WASHINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Corbin appointed 'point of contact'

By RANDAL SEYLER

rseyler@chipleypaper.com

CHIPLEY — After only an hour's debate, the Washington County Board of County Commissioners appointed Public Services Director David Corbin to serve as a point of contact in lieu of appointing an interim county administrator.

However, Corbin wasn't the commissioners' first nomination of the morning when the board met in special session Tuesday to discuss seeking a replacement for County Administrator Steve Joyner, who resigned his position with the county on Thursday.

Commissioner Todd Abbott proposed former commissioner Hulan Carter to serve as an interim county administrator, but his motion was defeated 3-2 with Commissioners Lynn Gothard, Alan Bush and Charles Brock voting against appointing Carter.

Abbott also suggested the county's interim Human Resources Director Albert Davis as a possible choice, but that suggestion had been voted down on Thursday after Joyner's announcement and did not come to a vote again on Tuesday.

Brock said he questioned whether or not the county needed a county administrator and suggested appointing Corbin as a point of contact person to whom county department heads could turn if they had problems.

Corbin also would be given signature authority for day-to-day expenditures

CHIPLEY — Trawick Construction of Chipley presented United Way of Northwest Florida a check for $5,868 on Friday.

The donation was raised during the company's fifth annual Bring Your Old Buddy golf tournament at Dogwood Lakes in Bonifay.

"We are thrilled to present this check to the United Way of Northwest Florida," said Phillip Metcalf of Trawick Construction. "They make such a huge impact in our community and we are proud of our partnership with them."

Trawick Construction is a leading provider of outside plant services to telecom and long line companies throughout the U.S.

"I can't thank you guys enough for holding the golf tournament," said Mary Smith of the Washington County Council on Aging, a United Way agency. "Our goal is to provide for the founders of Washington County, to meet their needs and to keep them in their homes for as long as possible."

Smith said the Council on Aging has suffered a 15 percent budget decrease in the last two years, and because of budget constraints, the Meals on Wheels program is

Bill aims to help rural communities

By VALERIE GARMAN
747-5076 | @valeriegarman
vgarman@pcnh.com

PANAMA CITY — The city of Blountstown, located in Northeast Calhoun County, operates on a $3 million per year budget and is struggling to keep up with infrastructure needs.

"It's no cheaper to fix things here than it is in a big city," said City Manager Emory Pierce. "But in big cities with multi-million dollar budgets, a couple of thousand dollars to fix something is nothing."

The story is similar for rural communities across the Panhandle region, and U.S. Rep. Steve Southerland, R-Panama City, is hoping a new bill might help those areas he said "form the backbone of North and Northwest Florida."

Southerland recently introduced the Building Rural Communities Act, a bill aimed at giving rural government officials the necessary tools to plan large-scale improvement projects in a more cost-effective manner.

Co-sponsored by Rep. Mike McIntyre, D-N.C., the legislation would channel between 3 and 5 percent of funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Rural Development Essential Communities Facilities loan and grant program toward technical assistance and financial planning for rural communities.

Commissioner's email request questioned

Gothard sought public safety director job description

By RANDAL SEYLER
638-0212 | @WCN_HCT
rseyler@chipleypaper.com

CHIPLEY — A Washington County resident questioned a county commissioner's request for a job description during Thursday's Board of County Commissioners meeting in Chipley.

Skyla Carter of Chipley told the commissioners she had concerns about county interviewing policies that were raised when she requested emails of county officials through the Florida Sunshine Law.

In the emails, Commissioner Lynn Gothard asked Heather Finch, former human resources director for the county, to send her a copy of the public safety director job description to a different email account.

The county does not have a public safety director since the retirement of Roger Hagan in December.

"I was concerned about the email being sent to a different address," Carter said. "I had made a request for all emails about the public safety director position, and I was wondering if there were any emails I didn't receive."

Gothard said she knew what Carter was talking about.

"I sent Heather an email asking her to send a copy of the job description to me," Gothard said.

limited, and there is a waiting list of seniors requesting hot meals.

"We'll do anything we can to help promote the golf tournament," Smith said. "Just let us know, and we'll do what we can to help."

"This golf tournament is so important because there is a real need for these services," said Nicole Barefield, publisher of the Washington County News and the Holmes County Times-Advertiser. "We see it every day."

"For every dollar you donate, the Council on Aging gets $9 in matching funds. I don't know anywhere else you can get a nine-to-one return on your money," said Ron Sharpe, director of resource development for United Way of Northwest Florida.

"The money raised by the local golf tournament stays in Northwest Florida and helps our United Way agencies and our neighbors," Sharpe said.

"You know how important it is what you guys are doing. I hope you can hear the sincerity when we say 'thank you,'" Sharpe told Trawick employees. "You didn't have to do this tournament, but you got involved and did it. That is so awesome."

above what department heads are allowed.

"The board has the authority to define what David would do in this position," County Attorney Jeff Goodman said. "The county has the ability to deal with contracts on a month-to-month basis, and those are approved by the board."

Goodman said the board should grant Corbin some flexibility in dealing with day-to-day running of the county.

Commissioner Joel Pate noted the county budgets soon would be due and said it was necessary to have a county administrator in place to oversee the creation of the budgets.

County Clerk Linda Cook disagreed, however, saying the department heads and the county finance office were capable of creating a budget without the oversight of a county manager.

"Every time we hire someone to run the county, we don't let him do his job," Pate said. "This board gets involved and won't leave him alone."

"We owe it to the employees to have a point of contact," Abbott said at the opening of the meeting. "We have invoices that need signed, the budgets are coming up and there are the day-to-day operations to oversee."

Pate said advertising the position properly will take 60-90 days, and there will be the interviewing process.

"We want to advertise all over the state of Florida," Abbott said. "We want to have as qualified a candidate as possible to interview." He noted some nearby counties have been undergoing county manager searches as well.

"I hate to say it, but the only way we are going to bring this county into the 21st century is to hire someone from the outside," Pate said.

Brock said the board should take time to consider the situation and not rush into anything.

Chairman Bush asked interim HR Director Davis if he would be interested in applying for the county administrator position, and Davis said he would. Bush asked if the county attorney could oversee the creation of the job description for the county administrator, so Davis would not have to write the description for a position for which he would be applying.

Brock said Corbin had the most experience of any employee with the county and would be a good choice for a go-between for the employees and the board.

Corbin told the board he would not accept an interim county manager position but would be happy to serve as a contact person to fill in until a county administrator can be hired.

Gothard asked Corbin why he didn't want to serve as an interim county administrator. "What part of the county administrator duties are you uncomfortable with?"

"I didn't think it was going that way. I thought I was going to be a point of contact," Corbin said.

"Would you be comfortable with the duties of county administrator?" Gothard asked.

"David's abilities go way beyond being a county administrator," Abbott said to Gothard. "I can't believe the pressure you are putting this man under. In fact, maybe I shouldn't say this, but you have applied so much pressure to him that he has filed a complaint against you."

"More important than the title is that you tell this person what it is you expect him to do," Goodman said. "He needs to have clear direction from the board in what his duties will be."

The board voted 4-1 to appoint Corbin as the point of contact person, with Abbott voting against.

The board requested a county administrator job description be prepared in time for the May workshop, and Bush asked the board to decide at the next meeting how Corbin would be compensated for his additional duties. The compensation can be made retroactive to April 30.

Gothard's husband, Washington County Fire Chief Al Gothard, has many professional contacts, and he would be able to spread the word that the county was looking for a public safety director. "He knows several qualified professionals, and he could pass on the information to them," Gothard said.

The job description and advertisement of the job opening already had been published, Gothard said. "We were wanting to get as broad a selection of candidates as possible. There was nothing underhanded about the email."

Gothard said at the meeting on Thursday she "in no way got involved in the hiring process during the search for a public safety director."

However, according to a March 22 letter written by Emergency Management employee Connie Welch to Lynne Abel, emergency management coordinator, Gothard had plans to create a public safety director position, and she had a person in mind to hire for that job.

"Soon after the election, Washington County Fire Chief Gothard was in my office and advised me of his and his wife's plan for a public safety division director, and he and his wife had the perfect person for the position in mind," Welch wrote.

According to a March 27 letter to the board from Grant Coordinator Stacy Webb, Gothard had approached Carol Park and Webb on March 12 wanting to see the applications for the public safety position.

"She was very demanding and came across as being forceful," Webb wrote. "Carol and I looked at each other for a couple of seconds, and after a brief hesitation, we reluctantly acknowledged her request, and Carol escorted her into her office where the applications were kept in a safe, and I proceeded to my office."

According to the county attorney, applications for county jobs are public records and, minus social security numbers and health-related information, they are open to public inspection.

Also at Thursday's meeting, the commissioners voted to rescind an earlier vote and move the Emergency Medical Services department out from under the purview of the public safety director.

At the Jan. 24 board meeting, Commissioner Gothard made the motion to move the Emergency Medical Services back under the public safety director's control per the county's Proposed Progressive Governmental Structure chart, approved in 2008. After discussion, the commissioners voted at the January meeting to make the move, with Commissioner Joel Pate voting against the change.

On the organizational chart, in 2008 the EMS is listed under the Public Safety director, but in 2009, the chart was revised, and EMS was moved out to be a department on its own.

The public safety director's job description for the director's position was to revert back to the old description, and the job was to be re-advertised per the commissioners' decision, the board decided on Thursday.

"Unfortunately, across America, many of these bedrock communities are fading away because they can't match the access to infrastructure and services that larger cities provide," Southerland said. "Our legislation will make it easier for rural communities to thrive by providing the technical assistance and project planning they need to strengthen public safety, public health, and public access to upgraded services — all at no additional cost to taxpayers."

Pierce said funding issues have halted a project to run a force main sewer line from Altha, a small town to the northwest, to the Blountstown wastewater treatment plant. Currently, all of Altha's buildings run off of septic tanks.

"Without real community sewer lines, they are severely limited in Altha and along that entire corridor toward Blountstown," Pierce said.

He said the Calhoun County School District is exploring options for a new high school in Altha, but the current infrastructure cannot support a structure that size.

Overall, Pierce said he would support any bill that could help rural areas like Blountstown.

"We have the normal aging infrastructure that all cities big and small have, and we are searching for funding to help with our internally generated funds," said Pierce, who noted the city cannot raise utility rates for fear of losing customers. "All people and businesses here are strapped. If we raise rates, I would estimate we would lose several customers, and the community just can't stand that."

Southerland's bill was referred to the U.S. House Committee on Agriculture for further consideration.

Legislature passes bill seeking to loosen liquor laws

By MATTHEW BEATON
522-5114 | @matthewbeaton
mbeaton@pcnh.com

BONIFAY — Liquor laws could get looser in several rural Panhandle counties.

The Florida Legislature passed a bill last week (HB 347) that could help all restaurants sell liquor, wine and beer in counties where that is not currently allowed, including Calhoun, Holmes, Jackson, Liberty and Washington counties.

The bill would affect sales of “by the drink” alcohol, which are beverages consumed where they’re purchased, such as restaurants and bars.

But, even if the bill is signed by the governor, which appears likely — it cleared the House 111-4 and the Senate 36-0 — it doesn’t automatically legalize “by the drink” sales throughout the counties.

The measure would fall back into the hands of local voters, who would have an easier time getting it on the ballot.

Calhoun, Holmes, Jackson, Liberty and Washington currently do not sell liquor by the drink.

State Rep. Marti Coley, a Marianna Republican, said twice in recent years there has been an effort to get the issue on the ballot, but it failed.

The Legislature’s response was to water down the process. Under current state law, to get an initial election on the sale of alcohol in a county, an application must be presented to the county commission with 25 percent of registered voters’ signatures.

If that initial election allows alcohol to be sold only in package stores, then the county residents must again round up 25 percent of voters’ signatures to put it back on the ballot for “by the drink” sales in restaurants. That’s the issue in Jackson County.

The recently passed bill would require only one-tenth of voters’ signatures, or a majority vote by the county commission.

That would put the issue on the ballot to legalize “by the drink” sales of beer, wine and liquor containing more than 6.243 percent alcohol by volume.

Present situation
Jackson County Commissioner Willie Spires said about five of the 11 municipalities allow restaurants to serve beer. He said some businesses just outside the city limits feel it’s unfair because their competition can serve alcohol while they can’t.

“People are optimistic that now they can get it on the ballot and get it passed,” he said.

Spires can be counted among those who wouldn’t mind seeing alcohol served in restaurants throughout the county.

“I see it as a good thing,” he said. “I think living in a small rural area such as Jackson County that we miss out on a lot of tax [revenue] that could be generated; a lot of people in our area go to Panama City or Dothan (Ala.) or Tallahassee.”

Spires said allowing alcohol to be served in restaurants countywide could translate into economic development, ushering more restaurants like Red Lobster or Applebee’s.

Spires said he thought Jackson County residents would like to see the law changed, too. The county has 28,773 registered voters and would need 2,878 signatures to get the measure on the ballot.

Calhoun County has 8,276 registered voters and would need 827 signatures to get the measure on the ballot.

Holmes County has 11,375 registered voters and would need 1,138 signatures.

Liberty County has 4,403 registered voters and would need 441 signatures.

Washington County has 14,665 voters so would need 1,467 signatures.

Or the county commissions, through a majority vote, could put the measure in the voters’ hands.

Legislative process
Coley said she wasn’t necessarily opposed to the policy, but she voted against it because it was tacked onto the bill late in the process as an amendment.

“The substance of the amendment was never heard in committee and only affects three counties,” she said in a statement. “Since it was added on the House floor, there was not time to contact the communities that will be impacted.”

Coley said the legislation should have been a stand-alone bill, so it would have had adequate time to be debated and those impacted could offer input.

She concluded, “However, in the end, the citizens still have the final decision.”

Coley was able to round up two of her Panhandle colleagues — state Reps. Halsey Beshears, R-Monticello, and Jimmy Patronis, R-Panama City — to vote against the bill, which passed by a landslide. State Rep. Charles Van Zant, R-Keystone Heights, also voted against it.

Patronis took the same view as Coley.

“Hey, I like live and let live, and I think all that’s fine,” he said of liquor laws, “but there’s a process in place and those people in Jackson County, if they wanted it, they would have asked their legislator to file a bill and go through the normal vetting process.”

Patronis is co-owner of Capt. Anderson’s, which serves beer, wine and mixed drinks. His problem with the amendment was that it was filed on the House floor 24 hours before it was voted on.

Rep. Ronald “Doc” Renuart, R-Ponte Vedra Beach, who sponsored the bill, also filed the amendment.

“A lot of people didn’t know about it,” Patronis said.

VHS Class of 1944 celebrates graduation shrouded in war

The 1944 Vernon High School graduating class held its scheduled reunion at Bailey's Surf and Turf Restaurant in Chipley on Saturday evening, April 20. We were celebrating 69 years since our graduation on Thursday, April 20, 1944.

PERRY'S PRATTLE
Perry Wells

He continued: "Our telephone was an extension from the old Parrish General Store, and one of the very few phones in the town." He remembers this as strictly a volunteer service, and never recalls any real significance coming from the efforts,

Our high school years were shrouded with the reality of war. History was made when principal, Mr. Mercer Cox, arranged for the largest radio he could locate in Vernon to be brought into the auditorium for the entire student body to hear an important announcement. It was on Monday, December 8, 1941, the day following the attack by the Japanese on Pearl Harbor. The whole assembly heard President Franklin D. Roosevelt, officially declare war on Japan, and later Germany.

The atmosphere of war affected the lives of every one, with Vernon being no exception. Dozens of young men in the school, who were approaching draft age, chose to enlist in the military service thus being able to choose their branch of service.

Some select students remember being called on to perform a duty, possibility under the umbrella of Civil Air Patrol. Student observers positioned themselves in the old courthouse in Vernon for the purpose of looking for any aircraft flying in the area, and report all sightings.

My brother, Jim, vividly recalls performing that service as does Frederick Kolmetz and Odell Ward. Jim reports: "We were on the ground floor of the almost abandoned old courthouse in a small room with windows which allowed us to look for the flying activity."

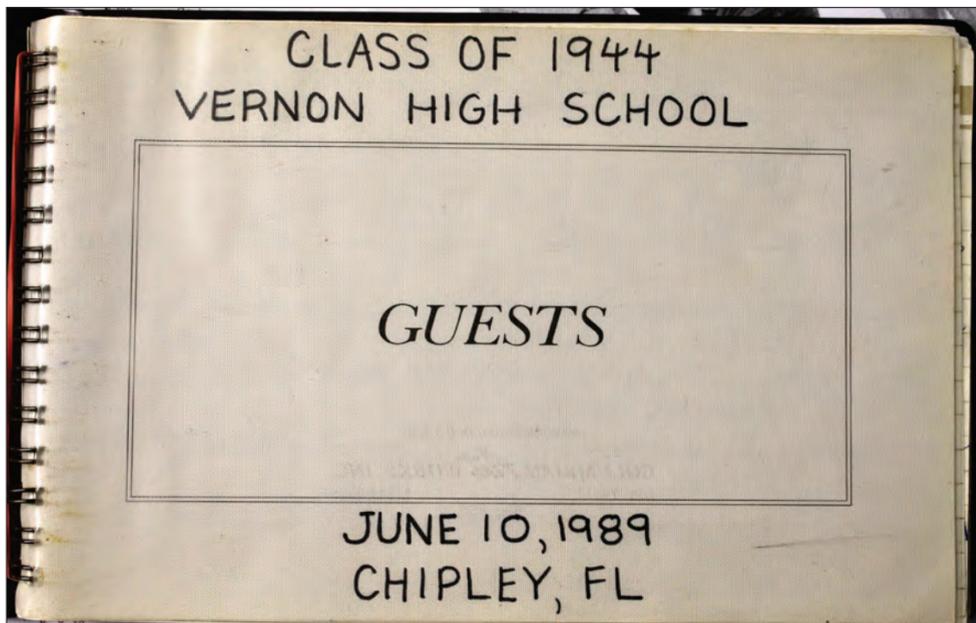

such as spotting an enemy, or unauthorized airplane.

Brothers, Carl and Oakley Hightower, members of the '44 class left school prior to graduation to join the military. Carl entered the Army Air Corps and Oakley joined the U. S. Army. A third classmate, Allee Whidden, chose the U. S. Marine Corps. Classmates, William T. McFatter, Jr. and Thomas H. Knight, spent their senior year of high school in a Military Academy, with Bill entering the Army and Thomas choosing the Navy.

After graduations, 1944 Vernon High School Class found their way into the military to fulfill their patriotic duty. Veston Newsom and Frederick Kolmetz chose the Navy. Archie L. Cook, Hurdis A. Brock and Perry E. Wells became soldiers in the Army.

Bill McFatter suffered combat wounds to the legs while serving in the European Theater of the war. Archie Cook was captured by the Germans and spent time as a POW.

Our first class reunion was in 1964 — 20 years after finishing school. Mr. Jack Perkins, a retired military Mess Sergeant, was the lunchroom manager at Vernon High School at the time. He agreed to open the school lunchroom, prepare the meal, serve us and provide all the clean up with the total cost assessed at $1.25 per person! I hope we gave him a generous tip.

PHOTOS SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

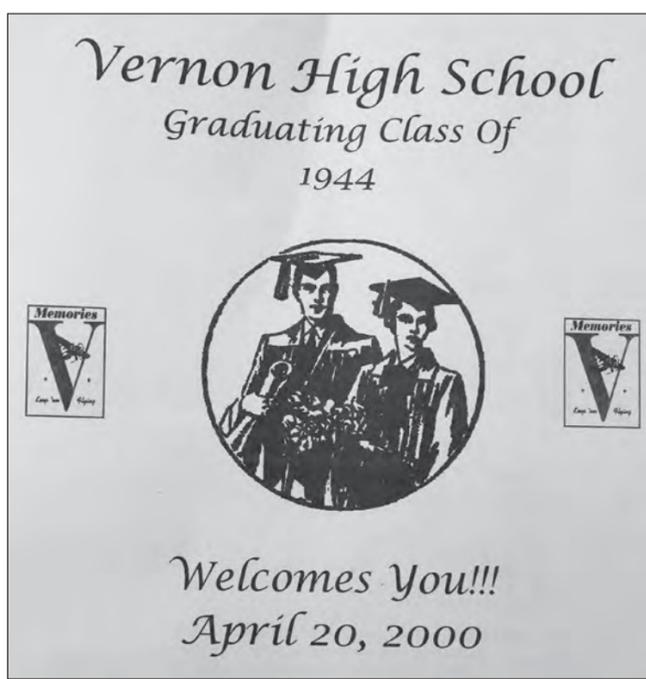

This shows our one and only Guest Register. Maybe it will ultimately end up in the Vernon Historical Museum as a piece of Vernon History.

The second reunion in 1989, was held at the Chipley Motel Restaurant, then the top eatery in town. We also met there in the years, 1992, 1994 and 1997.

The year 2000 was the mammoth one, held at the Northwest Florida Campground and Music Park. VHS Graduating classes from 1940-41 through 1950-51 were included.

Music was provided by Doyle Lawson and Quicksilver, as Doyle was born on April 20, 1944. Others performing were Sand Hills City Limits, headed by W. T. Miller and son, Jimmy Miller and Sheriff Buddy Smith, and

Doolittle Raiders: Preserving the Legacy

Being able to see the Doolittle Raiders at their last reunion caused me to research the World War II event that changed the course of the war with Japan and reminds us of the spirit that carried so many of our military men through that historical time.

In my article last week I said that the 3 surviving Raiders were at their final reunion. According to an associated press release from Eglin Air Force Base, there is one additional surviving member of the original 80 men, Robert Hite, 93, who was unable to make the trip. Staff Sgt. David Thatcher, 91, Lt. Col Edward Saylor, 97, and Lt. Col. Richard Cole, 97, made several public appearances.

I also want to correct a glaring error from last week's article. John McCain was the prisoner of war incarcerated with Bud Day.

Cole actually flew a B-25 that he flew in the 1942 raid over Japan during their appearance at Destin Airport. Larry Kelly who grew up in Enterprise and is the first cousin of local resident Mrs. Jake Jacobs (Alice), owns the vintage plane. A member of the Raiders Foundation, Kelly took Cole up for a spin. The 97 year old waved to the crowd on take-off and then took the controls, flying the plane and landing it perfectly. Larry Kelly who is a WWII and aviation enthusiast owns an air museum in Georgetown, Delaware (ragwingsandradsials.com). A retired pharmacist and pharmaceutical consultant, he participates in air shows and WWII historical events, often accompanying the Raiders.

Because of several movies, many who are too young to remember the secret mission that boosted American morale four months after the "day that will go down in infamy" have an idea of the events that occurred. Sixteen B-25 planes were launched for the first time from an aircraft carrier to carry out a surprise raid on the Japanese mainland. Most of the B25's crews came down in China and 69 eventually made their way to safety with help from the Chinese.

Everyone can make a difference

Dear Editor,
This year's Earth Day served as an outstanding reminder that everyone can make an important difference for the environment through the simple act of donating gently used clothing or household items to Goodwill.

Each year, donors help Goodwill prevent more than two billion pounds of usable goods from ending up in landfills. But the impact to the environment is only part of the story. Revenue raised from the sale of donated items at Goodwill stores funds job training programs, employment placement services and other vital programs in the community. People, as well as the planet, benefit.

To show individuals how their donations truly impact their communities, Goodwill developed a Donation Impact Calculator (<http://donate.goodwill.org>). The calculator shows how your donation can help a person receiving services from Goodwill. For example, a donation of one working computer translates into 5.8 hours of a job search class that can help a person right in our community who may be unemployed and struggling to support his or her family.

Goodwill encourages everyone to making one small green change in your life. Individual actions add up to global impact. Not only will you be helping those in your community who face challenges in finding employment, but you will also reduce waste in our landfills.

To find your nearest Goodwill donation site, go to www.goodwillbigbend.com.

Letters to the EDITOR

United We Stand

Dear Editor,
Americans are united today in condemning terrorism and in the conviction that those responsible for the terrorist attacks in Boston must face justice. This cowardly attack resulted in the murders of an 8-year-old boy and two women, and the wounding of many others. As God tells us in the Quran, "if you murder one person, it as if you murdered all of humanity."

While we are outraged at the terrorists, we have been inspired by the unity of Americans of all backgrounds. We are a resilient people. Now that we know the identity of the perpetrators, this unity is ever more important.

We will show the terrorists that their plan to sow division and distrust has failed. People of goodwill are not afraid. America will stay united. American Muslims thank law enforcement for their diligent efforts to protect all our nation's citizens. We send our sincere condolences to the loved ones of the MIT police officer killed overnight and our prayers are with the law enforcement official who was wounded.

We reiterate the American Muslim community's consistent condemnation of terrorism in all its forms.

Sincerely,

Bonifay man arrested on charges of possession of listed chemicals

From Staff Reports

BONIFAY — A Holmes County Sheriff's deputy arrested a Bonifay man on charges of possessing chemicals needed to make meth after being stopped for a tag violation on April 18, according to a sheriff's office news release.

Arrested was Jerry Hiram Johnson, 43, of Bonifay, on charges of (or in connection with charges of) possession of listed chemicals used in the manufacturing of methamphetamine (pseudoephedrine) and attaching a tag not assigned, according to the release.

A Holmes County deputy stopped Johnson's vehicle in the Pittman community for a tag violation.

During a search of Johnson's person, the deputy found a box of pseudoephedrine hidden in Johnson boot, according to the release.

Authorities say Johnson said he bought the pseudoephedrine to use for making methamphetamines.

Johnson remains in the Holmes County Jail on a $10,000 bond.

his musical group from Blountstown.

The 1944 class has met annually, and at a variety of places since 2000. In 2002, our meeting place was the Wells homestead, with food catered by Angie Morris and daughter Jill.

Only three class members, Frances Shores Fussell, Fredrick Kolmetz and Perry E. Wells, attended this year's event. Two of Hurdis Brock's son, Steve and Stan, along with wife, Kay, came. His two brothers, Drexel, along with son, Doug, and Bill, accompanied by wife, Betty, and their son, Gordon, added to the numbers.

Frances Fussell, husband, Julius,, grandson, Clint, daughter Mary, and her husband, Terry Triggers, and their three year old grand daughter, Zoe attended. James Earl Guy and wife, Naomi, came again this year although his mother, Myrtle Haddock Guy, was unable to come.

Nadine Kolmetz accompanied her husband, and Hester was with me, along with two of our sons, Gordon and Tim and wife, Debbie.

Emma Lou Chesser Tew and Thomas H. Knight had to cancel when medical issues thwarted their plans just days before the event.

Indirectly, word was received that Estelle Hewett Scott, Bessie Lee Milton Davenport and Carl Hightower would be unable to attend.

Louvern Chestnut Mizell called from Virginia, reported her inability to attend. Bill McFatter wrote a letter, stating he could not be with us and expressed doubt that his sister, and our classmate, Carol McFatter Hudson, would be able to come.

Myrtle Morris Wolfe wrote a note stating she could not attend this year. Trudell Brock Worthington held high hopes of being at the event, but obviously did not feel up to the task.

The group comprising the Vernon High School class of 1944 recognizes that we may have set a record of keeping in touch following graduation 69 years ago. We also recognize the time has come when attendance is becoming difficult for some, and impossible for others.

We will probably look closely at all circumstances prior to planning further reunions.

See you all next week.

Hite, Lt. George Barr, and Cpls Harold A. Spatz, and Jacob DeShzer. Halmark, DeShazer and Spatz were executed by firing squad. Meder was left in solitary confinement where he died. The remaining four men eventually began to receive better treatment and were given a copy of the Bible and a few books that helped them to be able to survive until they were freed by American troops in 1945.

Of those who survived, most went on to other bombing missions in both the Pacific and European theaters. All Raiders received the Flying Cross. Those killed or wounded received the Purple Heart. All received decoration from the Chinese Government. Although Doolittle himself feared that he might be court marshaled because of the loss of the planes, he received the Presidential Medal of Honor.

Even though the raid did insignificant damage to mainland Japan, it gave our country a great morale boost following Pearl Harbor and Japan's dominance there. It also caused the Japanese to focus on protecting their own Island nation and helped to bring American victory in the defense of Midway Islands. Though the Japanese suffered light casualties in the Tokyo raid, they extracted a heavy toll on the Chinese who aided the Americans. 250,000 were slaughtered as a result.

Speaking about the crew's attitude concerning the attack, Cole, Doolittle's co-pilot said, "We were pretty upbeat about what was going to happen. We just did what we had to do." This is typical of the veterans of that war. Most of them were young and had the attitude that we have a job to do, let's get it done. They kept their faith and their sense of humor. Lt. Col Saylor joked with young airmen in the audience concerning his reaction about the bombing, "...it was too far to swim back home so we might as well go ahead with it." We need to continue to tell their story and celebrate their bravery as we keep their legacy alive.

Hooked on Outdoors

I've plowed this ground before, but I'm going to dig in and plow it again which is the temperature of the Gulf along the beaches, or better yet where the readings originate. What the temperature is 10 miles offshore is of no concern to pompano and ling fishermen. No one can tell me with any accuracy just where these Gulf temperatures are coming from.

It is possible to pull up a buoy offshore on your computer and get a reading, or you can

Outdoor Life

Scott Lindsey
captainlindsey@ knology.net

listen to the news and get another, but to get one that is important to fishermen a mile offshore is impossible to verify. The only way I can come up with a temperature that is close to accurate is to ask a fisherman with a temperature gauge on his boat.

The last time I tracked down where the Gulf temperature was being recorded here turned out to be at the city marina. The water temperature at the city marina is 5 degrees warmer than the Gulf. People do not fish for pompano or ling at the city marina. Last week one station was reporting 70 degrees in the Gulf and who knows where that came from. A friend fishing the same day told me his bottom machine was reporting 65 degrees in 20 feet of water. That was more realistic than a reading from who knows where of 70 degrees.

Sixty-five degrees is a long way from 70. The boats in Destin were reporting temperatures in the 70s and they were catching ling. That was not the case here. Eight or 10, or even 10-20 ling being caught here in a week is not a lot of ling when some years back we were catching that many a day.

For some reason we just aren't getting the warm water we have in the past. The Mexico Beach Ling Ding tournament up until this weekend had three ling brought to the dock. Organizers want this tournament to rival the event it was 15 years ago, but nature has dealt them a bad hand. Who knows, a thermal of warm water may swing their way. I hope so.

Pompano are showing up little by little. Cussing Cousin, my eyes and ears fishing from one of our piers, tells me he is seeing some schools of pompano passing by the pier where he is fishing heading west to points unknown. But not enough to write home about.

Some fishermen are catching pompano from their boats, some tipping jigs with sand fleas and some not. I have bombed out in two days fishing, but in my defense the wind was blowing a hurricane both days.

I suppose talking temperatures this late in the game is a moot conversation. In about three weeks the majority of the ling will have passed on west, so it won't make much difference.

SHARK CHALLENGE

Great whites rare but a few show up here every winter

By FRANK SARGEANT
franksargeant@charter.net

White sharks are rare creatures pretty much anywhere in the world's oceans these days, but they're particularly unusual in the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico. About the only white shark seen in the Panhandle is a plastic replica hanging upside down outside a restaurant.

In fact, Captain Sam Maisano and his son, Captain Joe Maisano, who run Go Fast Charters out of Treasure Island near St. Petersburg, never had seen one in a lifetime of fishing these waters up to 125 miles offshore — or roughly due south of Apalach.

Until March 15. Then they saw — and hooked — a shark that went way beyond any of their wildest imaginings.

"We were fishing some wrecks in about 90 feet of water 30 miles west of Johns Pass," Maisano said. "We were on a good bite, pulling up a lot of big gag grouper, some amberjacks, and we had caught and released several Goliath groupers over 300 pounds, so there was a lot of underwater 'noise' going on, and I'd guess that's what attracted the shark."

Maisano said he saw a fin come up about 100 yards back of the boat and could tell immediately it was a large shark. But he had no idea how large until it came cruising by the boat a few minutes later.

"That shark was every bit of 18 feet long," Maisano said. "I could tell because it was over half as long as our 32-foot Donzi."

He said that not only the incredible length but the girth of the monster shocked him.

"It was just enormous, maybe 4 feet across the head," Maisano said. "I could tell from the body shape, almost stubby like at the tail, that it had to be a great white, and after we saw it a few more times I was certain." He guessed the weight of the beast at between 2,500 and 3,000 pounds. Not to be daunted, the Maisanos and their charter for the day, Fab Marchese of Ancaster, Ontario, decided to take on the giant.

"I filleted a five pound slab of bonito, which is a very bloody fish, and rigged it up on one of the Goliath grouper rods, which are set up to handle really big fish," Maisano said. The line was 150-pound-test Power Pro braid, leading to a length of 200 pound test mono and then to a strand of heavy wire bite leader. The hook was an 18/0. The bait was floated out under a balloon.

"It didn't take right away," Maisano said. "It swam around downtide for about 15 minutes, and then it finally smelled it and we were hooked up."

Fortunately, the 45-year-old Marchese was in good shape because of his occupation, running a construction company in Ontario. He would need to be; for the next four hours and 30 minutes, he sat in the fighting chair at the bow of the Donzi while the Maisano's followed the giant fish. "It would go down to bottom for 30 minutes, and I couldn't move it up, and then it would come up for a few minutes, sometimes come by the boat, and then down for another 30 minutes," Marchese said. "It swam along down at about 70 feet when it was down — Joe told me he could see it on the sonar."

They followed the shark over 4 miles from where they had hooked it, sometimes gaining line, sometimes losing. It never displayed any aggression toward them, Maisano said.

"I've had bull sharks come up and really attack the outriggers when they're hooked, but this shark never did — I don't think it ever really got to the point where it was panicking or mad — I think we were probably a good eight or 10 hours from beating it, if we ever could have."

In any case, after a quick confirmation that great whites are a protected species that can't be boated or possessed, the anglers decided to bring the fish close enough for a leader touch—the universal coup in catch and release fishing — and then to cut it free. They brought the shark close for a few last photos, then snipped the wire and the giant swam off into the depths, leaving Fab Marchese with a fishing tale to end all fishing tales when he gets back home.

Fab and the Maisano's have been fielding media interviews ever since they posted a YouTube video of their epic battle. When I spoke to them Tuesday, they were waiting on the docks for a crew from "Good Morning America" to arrive for taping.

To see the video and learn more about the Maisano's, visit their website www.gofastfishing.com. (There's a good bit of adult language on the video when the shark first comes up at boatside, as you might expect—anybody who can look a shark of that size in the eye at close range and not utter an expletive is much man indeed.)

Are there great whites off the Panhandle?

Scientists say there could be. The species prefers water temperatures in the 60s, which are common in Panhandle waters from December through March. And the large pelagic species like yellowfins, bluefins and swordfish are common in offshore waters here — all are on the menu for great whites.

Where mammal prey is abundant, whites seem to prefer the high energy flesh; seals, whales and porpoises are all part of their diet. Researchers say that white sharks historically might have prowled the Gulf in search of the Caribbean monk seal, which was common here until it went extinct in the 1940s.

However, as far as white sharks ever threatening Panhandle beaches, the odds are slim. Swimmers don't show up on area beaches until water temperatures are already too warm for comfort of carcharodon carcharias, and the gentle shelf in most areas is not conducive to long visits from this species—though as was made notorious through the film "Jaws", they do sometimes prowl near shore in New England waters.

Whites elsewhere in Florida

The East Coast gets more frequent visits from this giant predator. According to Neil Hammerschlag, an assistant professor at the University of Miami's Marine Science department who has studied great whites for over a decade, he gets a call almost every year about a fisherman or boater seeing one.

In 2011, commercial spearfishermen off Deerfield Beach had one take an amberjack off one of their spears as they floated the fish to the surface. They were also commercial sharkers who knew shark species well, and saw the shark come by their boat after the remains of the AJ at a distance of only a few feet — they identified it as a white 14 to 15 feet long — not the look-alike mako. George Burgess, director of shark research at the Florida Museum of Natural History in Gainesville, checked the bites on the remains of the AJ and judged them to likely have come from a white — the mako has teeth more designed for puncturing than shearing.

Great whites, which Burgess said may be following and feeding on whales and their calves during winter migrations into Florida, do occasionally get caught here. Notable catches include a 16-footer estimated at more than 1,000 pounds, caught off Key Largo in 1997 and a 2,300-pounder caught off Key West in 1956. A white shark estimated at 2,000 pounds was caught, tagged and released by a conservation research group off Jacksonville early this month.

White shark life history

Like many sharks, whites are born alive rather than hatching from eggs dropped by the mother, and reportedly one embryo often eats the others while still inside the womb, definitely not helping this endangered species in the survival department. They take about 15 years to reach sexual maturity; they remain "juveniles" until they're 12 to 14 feet long.

Lifespan is thought to be about 30 years, maximum size up to 7,000 pounds and over 20 feet long. They have been protected by international treaty from harvest since 2004 under the CITES agreement which prohibits trade in endangered species.

Biologists say white sharks do not "hunt" humans, but they take pretty much any large prey that presents itself, so swimming where they're fairly common — as along some parts of the California coast as well as southern Australia beaches — can be somewhat risky. Here on the sugar sand of the Panhandle, not so much. Bull sharks are of course another matter, for another story.

GC's McLemore, Sanders earn top softball honors

By BRAD MILNER

747-5065 | @PCNHBradMilner
bmilner@pcnh.com

To the victor goes the spoils. And talent helps, too.

The Gulf Coast softball team secured its first Panhandle Conference softball title since 2006 this season and the success was noted on the league's year-end teams released this week.

Ollivia McLemore earned the conference's best pitcher honor, Emily Sanders is the player of the year and Susan Painter was named the top coach.

Five Lady Commodores earned first-team nods and four were on the second team. No GC player was named honorable mention.

"It's a tough conference and we had our share of talented players to compete against the other teams," Painter said. "Any time you can get recognition for your players it's a positive for the program."

Second-place Chipola had six first-teamers and three players on each of the second- and honorable-mention teams.

Third-place Northwest Florida State had 10 players on the three teams, including four first-teamers.

Fifth-place Pensacola had 11 players recognized and fourth-place Tallahassee only four, with two on the second team.

McLemore and Sanders joined infielder Amanda Grimaldo, at-large utility player

Anna Martin and pitcher Paige Caraway on the first team. Outfielders Katie White and Sian Colee, third baseman Brittany Wylie and catcher Mackenzie Arlt were second-teamers.

Sanders, an Indian River transfer, surpassed the other four first-team outfielders in nearly every statistical category. She led all infielders in batting average (.432), hits (83), doubles (16), home runs (14) and RBIs (44) and was second only to Grimaldo in runs (46).

Sanders anchored second base and filled in at shortstop for Grimaldo, who missed a few games with a finger injury.

McLemore established herself as one of the conference's top pitchers as a freshman with 21 wins and 165 strikeouts.

She improved on those numbers this season with a 26-10 record and 219 strikeouts in 218 1/3 innings pitched while also lowering her ERA to 1.38 after posting a 1.74 mark in 2012.

She rebounded from a rough start in conference play, giving up 10 runs in 5 2/3 innings of two appearances against NWF State.

She started 1-2 in Panhandle outings, but she won five in a row, including earning the victorious decision in both games of doubleheaders against Tallahassee and NWF State to help the Lady Commodores build a first-place lead they wouldn't relinquish.

Caraway provided a complement to McLemore and grew stronger as the season progressed. She had 103 strikeouts to only 14 walks in 93 innings while posting a 9-3 record.

Chipola's Eva Voortman and Sneads product Karissa Childs rounded out the first-team pitchers. Voortman was 17-2 and finished 6-1 in conference starts and Childs was 10-6.

Chipola's Hayley Parker, Kristen Allen, Stephanie Garrells and Mya Anderson also made the first team.

GC and Chipola will compete in the NJCAA Gulf District/FCSAA state tournament in Pensacola May 3-5. The winner of the Gulf District earns a berth in the national tournament.

"We're excited about the awards," Painter said. "But we have to get back to work."

The 2013 All-Panhandle Conference softball lists:

First team

Infielders: Emily Sanders, GC; Jaime Phillips, NWF State; Hayley Parker, Chipola; Brenda Santana, TCC; Amanda Grimaldo, GC

Outfielders: Leticia Matsuoka, NWF State; Ashley Heath-Smith, TCC; Kristen Allen, Chipola; Jenna Firestein, NWF State

Catchers: Stephanie Garrells, Chipola; Hannah Day, NWF State

At-large: Mya Anderson, Chipola; Anna Martin, GC

Pitchers: Ollivia McLemore, GC; Eva Voortman, Chipola; Paige Caraway, GC; Karissa Childs, Chipola

Pitcher of the Year: Ollivia McLemore
Player of the Year: Emily Sanders
Coach of the Year: Susan Painter, GC

Second team

Infielders: Shawna Montgomery, PSC; Michelle Phelps, NWF State; Jasmine Tanksley, Chipola; Brittany Wylie, GC; Katie Harrison, Chipola

Outfielders: Katie White, GC; Chandler Seay, Chipola; Brook Richardson, Pensacola; Sian Colee, GC

Catchers: Mackenzie Arlt, GC; Dee Rodriguez, PSC

At-large: Lena Land, NWF State; Becca Calloway, PSC

Pitchers: Haley Goodson, NWF State; Jessica Colliver, NWF State; Maude McCourry, NWF State; Greta Longagnani, PSC

Atomics taking their turn at bat

Even though it was 30 years in the making, the district title won by the softball team at Poplar Springs was a logical progression of sorts.

That might be the only thing approaching logic that ensues.

The Atomics, who are endeared to this corner by their nickname alone, bounced Milton Central 11-1 last week for the District 1-1A championship. It was the first district title won by the school, which has an address in Graceville but is located across the Jackson County line, since the 1983 girls basketball team.

That ain't exactly the Curse of the Bambino, but clearly the nuclear age has seemed to bypass this sparsely populated northeast section of Holmes County within a ground-rule double of the Alabama border.

Perhaps the biggest upset of all is that Graceville, with 2,402 residents according to a recent population survey, has two public high schools located 5 miles apart using it as a mailing address. Or that a school such as Poplar Springs that offers only four sports at the varsity level — boys and girls basketball, softball and baseball — and boasts 85 students in grades 9-

SPORTS BEAT
Pat McCann
pmccann@pcnh.com

12 still is alive in the regional playoffs.

But that doesn't define this group of athletes coached by Brad Hall, who have been building toward this moment — last night's region semifinal game against visiting Chipley — during the past three seasons. (Note: the game was played after press time Tuesday — visit chipleypaper.com or bonifaynow.com to see the results).

Poplar Springs was 9-1 in the district three years ago, Hall said, but lost in extra innings to Laurel Hill in the tournament semifinals. Last year was 8-2, and again the Atomics were denied by Laurel Hill, this time 1-0 in the championship game.

They have compiled a 19-2 record thus far, one of the losses by one run to Chipley, behind freshmen pitchers Ashlyn Golden and Paige Smith. There only is one senior on the roster, so clearly this program appears poised to add a new page to the school's athletic history book, which at this point is more of a pamphlet.

Poplar Springs won back-to-back state Class C titles in boys basketball under Herman Dodson in 1966 and 1967. Forgive the current enrollment of the school, totaling 330 students grades K-12, for not having that pedigree engrained into memory. Suffice to say that for a group of teenagers 30 years between district titles is a very long dearth of success, twice a lifetime for some of these players.

Junior catcher Savannah Ryken clearly is one of the team leaders, as is sophomore second baseman Joley Dixon. The difference between these athletes and those in higher classifications is that many of Hall's players have been on the varsity since their seventh-, eighth- and ninth-grade years.

Not surprisingly, what they've already accomplished has created quite a buzz in the community. Hall said that the paid gate for the district championship was 212 spectators, and speculated that might double on Tuesday with Chipley located about 18 miles away.

Bay County would have a difficult time matching that. But then again, nothing about this Poplar Springs team is easily replicated.

Hall said that some members of the community are getting a banner made to commemorate what has thus far been achieved. It is a fitting tribute. And quite possibly, the start of something altogether even more lasting.

Ram's defense, pitching knocks out Gulf Breeze

By JASON SHOOT

jshoot@pcnh.com

PANAMA CITY BEACH — Rutherford needed production from its bats to seize the lead away from Gulf Breeze on Thursday night.

It was the Rams' defense and some courageous pitching that helped them put their opponent away.

Nick Nelson was 2 for 4 with a home run and three runs batted in, Cody Roby overcame a rocky start on the mound, and the Rams collected an 8-5 win in the District 1-5A tournament championship game at the Mike Gavlak Sports Complex.

Rutherford (19-7) will host either Wakulla or Suwannee at the Vera Shamplain Sports Complex next Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Region 1-5A quarterfinals.

Those two teams also played Thursday night, but the result was unavailable before press time.

Rutherford took the lead for good with a five-run third inning. Nelson's two-run homer deep to left field lifted the Rams to a 5-4 lead.

Tyler Chatman and Zach Davis both scored following singles, and Kendall Herron provided the Rams' eighth run on Dondrayas Harris' run-scoring single with two outs.

Andy Creech provided a two-run single as Gulf Breeze scored two runs in the top of the first inning to snatch an early lead.

The Rams answered with three runs in the bottom half of the inning, however.

Dallas Davis hit an RBI single, Nelson added a run-scoring groundout, and Zach Davis drove in a run with a fielder's choice groundball to take a one-run edge.

The Dolphins scored two more runs against Roby in the second to regain the lead at 4-3 and had the Ram hurler reeling. Roby said he went to the bullpen in the third inning to work on his delivery, particularly his curve ball, and that session seemed to settle him down.

"Cody Roby showed more guts tonight to come back after the start he had and continue to pitch with confidence," Rutherford coach Jon Hudson said.

Roby, who allowed only two hits after surrendering seven through the first two innings, posted five of his six strikeouts between the third and fifth innings.

He allowed an unearned run in the fifth, but the Rams' defense provided two monumental plays that helped Rutherford preserve its lead.

Harris saved a run with an inning-ending catch in the sixth, a dive out of a full sprint in center field in which he snared the ball just before it touched the turf.

With Dolphin runners on first and second with two outs in the seventh, Rams third baseman Andrew Mask made a dive to his left to stab the ball and fired across the diamond to retire Mason Baker with the game's final out.

Nelson, a junior who missed his entire sophomore year with a hamstring injury, now has 49 runs batted in through 26 games this season.

To put that number in perspective, if a player were to carry that pace through an entire 162-game Major League Baseball schedule, he would finish the season with 305 RBIs.

Hudson, in his 15th year as head coach at Rutherford, gave a dismissive "no" when asked if he has ever had a player drive in as many runs as Nelson in one season.

"Nick gets a lot of guys on base with Dondrayas Harris, Dondrell Harris and Dallas Baker in front of him," Hudson said.

"He hits the breaking pitch real well. He hits the ball well. He's just a talented hitter."

Connor Crooke was 3 for 3 with an RBI, and Davis Wood added two hits for Gulf Breeze.

The Rams return home next week for the regional quarterfinals, and Hudson said, "I expect it to be a great atmosphere for us. The kids deserve it, and we're looking forward to it."

Prep ROUNDUP

District 2-1A

Holmes County 4, Baker 0

BAKER — Holmes County junior left-hander Ty Russ saved his best for the playoffs. Russ (6-2) pitched his third no-hitter of the season Tuesday night, but this time he was perfect. The Blue Devil struck out 10 of the 21 batters he faced in the seven-inning District 2-1A semifinal. Holmes County's Junior Miles was 1 for 2 with two runs scored, Russ 2-3 with a triple and two RBIs, Kodi Russ 1-3 with an RBI double and Jordan Worthing 1-3 with an RBI double.

District 2-6A

Crestview 3, Mosley 2

CRESTVIEW — Davis Champion went the distance on the mound for Crestview and Mosley couldn't find the big hit against him in the district final. Dakota Dean had a pair of hits and scored a run for the Bulldogs (21-5). Champion earned the win the hard way, scattering 11 Dolphin hits to go along with just four strikeouts. But Champion made the Mosley batters work to reach base as he didn't allow a walk. The Dolphins (24-3), the No. 1 Class 6A team in the state, looked as if they were going to make short work of things with four consecutive one-out hits in the first inning. But Mosley only got one run out of the threat as the inning ended on the first double play. The Bulldogs tied things up in the third inning as Dean tripled and scored on a passed ball. Mosley strung together three more hits good for another run in the bottom of the fourth inning, but another double play snuffed out the threat. Crestview got back-to-back doubles from Tate Sweatt and Roman Donofro to lead off the fifth inning and tie the game up. A two-out single by Corey Armstrong scored Donofro with the game winning run. Mosley had a runner in scoring position in both the sixth and seventh innings, but Champion and the Bulldogs wouldn't be denied as they kept the Dolphins off the scoreboard to claim the win. Larry was 3 for 4, Clay Causey 2 for 3 and Brady Bell 2 for 4, while Joey Hair pitched five innings for the loss. Andrew Deramo finished up for the Dolphins.

Liberty County 4, Bozeman 0

BRISTOL — Bozeman faced Liberty County in the District 4-1A final for the second straight year. And just like in 2012, the Bucks were the victims of a no-hitter. It was Hayden Swier's turn this year, as he had two strikeouts and three walks. Bozeman also had a batter reach on an error. The Bucks (17-9) had baserunners on second and third in the first inning and another on third in the fourth, but were unable to make a dent in the outcome.

Liberty County scored two runs in each of the first and sixth innings, each charged to starter and loser Reed Rudick. He had three strikeouts and gave up five hits. Brandon Suttles pitched to three batters without recording an out and Michael Cullen finished up for Bozeman.

The Bucks will travel to the winner of Sneads-Vernon in the regional semifinal May 7. Bozeman also started on the road last season and advanced to the state semifinals before falling to Holmes County. "We've been on this side of it so hopefully we can draw on our experience," Bozeman coach Jeff Patton said. "We need to find some toughness with the bats, but we'll have a say. We'll do better."

Scott presents Shine Awards

Special to the News

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Rick Scott showed his appreciation for Florida's teachers and applauded their commitment to improving Florida's education system by presenting the Governor's Shine Award to six 2013-14 District Teachers of the Year last week.

"Florida teachers are the hardest working teachers in the world — and our students' results demonstrate their success," said Scott. "Thanks to Florida's great teachers, Florida students are competing and succeeding, both nationally and internationally, and that's why it's so important we reward classroom teachers with a $2,500 pay raise."

The six 2013-14 District Teachers of the Year winners invited to today's meeting come from Escambia, Jefferson, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, Taylor and Walton counties.

"Every day you help Florida's students realize their potential, fulfill their dreams and embark on challenging journeys toward college and successful careers," said Governor Scott to the teachers in attendance. "Florida's strong, effective teachers give students an advantage in today's competitive environment. I am proud to present the Governor's Shine Award to teachers who go above and beyond to make a difference in education."

The participating 2013-14 District Teachers of the Year included:

- Susan Rigby, Escambia County, Pine Forest

GOV. RICK SCOTT

High School: Rigby has been teaching for 13 years and currently teaches ninth-grade mathematics at Pine Forest High School. Rigby attributes her passion for teaching to her student's success in the classroom. "My students see my passion for teaching every day. I believe in them. I care about them. This has changed their attitude about math and learning. They believe in themselves," Rigby said.

• Nicole Roddenberry, Jefferson County, Jefferson Elementary School: "If a child can't learn the way we teach, maybe we should teach the way they learn," is a saying first-grade teacher Roddenberry holds close to her heart. "My teaching style is one that is engaging, interactive and challenging. I implement differentiated instruction so that each student is challenged at their own level," Roddenberry said.

• Heather Erickson-Vaughn, Okaloosa County, Elliott Point Elementary School: Erickson-Vaughn has been teaching for eight years and is currently a kindergarten teacher at Elliot Point Elementary School, where she fosters an environment of love and respect in her classroom. "In my classroom we love and respect each other and we never hold each other back. The encouragement and support that we all have for each other is what inspires my students to want to learn," said Erickson-Vaughn.

- Elizabeth "Ann" Thompson, Santa Rosa

County, West Navarre Intermediate School: "My students and I create a classroom family," said Thompson, who teaches third grade at Navarre Intermediate School. "We respect differences and celebrate the successes of each individual in our family. We learn with each other and most importantly from each other. As my students learn to respect and support one another, they gain respect for themselves," Thompson said.

• Meridith Upshaw, Taylor County, Taylor County Elementary School: Upshaw has been teaching for eight years and currently teaches third grade at Taylor County Elementary School. She brings joy and laughter to her classroom and believes this environment encourages her students. "I feel that through laughter bonds can be built that enables me to reach all learners. We learn to laugh at our mistakes and try again," Upshaw said. "We offer support and encouragement to each other. We truly build a family and unique support system."

• Melissa DiCesare, Walton County, South Walton High School: DiCesare has been teaching for 15 years and is currently teaching AP English language arts to 11th and 12th grade students at South Walton High School. "My students become intrinsically motivated because I consistently project my passion for literature and language each day, each class period," said DiCesare. "Purposeful instruction combined with rigor in a highly efficient, welcoming environment is powerful. Rules and regulations are simultaneously followed because students are on task, motivated and confident, anticipating with zeal what is to come next," said DiCesare.

Each of Florida's 67 school districts selects a Teacher of the Year, who is then considered for statewide recognition. The Florida Teacher of the Year is chosen from more than 180,000 public school teachers throughout the state by a selection committee representing teachers, principals, parents and the business community. Florida's top educator is selected on the basis of the superior ability to teach and communicate knowledge of the subject taught, professional development, philosophy of teaching, and outstanding school and community service. The most important qualification is the teacher's ability to inspire a love of learning in students of all backgrounds and abilities.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS DONATE TO ARC

RANDAL SEYLER | The News

Members of the Knights of Columbus Council 10513 Infant of Prague made a donation of $5,000 to ARC of Washington-Holmes Counties on Monday in Chipley. ARC is the largest national community-based organization advocating for and serving people with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families. Grand Knight Mike DeRuntz said the donation came from the State Council of the Knights of Columbus. The Knights will begin their Tootsie Roll drive on June 1, collecting donations at Wal-Mart. KoC Council 10513 represents the parishes of St. Theresa in Sunny Hills, St. Joseph the Worker in Chipley and Blessed Trinity in Bonifay.

Blackburn ~ Cabaniss

Dr. Melanie Joyce Blackburn and Dr. Wyman William Cabaniss were united in marriage on October 13, 2012, in the Hampstead Town Square near Montgomery, AL. Dr. Dave Rampersad officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Charlotte and Tony Gilmore of Clayhatchee and the late L.W. Blackburn, Jr., of Millbrook, AL. The bride's grandparents are Joyce and Merle Caylor of Chipley, FL and the late L.W. Blackburn, Sr., and the late Thera Blackburn, of Montgomery, AL.

The groom is the son of Lori and Wyman Cabaniss of Montgomery. The groom's grandparents are William Miller and the late Marjorie Miller of Decatur, AL, and the late Edith and Wyman Cabaniss of Tuscaloosa, AL.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a strapless, ivory, A-line dress designed by Reem Acra. The W Brothers presented string music. Mary Sanders directed the ceremony.

Natalie Dauchy was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Carrie Cabaniss, Rachel McGinnis, Nicole Patten, Whitney Thomas and Kimberly Tidwell. Junior attendants were Sophia and Genevieve Timm; the bride's cousins. Meredith Layne Sconyers, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

As mission grows, number of missionaries increases

By CECILIA SPEARS
547-9414 | @WCN_HCT
cspears@chopleypaper.com

BONIFAY — For almost 12 years David Lauen, associate pastor and minister of music of the First Baptist Church of Bonifay, has been leading mission trips to Honduras, but this year will be the biggest trip by far.

"Since 2001, we've been making trips to Honduras, and we've average between six to 30 volunteers. This time we're taking 60," Lauen said. "With a group from Mariana, we've got enough people to be known as the Florida Panhandle Team."

One project they are in the process of completing is building a hospital, which is 10 years in the making.

"When we first got started, it was a 50-foot by 100-foot hospital, then we added another 50-foot by 100-foot wing, and then Samaritan's Purse donated thousands for four state of the art operating rooms, and it just keeps growing," Lauen said. "We've got over 26 surgical teams to donate their time and services. As the facility grows wonderful equipment is donated to fill it."

Last year, they mixed and poured 11 concrete floors for eight houses.

"They were living on dirt floors and every time it rained they would have water running through the house," Lauen said. "Now they can have dry floors."

An ongoing mission is to bring clean water to the resident's homes.

"Their water system is pathetic, like most third-world countries," he said. "We're trying to lay out PVC pipes to put faucets at these houses. Last time, we were able to bring them a 10,000 gallon water tank to help supply clean water."

He said even though it has been quite a bit of hard work, it was worth it.

"It is exciting," Lauen said. "We take a lot for granted in this country and have a lot to be thankful for. This is a life changing trip for some."

Lauen said the group will hold a fundraiser starting at 10:30 a.m. on May 10 on the Cook's Corner at the intersection of Highway 79 and Highway 90, where they will be selling rib-eye steak dinners for $10, which will include green beans, new potatoes, bread and cake. All proceeds will go to purchasing medical supplies for the Honduran hospital.

The group will be leaving for Honduras on June 15. For more information, visit BMDML.org.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF BONIFAY'S 2012 MISSION TEAM

Volunteers mix the concrete for the 11 floors they poured in eight houses. Before the missionaries arrived, the floors in the houses were dirt, and when it rained, it was very muddy.

Florida Panhandle Team volunteers are sorting supplies and bags of items to give to the children of the families that they will minister to with the Water and Feeding Ministry. The team gives out beans and rice to the families in the poorer sections of Guaimaca, Honduras.

On Feb. 28, families from Washington and Holmes counties gathered to learn the importance of healthy father/child relationships presented by Healthy Families of North Florida.

Healthy Families of North Florida sponsored the event that allowed parents the opportunity to complete an activity with their child and hear from guest speaker, Napoleon Cotton on the impact of being an involved father in a child's life.

Healthy Families of North Florida is a volunteer, parent education program that promotes bonding with children, positive discipline techniques, and provides activities that can be completed and made at home to stimulate children's brain development.

"Having activities with Healthy Families has been a wonderful opportunity. Healthy Families and our Family Support Worker have brought our family closer together," said Vince Wilson.

HCHS drama to present 'Happy Days'

Special to the Extra

BONIFAY — Holmes County High School Drama will present the musical "Happy Days, A New Musical" at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 9, Saturday, May 11, Monday, May 13, Tuesday May 14 and Friday May 17 at the high school auditorium.

Goodbye gray skies, hello blue! Happy days are here again with Richie, Potsie, Ralph Malph and the unforgettable "king of cool" Arthur "The Fonz" Fonzarelli. Based on the hit Paramount Pictures television series, Happy Days, A New Musical reintroduces one of America's best-loved families, the Cunninghams — yes, Howard, Marion and Joanie are here too — to a whole new generation of kids and parents.

The famed drive-in malt shop and number one hangout, Arnold's, is in danger of demolition. So the gang teams up to save it with a dance contest and a TV-worthy wrestling match. Even Pinky Tuscadero, Fonzie's childhood sweetheart, returns to help and — lo and behold — they rekindle their old flame.

"Happy Days, A New Musical," with amazing

music from Oscar-winner Paul Williams and a book by the TV series original creator Garry Marshall, "Happy Days" will take you back to the days of 1959 Milwaukee complete with varsity sweaters, hula hoops and jukebox sock-hoppin' fun. This perfectly family friendly musical will have you rockin' and rollin' all week long.

"Happy Days" is presented by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

Tickets are $5 advance and $7 at the door. Tickets go on sale Thursday May 2.

For more information call 547-9000.

Watermelon fest returns

CHIPLEY — The Panhandle Watermelon Festival has played host to legendary musicians for the last five decades, and this season will be no different.

Heading the bill during the Panhandle Watermelon Festival is country music legend and Grammy award winner, Joe Diffie.

Fans can also look forward to country music singer, Andy Griggs whose first three singles were all Top Ten Billboard hits and will kick off Friday night's show. "We work extremely hard to present Watermelon fans with an event geared for the enjoyment of every member of the family," states Chairman Colby Peel, "Panhandle Watermelon Festival is thrilled with the high quality our two day festival represents."

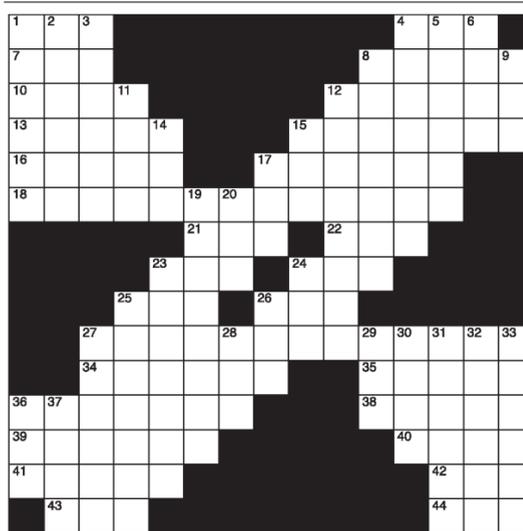

The festival will be held on June 28-29.

In addition to an award winning musical lineup, visitors will enjoy several kid centered activities including a bounce house and slide sponsored by Community South Credit Union and watermelon contests hosted by Northwest Florida Community Hospital.

Come hungry and feast on fare that goes hand in hand with Friday night Watermelon including hamburgers and hotdogs prepared by the Chipley Fire Department.

A family-oriented festival celebrating its 57th season, the Panhandle Watermelon Festival offers free entertainment and activities for all ages and has drawn generations of families to Washington County time and time again.

Why can't we just have fun?

The great pastime of America throughout the years has been sports. Americans have been ingenious in turning something simple into a sport for everyone to enjoy. I must say I have enjoyed my share of sports.

When younger, I was a baseball fan. I went to as many games as possible. The Stadium in Baltimore Maryland was just a few minutes from my house so I could visit it often, and I often did. I did not really care who won the game as long as it was a good game played, not to mention the hotdogs.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage accused me of going to ball games just to eat hotdogs. Whenever I would return from a ballgame the first question would be, not who won the game but, "How many hotdogs did you eat?"

If the truth was known, and you will not get it from me, many a hotdog sacrificed itself at a ballgame. After all, when you are watching a ballgame, who has time to keep track of how many hotdogs you are eating?

I did have a moment of anxiety once when my wife threatened to weigh me before the game and then weigh me after the game to see if I had eaten too many hotdogs. When she first mentioned it I laughed, but I noticed she was not laughing, which caused me some deep concern.

Fortunately, for me it never got to that but came perilously close.

Nothing is more relaxing on a Saturday afternoon than sitting in a ballpark watching a ballgame in progress. Somehow, all the cares of the world seem to flutter away while watching the game.

It all ended for me one summer.

I had come into the house from some chore and my wife greeted me by saying, "Do you know your ball team is on strike?"

I looked at her, laughed and said, "I know. They get three strikes and then they're out. That's the way they play the game." I winked at her and laughed good-naturedly. "Finally," I said to her, "you're coming to understand what the game is all about."

"No, you don't understand. Your team is on strike."

"I get you, and this Saturday I'm going to go and watch them strike again."

It took me a while but finally my wife got through the thickness of my skull and got me to understand the strike she was talking about was not the strike I was talking about. It is always nice when people are on the same page.

In a marriage situation, the biggest challenge a couple has is staying on the same page. Even though the husband and wife might be reading the same book, for some reason wives have the ability to read three or four chapters ahead. When a husband tries to correct her she impatiently says, "We were on that page last week. Try to keep up."

Try as we might, it is a rare husband who can keep up. But we try.

When I got up to the same page as my wife about the baseball team on strike, I was feeling rather low. "What do you think about your baseball game now," she taunted.

As it turned out, the baseball team was actually out on strike and if I remember correctly, we missed the whole season that year. They were on strike for, you will never guess, more money.

Up to that point, I thought the players played because they loved the game. Boy was I on the wrong page with that. I went to games because I love the game and it did not matter to me who won or lost as long as it was a good game.

Now, to find out that my heroes, if you can call them such, were primarily interested in money was disheartening. I have never been able to watch a game since with the same excitement I did before.

Why can't we just have fun? Why does life have to be such a battle? Why can't we have a baseball game just for the fun of it?

Recently, I attended a baseball game at the local high school. I thought I would just go and enjoy the game. I did not know any of the players; I just wanted to enjoy the game.

Then I met an unfamiliar phenomenon of high school baseball. Parents of baseball players!

The game started as normal but soon the air exploded with shouting and yelling in the stands. I did not quite understand what all the noise was about at the time. Two women, imagine that, got in a fistfight over the ballgame! They were mothers of two of the players on opposite teams.

That was just the beginning of the shouting and the yelling that afternoon. As I walked away, I sadly shook my head and said to myself, "Why can't we just have fun?"

I believe the Preacher in the book of Ecclesiastes explains it well. "I have seen all the works that are done under the sun; and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit" (Ecclesiastes 1:14 KJV).

Some are so caught up in the vanity and vexations of life that they never know what it is like to just enjoy life. Why can't we just have a little bit of fun?
