High schools get $40,000 donation

Carter Foundation gives to Vernon, Chipley schools

CHIPLEY — The Fitzhugh and Esie D. Carter Educational Foundation awarded $40,000 to Chipley and Vernon high schools at Monday's Washington County School Board meeting.

Gary Clark presented checks on the behalf of the foundation for $25,000 to Vernon High School and $15,000 to Chipley High School.

"There are four areas in which the grant funding may be used," Clark said, "and those are agricultural, English, the library or drama." The foundation board met and approved the grants for the 2012-13 year.

"For us, this really helps with the little extras that we couldn't otherwise afford," said Vernon High Principal Brian Riviere. "We greatly appreciate the foundation board and the funding."

Chipley High Principal Steve Griffin agreed. "We appreciate the foundation very much."

In Vernon, one of the things the Carter Foundation money will help with will be pants for the baseball team, Riviere said. In Chipley, the funds will be used to purchase a new

John Deere tractor and purchase Promethean boards and Nooks for the library, among other things.

The foundation was established as a trust by the Carters to supplement educational activities in the local high schools. A local board of directors was created in 2006 and since has managed and administered the million-dollar trust fund in accordance with the wishes of the Carter family.

CHIPLEY — Good food, excellent music and fine fellowship were abundant when Washington County residents and business leaders gathered at the county agricultural center on Thursday for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

The event features the presentation of the Jean Hollingsworth Ambassador of the Year Award and the naming of the Washington County Business of the Year. This year's winners were Ambassador Cindy Johnson-Brown and Taylor Chiropractic, owned by Dr. Mark Taylor.

Johnson-Brown recently opened Therapy World of Northwest Florida, where she is a speech language pathologist.

"This year's recipient is really no stranger to anyone who has spent time with the ambassadors," said Chamber President Nicole Barefield. "She makes a great impression — bubbly personality, energy and enthusiasm. And if you've ever met her, you'll never forget her."

Johnson-Brown's involvement includes representing the chamber at many civic and social functions, assisting in new member solicitation, operating member retention programs and serving on the marketing committee. Johnson Brown also recently joined the national association of Chamber Ambassadors.

Longtime area educators and civic leaders, the Carters wanted to see the fruits of their labor utilized to promote some unique aspects of the educational system, according to a news release from the foundation. The terms of the trust specify the primary uses are to supplement vocational, agriculture, English, drama, libraries and minor sports.

Each year, both area high schools submit grant requests to the trust. All grant requests are reviewed and recommended by a select committee consisting of teachers and advisory council members from each high school.

"We really appreciate the foundation, and we want to thank the Carter family," board chairman Terry Ellis said.

The board also received a $1,351 donation from Keith Cullen of the Florida Forest Service and the Department of Agricultural and Consumer Services.

sumer Services.

In other business, board member Milton Brown proposed a program offering free meals to Washington County Sheriff's Office and Chipley Police Department personnel at the schools to get officers spending more time on campus interacting with the children.

Brown, a former state trooper, said he would be happy to spearhead the program.

"We had a presentation from the PTO asking about school security," Brown said. "And I know money is tight, but I was thinking that if we offered meals for officers, then we could increase their presence on campus."

Brown said his church, Shepherd's Gate, was willing to pay for the meals for the first two months of the program.

"I think we should get people used to seeing officers there, and I am willing to do whatever needs to be done," Brown said.

"I don't have any problems with the idea, but I think we need to work with the principals," Ellis said. "We'll also need some mechanism to spread them out, so we don't have five officers there one day and none the rest of the week."

"We want the officers to be comfortable with the kids, and the kids to be comfortable with the officers being there," Brown said.

Tobacco Free Florida Week celebrates 5 years

Special to the News

TALLAHASSEE — The fifth annual Tobacco Free Florida Week is being celebrated this week.

The event runs from April 6-13, and this year's theme is "High Five: Celebrating Five Years of Tobacco Free Florida Week." It will highlight progress made in protecting Floridians from tobacco's toll.

The Florida Department of Health's Bureau of Tobacco Free Florida educates youth about the harmful effects of tobacco use, aids current tobacco users in their efforts to quit and brings to light the effects tobacco has on Florida's health and economy.

"Each year, Tobacco Free Florida week turns up the heat on tobacco by educating Floridians about the dangers to health from smoking and chewing tobacco," said State Surgeon General and Secretary of Health John Armstrong. "Florida has seen remarkable success in reducing smoking rates in recent years, one of the program's many accomplishments that we will celebrate during this five-year anniversary."

Since the inception of the Tobacco Free Florida program, the following milestones have been achieved:

- There are more than 500,000 fewer adult smokers in Florida.
- Tobacco Free Florida has helped 72,000 people quit through its 3 Ways to Quit services.
- There are now 70,000 fewer youth smokers.
- There are more than 220,000 fewer youth in Florida exposed to secondhand smoke, which contains a deadly mix of more than 7,000 chemicals, hundreds of which are toxic and 69 that can cause cancer.
- The reduction in smokers has helped save more than $4.2 billion in personal health care costs.
- Twenty colleges and universities in Florida have taken the bold step to enact 100 percent smoke-free campus policies.
- In June 2011, Gov. Rick Scott signed a law amending the Florida Clean Indoor Air Act to give school boards the authority to designate all district property as tobacco free. Currently, all but two (65) school districts have implemented tobacco-related policies.
- More than 40 counties and more than 100 cities in the state have passed resolutions urging local vendors to cease the sale and marketing of all candy-flavored tobacco products, which target youth.

In addition to chairing the WCCC Ambassadors, Johnson-Brown is a member of the Kiwanis Club, the Washington County Arts Council board of directors and Take Stock in Children.

A Chipley High School graduate, she received her bachelor's degree at the University of Central Florida and her master's at Nova Southeastern University, where she also is completing her doctorate. She and her husband, Gary Brown, have one daughter, Olivia.

"I'm passionate about volunteering," Johnson-Brown said upon accepting the award. "And I am excited about being able to bring health care back here to Northwest Florida."

Taylor Chiropractic, the 2013 Business of the Year, has been in Washington County since 2008, when Taylor took over for another longtime health care provider in Chipley.

Two years ago, the business upgraded to a larger facility in downtown Chipley and now has seven employees.

"In the past five years, this business has treated hundreds of patients with an effort to bring a unique combination of quality health care in a warm and relaxed environment," Barefield said. Taylor also was recognized for leadership in policy-making regarding economic development and organization.

Taylor is a member of Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce. He supports local little league teams and Project Graduation and volunteers his time at local health fairs providing free screenings and massages.

"Our success is a reflection of the community and how much you support local businesses," Taylor said.

Outgoing Chamber President Philip Pippin also was honored for his service to the organization, as were the officers and directors of the chamber: President elect Pat Schlenker, vice president Amy Wiwi, treasurer Garrett Martin, EDC chairman Gary Clark, Vann Brock, Joy Davis, Terry Ellis, Andy Fleener, Jan Page, Darrin Wall and William Steversson.

Ted Everett, executive director of the chamber, and administrative assistant Chris McBlain also were recognized for their contributions to the organization.

Entertainment was provided by the Big River Bluegrass Band, and the dinner was catered by the Northwest Florida Community Hospital.

Family deals with mosquito born encephalitis

With all the rains we've had lately we can be assured that an abundance of mosquitoes will be seen this season. In fact, they are already showing up Florida's outdoor recreational activities make mosquito awareness pertinent at all times. Here at the blueberry farm, those pesky biting insects are especially menacing for our unsuspecting visitors as well as for us and our workers.

Health care workers and the media keep us alert to the danger of mosquito-borne diseases such West Nile virus and eastern equine encephalitis, both potentially life threatening. One Holmes County family learned last year the terrible consequences of contracting one of these.

On June 29, 2012, Eddie White, a 39 year old white male of the Bethlehem community, was admitted to Southeast Ala. Medical Center with excruciating head ache and nausea. Within 12 hours he had noticeable loss of motor skills and the ability to speak or move. Within 24 hours he was in a coma. Is only early symptoms had been a general malaise with slight nausea and loss of appetite.

On July 3, he was flown to University of Alabama Hospital in Birmingham where he was eventually diagnosed with eastern equine encephalitis. The battle for his life continued there although the medical team was not optimistic about his chance of survival, let alone any hope of recovery. By August 7, any hope of recovery was abandoned and he was transferred to the nursing unit of Northwest Fla. Hospital in Chipley in a vegetative state.

The medical staff had given up, but the family, his wife Felicia (King) and his parents, Bill and Judy White and his two sons, 14 year old Will and 9 year old Justin had not. Their strong Christian Faith guided them as they began the long battle of rehabilitation. Felicia can not praise the staff at Chipley Nursing and Rehab located in the NFC Hospital enough. Even though he was mostly unresponsive, they lovingly cared for his every need, continuing to administer physical therapy on a daily basis. Gradual results were noted and, one by one, he lost his trachea tube, his feeding tube, his brain shunt, his catheter.

HAPPY CORNER

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

The White family includes Eddie, Felisha, Will and Justin.

As his physical functions returned and his speech came back, he knew everyone; he knew their relationships; he remembered birthdays and other important dates. He has no symptoms of amnesia. On December 21, 2012 Eddie came home in time to celebrate Christmas with the family. He continues to make physical and mental progress. His physical therapy sessions have gone down from 5 per week to 2. He walks without the aid of a walker or wheel chair. He isn't driving an automobile yet, but he drives about the farm on a 4-wheel type buggy. Because of his fall risk, some member of the family is with him at all times, mostly his father while his Felicia is at work at Wells-Fargo bank in Bonifay and the boys are at school at Bethlehem.

The family are involved in New Bayview Church of God where Sylvia Foskey is the current pastor. There they happily share their faith in the God who heals; the God who moves mountains. They also share the story of Eddie's ordeal and healing anywhere they are permitted to.

Though Eddie is not fully back to his old self, his wife sees glimpses of his former personality and she sees changes. One particular change is his love for music and singing. He never sang before, but now he sings along with the radio and he also sings in Church. Perhaps while he was in that coma he heard Heavenly music.

The Whites would like to emphasize now their gratitude to God and to everyone who prayed and supported them in any way, including her employer Wells Fargo bank for their allowing her to work flexible hours to accommodate Eddie's medical visits and physical therapy. Their faith is strong that he will continue to improve and eventually regain all his functions as the brain slowly heals.

Their main concern is that people will take precaution to protect themselves from the bite of that one mosquito that was infected. Use a repellent with Dete every time you are outdoors. Wear protective clothing, especially in the late afternoon and evening. (Young children and the elderly or anyone with compromised immune systems should be especially wary.) To control the breeding places, be vigilant in emptying any container that collects water such as pet dishes, animal waterers, bird baths, flower pots, garbage, old tires, some plants themselves. (I have a lot of Bromeliads that retain water in their crowns) Mud holes or any standing water should be drained. Pouring burnt oil on such places will also inhibit the breeding of the pests.

Mosquito control is an expensive but an ongoing issue in Florida. Scientists continue to study a way of eradicating mosquitos in the same way that the screwworm fly was eradicated. The city of Bonifay does spray inside the city, but it is hoped that the county will find a way to eradicate some of the breeding places. In the meantime, we can each do our part by eradicating breeding places on our own property. We hope no one else has to experience what the White family has experienced.

Will everyone please roll out the Happy Birthday greetings to "Perry's Prattle" effective today?

HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY?

Letters to the editor and comments on Web versions of news stories are welcomed.

Letters are edited only for grammar, spelling, clarity, space and consistency, but we ask that they be limited to 300 words where possible. Letter writers are asked to provide a home address and daytime telephone number (neither is printed) for verification purposes.

Letters may be sent to 1364 N. Railroad Ave., Chipley, FL 32428 or emailed to news@chipleypaper.com. Please specify if the letter should be printed in the Washington County News or Holmes County Times-Advertiser. Questions? Call 638-0212.

It was on April 9, 2003, when the Washington County News printed the first column with the above heading. The management of the paper at that time requested that I join the paper in writing of the "many and varied 'careers' of Perry Wells". A short time later, my sister, Hazel Wells Tison, agreed to the request to become the correspondent for the Holmes County Times-Advertiser; thus "The Happy Corner" was born. Hazel and I are both honored the newspapers in Washington and Holmes Counties now carry our columns.

Accolades and expressions of enjoying the articles just keep on coming. My first congratulations on becoming ten years old came from Chipley native, Vernon Lewis, now living in Bedford, Virginia. Some of his writings, experiences and reflections of having been reared in Washington County have been used in my writings. I would welcome, and attempt to incorporate any other material which he feels inclined to send.

Our friends and associates in the Primitive Baptist Church of several years past, are now living in Monroe, Wisconsin. Jim and Catherine Moseley are near my age, and Jim knows of some of same work experiences which the "prattler" frequently writes about. He grew up in the Mobile area, worked in a grocery store from daylight to dark for $6 per day, and was happy to receive that.

Our Wisconsin friends have recently entertained moving back southward, but it appears now that will not happen. The couple, experienced in carpentry, not only builds houses, but also renovates older properties as well. I label their efforts now as "missionary work." They completed a project in Chipley recently before moving to the Dallas, Texas area for another home improvement benevolent job for a deserving family acquaintance.

Since their return to Wisconsin, a shipment of cheese came to the Wells household, with a portion being included for my brother, Max and wife, Joyce. We reciprocated by sending them a liberal sampling of homemade cane syrup made by Holmes Countian, Terry Trammell.

The Moseleys are now readers of "Perry's Prattle" and "The Happy Corner." In a recent telephone call to thank us for the syrup, he stated; "Brother Perry, should you mention the tenth birthday of your column, please include us as ardent readers and two appreciative people in the north land who enjoy both writings."

Marshall Steverson may be the last person from Holmes County to report his enjoyment of both Hazel and Perry's writings. In Washington County, that last person is Nita Varnum of Greenhead who told me that she goes immediately to my column to begin her weekly reading.

In the past week, a letter was received from Stan Brock and wife, Kay, from Ft. Walton Beach, expressing thanks for the tribute article of December Brock who passed away in Crestview in late November. His wife, Sal Brock, also died 34 days afterwards. Hurdis was my 1944 Vernon High School Classmate. Aside from being a dear friend, we are also kinsmen as descendants from the pioneer Brock stalwarts, Thomas Jefferson Brock and brother, Joshua Brock. To make the kin more interesting, these two men were married to sisters, Nancy Jane Yates and

The Prattler, as he administers the oath of office as Circuit Judge to nephew, Kelvin Clyde Wells, in 2002.

Syrilda Yates.

Kelly Brock, also a descendant from the Brock ancestors told me at the noted annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet of April 4; "Perry, I find myself relating to the experiences of many of the topics you cover in your articles." When asked if he ever collected any junk iron, he assured me that he did and even assisted his father, Clarence Brock, who got into the collecting on a bigger scale. Kelly agrees that the seller was "at the mercy" of the buyer's price and always took, with glee, whatever was offered for the scrap metals.

Faithful readers since the inception of "Perry's Prattle" have reached plateaus that would be impossible to name. Two of my University of Florida friends, Jeral Smithgall, now living in Mobile and Randall Roberts, who has called Valparaiso home for 60 years, continue to read my columns. Jeral saves his papers for sons, Joel of McDonough, Georgia and Jerry of Orlando, to read when they visit the parents. Randall repeatedly reports "Judge, I bundle up my newspaper articles and mail them to my sister, Louisa Roberts Harder in Ware, Mass. Jeral is a Ponce De Leon boy and Randall is a Bonifay native. Both expressed pleasure in now being able to read Hazel's contributions, as they cover much of Holmes County history and happenings.

Circuit Judge Kelvin Clyde Wells, our nephew in DeFuniak Springs, is a subscriber and regular reader of his uncle and aunt's writing. He told me recently of sharing the article of the demise of all Florida non-lawyer county judges, with the current long time county judge in Walton County, Hon. David Green.

My brother, Jim, is still regarded as my most meticulous and regular reader. He is also numbered as the strongest critic, constructive of course, of both his sister and brother. He jokingly states; "Perry and Hazel have the best memory of any of the children in the family. Both are now remembering and writing about things that never happened!"

What better way of ending my working career from plowing crops and picking cotton on the farm to plucking chickens on the beach job to eleven years as probation and parole counselor to serving 4 terms performing criminal and civil duties as county judge and finally providing comforting reading as a late comer to the field of journalism as the author of "Perry's Prattle?"

See you all next week as we enter into the eleventh year of publication.

Organization seeking members, financial support

By RANDAL SEYLER

CHIPLEY — Volunteers with the Lyndon LaRouche Political Action Committee were in Chipley on Monday calling for the impeachment of President Barack Obama, and passage HR 129, and selling memberships to the PAC.

Frank Mathis, a LaRouche PAC representative from New Jersey, said they were touring the Panhandle. "This is where (U.S. Representatives) Jeff Miller and Steve Southerland are," Mathis said. "In 2011, Miller said he would not support restoring the Glass-Steagall Act. We want to know what he thinks now."

Mathis said the Glass-Steagall Act was enacted in the 30s and protected banks and bank customers, but it was overturned in 1999 by President Bill Clinton and a Republican Congress.

The group's platform supports reinstating the Glass-Steagall Act, which limited commercial banks' investment activities. HR 129, if approved, will bring that back and protect Americans, Mathis said.

"That paved the way for the meltdown in 2007," Mathis said.

"Lyndon LaRouche and LaRouche PAC are what stand between you and an otherwise inevitable collapse of civilization," the PAC's website states.

LaRouche was a presidential candidate eight times between 1976 to 2004, running once for his own U.S. Labor Party and campaigning seven times for the Democratic Party nomination, according to Wikipedia. He was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment in 1988 for conspiracy to commit mail fraud and tax code violations, and was released in 1994 on parole.

LaRouche was also controversial for his alleged connections with the Ku Klux Klan.

Volunteers have stationing themselves in front of post offices and state Department of Motor Vehicle offices to rally support to impeach

President Barack Obama and pass HR 129.

Monday in Chipley, the PAC was taking money from new members. "We need to spread out the organization's support," Mathis said. "I'm from New Jersey, and there isn't much support or awareness of what we do. We're trying to get the message out."

The organization is very polarizing, acknowledged Angela Vullo, a LaRouche PAC representative in Washington, D.C.

"We're attacking Obama and the controllers of Obama out of London," Vullo said in a telephone interview.

Signs with Obama sporting a Hitler mustache in particular have been at almost every local station. Obama is an advocate of Great Britain and Wall Street, and not the American people, Vullo said.

"What we're expecting under Obama and the British Empire is (for them) to impose a world dictatorship for depopulation," she said.

BY RANDAL SEYLER | The News

LaRouche PAC representative Frank Mathis signs up a new member on Monday in Chipley.

Obama is creating a nation whose people can't survive by rescuing insolvent banks at the people's expense, Vullo said.

"The people that support us suspect that Obama and the government are not on their side," Vullo said. "The people who don't support us are in denial."

"Glass-Steagall is a bill that will keep the bankrupt banks out of the pockets of the people," she said.

The PAC's other platforms include establishing a credit system and building the North American Water & Power Alliance (NAWAPA), a continental water management system.

"Most people get involved in single issues," Vullo said. "You have to fight on principle. You have to defend the Constitution of the U.S. against the empire."

Esto water rates to increase starting in May

By CECILIA SPEARS
547-9414 | @WCN_HCT
cspears@chippelypaper.com

ESTO — The Esto Town Council approved of the first reading of Ordinance 13-01 during their April 2 meeting, which will increase the water rates in Esto beginning in May, following the second and final reading a public hearing.

The rates will increase to $19 inside town limits and $21 outside the town limits for the first 3,000 gallons and $4 per thousand gallons over 3,000 gallons as well as $1 per month per meter for fire protection, $125 per security deposits, $200 for connection fees and $500 for tap-in fees.

"I'm actually disappointed no one showed up for the public hearing," said Town Clerk

Jody Sellers. "You'd think people would want to be more involved in what's going on with their town."

Chairman Danny Powell said that landowner Brady Well made an offer to sell his property to the town, which has been used by visitors as extra parking during the Two-Toe Tom Festival.

"He's wanting $36,000 for two acres because it's considered in town," said Powell. "It's nice of him to let us use his property for the festival but it is well over-priced."

The council agreed to table the offer until the next meeting.

Sellers informed the council that they have negotiated with the town's auditor to reduce his invoice from $10,000 to $9,000, which would mean that the town would only had $3,000 left owed and the town approved to pay in increments of $500 a month until it was paid.

During the March 5 meeting she informed the council that she had received an invoice from their auditor for $10,000 for his services.

"He quoted me an estimate of between $6,000 and $7,000," said Sellers. "Now he's changed his mind and is requesting $10,000."

The council agreed to draft a letter stating insufficient services and requesting the return of owed files and to make necessary contacts to hire a new auditor, this time under the prerequisite of having a contract as suggested by Goodman.

Hooked on Outdoors

Every now and then an innovation comes along that both fishermen and hunters can use in the outdoors. A new camera has hit the market that just about anyone can learn to use on the water or underwater.

The brand name is GoPro and it has been out for some time, but they keep improving the product and it is easier to use. If you go to a store

Life

Scott Lindsey captainlindsey@ knology.net

that sells them, you might find a monitor showing people jumping out of airplanes, snow skiing or scuba diving while wearing one. If you want to record a fishing trip and have your hands free this camera is for you.

There are several ways you can mount this camera on your person or on the boat you will be fishing from. I went freshwater fishing the other day, turned on the camera and forgot about it until we were through.

I could have mounted the camera on a suction cup which would have given me only a fixed angle, perhaps looking from the back of the boat or from the front looking back. On larger boats this is perfect for catching the action because on center console boats most of the fishing is done from the front.

I was in a 12-foot john boat so there was the danger of stepping on the camera because it is so small. So I opted to use the head mount. If you have ever gigged frogs you are familiar with a head lamp worn, of course, on the head. This camera is so small you really don't know it is on your head.

The real reason I bought this camera is to use underwater while tied to a fishing rod and reel. I thought when the Gulf finally cleared I could tie it to a rod and lower it to the desired depth that snapper would be located and watch the action. It comes with a waterproof case and is good to 180 feet.

It would be kind of neat to see what is going on under your boat and not have to get in the water to do it. Try out the GoPro the next time you go.

BEAR-HUMAN CONFLICT

Denying bears easy access to food is key to prevention

By STAN KIRKLAND

Florida Fish and Wildlife
Conservation Commission

The number of bear-related calls received by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission are on the rise in Northwest Florida.

In 2002, the FWC logged 118 calls for the 16-county area stretching from Escambia County to Jefferson County. In 2012, that number rocketed to almost 1,700 calls.

Bears are driven by the urge to eat and it doesn't matter to them whether it's garbage or other easy sources of food such as bird seed or pet food. The key to keeping bears in the wild and out of your yard is denying them easy access to food.

In Wakulla County, which has experienced a rapid human growth and rise in bear complaints in the past several years, two things have transpired to reduce human-bear conflicts.

For one thing, garbage pick-up is mandatory for all residents. Problems with garbage sitting for days in cans in outlying areas and becoming a target for hungry bears have been mostly resolved. Secondly, Waste Pro, the waste service company in the county, makes modified and bear-resistant cans available to residents experiencing bear problems. Residents can receive a modified trash can for an extra fee. Even with the extra fee, many residents keep their garbage secured in the wildlife-resistant cans.

In nearby Franklin County, the developers of St. James Bay, a planned residential development that will eventually total almost 500 homes, require the use of bear-resistant cans.

To the west, there's no better example of a proactive approach in reducing bear issues than on U.S. Air Force Base's Hurlburt Field in Okaloosa County. Several years ago, Hurlburt Field officials required the use of bear-resistant garbage cans and dumpsters of all base personnel, and implemented an education program on the do's and don'ts when living near bears. They were able to document more than a 70 percent decline in calls and complaints about bears.

Elsewhere in Okaloosa County, communities and governmental leaders are working with the FWC to reduce human-bear conflicts. For example, Fort Walton Beach has retrofitted old plastic-lid dumpsters with reinforced lids to keep bears from raiding them for food scraps. The city also is installing inexpensive gate-hasp hardware on existing garbage cans to keep bears from household garbage.

The nearby cities of Mary Esther and Valparaiso are similarly retrofitting garbage cans used by residents.

Although there are other notable successes in dealing with bears, the key to drastically reducing the number of problems in the future is cooperation between county governmental leaders and waste service companies to make reasonable options available for residents to keep their garbage secure.

Providing bear-resistant garbage cans to the public and a willingness by the public to use those cans are the most important components needed to reduce human-bear conflicts.

METROCREATIVE

Spring gobbler season is in full swing

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

Spring has officially sprung in Florida. In the Panhandle the azaleas are blooming, the pleasant scent of orange blossoms is in the air in Central Florida, and folks in the Keys are gearing up for extra tourists. It also means spring gobbler season is in full swing.

From helping hunters stay safe in wildlife management areas, to answering questions about regulations, to checking for poachers hunting over bait, Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission officers are engaged throughout the season.

They are vital to ensuring Florida's residents and visitors can safely enjoy hunting in Florida for years to come. And the fact that peninsular Florida is the only place in the world where hunters can bag an Osceola turkey (one of the five subspecies in North America) makes it a top hunting destination. FWC officers fill a vital role in the state's economic as well as environmental future.

They have been busy this season already, dealing with cases involving bait, trespassing, over-the-bag-limit and hunting-out-of-season in Glades, Santa Rosa, Alachua, Duval, Polk and Osceola counties.

However, enforcing regulations isn't the only way in which FWC officers contribute. The story of the wild turkey in Holmes County is a prime example of the tangible impact FWC officers have made on conservation efforts and the relationship they have with stakeholders.

In 1997, Officer Larry Morris, an FWC officer in Holmes County who has served since 1990, noticed a disturbing lack of wild turkeys in the county. Through his consistent communication with landowners and other members of the community, he learned others shared his concern and were interested in doing something about it. Through biological surveys, FWC biologist Larry Perrin led a team that confirmed there were no wild turkeys in Holmes County.

In 1998, the FWC closed

Holmes County to turkey hunting. For the next two years, FWC biologists and officers, including Officer Larry Morris, worked with stakeholders and partner organizations such as the National Wild Turkey Federation to trap 121 wild turkeys from other parts of the Panhandle and relocate them to Holmes County. The population boomed, as everyone had hoped.

In addition to enforcement efforts after the turkeys were released, FWC officers continued their outreach, passing along important information from FWC biologists. They spoke to landowners, hunters, farmers and others about the need to protect the restocked birds and encouraged them to improve the turkeys' habitat through prescribed burning, timber thinning and planting crops that benefit turkeys. They received an overwhelming amount of support from the public — people were taking ownership in the fight to conserve the area's natural resources.

Today, the restoration of turkeys in Holmes County is considered a huge success. There is a 16-day spring hunting season, including quota hunts on state lands. Recent efforts have included annual population surveys, public meetings, one of which was held in Bonifay this past February, and continued communication by FWC officers with members of their communities.

Moore set scoring record, West rolls to 7th win in series

By BRAD MILNER

bmilner@pcnh.com

PANAMA CITY — Taliah Moore was officially named MVP of the Halifax All-Star Classic girls game Saturday. However, the basketball she earned as an award could have been split into thirds.

Moore scored an event record 33 points in the West's 81-58 triumph over the East at the Billy Harrison Field House. Her team was outnumbered, with Morgan Kennedy's fractured foot reducing the West roster to seven players. The lower number was inconsequential, however, as Moore and the Choctawhatchee duo of Brittany Brown and Lauren Day were more than enough in a display of Ironwoman efforts.

The only time the trio found a seat was at halftime in the game played under college rules with 20-minute halves. They combined for 61 points and Brown made her case for MVP with 14 of those to go along with 11 rebounds and more than 10 assists for a triple-double. Day added a double-double of 14 points and 12 rebounds, eight coming in the first half when the West built an insurmountable lead.

Moore, who scored more than 1,000 career points for Walton, credited Brown for setting her up with myriad easy looks. She broke Jon Wade's barely year-old record of 30 points with a basket with 4:35 to play in giving the West a 71-50 lead. She added to the mark with a final score three minutes later in upping the advantage to 77-56.

"We just wanted to go out there and play our best and that's what we did," Moore said. "We did get tired, but we did what we had to do to get the 'W'."

Moore had 18 points in the first half, which ended with the West ahead 40-24. The East fell behind by eight points in the opening minutes on Day's basket, but it weathered the surge with an 11-2 run capped by Alexis Ware scoring off a turnover for the East's second and final lead, 14-13. The East also held a 3-2 lead on one of JoJo Booker's two 3-pointers on the second basket of the game.

Moore notched four of the West's next six baskets turning a one-point deficit into a 25-16 bulge with seven minutes to go in the first half. She also had one of three 3-pointers to put the West ahead 30-20 and added a lay-in and a free throw to end the first-half scoring.

Day controlled the offensive glass, Brown dished out assists and added intensity on defense despite not getting a breather and the East turned the ball over 15 times in the opening 20 minutes. The East finished with 23 turnovers, was out-rebounded 48-37 and offered the West far too many second chances to remain competitive. Turnovers also proved critical when the East clawed back to within 50-39 on Ware field goal with 11 minutes to play.

The East had three opportunities to pull near single digits. But it had three straight turnovers and Moore's final 3-pointer erased hopes of a rally and gave the West a 64-44 cushion four minutes later.

"We kept standing around and giving up the rebounds," East coach

Heather Hingson said. "Then we had the three turnovers. We didn't have good execution."

Ware finished with 14 points and five rebounds to earn East MVP honors. Mikayla Moore scored 11 and Jasmine Belser eight for the East.

Cassidy Anderson added eight points on four field goals for the West. Nine of the East's 11 players scored, while all seven on the West tallied at least two points.

Moore and the West maintained control of the series with its seventh win in nine years. It marked the first time a winning team scored more than 80 points since 2009. The 23-point deficit also was the largest since the same year, when the West rolled to a 112-73 victory.

"We had fun," Moore said. "It's a good feeling to play in your last game and get a win."

East boys hold on for victory at Halifax All-Star Classic

By BRANDON WALKER

863-1111 ext. 1476
bwalker@pcnh.com

PANAMA CITY — Just before he stepped onto the court at the Halifax All-Star Classic on Saturday afternoon, Rutherford standout Jai Jencks had a message for his father.

"Right when we started, I told my dad that I wanted to come out here and win MVP today," Jencks said. "My teammate (Jon Wade) won it last year, and I wanted to keep it at Rutherford."

Jencks then went out and backed up his promise. Behind 14 points from Jencks and double-digit performances from three others, the East squad held off a furious rally in the game's final three minutes to earn a thrilling 87-86 win at Gulf Coast's Billy Harrison Field House. The win marked the East's third straight in the series, which is in its ninth year.

"Everybody had fun," said Malone head coach Steve Welch, who served as co-coach of the East with Graceville's Matt Anderson. "It was a great game with both teams taking turns making big plays. (The West) hit some big shots down the stretch. It was really one of the better games I've seen over here."

Despite leading by as many as 13 in the second half, the East was pushed to the limit on Saturday, as the West, which represented Santa Rosa, Walton and Okaloosa counties, finished the game on a 12-2 run over the final three minutes.

That cut the deficit to one point, and after getting a defensive stop on the East's final possession, the West took the ball with 28 seconds left and a chance to win the game. But West MVP Deshun Tucker's initial shot missed, as did Tyrone Culbreth's putback. Culbreth got a second offensive rebound but was unable to get a shot off prior to the final buzzer.

"We had our chances at the end, just couldn't get it to go in," said Choctawhatchee head coach Andy Thigpen, who coached the West. "It was a fun game to be a part of, and I'm proud of the guys. That's a very good team on the other side."

Owning a distinct size advantage, the East featured four players at 6-foot-7 or better, while the West's tallest player, Culbreth, is listed at 6-4. The West was able to get off to a quick start in the first half, racing out to a 21-9 lead just six minutes into the game. The lead would eventually reach 13 points at 32-19 before the East reeled off a 13-0 run to knot the score late in the first half.

The East eventually took a 47-43 lead into halftime.

The second half was just as close, as each team took turns delighting the crowd with highlight-worthy plays, one being a rim-rattling, left-handed dunk by Malone's Ty Baker that brought the crowd to its feet.

"That's just Ty Baker, that's what he can do," said Jencks, who had a pair of dunks of his own. "This is the best team I've ever played with."

For the West, Culbreth and Walton guard Ken Randolph each scored 14 points while Tucker added 13. Niceville's Nick Haynes and Choctaw's Michael Hawkins each added 10 points.

Graceville's Marquis White joined Jencks on the East with 14 points, while Baker and Rutherford's Kiki Williamson scored 10 each.

"There was a ton of talent out here today, on both sides," Welch said.

Holmes' Walker wins dunk competition at McDonald's

From Staff Reports

CHICAGO — Chris Walker of Holmes County won the dunk contest before the McDonald's All-American high school basketball game at the United Center.

Walker, a University of Florida commitment who led Holmes County to the Class 1A state championship last month, had four solid dunks, including a windmill for 54 points to start, a one-handed slam for a perfect score of 60 and two strong dunks to close the competition.

Walker finished with 226 points to top Aaron Gordon of Archbishop Mitty (San Jose, Calif.), who had 213 points, and Jabari Parker of Simeon (Chicago), who had 211.

Gordon was the MVP Wednesday night as the West gained a 110-99 victory over the East squad. Gordon had 24 points and eight rebounds in front of 15,818.

The East got within 94-90 when Dakari Johnson scored with 4:40 left, but Gordon responded with a dunk and scored again to boost the West's lead to 106-91.

Andrew Wiggins had 19 points for the East, and Johnson had 12. Walker shot 2 for 6 from the field and 0 for 2 at the free-throw line while scoring four points in 12 minutes. He added six rebounds, one assist, one blocked shot and one steal. Walker is scheduled to play in the Jordan Brand Classic on April 13 in Brooklyn.

A Smooth Jazz Dinner Cruise, four days of non-stop live entertainment at the newly constructed amphitheater stage and an upbeat weekend of late night after-parties are set to entice sun lovers and music fans alike.

The 2013 lineup reflects many of the top charting smooth jazz artists for 2012 and 2013, with an emphasis on not just the hits but also musical variety and diversity. The synergy of the performances is the secret to the festival’s success with fans, many who travel from all over the U.S. to reconnect with friends and celebrate “the smooth jazz lifestyle.”

“We are always delighted by the Seabreeze Jazz Festival line-up, but this year, we are thrilled with not only the diversity of performers but with the sheer volume of contemporary jazz stars, both new and established men and women. WASHINGTON COUNTY CELEBRATES CHILDREN AND THE ARTS

'ARTKIDDOO'

PHOTOS BY RANDAL SEYLER | The News

CHIPLEY — The Early Learning Coalition of Northwest Florida, along with businesses and other organizations in the community, held "ArtKidDoo — A Celebration of Children and the Arts" Saturday, April 6, in Shivers Park in Chipley. Hundreds of children and their parents came out to paint, draw, create and otherwise have fun. "Families can bring their children to Shivers Park and spend time experiencing the creative process in a variety of mediums including drawing and painting, collage, music, dance, storytelling and drama," said Lynne Eldridge, executive director of the Early Learning Center. "Research shows that it is important for all children, beginning when they are very young, to have the opportunity to express themselves both through play and the arts. ArtKidDoo will give them that opportunity." Children made angel wings, had their faces painted, blew bubbles and enjoyed the beautiful weather Saturday. Washington County Arts Council Chairwoman Suzan Gage said she hopes to make the ArtKidDoo an annual event.

Winners of the art competition were also chosen, with each winner receiving a ribbon and a monetary prize. First place was Aysha Dye, who won $25; second place was Alexandra Pearce, who received $15; and third place was won by Jenna Gilmore, who took home $10.

Community South wins Diamond Award

Special to Extra

CHIPLEY — Community South Credit Union took home a prestigious Diamond Award at the annual Credit Union National Association Diamond Awards ceremony on March 27.

Recognized for excellence in social media marketing, Community South earned the award for the 2012 “Summer Smileage” campaign, in which Facebook fans shared and commented on Community South content in order to win a trip for four to Disney World.

“It is wonderful to be recognized by our peers in the credit union industry,” said Community South CEO Jan Page.

“Even better, our ‘Summer Smileage’ campaign allowed us to connect and communicate with more of our members through social media.

We now have an active Facebook community; in addition to sharing financial education content and community photos, we use our social media channels to quickly distribute information to our members about branch hours, new promotions and important events.”

At the beginning of last summer, Community South had approximately 200 Facebook fans. Over a three-month period, they encouraged fans to comment, “like” and share content; each interaction was counted as one entry into a drawing for a Disney World vacation. Questions such as “Who is your favorite Disney character?” were posed for comment, alongside financial education and local trivia.

Fans of Community South’s Facebook page more than tripled during the course of the “Summer Smileage” campaign, and the “reach” of their content, the number of people who saw a message or story from the credit union, increased from 300 people at the beginning of the campaign to more than 5,700 in the final week of the promotion.

“And most importantly,” said Page, “we got to send one very happy local family to Disney World!”

About Community South Credit Union

Community South Credit Union is a growing, $91 million, full-service financial institution, owned by over 7,500 local consumers.

Founded more than 50 years ago as the Department of Transportation, District 3, Credit Union, Community South now proudly offers membership to employees, retirees, and family members of individuals residing or working in Washington and Holmes County, as well as select contiguous zip codes.

Bringing home your first rodent

While many may not find a rodent as a first choice for a pet, with some insight and guidance you may be more receptive to the idea of a small hamster or rat becoming a suitable pet for your family.

PET TALK

bite more and tend to be more active at night.

Guinea pigs and chinchillas are a bit bigger and are gentle pets, but they have special dietary needs and their teeth continuously grow.

Gerbils are unlikely to bite, if handled gently. They have few health problems and are the cleanest of all the commonly kept pet rodents.

If you are more interested in observing your pet and don't have as much time, a gerbil, hamster or mouse is an option as they are happy living in their cage.

"If you want a socially active pet that needs lots of attention and activity, a rat, chinchilla or guinea pig is a great pet," Hoppes said. "Rats are so social that they should not be housed alone. If you are a night owl, then hamsters may be best since they tend to sleep all day and run in their wheel all night."

One important aspect of keeping a pet rodent is that their cage needs to be cleaned one to two times a week to keep ammonia levels down. "All pet rodents need a clean large cage, chew toys, ladders, plastic or PVC pipe, and daily interaction. Beddings such as Paper, aspen or walnut shavings are best, while corncob, pine, and cedar shavings should be avoided," Hoppes said.

Rodents need fresh water and food constantly. Guinea pigs and chinchillas have a special need for timothy hay since they have continuously growing cheek teeth. This hay helps keep the teeth from overgrowing. Additionally, guinea pigs need vitamin C daily. All rodents can have a small amount of fruits and vegetables for treats.

Chinchillas also need daily dust baths, and they and guinea pigs are very sensitive to heat and humidity. Both are susceptible to heatstroke in temperatures as low as 80-85 degrees, especially if the humidity is higher than 40 percent.

"Pet rodents do not need vaccinations," Hoppes said. "There are few diseases to be concerned with, and while salmonella infection has been documented, it is rare. Rat bite fever, caused by a bacterial infection, may occur after a rat bite. This can be prevented by immediately disinfecting any bite wound from a rat."

While diseases are uncommon in rodents, rats are prone to mammary tumors, and hamsters often have diarrhea (wet tail). Many rodents are also prone to respiratory disease.

Guinea pigs and chinchillas are susceptible to ring worm so any hair loss or patchy areas on the skin should be seen by a veterinarian for treatment immediately.

The life span of pet rodents varies. Mice and hamsters generally live one to two years, rats two to three years, gerbils three to five years, guinea pigs five to seven years, and chinchillas live eight to 12 years or longer.

"What are you laughing at?" my wife asked.

"I'm just thinking of Mrs. Ammon. When I went to school we didn't need any armed guards, we had Mrs. Ammon and nobody crossed her."

The news report went on to say how they were trying to put armed guards at every school in our country. I suppose that is a good idea, I do not know all the ins and outs of the politicalness of that report. Everything these days seems to have some kind of a political angle to it. Now that political angle is intruding itself into the public school system.

This is all an attempt to protect our school children. I am all for that.

I was thinking, however, that when I was a youngster we did not need that sort of thing. We had Mrs. Ammon and her infamous hickory stick. Very few people remember a time when a teacher had, as one of her tools for education, a hickory stick and knew how to wield it, and wield it they did.

Somebody may ask how I know about that. Very simply. I am the product of a teacher wielding the hickory stick. It is hard now to remember the occasion that called for the application of that hickory stick. Actually, there was more than one occasion calling for such teacher and student interaction.

The old saying was that our teacher would apply the "Board of Education" to the "Seat of Learning." Believe me when I say, I earned a degree in that.

Somebody will say, "Things have changed."

I will agree that things have changed, but most things have not changed for the better. Back in "the day" when I was a member of the public education system, the teachers were in charge. A basic rule in our house prevailed, "If you get a paddling in school, you get a paddling at home." It was assumed the teacher was right.

DR. JAMES L. SNYDER
Out to Pastor

I distinctly remember my first interaction with my teacher in this regard. How can you forget such a thing?

At that time, teachers were too busy to put up with any kind of fooling around in a classroom. Do not get me wrong, my teacher made it fun most of the time. For the ones who, like me, took it too far, she knew how to stop it dead in its tracks.

"Mr. Snyder," the teacher would say in a very stern tone of voice. "Is that you making all that noise?" I knew what was to follow.

"Mr. Snyder, please go to the principal's office and I will join you shortly."

Oh boy. Those familiar words bring back haunting memories of my visit to the principal's office. You can be sure; Mrs. Ammon would not come into the principal's office, spank you and then go back to her class. On some occasions, I would have preferred her to spank me and get it over with.

The first thing she had to do was explain to me why what I did was wrong and disruptive to the class. Then, she had to explain to me how this paddling I was about the cat was going to hurt her more than it did me.

For the life of me, I could never figure out where it hurt her more than it did me. I knew exactly where it hurt me and for the rest of the day it would be quite difficult for me to sit down in my chair. Not only did my posterior glow in pain, but the snickers of my fellow students were even worse.

At the time of the application of the hickory stick, I really did not like Mrs. Ammon. Looking back, I have a different perspective. I now know that she really had an interest in me as a person. She was trying to discipline me in ways in which I needed discipline from someone like her.

Years later, I went back and visited my old teacher, Mrs. Ammon. I took to her some books I had written and published. She said she remembered me, I really do not know if she did or not. I had to do one thing and that was to thank her.

"I want to thank you, Mrs. Ammon, for teaching me to read and to write." Then I handed her my books. She seemed to be so very happy, but not as happy as I was. This teacher made a difference in my life that I did not realize until I was older.

One thing Mrs. Ammon taught me was that I should not get away with anything. There is a moment of accountability everybody must face. Mrs. Ammon was making sure that I was facing up to the realities of life before I did too much damage to my life.

It is sad that the politics have taken over our education system today. It is sad that we do not have any Mrs. Ammons with their hickory sticks.

When I think of Mrs. Ammon I think of what Solomon writes, "He that spareth his rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes" (Proverbs 13:24 KJV).

It is my opinion that we need more Mrs. Ammons in our school classrooms and less, a lot less, politics.

Bethlehem School PTO has very successful first year

Special to Extra

BETHLEHEM — The Bethlehem School PTO formed in September of 2012, and has had an extremely productive and successful first year.

In their firm support of the school, it's staff and the students, they have contributed to many special events held at the school, as well as organized fundraising programs to raise money to benefit the school. They are also taking part in planning events and programs they are hopeful to host and contribute to in the future. Their efforts so far have won them praise from teachers and parents, and the community as a whole.

These are some of the special events the PTO has helped contribute to:

Veteran's Day Luncheon: The Special Events Committee hosted local veterans at a luncheon served by the culinary class and provided patriotic musical entertainment for the guests.

Christmas Dance/Valentine's Day Dance: Volunteers decorated the student activity center with lovely and colorful decorations for all the students to enjoy at the two dances.

Homecoming and Alumni Dinner: The Special Events Committee decorated the student activity center with "Blast from the Past" decorations, as well as the Choral Suite, in preparation for the Homecoming celebration and Alumni dinner on January 25th, and hosted a lovely buffet of finger foods for all attending alumni.

Teachers Appreciation Luncheon: This was hosted by the PTO on March 22nd, just before the teachers and staff left for spring break. The theme was "Chicken Soup for the Teacher's Soul," and included homemade soups, sandwiches and salads made by the parents, as well as a motivational speaker to inspire them to continue their good works as educators of our children. Door prizes and small gifts were donated and given out to the teachers and staff as well. It turned out to be a wonderful day for everyone involved and everyone who attended.

For each of these events, the Spitshine Committee was in charge of cleaning and preparing all the rooms used for the special events, as well as the cleanup after.

These are some of the fundraising projects the PTO has organized this school year:

The Fall Festival: The PTO was proud to host a successful Fall Festival table, and one of the teachers graciously offered her services as a Fortune Teller.

Homecoming 2013: Chances were sold on a beautiful Homecoming Basketball Cake during the Homecoming games.

Pizza Hut Cards: The PTO Fundraising Committee headed and organized the sale of Pizza Hut promotional cards. Purchasers who spend $15 on any Pizza Hut purchase receive up to 12 medium pizzas for free. All the cards were sold, so this was a very successful program for the PTO and the school.

My Coke Rewards: Also hosted by the PTO Fundraising Committee, Bethlehem School is taking part in the MyCokeRewards Program. This allows for points to be awarded to the school by creating a My Coke Rewards account online and entering codes or by sending Coke product caps to the school which are then added to the account. These points will be used to purchase school related items.

Easter Bunny Pictures/Easter Baskets: The PTO Fundraising and Special Events Committees were proud to bring the Easter Bunny to Bethlehem School. Free pictures were taken for Pre-K through 6th grade, and the students also received a special treat. Chances were sold on two Easter baskets, one boy and one girl, with proceeds going to the PTO general fund.

For the upcoming First Annual Springtime Heritage Day at Bethlehem School scheduled for April 13, the PTO will host a live auction, plant sale and old time photos.

All funds raised will be used to help cover the costs of future projects and special events, and for programs in support of the teachers, such as the Teacher's Angel Project.

Current and Future Projects headed by the Bethlehem School PTO:

Greenhouse and Garden Project: The PTO Agricultural Committee worked hard to organize the cleaning and preparation of an on site greenhouse at the school, and is currently growing plants for sale at the upcoming Springtime Heritage Day Festival on April 13th. They also applied for and were awarded a grant by Walmart Stores to purchase some of the supplies needed for their future plans for this project, which include raised bed gardens, a butterfly garden, and classroom projects for the elementary students.

Arts and Music: PTO President and Music and Arts Committee Chairperson Tamra Kriser has played an integral role in the plans to add a music and arts program to the Bethlehem School curriculum. She drafted a petition to do so, which was signed by over 700 community members, including students and parents who support the plans for this new program. The Holmes District School Board was approached with the request in January of this year, and the petition was submitted for their consideration. The School Board has assured Mrs. Kriser that they are in the process of moving towards this goal. At this time, the first annual "Bethlehem's Got Talent" talent show has been approved, and is currently being planned for sometime in May where the student's performing and visual arts talents will be showcased.

Teacher's Angel Project: This is a PTO fundraising project which will help teachers to get the supplies they need for their classrooms without having to purchase the items themselves.

Bethlehem School PTO Quarterly Newsletter: The first copy of the newsletter will be designed by the PTO Publicist Committee by year-end, and will be released quarterly from that point forward.

Bethlehem School Store: There will be extensive involvement by the PTO with the organizing and management of an in-house school store at Bethlehem School. They will also involve the business class students, who will be volunteering their free time to manage the store and sell the school supplies and small treats that will be stocked for sale to the students. There is money in a school fund for this project already, and Walmart Stores has a grant available to purchase supplies as well. All proceeds generated from the store will benefit the school, and it's students.

About the Bethlehem School PTO:

This Parent Teacher Organization is a service-oriented grassroots organization headed by concerned and dedicated parents of students at Bethlehem School. It was originally approved by the former principal of the school, Mr. Zeb Brown, and organized by the current elected President Tamra Kriser. The first meeting was held on September 20, 2012 where Mr. Brown and Mrs. Kriser explained the goals of the organization and the Administration to promote better communication between the parents and staff at the school, as well as head projects and events that would benefit the students and enhance their overall educational experience. The Bethlehem School PTO has successfully completed many of these tasks in their first year of operation, and they look forward to future contributions they will be able to make.

The current Executive Board of the PTO includes: Mrs. Tamra Kriser as President, Mrs. Cheryl Powell as Vice President, Mrs. Christine LiCausi as Secretary, Ms. Gynell Pettis-Hunter as Treasurer, and Ms. Gina Schultz as PTO Startup Advisor. The organization consists of over 30 active members, including both parents and teachers, and they hold official meetings on the second Tuesday of each month. A set of official PTO Bylaws was adopted by the Executive Board soon after elections were held, and Executive Board meetings are held after each PTO monthly meeting to discuss any further plans and actions needed by the organization.

There are also six official committees within the PTO. They are as follows: The Special Events Committee, headed by Mrs. Donna Carnley as Chairperson, and Ms. Gina Schultz as Co-Chairperson. The Fundraising Committee, headed by Ms. Gynell Pettis-Hunter as Chairperson, and Ms. Heather Clark as Co-Chairperson. The Spitshine Committee, headed by Mrs. Kathy Tate as Chairperson, and Mrs. Michelle Calhoun as Co-Chairperson. The Agricultural Committee, headed by Mrs. Sherry Byrum as Chairperson. The Music and Arts Committee, headed by Mrs. Tamra Kriser as Chairperson, and Mrs. Carla Templeton as Co-Chairperson. The Publicist Committee, headed by Mrs. Christine LiCausi as Chairperson.

There is an official Facebook page for the Bethlehem School PTO at: www.facebook.com/pages/Bethlehem-School-PTO/308109839301863.

Anyone who would like more information about the organization, special events, volunteer opportunities, and all it's accomplishments can access this information at the official page.
