NEWS BRIEF

Board to vote on water tower

With two dissimilar views on the table, the future of the Old Homosassa water tower is uncertain.

Today, the Homosassa Special Water District board will vote on the fate of the 100,000-gallon elevated storage tank at a special board meeting at 3 p.m. at the water district office, 7922 W. Grover Cleveland Blvd., Homosassa.

The 130-foot-tall water tank was commissioned in 1965. Now, nearly 50 years later, water district officials believe the tank has reached critical condition and is too costly to repair.

Many local residents, however, are seeking the preservation of what they view as a historic landmark.

For information, call the Homosassa Special Water District at 352-628-3740 or visit the "Save Homosassa Water Tower" Facebook page.

'Endless opportunity'

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

Andrew Gude has recently taken over as head of the Crystal River National Wildlife Refuge, and he also oversees the Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge.

Manager loves community's passion for manatees

A.B. SIDIBE
Staff writer

Andrew Gude, the new head of the Crystal River National Wildlife Refuge Complex, has a brisk manner about him, perhaps because he's just had a lot of territory added to his watch.

Gude was already refuge manager at the Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge when Michael Lusk left CRNWR for the Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge last fall. Gude was tapped as interim CRNWR refuge manager and, at the beginning of the year, was named full-time manager, but he also remains manager at Lower Suwannee.

"It's a lot of area to cover. From Levy County to Egmont Key," he said.

Gude came to the Lower Suwannee in 2011 from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service office in Washington, D.C.

One of the first issues he ran into since assuming his post is the issue of public access at Three Sisters Springs. Gude promised that USFWS was open to limited access to the 57-acre property before the start of the next manatee season.

"We have to. We are committed to it."

CHRONICLE: Can you tell us a little bit about yourself and your professional career until you got appointed to this position?

Board to move ahead on fees for resurfacing

CHRIS VAN ORMER
Staff Writer

INVERNESS — County commissioners will be asked Tuesday to set up a public workshop to decide how to fund road resurfacing.

According to county staff, the county's annual road resurfacing program has not occurred for two years because of reductions in the county budget.

When the program was in effect, the county used about $3 million a year from the annual gas tax that is received for resurfacing local and neighborhood collector roads. But the received amount of gas tax has not increased, because it was not indexed to inflation. More fuel-efficient vehicles and motorists spending less time driving are two more factors affecting the level of gas tax.

According to county staff, the county needs about $13 million a year for all local roads to be paved every 20 years. The past funding of $3 million a year allowed each road to be paved only every 112 years.

- WHAT: Citrus County Board of County Commissioners meeting.
- WHEN: 1 p.m. Tuesday; public comments and questions will be taken at 1:05 p.m.

Fluff offered for trash woes

CHRIS VAN ORMER
Staff writer

Fluff might lift the burden on the county landfill.

Fluff is one of two options in the future that a consultant, Government Services Group (GSG), will explore along with regional solid waste disposal to produce a report for the Citrus County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC).

Brad Thorpe
Citrus County administrator.

At its April 8 meeting, the board agreed to a $92,825 fee to GSG for a review of potential outsourcing or regionalizing of waste disposal, including looking at other alternative programs. Although the landfill cell has about 16 years of life left at the current rate of disposal, in the future solid waste will need to be removed from the county as the cell can't be extended and the county has no site for a new landfill.

Meanwhile, maintenance is needed, County Administrator Brad Thorpe told the Chronicle

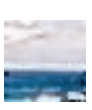
Question of the Week

A recent Sound Off caller commented on sheriff's deputies and their take-home vehicles. (The caller thinks it's a waste of money.) What do you think?

Maureen Barton Bissonette

How can it be a waste of money? This way, in case of any emergency, their cars are right there for them to respond to the call. I think it's a good idea. Less delay time, having to go pick up their cars, for them to respond.



Caroline Ann Alba Jutras

Let them take their cars home, as long as it sits there and is not driven to take kids places.

Steve Cason

The cars serve a need parked in the neighborhoods.

Lisa Cannon Lisenby

So if a police officer works at a school his child should seek other means of transportation to school? Just curious how that's supposed to work. I'm not voting either way, but I'm curious how people justify other things.

Jennifer Lin Jacobs

Not to mention it's a good way to let people see a police officer lives in the neighborhood. Many companies provide vehicles to their employees. I'd much rather see a police vehicle than a work truck.

Teri Corda

I think it's a good idea but for their job purposes only, not to take their kids to school or pick them up or go grocery shopping in them, and trust me, I have seen it done.

Hearing and Hearing Aid Pricing and Technology Disclosed

For consumers about to make a hearing aid purchase, and anyone interested in learning about hearing.

What are Hearing Aid Channels and Bands?

Two of the most important characteristics of hearing aids are "Channels" and "Bands"… which are also some of the most misunderstood by users.

To start off with, the number of channels or bands has nothing to do with the number of programs or volume settings. Sounds are processed and amplified by a hearing aid based on frequencies (or the pitch of a sound) and volumes. A peek at your audiogram will tell you how much amplification you need for any given frequency. In a nutshell, bands and channels thus determine how granular a hearing aid can process and amplify the sounds it perceives. To quote a great explanation from Philips:

"A band is what is used to control volume in different frequencies. This allows us to adjust more volume in a specific area of your hearing loss without effecting other areas where you might need less volume The more bands the hearing aid offers the more room we have to fit the aid to your hearing loss.

Channels break up the frequency range into individual channels. This allows the hearing aid to differentiate noise from speech. The more channels the hearing aid has the more fine tuned it can be. For instance the sound of keys falling on a table, or water running in the sink may be overwhelming. When your hearing aid offers many channels we can adjust each frequency that is too loud without sacrificing the things you want to hear, like your spouse or boss."

Thus, just the way a high-resolution picture gives you a sharper image, more bands and channels provide you with a more granular sound quality. More channels will provide better "resolution" on the frequencies and more bands will mean better "resolution" on the volume… thus allowing your hearing aid to match your audiogram more accurately.

This workshop will discuss establishment and maintenance of the lawn and landscape. Lawn areas in Florida landscapes require more time, chemicals and supplemental irrigation than up north. Best management practices will be discussed and identification of nutritional, insect and turf diseases will be shared.

Planting lawns in the right places, selection of the proper grass, establishment and maintenance are all things to be considered when choosing to plant lawns. Utilizing Florida Friendly Landscaping practices and sustainable alternatives reduces management costs and water consumption by lawns and landscapes.

There for the music

CARLY ZERVIS
Correspondent

Staying dry was the name of the game Saturday at Fort Cooper State Park, where a small but determined crowd turned out for the third annual Bluegrass Music Festival.

Held rain or shine under Fort Cooper's massive oaks, the festival is hosted every year by The Friends of Fort Cooper.

This year it boasted five bluegrass groups, as well as food and craft vendors and antique cars shown by members of The Traveling A's Club and The Florida Mini's Club.

The variety of vendors came from as far away as Ocala and Lake Mary, and the Inverness Primary School Safety Patrol participated as well, raising money for a school trip to Washington, D.C.

Those who attended braved sporadic rain showers for most of the day, resignedly popping umbrellas and donning hats and hoods.

Back Porch Pickers and Pasture Prime performed first and second to an increasingly damp but enthusiastic crowd, and Wry Whiskey, Xtremegrass, and Arnold Messer and Lonesome Highway performed in the afternoon in drier, but gradually cooler weather.

Chris and Dottie Cailliet of Inverness said when they lived out west, they would often travel up and down the Colorado River, watching bluegrass bands perform.

"We love the music and we find that the kind of people who come to these things are people we like to be around," said Chris.

Fort Cooper State Park offers more than 7,000 acres to explore, and visitors can hike, canoe, and fish in some of Citrus County's beautiful forests and Lake Holathlikaha.

Other events throughout the year include Fort Cooper Days in March, a re-enactment that commemorates historical events at the site.

WWII soldiers recall liberating camps

LEESBURG — Two former World War II soldiers say they want to share their memories of liberating German concentration camps to make sure the Holocaust is never forgotten or denied.

The men recently shared their memories with the Daily Commercial newspaper in Leesburg and plan to speak later this month at an event commemorating the 70th anniversary of the liberation of the camps.

Patrick Marci, 87, said he has never forgotten the images and the smells from a camp near Landsberg, Germany, that he helped to liberate. Marci is a veteran of the Normandy invasion and the Battle of the Bulge.

Bill Whipp helped to liberate the Dachau camp. He said liberating the camps made the war worthwhile.

Panhandle veterans upset by vandalisms

PENSACOLA — Panhandle veterans say they are fed up with a rash of vandalism incidents to local military memorials.

The veterans told the Pensacola News Journal they are disappointed by recent damage done to the Santa Rosa County Veterans Memorial in Milton and Veterans Memorial Park in Pensacola.

Vandals have done thousands of dollars in damage to various fixtures at both memorials during the last year, including stealing lights, damaging metal spouts, defacing monuments and taking supplies used to maintain the memorials.

Part of Fla. history to return to spotlight

TALLAHASSEE — The public will soon get a look inside an historic house hidden in trees near the Florida Governor's Mansion.

The state will open the Grove, once the residence of former Gov. LeRoy Collins, later this year as a museum and architectural classroom.

Florida has spent nearly $6 million to rehabilitate the 10-acre estate. Transforming the mansion to meet modern building codes has been a time-consuming undertaking. There also have been legal battles about property next to the site that the state wants to buy for parking.

The Greek Revival style mansion, built with slave labor, is thought to have been finished by 1831. Even today, the front windows have some of the same glass used when the home was built.

Winning numbers drawn in 'Fantasy 5'

TALLAHASSEE — One "Fantasy Five" game player selected all five winning numbers to win a jackpot worth $260,500.98, the Florida Lottery said Sunday.

The 326 tickets matching four numbers won $133 each. Another 10,786 tickets matching three of the five numbers won $11 each.

The winning numbers in Saturday evening's drawing of the Florida Lottery's "Fantasy 5" game were: 2-3-12-35-36.

New portrait unveiled for British queen's birthday

LONDON — A portrait of Queen Elizabeth II by renowned British photographer David Bailey has been unveiled to mark the monarch's 88th birthday.

The black-and-white photograph, taken at Buckingham Palace in March, shows the queen smiling broadly. Bailey described his subject as a "very strong woman" with "very kind eyes with a mischievous glint."

The portrait, unveiled Sunday for the queen's birthday today, was commissioned for a government campaign to promote Britain's heritage and tourism to potential visitors abroad.

Britain's monarchy and royal history is one of the biggest drivers of its strong tourism industry.

The queen celebrates two birthdays each year: Her actual one on April 21 is celebrated privately, while a public ceremony in June marks the occasion with a Trooping the Color parade in London.

'Captain America' tops box office for third week

LOS ANGELES — Captain America continues to vanquish box office foes, triumphing in ticket sales for the third consecutive week and beating formidable contender Johnny Depp.

BOARD

The Citrus County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) will be asked to consider the funding options of the existing gas tax, using a local sales tax, setting a fee through a municipal services benefit unit (MSBU) or a partnership MSBU. The board will be asked to choose a date for a public workshop to start the voluntary road resurfacing program: 9 a.m. or 5:15 p.m. May 13, or 9 a.m. or 6 p.m. May 27.

■ The board will get an update about the county's property exchange with the city of Inverness. The county wants to swap its Inverness bypass road right of way, where the city could build a future bicycle trail and trailhead, for the city's parcel at Airport Road at the Inverness Airport to improve access to the new terminal building and the future business park.

The county asked the city for an easement to allow building the airport road before its state grant to do so expires June 30. But the city refused, telling the county to exchange properties or purchase the parcel at the airport.

The exchange became complicated because the county has a lease with AmeriGas for a propane fueling facility on the bypass road right of way. The BOCC on Feb. 25 directed staff to negotiate with AmeriGas for back payment of rent, as it has not paid rent for about 20 years. The company was reported to have paid for four years of rent, in compliance with the statute of limitations.

County staff members are working to relocate AmeriGas. Its lease contract has a notice of termination of 120 days.

■ At 2 p.m., Jenette Collins, director, Department of Planning and Development, will make a presentation about the regulation of grass height in response to a board directive at its March 11 meeting.

The board made the request because Harvey Gerber, president of the Beverly Hills Civic Association, asked for an amendment to the county's nuisance ordinance to lower the maximum grass height to 10 inches, from 18 inches, for certain properties in recorded subdivisions.

According to the agenda, Gerber would like the 10 inches standard to apply to developed small-lot subdivisions such as Beverly Hills for properties on paved county rights-of-way in recorded subdivisions on blocks with residences on 80 percent or more of the lots of one-third acre or less.

At the March 11 meeting, the board suggested a compromise of 12 inches as an option for regulating grass height.

Collins will present options for regulating grass height and request the board to facilitate a public hearing to consider amending the ordinance.

■ Commissioner Scott Adams will introduce discussion about the U.S. 41 and County Road 48 intersection in Floral City and discuss rescinding the proposal or resolution of the Floral City bypass design, asking for a vote to remove it from the county's transportation plan.

■ The board will be asked to hire two more employees in the building division because of an increase in building permit applications. The positions are: a development review/permitting specialist for a salary of $39,183 and a plans examiner for a salary of $53,975.

■ At 1:50 p.m., Terry Hansen, Florida Department of Environmental Protection, will make a presentation about the Basin Management Action Plan concerning the Crystal River Area Springs Coast Basin, King's Bay and Crystal River. Current projects in the Crystal River area include Three Sisters Wetland Treatment Project, city of Crystal River to Progress Energy reclaimed water project, Hunter Springs water quality stormwater improvement project and the proposed King's Bay stormwater project phase 1.

■ At 1:45 p.m., John Stewart will present information about a 2015 parade to honor Vietnam veterans, those missing in action and prisoners of war. It is scheduled for 10 a.m. May 2, 2015, in Inverness.

MONDAY

2000 at the Army Corps of Engineers in the Florida Keys for a year then was recruited to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Ecological Services for two years. And then I went to the refuge in the Keys for a year; then I went to D.C. (District of Columbia) where I spent five years as the refuge system's coastal program coordinator.

At that time, we got the big monuments under our charge, so I was involved in that. I then spent two years downtown and working for the assistant secretary for two years then I came down here (Lower Suwannee National Wildlife Refuge) in 2011.

CHRONICLE: Can you tell us three to five top priorities you have regarding this refuge?

GUDE: One is to get staff back to the level they will let me get it back to, because we are trying to reduce costs due to the budget constraints we have been facing.

Getting the staffing back and then addressing access and access issues at Three Sisters Springs; actually, all the springs in which we have control — basically, dealing with a reasonable form of access.

Also getting the Three Sisters Springs site developed based on how much money we can get and, right now, it looks really good. We are getting infrastructure for roads, visitors and toilets.

Thirdly, is taking care of Egmont Key, which is another high-visitation refuge.

CHRONICLE: Turning to Three Sisters Springs. You took over in the middle of a lot agitation about public access. Do you think that is going to be possible before the next manatee season?

GUDE: I took over right when Michael Lusk was leaving and actually he had more agitation than I, but that's all fine and good that it was Michael and not me (laugh). We are committed to get some type of public access by next manatee season.

At a minimum, based on the funds we have and the permitting stuff, we're hoping to get some sort of roads in there, getting a concessionaire for trips. We are working through it and getting restrooms. The real trick is getting a concessionaire to be able to do the trips and have help with the volunteers.

CHRONICLE: Do you have a timeline?

GUDE: Hopefully, by next manatee season, November.

CHRONICLE: You think you can do all you need to do before that time?

GUDE: We have to. We are committed to it.

CHRONICLE: What all do you have planned for dealing with the overcrowding issue in the springs' area of Three Sisters Springs?

GUDE: Right now, we don't have any plans, but we've got a lot of public feedback from the general public and some very concerned citizens. ... When you walk on the boardwalk on busy weekend and when you look into the spring, you've got 50 to 200 manatees in there and you have kayaks, paddleboards, canoes and however many swimmers and snorkelers. It's just not a reasonable mix, and the question we are asking ourselves ... is how do we envision reasonable access for the public? We want to be proud that this is national wildlife refuge, because what we see right now is kind of a zoo.

CHRONICLE: Do you see a system in place that would look at capacity loading?

GUDE: I think before we spend any money on capacity studies, we have to look at what reasonable person can say this is reasonable and this looks right about how many people are in there. We have yet to come up with that; we don't know what method we would do. We haven't really gone through what we will do yet.

Our first meeting is tomorrow (last Thursday). How we will limit access we don't know yet and, also, we want to bring it to the community and ask 'how do you feel about this'?

CHRONICLE: How long a process do you think that's going to be?

GUDE: I don't know. I can't put a timeline on the access thing because, in part, I want to commit to getting the boardwalk open. And I don't feel like it is right to control the water access if we don't have the boardwalk open. But ideally, they come hand in hand by next November, but it will be more of a public process.

We do have authority over the refuge, waters and the spring. So we could foreseeably do it ourselves without public input, but I don't think that's the best way to go. I think we are going to take public input.

CHRONICLE: What have been some of the surprises and challenges since you took over?

GUDE: One — how much visitation there is and how much passion there is with people wanting to preserve the area and how much they love the manatees and the habitat in the larger King's Bay ecosystem. And also, the people who are passionate about protecting the manatee and addressing the human interaction issue — reasonable access — and the number of people who interact with manatee. That's what is surprising to me. I really didn't know that when I first came here.

CHRONICLE: Have you found that to be a positive?

GUDE: I see endless opportunity here. The challenges are: there are probably going to be some losers if we do, if we do some kind of limited access to the areas we have control over, but really it's one of these things we have to look at the larger King's Bay ecosystem as a whole and try to address human interaction with manatees not just here, but everywhere.

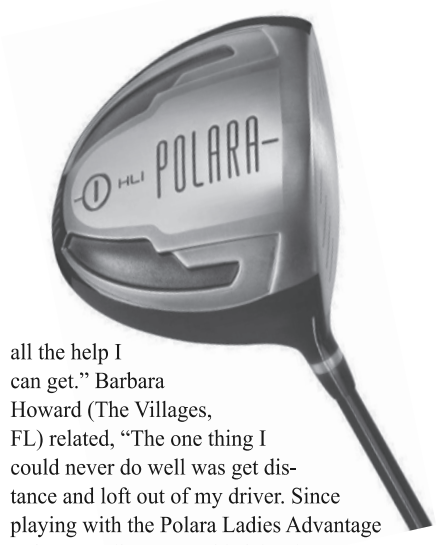
Explosive Driver Distance

Seniors, Women & Golfers with Slower Swing Speeds Gain Up to 40 Yards More on Their Drives

By Leonard Finkel

Golf can be very frustrating, especially for golfers struggling with distance issues. Are you looking to recover lost yardage or seeking to add significant distance off the tee? Golfers with slower swing speeds have a difficult time launching the ball in the air with today's drivers. The problem is, these players don't generate enough ball velocity and spin which cause the ball to lift and soar through the air. The solution might be the Polara "Advantage" driver. Polara Golf's new drivers are designed to drive the ball farther than any other club. Polara has gone beyond the design and performance limits imposed on PGA Tour players. Polara's over-sized clubs are engineered to launch the ball higher and faster than other drivers, while also providing an extra-large sweet spot for more forgiveness and power on off-center hits. They are intended for any golfer whose #1 priority is achieving significantly more distance.



Why are these drivers longer? The primary advantages come from higher lofts, a thin beta titanium face and larger 475cc head size versus the USGA imposed limit. When a golfer with a slower swing speed uses a higher lofted club, they increase the ball's launch angle and backspin. The extra backspin causes the ball to generate more lift, but more importantly the higher launch angle and increased lift force the ball to stay in the air longer – producing added distance. Beta titanium is a more expensive but stronger alloy, which means the face can be made thinner, delivering a more enhanced trampoline effect. This translates into higher ball velocity, adding longer distance off the tee. The larger head delivers a higher moment of inertia because the center of gravity is moved farther back. This combination also means greater forgiveness on off-center hits.

Though the product was just recently released in limited quantities, it already has an almost cult-like following, indicated by the numerous testimonials the company receives. William Yaeger (Penfield, NY) wrote, "I bought the new Polara Advantage driver and not only am I getting 15-25 MORE yards per average but I've had many mis-hits forgiven by this driver."

The Advantage driver is designed to work with any golf ball and works especially well with Polara's own anti-slice balls. The combination of distance and accuracy is nothing short of a miracle. Gary King (Ft. Lauderdale, FL) wrote, "This driver performs as advertised. Combined with my Polara Golf balls I'm driving straighter and 10 to 15 yards longer than previously. At age 77, I welcome all the help I can get." Barbara Howard (The Villages, FL) related, "The one thing I could never do well was get distance and loft out of my driver. Since playing with the Polara Ladies Advantage Driver my distance and loft has been awesome. My friends can't believe how much better my drives are now. I am 72 years old and loving the game of golf."

Polara drivers are available in 10.5 and 12 degrees standard lofts, but also in HL1 and HL3 lofts which are designed specifically for golfers who drive the ball less than 200 yards and want up to 40 more yards. David Moody (Louisville, KY) said, "I have no doubt the Advantage driver has added length to my drives. I have gone from the short knocker to one of the longer drivers in our group." Polara equipment is designed for the vast majority of golfers who want to take advantage of technology improvements and have more fun. "We've done extensive testing with golfers who have slower swing speeds; those who drive the ball less than 200 yards, and the biggest issue is almost all are using drivers with too little loft," says Polara's David Felker. "Our Advantage HL1 and HL3 drivers provide more loft than any other driver on the market. They are essentially fairway woods on steroids – faster face, larger size head, larger sweet spot and more powerful and forgiving on off center hits. An easy driver to hit, delivering a lot more distance!"

For a limited time, purchase any Polara driver for $199 ($100 discount) and get a free Polara 6-ball trial pack. For additional information or to purchase a Polara driver go to www.BuyPolaraDriver.com or call (866) 556-3100 and a trained Polara Golf Specialist will determine which driver will give you much more yardage – guaranteed.

Consumers get Free TV with no cable, satellite or internet connection and no monthly bills

Federal law makes TV network giants broadcast Free TV signals regionally in crystal clear digital picture in all 50 states allowing U.S. households to pull in Free TV with a sleek $49 micro antenna device engineered to pull in nothing but Free TV channels with no cable, satellite or internet connection and no monthly bills

LOCAL RESIDENTS If you live in one of the Crystal River area zip codes listed below just return the Free TV Claim Form to get Free TV

FLORIDA - Today's announcement by CompTek has the Free TV Hotlines ringing off the hook.

That's because Crystal River area residents who find their zip code listed in today's publication are getting Free TV channels thanks to an amazing razor-thin invention called Clear-Cast®.

But so many people are calling to get Free TV it's impossible to answer anymore calls from Crystal River area residents," said David Martin, Manager of Operations at CompTek.

"That's why we've asked the Crystal River Citrus County Chronicle to print the Free TV Claim Form in today's publication so area residents can get Free TV. The only thing residents need to do is return the Free TV Claim Form below post marked no later than 7 days from today's publication date to get Free TV," said Martin.

Crystal River area residents who return the Free TV Claim Form to get Clear-Cast can pull in Free TV channels with crystal clear digital picture and no monthly bills.

This announcement is being so widely advertised because a U.S. Federal law makes TV broadcasters transmit their signals in digital format, which allows everyone to receive these over-the-air digital signals for free with no monthly bills.

Here's how it works. Clear-Cast, the sleek micro antenna device with advanced technology links up directly to pull in the Free TV signals being broadcast in your area with crystal clear digital picture and no monthly bills.

Clear-Cast was invented by a renowned NASA Space Technology Hall of Fame scientist who currently holds 23 U.S. Gov't issued patents. For the past 20 years, he has specialized in developing antenna systems for NASA, Motorola, XM Satellite Radio and companies around the world.

His latest patent-pending invention, Clear-Cast, is a sleek micro antenna device engineered to pull in the Free TV signals through advanced technology with no cable, satellite or internet connection and no monthly bills.

"Clear-Cast is being released to the general public because we just don't think people should keep paying for TV when they can get it for free," said Martin.

"There's never a monthly bill to pay and all the channels you get with Clear-Cast are absolutely free. So you see, Clear-Cast is not like cable or satellite. It was engineered to access solely the over-the-air signals that include all the top rated national and regional networks, like ABC, NBC, CBS, FOX, PBS, CW and about 90% of the most watched TV shows like The Following, NCIS, 60 Minutes, American Idol, The Big Bang Theory, The Bachelor, Person of Interest, CSI, The Mentalist, Two and a Half Men, Sunday Night Football plus news, weather and more all for free with no monthly bills," Martin said.

"That's why Clear-Cast is such a great alternative for everyone who is sick and tired of paying expensive cable and satellite bills every month," he said.

"People who get Clear-Cast will say it feels like getting an extra paycheck every month. You see, with Clear-Cast you'll receive free over-the-air broadcast channels with crystal clear digital picture, not the cable or satellite only channels like ESPN. So being able to eliminate those channels puts all the money you were spending back in your pocket every month," Martin said.

And here's the best part. The sleek micro antenna device called Clear-Cast is so technically advanced it pulls in even more of the channels being broadcast in your area for Free with no monthly bills.

That way you can channel surf through the favorite TV shows. The number of shows and channels you'll get depends on where you live. People living in large metropolitan areas may get up to 53 static-free channels, while people in outlying areas will get less. That means even if you're in a rural area that just pulls in NBC, ABC, CBS, FOX and PBS broadcasts there's hundreds of shows each year to watch for free.

Consumers report that the crystal clear picture quality with Clear-Cast is the best they've ever seen. That's because you get virtually all pure uncompressed signals direct from the broadcasters for free.

Clear-Cast was engineered to link up directly like a huge outdoor directional antenna but in a lightweight, slim-line package. Its sturdy copper alloy and polymer construction will most likely far outlast your TV.

It just couldn't be any easier to get Free over-the-air digital TV shows with Clear-Cast. Simply plug it into your TV, place Clear-Cast on a window pane and run autoscan. It works on virtually any model TV.

Thousands of Crystal River area residents are getting Clear-Cast because it just doesn't make any sense to keep paying for TV when you can get hundreds of shows absolutely free.

So, Crystal River area residents lucky enough to find their zip code listed in today's publication need to immediately return the Free TV Claim Form to get Clear-Cast that pulls in Free TV with crystal clear digital picture with no monthly bills. ■

■ U.S. MAIL DEADLINE NEARS: Thousands of bags of U.S. mail containing Free TV Claim Forms are expected to show up at the National TV Processing Center from consumers in all 50 states who want to get Free TV with no monthly bills before the 7-day post mark deadline ends.

Florida Residents: Listed below are the Crystal River area zip codes that can get Free TV channels with no monthly bills. If you find the first two digits of your zip code listed below immediately return the Free TV Claim Form post dated no later than 7 days from today's publication date to get Free TV. TIME WELL SPENT

Hospital's volunteers give array of benefits

The world can sometimes be a harsh place. Too many people in need, not nearly enough people who have the time, resources or inclination to lend a helping hand. And for the most part, those who are in need are often at their weakest and most vulnerable — where aid and comfort are need the most.

That is certainly the case in the hospital setting, where patients are often scared, sick and plagued by worry.

THE ISSUE:
Volunteering at Citrus Memorial.

OUR OPINION:
Volunteers should be praised for their efforts.

But luckily for Citrus Memorial Health System, a helping hand is always at the ready. With an army of 457 volunteers serving 51 different departments, the hospital has the opportunity to provide one-on-one social care to those who need it the most. Sometimes a smile and a comforting presence can provide a panacea no medicine can.

But what makes the volunteers at Citrus Memorial all the more special? Of those volunteers, 105 are older than 80 and six are older than 90. One volunteer is nearing the century mark. In addition, 300 of the remaining volunteers have surpassed the half-century mark.

All in all, the hospital has 70 volunteers per day contributing an average of 6,200 hours per month.

The benefits of volunteering in a hospital setting are multi-faceted, especially in a community abundant with retirees. Volunteering at a hospital benefits the volunteer, the patients, the families and the hospital workers.

As a patient, facing an illness or injury can sometimes be a very lonely and confusing experience. Volunteers provide comfort and aid during what can be a vulnerable and debilitating time in a patient's life.

The volunteer often benefits from meeting new people, learning new skills, gaining experience and improving self-worth. Meeting new people helps improve social skills and increases the individual's social network. They help individuals get through tough times and contribute to a greater sense of confidence, for both the patients and themselves.

While volunteering may not take much time, the rewards it can reap are immense and bountiful. That the majority of Citrus Memorial's volunteers are 50 years and older speaks to generational philosophy — the deep-seeded belief that giving back is a moral responsibility.

It's a belief that all should work to ingrain into their daily lives. To everyone out there younger than 50, take a page out of your elder's book — it is almost always better to give than it is to receive.

Volunteer, don't gossip

I agree with the person who called in and told people to go out and do volunteer work someplace instead of just sitting around gossiping all the time.

Patients in nursing homes would love to have someone come in and read to them or just chat with them. The animal shelter could always use someone to walk the dogs. Churches that take meals to people that can't get out could always use help, etc.

There are plenty of places that would be tickled pink to have volunteers.

Harassing manatees

The issue that was in the paper, "Deer in the spotlights." In the last several years down in Pinellas County, cases have been made by the Florida Fish & Wildlife of people swimming at Fort DeSoto and even just touching the manatees is considered harassment.

So there are state laws against harassing manatees.

Even in the Chronicle just a few days ago, they had a picture of one of the snorkelers with his hands on a manatee.

How come Citrus County can overlook people that are breaking state laws, letting these manatees be harassed the way they are, people making money off of bringing people out and harassing them, but yet, as we said, we can't even take a spotlight and go out and look at a deer at night? Why is this not taken care of?

Thanks for help

I recently had sad but important business to attend to at the county offices in Meadowcrest.

I want to thank every employee for their help, kindness and efficiency in resolving my problems and concerns.

The county staff has always been professional, courteous and helpful.

Thank you for a difficult job, well done.

Hats off to Andy!

Hats off to Andy Houston and the eight years of calm waters and stability he has brought the city of Crystal River. Andy, you will be missed.

Explain this

This is directed to our Republican governor, senators and representatives: How can you ladies and gentlemen ethically accept the $8.37-a-month health care plan that we, your constituents, are providing for you and then turn around and continuously deny health care coverage to the poorest of the poor in this state?

Old Boys Club alive and well

The guys still don't get it. The latest example of men behaving badly is Michael Hayden, the former CIA director. He said on Fox that Sen. Dianne Feinstein, the chair of the Intelligence Committee, was motivated by a "deep emotional feeling" when she endorsed a still-secret report that sharply criticized the agency's interrogation tactics in the aftermath of 9/11.

Cokie and Steven Roberts
OTHER VOICES

We all know the code. "Emotional" is a synonym for unbalanced and unreliable — the unmistakable words men have always used to imply that women simply cannot be trusted to perform top-level, high-pressure jobs. At least Hayden didn't say the senator was suffering from a "raging hormonal imbalance." But he came close.

Democrats, of course, saw a political opportunity and jumped on it. Fair enough. They desperately need to maximize the votes of women in congressional elections next fall, and if someone like Hayden — appointed to his post by Bush 43 — gives them an opening, they'd be crazy not to take it.

Sen. Mark Udall of Colorado, who serves with Feinstein on the Intelligence panel and faces a tough re-election fight in November, branded Hayden's words a "baseless smear."

"I highly doubt he would call a male chairman too 'emotional,' and to do so with Chairman Feinstein is unacceptable," Udall said.

He's right, of course. Hayden would never accuse a male lawmaker of harboring "deep emotional feeling" on an issue. And his unfortunate comment reveals an undeniable truth.

Yes, women have made enormous strides in acquiring power and influence in this country. But the Old Double Standard has not disappeared. The Old Boys Club is alive and well.

This is an especially important point as Hillary Clinton decides whether to run for president in 2016. If she does, she'll face the same sort of subtle sexism Feinstein encountered. And she knows it.

Appearing recently at the Women in the World Summit in New York, Clinton was asked if women still face a double standard.

"We've all either experienced it, or at the very least, seen it," she replied.

Christine Lagarde, the first woman to head the International Monetary Fund, echoed Clinton's words: "There is still that element of the glass ceiling. Whenever I see that little imperceptible smile, then I say, 'Yes, I am the lunatic woman who talks about women.'"

Nancy Pelosi, the first and only woman to serve as Speaker of the House, weighed in on CNN.

"I never expected anything but a double standard," Pelosi said. "I've had to have a very thick skin about every kind of thing that was thrown at me."

Clinton, Lagarde and Pelosi all demonstrate how much has changed for women. When Cokie's mother Lindy Boggs was first elected to Congress in 1973, only 16 women were serving in the House and none in the Senate. Today, there are 79 women in the House and 20 in the Senate.

Intelligence is one of eight Senate committees led by a female. Three women have served as Secretary of State. Three women sit on the Supreme Court. Janet Yellen recently became the first female head of the Federal Reserve.

But still. With about 18 percent of its legislative seats held by women, the U.S. ranks 83rd in the world. According to recent figures from U.N. Women, an organization that tracks gender equity, women currently serve as head of state in eight countries; in 13, as head of the government. In America, of course, the score is men 44, women 0.

Pelosi thinks two related problems help explain these dismal numbers: too much money and not enough civility. In talking with Marianne Schnall, author of a new book, "What Will It Take to Make a Woman President?" the former speaker points out that she has been the target of countless Republican attack ads over the years.

"Look, I've had $100 million spent mischaracterizing who I am," she told Schnall. "Women see that and say, 'I could never take that, I would never subject my family to any mischaracterizations about me.'"

In an interview with the New York Times, Pelosi insisted that "she really didn't care that much" about the attacks against her. "What I do care about," she added, "is that it's an obstacle to other women entering politics, because they'll say, 'Why would I do that? I have plenty of other options.'"

Those obstacles have to be overcome. We need more women in public life — "lunatic" women with "very thick skins," who won't back down when the Old Boys Clubs calls them "emotional."

LETTER to the Editor

Unite Sandy?

This letter is in response to several letters Sandy Engelman recently submitted. Apparently, she is an honest and well-meaning person, but like most liberals, she fails to see the trees as she walks through the Democrat Party's forest of facts.

According to Sandy, we must ignore our misgivings concerning Obama by willingly supporting his ACA "gift to the masses" with love and respect. That a majority of people scheduled to be insured under the ACA umbrella will be subsidized with extorted tax money must mean little. What are a few more billion dollars we do not have?

Without tort reform, desperately needed laws to control lawyers and medical costs cannot be controlled, period. An honest medical mistake is worth untold wealth to a lawyer having little interest in justice or to many so-called aggrieved victims. Hence the CYA necessary by the world's leading medical profession in recommending more and more tests.

Earlier, Sandy discussed the importance of adherence to the Geneva Convention at all cost. She castigated former President Bush and VP Dick Cheney for the use of "promoting torture" through use of enhanced interrogation to save American lives. According to her, perhaps talking politely to a terrorist asking for that information would be fruitful with enough patience. Would she recommend we threaten to cut off extra meal portions or limit his use of the prison gym if he does not respond?

I would ask Sandy the following:

If we captured a foreign terrorist known to have planted a nuclear device set to kill a large number of citizens in a major American city, and we could not coax him to divulge its location or time of detonation, should we play by Geneva Convention rules regardless of the cost in thousands of innocent lives? According to Sandy, of course. We should not use "enhanced interrogation" such as water boarding. That is not who we are. We must follow the law. What are a few thousand American lives more or less, according to her liberal philosophy.

Lastly, if an individual is elected to a major public office, and he violates the laws of his country, should everyone sheepishly agree and forgive those transgressions by bowing down to the "majestic" leader, as most liberals do now?

editorial board last week.

"We need to do a refurbish of the landfill," Thorpe said. "The citizens' drop-off center needs a facelift. It's getting nasty. But the last thing we want to do is spend money on something if they decide it's not where we need to go."

Thorpe also gave details about a proposal with Hernando County to use the services of a provider called WastAway.

"That's the Fluff proposal, where they take solid waste and turn it into a burnable product," Thorpe explained. "We have an RFP (request for proposal) that's out right now for alternative solid waste disposal."

Thorpe said it may make sense to partner with Hernando County.

"And turn garbage into Fluff," Thorpe said.

According to its website, WastAway has trademarked Fluff, "an inert, odorless and pathogen-free product that can be used in a variety of ways," keeping household garbage out of landfills or incinerators, increasing recycling, decreasing greenhouse gases and reducing environmental impact.

"Fluff can even be pelletized for use as a coal substitute for power plants which significantly reduce greenhouse gas emissions," according to the company website, www.wastaway.com.

Hernando County is interested in the Fluff product because its landfill is next to a Cemex plant that already burns the landfill's discarded vehicle tires for fuel, and potentially it could burn Fluff.

The process, it says, takes less than half an hour.

"In about 20 minutes, the hamburger wrappers and milk cartons you threw away this morning can be converted into pellets that can be used to create the electricity you use when you plug in your computer or turn on your lights."

Thorpe said WastAway is based in Tennessee, where it has a model operation.

Hernando County is interested in the Fluff product because its landfill is next to a Cemex plant that already burns the landfill's discarded vehicle tires for fuel, and potentially it could burn Fluff.

"It comes in pellets. Small pellets and big pellets," Thorpe said. "And it comes just in Fluff. They are trying to get power plants to burn it as an alternative fuel."

Thorpe said WastAway has contacted Duke Energy and Cemex and is working through the issues of emissions and retrofitting equipment.

"They mix Fluff with coal. It's not just burned on its own. It competes with wood chips," Thorpe said.

Hernando County would welcome a partnership with Citrus County for the services of WastAway.

"They need enough garbage to make it work," Thorpe said. "For us alone, it's not enough. We do about 350 tons a day and they do about 500 tons a day. They need about 800 tons a day to make it work."

Thorpe said other advantages with the production of Fluff would be adding jobs to the county and extending the use of the landfill.

Kids get codeine in ER despite risks, guidelines

Associated Press

CHICAGO — Despite recommended limits on codeine use in children, the potent painkiller is prescribed for children in at least half a million emergency room visits each year, a study suggests.

Use of the drug in that setting is hardly rampant — just 3 percent of kids' ER visits resulted in a codeine prescription in 2010, the 10-year study found. But with more than 25 million ER visits by children each year, the authors say far too many kids are getting the drug when better options are available.

ON THE NET

- American Academy of Pediatrics: www.aap.org
- FDA: http://tinyurl.com/aexykvf

THE CONCERNS

Codeine is an opiate drug, and a genetic variation makes some people metabolize it too quickly, potentially resulting in dangerous side effects including excessive sleepiness and difficulty breathing. The Food and Drug Administration issued its strictest warning last year about a rare risk for life-threatening complications or death in children given the drug after certain surgeries. It advises using codeine for children's pain only if anticipated benefits outweigh the risks.

Another genetic variation makes the drug ineffective for pain relief in as many as a third of patients.

THE FINE PRINT

Injuries and respiratory symptoms are the top reasons for children's ER visits. The study authors analyzed 2001-10 national data on ER visits for kids age 3 to 17. The authors estimated the yearly number of codeine visits ranged from almost 560,000 to 877,000. Information on any side effects was not included in the data.

The study was published online today in Pediatrics.

THE ADVICE

Children on codeine who develop breathing problems or unusual sleepiness should get immediate medical attention, the FDA says.

Teen killed when SUV hits home

PALMDALE, Calif. — A 16-year-old California girl was killed while sleeping in her bed after an alleged drunken driver crashed his SUV into her home.

The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department said 20-year-old Roberto Rodriguez of Palmdale allegedly crashed his Nissan Pathfinder into the corner of an apartment building at 3:50 a.m. Sunday.

When deputies arrived, they found the SUV embedded in the building and the girl dead inside.

Rodriguez was transported to a hospital with minor injuries and has been booked on suspicion of vehicular manslaughter.

He's being held in lieu of $100,000 bail.

Children die in accidental NY fire

NEW YORK — Authorities say 4-year-old half siblings have died in an accidental blaze caused by the children playing with fire at their New York City home.

The fire was reported before midnight Saturday in a two-story brick home in the Far Rockaway section of Queens.

A fire department spokesman didn't elaborate on how the children may have started the fire.

The two 4-year-olds, a boy and a girl, were pronounced dead at St. John's Episcopal Hospital. Police have identified the boy as Jai'Launi Tinglin and the girl as Ayini Tinglin. They shared the same father.

Ex-justice talks about retiring

WASHINGTON — John Paul Stevens said he thinks it's appropriate for Supreme Court justices to factor in political considerations when weighing a decision to retire.

"I think certainly it's natural and an appropriate thing to think about your successor," the retired justice told ABC's "This Week" in an interview aired Sunday.

Stevens was nominated by Republican President Gerald Ford. He joined the court in 1975 and retired in 2010, at 90.

Stevens was asked about speculation that 81-year-old Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg is resisting calls from some liberals to retire while Barack Obama is president and Democrats control the Senate, which must confirm nominees.

"If you're interested in the job and in the kind of work that's done, you have to have an interest in who's going to fill your shoes," Stevens said.

Stevens said his decision to step down was made out of concern about his own health, rather than any political reason.

Boston Marathon today

Associated Press

BOSTON — "I need to run."

The messages started arriving just hours after the bombings, pleading for an entry into the 2014 Boston Marathon. For months, the calls and emails continued, runners begging for an opportunity to cross the finish line on Boylston Street and convinced it would ease at least some of their grief.

"They'd say, 'I'm not a qualified runner; I don't think I ever will be. I train. I run. I could do it. But because of what happened last year, I need to run,'" Boston Athletic Association executive director Tom Grilk said last week.

"It might have been because they were present at the finish, or they knew somebody who was working or was affected."

The BAA had already expanded this year's field to include more than 5,000 runners who were stranded on the course when the two explosions killed three and wounded 264 others. A few extra invitations were sprinkled among the first-responders and the victims, or their families; others went to charities and the towns along the route; some who said they were personally touched by the tragedy were already given bibs.

Associated Press

Nancy Antos, of Boulder, Colo., displays her bib to run in today's 118th Boston Marathon after picking it up Saturday in Boston. Antos was six blocks from the finish line in last year's race, but did not finish when race officials stopped all runners after two bombs exploded near the finish line.

But organizers felt they might still be missing people, people who perhaps didn't think their trauma was worthy amid all the lost limbs and physical scars. So, in November, they announced that about 500 bibs would be available for those "personally and profoundly impacted by the events of April 15, 2013."

In 250-word essays submitted over the website, 1,199 would-be runners made their case. Almost 600 had the connection the BAA was looking for.

"The anger, guilt and heartbreak I still feel today will never go away," wrote Kate Plourd, who was in the medical tent, dehydrated and vowing never to run Boston again, when she heard the announcements: "Explosions at the finish line. Casualties. Dismemberments. Prepare yourself to treat the victims."

"Running the 2014 Boston Marathon will help me heal my mind," she said in the essay that landed her bib No. 28115.

Pope Francis waves to the crowd Sunday from the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica where he delivered the Urbi et Orbi (Latin for to the city and to the world) at the end of Easter Mass in St. Peter's Square at the Vatican.

Pope Francis celebrates Easter

Associated Press

VATICAN CITY — Marking Christianity's most hopeful day, Pope Francis made an Easter Sunday plea for peace and dialogue in Ukraine and Syria, for an end to terrorist attacks against Christians in Nigeria and for more attention to the hungry and neediest close to home.

Well over 150,000 tourists — Romans and pilgrims, young and old — turned out for the Mass that Francis celebrated at an altar set up under a canopy on the steps of St. Peter's Basilica.

So great were their numbers that they overflowed from sprawling St. Peter's Square, which was bedecked with row after row of potted daffodils, sprays of blue hyacinths and bunches of white roses. Waving flags from the pope's native Argentina as well as from Brazil, Mexico, Britain, Poland and many other countries, they also filled the broad boulevard leading from the square to the Tiber River.

Easter is the culmination of Holy Week and marks Christian belief that Jesus rose from the dead after his crucifixion.

Francis noted that this year the Catholic church's celebration of Easter coincided with that of Orthodox churches, which have many followers in Ukraine.

Francis prayed that God would "enlighten and inspire the initiatives that promote peace in Ukraine, so that all those involved, with the support of the international community, will make every effort to prevent violence."

In eastern Ukraine, the holiday was marred by a deadly shooting Sunday fueled by tensions between pro-Russian supporters in the east and those loyal to an interim government in Kiev. The clash appeared to defy an international agreement reached last week in hopes of ending months of unrest.

Francis also prayed that all sides in Syria will be moved to "boldly negotiate the peace long awaited and long overdue." Syria has been wracked by a three-year civil war that has cost 150,000 lives and forced millions to flee the country.

Christians make up about 5 percent of Syria's population. In comments to mark Easter there, the Greek Orthodox patriarch vowed that Christians there "will not submit" to extremists who attack "our people and holy places."

Francis makes a pilgrimage to Jordan, the Palestinian territories and Israel next month, so on Easter he prayed that hopes sparked by the resumption of Mideast peace negotiations will be sustained.

Thousands of pilgrims from around the world flocked to the celebrate Easter in the Holy Land, where Christian communities, as well as elsewhere in the Middle East, have been declining as the faithful flee regional turmoil.

Francis also spoke of those suffering in Africa from an epidemic of deadly Ebola and urged a halt to "brutal terrorist attacks" in parts of Nigeria.

Transcript reveals confusion over ferry evacuation

Associated Press

JINDO, South Korea — Divers continued the grim work of recovering bodies from inside a sunken South Korean ferry Monday, as a newly released transcript showed the ship was crippled by confusion and indecision well after it began listing. The transcript suggests the chaos may have added to a death toll that could eventually exceed 300.

About 30 minutes after the Sewol began tilting, a crew member asked a marine traffic controller whether passengers would be rescued if they abandoned ship off South Korea's southern coast. The crew member posed the question three times in succession.

That followed several statements from the ship that people aboard could not move and another in which someone declared that it was "impossible to broadcast" instructions.

Many people followed the captain's initial order to stay below deck, where it is feared they remain trapped. Sixty-one bodies have been recovered, and about 240 people are still missing.

"Even if it's impossible to broadcast, please go out and let the passengers wear life jackets and put on more clothing," an unidentified official at Jindo Vessel Traffic Services Center urged at 9:24 a.m. Wednesday, 29 minutes after the ferry first reported trouble, according to the transcript released by South Korea's coast guard.

"If this ferry evacuates passengers, will you be able to rescue them?" the unidentified crew member asked.

"At least make them wear life rings and make them escape!" the traffic-center official responded.

"If this ferry evacuates passengers, will they be rescued right away?" the crew member asked again.

"Don't let them go bare — at least make them wear life rings and make them escape!" the traffic official repeated. "The rescue of human lives from the Sewol ferry ... the captain should make his own decision and evacuate them. We don't know the situation very well. The captain should make the final decision and decide whether you're going to evacuate passengers or not."

"I'm not talking about that," the crew member said. "I asked, if they evacuate now, can they be rescued right away?"

The traffic official then said patrol boats would arrive in 10 minutes, though another civilian ship was already nearby and had told controllers that it would rescue anyone who went overboard.

The ferry sank with 476 people on board, many of them students from a single high school. The cause of the disaster is not yet known, but prosecutors have said the ship made a sharp turn before it began to list. Several crew members, including the captain, have been arrested on suspicion of negligence and abandoning passengers.

More than 170 people survived the sinking of the Sewol, which had been on its way from the South Korean port city of Incheon to the southern island of Jeju. The captain took more than half an hour to issue an evacuation order, which several passengers have said they never heard.

Kuchar chips in for RBC Heritage victory

Overcomes four-stroke deficit for 7th PGA win

Associated Press

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. — Matt Kuchar saw his well-struck 5-iron on the 18th hole at the RBC Heritage come up way short of the target and settle in a front bunker.

"Well," he thought as he walked toward the shot, "there are a lot worse places to be."

For Kuchar, there was no better place — and no better shot in the tournament.

He followed with a stunning chip-in on Harbour Town Golf Link's closing, lighthouse hole, to overcome a four-shot deficit for a one-stroke victory and end nearly a month of Sundays where he came close to a title only to lose at the end.

Kuchar shot a 64 to finish at 11-under 273, one stroke ahead of Luke Donald, who had his third second place and fifth top-three finish here in the past six years.

Donald's latest chance ended with Kuchar's winning chip. He hit it solid, felt it was a good line and watched it rattle home. "I heard the crowd go crazy," Kuchar said. "Then I went crazy."

Kuchar punched the air to celebrate, grabbed his cap and swung it around to the cheers of the crowd. It was Kuchar's seventh career PGA Tour victory. He earned $1.044 million and his first trophy since the Memorial last June.

It also followed a stretch of golf were Kuchar was in contention nearly every week.

He was two shots behind winner Steven Bowditch at the Texas Open on March 30, then lost a playoff at the Houston Open a week later on Matt Jones' 42-yard chip in.

ST. PETERSBURG — Dean Anna wasn't nervous during a key at-bat in extra innings. He was enjoying it.

Anna drew a bases-loaded walk on a full-count pitch with two outs in the 12th inning and Carlos Beltran followed with a two-run single as the New York Yankees beat the Tampa Bay Rays 5-1 on Sunday.

"I was having fun," Anna said. "Baseball is all about moments, and that was a moment right there."

Yangervis Solarte was walked by Heath Bell (0-1) to open the 12th. After failing twice to bunt against C.J. Riefenhauser, Brett Gardner reached on a fielder's choice and went to third on Brian McCann's two-out single. Jacoby Ellsbury was intentionally walked before Anna checked his swing to complete an eight-pitch at-bat and drive in the go-ahead run.

"Just a tremendous at-bat," Yankees manager Joe Girardi said. "Tough situation."

Beltran had his hit off Josh Leuke before Alfonso Soriano added an RBI single that made it 5-1.

Preston Claiborne (1-0) went two scoreless innings for the Yankees.

The teams split a wild four-game series. After the Yankees beat David Price and the Rays 10-2 in Thursday's opener, Tampa Bay rebounded for 11-5 and 16-1 victories Friday and Saturday.

'Hurricane' Carter dies at 76

Associated Press

Rubin "Hurricane" Carter, the boxer whose wrongful murder conviction became an international symbol of racial injustice, died Sunday. He was 76.

Rubin "Hurricane" Carter

He had been stricken with prostate cancer in Toronto, the New Jersey native's adopted home. John Artis, a longtime friend and caregiver, told The Canadian Press that Carter died in his sleep.

Carter spent 19 years in prison for three murders at a tavern in Paterson, N.J., in 1966. He was convicted alongside Artis in 1967 and again in a new trial in 1976.

Carter was freed in November 1985 when his convictions were set aside after years of appeals and public advocacy. His ordeal and the alleged racial motivations behind it were publicized in Bob Dylan's 1975 song "Hurricane," several books and a 1999 film starring Denzel Washington, who received an Academy Award nomination for playing the boxer turned prisoner.

Carter's murder convictions abruptly ended the boxing career of a former petty criminal who became an undersized middleweight contender largely on ferocity and punching power.

Although never a world champion, Carter went 27-12-1 with 19 knockouts, memorably stopping two-division champ Emile Griffith in the first round in 1963. He also fought for a middleweight title in 1964, losing a unanimous decision to Joey Giardello.

In June 1966, three white people were shot by two black men at the Lafayette Bar and Grill in Paterson. Carter and Artis were convicted by an all-white jury largely on the testimony of two thieves who later recanted their stories.

Carter was granted a new trial and briefly freed in 1976, but sent back for nine more years after being convicted in a second trial.

"I wouldn't give up," Carter said in an interview on PBS in 2011. "No matter that they sentenced me to three life terms in prison. I wouldn't give up. Just because a jury of 12 misinformed people ... found me guilty did not make me guilty. And because I was not guilty, I refused to act like a guilty person."

On Sunday, when told of Carter's death, Washington said in a statement: "God bless Rubin Carter and his tireless fight to ensure justice for all."

Lightning lose again, Montreal takes 3-0 lead

MONTREAL — Tomas Plekanec scored at 5:43 of the third period, and Carey Price made 27 saves to give the Montreal Canadiens a 3-2 win over the Tampa Bay Lightning and a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven playoff series on Sunday.

Rene Bourque scored 11 seconds into the game, and Brendan Gallagher broke a 1-1 tie 18:10 into the second period. P.K. Subban had two assists for the Canadiens.

Ondrej Palat scored a power-play goal for the Lightning to tie the game at 1-1 at 8:39 of the second period, and Matthew Carle scored 11:36 into the third to give the Lightning hope for a comeback. Steven Stamkos assisted on both goals.

Tampa Bay had a goal waived off in the second period after referees ruled goaltender interference on Alex Killorn.

Stamkos left the game in the second period after taking a knee to the back of the head, but the Lightning captain returned to the ice early in the third.

NEW YORK — Slumping newcomer Curtis Granderson hit a sacrifice fly in the 14th inning and the New York Mets outlasted the Atlanta Braves 4-3 on Sunday to prevent a three-game sweep.

David Wright had four hits and New York took advantage of three early errors by Atlanta, which had won seven of eight.

Kirk Nieuwenhuis drew a leadoff walk from Gus Schlosser (0-1) and advanced on Ruben Tejada's sacrifice bunt. Eric Young Jr. was intentionally walked to bring up Granderson, hitless in his last 16 at-bats and stuck in a 4-for-44 slide.

The runners moved up on a wild pitch, and Granderson lifted the next delivery into medium left field. Nieuwenhuis slid home ahead of Justin Upton's throw, and the Mets mobbed Granderson near first base.

Josh Outman (3-0) recorded the final out of the sixth and Cleveland's bullpen pitched 3 1/3 innings of relief.

Tigers 2, Angels 1

DETROIT — Rick Porcello pitched seven sharp innings, and the Detroit Tigers took advantage of four Los Angeles errors in a 2-1 victory over the Angels.

Porcello (2-1) allowed a run and five hits, striking out four and walking one. Three relievers finished, with Joe Nathan pitching the ninth for his third save in five chances.

Hector Santiago (0-3) allowed two unearned runs and two hits in 5 2/3 innings.

Twins 8, Royals 3

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Phil Hughes ended a personal losing streak that dated to last July, pitching into the seventh inning and helping the Twins top the Kansas City Royals 8-3 to avoid a three-game sweep.

Hughes (1-1), who signed a $24 million, three-year deal in December, allowed an RBI single to Omar Infante in the fifth and a two-run homer to Alcides Escobar in the seventh while winning for the first time in 17 appearances.

White Sox 16, Rangers 2

ARLINGTON, Texas — Jose Abreu and Jordan Danks each had two-run homers, Erik Johnson combined with three relievers on a two-hitter and the Chicago White Sox snapped a four-game losing streak with a 16-2 victory over the Texas Rangers, who had won five in a row.

The White Sox went ahead to stay with three unearned runs off Robbie Ross (1-1) in the fifth, including Abreu's fifth homer of the season for a 5-2 lead.

Johnson (1-1) allowed two runs and only a single over his five innings.

Athletics 4, Astros 1

OAKLAND, Calif. — Josh Donaldson homered and doubled twice to back another solid start by Jesse Chavez, and the Oakland Athletics beat the Houston Astros 4-1 to complete a series sweep.

Chavez (1-0) allowed four hits over six innings and retired seven of the final eight batters he faced after giving up a solo home run to Marwin Gonzalez in the fourth.

National League
Nationals 3 Cardinals 2

WASHINGTON — Denard Span hit a sacrifice fly in the ninth inning and the Washington Nationals rallied past the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

The Nationals loaded the bases in the ninth against Seth Maness (0-1) when Danny Espinosa singled with one out for his third hit, Jose Lobaton singled through the right side of the infield and pinch hitter Nate McLouth walked.

Brewers 3, Pirates 2, 14 inn.

PITTSBURGH — Khris Davis delivered the biggest hit in a game interrupted by a punch-filled brawl, homering in the 14th inning to lift the Milwaukee Brewers over the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Brewers center fielder Carlos Gomez, Pirates outfielder Travis Snider and Milwaukee bench coach Jerry Narron were ejected after the third-inning fracas.

The problems started when Gomez paused at the plate and flipped his bat after hitting a two-out triple.

Reds 8, Cubs 2

CHICAGO — Homer Bailey pitched six scoreless innings for his first win of the season and Jay Bruce homered and doubled as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Chicago Cubs 8-2.

Zack Cozart hit a two-run homer for Cincinnati, which took two of three this weekend from the Cubs and has won 17 of its last 19 games at Wrigley Field.

Bailey (1-1) struck out eight while allowing six hits and three walks.

Giants 4, Padres 3

SAN DIEGO — Buster Posey hit a two-run home run and Tim Lincecum earned his first victory of the season for the San Francisco Giants, who had only three hits in beating San Diego 4-3 to snap a three-game losing streak.

Lincecum (1-1) was chased by Nick Hundley's first homer of the season, on the first pitch of the seventh inning that pulled the Padres to 4-3.

Dodgers 4, Diamondbacks 1

LOS ANGELES — Yasiel Puig hit a three-run homer and threw out a runner at second base, leading the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Arizona Diamondbacks 4-1.

Dodgers starter Josh Beckett pitched five innings of one-hit ball, striking out seven and walking two.

Jamey Wright (1-0) got three outs for his 93rd career victory, spread over 19 big league seasons and 10 different clubs.

Phillies 10, Rockies 9

DENVER — Jimmy Rollins homered early, then hit a go-ahead single in the eighth inning that sent the Philadelphia Phillies past the Colorado Rockies 10-9.

Ryan Howard added four hits, including a homer and triple while driving in three runs.

Interleague
Marlins 3, Mariners 2

MIAMI — Adeiny Hechavarria hit a go-ahead sacrifice fly in the eighth inning after an instant replay went in Miami's favor and the Marlins beat the Seattle Mariners 3-2 to complete a three-game sweep.

Mike Dunn (1-2) picked up the win in relief and Steve Cishek pitched the ninth for his third save of the season and 32nd in a row.

Tom Wilhelmsen (0-1) took the loss for the Mariners, who dropped their sixth straight.

In the bottom of the eighth, Christian Yelich was ruled safe at home after plate umpire Ed Hickox initially ruled him out on a force play.

Late charge leads Heat past Bobcats

Spurs avoid Dallas upset bid in opener

Associated Press

MIAMI — LeBron James scored 27 points, Dwyane Wade added 23 and the Miami Heat used a late charge to beat the Charlotte Bobcats 99-88 on Sunday in Game 1 of their Eastern Conference first-round series.

Chris Bosh scored 13 points and James Jones had 12 for the Heat. Game 2 of the best-of-seven series is Wednesday.

Kemba Walker scored 20 points for the Bobcats, who led by nine early and led again in the third. Al Jefferson missed eight of his final 13 shots after getting hurt in the first quarter. He finished with 18 points and 10 rebounds for the Bobcats, who got 17 from Gary Neal and 15 from Josh McRoberts.

Miami sealed it with an 18-4 run in the fourth, all but three of those points coming with James getting a rest.

Spurs 90, Mavericks 85

SAN ANTONIO — Tim Duncan scored 27 points, and the San Antonio Spurs held the Dallas Mavericks to one field goal in the final seven minutes to rally for a 90-85 victory in Game 1 of their first-round playoff series.

The Mavericks also went scoreless for 5 1/2 minutes during that stretch, their lone field goal coming as time expired.

Tony Parker had 21 points, and Manu Ginobili added 17. Kawhi Leonard had 11 points and 10 rebounds and Tiago Splitter pulled down 11 rebounds for top-seeded San Antonio, which has won 10 straight against Dallas.

Devin Harris scored 19 points for the Mavericks, which nearly pulled off a huge upset.

Wizards 103, Bulls 92

CHICAGO — Nene dominated with 24 points, Trevor Ariza scored 18, and the Washington Wizards rallied from 13 down to beat the Chicago Bulls 102-93 in their playoff opener.

John Wall scored 16 in his postseason debut. Marcin Gortat added 15 points and 13 rebounds, and the fifth-seeded Wizards pulled out the victory even though they looked like they were ready to be blown out.

They cut a 13-point deficit to one in the third and trailed by three going into the fourth, before outscoring Chicago 18-6 over the final six minutes to come out on top in their first playoff appearance since 2008.

Game 2 is Tuesday.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Wawrinka tops Federer to win Monte Carlo Masters

MONACO — Stanislas Wawrinka won the Monte Carlo Masters for the first time after rallying to beat Roger Federer 4-6, 7-6 (5), 6-2 in an all-Swiss final on Sunday.

The Australian Open champion had lost his previous two Masters finals and looked like losing a third until Federer's level dropped suddenly late in the second set, and Wawrinka began troubling the 17-time Grand Slam champion with his aggressive backhand.

Wawrinka has beaten Federer only twice in 15 matches but both victories have come here. He also beat him in the third round in 2009.

Hamilton wins third F1 race at Chinese GP

SHANGHAI — Mercedes driver Lewis Hamilton captured his third straight Formula One race with ease on Sunday, leading from start to finish to win the Chinese Grand Prix.

Mercedes showed again that it's in a different class from its rivals, with Hamilton's teammate Nico Rosberg taking second place — the third time in four races this season the pair have finished one-two.

Ferrari's Fernando Alonso held on for third place to get his team's first podium finish of the year.

Red Bull's Daniel Ricciardo was fourth, while his teammate, defending world champion Sebastian Vettel, slumped to fifth.

Florida's Sloan wins third title at NCAA gymnastics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Arkansas' Katherine Grable won two national titles and Florida's Bridget Sloan captured the third of her career at the NCAA women's gymnastics championships.

Grable won the floor exercise with a 9.9625 and tied with LSU's Rheagan Courville for first on the vault in Sunday's individual competition.

It's the second straight year Courville has shared the vault title. Both scored 9.975s.

A 2008 Olympian, Sloan won the uneven parallel bars with a score of 9.9375. She won the all-around and balance beam titles last year and had helped the Gators win a share of their second straight championship on Saturday night.

Co-champion Oklahoma tied the Gators again with one title. Taylor Spears won the balance beam at 9.925.

RAYS

challenged the call and after a 2 minute, 4 second delay the umpires changed the close call to out.

"I'm taking a chance to get a run there," Girardi said. "Ich probably had a better chance of stealing a base. It's a hard decision, but some of the inexperience I have in my bullpen, I went for it that inning."

New York took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Gardner was given an RBI double after a challenge by Girardi. The umpires first ruled that Rays right fielder Wil Myers had caught Gardner's drive at the wall for the third out. The call was overturned following a 2:17 delay after replays clearly showed Myers caught the ball after it hit off the top of the wall.

Gardner thought an inside-the-park homer might have been in order, but still was happy that replay was used.

"If we don't have it, it would be a flyball," Gardner said.

Soriano, who opened the fourth with a double, was on third and was awarded home on the overturned decision.

Tampa Bay tied it at 1 on pinch-hitter Matt Joyce's two-out sacrifice fly in the seventh. The Rays capitalized after second baseman Brian Roberts dropped a throw on a force play earlier in the inning.

"We've been swinging the bats so well and today we were just minus," Maddon said. "There's really no solid explanation. I can't stand here and say the Yankees pitched great. We just did not have a good offensive day."

New York starter Vidal Nuno, in the mix to take the spot of injured starter Ivan Nova, allowed three hits over five shutout innings. The Yankees put Nova, who was hurt in Saturday's game, on the 15-day disabled list with a partial ulnar collateral ligament tear in his right elbow that could require surgery.

Cesar Ramos, who replaced the injured Matt Moore in the Rays' rotation, gave up one run and four hits in five innings. Moore is scheduled to have elbow ligament replacement surgery Tuesday.

Bridge

PHILLIP ALDER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Harry Vardon, a top English golfer who died in 1937, said, "More matches are lost through carelessness at the beginning than by any other cause."

More bridge contracts are lost through carelessness early in the play than by any other cause.

So, do not mess up early in today's deal. South is in four hearts. West leads the spade eight. East wins with his ace and returns the spade four. How should South proceed?

The South hand is definitely worth a one-heart opening. The North hand would have been a perfect game-forcing two-no-trump response in the days of yore, but this modern pair was using the Jacoby Forcing Raise, showing four-card or better heart support. Some pairs would respond three no-trump to show a balanced 13-15 without four hearts, but I like this to promise 3-3-3-4 or 3-3-4-3 distribution and a soft, no-trumpy hand.

An impulsive declarer would take the second trick on the board and run the heart jack (the percentage play for only one loser). But West would win with his queen and give his partner a spade ruff. Then the heart ace would defeat the contract.

Harry Vardon, if he had been a bridge player, would have realized that this was the one risk to the contract. And the way to keep the ball in play, not flying out of bounds, is first to cash dummy's two top diamonds and discard declarer's remaining spade. Then there is no risk of an opposing spade ruff and South can play on trumps, here losing one spade and two hearts.

Always pause to consider potential dangers.

ANNIE'S MAILBOX

Dear Annie: As a witness to a friend's marriage, I vowed to help keep their relationship strong. Would you please print something I could give them about verbal abuse?

His wife has a serious drinking problem, and when she's had too much, she goes berserk, screaming hateful things to her husband in front of others. It's horrific.

I can't tell whether it's only the alcohol talking or whether she has deep-seated issues. I realize there will be no change until she admits she has a problem.

They do sporadically see a therapist, but it doesn't seem to be helping much. Is there anything I can do to spur her on? — Feeling Helpless

Dear Helpless: The signs of verbal abuse include: a spouse who calls you names; who is critical, sarcastic or mocking in an effort to humiliate or embarrass you; who yells or swears at you; who uses threats to intimidate you; who blames you for his or her behavior; who dismisses your feelings.

However, it sounds as if the verbal abuse is triggered by the alcohol, so that should be the first problem to work on. Otherwise, it may be too difficult for her to control her behavior when she's drinking.

You cannot do this for her, nor can you make it better for him. However, both you and your friend can look for a meeting of Al-Anon (al-anon-alateen.org). Also, please encourage him to see the therapist more regularly. They both need ongoing guidance. It will be hard work.

Dear Annie: I've been going out with "Bill" for six months. He is 65. The problem is, whenever we go out, he constantly looks at younger women. This makes me very insecure. I also think it is disrespectful. How can I get him to stop? — Not Happy

Dear Not: Is he glancing or ogling? You cannot expect Bill not to notice an attractive woman, whatever her age. If these looks are mere brief glances, we'd leave such behavior alone. It doesn't mean anything, and you shouldn't overreact.

However, if Bill is staring, ogling, flirting, spinning his head around to get a better look or comparing her to you, this is unfair and disrespectful. You should let him know that it hurts you when he seems more interested in another woman than in you, and you'd appreciate it if he would try to control such behavior.

His reaction will let you know whether you have a serious problem or not.

Dear Annie: I read the letter from "At My Wits' End." I, too, was in an abusive marriage for 16 years. He berated me, telling me I was no good and couldn't do anything right. I was not allowed to shop for groceries because only he knew what we needed. Every four years, he bought a new car, but when I totaled mine, he said we couldn't afford to replace it. He told me my own family hated me. I no longer had any friends because no one could stand him.

Two months ago, he made a big mistake. He hit me.

Once he crossed that line, I realized he had to go. It took me a long time, but I finally found the courage to throw him out.

He left my house a week ago and took most of the furniture, but I can't believe how happy I am. I am no longer afraid of his reaction to everything I do.

I've rediscovered my friends and found out that my family members never hated me.

I'm 72 now, and my children are looking after my needs without my having to ask. They are proud of me for finally getting smart and saying "enough."

I hope "At My Wits' End" takes your advice and gets out, because she'll feel so much better. She'll come alive again. — Finally Saw the Light in Pittsburgh, PA week ago, having a share of the lead on Sunday before a four-putt double bogey at the fourth hole dropped him from contention.

KUCHAR

Kuchar, at No. 6 in the world the highest-ranked golfer here, could've taken a break like other top competitors, but hoped the momentum would carry into Harbour Town.

"It's awfully sweet to have another chance," Kuchar said.

Kuchar made up the four shots on Donald with seven birdies in his first 10 holes. Then nearly gave away another tournament when he three-putted from less than eight feet away at the par-3 17th, a bogey that dropped him into a tie for the top spot — and set up the dramatic 72nd hole.

"I was in a little bit of shock," Kuchar said. "But I think I did a good job of shaking things off."

Donald had two holes to catch Kuchar after the chip but couldn't do it. He missed a 28-foot birdie putt at the 17th hole, then saw his own try at a chip-in birdie slide past the cup.

"Finishing second isn't what I was hoping for," he said. "Disappointed, obviously, not to have won. Usually a solid 69 on a windy day with a two-shot lead is enough to get it done on Sundays. It's tough to win out here and hats off to Matt for a superb round."

Donald was at 10-under 274 after his 69.

Ben Martin, who turned pro in 2010, shot 67 to finish tied for third at 9 under with John Huh, who shot 68.

Jimenez closes with 67 to win Greater Gwinnett

DULUTH, Ga. — Miguel Angel Jimenez held off Bernhard Langer to win the Greater Gwinnett Championship, becoming only the third player to lead from start to finish in his Champions Tour debut.

Jimenez, coming off a fourth-place finish in the Masters, closed with a 67 to finish two strokes ahead of Langer. Jimenez finished the tournament with 32 consecutive holes without a bogey at TPC Sugarloaf.

Langer, the defending champion, shot his third-straight 68. Jimenez and Langer were tied at 10 under before a two-shot swing on No. 8. Jimenez needed only a short putt for a birdie, and Langer fell two strokes behind with his bogey.

Jay Haas shot 67 and was third, four shots off the lead. Fred Couples shot 70 and was fourth.

Westwood wins Malaysian Open

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — Lee Westwood ended a two-year winless drought with a seven-shot victory at the Malaysian Open.

After a four-hour delay due to the threat of lightning in the middle of the final round, Westwood went on to shoot a 4-under par 68 to complete an 18 under 270 at the Kuala Lumpur Country Club course for his 36th career victory.

Westwood led from start to finish in the co-sanctioned European and Asian Tour event that he also won in 1997.

South Africa's Louis Oosthuizen (68), the 2012 champion, along with Belgium's Nicolas Colsaerts (70) and Austria's Bernd Wiesberger (67) shared second place on 11-under par.

Wie shoots 67, wins LPGA LOTTE Championship

KAPOLEI, Hawaii — Michelle Wie rallied from four strokes back entering the day to shoot a 5-under 67 on Saturday and win the LPGA LOTTE Championship.

The 24-year-old American finished at 14-under 274 after coming into the final round trailing third-round leader Angela Stanford by four shots after Friday's play. It was Wie's third career victory on the LPGA Tour, and first since taking the CN Canadian Women's Open in 2010 — snapping a 79-event winless drought.

Stanford had her worst round of the tournament, shooting a 1-over 73 that put her at 12-under 276 and two shots behind Wie. Top-ranked Inbee Park finished third with an 11-under 277.

NHL PLAYOFFS

Flyers 4, Rangers 2

NEW YORK — Luke Schenn scored the go-ahead goal in the second period, and backup Ray Emery made 31 saves for the Philadelphia Flyers, who rallied to beat the New York Rangers 4-2 on Sunday to even the first-round playoff series.

Schenn put Philadelphia in front after Game 1 goat Jason Akeson tied it 2-2 earlier in the period. That was enough for the Flyers to snap a nine-game losing streak at Madison Square Garden and send the series to Philadelphia tied at 1.

Game 3 is Tuesday night.

Jakub Voracek brought the Flyers within 2-1 in the first after Martin St. Louis and Benoit Pouliot staked New York to the early two-goal lead. Emery did the rest, looking especially sharp in the second and third periods while subbing for injured No. 1 goalie Steve Mason.

Bruins 4, Red Wings 1

BOSTON — Justin Florek and Reilly Smith scored in a three-minute span in the first period and the Boston Bruins evened their playoff series with a 4-1 win over the Detroit Red Wings in Game 2.

Showing more spark after not taking enough challenging shots on goal in their 1-0 loss Friday night, the Bruins had 18 shots in the first period after managing just 25 in the entire opener.

Luke Glendening cut Boston's lead to 2-1 at 13:20 of the second period before Milan Lucic scored late in the second and Zdeno Chara added a power-play goal early in the third.

Game 3 of the best-of-seven series between the top-seeded Bruins, who won the Presidents' Cup with an NHL-high 117 points, and eighth-seeded Red Wings is set for Detroit on Tuesday night.
