QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Contribute! Like us at facebook.com/citruscountychronicle and respond to our Question of the Week.

In your opinion, what do the media do right in covering an event, and what do they do wrong?

Steffi Finnerty
Some media actually cover the story. Some go on and on with speculation, sensationalize the story and not give facts. I don't want to hear your opinions — everyone has one just the facts PLEASE!

Chris Gangler
What they do wrong is worry more about being first with the latest news instead of worrying as much about whether the latest bit of information is even accurate.

Randy Riggs
They do right interrupting and showing what is happening, but do wrong in censoring what they find out due to government pressure to hide what is known.

Jim Phillips
The (Boston Marathon bombing) was a terrorist attack no matter what the liberal media, our supreme leader, his cabinet and evidently you are saying. We are still in a war against Muslim terror and we had all better figure it out before it is too late.

POLL

ONLINE POLL: Your choice?

Seeing how effective security cameras were in identifying the Boston Marathon bombing suspects, would you favor government-backed intensive video surveillance, such as in London?

- A. Yes — particularly in urban areas.
- B. No — I don't want Big Brother watching my every move.
- C. Yes — with the available technology, there should be no public places without video surveillance.
- D. No — on a widespread basis, the cost would exceed the practical need.

Suspects planned more

Boston police discuss weapons cache

Associated Press

BOSTON — As churches paused to mourn the dead and console the survivors of the Boston Marathon bombing Sunday, the city's police commissioner said the two suspects had such a large cache of weapons that they were probably planning other attacks.

After the two brothers engaged in a gun battle with police early Friday, authorities surveying the scene of the shootout found it was loaded with unexploded homemade bombs.

They also found more than 250 rounds of ammunition.

Police Commissioner Ed Davis said the stockpile was "as dangerous as it gets in urban policing." "We have reason to believe, based upon the evidence that was found at that scene — the explosions, the explosive ordnance that was unexploded and the firepower that they had — that they were going to attack other

INVERNESS Heidi, a curly-haired brunette, is one of about a dozen small dogs that run forward to greet visitors.

Heidi is different from the other little fur balls: She is a poodle — and she is blind.

Surrendered to Citrus County Animal Services, the cuddly lap dog drew attention from interested adopters, until her blindness was pointed out. Her infected eyes would require surgical removal. But Humane Society of Citrus County had compassion.

"You can't really tell she is blind," said Karron Curtis, who, with Lisa Jacobson and Cathy

Mining, car sales on agenda

The second and final public hearing to correct anomalies in the county's Land Development Code will be heard from 5:01 p.m. Tuesday by the Citrus County Board of County Commissioners.

Last month, the BOCC spent three hours taking public comments and discussing issues that have arisen with the LDC or code since it was rewritten during a two-year period and adopted in June 2012. Corrections to the new code require an ordinance amendment, known as a "glitch bill."

Land use issues to go before the board will include whether a public hearing would be required when new or expanded mines present the potential to impact wetlands, banning temporary use permits for outdoor vehicle sales on vacant property and how to allow automobile service stations to be developed on commercial corridors without making a negative impact in residential areas.

The conflict about mines came about when the new code claimed acceptance of state standards, meaning that no public hearing would be needed if the state issued a permit.

Another mining conflict concerned space between mines and cemeteries. Brown "Jack" Dumas requested a 500-foot setback

Supporters claim expanded Medicaid means jobs

PAT FAHERTY
Staff writer

Supporters of Medicaid expansion are tying it to job growth and economic activity, while opponents claim it is an inefficient health-care delivery system with spiraling costs.

One study estimates extending health care coverage through new federal spending could mean an additional 748 jobs a year in Citrus County, which currently has approximately 23,652 uninsured residents younger than 65.

The issue is currently being debated by the Florida Legislature, with the Senate and House holding different positions. It is being driven by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, which calls for federally funded expanded Medicaid coverage. However, state participation is optional in the expansion of Medicaid for adults.

The Senate has compromised on the expansion side, similar to a position now held by Gov. Rick Scott. But the House has come up with an alternative state-funded plan to subsidize private health

Inverness ready to recycle

New system set to start rolling out this week; will include some 3,500 houses

NANCY KENNEDY
Staff writer

INVERNESS — After months of Inverness city staff and officials talking trash, beginning this week, all city residents will be receiving roll-out garbage and recycling containers from Waste Management.

Every residence within the city limits will receive one 96-gallon cart on wheels for solid waste and one 64-gallon cart for recycling items — paper, glass, plastic, metal, cardboard — along with information about what types of items to put in each container, how to do it, how to place the carts at the curb and what day the Waste Management truck will pick up solid waste.

Wednesday is designated Green Day, with recycling and yard waste being collected city-wide.

Yard waste can be placed curbside in large plastic bags or in residents' old garbage cans.

"This is all at no fee to residents," said Inverness City Manager Frank DiGiovanni. "The cost will be absorbed as efficiencies are created — the city's budget remains unchanged."

DiGiovanni said the trend in the trash industry is toward full automation. This new program goes to semi-automation, still with two people on a truck with an automatic lift.

"We'll be going to one solid waste pickup each week instead of two and one recycle and yard waste pickup," he said.

All trash — solid waste and recycling — will go inside the provided containers. No longer will city residents be able to put bags on the curb for pick up.

Also, there is no "opt-out" option. "With 3,500 city dwellings, we've got 7,000 carts lined up and ready to go," DiGiovanni said. "We know that it'll take some time for people to get used to it, and there will be those who complain, but we think most people will be on board."

Habitat for Humanity seeks women volunteers

Annual Women Build set for May 11

Special to the Chronicle

Bring a smile and a can-do attitude to register for the annual Habitat for Humanity of Citrus County's Women Build. This year's event is scheduled from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, May 11, at 8741 Discalfani Loop, Crystal River. To participate, pre-registration is required.

This marks the fifth consecutive year Habitat has partnered with Lowe's home improvement centers on the Women Build project. In 2012, some 90 women (and men) from across Citrus County teamed up for a few hours to build a home. It was the first time many of them had ever taken part in the construction process.

"Women want to make a difference in their community," said Lowe's commercial sales specialist Fran Zimmerman. "I live and work in Citrus County. I care about local residents here."

Habitat's Women Build project in Crystal River is one of some 275 other homes being built around the country. The Mother's Day timeframe was selected for its significance because a majority of Habitat home recipients are women with children, much like C.D. Perez.

"Habitat for Humanity has literally changed the course of my life. I started out as a volunteer some years ago, and now my family has a roof and a safe place to call home — my Habitat home. I could not have done it without the many volunteers who made it possible," Perez said.

Recruits need not worry about construction experience. Habitat representatives offer on-site, hands-on direction to volunteer groups throughout the day. Tools and training are also provided; however, participants must wear comfortable closed-toe shoes. The first 35 to register will receive a free Women Build T-shirt to be distributed upon arrival at the job location.

Interested volunteers may contact the Habitat for Humanity Citrus County office at 352-563-2744 or visit the website at www.habitatcc.org. (Para español, llame a C.D. Perez a 352-601-6582.)

HOW YOUR LAWMAKERS VOTED

Key votes for the week ending April 19 by Voterama in Congress

■ Cybersecurity, civil liberties: Voting 288 for and 127 against, the House on April 18 passed a bill (HR 624) to expand data-sharing between private businesses and federal security agencies in order to bolster U.S. defenses against cyberattacks by terrorists, foreign governments and others. In part, the Cyber Intelligence Sharing and Protection Act (CISPA) eases privacy and antitrust laws to enable telecoms and Internet service providers to share customer information such as emails and cloud-stored files with federal authorities. A yes vote was to pass the bill. Richard Nugent, Did not vote.

■ Password privacy: Voting 189 for and 224 against, the House on April 18 defeated a bid to protect the privacy of social networking passwords as part of HR 624 (above). The Democratic measure sought to prohibit employers from requiring employees to divulge passwords to sites such as Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn as a condition of employment. A yes vote backed the motion. Richard Nugent, Did not vote.

■ Expanded gun checks: Voting 54 for and 46 against, the Senate on April 17 failed to reach 60 votes for passing an amendment by Sens. Joe Manchin, D-W.Va., and Pat Toomey, R-Pa., that would require background checks on most commercial gun sales. The measure sought to expand the existing system, which exempts an estimated 40 percent of sales — including Internet sales and transactions between private parties at gun shows — from mandatory background checks. The amendment, which specifically prohibited the establishment of a national registry of gun owners, was offered to a gun-safety bill (S 649) that sponsors have put on hold. A yes vote backed the amendment. Bill Nelson, Yes; Marco Rubio, No.

■ Concealed-carry laws: Voting 57 for and 43 against, the Senate on April 17 failed to reach 60 votes needed to advance an amendment making it easier for individuals to carry concealed, loaded handguns while traveling in other states. A yes vote backed the amendment. Nelson, No; Rubio, Yes.

■ Assault-weapons ban: Voting 40 for and 60 against, the Senate on April 17 turned back an amendment to outlaw the future manufacture, sale, possession and importation of 157 specific semi-automatic assault weapons identified by make and model. At the same time, the amendment identified and protected as legal 2,258 specific firearms used for hunting or sporting purposes. A yes vote backed an assault-weapons ban. Nelson, Yes; Rubio, No.

■ Republican gun bill: Voting 52 for and 48 against, the Senate on April 17 failed to reach 60 votes for advancing a Republican alternative to S 649 (above). This plan would allocate more resources for addressing school safety and treating mental health; create a Department of Justice task force for prosecuting those who falsify information on criminal background checks; require the department to step up prosecutions of gun crimes; bolster the National Instant Criminal Background Check System and authorize a study on the causes of mass shootings by the National Institute of Justice and National Academy of Sciences. A yes vote backed the GOP plan. Nelson, No; Rubio, Yes.

■ Limits on magazine sizes: Voting 46 for and 54 against, the Senate on April 17 turned back an amendment to S 649 (above) outlawing the sale and manufacture of ammunition clips holding more than 10 bullets. Nelson, Yes; Rubio, No.

■ Veterans' background checks: Voting 56 for and 44 against, the Senate on April 17 failed to reach 60 votes for advancing an amendment to S 649 (above) setting up a special appeals process in the Veterans' Administration for veterans who fail gun-purchase background checks because they have been adjudicated mentally ill. A yes vote backed the amendment. Nelson, No; Rubio, Yes.

Today's HOROSCOPES

Birthday — In coming months, you are likely to play a minor but rewarding role in an innovative enterprise. There's a fair amount of risk, but there's also a lot to gain.
Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Be extremely careful about what you say. Don't talk about anything meant only for select ears.
Gemini (May 21-June 20) — It behooves you to tie up all loose ends, because anything left dangling could cause you a big headache. If you think you can't complete something, don't start it.
Cancer (June 21-July 22) — There's a chance that the restlessness you feel could be more mental than physical. Assuage this affliction by speaking with a companion.
Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Go out of your way to mind your spending, especially where nonessentials are concerned. There's a good chance you could have a large leak in your wallet.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Appearances are always important, especially if you hope to inspire and/or control others in some manner.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Your intuition is in good form, provided you carefully assess what it's telling you. Use your logic in tandem with your hunches, and you'll be hard to stop.
Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Be open-minded and receptive when socializing with friends. You may find conversations to be unusually meaningful, with valuable information being exchanged.
Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — A major goal is achievable if you focus your efforts on it. Be careful not to spread your energy too thin.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — A number of new opportunities are likely to come your way if you broaden your horizons.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — There's no need to be anxious about change, because it could broaden your horizons. Most shifting conditions tend to work for your benefit.
Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) — Try to keep in mind that there are always two sides to every story, because if you don't, you could jump to an erroneous conclusion when you learn some unpleasant information.
Aries (March 21-April 19) — Be realistic about the tasks you undertake. Unless you're discerning about what you can accomplish, you could easily get in a heap of trouble.

Brady kids return to Kings Island

MASON, Ohio — The kids from "The Brady Bunch" are coming back to Kings Island. Some of them, at least. Three of the actors who played the Brady kids in the iconic 1970s TV series are returning to the Cincinnati-area theme park — the site of one of the show's most memorable episodes that aired in 1973. To celebrate the 40th anniversary of the episode, Barry Williams (Greg Brady), Christopher Knight (Peter Brady) and Susan Olsen (Cindy Brady) will visit Kings Island May 19. They'll entertain park guests during four shows of singing, dancing and anecdotes about the show, which ran from 1969 to 1974. The episode involved the family visiting Kings Island so dad Mike Brady can present his architectural plans for a new addition to the park.

Band member charged in crash

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Bassist Robert Todd Harrell of the rock band 3 Doors Down has been charged with vehicular homicide by intoxication after an interstate crash claimed the life of another motorist in the Nashville area, police said. The 41-year-old musician remained jailed early Sunday in connection with the fatal accident late Friday night on Interstate 40 that left 47-year-old Paul Howard Shoulders Jr. dead, the Metropolitan Nashville Police Department said. A police statement said a preliminary investigation showed that Harrell was driving west at a high rate of speed in the Nashville suburb of Hermitage when his car clipped a pickup truck driven by Shoulders. Police said the pickup then went out of control, struck a guardrail, went down an embankment and overturned. Shoulders was ejected. Authorities said Harrell's car hit a retaining wall and stopped about a quarter mile away. Police said Harrell showed signs of impairment when he underwent field sobriety tasks, adding in their statement that "he acknowledged consuming hard cider and taking prescription Lortab" and Xanax.

A CBS News spokeswoman confirmed Saturday that tweets sent earlier in the afternoon from the "60 Minutes" and "48 Hours" Twitter handles saying their accounts were compromised are correct. The tweets said the network is working with Twitter to investigate. On Saturday night both accounts were suspended and inaccessible. Twitter did not immediately respond to a request for comment. # Today in HISTORY

Today is Monday, April 22, the 112th day of 2013. There are 253 days left in the year.
Today's Highlight in History: On April 22, 1993, the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum was dedicated in Washington, D.C., to honor victims of Nazi extermination.
On this date: In 1864, Congress authorized the use of the phrase "In God We Trust" on U.S. coins. In 1889, the Oklahoma Land Rush began at noon as thousands of homesteaders staked claims. In 1938, 45 workers were killed in a coal mine explosion at Keen Mountain in Buchanan County, Va. In 1970, millions of Americans concerned about the environment observed the first "Earth Day."
Ten years ago: President George W. Bush announced he would nominate Alan Greenspan for a fifth term as Federal Reserve chairman.
Five years ago: At the close of a two-day North American summit in New Orleans, President George W. Bush chastised U.S. lawmakers for letting international trade deals falter and criticized Democratic presidential contenders for wanting to scrap or amend the vast North American free-trade zone.
One year ago: George Zimmerman was quietly released from a Florida jail on $150,000 bail to await his second-degree murder trial in the fatal shooting of unarmed teen Trayvon Martin.
Today's Birthdays: Singer Glen Campbell is 77. Actor Jack Nicholson is 76. Author Janet Evanovich is 70. Movie director John Waters is 67. Singer Peter Frampton is 63. Actor Jeffrey Dean Morgan is 47. Rock musician Shavo Odadjian (System of a Down) is 39. Rock singer-musician Daniel Johns (Silverchair) is 34.
Thought for Today: "That men do not learn very much from the lessons of history is the most important of all the lessons that history has to teach." — Aldous Huxley, English author (1894-1963).

Zuleika Anderson, 91
JACKSONVILLE

The Service of Remembrance for Mrs. Zuleika H. Anderson (Zekie), age 91, of Jacksonville, Florida, will be held 11:00 AM, Monday, April 22, 2013 at the River Auditorium, Westminster Woods on Julington Creek, 25 State Road 13, Jacksonville, FL 32259. Private interment will take place at Serenity Gardens Memorial Park, Largo, FL.

Zuleika Anderson

Zekie passed away unexpectedly Wednesday April 17 after a short illness. Zekie was born on April 27, 1921 to Harry Douglas Kirby and Lilly Orien Edwards Kirby of Darlington, South Carolina. In 1941 Zekie graduated from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, SC with an associate degree in business. In 1943 she married Donald F. Hayden and was happily married for 42 years during which she had three children: Sandra L. Poirier, TN, Janet O. Mills, NC and Donald F. Hayden Jr., CO. They were long time residents of Florida (Largo and Crystal River) as well as North Carolina, Washington, Montana and Manila, P.I. In 1987 Zekie married Rev. R. Neil Anderson in Crystal River. They served their faith in Crystal River and later in Jacksonville before retiring.

Zekie was a passionate volunteer and for many years assisted in local schools. She was a life-long exercise enthusiast and gifted dancer and at one time offered ballroom dance classes. She learned card games in her preteens and enjoyed bridge throughout her life, participating in competitive tournaments and giving classes often. Zekie's card playing skills were often underestimated to the disappointment of many who quickly found themselves on the losing end (aka Card Shark).

We are grateful to have shared these passions with her. Zekie is survived by her three children, two sisters (Rosemary Laur of Keystone Heights, FL and Caroline Brandt of Northampton, MA), 8 grandchildren (Laura Wallick Rubenfeld, of Santa Monica, CA, Timothy Wallick, of Columbia, SC, Jonathan Mills, Adam Mills and Michael Mills all of Raleigh, NC, David Mills of Atlanta, GA, Matthew Hayden of Boulder, CO and Aaron Hayden of Seattle, WA).

The family requests expressions of sympathy take the form of memorial donations in Zekie's name to American Heart Association, www.heart.org or River of Life United Methodist Church, www.rolumc.org. Online condolences may be sent to the family at www.hooperfuneralhome.com.

Sheriff's Summer Safety & Youth Expo set Saturday

NANCY KENNEDY
Staff writer

INVERNESS — Kids can learn safety habits, get a free string backpack full of goodies and bicycle helmet and maybe win a bike or a week at camp at the 10th annual Sheriff's Summer Safety & Youth Expo from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 27, at the Citrus County Auditorium. Representatives from the Citrus County Sheriff's Office, YMCA of the Suncoast and other organizations that care about kids' safety will be on hand with information and hands-on activities for kids and their parents. "Last year, over 1,000 people came," said Deputy Michele Tewell. "We gave away more than 300 bicycle helmets and 13 bikes." She said when kids arrive they'll be given a book bag and a map of vendors.

"In previous years, they'd hand vendors a paper and get a check-off, then turn the paper in for a raffle ticket," Tewell said. "This year, each vendor will have a safety question, and once they get the question, they get it checked off. That way it's a learning thing at every vendor they go to." Activities include the Citrus Sheriff Fire Rescue fire safety house, rock climbing wall, inflatable obstacle courses and safety demonstrations. From the moment they arrive, kids will be engaged in learning about staying safe when it comes to online predators, fire and smoke, bicycle riding and more. "We're adding things to get kids moving," Tewell said. "We'll be giving away lots of scholarships for camp." As in previous years, whichever Citrus County school classroom has the highest percentage of children attending the safety expo will win a free lunch party at school with Sheriff Jeff Dawsy before the school year ends. One class from both the east side and west side of the county will be selected to share lunch with the sheriff. Admission and activities are free; food will be available for purchase. For information, call Deputy Michele Tewell at 352-726-4488.

performed. As she recovered, Heidi showed she was just as cuddly as before. She is one of thousands of dogs with medical needs the HSCC has rescued since 1978. As the needs never diminish, the HSCC has been seeking donations.

"It takes a long time and a lot of effort to bring them back when they come in like this," Curtis said, as she displayed photographs of animals brought to them in pitiful condition.

The photographs show emaciated, hairless and listless animals. With good treatment, the dogs recover to shiny-coated and bright-eyed activity. The HSCC puts time, effort and money into rescue and recuperation.

"If we have a dog that comes in like this, it will be probably at least six months before it goes online to be adopted," Jacobson said. "We take care of it as it gains weight and gets surgery — whatever it needs."

The HSCC has capacity for about 35 to 40 animals, but needs more volunteers and donations. Curtis, Jacobson and Trump would like to have volunteers who could help with fundraising, as they have a constant challenge in meeting the expenses of restoring and maintaining healthy dogs.

HSCC was incorporated in 1978, starting with 127 members, but was down to six members in 2005 when it asked Room for One More to take over. The new board opened its shelter, Paws-itively Pets Adoption Center, on South Smith Street.

Applicants for pets are screened and veterinarian references are taken as the HSCC members try to match the family's needs with the animal's needs. The HSCC does not offer animals for adoption at outside events.

Since 2008, all rescue groups have found that demand for their services are up because of the decline in the economy, while donations are down. Jacobson said HSCC especially feels the pinch because it is not only a no-kill rescue, as are other groups, it is also a no-kill shelter operated with no limit on length of stay until the animal gets adopted.

People will choose to surrender their pet to the HSCC knowing that it won't be euthanized, but the HSCC bears a great expense for the privilege. The weak economy that causes the shelter to fill up also causes the donations to dry up.

Jacobson has seen grown men cry while giving up a dog. "Some people come in here and they don't care that they are dumping their dog," Jacobson said. "But with other people — all the walls come down when they have to say goodbye to that animal. It's real sad."

The Humane Society name has caused confusion because as many as three county groups have used the words in their titles as generic terms. But they are unaffiliated with each other and have no connection to the Humane Society of the United States. Jacobson said some people donate to the national organization thinking that some of the funds flow back to local groups, but that does not happen.

To donate, HSCC's mailing address is P.O. Box 2283, Inverness, FL 34451. Phone 352-341-2222. For adoptable pets, go to www.roomforonemore.net. To find adoptable pets at the county animal shelter, go to www.citruscritters.com. For other pets from rescue groups throughout the county — which also could use donations — go to www.petfinder.com.

insurance coverage.

The Florida Hospital Association released a sponsored report by the University of Florida, Food & Resource Economics Department, on the "Economic Impacts of Extending Health Care Coverage in Florida."

In addition to job growth, the report lists other benefits of expanded health care coverage, including increased state and local tax revenues and overall growth in the health care industry.

"We support taking advantage of the federal funding available for providing health insurance for the poor while the state ensures its fiscal health," said Joyce Brancato, chief executive officer, Seven Rivers Regional Medical Center. "We hope our delegation supports that."

The Florida Center for Fiscal and Economic Policy claims that Florida employers, dominated by tourism and services industries, would benefit immensely from Medicaid expansion.

It warns that rejection of Medicaid expansion would prove costly to the state's retail, restaurant and hotel chains.

On Friday, the Senate Appropriations Committee defeated an amendment that would have expanded Medicaid as provided by the affordable care act. It approved the more limited state-funded Florida Health Choices Plus Program.

The Heritage Foundation has warned that most Florida voters, especially primary voters, are less likely to support pro-expansion politicians.

A report by Families USA claims accepting Medicaid expansion means an additional $4.9 billion would be spent on health care delivery in Florida.

Don Taylor, executive director of the Citrus County Economic Development Council, said until the Legislature decides, it is too early to determine what, if any, impact Medicaid expansion might have on the county's proposed County Road 491 medical corridor.

"We cannot really make a true assessment until the session ends," he said. "In accordance with our strategic plan, we will be doing a labor assessment as well as a skills assessment."

TAKE IT SLOW

Resist urge to rush decision on CMHS future

People can read the same document and come to different conclusions.

The most extreme example of that statement involves the interpretation of holy books from the Bible to the Koran.

Some read those sacred texts and conclude that people should treat others as they would like to be treated.

Others read those same texts and conclude it is justified to kill others who practice a different faith.

Humans have been misinterpreting the written word for thousands of years, so it should not be a surprise that officials in Citrus County can read the same document and reach different conclusions.

That might explain why a state statute concerning the appropriateness of selling public hospitals in Florida is getting a different interpretation.

The statute clearly states that leased public hospitals are not covered by the law. Ryan Beatty, the CEO of Citrus Memorial, believes that wording exempts the Inverness-based hospital from being mandated to consider a sale.

Citrus Memorial hospital is owned by the governing board and leased to the hospital foundation board.

Bill Grant, the attorney on the other side of the hospital debate, believes the wording is irrelevant because his side won a lower court decision giving his group the right to abolish the lease with the foundation.

A minor problem with that line of thinking is the appeals court ruled against the lower court decision.

Grant and the governing board are hoping the state Supreme Court will overrule the appeals court decision.

Sound complicated? Well, it is. For many important financial reasons, it appears inevitable that CMHS will have a different operating future. But the governing board is going down the path with the understanding that they must act — when the law and the appeals court decision says otherwise.

If the Supreme Court does overrule the lower court’s decision, then the governing board would have to proceed. But right now, the law and the court both say there is no urgency involved.

So let’s be careful about spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to run down a path too quickly and make a long-term decision based on a sense of urgency that does not need to exist.

Furthermore, the governing board’s position that only two of the three future options for the hospital should be examined because of this urgency is not based on fact.

Go slow. Look at all of the options for the future and make the best decision.

GOP fails to help blacks

And Paul did just fine at Howard University, thank you very much. Or at least, that’s how he remembers it.

Paul, GOP senator from Kentucky, told the Christian Science Monitor on Wednesday that his recent visit to Howard didn’t go so bad at all. He said any perception to the contrary was created by — all together now — the “left-wing media.”

Knowing what we do about the political right’s capacity for self-deception, we may trust that he’s telling it like it is — or at least, telling it like he believes it to be.

But reality-based Americans know it wasn’t left-wing media that insulted students at the historically black school by acting as if a visit to their campus was like a visit with headhunters. “Some have said that I’m either brave or crazy to be here,” Paul said, somehow resisting the urge to add, “Me come-um in peace.”

And it wasn’t left-wing media that lied to those students. “I’ve never wavered in my support for civil rights or the Civil Rights Act,” claimed Paul who, in fact, told MSNBC’s Rachel Maddow in 2010 that the act overreached in telling private businesses they could not discriminate against black people.

It wasn’t left-wing media that told those students, “I want a government that leaves you alone.” somehow neglecting the fact that, had government left their grandparents alone, those kids would still be legally required to feed their money into the colored-only slot of the Coca-Cola machine.

Leonard Pitts
OTHER VOICES

Finally, it wasn’t left-wing media that condescended to those students, at one point telling them, “If I were to have said, ‘Who do you think the founders of the NAACP are?’ would everyone in here know they were all Republicans?”

“Of course they would,” one woman grumbled.

Indeed. Any first-year history student would know that. But they’d also know the Republicans are not the same party now that they were prior to 1968, when they essentially traded ideologies with the Democrats and inherited from them all those disaffected white Southern voters who were mortally offended by the aforementioned Civil Rights Act and its sequel, the Voting Rights Act.

And would someone please tell Paul and any other Republican planning “outreach” to African-Americans that if you must go back 104 years (the NAACP was founded in 1909) for examples of solidarity with black folks, it kind of illustrates the problem?

For decades, the Democratic Party has commanded the African-American vote. Yet, the Obama phenomenon aside, this dominance seems not to reflect love for the party so much as the fact that the Democrats are all that is left once the GOP has effectively removed itself from contention.

But let the record show that, as Paul had to reach back to 1909 to show solidarity with black folks, the Democrats themselves are still living on the 50-year-old fumes of Lyndon Johnson’s legacy. So there is no reason the GOP cannot command a portion of the black vote.

To do that, it must repudiate its own recent legacy of bigotry. Stop acting as if going to Howard University is like traveling into the rainforest. Stop trying to repeal the Voting Rights Act. Stop trying to repeal the 20th century. Stop expecting a tickertape parade for things that happened before movies had sound.

And begin to provide much-needed leadership on issues urgent to African-American voters in the here and now. For instance, mass incarceration, the failed drug war, the achievement gap and job discrimination.

In a word: compete.

That, after all, is how the Democrats broke the Republican stranglehold on the African-American vote in the first place. It would be nice — it would create a healthier nation — if Republicans returned the favor.

Unfortunately, Paul’s performance at Howard suggests that we ought not hold our breath while we wait.

OUR OPINION:

Don’t create artificial urgency.

Be kinder, gentler

I’m listening or watching the news and now this fertilizer plant just exploded in Texas with all kinds of people being killed and hurt, and of course the Boston Marathon tragedy and Sandy Hook. So what I’m suggesting is, there’s a lot of things going on that are heartbreaking and maybe we should take a time out with Sound Off and Hot Corner and instead of complaining about things or talking about negative things — and we all have good reasons to sound off about things that upset us — I’m saying let’s do some soul searching, let’s try and mend some fences, let’s help people out, let’s be more courteous, let’s try and offset these tragedies and evil that are going around by being extra-positive. Let’s all try and create some new habits where instead of calling in with complaints, let’s try calling in with positive things — how you helped some people or people helped you. I know that to a certain degree that happens, but there’s more negative things being sounded off. And I know that section of the paper, that’s what it’s there for. But in these exceptional tragic times, let’s try and think positive, talk about positive things, tell good-happenings stories and help people out...

Clean up after pets

Attention, dog owners in Citrus County: If you want to be responsible enough to own a pet, then be responsible to clean up after your pet when you’re taking it for a walk and it takes a dump in other people’s yards. Just be responsible and clean up, all right? Other people don’t let their dogs poop in other people’s yards without cleaning it up. Be responsible. Have your animal updated on all its shots and get them spayed and neutered.

Camping out

I’d personally rather live in a tent than a place with deed restrictions.

Missing volunteers?

I’m very concerned about the fire department in Citrus Springs, where I live. I noticed within two weeks, there were accidents on (U.S.) 41 out near the fountains. I noticed that a fire truck from Pine Ridge comes each time passing the Citrus Spring station when no volunteers have showed up or the garages are left closed. Are there still volunteer firefighters in Citrus Springs? I see no cars there any day or see the garage doors open. What’s going on?

LETTERS to the Editor

Politics hurt country

I am writing this letter in response to “America is damaged.” I do not view our country as damaged but I view our politics as damaged.

I see a country that is so wonderful that it attracts immigrants from all over the world. I see a country that is slowly recuperating from one of the worst recessions that we have had to endure. I see a country where our president has ended two long and costly wars he did not start and which were predicated on false premises. I see a country that is deeply divided. I see a country with a president who has tried to do what he thinks is the best approach to solve the ills which he inherited, only to be thwarted by a party that vowed to make him a one-term president as their main goal and thinks that compromise is a dirty word. I see a country with a party which touts the Constitution, but abuses the filibuster to prevent debating a bill that 90 percent of the country is in favor of. I see a country with freedom of speech that allows someone to write a letter bemoaning the president stating that he is our leader and commander-in-chief. Our country may have imperfections, but we are still the

RIP USA

It’s becoming more apparent that we may need to say farewell to the USA as we’ve known it. A great idea for more than 200 years, but sadly, it appears that its time has come. Our Constitution is no longer respected as the foundation of this country, and we see our rights under the Second Amendment in imminent danger. We can now watch the failure of socialism begin its slow march back as the misled public stumbles blindly behind the ultimate wolf in sheep’s clothing.

Be careful what you ask for: Four more years with a leader who thinks he doesn’t have to answer to anyone will be painful to watch. We, both working and retired folks, promise to do our part by working hard and paying increased taxes so that we can support those who are unwilling to do for themselves. When you make a society dependent on handouts, it’s absurdly impractical to think that you can ever reverse course and expect them to provide for themselves.

Therefore, I believe this will be the last time you will see a real challenge to the party of entitlements. Make sure you tell your kids and grandkids about the great country that used to be!

individuals. That's my belief at this point." Davis told CBS's "Face the Nation."

On "Fox News Sunday," he said authorities cannot be positive there aren't more explosives that haven't been found. But the people of Boston are safe, he insisted.

The suspects are two ethnic Chechen brothers from southern Russia — 19-year-old Dzhokhar Tsarnaev and his 26-year-old brother, Tamerlan. Their motive remained unclear.

The older brother was killed during a getaway attempt. The younger brother, Dzhokhar Tsarnaev, remained hospitalized in serious condition Sunday after his capture Friday from a tarp-covered boat in a suburban Boston backyard. Authorities would not comment on whether he had been questioned, but several officials have said Tsarnaev's injuries left him unable to communicate, at least for now.

Shots were fired from the boat, but investigators haven't determined where the gunfire was aimed, Davis said.

The federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is tracing the weapons to try to determine how they were obtained by the suspects.

Tsarnaev could be charged as early as Sunday, although it was not clear what those charges would be. The twin bombings killed three people and wounded more than 180.

The most serious charge available to federal prosecutors would be the use of a weapon of mass destruction to kill people, which carries a possible death sentence. Massachusetts does not have the death penalty.

Across the rattled city, churches opened their doors to remember the dead and ease the grief of the living.

At the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in South Boston, photographs of the three people killed in the attack and an MIT police officer slain Thursday were displayed on the altar, the faces illuminated by glowing white pillar candles, one for each person lost.

"I hope we can all heal and move forward," said Kelly McKernan, who was crying as she left the service. "And obviously, the Mass today was a first step for us in that direction."

A six-block swath of Boylston Street, where the bombs were detonated, remained closed Sunday, though police at the scene told pedestrians it was expected to reopen before Monday morning.

Boston's historic Trinity Church could not host services Sunday because it was within the crime scene, but the congregation was invited to worship at the Temple Israel synagogue instead. The FBI allowed church officials a half-hour Saturday to go inside to gather the priests' robes, the wine and bread for Sunday's service.

Trinity's Rev. Samuel T. Lloyd III offered a prayer for those who were slain "and for those who must rebuild their lives without the legs that they ran and walked on last week."

"So where is God when the terrorists do their work?" Lloyd asked. "God is there, holding us and sustaining us. God is in the pain the victims are suffering, and the healing that will go on. God is with us as we try still to build a just world, a world where there will not be terrorists doing their terrible damage."

Near the crime scene, Dan and Keri Arone were pushing their 11-week-old daughter, Alexandria in a stroller when they stopped along Newbury Street, a block from the bombing site, to watch investigators in white jumpsuits scour the pavement. Wearing his bright blue marathon jacket, Dan Arone said he had crossed the finish line 40 minutes before the explosions.

The Waltham, Mass., couple visited the area to leave behind pairs of their running shoes among the bouquets of flowers, handwritten signs and other gifts at a makeshift memorial on Boylston Street, near the police barriers.

"I thought maybe we'd somehow get some closure," Dan Arone said of leaving behind the sneakers. "But I don't feel any closure yet."

At Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge, surgeons said the Boston transit police officer wounded in a shootout with the suspects had lost nearly all his blood, and his heart had stopped from a single gunshot wound that severed three major blood vessels in his right thigh.

Richard Donohue, 33, was in critical but stable condition. He is sedated and on a breathing machine but opened his eyes, moved his hands and feet and squeezed his wife's hand Sunday.

between mining activity and a cemetery.

On the subject of public hearings for mines, the BOCC has three options: Take no action; direct further review and set up another hearing; or delay the proposed amendment and hear the setback request with the public hearing rule at a later date.

Allowing outdoor auto sales through a temporary use permit has been a code issue for many years. The previous code said temporary use must be the same as whatever is permitted for sale on the property, but the rewritten code allows temporary uses only for sales associated with an existing business. Therefore, a vacant property that has no association with an automobile dealership could not be the site of an outdoor auto sale.

Last month, the BOCC upheld the current code. The board also directed staff to clarify that the county fairgrounds, amphitheatres and flea markets can have only permitted temporary uses that are the same as their established permitted uses.

Owners of vacant property and the county fairgrounds would not be able to offer the sites for outdoor auto sales because, according to Vincent Caution, Planning and Development director, the current ordinance forbids temporary auto sales anywhere but on property adjacent to established auto dealers.

Restrictions were excluded from the rewritten code to allow new automobile service stations to locate on such commercial corridors as State Road 44 and U.S. 19, but the BOCC directed staff to retain the Marcum's stepfather, Allen Lardieri, said the youth was waiting in line in the school cafeteria Thursday when a teacher ordered the eighth-grader to remove the T-shirt or to turn it inside out.

Marcum said was sent to the office where he again refused the order.

Police charged him with disrupting an educational process and obstructing an officer, he said.

DENVER — Authorities have released the names of four Colorado snowboarders and one skier killed over the weekend in the state's deadliest avalanche in more than 50 years.

Clear Creek County Sheriff Don Krueger said search and rescue crews recovered the men's bodies from a backcountry area on Loveland Pass several hours after Saturday afternoon's slide, which was estimated to be about 600 feet wide and eight feet deep. All of the men were equipped with avalanche beacons.

The sheriff identified the victims Sunday as Christopher Peters, 32, of Lakewood; Joseph Timlin, 32, of Gypsum; Ryan Novack, 33, of Boulder; Ian Lanphere, 36, of Crested Butte; and Rick Gaukel, 33, of Estes Park.

Hagel: US won't block Israel

Defense secretary says Jewish state has right to hit Iran

Associated Press

JERUSALEM — U.S. Defense Secretary Chuck Hagel held out hope Sunday for a nonmilitary way to ending the threat of a nuclear-armed Iran, but he also emphasized Washington's willingness to let Israel decide whether and when it might strike Tehran in self-defense.

Hagel, on his first visit to Israel as Pentagon chief, seemed intent on burying the image that Republican critics painted of him as insufficiently supportive of the Jewish state. That portrayal was central to a failed campaign to derail Hagel's Senate confirmation in February.

In an interview with reporters on his flight from Washington, Hagel said the United States and Israel see "exactly the same" threat from Iran, which he described as a toxic combination of nuclear ambition and support for terrorism.

But he acknowledged differences on when it may reach the point of requiring U.S. or Israeli military action.

Hagel stressed repeatedly that Israel has a sovereign right to decide for itself whether it must attack Iran. He made no mention of the possibility that an Israeli attack would draw the U.S. into the conflict and lead to a wider regional war.

"Israel will make the decision that Israel must make to protect itself, to defend itself," Hagel said as he began a week-long tour of the Middle East.

Hagel said international penalties are taking a heavy toll on Iran, though he said no one can be sure that economic coercion will compel Iran to change course.

Referring to sanctions and diplomacy, Hagel said, "these other tracks do have some time to continue to try to influence the outcome in Iran."

Hagel acknowledged that while Israel and the U.S. share a commitment to ensuring that Iran does not acquire a nuclear weapon, there "may well be some differences" between the two allies on the question of when Iran's leaders might decide to go for a bomb.

"When you back down into the specifics of the timing of when and if Iran decides to pursue a nuclear weapon, there may well be some differences," he said.

"We lost everything in such a short time," the 20-year-old college student said Sunday. He said his cousin also was injured in the collapse, but that other members of his family were spared because they were out working in the fields of hard-hit Longmen village in Lushan county.

Saturday's earthquake in Sichuan province killed at least 186 people, injured more than 11,000 and left nearly two dozen missing, mostly in the rural communities around Ya'an city.

The fighting in Baga began Friday and lasted for hours, sending people fleeing into the arid scrublands surrounding the community on Lake Chad. By Sunday, when government officials finally felt safe enough to see the destruction, homes, businesses and vehicles were burned throughout the area.

ISTANBUL — U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry on Sunday urged Turkey to speed up and cement an American-brokered rapprochement with Israel, and he explored with Palestinian officials new ways to relaunch Mideast peace efforts.

Both Israel and Abbas, whose Palestinian Authority is based in the West Bank, oppose the Gaza visit.

Steady Gosse wins 46th Presidential Invite

SEAN ARNOLD
Correspondent

CRYSTAL RIVER — Ocala's Kelly Gosse equaled his first round of one-under-par 71 on Sunday to win the 46th annual men's golf Presidential Invitational by three strokes at the 7 Rivers Golf & Country Club in Crystal River.

Gosse led Inverness' Brian Brown and Wayne Brunsink by three strokes heading into Sunday after draining six birdies on day one, and added three more birdies on Sunday's front nine — where he scored a 34 — to establish some breathing room for the back stretch.

"It got to the point where I knew I was in control and just needed to take care of business," said the 49-year-old Gosse, who won the Presidential in 2010 and shot a two-under 142 for the weekend. "I screwed up a little bit on 18, making a bogey, but I knew I had a big enough lead where it didn't matter."

"We got lucky the first day with us being the first group out and avoiding most of the rain. I putted well both days."

Brown, 56, also shot a round of 71 on Sunday to remain three behind Gosse at 145 for a second-place finish.

"I was really steady," said Brown, who finished third the last two years. "I made two more birdies Sunday than I did Saturday, and I made all pars on the back nine. If I had made a few putts, who knows what I could have done. But I guess everybody can say that. I'm happy. I played well (Sunday)." Land O' Lakes' Scott Lynch didn't have as much luck with Saturday's rainy weather as Gosse, but he compensated on the second day by firing a tournament round-low of 70. A 75 on Saturday prevented him from catching Gosse, however, leaving him tied with Brown for his third straight second-place finish.

"I made three bogeys in the rain coming in Saturday, but I made a lot of putts (Sunday)," Lynch, 52, said. "I was hoping Kelly might slip up, so I can slide in there and steal it, but he's a terrific player."

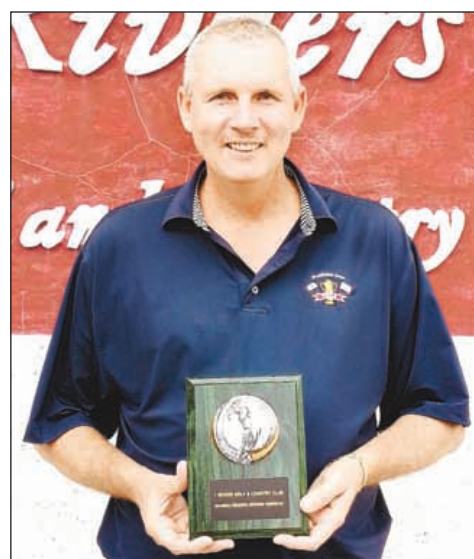

Brunsink and past champ Rick Powers rounded out the top 5 of the first flight (blue tees) with a pair of 149s, while Chris Bernhard (150), Jason Council (152) and Bob Bleakley (151) — the most prolific Presidential champion — closely followed.

Kelly Brady improved his score by three shots from the first day in claiming the low score in the second flight from the blues at 153, with Allen Chapman (157), Terry Austin (161) and Bob Reynolds (161) following.

Ron Cart fired a one-over 73 on Sunday to edge out Truman Libby (154) in the first flight of the white tee group with a two-day total of 152, while Dan Keegan matched Libby's 154 from the second flight of the white tee competitors. # Sweep complete

Hernandez gets first victory since 2011

Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG — Roberto Hernandez flashed a big smile after an extremely satisfying game.

Hernandez pitched six effective innings Sunday for his first win since he was known as Fausto Carmona, and the Tampa Bay Rays complete a three-game sweep of the Oakland Athletics with an 8-1 victory.

"Good for him, man," Rays manager Joe Maddon said. "I really think that's something for him to build off of. I'm sure the confidence needed a booster, and that's a booster shot right there."

Hernandez (1-3) allowed one run, three hits, three walks and had seven strikeouts in his first win since Sept. 20, 2011, while with Cleveland.

"Wow! A long time," Hernandez said.

The 32-year-old right-hander was arrested in January 2012 in the Dominican Republic on false identity charges — as Carmona. They were dropped after he completed a work program.

Oakland starter Tommy Milone (3-1) had his season-opening three-game winning streak end. The left-hander gave up six runs and eight hits over 6 2/3 innings.

Milone is 1-2 with a 7.13 ERA in three career starts against Tampa Bay.

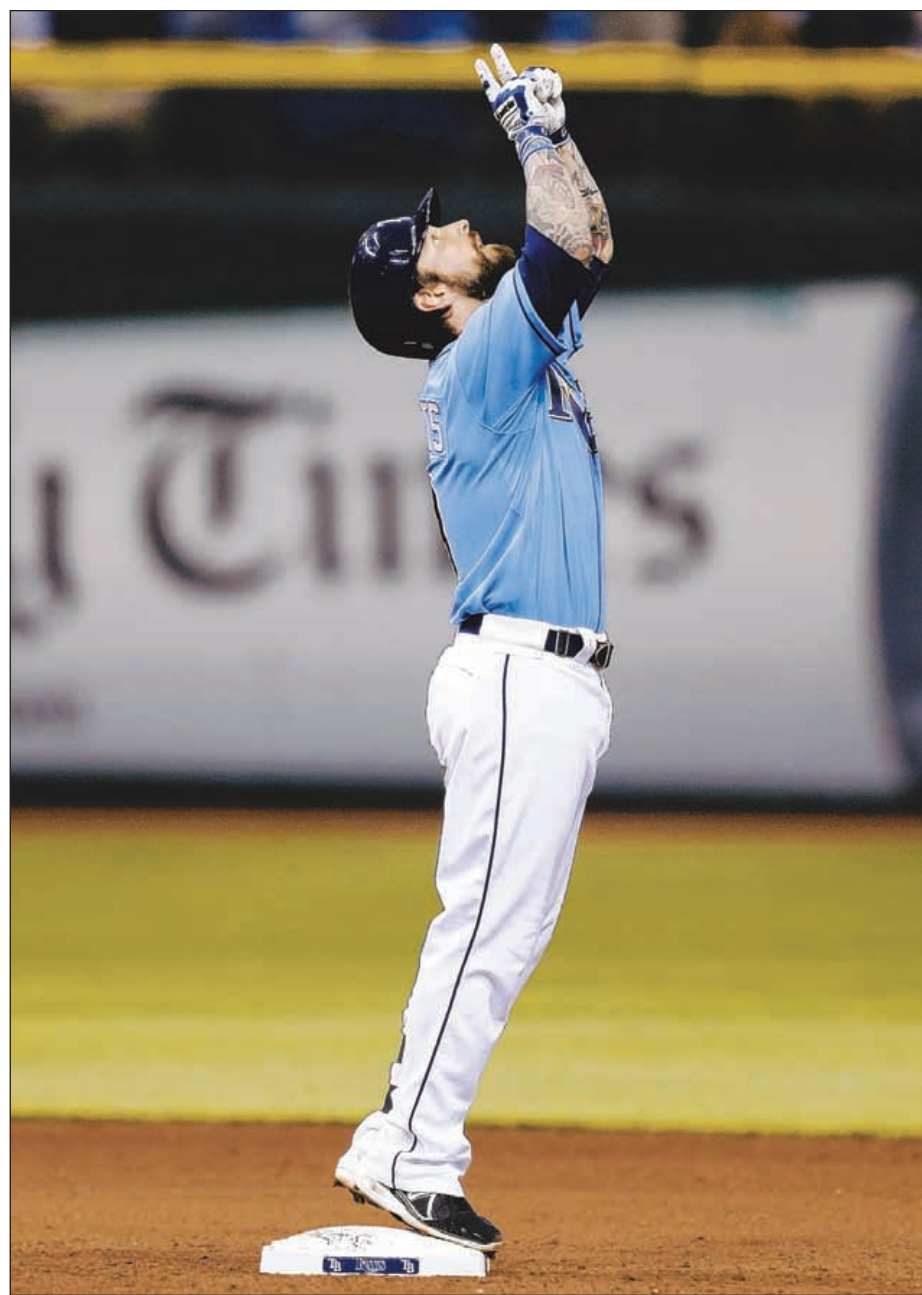

Jake McGee and Brandon Gomes completed the three-hitter. One day after having a DJ play music in the clubhouse to help relax his team, Maddon had a magician doing card tricks Sunday.

"It's about just keeping the guys ready, keeping the guys loose," Maddon said. "I want them to be prepared mentally, and not be exhausted mentally whenever they go out on the field. Things like that, I do things to break it up."

Hernandez became the first Tampa Bay starter 31 years old or older to get a win since Mark Hendrickson on June 20, 2006.

It was the Rays' first sweep of three or more games against Oakland since May 2005. Tampa Bay held the Athletics, who entered with a major's best 96 runs, to just four in the three-game set.

The Rays took a 3-0 lead in the first. Ryan Roberts scored the first run from third when Oakland right fielder Josh Reddick dropped Evan Longoria's fly. After later loading the bases, Sean Rodriguez drove in a run when he was hit by a pitch and Kelly Johnson hit a sacrifice fly.

Yunel Escobar made it 4-0 on a second-inning homer:

"I get in the middle of the game I sort of found it for a while," Milone said. "I was throwing quality strikes and keeping them off base. I thought that was the key especially since they went up early. I was just trying to keep the team in the game."

Reddick cut the deficit to 4-1 on Oakland's first hit, a two-out RBI single in the fourth. The Athletics failed to score after loading the bases with two outs during the fifth when Brandon Moss flew out to right on a 3-2 pitch.

Oakland went 1 for 10 with runners in scoring position against Hernandez, and 1 for 13 overall. The Athletics had three hits in 25 at-bats in the series with runners in scoring position.

"A few days ago we were getting all the big hits, and for a series here we didn't," Oakland manager Bob Melvin said.

Roberts had an RBI double during a two-run seventh that extended the Rays' lead to 6-1. Escobar added a run-scoring single as Tampa Bay also scored twice in the eighth for an 8-1 advantage.

District baseball outlook

Correspondent

Fourth-seeded Lecanto kicks off this week's busy schedule of district baseball tournament play, tonight at home against No. 5 seed West Port at 7 p.m. A victory for the Panthers earns them a rematch of last year's title game — this time in the semifinal round — against top-seeded Citrus at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Central High.

Despite the low seeding, the Panthers (9-13 overall, 4-4 in 6A-6) have enjoyed two big wins at home the past two weeks — a 2-0 defeat of Crystal River and a spoiling of Springstead's would-be top seed in a 4-1 victory over the Eagles — behind the pitching of junior Levi O'Steen and improved defensive play. They've swept their series with the Wolf Pack on the season and split with No. 2-seed Central in a pair of one-run battles.

"If we come ready to go with intensity and play good defense, throw strikes and have timely hitting, we'll have a good chance to make a run in the districts, I believe," Lecanto coach Dave Logue said after his team's Bat Game win over the Pirates on Wednesday.

As the No. 1 seed and reigning 6A-6 champs, the Hurricanes (12-13 overall, 6-2 in 6A-6) are limping into the tournament with a four-game losing streak and a couple of injuries to key contributors. Still, they're a combined 6-0 against Central, Lecanto and West Port, and — if the two teams meet in Friday's championship — aren't likely to face Springstead senior ace Brandon Brosher, who has started in a pair of wins over Citrus.

"After we clinched, we just played bad baseball," Citrus coach Brady Bogart said. "A new season starts now. Amen. There are five teams in our district that can go to the playoffs. All you need is somebody on the mound to throw strikes to give your team a chance. West Port and Lecanto have that, and I think we have that, so I think it's a matter of

Revis Island shifts to Gulf coast

Jets star cornerback traded to Tampa Bay

Associated Press

TAMPA — Revis Island is relocating to Tampa Bay.

The Buccaneers took a bold move to fix the NFL's worst pass defense Sunday, acquiring star cornerback Darrelle Revis from the New York Jets in exchange for the 13th overall pick in this year's draft and another selection next year.

New York Jets cornerback Darrelle Revis looks on Dec. 24, 2011, before a game against the New York Giants in East Rutherford, N.J. The Jets traded Revis to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers for this year's No. 13 overall draft pick and another selection next year.

Associated Press

"We're thrilled. It's rare that you get a chance to add a player of this caliber to your football team. That's what motivated us," general manager Mark Dominik said, adding he would withhold further comment until a Monday news conference at the team's training facility.

The Bucs announced the deal Sunday, saying Revis agreed to a new six-year contract. Revis' agents Neil Schwartz and Jon Feinsod confirmed the deal is worth $96 million, with no guaranteed money, but makes him one of the highest-paid defensive players in the NFL. It includes $1.5 million annually in both roster and workout bonuses.

The Jets also receive a conditional fourth-round pick in next year's draft that will become a third-rounder if Revis is on the Buccaneers' roster on the third day of the 2014 league year.

The trade was completed about two hours after Revis arrived in Tampa by private jet to take a physical for the Bucs,

Tampa Bay coach Greg Schiano drove his car onto the tarmac to meet the plane, greeted Revis and whisked the cornerback away to One Buccaneer Place. Soon after, the front page of the Buccaneers' official website posted a big picture of Revis in what appears to be a Tampa Bay jersey with the words: "Treasure Island. Darrelle Revis (CB). It's a Bucs Life."

Tampa Bay opens the season at — that's right — the Jets.

Trade talk had been swirling for months involving Revis, with the Bucs thought all along to be the most serious suitor. In addition to having a leaky secondary, Tampa Bay was more than $32 million under the salary cap before landing a player generally regarded as the best cornerback in football.

Coach Rex Ryan's Jets currently have

TORONTO — J.P. Arencibia hit a two-run homer, Melky Cabrera had three hits and the Toronto Blue Jays rallied for an 8-4 victory over the New York Yankees after Josh Johnson walked in the tying and go-ahead runs.

Arencibia hit his seventh homer, tying him with Baltimore's Chris Davis for the AL lead, as the Blue Jays avoided their first three-game sweep against New York since the opening series of the 2003 season.

Ervin Santana (2-1) pitched seven strong innings in the opener, when Kansas City won 4-2. Kelvin Herrera (2-2) got the win in the night game, a makeup of the one postponed on Friday night because of the city-wide lockdown during the hunt for the Boston Marathon bombers.

Alex Gordon had three hits in the second game, including a single with one out in the 10th. Alcides Escobar walked and, after Billy Butler struck out, Eric Hosmer reached on an infield single — his fourth hit of the day.

Atlanta led 2-0 in the second when Pedro Alvarez singled and scored on Russell Martin's double, and Barmes

Todd Frazier hit a three-run double in an eight-run seventh inning for the Reds, who took three of four from the Marlins and improved to a major league-best 10-3 at home.

The Marlins have the worst record in the big leagues at 4-15 — the poorest record after 19 games in team history.

Brewers 4, Cubs 2

MILWAUKEE — Ryan Braun hit a three-run homer in the fifth then was ejected three innings later, and the Milwaukee Brewers won their seventh straight, 4-2 over the Chicago Cubs.

Wily Peralta (1-1) pitched 6 2/3 innings for Milwaukee, giving up two runs and five hits. Tom Gorzelanny pitched a scoreless eighth inning, but walked leadoff hitter Nate Schierholtz in the ninth. Jim Henderson replaced him and got three outs for his fourth save in four chances.

Zito (3-1) bounced back from the worst start of big league career to defeat the Padres for the first time in nearly two years. He allowed five hits in seven innings, struck out four, walked one and did not give up run for the third time in four starts.

Diamondbacks 5, Rockies 4 which team plays the better defense."

The 6A-6 championship game is 7 p.m. Friday at Central and will include the winner between the Eagles (No. 2 seed) and the tournament-hosting Bears versus the winner of Citrus and its Tuesday opponent.

Like the Panthers, Crystal River (8-14 overall, 3-7 in 5A-7) needs two wins to qualify for the district championship game and regional playoffs. The Pirates face Nature Coast Technical in Tuesday's quarterfinal round at 4 p.m. at host-school Eustis. If they advance, the Pirates play No. 1 seed Eustis at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the semifinals.

Last year's surprise 5A-7 champion Tavares (No. 6 seed) takes on Dunne-lon — which earned its third seed with a recent 8-1 victory over the Pirates — in the quarterfinal round at 4 p.m. Tuesday. The winner plays No. 2 Hernando in Wednesday's early semifinal game at 4 p.m. Friday's title game is 7 p.m.

Crystal River's pitching staff, led by junior Kameron Pennington and sophomore Derrick Rogers, should be rested. But a lack of team consistency has frustrated Pirates coach Bobby Stack, whose team sandwiched its recent shutout loss at Lecanto with a combined 17 runs scored in wins over Leesburg and Springstead.

"Our goal is to bust our tails and try to win on Tuesday and try to give Eustis a headache if we make it to Wednesday," Stack said. "We know, talent-wise, how we match up with a team like Eustis, but we've stepped up to the plate and played better against strong competition."

Seven Rivers Christian's postseason position has the most clarity in the county. It won a coin toss against St. John Lutheran to get the No. 1 seed and semifinal bye in the three-team 2A-3 district, guaranteeing the club a state regional playoff berth. The two teams split their regular-season series and swept Cornerstone Academy to go 3-1 in league play. The Warriors (15-2 overall) — winners of eight in a row — play the semifinal winner 7 p.m. Thursday at their Dazzy Vance Field in Homosassa.

With Cornerstone and St. John meeting Tuesday, Seven Rivers should have an advantage in pitching rotation matchups.

"The nice thing about getting the bye is that we have all our pitchers available," Warriors coach Jim Ervin said. "We have two really good pitchers in (junior) Adam Gage (county-leading six home runs) and (sophomore) Cory Weiland (0.52 ERA, .606 on base percentage) and (seventh grader) Parker Pillsbury's not too far off those two."

the ninth overall pick in the draft that starts Thursday, and now the 13th pick, so new general manager John Idzik will be busy early in the first round.

The trade leaves Antonio Cromartie as the Jets' top cornerback, a role he flourished in last season with Revis sidelined by a knee injury. And 2010 first-rounder Kyle Wilson mostly likely would be stepping in for the other starter.

The Jets could also target a cornerback — perhaps Alabama's Dee Milliner or Florida State's Xavier Rhodes — in the first round.

For the Bucs, adding Revis improves a secondary that already includes cornerback Eric Wright and safeties Mark Barron and recently signed Dashon Goldson, an All-Pro last season in San Francisco. Tampa Bay finished last in pass defense last season, coming within 38 yards of allowing the most yardage through the air in league history.

The 27-year-old Revis was entering the last season of his four-year contract signed in 2010, but was looking for a big payday that would make him one of the highest-paid defensive players in the league. A clause in that deal prevented the Jets from using the franchise or transition tag on him next year, so if he likely would have become a free agent in 2014. Complicating things was the fact Revis is coming off a serious injury. Revis tore the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee last September against Miami, and underwent surgery the next month. He has been rehabbing since, and has indicated in interviews he expects to be ready for the start of the regular season. Against his former team.

McDowell wins in playoff at RBC Heritage

Associated Press

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. — For all the big moments in Graeme McDowell's career, his resume was short on PGA Tour victories.

McDowell relished what he called his first authentic tour win, defeating fellow U.S. Open champ Webb Simpson in a playoff at the RBC Heritage on Sunday.

McDowell's been at the center of some of golf's biggest moments, from his rousing triumph at Pebble Beach in 2010 to capturing the winning point for Europe in that year's Ryder Cup matches. He has six European PGA victories, too, but he hadn't triumphed in the weekly grind of the world's top tour.

"This game kicks you more often than it gives you a pat on the back," McDowell said. "It's hard to win."

Not on this day for McDowell, who pushed forward on wind-blown Harbour Golf Links when his rivals were moving backward, unnerved by the 20 to 30 mph winds that rattled the course.

He rallied from four strokes down when the day began to take a one-shot lead into the 72nd hole. Then after he made his only bogey of the round to fall into tie with Simpson, two-putted from about 15 feet to make a par on the extra hole that Simpson couldn't match.

"I guess the weather was what the doctor ordered. I needed that to get close to the leaders," said McDowell, who earned $1,044,000 for the victory.

McDowell, from Northern Ireland, had a 69, one of only three scores in the 60s among the 70 who teed off Sunday.

Simpson, reigning U.S. Open winner, shot 71. He had a chance to win in regulation, but his 22-footer for birdie went 3 feet past and set up the additional hole.

"I came in with not too much confidence, but I just stayed true to the process of what we've been working on," Simpson said.

Luke Donald shot a 69 to tie for third with Kevin Streelman, who had a 72. Jerry Kelly rounded out the top five after his even-par 71.

Charley Hoffman, the 54-hole leader, ballooned to a 77 and fell into a tie for sixth with Russell

Henley (69) and Chris Stroud (70).

Langer keeps rolling with win in Gwinnett

DULUTH, Ga. — Bernhard Langer added to his impressive Champions Tour season by shooting a 67 to win the inaugural Greater Gwinnett Championship by three strokes.

The 55-year-old Langer, who finished 10 under, took control with a long chip-in for birdie on No. 10. He had six birdies for his fifth top-three finish in six events. He also won the Ace Group Classic in Naples.

Tom Lehman, whose 67 included birdies on 17 and 18, tied for second at 7 under with Tom Pernice Jr. Pernice made a move with an eagle on No. 15 and added a birdie on 18 for a 70.

Esteban Toledo, the second-round leader, fell out of contention with double bogeys on 11 and 12 on his way to a 75.

Jacquelin wins Spanish Open in 9-hole playoff

VALENCIA, Spain — Raphael Jacquelin of France won a record-tying playoff at the Spanish Open, edging Germany's Maximilian Kieffer on their ninth try at the 18th hole.

Jacquelin made a 5-foot birdie putt to end the back-and-forth battle with Kieffer in what started as a three-way playoff including Chile's Felipe Aguilar.

The three players were tied at 5-under 283, with Jacquelin and Kieffer both carding 1-under 71s in the final round, while Aguilar finished with a 70.

It was Jacquelin's fourth European Tour victory and his first in more than two years.

The only other European Tour event decided by a nine-hole playoff was the 1989 Dutch Open.

Kenseth holds off Kahne to win at Kansas Speedway

Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — Matt Kenseth knew that he had a front-running car Sunday.

It was simply a matter of getting there.

So when a caution flag came out with several leaders on pit road, and Kenseth found himself leading the pack into the pits, he had a feeling things were going his way.

"That was the key," he would say later.

Kenseth won the race off pit road after taking two tires under caution, and a No. 20 Toyota that had been strong all day slowly pulled away. Kasey Kahne trimmed into the lead once he moved into second, but Kenseth managed to block every move he tried to make.

Kahne pulled alongside him entering Turn 4 with the white flag flying, but Kenseth pulled back ahead along the front stretch and then cruised to the win at Kansas Speedway.

"When it was in front, we knew it was really fast," Kenseth said after his second straight win at the track. "And if we could get out there first, we'd be tough to beat."

It was the third straight win from the pole in the Sprint Cup series.

Jimmie Johnson did it two weeks ago at Martinsville, and Kyle Busch did the same last weekend at Texas. The last time three straight winners came from the pole was in 1985, when Bill Elliott and Dale Earnhardt combined to do it at Michigan, Bristol and Darlington.

"The fastest car is supposed to win, right? That's what racing is about," Kenseth said. "I think it's a little bit of a coincidence, the way things worked out."

Points leader Johnson finished third with a car that kept getting better during long, green flag runs. Martin Truex Jr. came home in fourth and Clint Bowyer was fifth.

"Matt's good. He always has been," Johnson said. "He impresses me in his ability to lead the team, make adjustments on the car, and his knowledge of the car, but most importantly, inside the car, and finding a little bit more. The guy can do it."

So can Brad Keselowski, who put a positive spin on an ugly week for Penske Racing.

Keselowski picked up some minor damage to the rear of his car early in the race, and fell a lap down when he was slow getting off pit road under caution. The damage kept getting worse as the laps ticked along, and eventually a huge piece of his rear end ripped off.

The No. 2 team managed to get it fixed up enough, and Keselowski slowly picked off positions in the waning laps to finish a heartening sixth after a frustrating week.

"Usually you're not happy unless you win," Keselowski said, "but you know, a day where you can fight through adversity like we did today and get a solid finish, that's kind of is a win."

Joey Logano didn't have the same chipper feeling.

He was struggling to find speed when Busch got in trouble along the wall, shot down to the apron of the track and smacked into his No. 22 Ford in a devastating head-to-head collision. The wreck knocked both cars out of the race and left debris scattered all over the asphalt.

"What was going through my mind? 'This is going to hurt,'" Logano said. "I was committed to going by him on the bottom at that point and as soon as a committed to it he started heading down the race track. At that point I was just kind of screwed."

Ricky Stenhouse Jr. spent most of the afternoon running at the front, with Kenseth chasing the No. 17

Ford that he drove to victory last year at the newly resurfaced Kansas Speedway.

But Stenhouse was among several leading drivers, including Carl Edwards and Greg Biffle, who were forced to pit under green with about 50 laps to go. They were just getting back onto the track when the rear bumper on Keselowski's car that had been hanging on by a thread finally came loose.

The metal chattered across the track and brought out a caution.

Kenseth beat Truex in the race off pit road — critical at Kansas, where a second groove didn't start to round into shape until late in the race. Kahne had them both in his sights, but by the time he moved into second place, Kenseth had more than a full second on the field.

Sato 1st Japanese driver to win an IndyCar race

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Takuma Sato became the first Japanese driver to win an IndyCar race in the Toyota Grand Prix of Long Beach.

The win came in Sato's 52nd career start, and the first for A.J. Foyt Racing since Ayrton Dare won Kansas in 2002.

It was redemption for Sato, who probably is best known for crashing on the final lap of last year's Indianapolis 500 while driving for Bobby Rahal. But two races earlier, at Long Beach, he was headed to a podium finish when Ryan Hunter-Reay spun him on the final lap.

Red Bull's Vettel wins Bahrain GP

Hurricanes top Lightning 3-2

Associated Press

TAMPA — Jiri Tlustý scored two first-period goals and Dan Ellis stopped 34 shots to lead the Carolina Hurricanes to a 3-2 victory over the Tampa Bay Lightning on Sunday night.

Alexander Semin scored 16 seconds into the game for the Hurricanes, who jumped ahead 3-0 and held on for their first victory against the Lightning this season.

Steven Stamkos and Martin St. Louis scored for the Lightning, who lost their sixth straight game.

Ellis turned away 15 of 16 shots in the third period, including point-blank opportunities by Eric Brewer, Ryan Malone and B.J. Crombeen.

Bruins 3, Panthers 0

BOSTON — Jaromir Jagr scored his second goal as a member of the Bruins and Boston ended a four-game winless streak with a 3-0 victory over Florida.

Tuukka Rask stopped 28 shots for his fourth shutout of the season and the Bruins pulled into a tie with idle Montreal for first place in Northeast Division with 59 points. The Bruins have four games to play, one more than the Canadiens as the longtime rivals try to lock up the division in the final week of the regular season.

Rangers 4, Devils 1

NEW YORK — Ryan Callahan scored a goal in the opening minute and another in the third period, and Henrik Lundqvist made 26 saves as the New York Rangers eliminated the New Jersey Devils from the Eastern Conference playoff race with a 4-1 victory.

The Devils' longshot playoff hopes were dashed, meaning last season's conference champions won't get a chance to defend their title.

Of the teams behind the Rangers, only Winnipeg can now catch them.

Flames 4, Wild 1

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Joey MacDonald made 34 saves, Mark Cundari scored a goal in his first NHL game and the Calgary Flames beat Minnesota 4-1 to hand the Wild a potentially harmful home loss in their push for the playoffs.

Zach Parise got his team-high 17th goal for the Wild, who will likely at least need to win two of their three remaining games to make the playoffs without help from others. They're in seventh place in the Western Conference with 51 points, while Columbus, Detroit, Dallas and Phoenix remain in a tight pack still alive behind them.

Blue Jackets 4, Sharks 3

SAN JOSE, Calif. — Ryan Johansen scored the tiebreaking goal with 1:37 remaining to give the Columbus Blue Jackets a big boost in their push for the playoffs with a 4-3 victory over the San Jose Sharks.

Mark Letestu scored twice and Vinny Prospal also scored for the Blue Jackets, who moved into a tie for seventh place with Minnesota in the Western Conference.

Marty Havlat, Andrew Desjardins and Joe Pavelski scored for the Sharks.

Avalanche 5, Blues 3

DENVER — Jamie McGinn scored twice, Jean-Sebastien Giguere stopped 29 shots and the Colorado Avalanche prevented the St. Louis Blues from wrapping up a playoff spot with a 5-3 win.

Cody McLeod, Matt Duchene and Chuck Kobasew also scored for the Avalanche, who chased Brian Elliott from the game late in the second period. It was Colorado's eighth straight win over the Blues at Pepsi Center.

David Backes, Jaden Schwartz and Kevin Shattenkirk had goals for St. Louis, which could have secured a postseason berth with a win over a Colorado team that's last in the Western Conference.

Out of the playoff race, the Avs are playing the role of spoiler. They're 3-0-2 against teams in or contending for a postseason spot.

Serena, Venus lead US to Fed Cup win

DELRAY BEACH — Venus Williams beat Johanna Larsson 6-3, 7-5 to give the

The victory guarantees the U.S. a spot in the coveted 2014 Fed Cup World Group, while Sweden will play 2014 World Group II action.

Earlier in the day top-ranked Serena Williams boosted the U.S. to a 2-1 lead when she posted a 6-2, 6-1 win over 54th-ranked Sofia Arvidsson.

Dear Annie: My friend "Nina" just broke up with her boyfriend of five years. We are here for her, trying to help in any way we can, even though we think she is out of her mind for doing this.

One of our friends has been telling Nina lies about the guy, saying he has been talking about her behind her back. I have never heard him do this. All he has ever said is that he loves Nina and doesn't understand why she broke things off.

This friend has a reputation for being dishonest. There have been fights about this before. She has backstabbed Nina twice in the past, yet Nina always turns to her when she thinks her world is collapsing. Nina has told me that she doesn't trust this woman, but they continue to act like sisters. I care a great deal about Nina, but at what point does a 40-year-old woman grow up? Maybe Nina needs to have her life blow up in her face so she gets a clue. Is there anything I can do? — A Real Friend

We never order appetizers, because we watch our diets and feel the dinner provides plenty of food. Also, since we were paying for it, why would they order something we ourselves didn't order?

If you did not suggest appetizers, they should not have ordered them on their own. However, as hosts, you cannot insist that your guests share your food preferences in a restaurant. # No sweat: Heat cruise in playoff opener

Associated Press

MIAMI — LeBron James scored 27 points on 9 for 11 shooting, Ray Allen scored 20 off the bench and the Miami Heat never trailed on the way to beating the Milwaukee Bucks 110-87 in Game 1 of an Eastern Conference first-round series on Sunday night.

Dwyane Wade scored 16, Chris Bosh added 15 and Chris Andersen finished with 10 on 4 for 4 shooting for the Heat, who opened their title defense by holding Milwaukee to 42 percent shooting.

Brandon Jennings scored 26 points and Monta Ellis added 22 for the Bucks, who have not won the opening game of a playoff series since May 2001.

Game 2 is Tuesday in Miami.

Pacers 107, Hawks 90

INDIANAPOLIS — Paul George scored 23 points and recorded his first playoff triple double, leading Indiana past Atlanta 107-90 for a 1-0 lead in the Eastern Conference series.

George made just 3 of 13 shots but was 17 of 18 from the free-throw line, had 11 rebounds and 12 assists. George Hill added 18 points despite playing with a left groin injury. It's the first time since 2006 the Pacers have opened a playoff series with a win.

The best-of-seven series resumes Wednesday at Indy.

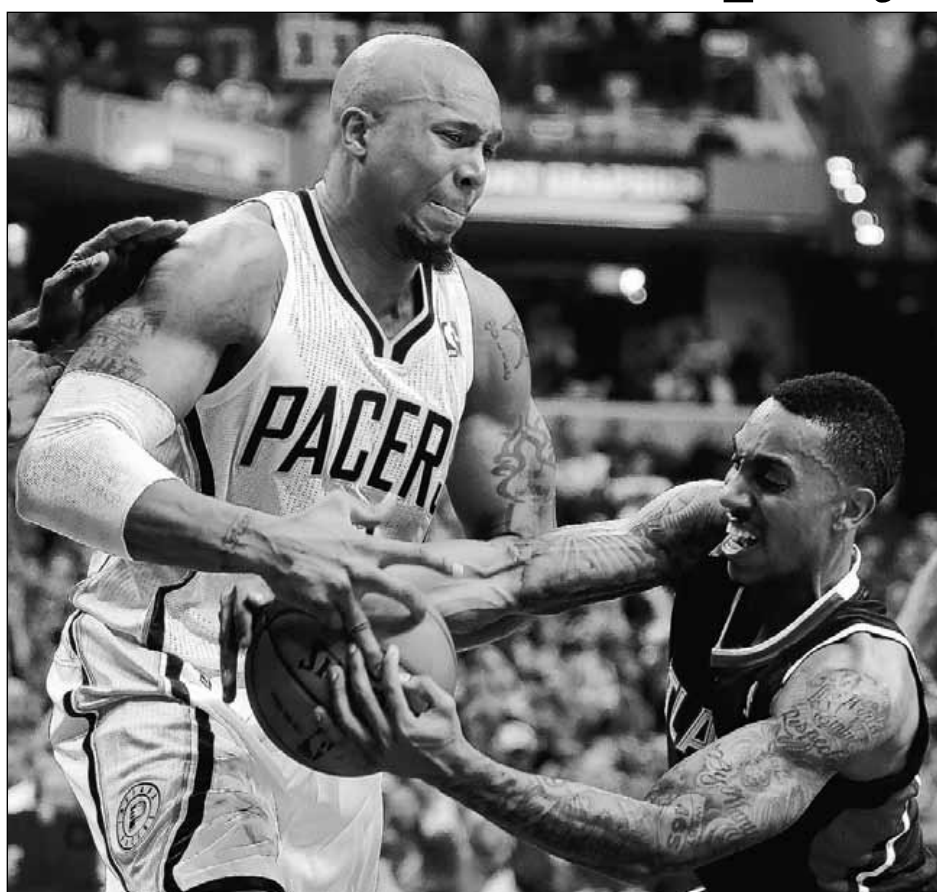

The Central Division champs played more like the team that was contending for the No. 2 seed rather than the one stumbling to five losses in its previous seven games.

Atlanta was led by Jeff Teague with 21 points and Josh Smith with 15.

Spurs 91, Lakers 79

SAN ANTONIO — Manu Ginobili and Tony Parker scored 18 points each and the San Antonio Spurs beat the Los Angeles Lakers 91-79 in Game 1 of their Western Conference first-round series.

LOS ANGELES — Chris Paul led seven players in double figures with 23 points, Eric Bledsoe scored 15 and the Los Angeles Clippers beat the Memphis Grizzlies 112-91 on Saturday.

Chauncey Billups had 14 points, and Caron Butler and Jamal Crawford had 13 apiece on a night when Blake Griffin was held to 10 points and five rebounds before fouling out.

Reserve Jerryd Bayless led the Grizzlies with 19 points. Marc Gasol had 16 points and four fouls, and Zach Randolph had 13 points and four rebounds while playing with five fouls in the rematch of last year's first-round series, won by the Clippers in seven games.

Warriors' David Lee out for season with ailing hip

DENVER — All-Star forward David Lee of the Warriors is out for the season after injuring his hip during Golden State's 97-95 loss to Denver in Game 1 of their opening playoff series.

MRI results were announced Sunday, showing a torn right hip flexor.

The injury leaves the Warriors without a key producer down low. Lee led the NBA in double-doubles with 56 this season. He averaged 18.5 points, 11.2 rebounds and 3.5 assists.

Lee finished with 10 points and 14 rebounds in his first playoff game in eight NBA seasons. Game 2 is Tuesday in Denver.
