New schools see progress

CHIPLEY — The Washington County School Board heard good reports from companies overseeing elementary school construction in Vernon and Chipley when they met in regular session Monday, May 12.

Jacksonville based Perry-McCall Construction is managing the building replacement project for Vernon Elementary School and reports students should still be able to begin the 2014-2015 academic year in their new building as planned.

"I'm happy to say we're still on schedule, despite all the rain," a company rep told school board members. "We've been working weekends to ensure we stay on track."

The Perry-McCall rep. also stated the brick and block work for the $2.2 million project is complete, and the metal trusses are in place. Plans are in place to rework the nearby storm water pond as soon as school is out for the summer. The new VES building is expected to be finished in July.

Board members also heard from Tallahassee based Clemons Rutherford & Associates (CRA), the firm managing the new Kate M. Smith Elementary School construction project, which reported final touches being made to the school's conceptual drawings.

"We're meeting with the planning session for some final approvals," said a CRA rep. "We've already received their approval for the project; we just need to follow up with them on some final items."

A groundbreaking ceremony is set to take place at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 28, at the construction site, located between South Boulevard and Brickyard Road.

Construction is expected to cost about $33 million and will be funded over a three-year period. The state has agreed to contribute $9.2

CHIPLEY — In today's busy world, taking time to share and learn from our community's elderly residents is sometimes lost in the shuffle. Washington Rehab and Nursing Center is offering an opportunity to both build friendships with senior citizens and provide social contact for those who might not receive much interaction outside the center's walls.

Washington Rehab and Nursing Center kicked off its "Adopt-a-Grandparent" program this month. Director of Marketing Christa Wesley says both young and old alike enjoy participating in each other's lives, and visits from others can help dispel the loneliness that is too often a part of aging.

"It is our goal to match willing volunteers, which includes the old and young, with our elders who long for companionship."

Bonifay woman in court on manslaughter charge

From Staff Reports

BONIFAY — The Holmes County Sheriff's Office reports that Holmes County resident Hazel Denise Peacock made her first appearance in court Thursday on manslaughter charges for stabbing her "live-in boyfriend" Tony Ray Armstrong.

On June 17, 2013, the HCSO received a 911 call from Peacock, who told dispatchers Armstrong had fallen down the front steps of their trailer in the Esto community and landed on his knife, according to the report.

Holmes County deputies, along with Holmes County EMS, responded and found Armstrong in the front yard with a severe knife wound to his chest. He was transported to Flowers Hospital in Dothan, Ala., and underwent emergency surgery but never regained consciousness and died from complications a few days later, according to the police report.

Investigators noted several inconsistencies in Peacock statement and discovered signs of drug use at the residence. The report indicated investigators were later able to locate a 911 call from Armstrong's cell phone that had been routed to the Jackson County Sheriff's Office in which he stated he had been "stabbed in the neck."

Investigators also were able to locate witnesses who indicated Peacock and Armstrong had been arguing that morning, and he was stabbed as a result of the altercation. After a nine-month investigation, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Peacock on charges of manslaughter.

Peacock is currently serving a sentence in the Florida Department of Corrections for neglect of a child, which also stemmed from the incident.

Virga makes bid for Circuit Judge

Staff Reports

Panama City native Gerard Virga has announced his candidacy for the 14th Circuit Judge's race.

GERARD VIRGA

Virga is a graduate of Rutherford High School and attended Gulf Coast State College before transferring to the University of Florida, where he majored in history. He then began a career teaching civic and American history at the Panama City Marine Institute and says that's where he was first inspired to study law.

Virga applied for and was accepted to the Cumberland School of Law and Samford University.

Spangenberg remembered for devotion

Local leader and WWII veteran Ted Spangenberg is said to be the man who reminded the community "there is no comma after 'nation' in the pledge of allegiance".

The local leader and icon, known for his service to his nation, church, community and family, passed away Monday, May 12.

Spangenberg's service to his country began during WWII, where he served first in the Merchant Marines and then in the 71st Infantry and 66th Infantry in the U.S. Army's European Theater of War before receiving an Honorable Discharge. He also received a Purple Heart for his bravery and injuries sustained by shrapnel. The French Government later honored Spangenberg as well, bestowing upon him the French Legion of Honor, the country's highest honor, for his contributions to the liberation of France during that time.

Spangenberg went on to work for the Florida Department of Transportation, from which he retired after more than 30 years as District Maintenance Engineer.

Spangenberg also served First Baptist Church in Chipley as a Deacon and Treasurer; was a Gideon, and often volunteered his services to Habitat for Humanity. He also volunteered his engineering talents to building construction on the Baptist College of Florida campus in Graceville, served with the Florida Baptist Disaster Relief and American Red Cross organizations as a shelter manager, and worked as an engineering consultant for the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Spangenberg will perhaps be best remembered for his service to the Boy Scouts of America, however.

Scout Master Daniel Bradford served with Spangenberg in the scout organization.

"He spent numerous hours molding young men to become tomorrow's leaders through the Boy Scout program," said Bradford. "His work wasn't just here, but in Panama City also and in Pensacola. He had a wealth of information and loved to share it with you if you sat down and asked him questions."

Spangenberg, his son, and all six of his grandsons earned the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest honor from the Boy Scouts of America.

Ted Everett, Executive Director of the Washington County Chamber of Commerce, says Spangenberg will also be remembered for his service to the Chamber, in addition to his county, family and faith.

"There were no airs about Ted Spangenberg," said Everett. "He was an integral part of the Chamber. Not only was he a loyal member, but also a true leader and a true American. He was one of a kind, and there will never be another like him."

for the program. His mother, Jessi Collins, says it's never too early to start teaching children how to make a positive difference in the lives of others.

"This is an exciting opportunity for us, as Maverick is learning to put others before himself," Collins said. "Maverick's adopted grand is Lena Long, and it's been a pleasure watching the two of them interact. When we walk into Washington Rehab and Nursing Center, Maverick lights up. Seeing 'Granny Lena' smile as she shows us around the facility is rewarding and priceless. I'm proud that we can be part of their Adopt a Grand program."

million to the project, with the county funding $4.4 million dollars in capital outlay funds over the course of the three years.

In other school board action:

Mike Park acknowledged appreciation on behalf of the school system for support from the Department of Correction. Park reported more than 2,900 total man hours spent on maintenance to the Chipley and Vernon football stadiums by the Inmate Work Squad. Park said the work provided would have come at a total cost of around $50,000 had the school paid for it to be done. Park also pointed out the projects likely would not have been completed had it not been for the work of DOC.

Board members recognized the Math Teams of Chipley High School and Roulhac Middle School for their outstanding performance at the Chipola College's annual Math Competition and the annual Tri-State Math and Computer Science Olympiad, hosted by Wallace Community College in Dothan, Ala.

Board members heard from Roulhac Middle School's 6th grade Critical Thinking Class about recent efforts to campaign against bullying, as well as a visit to the Washington-Holmes Technical Center to explore career opportunities.

- Approved a food service contract with Chartwell food service company.

- Approved instructional and non-instructional personnel for all schools and transportation staff.

- Approved summer hours

- Accepted the resignations of Michelle Kelly

(Chipley High School), Jose Bautista (Okeechobee Youth Development Center) and Reynaldo Navarro (Human Resources), as well as a leave of absence for Holly Deitrich (Human Resources), Svetlana Eleades (Okeechobee Youth Development Center), Jiranda White (Roulhac Middle School), Laura Grantham (Vernon Elementary School) and Tessera Ward (Vernon Middle School). Retirements were accepted for Judy Dybdal (Transportation), Lilla Brown (Vernon Elementary School), Judy Tison (Vernon High School), and Donna Keith (Vernon High School).

- Approved a contract with Carr, Riggs and Ingram to provide audits of school funds.

The Washington County School Board will meet again in regular session at 5 p.m. Monday, June 16.

CHIPLEY — Staff with the Florida Federation of Families planted a bush, donated by Bush's Paint and Supply in Graceville to commemorate Friday, May 8, as Child Mental Health Awareness Day. The declaration accompanies May's distinction as Mental Health Awareness Month.

Assisting children who have mental health abilities and helping ensure a better quality of life for them and their families is among services provided by FFF and its partners. Staff with Anchorage Children's Home also came out in support of the event.

A kinship meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday, May 29 at the Panhandle Area Education Consortium to help establish a support group for those parenting children who have mental health disabilities or are parenting other people's children.

PAEC is at 752 West Blvd. in Chipley.

According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, National Children's Mental Health Awareness Day is a key strategy of the Caring for Every Child's Mental Health Campaign, which is part of the Public Awareness and Support Strategic Initiative by SAMHSA, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The effort seeks to raise awareness about the importance of children's mental health and that positive mental health is essential to a child's healthy development from birth.

Voter apathy is not without consequence

Monday, May 26, is Memorial Day. Ideally, we will all take a moment to think of sacrifices made by American service men and women to uphold the liberties we enjoy every day.

CAROL KENT
Editor

North Korea, China and Libya are among more than 20 countries under dictatorships. Arguably, the list of those willing to put their lives on the line so the people of those countries may have the right to choose their leaders is considerably shorter than the list of those who have given their lives to protect that freedom for Americans.

That thought begs the question: Why do we neglect our right to vote?

Voter turnout for Vernon's City Election last month was nothing short of apathetic, with only about 10 percent of those eligible to vote in the municipal election casting ballots. Ten percent.

That means 90 percent essentially surrendered a precious right protected by our veterans who showed up for them on the battlefields, sacrificing their personal interests for the greater good of this nation and its people.

True, Vernon, Chipley, Bonifay and our other local communities are small towns. But our right to vote is a liberty we must not take for granted. Sure, we know the arguments for not voting: "What does my vote do, anyway? I don't like either candidate. I already know who's going to win, so why bother? I'm so fed up with politicians that I'm not giving anyone my support."

It's no secret government and politics on all levels have left many of us with a sour taste, but if we don't speak up at the polls, we're taking the power completely out of our hands and placing it in theirs. Lobbyists and special interest groups will certainly show up at the polls whether we do or not.

We shouldn't let the discouragement and disillusionment many of us currently feel toward some leaders prevent us from making our voices heard at the ballot box.

If the powers that be feel we're not paying attention, they're more likely to push their own agendas instead of the desires of the public.

Washington and Holmes counties will see several candidates on the ballot for this year's primary and general elections.

Just as our mothers urged us to eat what was served for supper because "children were starving" in other countries, we should be grateful our plates are full of opportunities after which citizens of other nations hunger.

Don't let our freedom go to waste. Let's get out and vote in every election — no matter the appeal of what we find offered on the plate.

Festival inspired memories of Lew Childre

Last week's article alluded to an upcoming trip to Opp, Alabama on Saturday, May 3, to attend the 8th Annual Lew Childre Memorial Festival.

As planned, Max, Julie and I leisurely traveled to Opp arriving in time for the big show's kick-off promptly at 12 noon in the Lurleen B. Wallace Community College Conference Center. The lobby and the walls of the auditorium were adorned with various Lew Childre memorabilia, including numerous pictures from his appearances on Grand Ole Opry Shows.

Opp, Alabama is the boyhood home of Lew Childre. He was born there as Lewis Everett (Lew) Childre to Judge C. T. Childre and Ada Atwell Childre on November 1, 1901. He had a brother, Winford and a sister, Opal.

In 1923, after completing pre-med studies at the University of Alabama, Lew Childre joined the Milt Tolbert tent show in North Carolina. He entertained by singing songs that were popular at that time. He also honed his talents as a buck dancer and comedian. Lew's first effort on his own was a jazz band called "The Alabama Cotton Pickers". One of his young members was Lawrence Welk, who later became famous as leader of his own band and television show.

About 1925, old time music was becoming quite popular. Lew decided to make a change to this type music. He learned to play the guitar using a steel bar. 1929 and 1930 found him working as a soloist artist on radio stations in San Angelo, Texas and Hot Springs, Arkansas. In the 1930s, Lew teamed up with Wiley Walker and they worked together two years billed as the Alabama Boys and Crazy Water Crystal Boys. They did radio work in Galveston, Amarillo and San Antonio. By 1938, Lew began appearing on XERA radio, a border station, and worked with The Prairie Sweetheart, a female group.

The entertainer formed a partnership with Floyd and Marge Tillman on WWVA, Wheeling, West Virginia during 1939 and 1940. This allowed him to do personal appearances in Pennsylvania and Ohio where he did the emcee chores. In 1943, Lew had a nationwide show on the Blue Network airing Monday through Saturday and he did three daily broadcast over WAGA in Atlanta. Late in 1944, Cowboy Music World was letting people know that Lew had a show that aired over WSM,

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

Lew Childre as shown in the printed program at Opp.

Nashville at 6:00 A.M. Monday through Saturday.

Lew Childre joined WSM's Grand Ole Opry in 1945. He headlined the Warren Paint segment of the show. He was also heard Monday through Friday at 6:30 A.M.

A recording contract with Gannett records allowed him to record such songs as "Fishing Blues", "Hang Out The Front Door Key", "Riding The Elevated Railway", "Alabama Bound", "Nothing But Rain", "My Red Haired Lady" and "When They Baptized Sister Lucy Lee".

Lew married Francis Lee Lanier. In retirement, they built a home in Foley, Alabama and established a fishing tackle business. Lew invented a new lure, which bore his name.

Lew Childre died at age 60 on December 3, 1961 and is buried in Pine Rest Memorial Cemetery in Foley. Lew's son, Lewis, Jr, took over the fishing tackle business after his father's death. He had an air strip built in the rear of his home. Sadly, the son crashed his plane on the property on June 26, 1977 and was killed. He was only 47 years old. Family members continued the business until it was sold.

The event in Opp on May 3 was backed by a house band to include Wayne Martin on fiddle, Jay Newsom on bass guitar and Jimmy Powell on the Steel Guitar. All are well known in this area for their performances at Gilley's Country Opry south of Vernon. Harlan Burton, was the Band Leader and played piano. Jim Hartley played drums and Brian Sterling played guitar.

The Lew Childre Celebration Committee Members are Joe Richburg, Chairman. Event Coordinator is Joe Moulton. Other members are Dr. Chuck Burgess, Emilee Gage, Kyle Gantt, Peggy Linton, Allen Miller and Jim Powell.

Two special guests for the event were Taylor Weeks, a young musician from Opp and Artie Rodriguez, a Walton County Deputy Sheriff, who is making great strides in his advancement in country music. Thanks to my neighbor, Steve Mason, for recording two old LPs of Lew Childre music to CDs, with one each given to these two performers.

Our party heard only performances on the Steel Guitar by Purley Curtis and Joe Wright, who was accompanied by his wife, Connie, on several songs.

Before the final guitarists were presented, the audience welcomed to the stage the featured artist of the day, Stonewall Jackson, of Grand Ole Opry Fame. Before his performance, the Celebration Committee quickly brought forth the 50/50 Tickets sold throughout the day with the explanation that the Sound Technicians would receive half of the proceeds and the lucky ticket holder would receive half. When the ticket was drawn, your writer was shocked beyond belief to have the winning ticket, and hardly before I knew it, was handed a "bundle" of cash. Then with a roaring welcome, Stonewall Jackson came forward for almost a full hour of beautiful singing of many of his award winning songs as well as adding his own levity to the show with his down home stories of his rise to success. Included in his performance was "Don't Be Angry With Me Darling", explaining that he and his brother, Wade Jackson, wrote the song during their tender and exceedingly rough years on their Georgia farm, the place of their upbringing. When the song was to be recorded, he listed the writer as his brother, Wade Jackson, who was then still on the battlefield fighting in World War II. He explained the song is still assisting his brother financially, who is now aged and infirm and needs the assistance it is bringing. "Life To Go", a George Jones composition, also recorded by the artist, was presented at the concert and received a warm response.

See you next week, hopefully with a full story on the life and times of Stonewall Jackson.

Finding that silver lining

Most of us know someone who has battled depression. Many of us occasionally battle it ourselves. But depression isn't the main topic of this column; it's just merely the setting for something so much bigger.

I've been blessed with an area of work that, at times, may show me the darkest side of humanity. But it also shows me humanity at its brightest.

Depression is often described as a dark cloud that follows someone, with rare breaks and plenty of rainy days. I'd like to tell you two stories of rain I've encountered that have been followed with rainbows of hope that have touched my life in a profound way.

It was rainy days that recently closed down roads and schools in both Washington and Holmes counties, rain that lasted for days. It wasn't until later we learned one of the places hit hardest was the Seacrest Wolf Preserve. The waters swelled the pond in the Arctic enclosure on one end, causing the dam to burst and sending water with such force down the middle that it ripped up the ground, carried off trees and debris and broke the fence on the other side. This is a place that runs off donations and hard work, and founder Cynthia Watkins, as anyone who has ever visited could see, views the animals as her family.

Since 1999, she's built the preserve up, only to have almost all of it torn down in just one night.

Watkins thought one wolf was lost under the mud and debris and another was stuck outside the gates. After years of trying to build understanding between people and the wolves, I could only imagine how much it hurt to have one of them killed. I can't say what the best call would have been, but I saw how she grieved, with so much sadness and anger that I've only seen in parents who've lost their children. Through it all, I've also seen the response of those who came to help rebuild. I've seen the one they thought was lost returned. I've seen the way she held the one surviving wolf cub of the one that was shot. She fawned over the cub with so much adoration and pride. I couldn't help but feel the hope for a brighter tomorrow.

Holmes County lost an animal lover of its own last week with the sudden death of Wilfredo Morales, owner of Ben's Place Animal Rescue in Bonifay. The resulting tragedy was a family without a loved one and so many animals without a guardian, but as I went and visited his family, I found the community was quick to respond, with local animal shelters taking in the animals and eventually all finding a place. I found that even though his widow, Julia, was mourning the death of her beloved husband and closing the shelter, she was also surrounded by family. They weren't crying, but celebrating his life, sharing stories and pictures and planning to live out his memory so that Morales will live on in each of them. These are just two in the last couple of weeks where something has happened and yet people have endured and carried on and made the world a brighter place for it. I can't help but to be in awe.

No matter how many times I see the kindness of our communities, it still overwhelms me. Seeing that strength and courage gives me encouragement to press on a little harder or let go of those things that tie me down but have no real meaning in my life, like petty disagreements and people who are just honestly having a bad day and struggling with something, too.

I believe everyone has their rainclouds, but I also realize we may be the only sunshine they see that day. I encourage at least one smile when you don't feel like it, and if you go through a drive through window, try "paying it forward," by paying for the order of the folks behind you. I know when I do it I call it "getting my shine on," because it makes me feel so much better, and I hope it makes someone's day, too.

Thanks again for joining me, and I look forward to next week.

WHTC 'Reeling in the Gold' at State SkillsUSA

Special to The News

On April 28 and 29, more than 2,500 high school and college students from across Florida converged on Pensacola for the 2014 SkillsUSA State Conference, an event that showcases technical skills and leadership abilities in more than 100 competitions, ranging from welding skills to cosmetology talent.

Washington-Holmes Technical Center had 30 competitors that qualified to compete at the state level after placing first or second in the February 5 regional competition. The contests are planned by technical committees made up of representatives of labor and management and are designed to test the skills needed for a successful entry level performance in given occupational fields.

Three WHTC students will put their technical programs on the national map this summer. Austin Baxley, High School Welding; Leo Grant, Cabinet Making; and Anthony Smith, Drafting took first place in their competition and will advance to the national SkillsUSA Championships June 23-28 in Kansas City. Seven other students placed second or third in the state; they include Eric Rapoza, second place in Cabinet Making; Jessica Shaw, second place in Medical Math; Taylor Henley, second place in Job Skills Demonstration; Annette Lanham, third place in Industrial Motor Control; Rebecca Goodwin, third place in Men's Haircutting; Jasmine Manning, third place in Hair Weave; and Jessica Rundle, third place in Medical Terminology.

Winning the competition not only grants the winners the medals, it shows that they are among the best in the industry. Anthony Smith says that he will take what he learned with him for his career. "It's not just the medal, it's the experiences you can get and the contacts and people that you meet ...that can make it all worth it in the end," Smith said.

"They're the best of the best," said Martha Compton, Director of WHTC. "SkillsUSA is all about providing the skills to make sure the workforce of the future is highly qualified. But it's also about individual pride ... it's also about leadership, poise and work ethic - those very necessary employability skills," Compton says. "It's about everything that makes America great."

The average age of skilled workers is 55. In the next five years, there's going to be a real shortage of skilled workers. Workforce education is where you're going to find jobs.

SkillsUSA is a national nonprofit partnership of students, teachers and industry leaders with a goal of ensuring that America will have a skilled workforce. SkillsUSA helps students discover and grow their career passions. The nationwide career and technical education student organization annually serves more than 320,000 high school, college and postsecondary students — and their instructors — in technical, skilled and service occupation instructional programs. Career and technical education is "training that works for America."

The WHTC national competitors will be contributing approximately one-third of their cost to attend the National Conference; the local chapter will provide the remaining portion of the cost. Those interested in providing financial assistance to help support these outstanding students are encouraged to contact Stephanie Halley at stephanieh@whtc.us or 638-1180 ext. 303.

LIVE YOUR LIFE LIKE IT'S Golden

Adopt a Grandparent

One of the great joys of being a grandparent is spending special time with a grandchild, sharing life experiences and developing a lasting bond of love and care.

Sadly, statistics show 60% of nursing home residents never receive a visitor, including family members. This contributes to depression, poor health and a lack of interest in daily living.

Washington Rehab and Nursing Center offers an Adopt-a-Grandparent program that helps its residents enjoy their golden years — and encourages community service by our children while bridging generational gaps.

Two-year-old Maverick Collins, above, has already "adopted" Miss Lena; there was plenty of laughter, learning and sharing on their recent afternoon together.

Find out how your children can make a huge difference in the lives of these elderly residents with the Adopt-a-Grandparent program at Washington Rehab and Nursing Center. For more information contact Christa Wesley at Washington Rehab, (850) 638-4654.

Running for Souls

Church's 5K gains funds for mission

Staff Reports

Grace Assembly of God at Chipley hosted its first 5K Saturday, May 3. Named "Running for Souls," the event was held on the first day of sunny skies seen by Washington County after several heavy rains that plagued the county.

Proceeds from the 5K will go toward purchasing bricks and other material for the church's next mission trip to Bolivia, South America. For those who missed out on the run but still wish to help with the mission, donations can still be made to help with this and many others being planned both here and abroad. Checks or money orders may be mailed to: Grace AG, PO Box 40, Chipley, FL 32428. Mark your check as a mission donation. If you want to choose whether this will go toward international or home missions, make sure to send that information as well. For more information, contact the church office at 638-1791 or visit www.graceagchipley.org.

Jackets to take the field

Special to The News

The Vernon Yellow Jacket football team will take the field for the first time in 2014 at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, May 15, for a controlled scrimmage. Typically deemed the "Orange and Blue" game, play will be replaced with a scrimmage of offense against defense.

With the implementation of an entirely new offense that features a totally new concept for the Jackets, coaches will utilize this night to evaluate how far along the new scheme has progressed. The game will also feature the Vernon Quarterback Club baby back rib sale. Rib slabs can be purchased at the game for $20 beginning at 5 p.m. until the completion of the game.

The Jackets will then turn their focus to the spring game next Thursday night, May 22, at home against Freeport High School. Game time is 6 p.m. due to being held on a school night. The format will be a complete game with the exception of no live kicking.

"This will be the first time to see a much improved and more experienced Yellow Jacket team that hopes to ride last year's success and this year's returning experience to a deeper playoff run," says Head Coach Bobby Johns. "This year's team returns 10 offensive starters and 8 defensive. Along with those returners, several young players from last year's squad have really improved and will look to make a huge contribution to this year's success. Hopefully, with the maturing of many of last year's key contributors, the 2014 installment of the Vernon Yellow Jackets will make this one of the most exciting seasons in recent memory."

Among those returning is Austin Brown. Brown has received ten Division 1 scholarship offers so far from the likes of the University of Wisconsin, University of South Florida, and Southern Mississippi.

"Please join us in Vernon this Thursday at 6:30 for the scrimmage," urges Johns. "And we need everyone at the Jackets' Nest next Thursday night as the Jackets face Freeport as well."

Lady Indians finish 3rd in Gulf District of state tourney

Special to The News

PENSACOLA — The Chipola Lady Indians won two and lost two to finish third in the Gulf District bracket of the FCSAA State tournament.

Chipola came into the tourney as the third-place team out of the Panhandle but opened play May 3 with a pair of wins over State College of Florida and Hillsborough.

Two Chipola players were named to the Gulf District All-Tournament Team: utility player, Katie Harrison and catcher, Brashante' Dareus. Harrison also was named to the FCSAA All-Tournament team.

In Chipola's first game, Jessica Elliott, had a three-hit shutout with eight strikeouts and in a 4-0 win over State College of Florida.

In the Lady Indians' second game Chipola jumped out to a 6-0 lead over Hillsborough and held on for a 6-4 win. Elliott retired nine of the first 10 batters. Rosanne de Vries relieved Elliott in the fourth.

Chipola opened Saturday's action with a 7-5 loss to Tallahassee, the eventual state champion. Facing elimination, the Lady Indians fell to Polk State, 6-4.

Tallahassee Community College defeated the College of Central Florida, 4-1, to capture the FCSAA State Championship.

Chipola finished its season with a record of 34-22. The Lady Indians were the defending FCSAA/Region VIII Champions.

In nine seasons at the helm of the program, head coach Belinda Hendrix has won five Panhandle Conference titles; three state titles: 2007, 2010 and 2013; and a national championship in 2007. She has coached more than 84 All-Conference Players and 12 NJCAA All-Americans. The program has sent more than 50 players on to four-year institutions and boasts 99-percent graduation rate.

Chipley to meet Bucks in 2-1A

By PAT McCANN

747-5068 | @patmccann
pmccann@pcnh.com

There's some talk in the Sand Hills about a Class 1A Final Four threepeat for Bozeman.

It hasn't been coming from Bucks head coach Jeff Patton or the baseball team.

At press time, Chipley was set to play at Bozeman at 7 p.m. Tuesday night in the Region 2-1A championship game. If Bozeman wins, it would be a third straight region title for the Bucks' program.

But Chipley plans on stopping that from happening.

The Bucks are 20-7 and the Tigers 21-7, but perhaps more importantly, Chipley is 16-1 at home.

"We've built a real good

following this season," Tigers coach Andy Compton said. "It's taken awhile. We've struggled the last few years ... we were in a district with (Pensacola) Catholic and Bay in a four-year span. This year our fan base really has supported this group.

"Our guys are confident at home, that's been the fun part about it. I think the home field does play a little bit into it, but at this point in time when the game starts I'm sure both teams will compete very well."

Neither Patton nor Compton wanted to tip his hand on a starting pitcher. Patton named Brandon Suttles and Alec Aleywine as possibles. Compton designated Jordan Finch or Daniel Floyd.

While the schools haven't played in recent seasons, the programs have met during summer baseball and it's clear that the coaches have a mutual respect for the opposition.

"They have good pitching, have some guys who throw with some velocity and Coach Compton does a good job," Patton said.

Whereas Aleywine (.417) and Suttles (.395) have been formidable throughout, Patton now has Webb (.323), Nicky Agosto and Thompson at .288, the latter with an RBI surge starting with the district tournament.

Johnny Freefall and the draft hard to beat

This space hasn't always been kind to ESPN or the NFL. But for one weekend a year a cease-fire is merited.

Televising the NFL Draft was the smartest thing either company accomplished since Australian Rules Football went to the TV vault alongside "My Mother the Car" and the NFL moved the goal posts to the back line of the end zone.

Tuning in to Jon Gruden and company is like listening to a TV weatherman tell us what to expect, and finding out 10 minutes later he doesn't know any more about his area of expertise than the rest of us.

What can be as refreshing as that?

To be sure, the NFL Draft is resplendent with more lame interviews than a seminar on sideline reporting, only this time at least they are conducted with relieved athletes about to become millionaires.

It's also a kumbaya convention, has more faux hugs than a beauty pageant and the last time Chris Berman was relevant Blondie was recording No. 1 hits.

But if you're a Cleveland Browns fan, you witnessed more drama in less than 2½ hours on Thursday night than you saw all last football season.

We've become a culture held hostage by speculation, but for one night a year it ends in resolution within minutes. So much for the mock drafts that flood the Internet starting in March. They're as compelling as an Anthony Weiner campaign for dogcatcher.

While there was some pleasure watching Johnny Manziel drink water like it was bathtub gin while waiting for his name to be called, the bottom line is that he's soon to sign a contract worth more money than the combined wages of all Minnesota McCanns for eternity.

It's also somewhat noteworthy that it's common to hear athletes speak of God's plan in times of crisis. I've never heard a coach talk about God's plan upon being hired, but I've witnessed a few echo that sentiment when fired.

Perhaps the best moment for many local viewers, however, irrespective of team allegiance, came when Calvin Pryor was taken on the 18th pick by the New York Jets.

The Port St. Joe graduate grew up and flourished in our area. That he will have an opportunity to live the good life that professional sports can provide enriches all of us who have followed his career from high school through Louisville.

That occurrence was heightened on Friday evening, when Khyri Thornton, who played at Bay High School, went to the Green Bay Packers in the third round.

Then there are many college football fans who track the progress of players from their favorite university. That provides a sidelight for those who don't actively follow the NFL.

But maybe the best reward from this year's collection of talent was that the second round on Friday produced nearly as representative group of future pros as was seen on Thursday night.

Not all drafts are created equal.

Neither are all television extravaganzas.

'Scouting for a home'

Girl Scout Troop 408 appeals to public for meeting venue

By CAROL KENT

Ckent@chipleypaper.com

Girl Scouts of the USA was formed more than 100 years ago to nurture young girls through building leadership skills and providing positive adult role models. Troop 408, Chipley's only Girl Scout Troop, wants to continue that tradition of teaching fundamental values and life skills, but they're reaching out to the community to find a place to call home twice a month.

"We are a new troop to Chipley, and we are accepting applications for summer fun," Troop Leader Lauren Fox said. "We will be camping, swimming, doing crafts and more, but right now, we're looking for a place to have our meetings. Currently, we're having them at (my house) every other Tuesday night, but we want to keep (our base) local so that we may be more involved in Chipley's parades and events."

So far, Troop 408 has taken part in several projects, including earning patches for conservation, cookie sales and community service. Many more are in the works, including the girls' helping out at the Kate Smith Elementary School tent at the upcoming Relay for Life event at Pal's Park this weekend.

Fox said she already sees the efforts of the newly formed troop paying off and encourages others to join or volunteer.

"Young ladies who were once shy and timid are now vocal and confident," Fox said. "When you invest in this troop, you're not investing just your time; you're investing in the future of a girl."

For more information on Troop 408, call Lauren Fox at 726-6120.

Scout Sarah Fox stands next to one of the recently painted fire hydrants in Chipley after winning the "Challenge of the Week", which tasked the girls with finding a specific hydrant, in this case, the one for Breast Cancer Awareness, and have their photo taken next to it for a prize.

Applicants must maintain a minimum 2.0 GPA each semester at Chipola, must have a minimum 2.0 high school GPA, and must follow standard college requirements. A description of the scholarship and application are available online at www.chipola.edu/foundation.

For more information contact the Chipola Foundation, call 718-2445.

Determining when to declaw or not to declaw

As much as you love Fluffy, his constant need to claw your living room sofa isn't exactly desirable. After furnishing your home with numerous scratching posts and still no improvement, you might be asking yourself, "what now?" As a very last resort, it may be time to consider declawing surgery. A choice not without controversy, the procedure should only be done after careful consideration with all of the facts.

"When we perform a declaw procedure, we are removing the entire third phalanx of the toe," said

PET TALK

Dr. Mark Stickney, clinical associate professor at the Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences. "So not only the claw that you can see, but the associated bone that attaches to the next bone in the toe."

The declawing procedure is controversial in veterinary medicine today, and like any other surgical procedure, there are a number of risks that go along with the purported benefits.

"People have a bad feeling about the procedure because they anthropomorphize to themselves of what it would be like to lose the end of their finger, which would be a big deal for a person, but a cat doesn't need to type or write like we do," Stickney said. "They extend those claws when they're ready to do something destructive or to defend themselves; otherwise, those digits are naturally retracted and unseen."

However, you should be aware that once the procedure is completed, your cat will no longer have a way to defend itself from other cats or predators that come into its territory. As a result, the cat will need to be an indoor-only cat for the remainder of its life following the procedure.

Because we love our pets so dearly, we want to do all in our power not to inflict any unnecessary pain on them. Though the procedure is painful, by using a good multimodal pain control protocol that targets the nervous system at different points in the pain pathway, you can make the procedure as comfortable as possible.

"For the next 10 days postoperatively, you need to restrict the cat's exercise as much as possible, so do not encourage them to run and jump around the house," Stickney said. "You also need to use either shredded newspaper or paper towel in their litter box as opposed to gravel based litter that could get into the little incisions before they heal."

The decision of whether or not to declaw Fluffy is not one to be taken lightly. However, if his clawing is standing in the way of your companionship and ability to keep him in your family, surgery might be your only hope. "If it is an indoor cat only, you have exhausted all other methods of controlling the scratching problem, and it's a decision of whether or not you're going to have to get rid of your cat," Stickney said. "Then the benefits of declawing surgery absolutely outweigh the risks."

Why mothers would make good politicians

In looking forward to Mother's Day, I could not help but think about the mess our country is in right now. Not that messes remind me of mothers in particular, but honesty compels me to admit they are good at cleaning up messes. And, the messes they cleanup are not their doing. That is what makes it so great. Somebody needs to clean up the mess we are in.

Anybody who steps outside their house knows that the country is in a terrific mess these days. It would be impossible to blame one political party over another. In this area, everybody is equal. The truth is, politicians make messes. Furthermore, they leave these messes for other people to clean up. Many politicians have dirty mouths and minds, but none have dirty hands from cleaning up messes.

I believe mothers would make wonderful politicians for several reasons. Mothers, generally speaking, know how to ask questions:

"Have you washed behind your ears?" "What time are you getting back?" "If all your friends jumped off a bridge would you?"

It is one thing to ask a question, but it is another thing altogether to ask the right question. Politicians ask questions they think people are asking. Before they query any audience, they take polls to make sure they have the right question so they are not embarrassed.

Mothers, on the other hand, ask questions to embarrass you and put you back on the straight and narrow.

Mothers expect an answer to their questions immediately... without delay.

Out to Pastor

Another reason mothers would make good politicians is they never stop until the work is finished. Everybody has heard the old saying, "A man works from sun up to sun down, but a woman's work is never done."

It would be beneficial for our country if every politician were apprenticed to a mother with four or five kids. Let him follow her around for a week, if he can last a week, and he will get some idea of what working is all about.

By her very nature, a mother is always thinking about others. Rarely does she take any time for her own personal pursuits. Wouldn't that be a wonderful trait in some politician?

Instead of putting his political career ahead of everything else, he would sacrifice himself to benefit other people, to help clean up the messes around him.

Although it may seem like a good idea, we cannot afford to send mothers to Washington and neglect the important work she has at home. Nehemiah said it so well, "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down: why should the work cease, whilst I leave it, and come down to you?" (Nehemiah 6:3).

God knew exactly what he was doing when he put together a marvelous creature we now know as Mother.

His Life for Mine

My father was a firefighter for years and he loved every minute of it. I asked him why he loved it so much. He replied, "There's nothing like hearing someone say thank you for saving their life and being able to say 'you're welcome.'" I couldn't help but think this must be what Jesus feels when we are truly grateful for His sacrifice. Take time to show your gratitude.

Lunch plates will be available for $6 and will include fried chicken or boston butt, baked beans, potato salad, roll and cake. Whole boston butts will be available for a $25 donation. Whole boston butts must be pre-ordered. For more information call Jim King at 956-4506, Betty Watson at 956-4626, Linda Lewis at 956-2235 or David Sconiers at 956-2394.

Beginners Pressure Canning Class

CHIPLEY — The University of Florida Extension Program will hold a pressure canning class from 6 to 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 20, at the Washington County Ag Center, 1424 Jackson Avenue in Chipley. Participants will learn the basics of pressure canning by canning vegetables. Registration is $5 and includes class materials. Canner gauge testing also will be available, be sure to bring canner lid with gauge. Space is limited. Pre-registration is required by contacting the Washington County Extension Office at 638-6265, or the Holmes County Extension Office at 547-1108. Extension programs are open to everyone. For persons with disabilities requiring special accommodations, please call 638-6265 (TDD, via Florida Relay Service, 1-800-955-8771) at least five working days before the class so that proper consideration may be given to the request.
