other local businesses to donate money to any of these organizations."

Voting began Oct. 1 and ended Oct. 13.

During that time, the community voted once a day for their favorite organization. Advisory councils in each county identified three organizations they thought could benefit the most from the donation. Each county in First Federal's market area participated in the contest, and the winners were announced on Oct. 15 on First Federal's website.

This year, First Federal Bank of Florida celebrates 50 years of offering a comprehensive portfolio of products and services for personal and business customers. First Federal prides itself on being committed to helping local communities flourish. Founded in 1962, First Federal has 18 branches in Amelia Island, Bonifay, Bradenton, Chipley, Dowling Park, Jasper, Lake City, Live Oak, Macclenny, Marianna, Mayo, Sarasota and Yulee.

CANDIDATES TAKE OFFICE

PHOTOS BY RANDAL SEYLER | The News

Washington County government added a few new faces on Nov. 20 when county commissioners and school board members were sworn in during special meetings. Two new county commissioners were sworn in, while at the school district, a new superintendent and a new school board member took their oaths of office.

Alan Bush, left, was sworn in as Washington County Commissioner District 1 on Nov. 20 at the Washington County Annex by County Judge Colby Peel. Much of his family was on hand for the ceremony.

School Board member Wayne Saunders was sworn back into office Nov. 20 at the Washington County School District office. Saunders ran unopposed for the District 2 seat.

Joe Taylor was sworn in on Nov. 20 as the superintendent of the Washington County School District. Taylor defeated incumbent Sandra Cook in the Republican Primary Race then went on to defeat Democrat Pat Aukema Dickson in the Nov. 6 General Election.

New District 3 School Board member Milton Brown, left, is sworn in by his pastor, James Guy, on Nov. 20. Brown won his seat in the Primary Election when he narrowly defeated fellow non-partisan candidate, incumbent Pam Cates.

Newly elected District 5 commissioner Lynn West Gothard of Wausau was sworn into office by County Judge Colby Peel while her husband Al held the Bible Incumbent County Commissioner Charles Brock was sworn back in as District 3 commissioner by County Judge Colby Peel on Nov. 20.

North Florida Fair recognizes 4-H accomplishments

Special to the News

CHIPLEY — 4-H Day at the North Florida Fair is a day of competitive events in 4-H project areas. 4-H'ers in the Florida Panhandle, from Escambia to Gilchrist counties, participate in this annual event.

The Consumer Choices contest tests the comparative shopping skills of youth by presenting them with a situation statement and four purchasing options. Youth consider factors about each option before placing them as first, second, third and fourth. Here is an example situation:

Ben is graduating from high school next spring and will be meeting with the admissions counselors for final interviews at two colleges to which he is applying. Since he wants to make a good impression, he plans to wear a dark gray or black business suit. He also will be wearing dark dress pants to the graduation ceremony so he needs to buy shoes that he can wear for both the interviews and graduation as well as to church each week. He really likes the dressy look of tie shoes but will consider loafers, too. He saved $130 from his summer job to purchase the shoes. Help Ben as he considers these four styles: (pictures were included in the contest)

1. Florsheim Lexington Loafer in Black Leather - $109.95
2. Johnston & Murphy Shuler Bicycle in Black Tumbled Grain - $124.95

3. Johnston & Murphy Black Smooth Calf Leather Oxfords - $124.95

4. Merrell World Legend Loafer in Black Leather - $98.95

This year, youth were tested purchasing bottled water, dress shoes, email accounts and toothbrushes. UF IFAS Family and Consumer Sciences Extension Agent, Judy Corbus taught Washington County 4-H'ers consumer-judging skills.

Placing as High Individual in the junior competition was Nathan Shaffett. Placing as High Individual in the Intermediate competition was Hannah Shaffett.

4-H'ers can also enter exhibits in project areas for judging. Each exhibit is judged individually, and blue ribbon entries are judged for Best of Show awards. Best of Show Senior sewing went to Jessie Owen. Jessie also entered two other sewing projects, which earned blue ribbons. Best of Show Senior poetry went to Jessica Wells. Jessica earned a blue ribbon in photography, two blues in jewelry and one blue and two reds in crafts. Best of Show Junior poetry and Junior Table Top Exhibits went to Sarah Wells. Cole Dillard entered three projects in crafts, models and fine arts and earned three blue ribbons for his entries.

Recognizing youth for their accomplishments is an important part of the 4-H program. By helping them to master skills and recognize what they can do to improve their skills, they are being equipped with self-confidence and problem solving skills.

For more information on the 4-H programs in Washington County, contact 4-H Youth Development Agent, Julie Pigott Dillard, at 638.6180 or juliepd@ufl.edu. 4-H is open to all youth ages 5-18 and is the official youth development program of the University of Florida, an equal opportunity institution.

First Federal Bank announces Donation Giveaway winner

Washington County Relay for Life receives $500 donation

Special to Extra

LAKE CITY — First Federal Bank of Florida is proud to announce that Washington County Relay for Life received the most votes in the recent 50th Anniversary Donation Giveaway.

In this contest, three local organizations were candidates to receive $500 from First Federal and the community voted on which organization will receive the donation.

"In honor of our 50th anniversary, we wanted to reiterate our commitment to our community by asking the community to choose an organization that could benefit from additional funds this year," said Keith Leibfried, president and CEO. "We also hope that our contribution can be an encouragement to other local businesses to donate money to any of these organizations."

Voting began Oct. 1 and ended on Oct. 13. During that time, the community voted once a day for their favorite organization. Advisory Councils in each county identified three organizations in their county that they felt could benefit the most from the donation. Each county in First Federal's market area participated in the contest and the winners were announced Oct. 15 on First Federal's website.

This year First Federal Bank of Florida celebrates 50 years of offering a comprehensive portfolio of products and services for personal and business customers. First Federal prides itself on being committed to helping local communities flourish. Founded in 1962, First Federal has 18 branches located in Amelia Island, Bonifay, Bradenton, Chipley, Dowling Park, Jasper, Lake City, Live Oak, Macclenny, Marianna, Mayo, Sarasota and Yulee.

BMS students learn sack gardening

Special to The Times-Advertiser

Bonifay Garden Club Intermediate Gardeners met Nov. 7 at Bonifay Middle School with sponsor Dawn Barone, sixth-grade science teacher.

Club member Hazel Tison brought a demonstration on sack gardening. She demonstrated planting a potato garden in a large grocery bag, and each student was given a small bag and planted his or her own garden.

Several measurable skills were demonstrated: eye-hand coordination, using a 12-inch ruler to measure soil depth, cell division and following directions, just to name a few. Some of the students carried their gardens home in a plastic bag, while others left theirs at school.

The sixth-graders asked several relevant questions such as how much to water the plants, where will the potato form and how do you know when to dig them since they are underground.

When they produce, Barone will demonstrate how to cook them, and the students will have a potato tasting.

On Dec. 12, the same demonstration with the second group of sixth-graders will be conducted by a Bonifay Garden Club member. Contact Sandra Devine (535-2294), DiAnn Shores (768-2766) or Hazel Tison (547-4696) if you would like to be involved in these activities.

The ongoing Christmas project with first-graders at Bonifay Elementary School will be Dec. 11. For more information, call Edna McDonald at 547-2698.

READY FOR ADOPTION

Gretel is a 2- to 3-year-old golden-colored Shepherd cross, about 40 to 45 pounds. She is scared at the shelter but was very good on a leash and was much more at ease and friendly once we went outside. She is a beautiful girl but looks like she has been going hungry for a while. She would be so happy and would love you forever if she could only have a home where she was loved, not to mention getting meals on a regular basis! Can you help this sweet girl's dream come true?

GEOFFREY

Geoffrey is a 1-year-old male long haired doxie cross, about 20 pounds. He is very cute, sweet and calm. He is a real lover boy, enjoys hugs and petting but not demanding of attention like some young dogs can be. He acts very mature for his age and would be a great pet for someone who wants a small dog to snuggle with.

Animal Control of West Florida is at 686 U.S. 90 in Chipley. Hours of operation are Monday through Saturday 9 a.m. until noon. For more information, call 638-2082.

Activity is healthy for you and your dog

As the semester rolls on and tests pile up, many students begin changing their daily routine to one that is more study friendly and, unfortunately, usually more deskbound. What most students do not realize is that while your dog lies next to you on the couch day after day, it is being robbed of physical activity that is vital to its health.

Multiple studies have shown dogs that exercise have improved bone health and organ and lung function. It makes them look better and feel better, and they are less nervous when left alone.

"Exercise is good for maintaining general health, and it helps keep your heart, muscles and joints strong. It also helps with maintaining weight and their coordination," said Dr. Jacqueline Davidson, clinical track professor at Texas A&M University College of Veterinary Medicine & Biomedical Sciences.

Studies also show that dogs lacking exercise usually have poor muscle tone and are more prone to injury, brain ailments and bone disorders. They are also more susceptible to developing emotional problems and behavior quirks.

"Dogs that don't exercise are usually overweight, have less dexterity and their heart and joints aren't as vigorous," Davidson said.

"A lack of exercise can affect you and your pet in similar ways, like becoming chubby. Obesity is a big concern for most animals."

Getting you and your dog off the couch does not mean having to do a tedious and dreary daily exercise; there are a lot of fun ways to keep your pet and you active.

"For dogs, the choices are easy. They enjoy almost anything you enjoy doing," Davidson said. This can include "walking, running, playing with a ball or Frisbee, agility training and even such sports as canicross and bikejoring (running or biking with your dog attached by an elastic line)."

Sports such as bikejoring, though fun, can be a safety issue, Davidson said. "If you're doing anything like attaching yourself to your dog, make sure the dog has decent obedience training and responds well to voice commands."

The best way to exercise with your dog is to set a "date" between the two of you. Though generally playing in any way with your pet is good, dogs benefit most from a prearranged occasion.

"Running around the yard is OK, but it's better to have a structured activity where your pet is constantly moving," Davidson said. "This structure can also help with your dog's behavioral problems such as chewing and barking because you are giving them an outlet to expend surplus energy and spend time with you."

It is also important to be patient with your pet. When starting a new activity or sport, gradually build the time spent doing these activities.

"If the dog is sedentary and you expect it to run for several miles or play vigorously for 30 minutes, injury may result if the dog is not physically conditioned for the sport or activity," Davidson said.

FUMC decorates for Christmas season

CHIPLEY — The Christmas season is a very important time in the life of our church. We, the congregation of The First United Methodist Church of Chipley, are so glad to invite you to view our historic sanctuary as we have decorated it to the honor of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

The service begins at 5 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 2. Everyone is welcome to come and worship with us. The First United Methodist Church of Chipley, 1285 Jackson Ave., Chipley. Each year on the first evening of Advent, we decorate our church for the season. To showcase the beauty of our sanctuary, it is decorated in greenery that accents our 20-foot Chrismon Tree. The "Lighting of the Crismon Tree" is the highlight of the evening. A Chrismon is a Christian symbol representing Jesus Christ. Since early Christianity, the term Chrismon has traditionally referred to any symbol or figure reminiscent of the name of Christ, consisting of plain letters typically implying the presence of some kind of calligraphic ornamentation. The Chrismon decorations are always pure white or gold with clear white lights.

After the service, we are hosting a "Soup and Crackers" supper for all who attend. Come join us as we begin our Celebration of the coming of Christ. We are located at the top of the hill, next to the Washington County Courthouse. For more information, call the church at 623-0010.

Live Oak Assembly of God Winter Wonderland

Live Oak Assembly of God will be having its third annual Winter Wonderland at 5:30 p.m., on Dec. 14. The public is invited to attend. There will be kids carnival games, a chili supper and a gospel sing. There will be fun for the whole family.

Finding Meaning in Your Life

For many of us, the question of finding meaning or significance in our lives is a non-issue. We find our careers meaningful, and our families, friends, and recreational activities provide essential sources of meaning or significance. But, sometimes people have accidents or illnesses which call all of that into question. If an accident or illness prevents you from working, you may feel an overwhelming sense of meaninglessness. Likewise, parents whose lives are made meaningful by their children may feel a tragic sense of meaninglessness if they lose their children. The heartache of losing a loved one or a significant other is partly a sense that our life has lost something essential to it. In these cases, it is imperative that one find meaning elsewhere in one's life. While this is not always simple or easy, it is possible, even in the worst of cases. Imagine how drastically your life would change if you suffered a brain or spinal cord injury that left you paralyzed or unable to function as you once did. This sort of injury can be a tremendous challenge, and yet the vast majority of people who suffer these injuries are resilient. They bounce back and somehow find meaning in their life. There is always hope, and even if the hope is not for a full recovery, at least it can be for a meaningful life.

*"For I know the plans I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."
Jeremiah 29: 11*

Okay, that wasn't funny

By Rev. James L. Snyder, D.Litt

Let me make it very clear right up front that I am in favor of as many "ha ha moments" as possible. I could not get through a week without my daily dose. I firmly believe that laughter is the appropriate medicine for the soul. Some people, according to their demeanor, need a little more laughter than they are presently getting.

That said, let me quickly point out that some things are not funny.

Of course, most things in my life and about my person are marvelous targets of humor. I do not take myself very seriously. I am not sure any wise person would take me seriously either. In fact, I would highly suspect a person who took me seriously. I can take a joke as well as the next person, and I can give it back as well as the next person.

I have had some weeks that if it was not for a little bit of humor I do not know how I would have gotten through. So, if you can't do anything you can at least laugh. I firmly believe that the best laugh is when you can laugh at yourself. You might as well laugh at yourself; everybody else is.

Then, there are those serious moments in life that beg for no laughing. I would recommend warning signs be put around these areas reading, "Positively No Laughing Zone." With this sign should come a severe penalty for those who violate it.

That said; let me explain an area in my life where the sign should be permanently erected.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I were having supper with another couple. We try to do this at least once a month and keep up with each other's progress or lack thereof.

We were having a great meal, and as we came to the end, I stopped the waitress and said, "I would like some ice cream for dessert." As far as I am concerned, that is a rather reasonable request and quite in keeping with the environment I was in.

"What kind of ice cream," she queried, "would you like?"

When it comes to ice cream, ice cream is simply ice cream to me. If there is a flavor of ice cream I do not like, it has yet to be invented. I love ice cream. My favorite song is, "I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream." In my date book, there is no better ending to a wonderful meal than ice cream.

I remember my grandfather's favorite ice cream was vanilla. He would not eat any other ice cream; he thought they were polluting it with colors. To him an ice cream sundae was as close to blasphemy as he ever would get. "Why ruin," he objected, "the ice cream with all that slop?" He wanted nothing coming between him and the purest experience of ice cream he could get.

Me, I love ice cream

regardless of the flavor or color or "slop."

I looked at the waitress and simply said, "I don't care what flavor you bring me. Surprise me, as long as it isn't broccoli." That was supposed to be a joke. Ha ha ha.

As the waitress left our table, we resumed our conversation and shortly she returned with the ice cream.

Upon her arrival, I looked at her and then the ice cream she was bringing and almost screamed aloud. Of all the blasphemous things to do to a customer, this has to take the cake.

First, she had an ice cream bowl with three scoops of ice cream: vanilla, strawberry and chocolate. No problem. However, on the side of the dish in plain view for everybody to see, especially me, was a piece of broccoli. Broccoli! The forbidden fruit or whatever it is.

My dining companions thought this was the funniest thing they had ever seen. Particularly finding it funny was the dining companion that was going to come home with me that night.

Not only did they laugh. The waitress laughed. The table next to us began to laugh. The table next to them began to laugh. It was not long before everybody within 173 miles was laughing at my ice cream/broccoli dessert.

Actually, not everybody was laughing. I was not laughing. Broccoli, no matter the presentation, is no laughing matter in my book.

If matters could not be worse, my wife, through her hilarity spasms, reached over, picked up the broccoli and began eating it in my presence. Talk about adding insult to injury. My injury was vastly insulted.

I may have been smiling on the outside, but I assure you I was more than frowning on the inside. Some things are funny; broccoli is not one of those things.

Driving home amid the muffled chuckles on the other side of the front seat, I thought of what the apostle Paul said in 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18 (KJV), "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

I know that when Paul said, "In every thing," it included things like broccoli. I must say that there are some things in life, like broccoli, where the thanksgiving is a matter of faith. I will never learn to love broccoli, but I can muster up enough faith to thank God for all things, including broccoli.
