'Ballad of America' serenades audience through history

At the Union County Public Library on Monday night, Matthew Sabatella performed a variety of folk songs that took the audience through a journey of American history during his "Ballad of America" program. Some of the songs included "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "This Little Light of Mine," the ballad "Oh Shenandoah" and many more. The audience sang along to the music and Sabatella played an assortment of instruments from the guitar and banjo to the harmonica and recorder. The Friends of the Library sponsored the event and the Junior Friends of the Library served hors d'oeuvres throughout the program. In addition, the Union County Historical Society provided some old military uniforms for display. All-in-all it was a wonderful way to honor and celebrate our patriotic heritage.

UC receives clean audit

Only one finding, which was already corrected

On Monday, the Union County Board of County Commissioners received a clean audit from James Moore & Co., CPAs and Consultants for the county's fiscal year budget ending Sept. 30, 2013.

Trey Long, senior manager at James Moore, handled the audit presentation, with firm partner Bob Powell also in attendance.

All findings from the previous year had been satisfied, and the one finding from this year had already been corrected.

Finding 2013-01 – "Excess of Expenditures over Appropriations" was in regard to the EMS fund related to a change in estimate for uncollectible accounts receivable.

"Basically, under (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, or GAAP), we are required to show accounts receivable to the extent we believe is collectible," replied Justin Stankiewicz in an email. He is the chief financial officer for the Union County Clerk of Courts. "The allowance is our estimate of the amount that we estimate won't be collected either due to Medicare/Medicaid adjustments, insurance adjustments or non-payments.

"In years past, this amount was typically estimated at year-end to be $100,000. However, this year we encountered significant issues with our third-party billing company where we were not receiving complete information each month and therefore we were unable to reconcile our balances to their month end balances.

"What we uncovered," Stankiewicz explained, "was that the billing company was behind on their monthly write-offs. This resulted in a higher accounts receivable balance, and in turn, resulted in a higher estimate of what was believed to be uncollectible.

"Therefore, we had to increase our allowance estimate by $350,000, to $450,000. The offset to the allowance adjustment is through expenditures and therefore resulted in a $350,000 increase in expenditures that was never budgeted for.

"By the time we finally received all the information from the billing it was well passed the 60 days allowed by Florida Statutes to amend the 2013 budget."

As a result, he said the county is

UC farm family recognized for environmental stewardship

Progressive farmers in the Suwannee River Water Management District who have voluntarily demonstrated exceptional environmental stewardship were awarded the County Alliance for Responsible Environmental Stewardship (CARES) award on June 26.

Thirteen farm families were acknowledged for their proactive measures to protect natural resources at the 14th Annual CARES Dinner hosted by Suwannee River Partnership at the University of Florida Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (UF/IFAS) Suwannee Valley Agricultural Extension Center.

The farmers participating in the CARES program have employed Best Management Practices (BMPs) which were designed by the UF/IFAS, established by the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (FDACS) research in order to better serve, protect and conserve natural resources as well as for the advancement of agriculture.

Since its inception, the CARES program estimates about 1 billion gallons of water is saved annually and nitrogen loading is reduced by 3,250 tons annually. The Florida Farm Bureau created

The 2014 recipients in the District are: Bertine Farms (Bradford), Hawkins Farms (Columbia), Johnny and Margie Stephenson Farm (Dixie), Glory Produce Inc. (Gilchrist), Cook Farms (Gilchrist), GTO Farms (Gilchrist), Tyree Farm (Hamilton), Watson & Watson (Levy), Watermelon Pond Plantation (Levy), McCook Family Farms LLC (Suwannee) Cribbs

Brothers Farms (Suwannee), B&L Farming (Suwannee) and Double W Farms (Union).

When asked why they are a farmer who CARES, the brothers Doyle and Karl Williams of Double W Farms responded, "so future generations can enjoy the land."

Honorees were acknowledged by dignitaries from around the state including Rep. Ted Yoho; Florida Commissioner of Agriculture Adam Putnam, Florida Secretary the of

Department of Environmental Protection Herschel T. Vinyard, Florida Farm Bureau President John L. Hoblick, Suwannee River Water Management Board Chair Don Quincy, Vice President of UF/IFAS Dr. Jack Payne, U.S. Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service State Conservationist Russell Morgan and former State Rep. Dwight Stansel.

Also present were Representatives Halsey Beshears, Elizabeth Porter and Jimmy Smith; Legislative aide to Senator Marco Rubio, Brian Mimbs; Legislative aides to State Senator Charlie Deans, Nick Abrams and Chase Daniels; and Suwannee River Water Management District Governing Board Members Guy Williams and Alphonso Alexander.

AUDIT

currently evaluating its status with that third-party billing company.

In response to this finding, Commission Chairman Jimmy Tallman submitted a letter on June 23 to the Florida Auditor General's office stating that, "In the future, the County will ensure that amendments are made throughout the year to increase expenditures for any unanticipated revenue or increases in management estimates."

Overall, the auditor was pleased with the health of the county's finances.

Long said that the assigned and unassigned fund balance was about $1 million, giving the county about a month of reserves. The general fund has about 41 days of reserve.

He noted that revenues were up about $1.3 million but expenses were only up $800,000, providing a little over a half-million dollar increase in the fund balance.

"You're moving in the right direction," Long said. "You don't have a lot of opportunity to increase revenue sources, so you do a very good job of managing expenditures."

Regarding long-term liabilities, the county's overall debt is about $1.5 million.

"You're not overburdened with debt either, so that's a positive thing there," he said.

"Overall a very clean audit, I think," Long concluded. "Your staff needs to be commended. It's a very, very good, a very clean audit."

Commissioner Karen Cossey concurred.

"I'd just like to say I really appreciate our staff, and they've done a great job," Cossey said.

Clerk of Courts and Comptroller Kellie Hendricks Connell said it's been "a pleasure" to work with everyone at James

Moore. "They've done a great job; excellent communicators."

For his part, Stankiewicz saved the county $17,200 in audit fees because he possesses the required skill set to produce a full set of financial statements in accordance with GAAP.

He was hired away from DDF CPA Group, which handled the county's previous audit.

At last year's June 17 commission meeting when Connell first introduced the new CFO, she said that Stankiewicz "knows the county's finances probably better than anyone and he does have the ability to produce this big fat book (the county's financial audit report). He's going to save the county a good chunk of change in our future audit contract." She was right, and he did.

Everyone Welcome!

You Have the Freedom of Choice!

Friday, July 4, 2014, is our nation's 238th birthday. This is a time to celebrate the boldness of our founding fathers who risked their lives to claim political independence from the monarchy of Britain. They had the wisdom and foresight to establish a government founded on the consent of the governed. Ours is a government "of the people, by the people, for the people", as Abraham Lincoln said 87 years after our country's first Independence Day!

As a Vietnam War Veteran, serving in the U.S. Army, and a law enforcement officer with 36 years experience in the Union County Sheriff's Office, I have spent my adult life upholding the principles set forth over two centuries ago at the birth of our nation. My motivation to protect and serve others is simple. It is pictured below:

Like most of you, my family members are the joys and blessings that I hold most dear. Like you, I want them to live in a place where they are nurtured and protected. I want to do everything possible to make sure this happens for my family and yours. That is why I am running for Union County Sheriff. I believe with all sincerity that I am the most qualified candidate to make this happen in our community.

American democracy is based upon the fundamental principle of one person, one vote. We are all equal before the law and have an equal say over the government decisions that affect our lives. Four months from Independence Day, 2014, you will have an opportunity to exercise your Freedom of Choice. I hope your choice will be based on experience and qualifications. I hope your choice will be Garry Seay for Sheriff.

Pd. Pol. Adv. paid for and approved by Garry Seay for Sheriff of Union County.

LB hosts Natural North Florida group

BY VINCENT ALEX BROWN
Times Editor

Lake Butler hosted the Original Florida Tourism Task Force in May as representatives from several of the 10 member counties met—of which Union County is one, represented by Lake Butler City Manager Dave Mecusker. The group promotes nature-, culture- and heritage-based tourism in the “Natural North Florida” region as an alternative to theme parks and related attractions.

Unique features of this area:

- The region is home to the largest concentration freshwater springs in the world, and the world-famous Suwannee River.
- The Timucuan Indian nation dwelled here over 10,000 years ago.
- Many of the region’s historic buildings survived the Civil War, and turquoise springs, moss-draped oak trees and gently rolling hills will challenge the average visitor’s notions of Florida.
- The University of Florida and Florida State University offer world-class cultural venues and cuisine and, of course, great college sports.

The Suwannee River Water Management District website says the area has more than 300 documented springs. “Of the state’s 33 first-magnitude springs (ones flowing at least 100 cubic feet per second, or 64 million gallons a day), 18 are in the District,” it states. “Visitors from all over the world come to North Florida to swim, dive, float, play and relax in these unique wonders of nature.” (See sidebar on the Ichetucknee.)

The Task Force, formed in 1993, discussed ways to a promote the area more than ever. They recently created a detailed brochure and map to highlight events in the area and attractions such as state parks, bike paths, rivers and springs. It was passed it out to board members for review and approval.

The group is also working on a new website since many find out about the area through the Internet, according to a recent study. Tommy Thompson, executive director for the Florida Outdoor Writers Association, just finished a comprehensive springs photography project for the Task Force that they will use to market the area on the website, maps, brochures, etc. Thompson showed board members some of the many photos he took.

Ting Sun, a University of Florida master’s degree graduate and intern for NNF, presented the findings of a visitor survey taken in April that was commissioned by the group.

She found that a majority of visitors to the region are from Florida, with other visitors coming from the Southeast, Northeast and Midwest. Over half the visitors were retired. Nearly two-thirds earn more than $60,000 a year and nearly a quarter earn more than $100,000 a year.

Most of those visiting the area were here for vacation/recreation, with 17 percent coming for a special event and nearly 13 percent here to visit family and friends.

Over half were traveling with a spouse/partner, but nearly 90 percent were here without children.

They’re staying an average of over three nights and a quarter of those are camping, with nearly half staying in a hotel/motel or bed-and-breakfast.

Nearly two-thirds were on a repeat visit, with about 38 percent being first-time visitors.

Activities, in order of popularity, were: sightseeing, shopping, visiting museums, biking, kayaking and fishing.

Union County offers opportunities for some of those.

Most all those visiting the area said they would return and recommend the area to families and friends. Nearly two-thirds of them make travel arrangements via the Internet, and 42 percent use social media frequently to obtain travel information, with a quarter of those using Facebook for that.

Along with contributions from others, David Stegall runs an active Facebook Page promoting Lake Butler and the area at www.facebook.com/lakebutler.

While the initial findings of the visitor survey were helpful, board members determined that a yearlong survey was needed to more accurately reflect who is visiting the area and taking advantage of its natural resources during different seasons of the year.

After a barbecue lunch provided by the Reception and Medical Center, Mecusker made a presentation highlighting the attractions of Union County, from lakes to the state bike path to a rich history that’s documented at the Union County Historical Museum and a growing historical district located next to City Hall.

Additionally, the county offers many “unspoiled” areas, he said.

The Ichetucknee is one of Florida’s crown jewels

The Ichetucknee is a fascinating system. Located within the Suwannee River Water Management District near Ft. White in Columbia County, the river meanders six miles through hammock and swamp before joining the Santa Fe River.

The Ichetucknee River receives nearly all of its flow from the springs. Nine named springs and many unnamed springs discharge an average of 230 million gallons of groundwater per day into the river. Because of the prevalence of springs along the Ichetucknee River, the entire river maintains a cool spring-like temperature year round, and it supports habitats for aquatic plants and animals typical of springs and springruns. Additionally, parts of the river boast the blue and aqua color due to the significant spring inputs.

The Ichetucknee is rich in history and culture. It was home to one of the major interior missions serving the Spanish settlement of St. Augustine, the Mission de San Martin de Timucua, established in 1608. The Ichetucknee served as the lifeblood for Native Americans and later for settlers and the surrounding communities. It eventually became a popular gathering place for the locals. In the 1950s, tubing the river gained popularity.

In 1970, Loncala Phosphate Company sold the property surrounding the Ichetucknee to the state of Florida to be developed as a state park, and in 1972 the U.S. Department of Interior declared the Ichetucknee a National Natural Landmark.

Today, locals and visitors alike are drawn to these crystal clear waters to be refreshed and enjoy recreation. In fact, the Ichetucknee is one of the most popular tubing destinations in the world, drawing an average of 140,000 or more visitors annually, according to the Ichetucknee Springs State Park. Canoeing and kayaking are also popular activities.

The District is actively taking steps to improve spring flows and water quality in the Ichetucknee through aquifer recharge and water quality improvement projects throughout the region. Also, the District measures water quality and spring flow along the Ichetucknee to monitor conditions and trends. Additionally, the District is working with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection and the St. Johns River Water Management District to establish cross-boundary minimum flows and levels (MFLs) for the Lower Santa Fe and Ichetucknee Rivers and Priority Springs.

Hampton, Watts, Smith chosen as UCI top staffers for January

Union Correctional Institution recently named Officer La'Nika Hampton, Sgt. Sandra Watts and Stephanie Smith as its top staffers for the month of January.

Sgt. Watts was the January Officer of the Month for UCI's Main Unit. Officer Hampton was Officer of the Month for the UCI Work Camp and Smith was the Employee of the Month for both units.

Sgt. Watts has been employed with the Department of Corrections for more than 20 years. She was hired as a correctional officer in 1989 and was promoted to the rank of sergeant in August of 2003.

She serves UCI as the property room sergeant – the person who is ultimately responsible for the proper storage and maintenance of personal property belonging to nearly 2,000 inmates. This is a very challenging task and requires Sgt. Watts to be very meticulous and detail-oriented. She started as property room sergeant in December of 2006, but prior to that she worked at UCI in almost every capacity a female officer can work, including in the main control room.

Prior to signing on with DOC, Sgt. Watts worked in both the food service and the medical assistance fields. She also served in the U.S. Army Reserves.

Administrative Assistant Eva Levenson works in the classification department. Her office is near the property room and, as a member of classification, she often has to coordinate with Sgt. Watts on inmate property issues.

"(Sgt. Watts) is an asset to the department," wrote Levenson. "She goes above and beyond to complete her daily duties to the best of her ability." Levenson went on to say that Sergeant Watts deals with everyone – staff members, inmates and the family members of inmates – "with the utmost respect and professionalism."

Levenson noted that Sgt. Watts is also a very active volunteer in both her church and her community.

Hampton began her career with DOC when she was hired as a correctional officer at UCI in August of 2012. In September of 2013, she was transferred to the staff of UCI's new Work Camp, which officially opened for business in October of that year.

Hampton worked at the UCI main unit as a control room clerk in one of the mental health dorms. Keeping up with the daily activities in one of these busy dorms was a challenge, but was nonetheless easier than her current post of main control room clerk at the UCI Work Camp.

As main control room clerk,

Hampton is responsible for keeping up with the institutional count and keeping track of work squads as they come and go to their assignments. She is also responsible for recording everything that happens at the Work Camp on the institutional log.

Prior to coming to work for DOC, Hampton worked as a sales associate.

Sgt. Patricia Hart, who is Hampton's immediate supervisor, said, "Officer Hampton is a dedicated employee who takes on any task given to her without complaint. (She) has the willingness to learn and displays a desire to learn as well."

Hart went on to point out that Officer Hampton is working toward a degree in criminal justice during her off-duty hours. Striving for excellence is an ingrained character trait for Hampton.

Smith began with DOC in May of 2008 and has spent her entire career in the classification department. She now serves classification as a senior clerk.

Sentence Specialist Darlene Chapman nominated Smith as Employee of the Month. Chapman said Smith is responsible for all of paperwork and preparation for the inmate transfers into and out of UCI. Because UCI provides so many mental health programs – and most of these are provided on a temporary basis – the number of inmate transfers is very high.

Chapman said Smith excels at her job in spite of the heavy load. "She always does her job very efficiently and has everything ready for transfer as soon as she is notified by Central Office," said Chapman. "The transfers take a lot of time, but she is always willing to go above and beyond her duties to help with other tasks the come up in the records office."

Chapman pointed out that Smith was one of the primary people responsible for preparing all of the documentation to go along with transferring some 400 inmates into UCI's new Work Camp within just a few days. Smith worked hard to complete this daunting task and ensured the institution came through the process with only minor complications.

"(Smith) is always willing to help anyone who comes into the records office and needs assistance," said Chapman. "She is very courteous and helpful... she is such an asset to work with."

Chapman closed her nomination by writing, "I am truly blessed to have her as part of our team here in the records office."

Prior to beginning her career with DOC, Smith was an office manager in a furniture store.

Fleming Island's Green hired as BHS coach

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
Staff Writer

His father established quite a legacy as a head coach. Now, Corey Green is looking to start a legacy of his own after being hired as Bradford High School's new head football coach on June 26, with final approving occurring at a June 30 school board meeting.

"I feel honored and humbled to come away with the position," said Green, who served as assistant head coach at Fleming Island High School last season.

Green has a 12-year coaching career, which included a three-year stint as head coach at Hamilton County High School from 2005 through 2007. He is the son of Danny Green, who compiled a 254-106 record in 31 seasons at such schools as Baker County, Columbia and Orange Park. Green coached with his father for five years at Orange Park High School before the elder Green retired.

"Corey just comes in with a tremendous amount of high school football experience," Bradford Superintendent of Schools Chad Farnsworth said. "We were very fortunate to get such a high-quality coach at this time of year."

Bradford was put in the position of having to hire a coach after Steve Reynolds resigned after two years on June 12. Green admitted the timing of taking a head coaching job is "not great," but said the job at BHS had what he was looking for. He likes the opportunity of coaching in a county that has only one high school. Plus, he doesn't live far from Bradford County. He and his wife live south of Middleburg.

"It was very appealing to me," Green said of the job.

Green, after playing at the University of South Carolina and Carson-Newman College, started his coaching career in 2001 at Cook High School in

Spiller, Warren bring football, life lessons to annual camp

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
Staff Writer

At first, the children in attendance may have wondered what they had gotten themselves into when Gerard Warren, with as serious a look as one can have, said, "I hope you all are ready to work."

A few seconds later, you could see the good-natured gleam in Warren's eyes as he gave the command, "Have fun."

Well, what do you do when a 6-4, 300-pound-plus, former NFL defensive lineman tells you to have fun? You have fun.

That's what it was all about at the fourth annual C.J. Spiller-Gerard Warren FUN-damentals Camp—a program of USA Football—on June 27 at the Union County High School football field.

"It's always good to come out and have a fun time," said Spiller, a 2006 UCHS graduate who played for Clemson University and is now a member of the Buffalo Bills. "The biggest thing is just seeing the kids and putting a smile on their face. They're learning a little bit about football and fundamental stuff, but as long as they're happy, that's the biggest thing."

Warren, a 1997 UCHS graduate who played at the University of Florida prior to an 11-year NFL career, said he enjoys the fact that the annual camp gives children a chance to go outdoors and mingle with other children. This year, approximately 90-100 turned out for the five-hour event.

"We haven't completely lost them to the video games and the TV screens," Warren said.

Several current and former NFL players joined Warren and Spiller in teaching children some football basics. Spiller said it means a lot to him that people such as Darrell Jackson, Louis Murphy, Mike Nattiel and Vince Wolfork are willing to travel to Lake Butler and take part in such an activity.

"These guys are not selfish," Spiller said. "They're willing to sacrifice their time to come out and help teach (children) some of the things about football and

93-year-old Cox proud to have served on LST in WWII

BY CLIFF SMELLEY
Staff Writer

Glenn Cox downplays his service in World War II. He'll tell you working in the engine room aboard an LST (landing ship, tank) kept him mostly out of harm's way. He even expresses disbelief at the fact he was awarded a Purple Heart, saying he may have been injured in a war zone, but the injury was the result of an accident of his own doing, not the enemy's.

The 93-year-old Union County resident, though, takes a tremendous amount of pride of having been aboard an LST and even donated money to restore LST-325, which is now docked in Evansville, Ind., as a museum/memorial.

"I don't believe we'd ever have won the war if we didn't have the LSTs," Cox said. "Dozens and dozens of jeeps and trucks and stuff that we got to the beach never would've gotten there if they'd had it on a cargo ship. They'd never have gotten to the beach with it."

Cox served more than three years in the Navy before putting in approximately another 17 years of service with the Air Force.

"I was crazy to have ever gotten out of the Navy," Cox said. "I would've probably come out a rank higher if I had stayed in the Navy."

Then, with a mischievous twinkle in his eye, Cox added, "Like they say, you have to have your nose in the right place in the Air Force to get anywhere."

Cox grew up as one of 12 children on a farm in Illinois. (It would've been 13 children if a sister hadn't died approximately eight hours after birth.)

"They raised big families up there, you know, because they had to have workers," Cox said. He laughed as he talked about his parents having "two" families.

"They had a family of older (children), and then they started in again and had another batch," Cox said. "I was about the middle one."

Cox admitted he knew little of what was going on in the world prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor, but he wasted little time in joining the war effort after that morning of Dec. 7, 1941.

"When I heard about (the Pearl Harbor attack), I made up my mind right then I was going to go in the service."

Cox, who was 21 and married at the time, attempted to enlist in the Marine Corps, but said he was rejected for weighing only 113 pounds.

"I went across the hall and joined the Navy," Cox said.

Great Lakes Naval Training Station was the start of the journey. From there, Cox went to diesel school in Chicago before going to Portland, Ore., where he boarded LST-452. The LST sailed to Brisbane, Australia, and was the first LST to cross the Pacific Ocean, Cox said.

It wasn't a fast crossing by any means, Cox said, explaining the LST's top speed was 12 knots.

"An LST was what we called a 'large, slow, target,'" Cox joked, despite his love for the ship.

Brisbane was the location of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters. Cox recalled how he was on the same beach, though on a different ship, when MacArthur made his return to the Philippines. Though he didn't actually see it, Cox said he heard that MacArthur waded through the water several times from his ship to the beach as photographer's captured the iconic image.

"Well, I guess he wanted to make sure they knew he returned," Cox said.

In all seriousness, Cox thinks highly of MacArthur and his actions.

"I think MacArthur was the greatest general there ever was because he bypassed a lot of islands, where if he went in and hit the beaches there, there would have been a lot of boys killed. He would bypass some islands that had Japanese on them. I think he saved a lot of lives."

The last landing Cox experienced aboard his LST was in the Philippines. He said it was probably his scariest moment during the war. He said an LST alongside his was on fire. Plus, the skipper of the LST Cox was on disobeyed orders from higher-ranking officers who wanted the LST to back away from the beach. The LST was getting fired upon, but Cox said the skipper realized the ship would take more hits if he backed away from the beach.

"Our skipper, they were going to court martial him because he wouldn't back off," Cox said. "He explained to them why he wouldn't back off. If he'd have backed off the beach, probably several more would've gotten killed."

Cox said working in the engine room of the LST is probably the main reason he's still alive today. He wasn't as susceptible to getting hit by enemy fire as men on the top deck were.

Aside from scary moments in the Philippines, Cox doesn't look upon his war experience as having been that traumatic.

"Some veterans might have been through a lot tougher things than I did," Cox said. "You take some of these Marines that saw some horrible stuff they don't want to talk about. Most everything I've seen hasn't been that bad."

Cox admitted he was thankful he wasn't in Europe where he possibly could've seen concentration camps.

"That's something I'm glad I didn't see—the Jews that were killed over there," he said.

When the war came to an end, Cox was in the Panama Canal Zone. He was later discharged from the Navy on "points."

Cox stayed out of the service for 18 months. He tried to rejoin the Navy, but said there were too many of his rank. Instead, he joined the Air Force.

While stationed at Edwards Air Force Base in California, Cox got to see—and hear—the rocket-powered X-15 aircraft that were part of a research program NASA conducted with the Air Force, Navy and North American Aviation Inc.

He also got to know Chuck Yeager while he was in the Air Force. Cox said the two were in the same "rod and gun" club.

Cox also had an interesting encounter with an actress he can't remember the name of while in the Air Force.

"When Bob Hope came over to Japan with his troupe, he had two or three girls with him," Cox said. "This girl, she said, 'I forgot my pea jacket. It's in my luggage up there in that truck. Can you help me up there?'"

"I looked her over. She had on these tight britches, and I thought to myself, 'How am I going to get her up there in that truck?' As I was lifting her up there, I just took both of her cheeks, you know, in my hands and pushed her up there on that truck."

Though he can't remember her name, Cox said, "She felt pretty solid."

Cox, who had since divorced his first wife and remarried a woman with children, said it was at that moment—when his hands were on the woman's rear end—that his stepson Jerrell Ellis, who was in the service, caught him. Cox laughed as he remembered Ellis saying, "Wait 'til I tell

Glenn Cox during his Navy days.

Mom."

Avis Dukes was Cox's second wife. They met while Cox was stationed at MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa. A neighbor of Dukes' was stationed at MacDill as well, and he would take Cox home with him on weekends. Home was in Columbia County, where Dukes lived on an 80-acre farm with four children.

"I came down south to get the best girl I ever had," Cox said.

He and Dukes were married for 49 years before her death on Nov. 22, 1997.

Following his service with the Air Force—he retired in 1964—Cox went to work at the Reception and Medical Center for just over two years as a boiler operator. He transferred to Florida State Prison, where he worked another 11 years.

Cox lives in a house he built for himself and Avis between Lake Butler and Worthington Springs on S.R. 121. He is a member of Grace Christian Fellowship Baptist Church and occasionally visits Sardis Baptist Church. (He used to be a member of Philippi Baptist Church in Columbia County with Avis.)

He has found a home in the South. Cox said his son from his first marriage, Ronnie, has tried to talk him into moving back to Illinois to live with him, but his response is, "I'll never leave Florida."

Cox has become good friends with his neighbors, Rodney and Carol Prins. Carol Prins said she has enjoyed having coffee with

An event worthy of celebration, thanks

Dear Editor:
This morning, I awoke to my 50th wedding anniversary, and I was somewhat overwhelmed with gratitude, for I have so much. To my wife and family and friends, I have frequent opportunities to express this gratitude. But to so many others, I do not. So, this attempt to speak to the "rest of the world," and, in particular, to those who make it possible for all of us to live in a land that, though far from perfect, remains head and shoulders above all the rest. We, the citizens of the United States of America, are in the midst of another birthday celebration. Unfortunately, there are those who are unimpressed by this event, but I am not among them. For me, this country is, indeed, a place of opportunity; a land where there is the potential to become anything for which you are willing to work. We have been blessed by natural resources, freedoms from our Creator, the skills and ingenuity of individuals from across the globe, and the foresight of founding fathers who constructed a system that can work to the advantage of all. Without fault? Hardly!

As a matter of fact, I believe that the current crises that we are now experiencing in this country far exceed any that we have previously seen. I also feel that, if we have the will to overcome these afflictions, it will be done. If not, then we will lose what God has so graciously granted us. It's up to us.

But my purpose here is not to extol the obvious virtues of our country, but rather to speak to those individuals whom I believe make it possible for us to continue to live as we do— all of those who have served, and are serving, in any of our military forces. I, personally, have never served. And, even though a son has served, and a son-in-law is currently active duty, my deep feelings about these individuals does not originate with them. I actually discovered an increase in my admiration and respect for our military while on a fishing trip.

About 15 years ago I traveled alone to Ft. Stewart, Ga., to spend a couple of days on that military reservation fishing for largemouth bass. I had been there before and had enjoyed the several small bodies of water that are available to those outside the military who secure a permit. Of course members of our armed forces also utilize these waters.

As I was moving along the shoreline of one of these lakes, quietly tossing artificial lures at those fish, I came upon a solitary soldier, fishing from shore. We struck up a conversation, basic fisherman small talk. As we were doing so, I became aware of an immense sense of seriousness that emanated from this young man. Because I was alone in the boat, I invited him to join me. And when he politely declined I learned why he seemed to have the weight of the world on his shoulders.

He said, "No thank you, sir. I'm about to leave to spend a few more hours with my wife and son, I'm shipping out tomorrow." For a few moments, I was dumbstruck. Then I asked him his first name and his hometown. "I'm John, from Baton Rouge," was his reply.

I told John from Baton Rouge that I would pray for him and his comrades. Then he packed up and left.

It often amazes me how seemingly small, insignificant events have such an impact on my life. And this was no exception.

I don't have any idea of what has become of John, one of many persons who ensure that I can take advantage of all that this country offers. I sincerely hope that he returned safely and is currently engaged in a life that is productive and rewarding—in spite of any difficulties—as I have been privileged to enjoy over these many years.

Since the day that I encountered John, I have been very aware of the sacrifices being made on my behalf by all of those who serve. And John, wherever you are, know that, every day, I have and will continue to pray for you and your brothers and sisters-in-arms.

To all of those who ensure our freedoms I say "Thank you!" And for your willingness to serve I say, "Deo Gratias," (Thanks be to God).

Striving to best meet veterans' needs

Dear Editor:
The North Florida/South Georgia Veterans Health System (NF/SGVHS) is honored and privileged to provide care to those who have earned and deserve the best health care possible. As one of the busiest VA facilities in the country with two hospitals (Malcom Randall Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center in Gainesville and Lake City Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center) and 11 outpatient clinics we provided health care to more than 125,000 Veterans last year, which translated into 1.4 million outpatient visits, 575,000 specialty consultations, 185,000 radiology studies, 10,000 GI procedures, 8,000 surgeries, and 2,000 cardiac catheterization laboratory procedures. Our work is expected to increase even further this year: since October 1, 2013, NF/SGVHS has cared for 14,672 new Veteran patients.

Our employees — over 5,300 strong — (33% of whom are veterans) come to work every single day to provide the very best care our Veterans deserve. As I walk the halls of our hospitals and clinics, I see firsthand the care, compassion and dedication our staff show to those we are entrusted to serve. Building and maintaining the trust of our patients must be accomplished one Veteran at a time.

As our Veteran population has grown, our organization has continually worked on making improvements to providing access to care within our healthcare system. We have established new clinic locations, expanded diagnostic and treatment options, extended our hours of operation, reviewed those waiting for care, and examined alternatives to providing care both within and outside of the VA. We have made improvements in our ability to make available additional access appointments for our Veterans. Our efforts are complicated by limited capacity in the community to provide additional care, continuity of care, no show rates for clinic appointments, our clinic cancellations, space constraints, and scarcity of critical specialty physicians and primary care physicians. Even with these challenges, I want to assure you that we will continue to strive to meet the needs of each and every Veteran we serve.

Thanks, 'good neighbor'

Dear Editor:
On June 21, a storm brought a tree into the road on NW 181st St. in Starke. Nobody could get in or out, some of the neighbors brought out their hand saws and tow ropes to gain road access again, although much work went into it, it was just not enough. A man came down the road with what looked like a three ton front lift and picked it up and put it right back on the unkept property, Mr. Elixson was a good neighbor and helped us all gain access to our homes. Thank you Mr. Elixson for restoring the fact that there are good people out there.

Deborah Kopcho*

NAACP not living up to name

Dear Editor:
Why, in the name of heaven, would the NAACP oppose a bill in Arizona which would ban race-based abortions? This organization claims to "advance" the causes of black citizens.

How does abortion succeed at doing that?

The leading cause of death in the black community is abortion, by a two-to-one margin over everything else combined. Black citizens make up 14% of the female population of child-bearing age, yet 35% of all abortions are performed on black females. Over 14 million black babies have been murdered by abortion; the black population in this country has been reduced by 33%.

In spite of these facts, many black "leaders" (Obama, Jackson, Sharpton, etc.), as well as the NAACP, defend, and even promote, abortion and the nation's number one abortion provider, Planned Parenthood. Are they ignorant of the fact that the founder of PP advocated selective population control and promoted a reduction in the black population?

Do they not know that 80% of PP's abortion clinics are located in minority neighborhoods?

It would seem that the NAACP is, in reality, the National Association of Abortion Condoning People. And anyone who supports such an organization is actually condoning Black Genocide. Wake up, people!!

According to the arrest report, deputies were called to a residence on C.R. 229 after Carpenter threw a cell phone at his mother, hitting her in the arm with enough force that she thought her arm was broken. When deputies located Carpenter on the property later and handcuffed him, he pulled away from the officers several times and ran toward the house, refusing to get in the patrol car. At one point, Carpenter spit at a deputy while they were trying to get him into the vehicle, and after being hit twice with a Taser, he still kicked another officer in the chest as they wrestled him into the back seat.

The following day, June 30, Carpenter was charged again for battery and aggravated battery against law enforcement officers. According to the arrest report, Hill was meeting the victim—whom he has several children with—at Edwards' Grocery. The victim stated they had a brief argument over their children when she spit toward Hill while he was sitting in a vehicle. Antonio Pierre Uroliia, 38, of Jacksonville was arrested June 27 by Starke police for hit and run, driving while license suspended or revoked and on an out-of-county warrant from Duval. According to the arrest report, Uroliia hit the back of a vehicle that was stopped on S.R. 16 at the intersection of U.S. 301 in Starke. Uroliia then turned around and went east on S.R. 16, with the victim following him in his vehicle to Thompson Street in Starke, while also calling the police. When the officer arrived, Uroliia admitted to hitting the vehicle, but said he left to go to a friend's home to check on his kids. Running Uroliia's information through dispatch, it was discovered his license was suspended, along with the warrant out of Duval County for his arrest. Bond was set at $3,100 for the charges.

According to the arrest report, Warren and the victim—his girlfriend—were arguing, during which time Warren kicked and punched her in the face. Warren's uncle was also in the home and yelled at Warren during the argument, causing Warren to run to the uncle's room and start choking him and holding him to the floor. The girlfriend kicked Warren in the back to get him off his uncle. Warren then got up and hit her in the face again before leaving the residence.

Union

Zachery Clifford Schaeffer, 22, of Worthington Springs was arrested June 26 by Union deputies for aggravated assault with a weapon. According to the arrest report, Schaeffer, who lives in the Santa Fe Mobile Home Park, got into an argument with next-door neighbors over a dog. The neighbors told the deputy their kids were outside playing when a small dog was let outside from Schaeffer's residence. The dog ran toward the kids playing in the driveway and almost bit one of the kids. The mother of the kids yelled that if the dog bit one of her kids, she would break the dog's neck. Schaeffer then came out cursing the woman and eventually cursing her husband, who came out and walked to the road to yell at Schaeffer, too. Schaeffer then went inside his home and came back out with a knife with a red handle and a bent blade. Schaeffer started to walk off the porch toward the husband, but was restrained by someone in the home. The neighbors called law enforcement, and the deputy was able to locate a knife that fit the description in Schaeffer's residence before arresting him.

A 16-year-old male was arrested June 26 by Union deputies for felony battery and felony larceny. According to the arrest report, the juvenile got into an argument with his mother, and when she asked him to leave her room, he slapped her across the face, causing her to fall down. When his mother got back on her feet, he head-butted her in the forehead, causing her to fall again. He then took her cell phone and her keys, preventing her from leaving. The mother eventually went to a neighbor's home and called law enforcement, and the juvenile was arrested at the home where the mother and several other children live.

Quentin Johnson, 20, of Lake Butler was arrested June 24 by Union deputies on a warrant for distribution of cocaine—within 1,000 feet of school or public park, and possession of drugs—controlled substance without a prescription. Bond was set at $60,000 for the charges.

Linda Gail Beadnell, 51, of Lake Butler was arrested June 29 by Union deputies for disorderly intoxication. According to the arrest report, Beadnell was walking in the middle of C.R. 239A near dark. A family member called law enforcement to report that Beadnell was drunk and was walking in the middle of the road. When a deputy arrived, Beadnell said she was walking to Providence, but couldn't say whom she would stay with and said she wouldn't stay with her family nearby. She then started walking in the middle of the road again, causing several oncoming vehicles to pull over to avoid hitting her. She was arrested and transported to jail.

Adel, Ga. He was an assistant for four years, serving as offensive coordinator for the last two years.

In 2005, Green returned to Florida, accepting the head coaching position at Hamilton County High School at the age of 27. He went 11-18 in three seasons at Hamilton County before resigning to become offensive coordinator and assistant head coach at Orange Park High School, where his father was hired as head coach.

"I wanted to work for him and try to learn how he did things," Green said.

The biggest thing he learned from his father, Green said, was how to manage a coaching staff and ensure that coaches and players were all on the same page.

"He taught me a lot about how to do that and how to go about doing it the right way," Green said.

Orange Park went 34-22 in the five years Green and his father coached there. The school had won only two district championships in its history, but went on to win three straight in 2008, 2009 and 2010.

In his one year as assistant head coach at Fleming Island, the Golden Eagles put together the second undefeated regular season in school history and finished 10-1 after a loss in the first round of the playoffs.

Farnsworth said he feels good about hiring Green because Green wasn't putting his name in for every head coaching opportunity that became available. He knew what he wanted, and Bradford High School was that school.

"What he was looking for was a small, rural community with one high school and one that he could put back on the map," Farnsworth said.

Green said it will take time and a lot of work as Bradford tries to rebound from a 3-7 season, though it was a season in which the Tornados qualified for the playoffs. Numbers were down in the spring as just over 30 players were attending practices.

"I'm willing to put in the time and effort it takes," Green said. "I know it's not a one-year turnaround."

Green said he would soon be getting out in the community, talking to current players and their families and describing to them his philosophies and what he wants to accomplish at BHS. The goal is to not only convince current players to stick with the program, but to also convince other kids, through word of mouth, to join as well.

Green stressed he has an open-door policy in which anyone, regardless of whether or not they played last year or in the spring, will be welcomed.

"My number-one priority right now is to try to touch the community through the kids and get the numbers back up," Green said.

In a portfolio that accompanied his resume and application, Green wrote that he envisions his offense operating out of multiple formations and running the ball 60-65 percent of the time. That is an estimate, though, as Green noted that the team will take what the opposing defense gives it.

"My philosophy on offense is that in order to win championships, you must establish a strong running game and an efficient passing game," Green wrote in his portfolio. "I will use the run to set up the pass."

Green said his defensive philosophy centers on adapting to take away an opponent's strength and utilizing speed to create a blitzing and aggressive style of play. The key, though, is to keep it simple.

"I believe a confused defense is a passive defense, so we will keep it simple to allow our players to be aggressive," Green wrote in his portfolio. "The majority of the time, the most physical team will win, and we will strive to always be just that."

Green said he is looking forward to building upon the foundation already in place at BHS and "trying to take it to another level."

Farnsworth said, "I'm really excited about the future."

The Bradford High School

Football Boosters invite Tornado supporters to meet Green, his family and staff at the Downtown Grill in Starke on Friday, July 11, from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Light refreshments will be served.

Cox and hearing him share his stories for more than 20 years.

"What a wonderful, humble human being Glenn is," she said. "He'll do anything for anyone."

Cox, who has been writing poetry ever since he was in the service, perhaps summed himself up best with a poem he wrote entitled, "My Creed:"

To live a life gentle and kind
To treat all people as friends of mine

To take the good with the bad
To thank my God for faith I have had

To try to do the things that are right

To make someone else's pathway bright

If friends of mine, my life review,

They can say he was a friend
we knew

He was a man who looked for good

He was a man who stood for right, as all men should

Some words that I hope I leave behind

Will encourage these dear friends of mine

To be honest and generous while I am here

No criticisms at all will I fear
This I am sure is all I need

For my philosophy and my creed.

up in a small town, they hoped they can be examples that one can succeed no matter where he or she comes from. However, they wanted to make it clear to the children that even though everyone can't go on to be a professional athlete, they can achieve success.

"I'm always impressed by the doctors, lawyers and businessmen that I played with on the (UCHS) football team," Warren said, adding that it was inspiring to him "to see them and know they went off to college and became professionals at what they wanted to be in life."

Spiller told the children, "You guys are the future of this country, this world. I want to see everyone here be successful, but to be able to do that, it always starts in the classroom."

Life itself is something Spiller and Warren make it a point to talk about with the children. Yes, the two UCHS standouts went on to play in college and the NFL, but it took more than football skills to pave those successful paths. Each stressed the importance of education.

"You're looking at a guy who was a class clown and had to sit out a year of football," Spiller told the children prior to the start of the camp. "That kind of put everything back into perspective.

"It doesn't matter how talented you are. That classroom comes first."

Warren said the expectation at the camp is for children to pay attention, give their all and do their best. The same applies to the classroom.

"That goes a long way," Warren said. "That's in my post-camp speech—the classroom and the importance of paying attention, focusing and giving

Keystone captures 2nd straight 10U district championship

The Keystone Recreation Association 10U all-star baseball team won its district for the second straight year, going 4-0 and earning the right to compete in a state-level tournament this weekend in Fort White.

It was quite a performance by the Keystone bats at the June 27-29 district tournament, which was hosted by Keystone at Little Rain Lake Park. Keystone scored 56 runs, including 19 in an 18-run win against Chiefland in its first game on June 27.

Keystone defeated its opponents by an average of nine runs per game, but the team had to come from behind twice to win a thriller against Williston to put itself in the championship game.

Following the 19-1 win over Chiefland, Keystone defeated Santa Fe 13-7 to advance to the semifinals to face Williston. Williston built an 8-0 lead in the third inning, but Keystone rallied with an eight-run fourth to even the score. Williston added another run in the top of the fifth with one out, but Keystone got out of the inning when Ryan Jones turned a double play.

Williston held a 9-8 lead going into the last inning. Keystone put two runners on when Carson Eatman and Chase Packham each got a hit. Ty Glenn then doubled to left field to bring both runners home and give Keystone a 10-9 win.

Keystone had to face Williston again in the championship game, but this time it was Keystone doing all the early scoring, while pitcher Karsen Smith kept the Williston bats in check. Keystone scored 13 runs in the first inning of what turned out to be a 14-2 win. Smith recorded four strikeouts in earning the win.

For the tournament, Smith pitched 9.2 innings, giving up seven earned runs and striking out 12. Ashton Roach pitched three innings, giving up one earned run and striking out three.

Glenn batted .556 for the tournament, while Caleb Hall and Jones batted .455 and .444, respectively. The three batters combined for four doubles, two triples and 14 hits overall, with Hall leading the team with three extra-base hits.

Jones scored a team-high nine runs, while Eatman and Gage Smith each scored five runs.

Head coach Chris Roach emphasized teamwork all season and said every player contributed to the district championship. Some of the players he singled out were: Wil Rogel with two hits and one walk, Packham with three stolen bases, one double and eight walks, Jackson Williams with a perfect fielding percentage, Gage Smith with one double, Eatmon with three hits, Caleb Crawford with one triple and two runs scored and Bryce Hart with a perfect fielding percentage and two runs scored.

Keystone Recreation Association wished to express its thanks to field crew members Tommy Baker, Dan Glenn, Justin Jones and Jason LeMaster, as well as sponsors B&H Interiors Inc., B.C. Industrial Supply Inc., C&R Electrical Services Inc., M&R Construction Inc., Keystone Building Corp., Teal Tile, Sunbelt Rental and E. Vaughan Rivers Inc.

Karsen Smith threw 9.2 innings, striking out 12 batters.
