QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Contribute! Like us at facebook.com/citruscounty chronicle and respond to our Question of the Week.

Whatever brand of turkey you buy, how do you cook it — deep fry, brine, roast, rotisserie? What spices do you use? Stuffing?

Joni McFarland
Butterball usually but ordering a different one this year and it's a 25 pounder as every year. Roast it with poultry seasoning and a bit of oil. Stuff it with cube stuffing mix, celery, onion and seasoning (in the bird).

Patti Griffith
Always purchase a Publix turkey — and it has been a family favorite for years. Stuffing is outside in a pan — one is oyster dressing and another pan is regular dressing. The best part is — my mother-in-law does all the cooking. I just do all the cleanup!

Bookaneers
I love to let it soak overnight in a citrus brine. So juicy!

David Seibert
Roast the bird in enamelware roaster, slightly elevated. Prefer non-Butterball. Always use an injector with garlic/butter combo. Stuffing out of bird.

Barbara Hall Miller
Butterball, roast, salt, pepper, butter. Cornbread dressing, out of the bird.

Debbie B. Crawford
Brine, roast, Bells poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Perfect every time and you must have plenty leftover for a required turkey sandwich with mayo on fresh bread!

POLL

ONLINE POLL:
Your choice?

What do you think of the proposal to raise the speed limit to 75 mph on certain stretches of Florida interstate highways?

A. Good idea — there's no reason not to.
B. Bad idea — it'll result in more gas guzzled and more deadly accidents.
C. Might as well — most motorists are traveling 75 mph anyway.
D. That's nuts — drop the speed limit back to 65 mph.

Attorney: Details could hinder HCA deal

Mike Wright
Staff writer

INVERNESS — Questions about details in a master settlement agreement between the two boards overseeing Citrus Memorial hospital could potentially delay or jeopardize a transaction plan with Hospital Corporation of America, an attorney for one board said.

The Citrus Memorial Health Foundation meets tonight. The agenda includes signing off on a proposed letter of intent with HCA which, after HCA review, is expected to be finalized in mid-December.

Foundation members say they want approval of the letter of intent, or LOI, to coincide with a settlement agreement that dismisses pending lawsuits and guarantees a Citrus County Hospital Board payment to the hospital.

The CCHB on Wednesday approved both the LOI and master settlement proposal.

However, CCHB attorney Bill Grant said foundation attorney Clark Stillwell has added a number of proposals to the settlement agreement that cannot be rectified by Dec. 16, when the two boards next meet jointly to finalize the letter of intent.

Active role

Joanna Castle, executive director of the YMCA of the Suncoast, colors alongside of Homosassa Elementary School student Deven Copeland during the Y's after-school program in the school's cafeteria.

Joanna Castle works to help community thrive at YMCA

Eryn Worthington
Staff writer

Born and raised in Citrus County, Crystal River High School graduate Joanna Castle went away to college and began her life.

"My husband and I moved away and started our family," she said. "We decided to move back to Citrus County because our parents live here and we wanted to raise our children in a safe place."

Her move back "home" brought her not only comfort and satisfaction but a role in making an impact on the community.

In 2011, Castle accepted a position as director of the YMCA of the Suncoast.

Castle told the Chronicle that the YMCA is alive and active in Citrus County and the future is untouchable.

CHRONICLE: Two years ago when you accepted the YMCA of the Suncoast's director position, you said you had big plans. Have those plans developed, and what are your goals for the future?

CASTLE: We have achieved a lot of the goals that we had set for ourselves two years ago. We have certainly grown quite a bit. We have expanded our after-school enrichment program to almost every school now, which is one example of how we have grown. Just for that program last year we had over 1,300 participants, which is about four times as many as we had previously had.

The programs themselves have grown quite a bit, but we have also expanded on the different types of programs that we offer. We offer group exercise, tae kwon do, enrichment programs, summer camps, aquatics, diabetes prevention and more. We are continuing to grow and build programs to meet all of the needs that people have here in Citrus County.

CHRONICLE: Is the rumor true that a new Lecanto facility is in the future plans?

CASTLE: Yes. There is a new facility to be built on C.R. 486. We are very fortunate to have the property donated to us by Stan and Betty Olsen. There is about 18 acres that we plan to build on in the future. We are in the middle of a capital campaign to raise the funds within our community.

CHRONICLE: How has the YMCA of the Suncoast impacted and made a difference in the lives of children and citizens in Citrus County?

CASTLE: I see the impact through the YMCA in many different ways. I see it through the programs themselves, by the children and adults participating. I also hear it from the parents themselves.

I had a phone call from a parent the other day that had a child in an enrichment program. She was telling me about how much her child has really enjoyed the enrichment programs and the other programs he has participated in. She told

Iran gets six months

Anatomy of nuclear deal

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — In a potentially history-shaping choice of diplomacy over confrontation, the U.S. and other world powers agreed Sunday to give Iran six months to open its nuclear sites to possible daily inspections in exchange for allowing Tehran to maintain the central elements of its uranium program, in a multi-layered deal to test Iran's claim that it does not seek atomic weapons.

MORE INSIDE
- Congress plans tough sanctions if Iran deal falls through. Page A7

The deal is a tentative first step easily presented as a win-win: Iran gives a little on nuclear enrichment and gets some economic sanctions relief in return, as its amiable president waxes diplomatically about continued trust-building with Washington. But America's closest Mideast ally, Israel, called it a "historic" mistake, fearing that by not insisting on an actual rollback the world has effectively accepted Iran as a threshold nuclear weapons state. Saudi Arabia and several other Gulf Arab states close to the U.S. hold similar views and many in Congress are dead set against a deal that allows Iran to continue to enrich uranium.

The marathon talks in Geneva appeared at times to be a study in Internet-age brinksmanship and public diplomacy — with all sides sending out signals and statements by Twitter and Facebook — but they also were the culmination of a painstaking process of old-school

Will icy comet survive close encounter with sun?

MARCIA DUNN
AP aerospace writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — For months, all eyes in the sky have pointed at the comet that's zooming toward a blisteringly close encounter with the sun.

The moment of truth comes Thursday — Thanksgiving Day.

The sun-grazing Comet ISON, now thought to be less than a mile wide, will either fry and shatter, victim of the sun's incredible power, or endure and quite possibly put on one fabulous celestial show.

Talk about an astronomical cliffhanger.

Even the smartest scientists are reluctant to lay odds.

Should it survive, ISON, pronounced EYE'-sahn, would be visible with the naked eye through December, at least from the Northern Hemisphere. Discernible at times in November with ordinary binoculars and occasionally even just the naked eye, it already has dazzled observers and is considered the most scrutinized comet ever by NASA. But the best is, potentially, yet to come.

Detected just over a year ago, the comet is passing through the inner solar system for the first time. Still fresh, this comet is thought to bear the pristine matter of the beginning of our solar system.

It's believed to be straight from the Oort cloud on the fringes of the solar system, home to countless icy bodies, most notably the frozen balls of dust and gas in orbit around the sun known as comets. For whatever reason, ISON was propelled out of this cloud and drawn toward the heart of the solar system by the sun's intense gravitational pull.

Right around the time many Americans will be feasting on turkey, the comet will zip within 730,000 miles of the sun.

Associated Press

Comet ISON shines brightly in this image taken Tuesday morning, Nov. 19.

County BRIEFS

Support Services director to speak

The guest speaker at the Saturday, Dec. 7, meeting of the Ronald Reagan Republican Assembly will be Pat Coles, director of Citrus County Support Services. The 1 p.m. meeting will be at 938 N. Suncoast Blvd., Crystal River, in the South Square Plaza.

Refreshments will be provided and CASA donations accepted. Call 352-257-5381 for information.

CCSO, DCF unite for infants

The Citrus County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) is teaming up with the Department of Children and Families for a Safe Sleep campaign.

DCF is currently investigating the deaths of 95 infants to date this year, believed to be the result of unsafe sleeping environments. In Central Florida, DCF is looking into the deaths of 10 infants, likely attributed to unsafe sleeping arrangements.

In response, DCF has teamed up with first-responders as well as Healthy Start Coalitions in an effort to prevent further tragedy from taking place. In most cases, unsafe sleeping deaths are attributed to the environment in which an infant is placed.

CCSO is offering three drop-off locations for the public to donate new pack-and-plays (portable cribs) that will be distributed to families in need, through DCF.

For information, call 866-762-2237.

Apply for seat on tourism council

Chronicle

The Citrus County Board of County Commissioners is seeking applications for three expiring positions on the Tourist Development Council.

The council is responsible for overseeing the spending of bed tax revenue, providing operational oversight for the Citrus County Visitors & Convention Bureau, developing a Tourist Development Plan, and making recommendations to the county commission on tourism-related issues.

Six members of the council are persons who are involved in the tourist industry or who have demonstrated an interest in tourist development. Of those six, not less than three or more than four are owners or operators of tourist accommodations in the county and subject to the Tourist Development Tax. One member is a representative from the county commission. Two members are elected municipal officials.

The Tourist Development Council meets at 9 a.m. the second Wednesday monthly. The regular member positions expire Jan. 31, 2014.

Applicants may be either the owner or operator of a hotel, motel, campground or other property that collects the 3 percent bed tax or an individual interested in tourism development. Applicants are required to be Citrus County residents and registered to vote in Citrus County.

Applications will be accepted until Dec. 2. Applications that meet the eligibility requirements will be forwarded to the Board of County Commissioners for evaluation, nomination and selection.

Interested persons should call Marti Spewock of the Citrus County Visitors and Convention Bureau at 352-628-9305 for more information.

HOW YOUR LAWMAKERS VOTED

Key votes for the week ending Nov. 22 by Voterama in Congress.

- Hydraulic Fracturing Rules: Members voted, 235-187, to bar federal regulation on federal and tribal lands of the underground energy-extraction process known as hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking." A yes vote was to send the bill (HR 2728) to the Senate, where it is likely to be shelved. Rich Nugent, Yes.
- "Fracking" Chemicals Disclosure: Members defeated, 188-232, a motion by Democrats to require public disclosures about hydraulic-fracturing operations on federal and non-federal lands, including the identity of chemicals used in the "fracking" process. A yes vote backed the motion during debate on HR 2728 (above). Nugent, No.
- Expedited Pipeline Permits: The House on Nov. 21 passed, 252-165, a bill to set statutory deadlines for the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and other agencies to act on applications for building natural gas pipelines. A yes vote was to pass HR 1900 over arguments it could cause unsafe construction and environmental harm. Nugent, Yes.
- Pipeline Safety, Siting: The House on Nov. 21 defeated, 180-233, a bid by Democrats to delay HR 1900 (above) until federal regulators have certified it would not result in the building of unsafe pipelines or deny communities a voice in the siting of new pipelines within their boundaries. A yes vote was to adopt the Democratic motion. Nugent, No.
- Filibuster Rules Change: Senators voted, 52-48, to set a simple-majority, up-or-down vote as the threshold for advancing presidential nominees other than Supreme Court nominees. This rules change was dubbed "the nuclear option" because it is a politically explosive rollback of longstanding minority rights in the Senate. A yes vote was to require simple-majority votes rather than 60 votes to end filibusters of presidential nominees in the 100-member Senate. Bill Nelson, Yes; Marco Rubio, No.
- Patricia Millett Filibuster: Senators voted, 55-43, to undo a successful GOP filibuster last month against Patricia Ann Millett's nomination to sit on the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. A yes vote was to advance Millett's nomination under new Senate rules (above). A final vote on her confirmation is expected in December. Nelson, Yes; Rubio, No.
- Robert Wilkins Filibuster: Senators failed, 53-38, to reach 60 votes for ending a Republican filibuster of the nomination of federal judge Robert Wilkins to sit on the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. He is now a district (trial) judge in the same circuit. A yes vote backed Wilkins in what was the Senate's last judicial vote before new filibuster rules took effect (above). Nelson, Yes; Rubio, No.
- 2014 Military Budget: The Senate on Nov. 21 failed, 51-44, to reach 60 votes needed to end a GOP filibuster of a bill to authorize a $625.1 billion, fiscal 2014 military budget, which includes $80.7 billion for actions in war zones and up to $60 billion for military healthcare. The bill was mired in a dispute over the number of amendments Republicans could offer. A yes vote was to advance S 1197. Nelson, Yes; Rubio, No.
- Guantanamo Bay Detainees: The Senate on Nov. 19 refused, 43-55, to renew Congress's ban on moving detainees from the Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, military prison to "super-max" incarceration in the U.S. A yes vote was to strip S 1197 (above) of language allowing commanders to consider transfers to the U.S. on a case-by-case basis. Nelson, No; Rubio, Yes.
- Key votes ahead: Congress is in Thanksgiving Day recess in the week of Nov. 25.

Today's HOROSCOPES

Birthday — Make personal changes that will bring you greater comfort, confidence and peace of mind. Not everyone will be happy with the choices you make, but if you don't follow your heart, you will be living a lie.
Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Put more effort into family matters and taking care of responsibilities. A change of heart will be based on secret information. Don't share personal opinions.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — There is plenty to accomplish. Set your goals high and be persistent in your pursuits. Don't let anyone guilt you into lending or making a donation.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Play by the rules and stick to a budget or plan if you don't want to be subjected to discord or a compromising position.
Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) — False information will surface and must be sorted out quickly before someone gets the wrong impression.
Aries (March 21-April 19) — Double-check what you are getting for your money before making an impulsive purchase or financial decision.
Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Don't sit still waiting for someone else to make a move. Take control of a situation you face, and you will make interesting discoveries that result in personal benefits.
Gemini (May 21-June 20) — Nurture an important relationship with diplomacy and patience. Listen to what's said and respond honestly.
Cancer (June 21-July 22) — Don't feel pressured because someone wants to make an unexpected change. Continue along a safe route that shows personal promise and financial safety.
Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Expect demands, but don't let anything stop you from taking part in or attending something you've been planning. Make adjustments, and you should be good to go.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — A serious look at someone or something from your past will bring you up to speed, helping you move forward without regret. A romantic evening should be planned.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Helping others will make you feel good as long as you don't overdo it or let anyone take you for granted. Complete the jobs that pay before you get involved in freebies.
Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Expand your interests and your friendships. The people you interact with now will give you plenty in return.

Louise Erdrich wins book award

NEW YORK — Louise Erdrich's novel "The Round House" is among the winners this year of an American Book Award, which celebrates the diversity of the country's literature.

Others among the 34 honored at a ceremony this weekend at the Miami Book Fair International included Philip P. Choy's "San Francisco Chinatown: A Guide To Its History & Architecture" and Judy Grahn's "A Simple Revolution: The Making of an Activist Poet."

Critic Greil Marcus won for lifetime achievement. Natalie Diaz's poetry collection "When My Brother Was an Aztec" and Will Alexander's book of essays "Singing In Magnetic Hoofbeat" also won prizes.

There were no cash awards or individual competitive categories.

The awards were established in 1980 by the Before Columbus Foundation, a nonprofit organization founded by author-poet-playwright Ishmael Reed that promotes multicultural literature.

International Emmys to honor J.J. Abrams

NEW YORK — J.J. Abrams may be immersed in a galaxy far, far away these days, but he's taking a break from work on the new "Star Wars" film to accept a special honor at the 41st International Emmy Awards Gala.

Zachary Quinto, who recently reprised his role of Spock in Abrams' successful reboot of the "Star Trek" franchise, will present the honorary International Emmy Founders Award to the director-producer at Monday night's awards ceremony at the Hilton New York.

The presentation to Abrams will highlight the awards ceremony in which 36 nominees from 19 countries will be competing for International Emmys in nine categories.

'Catching Fire' scorches box office

NEW YORK — Moviegoers satiated their appetite for the "Hunger Games" franchise by making the sequel "Catching Fire" one of the year's biggest hits.

"The Hunger Games: Catching Fire" opened with $161.1 million at the domestic weekend box office, according to studio estimates Sunday.

It became the biggest November debut ever, as well as Lionsgate's most lucrative opening.

The result fell short of some expectations and failed to dethrone the year's biggest box-office opening, "Iron Man 3" with $174 million. But the film opened massively worldwide, taking in a total of $307.7 million.

The marketplace largely ceded the weekend to "Catching Fire." The only other new wide release was Disney's Vince Vaughn comedy "Delivery Man," which sputtered to an $8.2 million opening.

The box-office performance for "Catching Fire" establishes "Hunger Games," starring Jennifer Lawrence as the archer heroine of Suzanne Collins' young adult series, as among the elite franchises in movies. The budget nearly doubled from the original and Francis Lawrence took over directing duties from Gary Ross. "Catching Fire" received better reviews and drew a broader audience.

Estimated ticket sales for Friday through Sunday at U.S. and Canadian theaters, according to Rentrak. Final domestic figures will be released Monday.

1. "The Hunger Games: Catching Fire," $161.1 million.
2. "Thor: The Dark World," $14.1 million.
3. "The Best Man Holiday," $12.5 million.
4. "Delivery Man," $8.2 million.
5. "Free Birds," $5.3 million.
6. "Last Vegas," $4.4 million.
7. "Bad Grandpa," $3.5M.
8. "Gravity," $3.3 million.
9. "12 Years a Slave," $2.8M.
10. "Dallas Buyers Club," $2.8 million.

Today in HISTORY

Today is Monday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 2013. There are 36 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Nov. 25, 1963, the body of President John F. Kennedy was laid to rest at Arlington National Cemetery; his widow, first lady Jacqueline Kennedy, lighted an "eternal flame" at the gravesite.

On this date:

In 1940, the cartoon character Woody Woodpecker made his debut in the animated short "Knock Knock."

In 1952, the play "The Mousetrap," a murder mystery by Agatha Christie, first opened in London's West End; it is the longest continuously running show in history.

In 1999, 5-year-old Elian Gonzalez was rescued by a pair of sport fishermen off the coast of Florida, setting off an international custody battle.

Ten years ago: The Senate gave final congressional approval to historic Medicare legislation combining a new prescription drug benefit with measures to control costs before the baby boom generation reaches retirement age.

Five years ago: President-elect Barack Obama said economic recovery efforts would trump deficit concerns after he took office in January.

One year ago: YouTube announced that "Gangnam Style," by South Korean rapper PSY, had become the site's most viewed video of all time, with more than 805 million viewings.

Today's Birthdays: Actress Kathryn Crosby is 80. Actor Matt Clark is 77. Singer Percy Sledge is 73. Author, actor and economist Ben Stein is 69. Actor John Larroquette is 66. Author Charlaine Harris is 62. Singer Amy Grant is 53. Actor Steve Harris is 48. Actor Billy Burke is 47. Actress Jill Hennessy is 44. Actress Christina Applegate is 42. Actress Katie Cassidy is 27.

Thought for Today: "Reject hatred without hating." — Mary Baker Eddy, American religious leader and founder of The Christian Science Monitor (1821-1910).

me how much he had gotten out of those programs.

We offer financial assistance through the YMCA so that parents and families who don't have the funds to pay for all of the fees, we can help supplement that. The mother was very thankful that she had the opportunity to take advantage of that, because she didn't know where she would be if she didn't have that assistance given to her.

CHRONICLE: The YMCA is a very active organization in the community. What is your message?

CASTLE: We are going to stay active. That is really our goal. We want to help create opportunities for people to become healthy, motivated, physically active and build their self esteem through our different programs. I truly believe that if we give people the opportunities to empower themselves it's going to build a stronger community for everyone.

Through the programs that we have developed, I think we are really achieving that. The new Crystal River location is a great example of that. It was a donated space by Dr. Denis and Sylvia Grillo. There we are able to build our programs similar to what our new YMCA facility will bring here to the community.

We are able to offer childcare there so that parents participating in the group exercise are able to have their child watched by a YMCA staff member. They are supervised while the parents are working out and able to do that for themselves. It's really hard, as a working parent, to meet your own needs as well as your other responsibilities.

CHRONICLE: If I was a new parent in the community, how would I get my child involved in the afterschool programs?

CASTLE: If your child is enrolled at Homosassa Elementary School, you can ask anyone at the school and they would have you speak with our director over there. She is excellent. We also offer a fully licensed program through the Department of Children and Families. She would get them signed up and registered.

It is $45 per week for services at the elementary school. We also offer the opportunity for financial assistance through the YMCA there, but we are also partners with the Early Learning Coalition. So if parents qualify through their program, they can send their children through it for a low rate for child care.

CHRONICLE: If I enrolled my child into the program, what would he or she be doing — homework or basketball?

CASTLE: Actually, all of the above. They do different types of activities. They also do arts and crafts. She just had art week last week. They did all kind of artwork and she had books out for illustrations of different artists. They do a little bit of everything. There certainly is a bit of curriculum involved. They do outdoor play and also have snack time.

We follow the HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) guidelines for healthy eating.

It is a really great program. I think parents really understand it. It's a new program and we are very happy to have partnership with Homosassa.

We have the opportunity for working parents who need childcare over the holiday break to take advantage of it. Even if their child does not attend they can enroll them for the few days over the holiday break.

Grant said any delay could jeopardize the $140 million HCA transaction.

Stillwell said the additions are necessary to make sure both sides have an understanding moving forward about payments to the hospital and overseeing the estimated $90 million net that is expected from the 50-year lease.

He also said they can be added in a short time.

"There's two approaches to this: We can do it now or we can do it later," Stillwell said. "I'm sorry if they feel this is too late. I don't think it's too late. This can be achieved in two weeks."

Grant disagreed.

"Those items will take weeks if not a month to negotiate," Grant said. "There's no way we're going to get these issues resolved until January."

A working group consisting of members, meeting a week ago, suggested the boards settle the lawsuit issues and then save the remaining issues until after the letter of intent is signed. An approved letter of intent immediately frees up $2 million from the CCHB to the hospital.

Stillwell said his proposals are only suggestions. He said the foundation board has the final say.

CCHB transaction attorney Ashby Burks was adamant that the letter of intent be signed as soon as possible to avoid HCA from walking away from the deal.

"We need to move this deal forward," Burks told the working group. "Time is not our friend."

IMPORTANT NOTICE REGARDING:
UNITED HEALTHCARE DROPPING PHYSICIANS FROM THEIR MEDICARE NETWORK PLANS
If you have a UNITED HEALTHCARE MEDICARE PLAN, it is consolidating to fewer physicians and medical facilities in Florida. As a result, many of your physicians, in all specialities, will be dropped from their network. This is, as stated by United Healthcare, their business decision and not reflective of us or our care. We have been advised that they will drop us and other physicians/groups from their network in Citrus County, as well as Moffitt Cancer Center and St. Lukes Cataract Center effective 1/1/14.
This will result in you having to locate and travel to physicians within their limited medicare replacement plan network.
YOUR OPTIONS WITH US ARE AS FOLLOWS:
1. Return to regular medicare plan-open enrollment is Oct. to Dec. 7
2. Sign up with a different Medicare Advantage Plan.
 Suncoast Dermatology participates with:
-Blue Cross Blue Shield Medicare Advantage
-Humana Medicare Advantage (PPO & HMO)
-Aetna Medicare Advantage
3. You can continue to come to us outside of your network. Please be advised that you may be subject to higher copays and/or deductibles.
4. Call your representative to voice your disapproval of this decision. (One in which your choice of physicians/ facilities is now limited)

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu attends the weekly cabinet meeting Sunday at his office in Jerusalem, Israel. After feverishly trying to derail the international community's nuclear deal with Iran in recent weeks, Netanyahu now has little choice but to accept an agreement that he has derided as deeply flawed.

EU High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy Catherine Ashton, center, poses next to Iranian Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif and the Iranian delegation Sunday after an agreement was reached on Iran's nuclear program at the United Nations in Geneva, Switzerland. Iran struck a historic nuclear deal Sunday with the United States and five other world powers, in the most significant development between Washington and Tehran in more than three decades of estrangement between the two nations.

contacts and secret sessions between Iranian and American envoys that began even before the surprise election of Iran's moderate-leaning President Hassan Rouhani last June.

The shadow dialogue, mediated by mutual ally Oman, was so sensitive that it was kept from even close allies, such as negotiating partners at the nuclear talks, until two months ago, according to details obtained by The Associated Press and later confirmed by senior administration officials. The pace of the back-channel contacts picked up after Rouhani officially took office in August, promising a "new era" in relations with the West.

"Today, that diplomacy opened up a new path toward a world that is more secure — a future in which we can verify that Iran's nuclear program is peaceful and that it cannot build a nuclear weapon," President Barack Obama said in a weekend White House address.

Obama referred to publicly known contacts between his administration and Iran and did not specifically confirm the clandestine talks. Senior administration officials, though, told the AP that at least five such meetings were held with Iran since March. Four of those took place after Rouhani's inauguration and produced significant chunks of the eventual agreement.

But even the extensive groundwork couldn't clear away all the obstacles to a deal during make-or-break moments in Geneva. The snags were the same that have been at the heart of the impasse since public negotiations resumed 18 months ago: Whether to permit Iran to keep its ability to enrich uranium, the central process in making nuclear fuel for energy-producing reactors and, at higher levels, weapons-grade material.

Iran insisted that trying to block its enrichment was a dead end. For Iran's leaders, self-sufficiency over the full scope of its nuclear efforts — from uranium mines to the centrifuges used in enrichment — is a source of national pride and a pillar of its self-proclaimed status as a technological beacon for the Islamic world.

In the end, Iran agreed to cap its enrichment level to a maximum of 5 percent, which is well below the 90 percent threshold needed for a warhead. Iran also pledged to "neutralize" its stockpile of 20 percent enriched uranium — the highest level acknowledged by Tehran — by either diluting its strength or converting it to fuel for its research reactors, which produced isotopes for medical treatments and other civilian uses.

"For the first time in nearly a decade, we have halted the progress of the Iranian nuclear program, and key parts of the program will be rolled back," Obama said, stressing that any sanctions relief is reversible should Iran fail to comply with the deal.

What Iran received in return was a rollback in some sanctions — a total package estimated by the White House at $7 billion back into the Iranian economy — but the main pressures remain on Iran's oil exports and its blacklist from international banking networks during the first steps of the pact over the next six months.

Still, Rouhani portrayed the accord as a victory for Iran's "right" to enrichment under the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty — even though the West sidestepped using that language in the documents and foreign ministers, including Secretary of State John Kerry, flatly denied such a right had been recognized.

"No matter what interpretive comments are made, it is not in this document," Kerry told reporters in Geneva. "There is no right to enrich within the four corners of the NPT. And this document does not do that."

Rouhani, however, using similar phrasing, said the exact opposite.

"No matter what interpretations are given, Iran's right to enrichment has been recognized," he said in a nationally televised speech from Tehran just hours after the deal was signed. Rouhani then posed with family members of nuclear scientists murdered in recent years, killings Iran has blamed on Israel and its allies.

Later, a group of young people gathered to give Rouhani's envoys, including U.S.-educated Foreign Minister Mohammad Javad Zarif, a hero's welcome.

Securing a deal that keeps enrichment in place also gives Rouhani's government some breathing room from Iranian hardliners, such as the powerful Revolutionary Guard, who were so dismayed by the talks and the overtures to Washington that they erected giant banners in Tehran earlier this month depicting U.S. envoys as holding position papers in one hand and attack dogs in the other.

But Rouhani still has the backing of Iran's top authority, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, whose approval is needed for all key policy moves, possibly even the secret diplomatic exchanges with Washington.

Obama, however, has no such shield from his critics. They immediately piled on, led by Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and senior members of Congress from both parties. That underscored the challenges ahead to win over those who are outright hostile to the deal.

In Jerusalem, Netanyhu called the agreement a blunder of "historic" proportions that leaves Iran as a perpetual nuclear threat.

"Today the world became a much more dangerous place," Netanyahu said, reiterating a long-standing threat to use military action against Iran if needed, declaring that Israel "has the right and the duty to defend itself by itself."

The White House said Obama called Netanyahu on Sunday and emphasized "the United States will remain firm in our commitment to Israel, which has good reason to be skeptical about Iran's intentions."

Lawmakers from both parties said they were skeptical that Iran will stick to a new nuclear deal and want Congress to prepare beefed-up economic penalties to hit Tehran if the accord falls apart.

Congress plans tough Iran sanctions if deal fails

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Lawmakers from both parties said Sunday they are skeptical that Iran will stick to a new nuclear deal and want Congress to prepare beefed up economic penalties to hit Tehran if the accord falls apart.

In an early morning announcement, Tehran agreed Sunday to a six-month pause of its nuclear program while diplomats continue talks aimed at preventing Iran from developing a nuclear weapon. International observers are set to monitor Iran's nuclear sites and ease about $7 billion of the crippling economic sanctions.

But the announcement, after months of secret face-to-face talks between the United States and Iran, left many U.S. lawmakers deeply doubtful of the most significant agreement between Washington and Tehran in more than three decades of estrangement. The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Democratic Sen. Bob Menendez of New Jersey, said Sunday he would work with colleagues to have sanctions against Iran ready "should the talks falter or Iran fail to implement or breach the interim agreement."

Such distrust that Iran was negotiating in good faith ran across political parties that are otherwise deeply divided. And ready-to-go sanctions seemed to have rare bipartisan support across both of Congress' chambers.

The House in July passed its latest round of sanctions against Iran with backing from both parties but the measure stalled in the Senate.

President Barack Obama convinced Senate leadership to hold off consideration of the measure while negotiators pursued an agreement. Senate Democratic leader Harry Reid of Nevada agreed to the request but said his chamber would take up new sanctions in December — with or without an agreement with Iran.

Sen. Chuck Schumer, a member of his party's leadership team, said he was "disappointed" by the deal, which he called disproportional. The New York Democrat said sanctions forced Iran to negotiate and said he plans further discussions with colleagues.

"This agreement makes it more likely that Democrats and Republicans will join together and pass additional sanctions when we return in December," Schumer said.

The Senate returns to session on Dec. 9 and lawmakers already were talking about sanctions designed to caution Iran that failure to use the six-month window to reach a deal would only leave Iranians in worse economic straits.

"Congress, I think, will want to make it clear that if Iran does not live up to these commitments, we will not only insist that the sanctions be reapplied, but we will have stronger sanctions against Iran," said Sen. Ben Cardin, D-Md.

Added Sen. Marco Rubio, R-Fla.: "There is now an even more urgent need for Congress to increase sanctions until Iran completely abandons its enrichment and reprocessing capabilities."

In the House, the No. 2 Democrat, Rep. Steny Hoyer of Maryland, said the threat of even tougher sanctions could help keep Iranian diplomats at the negotiating table for talks designed to prevent Tehran from being able to produce a nuclear weapon. Hoyer said he supports having the sanctions ready to go in case Iran proves an unreliable negotiating partner.

"It is appropriate that we wait six months to implement those, which will say to the Iranians: 'We need a final deal, and if not a final deal, these tougher sanctions are going to go into place,'" Hoyer said.

Washington has been layering sanctions against Iran since 1987, crippling its economy and putting pressure on the nation's middle class. Many of those economic penalties are set to remain in place during the six-month negotiating window announced Sunday.

But lawmakers seemed to expect talks to collapse, forcing them to restore old sanctions and levy new ones.

"If Iran does not consent to a comprehensive agreement that ensures it cannot acquire a nuclear weapon, there is a broad consensus in Congress to impose even tougher sanctions," said Sen. Carl Levin, a Michigan Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

A deep distrust of Iran pervaded Sunday's discussion of the deal.

"We need to be very, very careful with the Iranians," said Rep. Eliot Engel of New York, the top Democrat on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "I don't trust them, I don't think we should trust them. .... Sanctions should always be hanging there because that's what brought Iran to the table in the first place."

Rep. Ed Royce, the California Republican who chairs the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said Iranians "are capable of cheating."

Republican House Speaker John Boehner, too, said the six-month pause deserves healthy skepticism.

"Iran has a history of obfuscation that demands verification of its activities and places the burden on the regime to prove it is upholding its obligations in good faith while a final deal is pursued," he said.

Rep. Mike Rogers, the Michigan Republican who chairs the House intelligence panel, was more critical of a deal he said aids "the leading nation-state of terror."

"We have just rewarded very bad and dangerous behavior," he said.

During interviews on Sunday, some lawmakers compared the current deal with the 1990s pact that gave North Korea a respite from sanctions if they promised to stop work on their nuclear program.

CASCO, MAINE

Herbert J. Dvorscak, 88, formerly of Trenton, Fla., went home to be with his Lord and Savior on Friday, Nov. 22, 2013, at the Maine Veteran's Home in Scarborough, Maine.

Herbert Dvorscak

He was born Jan. 13, 1925, in North Arlington, N.J., son of the late John and Gladys Dvorscak. He was predeceased by his wife, Edythe "Mickey" (Earl) Dvorscak in May 1999.

Herbert was a member of our greatest generation, serving in the U.S. Army in Europe during World War II. After his service, he returned home to New Jersey and worked as a builder with his father and brothers at Dvor Homes and Argyle Block Company. Later he became a restaurateur, operating five family-style restaurants over many years.

He is survived by two sons, James Dvorscak and his wife Lettie of Casco, Maine, and Larry Dvorscak and his wife Patricia of Crystal River, Fla. He also leaves three grandchildren, Michael, Kimberly and Christopher; as well as a brother, Kenneth Dvorscak of Pompton Plains, N.J.; three great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A private service will be held for immediate family only.

To sign Herbert's guestbook and to leave condolences for the family, please visit www.advantageportland.com.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to: Maine Veterans Home, 290 U.S. Route 1, Scarborough, ME 04074.

Modest deal breaks deadlock at UN climate talks

Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland — Avoiding a last-minute breakdown, annual U.N. climate talks limped forward Saturday with a modest set of decisions meant to pave the way for a new pact to fight global warming.

More than 190 countries agreed in Warsaw to start preparing "contributions" for the new deal, which is supposed to be adopted in 2015.

That term was adopted after China and India objected to the word "commitments" in a standoff with the U.S. and other developed countries.

The fast-growing economies say they are still developing countries and shouldn't have to take on as strict commitments to cut carbon emissions as industrialized nations.

"In the nick of time, negotiators in Warsaw delivered just enough to keep things moving," said Jennifer Morgan, of the World Resources Institute, an environmental think tank.

The conference also advanced a program to reduce deforestation and established a "loss and damage" mechanism to help island states and other vulnerable countries under threat from rising seas, extreme weather and other climate impacts.

The wording was vague enough to make rich countries feel comfortable that they weren't going to be held liable for climate catastrophes in the developing world.

Associated Press

Unidentified delegates listen to a translated commentary Saturday during the closing session of the U.N. Climate Change talks in Warsaw, Poland.

U.S. and other rich countries also resisted demands to put down firm commitments on how they plan to fulfill a pledge to scale up climate financing to developing countries to $100 billion by 2020.

That money is meant to help developing countries transition to cleaner energy sources and adapt to shifts in climate that can affect agriculture, human health and economies in general.

"I think we had a good outcome in the end. It was quite a tough negotiation," U.S. climate envoy Todd Stern said.

The U.N. climate talks were launched two decades ago after scientists warned that humans were warming the planet by pumping CO2 and other heat-trapping gases into the atmosphere, primarily through the burning of fossil fuels. So far they've failed to reduce those emissions.

Historically, most emissions have come from the industrialized nations, but the developing world is catching up fast, driven by rapid growth in major countries including India, Brazil and China — the world's top carbon polluter.

Though China has invested heavily in renewable sources it's reluctant to promise emissions cuts internationally because it still gets almost 70 percent of its energy from coal, which produces the highest emissions of all fuels.

The talks were paralyzed for hours Saturday until China and India dropped demands for a reference to an article in the 1992 U.N. convention on climate change that says only developed countries are required to make commitments to cut emissions.

Western countries want to get rid of that "firewall" in the new climate deal, which countries have agreed should be applicable to all.

"In my understanding the firewall exists and it will continue to exist," Indian Environment Minister Jayanthi Natarajan said, indicating the issue is far from resolved.

The Warsaw conference called on parties to announce their offers to rein in or cut emissions by the first quarter of 2015 if they are "in a position to do so." But it gave little detail on what kind of information should go into those offers.

"Unfortunately, they failed to agree on what process and criteria they would use to evaluate the adequacy and fairness of each other's proposed actions," said Alden Meyer of the Union of Concerned Scientists.

It also remains unclear what legal form the agreement should take.

Environmental activists, many of whom walked out of the talks in protest on Thursday, called the conference a failure for failing to deliver strong commitments to address climate change, and pointed to Typhoon Haiyan's devastation in the Philippines as a sign of urgency.

A single typhoon or hurricane cannot be conclusively linked to climate change, but rising sea levels can make storm surges stronger.

NEW DRUGS, OLD METHODS

Synthetic narcotics a sobering new reality

THE ISSUE:
Local battle against synthetic drugs.

OUR OPINION:
The chemists have the upper hand.

The fight is good, but the odds are bad.

When over-the-counter synthetic narcotics began to proliferate in the late 2000s, legislatures were slow to react and police, without legal ground to tread upon, were powerless to act. Both have now begun to move, with numerous states and counties enacting scattershot bans and police forces across the nation sweeping their jurisdictions and pleading with merchants not to stock the convenient highs.

Such sweeps have recently occurred in Citrus County; during the course of many months, the sheriff's office and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement confiscated some 2,100 packages of synthetic marijuana — any one of a variety of poorly documented, unregulated compounds sprayed onto a potpourri of dried plant matter — from three local smoke shops, actions that coincided with a concerted outreach effort by the sheriff's office that included advertising campaigns and unwritten agreements with store owners.

It's not too little, but it is too late. These chemical chimeras aren't going away, because prohibition cannot be effectively legislated and access cannot be effectively restricted.

The pharmacological underground — now operating legitimately under the corporate aegis by producing ephemerally legal substances — is far nimbler than the hulking triumvirate of judicial, legislative and constabulary forces chasing after it, and the enormous potential for profit means producers are unlikely to be dissuaded by a perpetual game of cat and mouse. Ban a brand? They'll change the name. Ban the application and they'll change the marketing. Ban the formulation and they'll reformulate. Attempt to regulate and they'll do the same. Cast too wide a net and you'll catch nothing: The Federal Analog Act of 1986, designed to ban compounds "substantially similar" in structure and effect to those already outlawed, has faltered under its own breadth in court, having been found unconstitutionally vague in Colorado though surviving similar challenges elsewhere.

Those who can't get the substances locally need only an Internet connection. In less time than it would take to find their car keys, users can have their drug of choice shipped to their doorstep. A top result of a commonsense search for the stuff even offers lists of drugs legally available by state, updated instantly whenever legislation necessitates. Convenience-store sundries are no longer just down the street; they're at hand, now and evermore.

By objective measures, the new synthetic drugs are more harmful to their users than their traditional counterparts: Reports of hospitalizations due to synthetic marijuana and so-called "bath salts" — synthetic stimulants — are commonplace, and the drugs have even been implicated in a handful of deaths. Nevertheless, demand is high: For users, the risks of prosecution and failed drug tests outweigh the risks to their own health.

While we applaud the sheriff's office's efforts to keep dangerous substances out of the community, the conventional fronts in the war on drugs are causes nearly lost. Barring a transformational change in public policy that first addresses the motivation of drug users and then the cyclical consequences of unyielding prosecution, there is no stemming the swiftly rising tide of narcotics which are readily available, demonstrably harmful and inexorably legal.

Plenty of bargains

(A) church in Homosassa had a two-day plant sale and flea market. There were some really different plants that were real bargains. I bought a huge, magnificent purple orchid plant for $15. There were several for sale which were raised by one of the church members. ... Thank you, folks, for all your work and effort.

To pass health plan, Obama and Dems kept mum about its downsides

Byron York
OTHER VOICES

The journalist Jonathan Cohn, an ardent supporter of Obamacare, recently wrote in The New Republic that problems with the rollout of the Affordable Care Act should be "an opportunity to have a serious conversation about the law's trade-offs — the one that should have happened a while ago."

Cohn is right that there was no serious conversation about those trade-offs back when Congress was considering the law's passage in 2009 and 2010. But why was that? It was because President Obama and his Democratic allies could not speak seriously — and honestly — about those trade-offs and still pass their bill.

So instead, Obama assured Americans they could keep health care policies they liked. And it wasn't just Obama. "One of our core principles is that if you like the health care you have, you can keep it," Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid said in August 2009. "If you like what you have, you can keep it," said then-House Speaker Nancy Pelosi in October of the same year.

Many, many Democrats promised the same thing. They had to. If they had declared openly that millions of Americans would lose their current coverage and face higher premiums and deductibles — if Obama and Democratic leaders had said that, they would not have been able to maintain party unity in support of the bill, and the Affordable Care Act would never have passed Congress.

It would not have mattered that Republicans opposed the bill unanimously. A frank public discussion of Obamacare would have divided Democratic support, with the result being no new law at all.

But now, as the reality of Obamacare begins to present itself in the lives of millions of Americans, the president and his party can no longer avoid an honest look at the law they passed. And one part of that honesty will be examining what they said when they passed Obamacare. There will likely be a lot of accountability in coming months.

For example, CNN's Jake Tapper recently asked Rep. Steve Israel, a leading congressional Democrat, whether the bill's supporters "were as forthright about some of the issues as they could have been" during the Obamacare debate. Tapper specified not just the president's keep-your-coverage promise but "some of the trade-offs" of the law that favor some Americans over others. "If you could go back in time, do you think there should have been more honest salesmanship?" Tapper asked.

"Well, there should have been certainly more precise education and more precise salesmanship, there's no question about that," Israel said. "But you can't go back in time."

Yes, you can. Not literally; of course Democrats can't have a do-over. But the American people can certainly go back in time and examine the Democratic sales job for Obamacare in light of today's reality. The president and his party knew full well the trade-offs they were making; they just didn't tell the rest of the country.

All during the debate, Democratic officeholders, aides, policy wonks, advocates and sympathetic journalists all knew coverage cancellations would be coming as part of Obamacare. Of course, the president knew, too. When Obama made the keep-your-coverage promise, over and over, those Washington insiders accepted the untruth as a necessary part of the process, something Democrats had to do to pass their bill.

But millions of Americans didn't get the memo and took Obama at his word. And now that the promise has been proven false, the president is trying to recover his credibility — his desire to do so was painfully evident at his long and sometimes rambling news conference — and his party is searching for cover.

There won't be any. In coming days, Republicans, who voted unanimously against Obamacare, will be happy to remind the public of what Democrats promised. On Thursday afternoon, for example, the House GOP leadership published a list of quotes from 61 House Democrats pledging that if Americans liked their health coverage they could keep it. And in the Senate, for those vulnerable Democrats up for re-election in 2014, the accountability could be quite painful indeed.

The situation could become infinitely worse if problems now plaguing the individual insurance market begin to infect employer-based insurance, which covers by far the largest number of Americans.

In response, Democrats will no doubt talk a lot about various measures to "fix" this or that part of Obamacare. But voters will know that those Democrats are just seeking to clean up a mess they made in the first place. The political price to be paid could be very, very high.

Two UW events in four days

Early Saturday morning on Oct. 26, about 50 people braved a chilly Florida morning to come out to United Way of Citrus County's Day of Caring event, fitUnited: Walk the Mall with United Way. Held in conjunction with United Way Worldwide Day of Caring, this event was the kick off event for the Citrus County health initiative. The goal was to make a family friendly event that would help young and old think about caring about their health. Seniors that normally walk the mall on their own were welcomed by United Way staff and included in the festivities. The youngest participant was 3 and the senior couple of the day were ages 89 and 91 and preparing to celebrate 70 years of marriage in January.

Thank you to all the volunteers who helped with this event: you are truly appreciated whether you were in the background or on the front check in table at 6:30 a.m. A special thank you to those who donated prizes and sustenance: Belk, Citrus County Jazzercise, Citrus Sports and Apparel, Crystal River Mall, Ed's Watch and Jewelry, Kmart, Magic Twist, Mike Scott Plumbing, Publix Supermarkets, Debbie Sperandeo for the bike helmet and Cousin Vinnie's Putt Putt Golf.

Congratulations to Lou Ann Braglin on winning the bicycle donated by Kmart and the Mall and bike helmet.

The following Tuesday, Oct. 29, a different 50 people joined United Way of Citrus County at its Earn It! Keep It! Save It! seminar at CF, Citrus County campus. Divided into groups, these participants received information and instruction in the areas of credit and lending, car buying, housing-renting and buying, and a summation of services, such as 211, that are available in the area. Additionally, each participant was invited to attend a 25-minute, one-on-one budgeting session with a budget coach that was trained through UF's Master Money Mentor program.

United Way thanks CF, Citrus Campus, for providing us the space; the Community Food Bank for partnering with us to provide each attendee with 12 pounds of food to take home; Joe's Deli for working with us to provide lunch, and Walmart for its donations.

A big thank you to all the presenters and coaches who made this event successful!

We thank our corporate partners who make such Free events possible: CenterState Bank, Publix Supermarket Charities, Chase Palmes Insurance, Cypress Cove Care Center, Sibex, and State Farm — Michael D. Bays, agent.

Thank you to all in Citrus County who Live United!

2013 Haunted Maze thanks

Our 14th annual "Nightmare on Pine Bluff Street" haunted Halloween maze and graveyard was enjoyed by more than 572 people this year during the two nights it was open: Saturday, Oct. 26, and Halloween, Oct. 31.

John and Dusty Porter would like to thank the following people for helping with the set-up and being "scare-actors" who made this a successful event for "The Nightmare on Pine Bluff Street": Curtis and Dawn Peters; Jim, Marcie and Jimmy Bruno; Jeff, Sarah and Brooke Bruno. With their help, it was a scary and fun haunted maze and graveyard walkthrough, and we scared young and old alike. New additions this year were a new zombie prop and a guy in an electric chair.

A special thanks for the "special scare-actors": Curtis Peters as Count Dracula, Dusty Porter as the decapitated head, Brooke and Sara Bruno as the Drop window scares, Dawn Peters, Jimmy Bruno and Jeff Bruno as the Specters in the Maze and graveyard.

Donations to the Citrus United (food) Basket were accepted. We want to thank all the people who put cash donations into the jar, totaling $353. Also, approximately 107 pounds of food items were donated.

Thanks once again, for everyone that came to our Haunted Maze and Graveyard. Everyone who came enjoyed themselves, and the 'scare-actors' enjoyed scaring them. We look forward to seeing you all again next year.

John and Dusty Porter

US gas prices up before holiday

CAMARILLO, Calif. — After nine weeks of falling gas prices, the average U.S. price of a gallon of gasoline is up 3 cents over the past two weeks.

The Lundberg Survey of fuel prices released Sunday said the price of a gallon of regular is $3.25. Midgrade costs an average of $3.44 a gallon, and premium is $3.59.

Industry analyst Trilby Lundberg said it's the first price hike since Sept. 6.

Of the cities surveyed in the Lower 48 states, the highest average, $3.58 a gallon, was found in San Diego.

The lowest, $2.93, was in Tulsa, Okla.

Awards to go to vet, charity CEO

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The 2013 John F. Kennedy New Frontier Awards will be presented to a leader on veterans' issues and the founder of an online charity.

Kennedy's grandson, Jack Schlossberg, will present the annual awards Monday to Hawaii Congresswoman Tulsi Gabbard, one of the first two female combat veterans to serve in Congress, and Charles Best, founder and CEO of DonorsChoose.org, a charity that connects donors with public school teachers to meet teaching needs.

The ceremony will take place at Harvard University's Institute of Politics at the John F. Kennedy School of Government. The awards will be presented on the 50th anniversary of the state funeral services for President Kennedy.

The awards honor Americans younger than 40 who are changing their communities and the country with their commitment to public service.

Secrecy shrouds report

Part of Sandy Hook shooting investigation report due today

Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn. — A prosecutor is planning to release a report Monday on the investigation into the massacre at Sandy Hook Elementary School, but the public will have to wait longer for the state police's full accounting of the crime.

The decision to continue withholding the bulk of the evidence is stirring new criticism of the secrecy that has surrounded the probe since a gunman killed 20 children and six educators inside the school on Dec. 14, 2012.

While the gunman took his own life and authorities are not contemplating any prosecutions, the lead investigator, State's Attorney Stephen Sedensky III, has gone to court to fight the release of 911 tapes, consulted privately with victims' families on what might be included in the report and resisted calls from Connecticut's governor to divulge more information sooner.

In defense of their handling of records, investigators have cited the scale of the criminal investigation — perhaps the most extensive in Connecticut's history — and consideration for the victims' families, some of whom have lobbied for tighter restrictions on public information and complained of being harassed by conspiracy theorists.

Mark Dupuis, a spokesman for Sedensky, said the summary released on Monday will not include the state police report, which is expected to total thousands of pages.

It was not clear when the full report would be released.

The gunman, 20-year-old Adam Lanza, killed his mother inside their Newtown home before driving to his former elementary school and gunning down 26 people with a semi-automatic rifle. He killed himself with a handgun as police arrived.

Wintry weather threatens Thanksgiving travels across US

Associated Press

A large storm already blamed for at least eight deaths in the West slogged through Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and other parts of the Southwest on Sunday, leading to hundreds of flight cancellations as it slowly churned east ahead of Thanksgiving.

After the storm plows through the Southwest, meteorologists expect the Arctic mass to head south and east, threatening plans for Tuesday and Wednesday as people hit the roads and airports for some of the busiest travel days of the year.

More than 300 flights were cancelled at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, representing about one-third of the scheduled departures, and a spokeswoman said deicing equipment had been prepared as officials planned for the worst in a flurry of conference calls and meetings.

"It's certainly going to be a travel impact as we see the first few people making their way for Thanksgiving," National Weather Service meteorologist Tom Bradshaw said.

Icicles formed on a photinia bush Sunday after the first round of winter weather moved through Tarrant County, Texas.

The National Weather Service has issued a winter storm warning for chunks of North Texas from noon Sunday until midday today. Parts of Oklahoma are also under a winter storm warning, while an advisory has been issued for other parts of the state. A mix of rain and sleet began falling north of Dallas on Interstate 35 by midday Sunday, and areas of southwestern Oklahoma woke up to several inches of snow.

Some elevated overpasses had icy surfaces, but Bradshaw said the worst weather could be expected between 3 a.m. and 9 a.m., possibly snarling morning rush hour.

Several inches of snow fell overnight in Altus in far southwestern Oklahoma, said Damaris Machabo, a receptionist at a Holiday Inn motel.

"It looks great. I love the snow," Machabo said. The snow and freezing temperatures made driving in the area treacherous, but Machabo said she had no problems getting to work early Sunday. Forecasts called for more snow in the area later in the day.

Portions of New Mexico — especially in some of the higher elevations — also had several inches of snow, and near white out conditions were reported along stretches of Interstate 40 west of Albuquerque.

Then along the New Mexico-Texas border, into the El Paso area, a mix of snow, sleet and ice forced some road closures and created messy driving conditions.

Korean ex-leprosy patients return to island colony

Associated Press

SOROK ISLAND, South Korea — Kang Sun Bong once considered this tiny island a "hell on earth," a place where hospital workers beat the leprosy patients exiled here and forced them into harsh labor, sterilizations and abortions. But three years ago, old, sick and broke, Kang returned to the place he'd been banished with his mother decades ago.

His savings wiped out by cancer treatment, the 74-year-old now hopes to live the rest of his life with hundreds of other former patients on Sorok Island, which sits off South Korea's southwestern tip and has become a mini-welfare state.

Despite the misery many say they endured here, dozens are returning each year, partly for the free medical care, food and housing offered to former sufferers of the disease. But the onetime place of exile has also become a peaceful refuge for many after years of discrimination and hardship, the only place they feel at home.

Associated Press

Former South Korean leprosy patients sit on a bench Nov. 4 at Sorokdo National Hospital on Sorok Island, South Korea.

"I came here because I thought I should die while being nursed," said Kang, who had a bitter, lonely childhood here, but came back to find the island had utterly changed.

Most returnees are cured of the disease and are free to live wherever they choose. But many say life is better here than outside the island, where prejudice against leprosy still runs deep.

Yu Myung-sun, 61, who lived on Sorok for six years until 1974, returned in 2008 after living with other former leprosy sufferers in a village near Seoul. People outside the village "wouldn't even look at me ... restaurants wouldn't sell meals to us," Yu said.

"People on Sorok Island make me feel at ease," she said, wearing a pair of big sunglasses, her face dotted with black spots from anti-leprosy medication. "I feel comfortable here and this is where I'll die."

Starting about a decade ago, the number of returning former patients began gradually increasing. During the past few years, about 70 people, mostly former residents, have resettled here each year.

Tens of thousands rally in Kiev

KIEV, Ukraine — About 50,000 demonstrators rallied in the center of Kiev on Sunday to demand that Ukraine's government reverse course and sign a landmark agreement with the European Union in defiance of Russia.

The protest was the biggest Ukraine has seen since the peaceful 2004 Orange Revolution, which overturned a fraudulent presidential election result and brought a Western-leaning government to power.

The rally was led by Ukraine's top opposition figures, who called for the protests to continue until President Viktor Yanukovych agreed to sign the free trade and political association deal with the EU at a summit on Friday.

Australians set new lights record

CANBERRA, Australia — An Australian family has reclaimed their Guinness World Record by stringing up more than half a million Christmas lights around their suburban home.

Guinness World Records official Chris Sheedy confirmed Monday that the Richards family of Canberra had set a new record for Christmas lights on a residential property with 502,165 twinkling bulbs.

The family first entered the famous record book in 2001 with 331,038 multi-colored lights. But they were trumped last year by a family in LaGrangeville, N.Y., who illuminated their home with 346,283 lights.

The Richards home will be open to the public from next week to raise money for charity. A local power company will donate the estimated 2,500 Australian dollars (US$2,300) in electricity that will illuminate the home for the next month.

Rally marks Spain dictator's death

MADRID — Hundreds of people nostalgic for Spain's fascist past have held a rally outside Madrid's downtown Royal Palace to commemorate the 38th anniversary of dictator Francisco Franco's death.

Eduardo Arias, president of the right-wing Spanish Patriotic Knot association, addressed the gathering and exhorted the government to oppose immigration at a time when the country has sky-high unemployment. Sympathizers made stiff-arm salutes and waved Spanish flags before singing anthems dating from Franco's 1939-1975 rule.

Stalls sold far-right, fascist and Nazi memorabilia to curious passers-by on the fringes of Sunday's rally.

Franco won the 1936-1939 civil war with the help of Nazi Germany and fascist Italy.

Packers, Vikings tie at frozen Lambeau Field

Associated Press

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Backup quarterback Matt Flynn threw for 218 yards to help the Packers storm back from a 16-point deficit for a 26-26 tie as the Minnesota Vikings and Green Bay could only muster field goals in overtime Sunday.

Mason Crosby hit from 20 yards at 10:28 of the extra period and Blair Walsh connected from 35 with 3:54 left.

Greg Jennings, playing his first game at Lambeau Field as a member of the Vikings (3-8-1), dropped a third-down pass with 2:11 left. The Packers (5-5-1) also stumbled on their next possession.

One last chance for the Vikings went nowhere with 1 second left, and the teams walked off with the first tie in the NFL since the Rams and 49ers ended 24-24 on Nov. 11, 2012.

At least the 77,000-plus frigid fans got to witness a bit of history — this was first game to end in a tie under the new overtime rule instituted last year that continues the extra period if both teams open it with field goals. A touchdown by either team would have ended the game.

Jacksonville and Houston both kicked field goals to open OT in a game on Nov. 18, 2012, then the Texans won it with a touchdown.

Adrian Peterson had 146 yards and a score on 32 carries. He and Toby Gerhart (91 yards on eight carries) dented the Packers' worn defense in overtime, but could not get in the end zone.

Flynn, inserted in the second half for the ineffective Scott Tolzien, caught a break in overtime after a third-down sack was called off by a holding penalty on Vikings safety Robert Blanton.

Flynn followed with three long completions, including a 34-yarder to the leaping Jarrett Boykin to the 7. Two runs by Eddie Lacy (110 yards on 25 carries) got the Packers to the 2, but Flynn misfired on third down to set up Crosby's kick.

That was it for the scoring. The fans bundled up in parkas and knit caps to brave temperatures in the upper teens had to settle for a draw.

Bucs beat Lions to extend win streak

Associated Press

DETROIT — Tampa Bay is turning around its season, relying on a cool and calm rookie quarterback and an opportunistic defense.

Mike Glennon played almost mistake-free football and Matthew Stafford's fourth interception went in and out of Calvin Johnson's hands inside the Buccaneers 5 in the final minute, allowing Tampa Bay to hold on for a 24-21 win over the Detroit Lions on Sunday.

Bucs rookie Johnthan Banks made the critical pick toward the end of the game.

Tampa Bay (3-8) has won three straight after losing its first eight, joining the 1978 St. Louis Cardinals as the only NFL team to do that.

"Wow — that's history," Bucs rookie tight end Tim Wright said after making a season-high eight receptions for 75 yards.

Tampa Bay took advantage of Detroit's five turnovers, including Kris Durham's fumble in the fourth period, in a game with six lead changes and no more than a four-point lead for either team.

"One of the more gutsy performances I've seen," Bucs coach Greg Schiano said.

The Lions (6-5) have lost two straight for the first time this season. They missed out on a chance to break a first-place tie in the NFC North with Chicago.

"As disappointing as this was, it doesn't eliminate us from anything," Detroit coach Jim Schwartz said. "It just raises the urgency level for the next five games."

Detroit hosts the Green Bay Packers, who trail the Lions and Bears by a half-game in the division, in its annual Thanksgiving Day game.

"We can't let this stay in our system too long," said Nate Burleson, who had seven receptions for 77 yards and a score in his first game since breaking his left arm in a one-car crash two months ago.

The Bucs have refused to let losses and off-the-field distractions from the first half of the season linger. They dealt with the benching and release of quarterback Josh Freeman and a MRSA infections outbreak.

Tampa Bay had been relying on a running game lately, but couldn't against a defense that is stingy on the ground. Bobby Rainey was held to 35 yards on 15 carries after he had 163 yards rushing and scored three times last week against Atlanta.

Glennon, a third-round pick from North Carolina State, also didn't have go-to receiver Vincent Jackson open very often. But he didn't force the ball to Jackson or anyone else.

He was 14 of 21 for 247 yards and threw two touchdowns to Tiquan Underwood, whose second score was an 85-yard reception early in the fourth quarter. Glennon had a season-high 138.4 quarterback rating.

Northern Illinois moved ahead of Fresno State in the BCS standings and up to No. 14 as the Huskies and Bulldogs jockey to be the last BCS buster.

NIU jumped two spots Sunday and Fresno State slipped one to 16th.

The top three teams in the BCS standings were unchanged: Alabama, Florida State and Ohio State — the remaining undefeated teams in BCS automatic qualifying conferences.

Football polls

See Page B3 for the current AP, USA Today, Harris and BCS college football polls.

The other major college unbeatens, Northern Illinois and Fresno State, are fighting for one automatic bid. They have to finish in the top 12 of the last BCS standings, which comes out Dec. 8, or finish in the top 16 while ranking ahead of an AQ-conference champion.

Central Florida is in position to win the American Athletic Conference auto-bid, but is 19th in the latest standings.

The Crimson Tide and Seminoles are still on course to meet in the final BCS championship game if they can stay unbeaten. Ohio State is on deck if either of the top two slip up.

The Buckeyes were in danger of being passed by Baylor, but Oklahoma State took care of that by blasting the Bears 49-17.

Auburn (fourth) and Missouri (fifth) are behind the Buckeyes and could make an interesting case for being in the title game if they can win out and become SEC champions with just one loss.

Ohio State is third in each poll, followed by Clemson. Auburn is fifth and Missouri is sixth.

Alabama (11-0) plays Auburn on Saturday.

Florida State (11-0) plays struggling rival Florida at home Saturday and then moves on to the Atlantic Coast Conference championship game, where Duke, Virginia Tech, Miami or Georgia Tech will be the opponent.

Ohio State (11-0) finishes its regular season against rival Michigan at the Big House on Saturday, and then plays Michigan State in the Big Ten championship game.

Gators get help with return of suspended Wilbekin

Associated Press

GAINESVILLE — The Gators' depleted roster desperately needs help and will get it with the return of point guard Scottie Wilbekin.

Wilbekin, a senior, was reinstated Sunday from his five-game suspension and will be on the court when No. 16 Florida visits Jacksonville today.

Gators coach Billy Donovan suspended Wilbekin in June for undisclosed reasons, shortly after he helped lead the team to a third straight Elite Eight. He was barred from practicing with the team during the summer and had to meet a list of requirements to return.

"He's done everything," Donovan said. "I'm really proud of him. He's really stayed on course all the way. With all that he's done to this point in time, he's going to be available."

Wilbekin, who was not made available to the media, is a huge addition to a team that has been battered by injuries and disciplinary problems. In last week's victory over Middle Tennessee, the Gators had six scholarship players who were fully healthy and available.

As a junior, Wilbekin played a team-high 31.9 minutes per game last season. He averaged 9.1 points and five assists per game while shooting 45.3 percent from the field. He was voted to the SEC all-defensive team.

True freshman Kasey Hill started at point guard the first four games of this year, but went down with a high ankle sprain and is out until at least mid-December. That makes Wilbekin's return even more necessary for Florida (4-1).

"He adds a huge piece for us," guard Michael Frazier II said. "He's our only point guard right now and he's a veteran guy, so we definitely could use him. Just having him back is really good for our team.

"In my opinion, he's one of the best defenders in the country. He's a leader for our team. He's a defensive anchor."

Donovan did not say whether Wilbekin will start against Jacksonville (2-3), though he does expect him to play his regular share of minutes.

This was Wilbekin's second known disciplinary issue with the Gators. He was held out of the first three games of last season as well.

He claimed that he changed after that punishment, but he was suspended again seven months later.

Panthers stun Dolphins

Jags earn second win in Houston

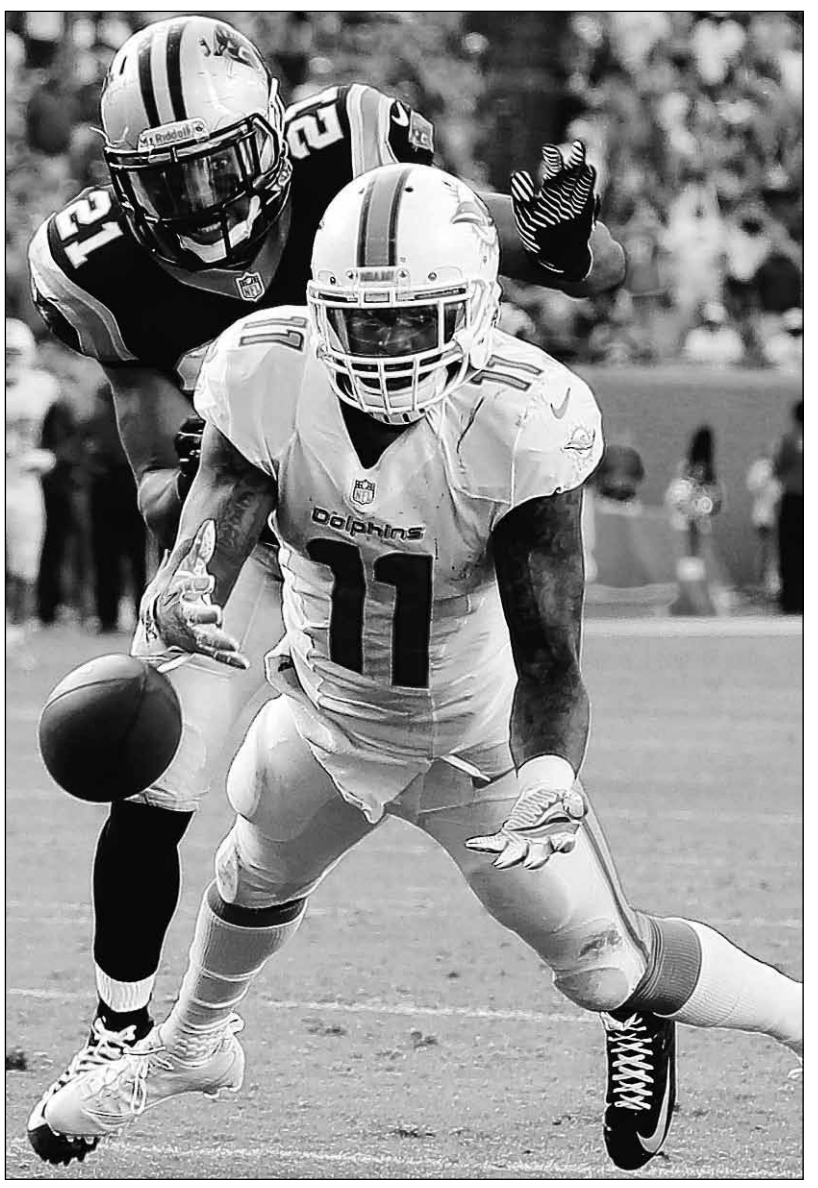
Associated Press

MIAMI GARDENS — Cam Newton converted a fourth-and-10 situation at his own 20 with a completion to keep alive the Carolina Panthers' final possession, and they went on to score a touchdown with 43 seconds left and beat the Miami Dolphins 20-16 Sunday.

Newton hit Greg Olsen with a 1-yard pass for the winning score to cap a 12-play drive. It was the second comeback win in a week for the Panthers, who rallied past the New England Patriots with a late drive last Monday.

The Panthers (8-3) extended their winning streak to seven games, their longest since 2003. Miami (5-6) fell to 2-2 since tackle Jonathan Martin left the team and the Dolphins' bullying scandal began to mushroom.

Miami's Ryan Tannehill nearly connected with Mike Wallace for a 60-yard score in the final seconds.



Associated Press

Miami wide receiver Mike Wallace cannot make a catch Sunday as Carolina free safety Mike Mitchell defends during the second half in Miami Gardens. The Panthers defeated the Dolphins 20-16.

Jaguars 13, Texans 6

HOUSTON — Maurice Jones-Drew ran for a season-high 84 yards and a touchdown and the Jacksonville Jaguars extended the Houston Texans' losing streak to a franchise-record nine games with a 13-6 victory.

The two-time AFC South champions haven't won since Sept. 15.

Jones-Drew's touchdown on Jacksonville's first drive put the Jaguars (2-9) on top, and they never trailed against an inept and ineffective Texans offense. Josh Scobee added two field goals.

Case Keenum had the worst performance in his five starts, throwing for just 169 yards with an interception.

Houston (2-9) was driving late when rookie Ryan Davis grabbed a one-handed interception off a deflection by Keshawn Martin to seal the win.

Steelers 27, Browns 11

CLEVELAND — Ben Roethlisberger threw two touchdown passes and beat Cleveland again as the Pittsburgh Steelers moved back into the playoff picture with a 27-11 win over the Browns.

Roethlisberger connected on a 41-yard TD pass to Antonio Brown in the first half, and hit Emmanuel Sanders on a 4-yarder in the third quarter for the Steelers (5-6), who have turned their season around following a 0-4 start.

Roethlisberger finished 22 of 34 for 217 yards and improved to 16-1 against the Browns (4-7), who have lost five of six and seen a promising year turn into yet another miserable one.

Browns quarterback Jason Campbell sustained a head injury in the third quarter when he was sacked by cornerback William Gay. Campbell was struck in the helmet by Gay and his head snapped back and banged the turf.

Chargers 41, Chiefs 38

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Philip Rivers threw for 392 yards and three touchdowns, the final one a 26-yarder to Seyi Ajirotutu with 24 seconds remaining, to give San Diego a 41-38 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs and end the Chargers' three-game losing streak.

The Chiefs had taken the lead when Alex Smith hit Dwayne Bowe in tight coverage for a go-ahead score with 1:22 left. But the Chargers (5-6) still had two timeouts, and they used both of them to quickly move downfield. Ajirotutu's TD was just his third catch of the season.

It also represented the eighth and final lead change in the game.

Smith threw for 292 yards and three touchdowns for the Chiefs, who dropped their second straight after a 9-0 start. They also lost top pass rusher Tamba Hali and Justin Houston to injuries and now have to turn their attention to the Denver Broncos next week.

Ravens 19, Jets 3

BALTIMORE — Joe Flacco threw a 66-yard touchdown pass to Jacoby Jones, Justin Tucker kicked four field goals and the Baltimore Ravens shut down the sputtering offense of the New York Jets in a 19-3 victory.

The defending Super Bowl champion Ravens (5-6) had lost four of five before bouncing back to beat New York (5-6) and keep their playoff hopes alive. Jones had four catches for 103 yards.

Baltimore won on the strength of its defense, however, as the Jets went 1 for 12 on third-down conversions. Rookie Geno Smith completed nine of 22 passes for 127 yards and two interceptions, both by Corey Graham.

New York had alternated wins and losses in its first 10 games, but the pattern ended here with its second straight defeat. Jets coach Rex Ryan, who helped run Baltimore's defense from 1999-2008, fell to 0-3 against his former team.

Rams 42, Bears 21

ST. LOUIS — Tavon Austin's 65-yard touchdown run — his fourth straight this season from beyond midfield — jump-started a 21-point first quarter and the St. Louis Rams defense made some big plays, too, in a 42-21 victory over the Chicago Bears.

The Rams (5-6) followed up a 30-point rout at Indianapolis after their bye in front of their largest crowd of the season, about half of them clad in Bears orange. Late scores by rookie backup running back Benny Cunningham and defensive end Robert Quinn helped finish off the Bears (6-5), who remained tied for the NFC North lead.

Josh McCown passed for 352 yards and two touchdowns with an interception for Chicago, which had won four straight in the series. The Bears had a 62-yard punt return for touchdown by Devin Hester nullified by a holding penalty in the fourth quarter.

Cardinals 40, Colts 11

GLENDALE, Ariz. — Carson Palmer threw two touchdown passes to Larry Fitzgerald, Karlos Dansby returned an interception 22 yards for a score and the Arizona Cardinals won their fourth in a row with a 40-11 victory over the Indianapolis Colts.

Cardinals coach Bruce Arians beat the team that propelled him to coaching prominence last season, when he took over as Colts interim coach while Chuck Pagano fought leukemia.

Fitzgerald caught five passes for 52 yards, becoming the youngest player in NFL history to reach 11,000 yards receiving.

Arizona's Michael Floyd had his second straight 100-yard receiving day with seven catches for 104 yards for the Cardinals (7-4).

Andrew Luck threw for 163 yards, but had only 84 through three quarters as the Colts (7-4) fell behind 34-3.

Titans 23, Raiders 19

OAKLAND, Calif. — Ryan Fitzpatrick threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Kendall Wright with 10 seconds remaining to cap a mistake-free performance that put the Tennessee Titans back in playoff contention with a 23-19 victory over the Oakland Raiders.

Fitzpatrick also threw a 54-yard TD pass to Justin Hunter and Rob Bironas added three field goals to give Tennessee (5-6) its second win in seven games. But despite the recent slump, the Titans find themselves in a six-way tie for the sixth and final playoff spot in the AFC with five weeks left in the regular season.

The Raiders (4-7) missed a chance to get into that group as the defense failed to hold onto a late lead and Sebastian Janikowski missed two field goals.

Cowboys 24, Giants 21

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Tony Romo threw two touchdowns and led a drive that set up Dan Bailey' 35-yard field goal on the final play as the Dallas Cowboys defeated the Giants 24-21.

Dallas ended the Giants' four-game winning streak and most of their playoff hopes.

The victory moved the Cowboys (6-5) into a first-place tie with idle Philadelphia in the NFC East and left the Giants (4-7) wondering about what they gave away in two losses to Dallas.

Romo hit two crucial third-down passes on the 14-play drive that covered the final 4:45 after New York tied the game on a 4-yard touchdown pass from Eli Manning to Louis Murphy Jr. and a 2-point conversion run by Andre Brown.

Romo hit Jason Witten on TDs of 20 and 2 yards, and Dallas got a defensive touchdown on a 50-yard fumble return by Jeff Heath.

Explanation Key

The BCS Average is calculated by averaging the percent totals of the Harris Interactive, USA Today Coaches and Computer polls. Team percentages are derived by dividing a team's actual voting points by a maximum 2600 possible points in the Harris Interactive Poll and 1550 possible points in the USA Today Coaches Poll. Six computer rankings are used to determine the overall computer component. The highest and lowest ranking for each team is dropped, and the remaining four are added and divided to produce a Computer Rankings Percentage. The six computer ranking providers are Anderson & Hester, Richard Billingsley, Colley Matrix, Kenneth Massey, Jeff Sagarin, and Peter Wolfe. Each computer ranking accounts for schedule strength in its formula.

Georgia's Murray facing season-ending knee surgery

ATHENS, Ga. — Georgia quarterback Aaron Murray has torn the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee and will have season-ending surgery.

Georgia announced Sunday that tests confirmed Murray tore the ligament in the second quarter of the Bulldogs' 59-17 rout of Kentucky on Saturday night.

Murray has little swelling and is expected to have the surgery this week.

Murray started all 52 games of his four years and became the Southeastern Conference's career leader in yards passing, touchdown passes, completions and total offense. The senior is the first quarterback in SEC history to pass for at least 3,000 yards in four seasons.

Murray completed 18 of 23 passes for 183 yards with four touchdowns against Kentucky.

Saturday's late Top 25 games
No. 11 Okla. St. 49, No. 3 Baylor 17

STILLWATER, Okla. — Clint Chelf passed for a career-high 370 yards and accounted for four touchdowns as No. 11 Oklahoma State took down another national-championship hopeful, easily defeating No. 3 Baylor 49-17.

Chelf, who lost the starting job earlier this season for the Cowboys (10-1, 7-1 Big 12 Conference), threw for three touchdown passes and ran for a score — continuing his mastery of the stunned Bears in front of a record crowd of 60,218 in Boone Pickens Stadium.

The senior also had a 48-yard reception and finished with 438 yards of total offense.

Bryce Petty was 28-of-48 passing for 359 yards for Baylor (9-1, 6-1), which had its 13-game winning streak snapped and hasn't won in Stillwater since 1939.

No. 8 Missouri 24, No. 24 Mississippi 10

OXFORD, Miss. — Henry Josey rushed for two touchdowns, Marcus Murphy added another and No. 8 Missouri rolled to a 24-10 victory over No. 24 Mississippi.

Missouri (10-1, 6-1 Southeastern Conference) is now one victory away from clinching the SEC East title. The Tigers host Texas A&M next weekend.

James Franklin completed 12 of 19 passes for 142 yards and an interception in his first start since a shoulder injury caused him to miss four games.

The loss snapped a four-game winning streak for Ole Miss (7-4, 3-4). Bo Wallace threw for 244 yards and an interception.

No. 23 USC 47, Colorado 29

BOULDER, Colo. — Sophomore Javorius Allen ran for a career-best 145 yards and three touchdowns and No. 23 Southern California beat Colorado 47-29 in 29-degree weather, tied for the second-coldest kickoff in the Trojans' storied history.

The Trojans (9-3, 6-2 Pac-12) improved to 8-0 all-time against the Buffaloes (4-7, 1-7) while improving to 6-1 under interim coach Ed Orgeron.

BUCS

"He's very calm in the huddle, no matter what the situation is in the game," Wright said.

Stafford was 26 of 46 for 297 yards with three TDs. He connected with Burleson, Brandon Pettigrew and Joseph Fauria for scores that couldn't overcome his interceptions.

"I can't make bad decisions, and I had a couple of those and a couple bad breaks," Stafford said.

The last interception was not Stafford's fault because Johnson had the ball briefly before Kelcie McCray jarred it loose and Banks caught it out of the air.

"He got a good hit on me," Johnson acknowledged.

Stafford also was picked off when Pettigrew ducked when a pass came his way and Leonard Johnson returned it 48 yards for a go-ahead score late in the first half. Stafford's first interception in Tampa Bay territory caromed off Burleson.

The fifth-year QB had no one to blame for floating a pass into the middle of the end zone toward Johnson because safety Keith Tandy easily intercepted it in the third quarter.

"The way it came right to me, I guess he didn't see me," Tandy said.

Johnson had seven receptions for 115 yards, but he and the Lions didn't take advantage of the Bucs playing the second half without cornerback Darrelle Revis. Reggie Bush had 100 yards of offense for the Lions.

Tampa Bay started the game without two key players in the middle of its defense, suspended safety Dashon Goldson and injured middle linebacker Mason Foster, and lost one on the outside during the game. Revis, who did a relatively good job against Johnson, holding him to four receptions for 61 yards in the first half, didn't play after halftime because of a groin injury.

WILBEKIN

Donovan has spoken very highly of Wilbekin throughout his recent drive to rejoin the team and believes the change is real this time.

"No question," he said. "He's grown up in a lot of ways. He obviously made some poor choices last year and you would hope that situation would've been an eye-opener for him about his responsibility. For whatever reason, that experience of missing the first three games last year did not register with him at the level I wanted.

"With the situation we've put him in having to work his way back onto the team ... the biggest thing I've noticed is a total change in his attitude. He's gotten a lot more humble. He has a much better understanding how things he does impact not only himself, but other people. I really have seen great growth in him. I couldn't be any prouder of him."

Dragic scores 23 as Suns hold off Magic

Associated Press

ORLANDO — Goran Dragic scored 23 points and Gerald Green added 20 to lead the Phoenix Suns to a 104-96 victory over the Orlando Magic on Sunday night.

Two days after stopping a four-game losing streak at Charlotte, the Suns took the lead early in the first quarter and never relinquished it.

Orlando trimmed what had been a 14-point deficit to three late in the fourth quarter. However, Channing Frye made a difficult jumper and Dragic scored the game's next seven points to put it away.

Dragic made 10 of 17 shots and also had 13 assists. Frye finished with 14 points and seven rebounds.

Nikola Vucevic led Orlando with 20 points. Andrew Nicholson had 19 off the bench and Aaron Afflalo added 12 for the Magic, who have lost four straight games, seven of eight overall.

Associated Press

Phoenix's Markieff Morris makes a move to the basket Sunday around Orlando's Arron Afflalo during the first half in Orlando.

Clippers 121, Bulls 82

LOS ANGELES — Jared Dudley scored a season-high 21 points, Chris Paul added 16 points and 17 assists, and the Los Angeles Clippers jumped all over the Chicago Bulls in Derrick Rose's absence for a 121-82 victory.

J.J. Redick scored 19 points and Blake Griffin had 15 points and 12 rebounds in the Pacific Division-leading Clippers' seventh win in nine games.

Los Angeles finished strong in a stretch of four games in five days, posting the biggest margin of victory over Chicago in franchise history.

Luol Deng scored 22 points as the Bulls got off to a rough start to their latest stretch without Rose, who tore cartilage in his right knee Friday night in Portland.

Pistons 109, Nets 97

NEW YORK — Reserve Rodney Stuckey scored a season-high 27 points and the Detroit Pistons sent the Brooklyn Nets to a fifth straight loss and sole possession of last place in the Atlantic Division with a 109-97 victory.

The Nets, with their enormous payroll and enormous expectations, fell to 3-10, a half-game behind the New York Knicks, and were hearing boos at Barclays Center in the second half.

Joe Johnson made eight 3-pointers and scored a season-high 34 points, but the shorthanded Nets couldn't overcome another cold night from Paul Pierce and Kevin Garnett, who were a combined 7 for 22.

Thunder 95, Jazz 73

OKLAHOMA CITY — Kevin Durant scored 19 points and Serge Ibaka had 17 points and 11 rebounds to help Oklahoma City extend its best season-opening start at home with a 95-73 win over the struggling Utah Jazz.

The Thunder (9-3) played without All-Star point guard Russell Westbrook, who sat out to rest his surgically repaired right knee.

Even without Westbrook, Oklahoma City's lead swelled to as many as 37 points in the third quarter. Durant, the NBA's leading scorer at 29.5 points per game, didn't play in the fourth quarter — finishing with nine rebounds and hitting 12 of 13 free throws.

The Thunder have won six straight at home to open the season.

Enes Kanter and Rudy Gobert led the Jazz (1-14) with 10 points apiece.

Bulls prepare for life without Derrick Rose again

LOS ANGELES — Derrick Rose will have surgery on his right knee today, and the Chicago Bulls don't yet know how long they'll be without their star guard this time.

Rose headed home to Chicago while the Bulls went back to work Sunday, facing the Los Angeles Clippers in their first game since Rose tore cartilage in his knee in Portland on Friday night.

Chicago coach Tim Thibodeau said the Bulls won't know how long Rose will be out until surgeons decide how to fix Rose's knee.

The Bulls' core has plenty of experience playing without the 2011 NBA MVP. Rose missed all of last season recovering from a torn ligament in his left knee.

Heels top Cards

No. 24 UNC upsets No. 3 Louisville

Associated Press

UNCASVILLE, Conn. — Marcus Paige scored 32 points and No. 24 North Carolina broke open a tight game in the second half to upset No. 3 Louisville 93-84 to win the Hall of Fame Tipoff Tournament.

Brice Johnson added 13 points and Kennedy Meeks had 13 points, 12 rebounds and seven assists for the Tar Heels (4-1), who lost just a week ago at home to Belmont.

Russ Smith led all scorers with 36 points for Louisville, which came into the game on a school-record 21-game winning streak. Chris Jones added 20 points

It was a three-point game with just over 13 minutes left when Louisville's Montrezl Harrell picked up his fourth foul. North Carolina scored the next eight points. Harrell fouled out with 7 1/2 minutes left with just five points and eight rebounds.

With the sophomore star out of the game, North Carolina pushed the lead to 16 points at 83-67, outmuscling the Cardinals under the basket.

Associated Press

North Carolina's Nate Britt shoots against Louisville's Montrezl Harrell during the Basketball Hall of Fame Tip-Off Tournament championship game Sunday in Uncasville, Conn. No. 24 UNC upset the third-ranked Cardinals 93-84.

No. 6 Duke 91, Vermont 90

DURHAM, N.C. — Rodney Hood's free throw with 5 seconds left helped No. 6 Duke dodge Vermont's upset bid and gave the Blue Devils a 91-90 victory.

Jabari Parker scored 24 points and Hood finished with 22 for the Blue Devils (5-1), who extended their nonconference winning streak at Cameron Indoor Stadium to 106 games — barely.

Duke blew a 15-point lead and allowed Vermont to shoot 65 percent before finally getting the one defensive stop it needed.

Candon Rusin's four-point play with 10.4 seconds left for Vermont tied it at 90. Hood brought the ball downcourt, drove the lane and drew contact from Clancy Rugg. Hood bounced his first free throw off the rim, then swished the second.

Sandro Carissimo hurried the Catamounts downcourt and found Rusin in the corner, but he couldn't get a shot off before the buzzer.

Georgetown 84, No. 10 VCU 80

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — D'Vauntes Smith-Rivera had 26 points and Georgetown fought off Virginia Commonwealth in the second half to hang on for an 84-80 victory in the fifth-place game of the Puerto Rico Tip-Off.

Markel Starks added 23 points, and went 10 for 10 at the free-throw line to help preserve the win. Joshua Smith chipped in 17.

VCU (4-2) forced 26 turnovers, but couldn't get baskets to fall down the stretch, shooting 35 percent for the game. Georgetown (3-2) shot 56 percent, and was 6 for 11 from the 3-point line.

Briante Weber had 22 points to lead VCU, which shot 47 free throws. Treveon Graham added 17 points.

Charlotte 63, No. 14 Michigan 61

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Terrence Williams put back his own miss with 0.4 seconds left, and Charlotte stunned No. 14 Michigan 63-61 in the championship game of the Puerto Rico Tip-Off.

Michigan's Mitch McGary tied the game at 61 on a layup with 9 seconds left, but Charlotte quickly pushed the ball up the floor. Williams' attempt rimmed out, but he got the rebound and scored.

Denzel Ingram had 12 points and Clayton added 10 points and 15 rebounds to lead the 49ers. Pierria Henry chipped in 11 points. Charlotte's Shawn Lester was named to the all-tournament team.

The title was the 49ers (5-1) second early-season tournament win in two seasons. Charlotte won the Great Alaska Shootout last season.

Nik Stauskas, who was named the tournament's most valuable player, finished with 20 points to lead Michigan (4-2). Caris LeVert added 11 points.

No. 17 Oregon 100, San Francisco 82

EUGENE, Ore. — Elgin Cook scored 18 points to lead No. 17 Oregon to a 100-82 victory over San Francisco.

Jason Calliste had 16 points for the Ducks (4-0), who had six players score in double figures. Mike Moser added 13 points and seven rebounds.

Kruize Pinkins led the Dons (3-3) with 20 points and 11 rebounds.

The Dons closed to 61-55 on a free throw by Tim Derksen with 10:54 left, but Oregon hit 3-pointers on consecutive possessions to push the lead back to 12.

The Ducks led by as many as 19 in the second half and shot 32 for 60 from the field.

No. 19 New Mexico 79, Davidson 58

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Alex Kirk had 16 points and 14 rebounds, and No. 19 New Mexico bounced back from its first loss of the season with a 79-58 victory over Davidson to take third place at the Charleston Classic.

The Lobos (4-1) had hoped to be playing in the eight-team tournament's title game, but fell to Massachusetts 81-65 on Friday. The 7-foot Kirk took full advantage of Davidson's size disadvantage and largely had his way inside for his fifth double-double in as many games this season. It was the junior's 15th career game with double figures in points and rebounds.

Cameron Bairstow had 18 points to lead the Lobos.

Davidson tried to negate New Mexico's edge in height with some long-distance shooting, attempting 20 3-pointers in the opening half. But the strategy came up short as the Wildcats fell to 1-5 for the second time in five years.

Florida State 62, Northeastern 60

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Devon Bookert hit a 10-foot fade away jumper off a missed layup with 0.5 seconds to give Florida State a dramatic 62-60 win over Northeastern in the third-place game of the Puerto Rico Tip-Off.

Northeastern's Scott Eatherton got off a desperation 3-pointer from the top of the key at the buzzer, but it bounced harmlessly off the backboard.

Aaron Thomas had 16 points to lead Florida State, followed by Robert Gilchrist with 12.

The Seminoles (5-1) trailed the entire way before taking their first lead of the game with just under 14 minutes left in the game, then had to fight several final charges by the Huskies (2-4).

Eatherton finished with 21 points and 15 rebounds, his third double-double of the tournament. Reggie Spencer and David Walker each added 13 points.

GOLF BRIEFS

Feng wins LPGA Tour finale

NAPLES — Shanshan Feng of China finished her year with a 6-under 66 and the richest prize in women's golf.

Feng got off to a quick start and played mistake-free Sunday to win the LPGA Titleholders by one shot over Gerina Piller. The victory in the final event of the LPGA season was worth $700,000 and pushed Feng to No. 4 on the money list with just over $1.7 million.

Feng was two shots behind going into the final round and never thought she would win. But she made four birdies in six holes to seize control and stayed ahead the rest of the way. Piller missed a 10-foot birdie attempt on the final hole that would have forced a playoff.

Kisner wins at Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. — Kevin Kisner made a 15-foot par putt on the 18th hole for a 2-over 74 and a one-stroke victory over Chesson Hadley at the Pebble Beach Invitational on Sunday.

Kisner began the day with a two-stroke lead and finished at 13-under 275 in the tournament featuring 80 professionals from the PGA, LPGA, Champions and Web.com tours.

Hadley shot a 70 and was four shots in front of Scott Langley (68) and William McGirt (73), who tied at 8 under.

Mina Harigae had a 71 to top LPGA finishers and finished tied with Sam Saunders (74) and Mark Brooks (70) at 281.

Tommy Armour III (68) and Kirk Triplett (72) were the top Champions Tour's finishers and were among five players at 282.

Jason Day wins World Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia — Jason Day made a 7-foot par-saving putt on the 16th hole, Thomas Bjorn bogeyed and the Australian won his first tournament in nearly three years at the World Cup at Royal Melbourne.

Day's closing 70 left him with a 10-under 274, two strokes ahead of Bjorn with a 71.

Adam Scott finished third after a 66, three strokes behind.

Day won $1.2 million and Australia won the team portion of the World Cup as Day and Scott, who each holed approach shots for eagles Sunday, also shared the $600,000 first-place prize.

Donald defends title in Japan

MIYAZAKI, Japan — Luke Donald shot a 5-under 66 on Sunday to defend his title at the Dunlop Phoenix and earn his first victory of the year.

Heading into the final round with a two-stroke lead, Donald had seven birdies and two bogeys at the par-71 Phoenix Country Club to finish at 14-under 270 on the Japan Tour.

Kim Hyung-sung of South Korea finished second at 8 under after a final-round 70.

Madsen wins first on European Tour

JOHANNESBURG — Morten Orum Madsen of Denmark won his first European Tour title Sunday as Charl Schwartzel struggled in the final round of the season-opening South African Open.

Madsen shot a 67 for a 19-under total of 269 and a two-shot victory, overtaking Schwartzel and Hennie Otto of South Africa.

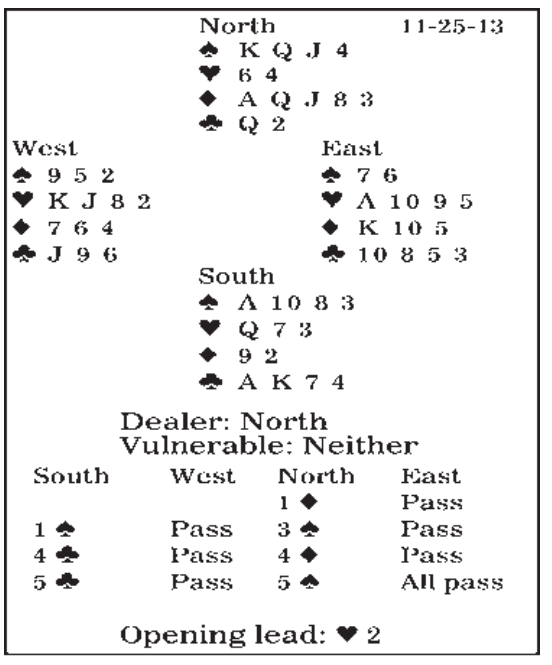
PHILLIP ALDER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.



Frank Stewart, a syndicated columnist, has self-published "What's Your Call?" Each of the 14 chapters starts with two pages of information about the bidding topic being discussed. Then there are numerous quiz questions on left-hand pages with the answers on the right-hand pages. The material is based on Standard American. Stewart is not a supporter of two-over-one game-force, especially for irregular and inexperienced partnerships.

Most advice is mainstream, but I did disagree with one answer. If you open one diamond, the next player overcalls three spades, and partner doubles, Stewart thinks that is for penalty. I believe the double should say that responder has too many points to pass, but has no better call available. Opener typically passes with a balanced hand or bids with distribution.

In this deal from the book, who is to blame for reaching five spades?

Over three spades, South had three choices: pass; four spades; or something else, which suggests a slam. Four clubs was a control-bid (cue-bid). Next, North reasonably control-bid four diamonds, his club queen looking like a working card. Then South erred — he should have bid four spades, positively proclaiming that he had no heart control. North would have passed, and the deal would never have seen the light of day.

The auction telegraphed the killing heart lead. East won with his ace and returned the suit. Later, East scored the diamond king to defeat five spades.

ANNIE'S MAILBOX

Dear Annie: I am a boy in junior high school. I recently went to a social event for kids my age. While there, a girl spilled the beans that she has had a major crush on me for more than a year. We see each other often at school. I was shocked. She asked to hold my cellphone and then put her number into my contacts.

Here's the problem. I don't like this girl at all, but I'm getting tons of texts from her daily. No matter how hard I try to distance myself and let this one-sided relationship die, she keeps coming back.

Annie, I have tried not responding, deleting her from my contacts, etc. I don't want to break her heart, because I'm not that kind of guy. This is the first time anything like this has happened to me, and it's starting to stress me out. I'm having nightmares about her.

All advice from my parents to shake her has failed.

Can you help? — Not a Heartbreaker

Dear Not: Sometimes you can't avoid breaking a heart. Be kind, not cruel, and take solace in knowing you behaved like a gentleman. Tell this girl as kindly as possible that you aren't interested in a romantic relationship. Say that you're sorry things didn't work out the way she wanted, but she must stop texting because it makes you feel that she is stalking you.

You cannot control her response. She may cry, be angry or even continue to text. Do not respond. It will take a while before she gives up, so be sure not to give false encouragement by engaging her in conversation, even negatively. Be totally neutral and uninterested. And patient.

Dear Annie: My uncle is a tax attorney. Recently, the whole family was together for lunch, and we happened to talk about my job as a special-ed teacher. I asked my uncle, "If the boss declares bankruptcy, who gets paid first — the employees, landlord or lender?"

Before my uncle could respond, my mother said, "You don't ask lawyers for free legal advice." I replied that no one seems to mind asking me for expertise. My aunt insisted that it is different because my uncle is an attorney, and my mother agreed with her. I pointed out that my grandfather, an accountant, often gave free professional advice.

So, let me ask you, Annie. If my uncle were a chef, would it be wrong to ask how long spices keep their freshness? Or the best way to cook a steak?

People ask me stuff all the time pertaining to how to handle kids.

Why is it that lawyers are sacrosanct, but all other professionals are fair game? — Not a Lawyer

Dear Not: We don't believe this is true. We think in your household, your mother and aunt expect lawyers to hand you a bill for professional advice. (It may even have happened with your uncle, the tax attorney.)

People ask lawyers, doctors, teachers, cooks and other professionals for free advice all the time. How they handle that is up to them.

Most don't mind a quick, simple question, but more than that can be irritating, making the professional feel that you are taking advantage of them.

Dear Annie: "Lonely in My Heart" was upset that she cannot search for her biological parents until she is 18. Please tell her that another option is to contact her legislators and discuss changing the law regarding the age at which she can get information. It is nice when youngsters learn the legislative process through writing and rallying for change.

None of us is helpless. We all can work to change legislation. Indeed, one "lonely" person might enhance the lives of many "lonely" people. — Fremont, Wis.

FSU falls in overtime to No. 4 Cards

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Asia Taylor scored six points in overtime along with an assist that helped No. 4 Louisville pull away for a 69-59 victory over Florida State on Sunday.

Shoni Schimmel added a 3-pointer en route to a game-high 21 points as the Cardinals (6-0) outscored the Seminoles (4-1) 15-5 in the extra session of a tense game that served as a preview to the schools' likely rivalry when Louisville joins the Atlantic Coast Conference next season.

FSU rallied from a 46-38 deficit to take a 54-50 lead with 1:14 left in regulation and appeared to be in control before Louisville's Tia Gibbs made two free throws and Jude Schimmel made a key steal and layup to tie the game with 24.3 seconds left.

Louisville opened overtime with a 10-2 run including Taylor's baskets and Antonita Slaughter's layup before Schimmel sealed it with her fifth shot from beyond the arc.

Florida State's Brittany Brown shoots over the defense of Louisville's Shawnta' Dyer during the first half Sunday in Louisville, Ky.

No. 1 UConn 88, St. Bonaventure 39

HARTFORD, Conn. — Kiah Stokes scored a career-high 19 points and Stefanie Dolson added 16 points and 15 rebounds to lead the top-ranked Huskies to an 88-39 win over St. Bonaventure in the final day of the Hall of Fame Classic.

The Huskies (8-0) took control early against St. Bonaventure, scoring 31 straight points and holding the Bonnies scoreless for more than 10 minutes in the first half. The Huskies led 55-22 at halftime.

Gabrielle Richmond led St. Bonaventure (7-2) with nine points.

No. 2 Duke 78, Marquette 61

MILWAUKEE — Elizabeth Williams scored 23 points and Alexis Jones added 19 as second-ranked Duke remained undefeated with a 78-61 non-conference victory over Marquette.

Marquette (4-1) trailed 33-24 at the half and stayed close early after the break, pulling within 46-38, but Duke scored seven straight, opening a 53-38 lead on Chelsea Gray's 3-pointer with 13:00 remaining.

Katie Young had 21 points and Katherine Plouffe added 17 for the Golden Eagles.

No. 3 Tennessee 84, Oakland 50

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Bashaara Graves had 15 points and 11 rebounds while No. 3 Tennessee (5-0) used a 21-0 run midway through the game to beat winless Oakland 84-50.

Meighan Simmons added 14 points, Ariel Massengale had 13, Isabelle Harrison had 11 and Mercedes Russell scored 10 for Tennessee. Victoria Lipscomb scored 13 for Oakland (0-5).

No. 7 Kentucky 84, Middle Tenn. 72

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. — Bria Goss scored 16 points and Kastine Evans added 15 as the seventh-ranked Kentucky Wildcats beat Middle Tennessee 84-72.

Kentucky (6-0) had lost in its last two visits to Murphy Center against Middle Tennessee coach Rick Insell, but the big-scoring Wildcats left with the program's first win here since Jan. 8, 1989.

Jennifer O'Neill also had 14 points for Kentucky, and Samarie Walker had 12.

UCLA 82, No. 10 Okla. 76

LOS ANGELES — Atonye Nyingifa had career highs of 28 points and 16 rebounds, Nirra Fields added a career-best 17 points and UCLA outrebounded No. 10 Oklahoma on its way to an 82-76 upset.

The Bruins (2-2) beat a ranked opponent for the first time this season after earlier losses to Nebraska and North Carolina.

Nicole Griffin scored 19 points for the Sooners (4-2), who ended UCLA's postseason hopes last spring with an 85-72 victory in the NCAA tournament.

No. 11 Nebraska 87, Southern 64

LINCOLN, Neb. — Jordon Hooper scored 23 points and gathered 8 rebounds as the No. 11 Nebraska women beat Southern University 87-64.

Hooper, an All-American, bettered her season scoring average (17.8) for the game. Emily Cady added 18 points making 5 of 6 from the field, and gathering 14 rebounds.

Kendra Coleman led all scorers with 30 points, including a 7-of-12 effort from beyond the arc. Adrian Sanders added another 12 for Southern University.

No. 12 UNC 91, Coppin State 51

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Diamond DeShields scored a game-high 16 points, Jessica Washington and Stephanie Mavunga each added 14 as No. 12 North Carolina rolled past Coppin State 91-51.

The Tar Heels (4-1) pulled ahead early with a 12-0 run to take their first double-digit lead capped off by a Washington 3-pointer. They had a 46-23 advantage at the break and led by as much as 45 during the second half.

Amber Griffin led the Eagles with 12 points.

No. 17 Cal 65, Northwestern 51

BERKELEY, Calif. — Reshanda Gray shot 9-of-13 from the field, scored 23 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as No. 17 California defeated Northwestern 65-51.

After Cal (3-2) scored the game's first 9 points, Northwestern (4-1) cut the deficit to 18-17. But Cal never trailed and led by as many as 18 in the second half.

Afure Jemerigbe had 16 points for Cal and Courtney Range led the team in rebounds with 13.

Maggie Lyon had 17 points for Northwestern, which shot just 3-of-17 on 3-pointers.

No. 22 Iowa St. 89, Drake 47

DES MOINES, Iowa — Hallie Christofferson scored 25 points to lead No. 22 Iowa State to an 89-47 blowout over Drake.

The undefeated Cyclones (5-0) took control of the game with a 14-0 run to close out the first half, carrying a 40-22 advantage into the break.

Lizzy Wendell led Drake (2-3) with 15 points.

No. 23 Georgia 63, Georgia Tech 56

ATHENS, Ga. — Khaalidah Miller scored 20 points and No. 23 Georgia held off Georgia Tech's comeback to beat the Yellow Jackets 63-56 to continue its domination of the state rivalry.

Shacobia Barbee added 14 points as Georgia (5-0) improved to 32-4 all-time against Georgia Tech, including 14-0 in Athens.

Georgia Tech (2-2) suffered its second straight loss to a ranked Southeastern Conference team, following an 87-76 loss at No. 3 Tennessee on Nov. 17.

Red Wings beat Sabres

Associated Press

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jonas Gustavsson made 21 saves, including a stop on Steve Ott's penalty shot, and the Detroit Red Wings sent the Buffalo Sabres to their fourth straight loss, 3-1 on Sunday.

Johan Franzen, Daniel Alfredsson and Darren Helm scored for the Red Wings. Henrik Zetterberg had an assist for his 700th career point.

Cody Hodgson scored Buffalo's only goal. The Sabres are winless since a victory in interim head coach Ted Nolan's first game on Nov. 15.

Detroit improved to 7-3-1 on the road. Buffalo has lost 11 of 13 home games.

Ryan Miller made 32 saves for the Sabres. He is 2-8-2 against Detroit in his career.

The go-ahead goal came on a power play when Franzen's shot deflected off Sabres defenseman Alexander Sulzer and past Miller. Zetterberg assisted on the tally and improved his point total to 28, good for second in the NHL.

Hurricanes 4, Senators 1

RALEIGH, N.C. — Eric Staal had a goal and two assists, goalie Cam Ward stopped 35 shots and the Carolina Hurricanes beat the Ottawa Senators 4-1.

Jason Spezza gave Ottawa the lead 1:07 in with his 10th goal of the season, but Carolina scored three times in the second period.

Patrick Dwyer, Tuomo Ruutu and rookie Elias Lindholm each scored for the Hurricanes, who have won 10 of 11 at home against Ottawa. Staal scored an empty-net goal with 2:29 left.

Attention Consumers!

Please make sure you are using a licensed and insured service professional. Many service advertisers are required by state law to include their state license number in all advertisements. If you don't see a license number in the ad, you should inquire about it and be suspicious that you may be contacting an unlicensed business. The Citrus County Chronicle wants to ensure that our ads meet the requirements of the law. Beware of any service advertiser that can not provide proof that they are licensed to do business. For questions about business licensing, please call your city or county government offices.

JO JO

JoJo, a 4-y.o. bulldog mix, brindle in color, dropped off at the shelter as a stray. She is a very happy, sweet girl, who has been found to have severe hip dysplasia; however, no one has told her that. She thinks she is just fine. She is housebrkn, spayed & heartworm-neg. She will require medications such as Remidyl, Tramadol, Glucosamine/Chondroitin & Omega 3 fatty acids (fish oil) for the rest of her life to keep her active. She is a very lovely, affectionate dog with a beautiful face who does not know she has a problem & loves life. Hopefully there is a compassionate family or individual who is willing to give this girl a good home, in return for limitless devotion from her. She would truly bring joy to your home. Call Joanne @ 352-795-1288.

PUBLIC NOTICE
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT IN AND FOR CITRUS COUNTY, FLORIDA
CASE NO. 2013-CA-1350

IN RE: THE FORFEITURE OF A 2014 TOYOTA COROLLA, VIN NO. 2T1BURHE7EC029073, TAG NO. G758LI BY JEFFREY J. DAWSY, AS SHERIFF OF CITRUS COUNTY, FLORIDA, Petitioner,
vs.
WILLIAM E. REIS,
Claimant.

NOTICE OF FORFEITURE

THE CITRUS COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE has seized and intends to have forfeited to it a 2014 TOYOTA COROLLA, VIN NO. 2T1BURHE7EC029073, TAG NO. G758LI (the "Vehicle") pursuant to the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act, Chapter 932, Florida Statutes. The aforementioned Vehicle was seized by JEFFREY J. DAWSY, AS SHERIFF OF CITRUS COUNTY, FLORIDA (hereinafter, "CCSO"), on October 17, 2013, in the vicinity of North Florida Avenue and West Dunnellon Road, Marion County, Florida.

The CCSO has filed, or will immediately hereafter file, a Forfeiture Complaint/Verified Petition for Forfeiture with the Clerk of Circuit Court, Citrus County Courthouse, 110 North Apopka Avenue, Inverness, Florida 34450. Any person, or persons, claiming an interest in the aforementioned Vehicle sought to be forfeited should notify the below mentioned attorney for CCSO so as to protect any legal or equitable rights said claimant may have in said Vehicle. Any person who has an interest in said Vehicle has the right to request an adversarial preliminary hearing to determine whether CCSO had probable cause to believe that the aforementioned Vehicle was used in violation of Chapter 893, Florida Statutes, and the Florida Contraband Forfeiture Act.
