Family locates man's remains after 20 years

SHEMIR WILES
Chronicle

For 20 years, part of James Nelson laid as John Doe among the countless rows of headstones at Holly Gardens Cemetery in Tangipahoa Parish, La.

The rest of his remains were stored at a Louisiana university laboratory.

Where he came from lingered as a mystery. His identity was lost in the dead of night July 23, 1990, when an 18-wheeler struck him and dragged his body for miles on a lonely stretch of highway.

But his family never forgot him. On two pieces of paper, a description and information about "Uncle Jim" laid on Janice Carroll's desk at home as a reminder of her uncle who went missing when she was in her 20s. Every few years, Janice's mother, Gay Denton, said Janice would take out the information to try to find any clues as to her uncle's disappearance, but numerous phone calls and countless questions led to nothing time after time.

It wasn't until her search in April led her to a missing persons website that Janice learned her uncle's remains where found at a truck stop in Hammond, La., the same night he disappeared. Now his remains are being sent to Citrus County for his final burial Friday in Homosassa.

"Yep, he's coming home," Gay

Every family has a black sheep, Gay said, and her brother, James, was definitely the one in theirs.

"He was unique," Gay said. 'He was just differen

Originally from Georgia, James came to Homosassa to live with his grandmother when his mother died six weeks after his birth. The baby of the boys, James was one of a total of eight siblings.

He was in the Navy and the Coast Guard. A free spirit who loved adventures, James never stayed in one place for long. He loved life, Gay said. James also loved to hitchhike and Gay said he would always return to Florida, sharing stories about his experiences on the road.

"He was a fabulous storyteller.

Mother and daughter Gay Denton and Janice Carroll look at family photos in preparation for a memorial service they are planning for the family. Denton's brother, Jim Nelson, disappeared 20 years ago on July 23. The family had no idea what happened to Nelson until Carroll started doing research and found his remains buried as a John Doe at Holly Gardens Cemetery in Tangipahoa Parish, La. Some of his remains were kept at Louisiana State University.

He had that gift," Gay said.

One trip he made quite often was from Lakeland to his sister's home in Lubbock, Texas.

On the night James disappeared, Gay said her brother was on his way to Texas when he stopped to pick up money from a Western Union around 7 p.m. in Pascagoula, Miss. After several days passed, his sister in Texas, Alice Langley, called her local police department to report her brother missing. An APB (all points bulletin) went out around the same time another sister in Meridian, Miss., contacted her local police department, who sent out a BOLO (be on the lookout).

Gay said both of the reports were supposed to have been

Oil gets plugged, but for how long?

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — The Gulf Coast found itself in an odd moment of limbo Saturday: The oil has been stopped, but no one knows if it's corked for good.

The clock expired on BP's 48hour observation period and the government added another day of critical monitoring. Scientists and engineers were optimistic that the well showed no obvious signs of leaks, but were still struggling to understand puzzling data emerging from the bottom of the sea.

It's possible the past three days will be only a brief reprieve from the flow of oil bleeding into the Gulf. Retire Coast Guard Adm. Thad Allen, the government's point man on the crisis, decided Saturday that after the testing was complete the well would be hooked up again to ships on the surface to contain the oil.

That likely means releasing crude back into the water temporarily to relieve pressure. It would still not be gushing at the rate it had been before BP's latest

Key Center auction raises $70K

TAYLOR PROVOST Chronicle

The 28th annual Key Training Center dinner auction raised $70,060 Friday night for scholarships to more than 50 unfunded clients.

"I think it was a very successful evening," Key Center Community Relations Manager Iris Whittaker said. "And everybody had in mind the reason we were there — to help developmentally disabled adults."

About 400 people attended the event, Whittaker said, which included a steak dinner provided by Key Center supporter Outback Steakhouse of Inverness, as well as silent and live auctions and a performance by David Born, who performed a comedy routine while impersonating actor Robin The evening kicked off with the

And even though it was only days since the oil was turned off, the naked eye could spot improvements on the water. The crude appeared to be dissipating quickly on the surface of the Gulf around the Deepwater Horizon site.

Members of a Coast Guard crew that flew over the wellhead Saturday said far less oil was visible than a day earlier. Only a colorful sheen and a few long streams of rust-colored, weathered oil were apparent in an area that was covered by huge patches of black crude weeks earlier. Somewhere between 94 million and 184 million gallons have spilled into the Gulf, according to government estimates.

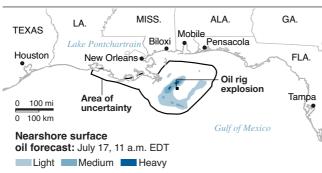

Kendra Sanders was buying Creole tomatoes at a produce stand in Jesuite Bend. "At least we still got these. Until a hurricane comes along and blows the oil in here. Then it'll be no shrimp and no vegetables," she said.

Deadline nears for voter registration

Citrus County Supervisor of Elections Susan Gill has announced that the deadline to register to vote or change party affiliation for the Aug. 24 primary election is Monday, July 26. Anyone who is not registered by that date will be unable to vote in this election.

In accordance with Chapter 97.055 F.S., the registration books must be closed on the 29th day before each election and must remain closed until after that election. Voter registration and party changes will be accepted, but only for subsequent elections.

People often fail to register to vote because they do not want to be called for jury duty. This law has been changed and jury lists are now selected from driver's license

If you have any questions regarding your voter registration status, call the elections office at 341-6740.

Group plans for vets in classrooms

The Veterans Appreciation Week Ad Hoc Coordinating Committee will conduct its annual Veterans in the Classroom program, Nov. 1 to 12, as part of its 18th annual Veterans Appreciation Week activities

Coordinated by the Citrus County Chapter of the Military Officers Association of America, the Veterans in the Classroom program brings living history to the classrooms of the county's public and private schools, as well as home-school groups. Veterans share with students their firsthand military experiences and travels while serving our country in uniform around the world during times of peace and war.

The program's success has generated the need for additional veterans to share their experiences with students. Persian Gulf, Afghanistan, Iraq, Air Force, veterans are especially needed as participants.

All interested veterans may contact Gary Runyon at 563-5727, Mac McLeod at 746-1384 or Bob Truax at 860-1630.

Landfill collects residential waste, paint

The drowning death of a Hillsborough County man while he was scalloping in the Homosassa River last week has raised concerns about the importance of safety when scalloping without a guide.

County business study set to start

Focus on industry, workforce in region

CHRIS VAN ORMER Chronicle

Industry and the workforce in Citrus County soon will go under the microscope.

SRI International, an independent nonprofit research and development organization, has announced it has been awarded a $525,000 contract to conduct detailed industry cluster and workforce analysis for the Tampa Bay region and to develop strategies to strengthen the region's economy and workforce.

The project will encompass eight counties: Citrus, Hernando, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, Pinellas, Polk and Sarasota. Three metropolitan areas, Bradenton-Sarasota-Venice, Lakeland-Winter Haven, and Tampa-St. Petersburg-Clearwater, also will be included in the analysis.

The Tampa Bay Regional Planning Council and the Tampa Bay Partnership awarded the contract. Citrus County joined the partnership on March 10. 'Citrus County will be a full partici-

Key Training Center's Run for the Money 2010 unfunded clients

Note: These people are among the unfunded clients who the Key Training Center supports from proceeds raised during Run for the Money week.

Stephanie Adkisson, 22, enjoys spending time with her friends at the Key Training Center in Inverness. There she attends cooking class, where she has learned to make simple meals. She also takes computer class, playing a game to learn more about budgets and managing her money.

Chris DeRosa, 24, works hard on the Elster Aamco contract in the Key Training Center's Inverness Workshop. He has developed the skill to work on a pneumatic stripping machine that strips wire. Chris is very proud of his ability to earn a paycheck each month for the work he does.

Bill Kersey, 61, likes to be around his friends at the Key Training Center. Like a lot of men on the Nature Coast, he loves going fishing. Bill works on the Elster Aamco contract in Inverness. He keeps very busy stripping wires using a pneumatic stripper, a task that requires precision and skill.

Chanel McKinnon, 26, dreams of having her own apartment one day. At the Key Training Center, she concentrates on her tasks in the workshop, always completing what she begins. Chanel works at the Key Center Thrift Store and volunteers at Citrus Memorial Health System. Chanel loves to stay busy and never says no when asked for help.

George Patton works hard in the Key Training Center Workshop, completing many tasks and using special equipment to accomplish the wire stripping steps in the Elster contract. George loves football and talking with his co-workers about his favorite team — Ohio State. In computer class, he usually prints football info or stats.

Mitchell Spaulding. 24, has a lot of ambition and is always eager to try new things. In his work in the Key Center Nursery, Mitchell uses many tools and really likes mowing. One day, he would like to get a job at a restaurant helping with food preparation, so he assists at the Key Produce stand, where he has a flair for arranging the fruit.

Leah Bruce, 23, enjoys her time in the Key Training Center's Imagination Workshop, where she contributed to two of the largest papier mache projects, a reindeer and a pumpkin. She enthusiastically participates in Zumba classes. Leah is also working on her writing skills and likes working on puzzles.

■ I run for the Key Training Center because God has given me the physical ability to do it. The Key Center is a great cause. This run brings recognition to the consumers and the struggles they face each day. Most of them cannot run. I am blessed to be able to and it is an honor to run for them.

Other auction items included a scooter ($700), a golf cart ($1,200) and a .22 caliber rifle engraved with the words "Key Center Auction 2010," ($750).

is Robert Boissoneault?

Robert Boissoneault is an unusual name for a cancer treatment center where no one with that name is involved. Here's the story .... At the age of ten, Norm Anderson met a classmate who would change his life. That redheaded boy, Robert Boissoneault, became his best friend. Rusty, as he was known, was always happy when Norm succeeded, and always supportive when the chips were down.

As they passed through high school and entered university, Rusty and Norm remained good friends. During their third year of college, Rusty was diagnosed with cancer, Hodgkin's disease. He fought that malignancy with all his effort, but he did not win the battle. Today, Rusty could have been cured. Then, he received good treatment but Rusty deserved so much more.

When Norm Anderson became a physician and, subsequently, a cancer specialist, he never forgot the way he wished Rusty had been cared for – the way every patient should be cared for. Our radiation oncology practice is named for Rusty as a constant reminder to the physicians and staff of the caring and competence that every patient deserves.

Every patient who walks through our door ... is Rusty.

Hibernating bears have good hearts

Associated Press

PULLMAN, Wash. Grizzly bears love pastries, can be 50 percent body fat and spend nearly half the year sleeping.

Yet the hibernating bears don't suffer heart attacks, have no hardening of the arteries, no fatty deposits or any circulation issues, said Charles Robbins, director of the Washington State University bear research center.

Robbins, who founded the center in 1986, and other WSU scientists are seeking to learn how bear hearts stay so healthy, and whether the answers can be applied to humans.

"The changes in the heart that occur in hibernation are things you and I couldn't survive," said Lynne Nelson, a veterinary cardiologist who has spent seven years studying the bears. "Yet bear hearts are very healthy.'

Scientists have found that grizzly hearts drop from more than 80 beats per minute when bears are awake to less than 20 beats, and sometimes into single digits, when bears are hibernating. Nelson said echocardiograms show blood starting to pool in the heart, but the bears do not suffer clots.

So far, Nelson and Robbins have only theories to explain how the bears, which share 95 percent of healthy hearts. They have published papers saying that protein changes make bear hearts stiffer during hibernation, allowing them to maintain their shape and perhaps avoid the formation of clots. Bears also shut down two of the four heart chambers without suffering damage.

The scientists are also studying beta receptors and beta blockers in bears, which control heart rate.

BP has taken full responsibility for the cleanup in the Gulf. And that includes keeping you informed.

Searching For And Cleaning Up The Oil

Every morning, over 50 spotter planes and helicopters search for oil off the coast, heading to areas previously mapped with satellite imagery and infrared photography. Once oil is found, they radio down to the 6,000 ships and boats of all sizes that are supporting the cleanup effort and working to collect the oil. These are thousands of local shrimping and fishing boats organized into task forces and strike teams, plus specialized skimmers mobilized from as far as the Netherlands.

We have recovered more than 27 million gallons of oil-water mixture from the Gulf. Other methods have also helped remove millions of additional gallons of oil from the water. We've deployed more than 8 million feet of boom to protect beaches and sensitive wildlife areas.

Hurricane Preparedness

In the event of a hurricane, our first priority is keeping people safe. In coordination with the Coast Guard and local officials, we may suspend operations temporarily but have organized to resume them as soon as possible.

Our Responsibility

We have already spent more than $3.2 billion responding to the spill and on the cleanup, and none of this will be paid by taxpayers. We will work in the Gulf as long as it takes to get this done. We may not always be perfect but we will do everything we can to make this right.

Old bubbly found in Baltic Sea

STOCKHOLM — Now that's some vintage bubbly.

Divers have discovered what is thought to be the world's oldest drinkable champagne in a shipwreck in the Baltic Sea, one of the finders said Saturday. They tasted the one bottle they've brought up so far before they even got back to shore.

Diving instructor Christian Ekstrom said the bottles are believed to be from the 1780s and likely were part of a cargo destined for Russia. The nationality of the sunken ship has not yet been determined.

"We brought up the bottle to be able to establish how old the wreck was," he told The Associated Press. "We didn't know it would be champagne. We thought it was wine or something.'

Ekstrom said the divers were overjoyed when they popped the cork on their boat after hauling the bubbly from a depth of 200 feet.

"It tasted fantastic. It was a very sweet champagne, with a tobacco taste and oak," Ekstrom said.

The divers discovered the shipwreck Tuesday near the Aland Islands, between Sweden and Finland. About 30 bottles are believed to be aboard the sunken vessel.

Ekstrom said he is confident of the champagne's age and authenticity, but samples have been sent to laboratories in France for testing. "We're 98 percent sure already because of the bottle (we

Reputed neo-Nazi leads border patrols in Arizona

Associated Press

PHOENIX Minutemen groups, a surge in Border Patrol agents, and a tough new immigration law aren't enough for a reputed neo-Nazi who's now leading a militia in the Arizona desert.

Jason "J.T." Ready is taking matters into his own hands, declaring war on "narco-terrorists" and keeping an eye out for illegal immigrants. So far, he says his patrols have only found a few border crossers who were given water and handed over to the Border Patrol. Once, they also found a decaying body in a wash, and alerted authorities.

But local law enforcement are nervous given that Ready's group is heavily armed and identifies with the National Socialist Movement, an organization that believes only non-Jewish, white heterosexuals should be American citizens and that everyone who isn't white should leave the country "peacefully or by force.

"We're not going to sit around and wait for the government anymore." Ready said. "This is our founding fathers did."

An escalation of civilian border watches have taken root in Arizona in recent years, including the Minutemen movement. Various groups patrol the desert on foot, horseback and in airplanes and report suspicious activity to the Border Patrol, and generally, they have not caused problems for law enforce-

But Ready, a 37-year-old ex-Marine, is different. He and his friends are outfitted with military fatigues, body armor and gas masks, and carry assault rifles. Ready takes offense at the term "neo-Nazi," but admits he identifies with the National Socialist Movement.

"These are explicit Nazis," said Mark Potok of the Southern Poverty Law Center's Intelligence Project. "These are people who wear swastikas on their sleeves."

Ready is a reflection of the anger over illegal immigration in Arizona. Gov. Jan Brewer signed a controversial new immigration law in April, which requires police, while enforcing other laws, to question a person's immigration status if officers have a reasonable suspicion that the person is in the country ille-

But Brewer hasn't done enough, Ready said, and he's not satisfied with President Barack Obama's decision to beef up security at the border.

Pinal County Sheriff Paul Babeu said there haven't been any incidents with the group as they patrol his jurisdiction, which includes several busy immigrant smuggling corridors. But Babeu is concerned because an untrained group acting without the authority of the law could cause "extreme problems," and put themselves and others in danger.

"I'm not inviting them. And in fact, I'd rather they not come," Babeu said. "Especially those who espouse hatred or bigotry such as

Law enforcement officials said patrols like Ready's could undercut the work of the thousands of officers on duty every day across the border, especially if they try to enforce the law themselves in carry-

J.T. Ready poses in an undated handout photo. Ready is a reputed neo-Nazi who has been conducting heavily armed patrols to catch illegal aliens in the Arizona desert amid the furor over immigration in the state, and angering local law enforcement officials who say right-wing radicals are not welcome. ing out vigilante justice.

Ready said his group has been patrolling in the desert about 50 miles south of Phoenix, in an area where a Pinal County Sheriff's deputy reported he was shot by drug smugglers in April.

Bureau of Land Management rangers met Ready's group during one patrol, and they weren't violating any laws or looking for a volunteers and the scouts' evidence confrontation, said spokesman

The patrols have been occurring on public land, and militia members have no real restrictions on their weaponry because of Arizona's loose gun laws.

The militia is an outgrowth of border watch groups that have been part of the immigration debate in Arizona. Patrols in the Arizona desert by Minutemen organizations brought national attention to illegal immigration in 2004 and 2005.

Such groups continue to operate in Arizona, and law enforcement officials generally don't take issue with them as long as they don't take matters into their own hands. Candelaria said the agency appre- end of that.'

ciates the extra eyes and ears, but they would prefer actual law enforcement be left to professionals.

Former Minutemen leader Al Garza recently created the Patriot's Coalition, which uses scouts and search-and-rescue teams to alert the Border Patrol and provide first aid to illegal immigrants.

Depending on the availability of of border crossers, patrols can vary from several times a week to once a month, Garza said. The operation has about 500 people, and includes a neighborhood watch program, legislative advisers and a horseback patrol, he said.

Technology, rather than manpower, is the focus of Glenn Spencer's American Border Patrol. The group is based at his ranch near the border. The five-man operation flies three small airplanes to ensure that the Border Patrol is present and visible along the international line.

Spencer also uses Internet-controlled cameras and works with a group called Border Invasion Pics, which posts photos of people they suspect are crossing illegally.

'Sitting out there with a bunch of volunteers looking for people is generally a tremendous waste of people and time," Spencer said.

"And it's also dangerous." Ready said he's planning patrols throughout the summer. "If they don't want my people out there, then there's an easy way to send us home: Secure the border," he said. "We'll put our guns Border Patrol spokesman Omar back on the shelf, and that'll be the

Abbas: Israel must OK borders, guards

Associated Press

RAMALLAH, West Bank Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas said he'll resume direct peace talks if Israel accepts its 1967 frontier as a baseline for the borders of a Palestinian state and agrees to the deployment of an international force to guard them.

Abbas is under growing pressure from the United States to resume negotiations, and met Saturday with President Barack Obama's Mideast envoy. George Mitchell.

Abbas' latest comments, published Saturday in the Jordanian newspaper Al-Ghad, hinted at some flexibility in his position.

The Palestinian leader did not mention a comprehensive Israeli settlement freeze as a condition for negotiations — something he has underlined as crucial in the past.

However, it seemed unlikely Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu would meet Abbas' demands. Netanyahu has refused to be pinned down on a framework for negotiations, insisting on talks without conditions.

The Palestinians are wary of entering talks with the hardline Netanyahu, after 17 years of intermittent talks with a succession of Israeli leaders failed to bring them any closer to statehood.

The Palestinians want to establish their state in the West Bank, Gaza Strip and east Jerusalem, territories Israel captured in the 1967 Mideast War.

Netanyahu has not said how much occupied territory he is willing to relinquish for a Palestinian state. However, he has said he will not give up control of Jerusalem and has insisted on a continued Israeli troop presence on the eastern border of a future Palestinian state.

Why fly without Wi-Fi?

Some travelers just don't want to pay the price

SAMANTHA BOMKAMP Associated Press

NEW YORK — Travelers used to getting a free wireless Internet connection on land aren't willing to pay for one at 30,000

Wireless Internet service on airlines hasn't caught on, mostly because of the price. Travelers already paying $25 to check a bag and $20 for a roomier seat don't want to fork over $5 or more for Wi-Fi unless it's necessary. They're saving their Web surfing for solid ground, where "hot spots" offer the service at no charge.

Airlines have offered promotions, including some free service, to draw attention to their Wi-Fi. But experts say only about 10 percent of passengers on Web-enabled flights have taken advantage.

Airline technology consultant Michael Planey thinks Wi-Fi will be free as early as mid-2011. But if airlines want to go that route, there's a catch: They still have to compensate the service provider, such as Aircell, whose Gogo Inflight Internet serves every major airline except South-

Planey thinks the airlines have a few options to cover the costs:

Verizon to sponsor free Internet service. Those providers would make money through advertisements. ■ Pay for some part of the service themselves and then use it to cut costs. For example, a flight attendant could use the

The major airlines have equipped most of their planes with Wi-Fi and touted the service. Prices of $4.95 to $12.95 aren't exactly exorbitant, but passengers won't shell out that money for something they don't see as a necessity after paying higher airfares than last year and other fees, says Anne Banas, executive editor of SmartTravel.com.

Even business travelers, who tend to have more money and a stronger desire to be constantly connected, don't seem to be latching on to Wi-Fi service in big numbers. Banas thinks it's a problem with the logistics of working on an airplane there isn't enough wiggle room between the seats, or enough time in most cases between takeoff and landing, when laptops and smart phones have to be turned off and stowed.

"If it were easy, or if it were free, people ■ Getting big companies like Google or would be much more likely to take advantage," Banas said. "It's just not there yet."

For now, Banas thinks Wi-Fi on Amtrak with more space and no worries about tucking things away for takeoff — is a better solution. Amtrak has had Wi-Fi for about four months on its Acela trains in the Northeast Corridor. It's free, and Amtrak said it will stay that way.

American Legion Post 155 hosts Hays' homecoming event

Special to the Chronicle

On Friday, May 21, another hero's welcome was staged at the Crystal River American Legion Post 155. Local veterans showed up to welcome SSGT Daniel Hays home from a long tour of duty in Afghanistan.

It was more than an all-family and friends gathering, as Hays was honored by numerous veterans from American Legion Department of Florida, American Legion Post/Unit 155 and 225, VFW Post/Unit 4337, Reserve Association Branch/Unit 186, U.S. Submariners Association, Citrus 40/8 Voiture/Cabane 1219, American Legion Riders Chapter 155 and Citrus County Veterans Coalition, for an American Legion Post 155 family fish fry dinner in Legion Post 155 Commander Jay his honor. He was the 91st Citrus Conti Sr. awarded Hays and SGT County hero in just more than two Charleen McDonald, Hays' new fiyears to be welcomed home.

More than 125 members of the community came to American Legion Post 155 for the welcome-home event. Hays was given a welcomehome basket of gifts that were donated by Citrus County merchants, veterans organizations and the Citrus County community. In attendance was American Legion Department of Florida Commander Phil Hearlson, who was being honored that weekend at the Crystal River American Legion. Also in attendance was past Department of Florida Commander Chuck Moreland, past Department of Florida Auxiliary President Doris Rash and Sons of The American Legion Department Commander Mike Dooley.

■ The Veterans Appreciation Week Ad Hoc Coordinating Committee will conduct its annual Veterans in the Classroom program, Nov. 1 through 12, as part of its 18th annual Veterans Appreciation Week

Coordinated by the Citrus County Chapter of the Military Officers Association of America (MOAA), the Veterans in the Classroom program brings living history to the classrooms of the county's public and private schools, as well as home school groups. Veterans share with students their firsthand military experiences and travels while serving our country in uniform around the world in peace and war.

The model Veterans in the Classroom program was recognized in 2008 with a Florida Education Foundation award. The program's success has generated the need for additional veterans to share their experiences with students. Persian Gulf, Afghanistan, Iraq, Air Force, National Guard and women veterans are especially needed as participants.

All interested veterans are encouraged to contact Gary Runyon 563-5727, Mac McLeod 746-1384 or Bob Truax 860-1630.

The Fishing Club of Beverly Hills will host a representative of Holland America Lines, Amy Barnett, on Aug. 18 at the Lion's Den in Beverly Hills. Barnett will do a presentation on an Alaska cruise tour.

The fishing club welcomes

Citrus County residents to join them at the Lion's Den at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 18, for the presentation.

The fishing club of Beverly Hills plans a group departure from Citrus County to Alaska on Holland America Alaska Cruise Tour No. 16, Fairbanks to Vancouver. For more information, call Pat at 257-9328 or Becky at 527-8855.

Ramble off to Grand Canyon

Members of the Nature Coast Ramblers Volkssport Club, a hiking, biking and kavaking club in Citrus County, will be traveling with Caravan Tours on an eightday trip to the Grand Canyon, Lake Powell, Bryce and Zion national parks.

The tour begins on Sept. 12, leaving from Phoenix, Ariz., and ending in Las Vegas, Nev. Base price is $1,095 per person, double. There is room for a few more, so if you are interested in this trip, call Cathy Knox at 527-3441. More details at www.caravan.com.

Head outdoors with Ramblers

Nature Coast Ramblers is an outdoor activity club of friendly people of all ages who enjoy self-paced hiking or walking, biking and kayaking activities in the Citrus County area. The club is associated with the American Volkssport Association (AVA), a national walking association, which in turn is affiliated with an international group.

Walking or hiking, biking or kayaking with the club promotes fitness. Our goal is to provide events that can challenge participants to keep active and are fun. We start walks, rides and kayak outings in different locations, which is a great way to explore the many beautiful trails, parks, forests and waterways of this area. Bicycle outings are generally the second Friday each month; hiking or walking is generally the third Saturday of each month; kayaking is usually the last Tuesday of each month.

For more information, visit www.naturecoastramblers.org or call Cathy at 527-3441.

Dear Annie: I'd like to add my comments to the letter from "Want My Girls Home," who resents that her mother-in-law is pressuring her to let her take the 11-year-old granddaughter on a vacation alone

We have been taking our 12 grandchildren for individual vacations beginning when they reach 11 (perfect age), and it took us 17 years to do them all. They now tell us it was the highlight of their childhood and the best vacation they ever had.

That mother should trust her 11-year-old daughter. She will learn so much and, under the guidance of wise grandparents, will grow up a wee bit because she has been allowed to make some choices on her own while traveling. Let her spread her wings. — Been There, Done That suburban New Jersey a few weeks ago, and the CIA is still trying to figure out how much damage they may have done to the United States. As opposed to the kind of damage regular New Jerseyans do to the United States. What kind of information they were passing on to their Russian spymasters is still sketchy, but the transcripts of some of their communications have just been released.

"Hey, you told us that New Jersey was called the 'Garden State.' Was that some kind of joke? Like the way we call Russia 'democratic'? If this is the Garden State, what in Lenin's name do they call Hawaii? We've been here for almost 20 years, and I've probably only learned 20 secrets. One secret a year. You want to know the secret to finding a good parking spot at the Paramus Mall? Here it is: You drive around for, like, three hours. That's how long it takes to find an empty spot right in front of New Jersey, no one knows anything about The Cheesecake Factory or the Men's Wearhouse. When are we going to get something like the Men's Wearhouse in Moscow? It's fantastical. You can buy name-brand suits at half price. The prices are so low, it's almost like communism. Except they really have the suits. And you don't look fat and dumpy like Khrushchev or Yeltsin when you wear them.

"I'm enclosing the secret formula for Grey Goose vodka. I love this stuff. It's how I start my day. I think a good advertising slogan for it would be: 'Won't Make You Go Blind Like the Government Stuff.' Catchy, no? We learned a thing or two about advertising while living here, too. Also, I'm passing along the plans for Newark International Airport. These plans were very Russian spy ring was arrested in hard to get, as the secret to Newark Airport was that it was not built from a plan. They just started pouring concrete wherever there was a flat space. Here's a shot of it from Google Earth, which was invented by a Russian, as you know — like the automobile and the airplane.

"You want to know the secret to driving 85 mph on the New Jersey Turnpike? Text with one hand and make rude gestures with the other. If you haven't cut off or cursed at three or four other drivers each mile, you're doing it wrong. Use the horn when you would normally use the brake. If you are not in a hurry, why are you driving? "There are some secrets we anybody. Nobody seems to care that I never go to work, as long as I don't have crabgrass on the lawn. Since crabgrass is a Russian invention designed to make Americans crazy, it is no problem for us to keep lawn nice. Keep sending the antidote.

"Are you sure there are better secrets to be discovered in San Francisco or San Diego? I hear San Diego has the best secrets. Or Hawaii. I'm telling you, Hawaii is just loaded with secrets. Big, huge, honking secrets — especially in Maui.

Burnett hurts

Associated Press

NEW YORK — A.J. Burnett and the New York Yankees ended a difficult week on a sour note.

The big right-hander cut both palms when he slammed a set of double doors in frustration after giving up the first of Reid Brignac's two home runs Saturday in a 10-5 loss to the Tampa Bay Rays.

"I think the moral is just the fact that I let these guys down in a game where we weren't out of the game early against a good team that's right behind us in second place," Burnett said.

Burnett's anger swelled on the day George Steinbrenner was laid to rest and the Yankees honored longtime public address announcer Bob Sheppard during Old-Timers Day festivities.

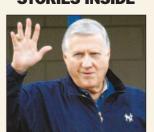

After the Rays made it 3-0 after two innings, Burnett marched into New York's clubhouse and slammed open a set of double doors leading to the showers at the far end of the room, slicing both hands on the plastic lineup-card holders pasted to the door. Burnett (7-8), sporting a square Band-Aid, and manager Joe Girardi said the No. 2 starter would have his regular bullpen session in two days and make his next scheduled start. Burnett said the location of the cuts do not affect how he grips the ball. Burnett initially told

Vinokourov, back from doping ban, wins 13th stage of race

Associated Press

REVEL, France Alexandre Vinokourov did his time for doping. Now, he's back to basking in Tour de France glory again.

The 36-year-old from Kazakhstan capped his return to cycling's main event by winning the 13th stage Saturday with a solo breakaway that said more about savvy and opportunistic cycling than leg power.

It was a far cry from the 2007 Tour, when Vinokourov was kicked out and instantly became an emblem of doping shame after testing positive for a banned blood transfusion.

Police raided his Astana team's hotel and the squad quit the race. Tour organizers lost the gamble they made by giving Astana a wild card to race a year after it was forced out in an-

Cycling's past with doping lingers at this Tour, especially after recent allegations by Floyd Landis that the use of banned substances was common on the U.S. Postal team when he rode with Lance Armstrong. The New York Post reported Saturday that threetime Tour champion Greg LeMond has been served as part of a U.S. federal investigation of possible fraud and doping charges against Armstrong and his associates.

On Saturday, Vinokourov looked back at the trailing pack and thrust his arms skyward at the end of the 121.8mile course from Rodez to Revel over five low-level climbs and beat the onrushing pack by 13 seconds.

Andy Schleck of Luxembourg retained the yellow jersey, finishing in the pack alongside Vinokourov's teammate Alberto Contador, who trails by 31 seconds. Samuel Sanchez of Spain is a distant third, 2:45 back.

A showdown between Contador and Schleck looms in the Pyrenees, where the pack heads today for the first of four stages — one of the toughest sequences of climbing the three-week race has seen in recent years.

The 114.7-mile ride from Revel to the ski station of Ax-Vinokourov has since said 3 Domaines will lead riders he doesn't want to dwell on up two extreme climbs, first the past. TORONTO — Justin Wilson won his first IndyCar Series pole to end Team Penske's streak at eight Saturday in the Honda Indy Toronto, turning a series track-record lap of 104.827 mph on the 11-turn, 1.755mile street circuit.

Wilson, the winner from the pole in the 2006 Champ Car race at the tight and bumpy Exhibition Place track, gave owner Dreyer & Reinbold Racing its first IndyCar pole since Sarah Fisher led the field at Kentucky Speedway in 2002.

"We've had a couple of tough races, so to come back and get the pole here is just fantastic," Wilson said. "Everyone at Dreyer & Reinbold has worked so hard.

'It's a good weekend so far. We have to keep it up.

Wilson saved a set of redlined tires — the softer and less durable of the two Firestone models — for the 10minute, six-car qualifying

We'll keep pushing for the reach the final six-car session — called the Fast Six — without using a set of the red tires in the first two segments since the alternate-tire program was introduced last season. "I was OK with the first round," the Englishman said. "The second round, I was a little nervous, but the car was that fast that we pulled it off."

Teams are required to use both the red and harder black-lined tires in the 85lap race today. They are limited to three sets of reds and six blacks for the three days of practice, qualifying and racing.

Penske's Will Power, the series leader and a threetime winner this season on street and road courses, qualified second at 104.505.

We definitely got the car better for qualifying, but Justin was very quick and tough to beat," Power said. "I'm not sure I could have beaten him this time. I know I made a mistake at the end of my lap, but that was a tough qualifying session. I'm exhausted. ... I feel good about tomorrow. I'm not sure what will happen with the weather. Rain always stirs things up, but we will take it as it comes.

TRINITY—The family of George Steinbrenner placed a casket inside a mausoleum at a cemetery near Tampa on Saturday, four days after the death of the New York Yankees owner.

The two sons and two daughters of the 80-year-old owner were joined by his wife, Joan, at Trinity Memorial Garden Cemetery.

Neither the Yankees nor cemetery officials would confirm that services were taking place. The cemetery is about a half-hour drive from the home of the late owner.

Boston Red Sox's Bill Hall, right, leaps to avoid Texas Rangers' Michael Young after throwing to first for a double play on a ball hit by Vladimir Guerrero in the eighth inning of Saturday's game in Boston. The Red Sox won in 11 innings.

Red Sox 3, Rangers 2, 11 innings

BOSTON — Kevin Youkilis doubled in the tying run in the ninth inning then drove in the winner with a basesloaded sacrifice fly in the 11th and the Boston Red Sox overcame a strong start by Cliff Lee and beat the Texas Rangers 3-2 Saturday night.

Marco Scutaro led off the 11th with a walk before Darnell McDonald bunted on a sacrifice attempt. Pitcher Alexi Ogando (3-1) fielded the ball and threw toward second, where it hit Scutaro and caromed into short left field. Scutaro went to third and McDonald took second. David Ortiz was walked intentionally, loading the bases with no outs.

Darren O'Day came in to face Youkilis, who lifted a fly ball to medium center field. Scutaro beat Josh Hamilton's throw without a slide.

Manny Delcarmen (3-2) pitched a perfect 11th after being activated from the disabled list earlier Saturday.

Texas, which lost its last four games before the All-Star break, had won the first two games against Boston but is 5-9 in its past 14 games. The Red Sox won for just the third time in 10 games.

Lee was cruising all night, retiring 22 of the previous 23 batters in his second start since being traded by Seattle. Then Scutaro led off the ninth with a single. He took second on a sacrifice by McDonald and third on a groundout to second by Ortiz. Youkilis

Athletics 6, Royals 5

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Kevin Kouzmanoff had three RBIs and Adam Rosales drove in the tiebreaking run against Joakim Soria in the ninth inning with his third single, leading the Oakland Athletics past Kansas City 6-5 on Saturday night.

Kurt Suzuki doubled with one out in the ninth against Soria (0-2), who started the ninth. With two outs. Rosales delivered the winner up the middle.

Kevin Kouzmanoff had three RBIs for the A's, who won their fourth in a row. Craig Breslow (4-2) pitched one inning for the victory and Andrew Bailey worked the ninth for his 19th save in 22 opportunities, striking out Jason Kendall with the potential tying run on Kansas City's Yuniesky Betancourt hit a grand slam in the second off Trevor Cahill for a 5-3 lead.

Cahill, making his first start since being named to the AL All-Star team. breezed through the first inning but ran into immediate trouble in the second, loading the bases on two singles and a walk before Betancourt, the No. 9 hitter, knocked a 2-1 pitch 366 feet over the fence in left. It was his third career grand slam and second this year.

Blue Jays 3, Orioles 2

BALTIMORE — Jose Bautista hit his major league-leading 25th homer in the eighth inning, a two-run shot off Jason Berken that provided the Toronto Blue Jays with a 3-2 comeback victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Kevin Gregg walked the bases loaded with two outs in the Baltimore ninth, but Shawn Camp retired Cesar Izturis on a fielder's choice to earn his first save.

Fred Lewis homered on the first pitch of the game for the Blue Jays, who improved to 8-0 against the Orioles this season. Toronto leads the majors with 139 homers and has hit at least one in 10 straight games.

Brandon Morrow (6-6) allowed two runs and five hits in seven innings to earn his first road win in 10 starts. The right-hander is 5-1 at home and 1-5 away from Rogers Centre.

Toronto trailed 2-1 when newcomer Yunel Escobar led off the eighth with a single off Berken (2-2). Bautista then launched a 1-0 pitch into the Toronto bullpen in left-center, his fifth homer in 10 games and third against the Orioles this year.

Three Blue Jays relievers worked the eighth, including Scott Downs, who got Nick Markakis to hit into an inningending double play with runners at first and third.

Indians 4, Tigers 3, 1st game

CLEVELAND — Trevor Crowe singled in the go-ahead run with two outs in the seventh inning and the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 4-3 in the first game of a day-night doubleheader Saturday.

Fausto Carmona (9-7) outlasted Detroit's Justin Verlander in a matchup of All-Star right-handers. Carmona fell behind 3-0 in the first inning, but got stronger while the Tigers' ace faded.

Crowe's hit off reliever Phil Coke (5-1) scored Matt LaPorta, who doubled with two outs. Crowe was thrown out trying for second to end the inning. Carmona left in the eighth after yielding a leadoff double to Johnny Damon. Joe Smith got Magglio Ordonez to ground out and fanned Miguel Cabrera. Left-hander Rafael Perez then retired Brennan Boesch on a groundout.

Cabrera went 0 for 3 with a walk, ending his hitting streak at 20 games.

Chris Perez worked the ninth for his eighth save. He closed in place of veteran Kerry Wood, put on the disabled list before the game due to a blistered right index finger.

Carlos Guillen had a two-run single and Brandon Inge followed with an RBI double in the Tigers' first.

Brewers 6, Braves 3

ATLANTA - Corey Hart hit a threerun double in Milwaukee's five-run seventh, Chris Narveson outpitched Tim Hudson and the Brewers beat the Atlanta Braves 6-3 on Saturday night.

Prince Fielder hit his 21st homer in the Brewers' big seventh and was hit by a pitch in the eighth, leading to ejections for Braves reliever Jonny Venters and manager Bobby Cox.

Venters threw a pitch over Fielder's head, then hit the stocky slugger on his back with his next offering. It was Cox's 156th ejection of his career, adding to his record, and third of the season. Matt Diaz and Eric Hinske homered for Atlanta.

Narveson (8-6) allowed two runs and six hits in six innings. John Axford recorded the final four outs for his 11th save.

Hudson (9-5) carried a 2-1 lead into the seventh inning but couldn't hold on for the win. Fielder led off with a drive to center on a 1-2 pitch. With two out, Rickie Weeks walked with the bases loaded to force in the tiebreaking run and Hart greeted reliever Peter Moylan with a bases-clearing double.

Reds 8, Rockies 1

CINCINNATI — Edinson Volquez gave a throwback performance in his return from elbow surgery, allowing only three hits over six innings Saturday night, and the Cincinnati Reds cracked four homers for an 8-1 victory over the Colorado Rockies. Volquez (1-0) made it back ahead of schedule from surgery last Aug. 3 to rebuild his right elbow. The Reds' former ace pitched like one, striking out nine while hitting 95 mph with his fastball.

He dominated a matchup of starters returning from injury.

Drew Stubbs homered in his first two at-bats against left-hander Jorge De La Rosa (3-2), who was hit hard in his second outing since he recovered from a torn tendon in his left middle finger. Brandon Phillips added a threerun shot, and Jonny Gomes homered off Jhoulys Chacin.

The Reds drew a capacity crowd of 41,300 for the team's annual Hall of Fame inductions. Third baseman Chris Sabo, reliever Pedro Borbon and 19th century pitcher Tony Mullane were added.

Cardinals 2, Dodgers 0

ST. LOUIS — Adam Wainwright pitched six sharp innings to improve to 10-0 at home and Skip Schumaker and Brendan Ryan each drove in a run, leading the St. Louis Cardinals over the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 on Saturday. Wainwright (14-5), who lowered his ERA to 2.02 ERA, has allowed just one earned run in his last 29 1/3 innings. The All-Star right-hander gave up five hits and struck out three in winning his fourth successive decision and sixth in the last seven. His ERA at Busch Stadium dropped to 1.31. St. Louis has won four in a row and has outscored Los Angeles 16-5 while winning the first three games of the four-game series. The Cardinals began the day a half-game behind Cincinnati for first place in the NL Central.

Wainwright became the first St. Louis pitcher to win his first 10 starts at home since at least 1920, according to STATS LLC.

Kyle McClellan followed Wainwright with two innings of one-hit relief. With a runner on first and two outs in the ninth, Ryan Franklin came on to retire Casey Blake for his 17th save in 18 opportunities.

Phillies 4, Cubs 1

T-2:52, A-26,634 (37,840)

CHICAGO — Placido Polanco, just off the disabled list, hit a tying single with two outs in the ninth inning and the Philadelphia Phillies rallied for four runs against wild closer Carlos Marmol to beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1 on Saturday.

Chad Durbin (1-1) pitched a scoreless eighth for the win and Brad Lidge got three outs for his seventh save in 10 tries.

Chicago won the first two games of the series and appeared on its way to making it three straight with a 1-0 lead. Marmol had struck out the side in the ninth Friday to get the save.

But pinch-hitters Brian Schneider and Ross Gload worked back-to-back walks with one out in the ninth Saturday against Marmol (2-2), who blew his fourth save in 21 chances.

After Shane Victorino struck out, Schneider raced around with the tying run on Polanco's two-out single to left, sliding in as catcher Geovany Soto couldn't hold Tyler Colvin's strong, onehop throw.

Marmol then uncorked a ball-four wild pitch with Jimmy Rollins at the plate as Gload sprinted in with the go-ahead run. Philadelphia Chicago

MIAMI — Josh Johnson and three relievers combined on an 11-hit shutout, and the Florida Marlins beat the Washington Nationals 2-0 Saturday The Nationals went 0 for 9 with runners in scoring position and stranded 10. Johnson (10-3) struck out seven and walked none in six innings, lowering his NL-leading ERA to 1.62. The All-Star pitcher has not allowed more than two runs in his past 12 starts, pitching at least six innings each time. Ronny Paulino drove in the only runs with a single in the second off Livan Hernandez (6-6).

Washington had plenty of scoring chances, with at least one hit in seven innings. Johnson allowed singles by Nyjer Morgan and Roger Bernadina to start the game and needed 22 pitches to get his first out but escaped, setting a pattern for the night. Adam Dunn stranded five runners by striking out three times against Johnson. Ryan Zimmerman was retired three times, stranding two runners on each occasion. Washington's Adam Kennedy was thrown out at the plate in the fourth trying to score from second after second baseman Dan Uggla mishandled a two-out grounder. Leo Nunez gave up a two-out scratch single in the ninth before earning his 21st save in 26 chances. The Marlins have eight shutouts this season, all with help from their much-maligned bullpen. Johnson improved to 7-0 in 14 games against the Nationals, but he

CRHS to conduct sports physicals

All Crystal River High School students who plan to participate in athletics during the 2010-2011 school year need to have an updated physical.

Citrus Chiropractic Group has set aside Wednesday afternoon to conduct physicals for CRHS students. All physicals will be conducted at their office at highway 44 and 2320 Sunshine Path, next to Dan's Clam Stand. Students will be seen in alphabetical order according to the first letter of their last name.

The following appointment times, as scheduled by the physicians, on this date only, by the first letter of your last name are: A-E, 1 p.m.; F-J, 2 p.m.; K-O, 3 p.m.; P-R, 4 p.m. and S-Z, 4:30 p.m. The cost of the physicals will be $15. Make checks payable to CRHS.

Dunnellon softball team to hold fundraiser The Dunnellon girls softball team, back-to-back Class 4A state champions in 2009 and 2010 and named national champions in 2010, will be holding a parade and celebration on July 22. The parade starts at the Dunnellon Wal-Mart at 5:30 p.m. and ends at Ernie Mills Park. There will be a meet-andgreet with the players along with special presentations with local dignitaries.

There will also be season highlights shown on a big screen at the park and DVDs of the state championship game against Naples on sale for $10.

Also available at the celebration are BBQ dinners consisting of barbeque pork, beans, cole slaw, chips, a roll and drink for $6. Dinners can be picked up at Ernie Mills Park between 4-6:30 p.m. on July Dinners can be purchased in advance at Dunnellon City Hall, the Chamber of Commerce, Badcock and More, Local Legends Sports Grill, Bakery and Superior Bank of Dunnellon.

It brought to an official end a valiant comeback attempt that started in the home team's final at bat. The Inverness 9-10 All-Stars entered the bottom of the sixth and final inning in the Section 7 tournament Saturday morning trailing Citrus Park 14-5 and things looked more than bleak for the county's lone representative in Pinellas Park. But the cardiac kids had been here before.

It was that memory that fired up the team's dugout, despite the seemingly insurmountable deficit. With the chants of, "Remember Crystal River! Remember Crystal River!" echoing from the Inverness fan base and players alike, the team did just that — nearly re-enacting the feat to perfection.

It had been only two weeks earlier — facing apparent elimination in the District semifinals 15 against county-rival Crystal River — that Inverness rallied in their final at-bat to score their way to a 9-8 victory. The win advanced the team to the district final where Inverness easily beat West Hernando for the title.

Now, they were looking for an encore performance. Matser opened the frame with a leadoff single, followed by a walk to Ricky Gladu and an RBI single by Eddie Serocki. Then when scored on an RBI double by Zavier Delgado reached on yet another walk, the Inverness All-Stars were offiscore Kinnard and later cially in business with one plated the game-tying run on Nicholas Bryant's sacrirun, two runners on base and pinch runner C.J. Bianco, cutting the Citrus Park lead to 13-8 and giving the Inverness faithful reason to believe. As for the Citrus Park cheering section, they were beginning to sweat for more reasons than just the hot summer sun. On Toxen's hit, however, Delgado attempted to score but was called out on a close play at the plate following a perfect throw from the Citrus Park center fielder. Citrus Park registered the second out of the inning when the left fielder made a great over-the-shoulder catch.

But still, even with their proverbial backs completely against the wall, Inverness would once again answer the call to the chants of "two-out rally!" Parker Pillsbury looped

an RBI single into center field to scored Toxen. Chance Yates and Nicholas Bryant then had back-toback walks, loading the bases for Inverness with the tying run at the plate. It set the stage for Matser's blast, a 1-0 pitch that sailed just foul — and with it the dreams of an Inverness comeback. The deficit was one the Inverness All-Stars dug themselves into early by yielding three runs in the top of the first inning, sparked by a two-run home run by Noah Torres. But in typical fashion, Inverness answered when Toxen reached on a single and Westen Kinnard. Pillsbury provided an RBI single to fice fly to center field. Unfortunately for Inver-

RBI double to score Gladu dry over the next four innings while Citrus Park's was heating up. The visiting team plated two runs in the top of the second, four more in the third, two in the fifth and a final run in the sixth.

The telling stat of the game for Citrus Park was

they scored their first 10 runs of the contest with two outs, including a couple of occasions where the twoout rally was sparked with no runners on base. "They just hit the ball hard all over the field today," Inverness manager Lewis Lindall said. "They're a good hitting team and we helped them out with a few errors. That third inning, in this hot sun, really wore our kids out. But we never quit.' Inverness would once again find its hitting stroke in the bottom of the fifth inning when Pillsbury drew a one-out walk and Yates smoked a two-run home run over the centerfield fence to cut the lead to 13-5 and set up the dramatic sixth inning.

Not to be lost in the defeat was the remarkable resilience of the Inverness squad. "I can't say enough about the heart of these kids," the Inverness manager said. "They never hung their heads. They never gave up. What kind of group is this that can dig themselves out of this kind of hole? I'm so proud of them today. I can't even begin to tell you how proud I am of what they did out here today. It's just incredible... it really is. Regardless of today's outcome these kids are real winners.' John Coscia is the sports

British amateur hanging in at Open

Associated Press

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland Growing up in South Korea and Australia, Jin Jeong was fascinated by links golf and wondered how he'd fare in conditions so different from what he was used to playing in.

Pretty well, thank you. The 20-year-old amateur is tied for 12th going into Sunday's final round at the British Open. At 4 under, he's 11 strokes behind leader Louis Oosthuizen, but only three from fourth place. Justin Rose (fourth, 1998) and Chris Wood (fifth, 2008) are the only amateurs to manage top-five finishes recently.

"Not great. Not too bad," Jeong said after his 2-over 74 Saturday. "I had (some) disappointing shots and putts. But I had some good shots, as well.'

Jeong, who moved to Melbourne from his native South Korea three years ago, earned his trip to St. Andrews last month by winning the British Amateur Championship. His 5-and-4 victory over James Byrne of Scotland made him the first Asian champion in the tournament's 125-year history.

It also completed a sweep of the amateur majors by Korean-born golfers. An Byeong-hun won the U.S. Amateur, and Han Changwon was the Asian Amateur champion.

"I always hoped that my first major would be the Open," Jeong said after his win at Muirfield. "It means everything. It's a dream come true.'

It might be a two-man race between players who have never seriously challenged in a major.

Oosthuizen was seven shots clear of Martin Kaymer of Germany, who had a 68 and was alone in third. Another shot behind — and eight shots out of the lead were Henrik Stenson (67), Alejandro Canizares (71) and Westwood (71), who didn't make a birdie on the front nine but did well to at least stay in the game.

Tiger Woods, who won the last two times at St. Andrews by a combined 13 shots, has never been within four shots of the lead all week, and he wasn't even close Saturday. He had four long eagle putts — only one of them on a par 5 — and three-putted for par on three of them to shoot 73. He was 12 shots behind, sure to match his longest start to the season without a victory in his seventh tournament.

"I'm playing better than my position," said Woods, who was tied for 18th. "I certainly have had a lot more putts on the greens that I ever have, and that's something that has basically kept me out of being in the final few groups."

Phil Mickelson, who had a chance at the start of the week to go to No. 1 in the world, was another shot behind. Whatever momentum he had was lost with a 5-iron that he hooked out-ofbounds for a double bogey on No. 16 for a 70.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland - Go ahead, pile the hopes of all of England on Paul Casey's shoulders. The rest of the United Kingdom, too. He doesn't mind.

A year after a rib muscle forced him to miss three months of the season, Casey is in contention to become the first Englishman to win the British Open since 1992. His bogey-free 67 Saturday afternoon matched the low round of the day, and pulled him within four strokes of Louis Oosthuizen.

"Sitting here right now, I'm ecstatic," said Casey, who couldn't stop grinning. "You know, even right now, occasionally I feel the muscles in the ribs. In no way do they affect my golf. But it's a small reminder that quite often you take for Open Championship at the home of golf.

World's oldest opera singer dies

HONG KONG — The world's oldest opera singer, Cantonese Opera star Luo Pinchao, has died. He was 98.

China's official Xinhua News Agency reported Friday Luo passed away at his home in the southern city of Guangzhou on Thursday.

Ranked the world's oldest opera singer by the Guinness World Records, Luo was born in June 1912 and began performing in 1930. Cantonese Opera is a form of traditional Chinese theater delivered in the southern dialect.

Luo helped modernize the art form by using scripts written in colloquial Chinese.

I Write Like erupts online, authors scratch heads

NEW YORK — For anyone who has ever thought Charles Dickens was lurking inside his or her prose, a new website claims it can find your inner author.

The recently launched I Write Like has one simple gimmick: You paste a few paragraphs that exemplify your writing, then click "analyze" and poof! — you get a badge telling you that you write like Stephen King or Ernest Hemingway or Chuck Palahniuk.

The site's traffic has soared in recent days and its arrival has lit up the blo-

The New York Times tried putting in actual novels, such as "Moby-Dick." Herman Melville, it turns out, writes less like himself than King, according to I Write Like.

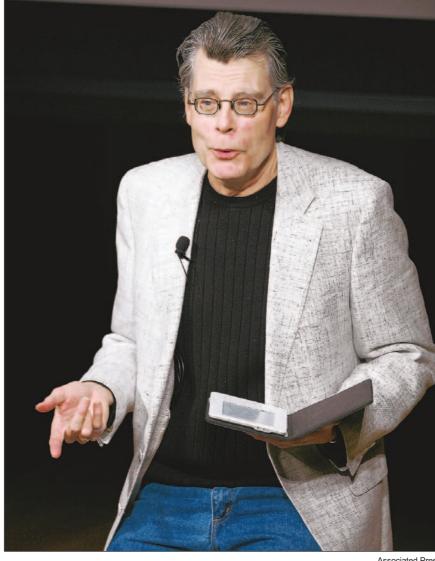

Atwood, herself, tried the site only to discover she also apparently writes like King. "Who knew?" she tweeted.

Obviously, I Write Like isn't an exact science. But simply the idea of an algorithm that can reveal traces of influence in writing has proven wildly popular.

Though the site might seem the idle dalliance of an English professor on summer break, it was created by Dmitry Chestnykh, a 27-year-old Russian software programmer currently living in Montenegro. Though he speaks English reasonably well, it's his second language.

"I wanted it to be an educational thing and also to help people write better," he said.

Winning the e-book war

MAE ANDERSON AP business writer

NEW YORK — Just a year ago, there were very few electronic book readers available, and Amazon.com's Kindle dominated the field. Now, there are Barnes & Noble's Nook, Sony's Readers and Borders Group's Kobo e-reader — not to mention Apple Inc.'s iPad, which costs more but offers the functionality of a computer reader — like most anything and is roughly the size of an

All the competition has etheir boots. Battling for ground, they are slashing prices and offering free books, gift cards and coffee with their devices.

Here are four key paths to consumer victory in the ebook wars.

■ KNOW YOUR PRICES AND FEATURES: Many device makers already offer more than one model.

Barnes & Noble's Wi-Fionly Nook sells for $149, while the Nook with 3G wireless and Wi-Fi sells for $199. Similarly, at Amazon.com, the standard Kindle is $189, while the Kindle DX with a larger, high-contrast screen light costs $379. Sony's Readers also have varying features and sizes and range from $149.99 to $299.99.

If extra features don't matter — say you just want to read in bed — go for the cheapest option. But if fast access, a large screen or the ability to read somewhere especially bright — say the beach — is crucial, think about more expensive options.

Remember: An e-book you buy — is only a good value if you use it.

■ HOLD OFF IF YOU reader makers quaking in CAN: Because both Amazon.com and Barnes & Noble cut the prices on their e-readers last month, it could seem like a good idea to shell out for one now. But another round of cuts is nearly inevitable before the end of the

"It's as likely as a sunrise the prices will be cut again by the holidays," said Michael Norris, a senior analyst at the trade books group for Simba Information.

Birthday: You're likely to experience a big turnaround in the year ahead, in situations over which up until now you have felt a lack of control. Once this occurs, it will be full steam ahead in going after something you've wanted. Cancer (June 21-July 22) — A blend of warmth and enthusiasm could produce a charisma about you that will be quite appealing to everyone with whom you come in contact. You'll be welcomed in any circle

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Having material desires isn't a no-no. In fact, it is likely to serve as a stimulant in encouraging you to work harder to achieve your goals and objectives. Go get 'em.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — It behooves you to do more listening than talking when having a conversation with someone who is known to be pretty smart. This person might tell you something of great help. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Don't hesitate to follow through on any bright idea you get for turning a profit. Your ingenuity, along with a great deal of resourcefulness, will enhance your chances for success.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Wherever you go and whatever you do you'll act like a generator supplying energy to whomever you come in contact with. It is likely to be a fun day involving a substantial amount of activity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Your mode of operation will be one that isn't likely to attract too much attention, and will enable you to operate in ways that can benefit you financially, mostly because you won't have to share

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Having a positive attitude will work wonders for you in all your relationships with friends. When you are upbeat, it causes those with a negative attitude to smile a bit as well.

Today in HISTORY=

Today is Sunday, July 18, the 199th day of 2010. There are 166 days left in the year. Today's Highlight:

On July 18, 1940, the Democratic National Convention at Chicago Stadium nominated President Franklin D. Roosevelt (who was monitoring the proceedings at the White House) for an unprecedented third term in office; earlier in the day, Eleanor Roosevelt spoke to the convention, becoming the first presidential spouse to adaress such a gathering

On this date: In A.D. 64, the Great Fire of Rome began.

In 1536, the English Parliament passed an act declaring the authority of the pope void in England.

In 1969, a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island near Martha's Vineyard; his passenger, 28-year-old Mary Jo Kopechne, drowned.

Ten years ago: The Senate voted 61-38 in favor of eliminating the so-called "marriage penalty" by cutting taxes for virtually every married couple. (President Bill Clinton vetoed the measure; President George W. Bush later signed a bill easing the penalty for middle- and upper-income taxpayers.)

Five years ago: Hurricane Emily roared across Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula, ripping roofs off luxury hotels, stranding thousands of tourists and leaving hundreds of local residents homeless.

Today's Birthdays: Former South African President Nelson Mandela is 92. Former Sen. John Glenn (D-Ohio) is 89. Movie director Paul Verhoeven is 72. Singer Brian Auger is 71. Singer Dion DiMucci is 71. Actor James Brolin is 70. Singer Martha Reeves is 69. Singer Ricky Skaggs is 56. Actress Elizabeth McGovern is 49. Actor Vin Diesel is 43. Retired Rock musician Daron Malakian (System of a Down; Scars on Broadway) is 35. Rock musician Tony Fagenson (Eve 6) is 32. Actor Jason Weaver is 31. Actress Kristen Bell is 30. Rock singer Ryan Cabrera is 28.

he slicks on the surface will disappear quickly if the cap on BP's blown oil well holds. But the oil will remain in the water, on beaches and in marshes, and in the lives of Gulf Coast residents like Jason Blanchard for years.

Up to 184.3 million gallons of crude has already spilled. Months from now, it could show up as far west as Corpus Christi, Texas, or as far east as North Carolina's Outer Banks. Judging by a comparably sized 1979 spill off Mexico's coast, tar balls and patties could keep washing ashore for decades.

And so, in the sleepy, bayou-embraced town of Chauvin, Blanchard is not expecting to return to his pre-oil-spill days anytime soon, if ever. The sixth-generation professional fisherman had just started making a living off speckled trout and redfish. Now he's part of the massive effort to mop up the spill.

"The oil gets in the water and the marshes and it stays for a while. I hope it don't last that long. I want to get back to fishing," the tanned, sunbleached 32-year-old said.

Blanchard received his captain's license just a week before the oil-rig explosion that set off the spill in April. He plans to fish again for a living, and if he can't do it in the bayous that have nourished rich seafood and a unique culture, he'll move 300 miles away to Toledo Bend Reservoir along the Louisiana-Texas line.

'I don't want to move. I love it down here," Blanchard said. "But my plans are, if they're going to destroy everything and prevent us from doing what we love to do, my plan is to move away from here."

BP is testing a new cap that has so far stopped the flow. By mid-August, it hopes to kill the well.

Once that happens, the recovery begins, but it will take several large storms to break up the oil already in the water, said

Oil-damaged plants are seen Tuesday in a Louisiana bay south of Myrtle Grove, La.

Tony Wood, director of the National Spill Control School at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

"It could show up in Miami next spring," he said. "It is likely that the heavier oils ... will continue to wash in for several years.'

Wes Tunnell is a biologist who has studied the impacts of the 1979 Ixtoc oil spill off Mexico's coast for the Harte Research Institute at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi. He said some of the mangrove swamps in the Yucatan Peninsula, an ecosystem similar to the one found off the Louisiana Gulf Coast, are only 80 percent recovered from that spill, and tar can still be found in some

The latest spill carries its own set of unknowns, Tunnell said, including plumes being found deep in the water column and dispersants applied directly at the wellbore, a practice never done before.

Transcripts of the corporate foundation often refer to "transferring bad debt to charity" (also known as the taxpayer). Interestingly, while the percentage of "sponsorship" patients has doubled, the bad debt percentage has been reduced by half. In fact, the corporate foundation only accounts approximately 1.41 percent as bad debt, yet the Agency for Health Care Administration not-for-profit average is 4.3 percent — unusual, in my opinion, at best. It is inappropriate and wrong to cause the Citrus taxpayer to pay for bad debt masked as charity care.

Inappropriately, the corporate foundation "sponsorship" policy currently transfers to the Citrus taxpayer medical costs for patients with unlimited personal assets, provided their annual earned income or portfolio income does not exceed 200 to 400 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL).

Who is paying attention to the barking dog?

ometimes we don't want to acknowledge a crisis even when it's barking at us. I had an experience this past week that reminded me of the situation faced by the leaders at Citrus Memorial hospital in Inverness.

My wife was visiting with her parents and I was home alone with the dogs. It's nice to think that the two Yorkies are "our" dogs, but they are really "her" dogs.

When Janet is home, our 2-pound Yorkie sleeps in the bed with us and is tucked into a fetal position somewhere touching her body. The second Yorkie — the 6-pounder sleeps at the foot of the bed to ward off any burglars who might enter the home late at night.

When I am home alone, the two dogs sleep on the mat by the garage door because they're sure my wife is about to come home.

She can be gone for a week and they stay at the door. They don't want to miss their opportunity to greet her.

I could be trapped with my big toe stuck in the bathtub drain, screaming at the top of my lungs, and the dogs wouldn't leave that garage door to even acknowledge there might be a problem. Fortunately, I have a healthy ego and keep my toes away from the drain.

So it was somewhat unusual the other evening when Wilson, the larger Yorkie, began barking and growling at me while I watched a ball game on television.

He had already been out twice that evening to water the grass so I was sure that wasn't the problem. Being a really conscientious baseball fan and dog lover, I told Wilson to "shut up.'

Thirty seconds later he was carrying on again.

I threw a pillow at him and he hid behind the

But a few minutes later he came out again barking and growling. The Mets looked like they were going to score some runs so I wasn't about to leave the television. Instead, I grabbed our dog torture device created for these extreme situations.

We have an empty Coke can with about 10 pennies rattling around inside. To a dog, when you shake that Coke can it's like the CIA waterboarding Saddam Hussein's chauffeur in some remote Cuban prison. It gets their immediate attention. Wilson gave me one more bark and then ran for cover.

About two hours later I was getting ready for bed and wanted to load some work stuff in the car to save time the next morning. As I walked into the garage it became evident that I had had visitors.

♦ he citizens of Citrus the complicated dispute at Citrus Memorial hospital in leaders of both boards under-Inverness.

The yearlong, multimilliondollar confrontation has a simple answer: If the members of the Board of Trustees and the are needed that both sides can members of the Hospital Foundation Board would simply lock themselves in a conference room without any lawyers, administrators, or media consultants, they could find an answer.

We'd like every resident of the county to pick up the phone, write a letter or send an e-mail to the boards' members and urge them to give this a try.

There have been multiple attempts to get these two groups to resolve their differences, but it seems they are more willing to spend millions of dollars of your money fighting the battle out in a courtroom. The folks on both sides of this debate are well intentioned and self-righteous. But their heads are so filled up with the former Supreme Court justices and competing physicians that answers seem elusive.

But the answers are not elusive. The answers are staring down and talk. the board members right in the face, but the players are too busy playing tactical games trying to make each other look bad.

They need to hear from the citizens of Citrus County that we feel it is important that both boards agree to compromise and avoid an expensive legal battle. The issues in dispute are so complicated that it doesn't make great sense to air them again. Both sides are right about some things and wrong about others.

The big issue is that change County can help resolve is going to have to happen. We believe the well-intentioned stand that, but they are not willing to take the courageous step forward to find a resolution.

There are many reforms that agree with. The hospital needs to do its business in public; there needs to be openness about how tax dollars are spent; the strategic plan needs to be developed with input from the community; liances with existphysicians ing needs to be explored before new competing physicians are cruited; the financial viability of the hospital needs to be protected; the liability cap on lawsuits needs to be maintained; and a balanced governing/foundation board needs to be established with term limits for members. We urge Dr. Upender Rao, the chairman of the trustees; Dave Langer, the chairman of the Foundation, call for a meeting advice of lawyers, consultants, and hammer out the differences.

> The citizens of Citrus County should urge these leaders to stop vilifying each other and sit

The citizens of this community pay taxes to support Citrus Memorial because it is a public hospital and it provides care to people in need. We do not pay taxes so that attorneys can be hired on both sides to fight this protracted battle. In this time of limited government resources, our tax dollars are being used for the wrong purpose.

Citizens — give direction to your government. Tell them to get back on track.

Tag boat owners

I would suggest the county require boat owners to obtain a yearly permit with a reasonable fee for the privilege of using the Fort Island Trail boat ramps. Have a permit sticker fixed to a specific area on the boat for easy spotting by a periodic inspector at these ramps. Boat ramps are expensive to build and require maintenance. If you can afford a boat, you can afford a reasonable fee. Why should the majority of citizens who are non-boat owners pay for that facility? We were boat owners for many years and we are people of modest means and would be quite willing to pay a reasonable fee for this privilege.

Living wages

Petraeus' winning strategy

weeks, but Gen. David Petraeus has already made significant changes in the way U.S. troops are prosecuting the war in Afghanistan. He's advocating village defense teams to protect local communities instead of relying on the Afghan national army, which does not yet exist in sufficient numbers or quality to do the job.

Afghan President Hamid Karzai does not like the new strategy. He warns that empowering local militias promotes warlordism, which is a plague on tribal societies and fractures the state. It's a legitimate worry, but Karzai brought it on himself by running a corrupt government that the people fear. If Petraeus is to succeed, he has to bypass Karzai.

The idea of funneling billions more U.S. aid through Karzai to build a national army doesn't make sense. It's been nine years, and where is the Afghan army? Do people trust it – or is it corrupt? The definition of insanity is to keep doing the same thing over and over, and expecting a different result. Petraeus has the stature to break the cycle and steer U.S. policy onto a more realistic path, one with an exit ramp.

Petraeus would create defensive bastions all over the country with villagers protecting and destrategy mimics to some extent what he did in Iraq, where U.S. forces made alliances with Sunni insurgents against al-Qaida, empowering them to fight and defend their turf in exchange for a stipend. These local militias kept the peace and were later integrated into the Iraqi national army, or at least that was the goal.

In Afghanistan, local militias would perform like our national guard except they would be stationary - they could not be moved out of their local community. They would be there to protect and defend their own people, and they would look like a heavily armed police force. Imagine if you will, your local police walking around with Uzis. That's the general idea.

To many people, a greatly empowered police force is a terrifying prospect. But in Afghanistan, where the national army is corrupt and the people are afraid of the soldiers, local people have a better chance to win the public's trust. A police force with the capability of a fighting force is a reassuring alternative to Afghans fearful of the Karzai government.

The Afghan national army would be greatly reduced in size, but could also be more effective, functioning like a mobile strike unit when needed to supplement t's only been a matter of fending their own villages. The the locals. Petraeus has shown a willingness to take on Karzai, and Karzai in turn is intensifying his talks with the Taliban, and with Pakistan, in an effort to show Petraeus who's boss. These are uneasy partnerships but they are all based on the same premise, that

U.S. engagement in the war is not open-ended, and troops will begin withdrawing in July 2011.

Petraeus also eased the rules of engagement that his predecessor, Gen. McChrystal, had put in place. The troops thought Mc-Chrystal was putting their lives in danger by being overly concerned with civilian casualties. Let's hope the changes that have been made don't increase the danger to Afghan civilians, Petraeus has an answer to that and it's having village militias handle local skirmishes. They know the people, the good guys from the bad, and they have the passion and the knowhow to do the job. What this amounts to is an exit strategy for the Obama administration. If Afghan militias protect Afghan villages, then U.S. forces can go home, and that's the point.

Go vote

With elections coming up this fall, everyone should realize how important their individual vote is. One plus 5,000,000 turns the tide, and your one vote times those others will change an election's outcome. For working people, it is an effort to take time to go to the voting site. especially working mothers, because their time is even more limited, but you are all terribly important. Somehow, find the time.

Primary elections have the worst turnout of all; 20 to 30 percent of registered voters show up. Primaries are equally important because the winners appear on the main election ballot. There are countries in this world that have lived through terrible dictatorships and now have the wonderful privilege of electing their government officials. Because of this privilege, their election turnout put us to shame. In some countries, if you are a registered voter and do not vote, you are fined unless you have a valid excuse. Everyone complains that legislators, governors and mayors are in the pockets of lobbyists, big businesses and the ultra rich. Unfortunately, a few campaigns are very expensive and these huge campaign contributions may at times sway an official. We have a way of altering that. When you learn of a candidate who appears to show integrity and a genuine interest in the public good, make a contribution to their campaign. If enough working-class people support good candidates, they will not have to rely on these huge business contributions. The economy is a nightmare, but even a $5 cam-

Introspection

In honor of Independence Day, I would like to share some thoughts I have concerning our individual liberty. I remember the first week after the fall of the Saddam Hussein government, when Iraq supposedly had a return of religious freedom. The first Newsweek edition following the fall of Saddam's statue in Bagdad carried a photograph of a selfstyled religious policeman standing in the way of a coed trying to enter a local university campus, because she was wearing a pantsuit. I thought of the difference between "freedom of religion" and "freedom from religion" and began to think of numerous American versions of that selfstyled religious policeman in Bagdad. Such self-righteous Americans have subjected our individual liberties to the same sort of abuse since the start of our republic, from prohibition, which still infects parts of the South, to blue laws which infect Citrus County. I also thought of those who would force a woman to carry a fetus to term. Think of the woman who has a problematic pregnancy, who is in her doctor's office getting advice on her options, who some would have her and her doctor joined by a government bureaucrat who would have the last word in the matter.

I also thought of the so-called "libertarian" politicians who want "smaller government" but are only too cheap to pay their fair share of taxes and attack government programs seeking to help the most vulnerable in our society instead of attacking the American religious police. Am I the only voice in Citrus County supporting individual liberties in the face of attacks from selfrighteous bullies? Did the "home of the brave" go the way of the "land of the free?"

Who controls birth?

Shirley Saitta's letter of July 1, pleading for the end of abortions, is directed at the wrong people (entity?).

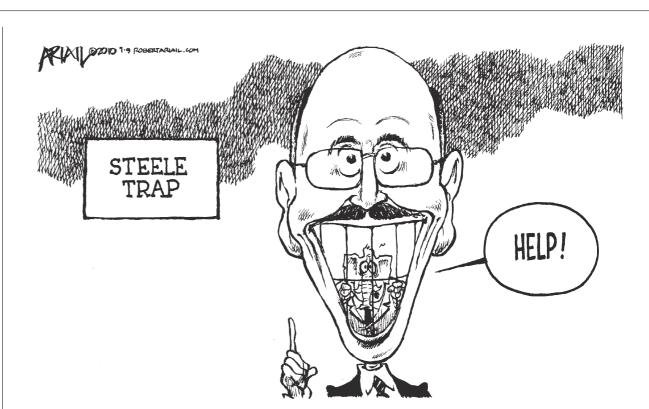

First off, the pill does not kill fetuses. It actually stops the formation of those fetuses. No fetus, no baby, no harm, no foul. As to God's commandment of "Thou shalt not kill," science can theoretically clone a human from any living cell in the body that contains DNA. Does that mean every time you spit or pull out a hair you are "aborting" a potential human being? As for babies crying out in the womb "why are you killing me?" — can two or three or two thousand or three thousand cells have a concept of "me?"

Finally, the fact is that something like one in five pregnancies end in a spontaneous miscarriage (read: abortion). Who or what is calling these children home before they even have a chance to be born? Surely not man, for most miscarriages are of children the parents desire. The woman has done everything right and yet her baby is gone. Who took it? If the woman has done something wrong, who allowed the child to be placed in her womb in the first place? What "entity" is the greatest abortionist?

All the questions and pleadings Ms. Saitta asks of man should really be asked of her God.

Kids at play

On the front of the Chronicle on Wednesday (July 14), it shows kids jumping off the bridge, which is illegal and they could get hurt. That I understand. But what I don't understand is how the city council can always worry about manatees' resting areas and the money they're spending on Three Sisters and still not make one stinking spot for the kids in Homosassa on the Homosassa River. They're citizens here, too.

Hospital feud

I'm responding to the July 13 guest column and July 14 letter to the editor in the Chronicle from members of the Citrus Memorial Board of Trustees. To quote from Mr. Smallridge's letter, I'm not buying what you and the Board of Trustees are selling. Ms. Ressler, in her guest column, fails to outline what the Board of Trustees even thinks its duty is. Having followed this disagreement for a year, I think the trustees are power-grabbing, period. It's a mistake to have appointed individuals trying to take over the county's hospital.

Hot fuss

I found it concerning that in your article regarding hot dogs, you failed to mention any calorie contents, fat contents, nitrates, sodium, sugar, etc., even in the recipes. Americans obviously are eating enormous amounts of this chemically treated processed meat stuff that totally lacks in nutritional value and is detrimental to a healthy lifestyle. Yet, rather than educate the public regarding the health hazards that could be involved in eating these foods, you choose to glorify them. Obesity is a problem in this country because of the lack of education regarding the nutritional contents in foods and the industry's and media's propaganda that goes into selling them.

Clean house

To whom or what cause does Barack Obama owe allegiance? Why does he violate laws and the Constitution that he swore to uphold as president? He allies himself with foreign invaders and Mexican drug cartels, and ignores the pleas of Americans who are being pushed off their own land. The invaders have already imposed the Spanish language on us and they wave their countries' flags over many parts of our country. There are cities in America where English is not spoken, only Spanish.

Are the drug cartels financing Obama and the Democrat party? If not, what else could be the reason for this situation? Since Obama became president, unemployment has gone up and stayed up, we have ruinous debt, he has shut down energy exploration; he has created a huge and expensive bureaucracy, and is strangling the private sector with mandates, taxes and useless regulations.

Americanism

If you protest government at tea parties you are a terrorist and a racist, but if the government creates class envy and racial division, it is social justice. If people steal, it is a crime, but if government steals, it is legislation. You can kill the unborn child as long as mass murderers are given their rights. If you criticize the president you are a terrorist and racist, but if you burn our flag it is your First Amendment right. If you enforce the law you are sued, but if you violate our Constitution and the rule of law, you are a progressive visionary.

Socialism and communism are now redefined as liberalism and progressivism. It is offensive to have God in schools, but it is OK to teach our children about homosexuality. We cannot use nativity scenes in the public domain, while pornography and nudity are prevalent. We can kill an unborn, but we must protect animals. We are permitted freedom of speech as long as it is politically correct. We create entitlements to help the poor as long as they do not aspire to be more. Terrorist killers are now political combatants. Illegals who have broken our laws will be rewarded with citizenship. We have replaced charity, caring and selfless giving with redistribution of income. We've turned over our children's education to an illiterate and plastic government. We feed, clothe and house criminals while American families are homeless and children are starving. Our government can twist arms and buy votes to pass legislation, but if you negotiate with forceful conviction, it is intimidation and extortion.

You cannot learn American history unless it has been rewritten. We cannot secure our borders against crime and drugs because political parties want to remain in power. We are free as long as we do what the government says. Criminals are now coddled because they are sick people. The land of opportunity is now officially the land of imbeciles, corruption, bailouts, entitlements and stimulus.

We are being converted into an unrecognizable society. Stand up and defend Americanism — let us not forfeit our greatness.

I would love to see a published list of what it's costing the taxpayer for all the flights to look at what's going on in the Gulf by people who are not there to lift a shovel and clean the beaches or do anything constructive but just to survey the scene. Isn't it considered price gouging when you go to Crystal River and gas is all the way up to $2.69, and you go over to Inverness and it's $2.52, $2.54? Something's wrong with this picture. Don't our officials see this? I would say that's price gouging.

Immigrants' bosses

In regards to the problem with immigration in this country: Why don't we start focusing our efforts on all of the employers who hire illegal immigrants and make the penalties really stiff for them? If the employers stop hiring illegal immigrants, then illegal immigrants will stop coming to the United States. That sounds like a good solution, doesn't it?

The new banking

A Bank of America customer gets cash from an ATM Friday in Oakland, Calif. Once the financial overhaul bill — passed by Congress on Thursday and soon to be signed into law by President Obama — goes into effect, banks are likely to either raise or create new fees for services such as getting paper statements, basic checking accounts or even using a teller.

Financial institutions are eyeing higher fees to boost declining revenue

NEW YORK ig banks facing big drops in revenue are looking to Main Street to make up the differ-

Checking accounts, bank statements, even popping into your local bank branch could carry a hefty cost as the nation's megabanks scramble to offset expected damage from the sweeping financial overhaul. The uncertain future has overshadowed otherwise strong second-quarter earnings at JPMorgan Chase & Co., Citigroup Inc. and Bank of America Corp.

All three companies beat expectations this week with profitable results. Yet their stocks tumbled, helping send the wider market sharply lower Friday.

The reason: Investors are worried about banks' future earning power after Thursday's passage of the most dramatic rewriting of banking rules since the Great Depression. Adding to the pessimism are falling trading profits — which all three banks mentioned in the up 15 percent from a year ago.

■ NO FREE LUNCH: Big banks are looking to raise or impose new fees on a host of banking services to offset billions in revenue that's expected to disappear after the financial overhaul takes effect.

■ SCARY FUTURE: Bank of America said new rules on debit cards will reduce the value of its credit card business by up to $10 billion.

■ NOT SO FAST: Banks seeking to hike fees may have to contend with the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection. The new government agency will enforce regulations covering mortgages, credit cards and other financial products.

"This is going to cause a significant reduction in revenue in the future," Bank of America CEO Brian Moynihan said of the restrictions after his bank reported a second-quarter profit of $2.78 billion, Sachs Group Inc. and Morgan Stanley report earnings next week and of declining loan losses but weaker revenue from trading and from financing stock and bond offerings. Analysts are also looking for estimates of the hit banks expect to take under the financial overhaul.

"The easy time of generating revenue will be restricted with regulations," said Alois Pirker, research director at Aite Group.

Yet banks are already moving to recoup any losses. One approach: making traditionally free services premium offerings. A Bank of America pilot program in Georgia, for instance, charges customers $8.95 a month to get paper statements or use bank tellers. The bank could start the program nationally as soon as next month.

Bank of America is also considering raising minimum balances on some accounts and charging customers who fall below it, Moynihan told analysts during a conference call.

Other banks are considering doing away with the once ubiquitous free checking accounts long used to lure new customers.

"Checking accounts are a potential source of income. That's the No. 1 thing that banks are looking at to recoup some of these costs, said Shannon Stemm, a financial services analyst with Edward Jones.

The Power of Word-Of-Mouth Marketing

ven in an age of modern and hightech communications, the most powerful means of generating new business is still word-ofmouth. People turn to trusted friends, co-workers, neighbors and professionals for recommendations regarding product or service providers.

Word-of-mouth referrals are free. How can you beat that for a return on investment which positive referrals can bring?

While successful word-of-mouth sometimes start on its own, don't assume that the phone will begin ringing off the hook. Successful marketing, wordof-mouth included. requires a proactive and patient approach to ensure the right message gets to the right people.

Start by creating a simple message that is easy for people to pass along. If it is not simple, it won't pass the test. Make it specific to a real benefit or need, not something vague or general. If you can, include success stories or testimonials from real life customers. These, in particular, can have tremendous pass-along impact value.

To stimulate word-ofmouth, consider asking customers for referrals and recommendations. Put networking into high gear. When you network in your community people will think about you when it comes time to buy your product or serv-

If you can, afford, from time to time, donate your service or product to charity. This can generate much good will via word-of-mouth.

Consider introductory discounts or free samples. People are more willing to try something economically enticing. This strategy can jump start sales. However, be careful to control the give aways. Above all, you will find that people will happily spread the "good word" about you when you treat them well. Tales of negative experiences or poor performance are really difficult to correct once they are passed on. To put the final positive strategy on word-ofmouth. address customer problems quickly, don't hide from them. No one wants to be ignored. Most people want to be heard and have their feelings and validated. concerns Great sales professionals view problems to be solved as opportunities for continued success. These are the actions people remember and talk about.

Agricultural Alliance

The Agricultural Alliance of Citrus County invites you to its First Quarterly BBQ Dinner Meeting on Aug. 14 at 6 p.m. at the Citrus County Cattlemen's Educational Center at 11185 Pleasant Grove Road, Floral City (County Road 480/581 Floral City).

Their mission is to build relationships through education to the community on the environmental and economic benefits of sustainable agriculture.

The guest speaker will be Jason Graham, bee specialist from the University of Florida. Sponsors include Hernando/Citrus Farm Bureau and the Citrus County Cattlemen's Association. Enjoy a barbecue dinner with members of your community and learn more about agricultural issues in Citrus County.

The cost of dinner is $10 at the door. Those interested, please RSVP before Aug. 10 by phone or e-mail to Larry Rooks, Irooks1022@aol.com, (352) 726-8133 or Keith Barco, barcofarms@aol.com, (352) 726-4162.

SeaTow

In order to keep safe boating week going throughout the year, SeaTow would like to remind everyone of an important change in boating requirements. Effective January 2010. persons born on or after Jan. 1, 1988, must complete a NASBLA-approved boater education course prior to operating a vessel powered by a motor of 10 horsepower or more

(this includes the operation of a Jet Ski). The How-To-Boat-Smart course meets these requirements.

The law requires that persons in this age group have a boater safety identification card issued by the Florida Fish & Wildlife Conservation Commission as well as a photo ID in their possession while operating a vessel.

Upon completion of the exam in the back of this book, forward the answer sheet to the address printed on the back of the form to receive your ID card. The Coast Guard Auxiliary and the Power Squadron offer classroom instruction as well.

SeaTow Crystal River and SeaTow Homosassa have the "How to Boat Smart" books free to anyone interested.

Please feel free to stop in and pick one up at 9070 W. Fort Island Trail in Crystal River or at MacRae's of Homosassa.

We also still have loaner life jackets available for those in need.

Afro-American Club

The class will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the Hospice of Citrus County Beverly Hills Office, 4005 N. Lecanto Hwy., Beverly Hills.

The class provides an overview of Hospice philosophy and history. Participants will become acquainted with services provided by Hospice of Citrus County for patients and their families. They will also become familiar with the concept of palliative care and learn the importance of confidentiality.

Attendees will receive information regarding all areas of available volunteering to include, but not limited to, volunteering in administration, thrift shops and patient support. At the end of this session, those wishing to volunteer in certain areas will be qualified to do so.

To register for this class or to request training for your group, contact Marcey Mast, Hospice of Citrus County Director of Volunteer Services, at (352) 527-6613, or e-mail mmast@hospiceofcitruscounty.org

Charles Lawrence

Charles Lawrence, resume writer/career coach, held a free hour-long seminar at the Beverly Hills Recreation Center on Saturday, July 10, at 11 a.m. Due to a mistake made by the venue, some people who came for the seminar were turned away. If you were turned away from this seminar, please contact Lawrence (prosper resumes@gmail.com) to get a free resume

This seminar was organized through Meetup.com (www.meetup.com/Job-Coaching). Anyone who is seeking employment is encouraged to attend future informative free seminars by sending an RSVP through www.meetup.com/job-coaching. Seating will be limited.

We'll be discussing best career searching strategies and networking skills. Career seekers are encouraged to bring their resumes for critiquing. These free seminars will also cover how to approach businesses with unadvertised openings, how to develop relationships with hiring authorities, what questions might be asked during an interview. We'll brainstorm ideas and provide encouragement and support during these difficult economic times.

Bring a pad of paper and a pen to write down ideas for your resume and your career search. Free light refreshments will be served. For more information, contact Charles Lawrence, (352) 527-7795, prosperresumes@gmail.com.

She would like to give half of it to my brother and half to me. I am concerned because of the gift limit, although I read in your column something about an exclusion she can use. What paperwork would she need to file? Is there anyway we can do this without there being any problems? All of the paperwork and taxes have been paid and filed by the sister's estate. Could my mother open a joint account with my brother and me and have each of us as the primary owner and put half of the money in each? Or can she just give us the money? My brother and I are willing to pay the taxes on the interest trust is private and a will is a public and dividends. If we can't transfer money twice. — Don, via e-mail DEAR DON: There are a number of things that you could do to reduce or eliminate any taxes involved, depending upon your mother's worth (aside from the $400,000 that you mentioned). The most she can give vou without any tax impact at this time would be $11,000. You mentioned the taxes have already been paid. That would depend on some measure on the size of the estate. If the $400,000 is all of the sister's estate, there will be no federal income tax at this time. Inheritance taxes are very unclear. Congress is expected to do something about this type of tax, but it may also end up doing nothing. Your best bet is to sit down with a knowledgeable estate planner and ask for his or her best assessment, given the uncertainty of the inheritance tax, in how to protect everyone's interest involved.

Designers are mixing salvaged barn doors with new synthetic flooring that looks strikingly like the real thing. At the same time, faux woodgrain wallpaper and upholstery offer a nod to nature without hiding their artificiality. Designer and HGTV host Genevieve Gorder calls wood "the one medium that is eternal.'

That showcases a beautiful wood's texture and color, Olson says. "It's almost like it gets wasted on the floor," she says.

A wall or ceiling done in a given type of wood doesn't mean vou must use that type of wood elsewhere in the room. Mix old and new woods in different shades and textures, says Gorder: "If you just keep matching, it looks like a bad pantsuit."

Reclaimed wood

People are embracing reclaimed wood and giving it new life, Yip says.
