New plaza offers old ambiance

CBC Plants nursery worker Fortino Garcia cuts irrigation hose Thursday morning outside of Stagecoach Square in Floral City. The westernstyle plaza is located along U.S. 41.

Pudgee's relocates to storefront in Floral City

Staff writer

For almost 17 years, Pudgee's All American Hot Dogs has been a roadside landmark in Floral City.

But early next year, Pudgee (alias John Sterling) is moving indoors to an expansive new retail unit in the under-construction Stagecoach Square, located on South Florida Avenue/U.S. 41.

Pudgee's won't be alone in the six-unit plaza. Mike Wilburn will open his engineering office in one of the units. And one office will be dedicated to the management of the 135-unit storage facility being built behind the plaza.

The driving force behind Stagecoach Square is Wilburn, a Floral City native who cares passionately about his community. Wilburn is the owner, developer and engineer of the plaza and said he is trying to differentiate his place from all the rest of the strip plazas in the county.

When finished, Stagecoach Square will resemble Old Florida, complete with rough-sawn cypress from a local mill. The facade looks like something one would have seen back when Floral City was thriving in its phosphate-mining boom years of the early 20th century.

The western look was intentional.

"I wanted it to look like it's been here for 100 years and to fit in with the history of Floral City," Wilburn said.

Clint Collins, owner of CBC Plants in Floral City, said if the number of passersby stopping in to inquire is any indication, Stagecoach Square should be a success.

Most of those onlookers are asking about Pudgee's, Collins said.

Good Samaritans work to help fire victim

Where does one go to rebuild their life?

Sometimes it starts with tearing down the past, which is what some community activists did on Monday at Jackie Reed's home.

Just three weeks ago, Reed, 68, awoke to her 5-pound Chihuahua, Binky, alerting her to a fire. The house fire took nearly everything — including her dog.

For 15 years, Reed — who spent her childhood in 22 different foster homes and suffered other personal hardships found peace and stability that had eluded her much of her life. She'd planned to enjoy the tranquility she'd found in her Lecanto home through her retirement years. However, the fire tore apart those plans, leaving her heartbroken.

If it hadn't been for her dog alerting her to the blaze, she could have perished.

When word spread through the community about the tragedy, concerned citizens and business interests went into action. Citrus County Sheriff's Sgt. Cregg Dalton rallied those individuals to clear the property of the burnt home.

This project is not just about demolishing the burned, charred remains of a house, Dalton said on Monday as demolition work took place. "This goes beyond that to possibly dreaming big and getting her a new home.'

Dalton said when he is not fighting crime he enjoys helping people like Reed, who have no one to go to and no idea where to start.

Jackie Reed, right, sorts through personal effects, including photos and legal documents Monday morning in the front yard of her fire-ravaged Lecanto home. The fire occurred on Dec. 3 and very few items could be salvaged. Close friend Sandy Higgins, left, sits with her.

Local woman convicted of fraud

Feds claim former mail carrier lied about injury to recieve workers' comp

BUSTER THOMPSON Staff writer

A federal jury convicted a Citrus County woman and former local mail carrier of fraudulently collecting workers' compensation from the federal government and lying about her

Following a four-day trial the week of Dec. 11 at the U.S. District Courthouse in Orlando, jurors on Friday found Susan J. Gissy guilty of theft of government funds and two counts of making false statements to obtain federal employees' compensation, according to court records.

Gissy, 54, of Crystal River, faces up to 10 years in federal prison on her theft charge and up to five years on each of her concealment charges, according to a news

Office.

Her sentencing hearing is scheduled for March 5, 2018.

Evidence at trial showed Gissy was employed as a mail carrier for the Crystal River Post Office, where she'd worked since 1986, according to the release and a Attorney's Office spokeswoman.

Gissy filed a disability claim in 2011 for federal workers' compensation in connection to a work-related lower-back injury, which she said "limited both her daily activities and lifestyle," court documents state.

Because of how she misrepresented her injury to her treating physicians, Gissy received a permanent disability impairment rating in 2014.

She was arrested in December 2016, the same month a federal grand jury first indicted Gissy. An indictment was filed in June.

Federal agents with the United States Postal Service (USPS) Office of the Inspector General began to suspect Gissy was wrongfully collecting workers' comp in 2016, when she filled out a marketing survey that was part of an undercover investigation into potential fraud in the payment of disability benefits.

In the fictitious survey, Gissy responded she shops five times a week, goes boating, cycling, dancing, lifts weights and travels to the Caribbean for pleasure, "staying 11 or more nights."

Longtime Crystal River High School teacher Marlon Felton resigned Friday after a school district investigation into allegations that she attempted to have a student's grades changed so he could play football.

The investigation resulted in a recommendation for termination of her employment. Students must have a grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 or above to play on school sports teams.

Sending sex images nets man 9 years

Circuit Court Judge Richard "Ric" Howard sentenced 32-year-old Richard Holden to nine years for Holden's charges of unlawfully using a two-way communi-

Howard also designated Holden a sexual offender. Agreeing to have Howard sentence him prior to trial, Holden pleaded no contest on Oct. 6 in an open plea.

Splitting Holden's sentencing into two hearings to give Holden's attorney more time to review additional documents, Howard heard from several people involved in Holden's case, including Holden's victim, earlier in November. Authorities found evidence of Holden sending illicit images from his cellphone to a teenage girl, now 16, between January 2013 and June

Board promises crackdown on code violations

INVERNESS — Citrus County commissioners are as tired of hearing about code enforcement issues as their constituents are tired experiencing them.

Commissioners gave unanimous tentative backing on Tuesday to a set of improvements designed to encourage compliance for code issues, such as having junkyard conditions, dilapidated structures or illegal dumping.

will give code officers the ability to seek compliance on a case-by-case basis.

what commissioners agree is an form of an ordinance vote, extreme measure to address those who refuse to cooperate.

In cases where the county is forced to correct the problem itself, such as mowing an overgrown lawn or removing a rundown structure, it will place the cost of the work on the property owner's tax bill.

Commissioner Jeff Kinnard said serious code offenders don't care about fines, as is evidenced by the $9.5 million in uncollected fines, or threats of

■ Purchase a "groundhog" motion-sensor surveillance camera to catch illegal dumping violators.

County Attorney Denise Dymond Lyn cautioned that the board could face legal issues by establishing an MSBU on someone's property to pay for the cost of compliance. She said an MSBU is to pay for "special benefit" to a property owner.

"It might be challenged at some point," she said. The county responds to about 1,900 code complaints a year. The vast majority — 94 percent — end when property owners correct violations. Kinnard said the goal is com-

Report: Senator likely touched woman inappropriately

TALLAHASSEE — A Florida Senate investigation into Sen. Jack Latvala finds a complaint he inappropriately touched a woman on several occasions is likely true.

The report released Tuesday also includes several other witness accounts of sexual misconduct by Latvala, a Republican who is also running for governor.

The former federal judge who conducted the investigation for the Senate recommended Latvala be sanctioned. The report will now be taken up by the Senate Rules Committee on Jan. 11.

The complaint was filed by Rachel Perrin Rogers, a top aide to Senate Majority Leader Wilton Simpson. She said Latvala inappropriately touched her in an elevator, at a private club and other occasions.

Latvala has said he has been known to tell some women they look "hot" but that he's never touched anyone against their will.

The phenomenon of growing new brain cells is known medically as neurogenesis. American scientists believed it was impossible to experience after a certain age. It may now be achieved at any age with Lipogen PS Plus.

"With daily Lipogen PS Plus will help replenish your natural brain's "building blocks" and develop healthy which cells, restore functions, memory enhance cognition, and prevent further mental decline" explains David Rutenburg, President of the parent company behind the Lipogen pill.

"This is what the clinical studies have shown and is why so many U.S. doctors are now recommending it to patients," he added.

WHY SO MUCH EXCITEMENT?

Since hitting the US market, sales for Lipogen PS Plus have soared and there are some very good reasons why.

To begin with, the clinical studies have heen impressive. Participants taking the active ingredient Lipogen PS Plus saw a 44% improvement in mental function. They also enjoyed a stronger memory, better recall, and were notably more upbeat and happy.

Lipogen's active ingredient is made of a natural compound. It is both safe and healthy. There are also no known side effects and it can be taken safely alongside any other medications.

Scientists believe that it helps to stimulate the growth of new brain cells in the hippocampus. The hippocampus is the part of the brain that's responsible for forming and storing long and short term memories.

Research has shown that as we get older, brain cells in this area of the brain become dysfunctional. This is what causes lapses concentration, forgetfulness, and mental decline and why Lipogen PS Plus seems to be so effective.

"I no longer have the memory lapses I experienced before, and my recall and focus are once again effortless!" says Raymond H of Oregon.

IMPRESSIVE CLINICAL RESULTS

Groundbreaking research published by major health organizations,

In a double-blinded study, 149 men and women associated memory loss took the key ingredient in Lipogen PS Plus for a duration of three months. They were instructed to take it every morning without making changes to their current diet or lifestyle.

significantly.

The results were stunning. participants who took the pill as directed reversed their mental age by nearly 12 years according to researchers conducting the study.

They were also able remember names, faces, and recall events faster and with great clarity.

subsequent study conducted in Italy produced similarity outstanding results, where users experienced a 44% improvement in mental function in just 90 days.

With results like these, it's easy to see why sales of Lipogen PS Plus are booming.

HOW IT WORKS

Lipogen PS Plus is a memory pill that is taken just once daily. It does not require a prescription.

The active ingredient is a compound known phosphatidylserine. Lipogen PS Plus contains phosphatidylserine in a clinical dose, which is why it's so effective.

Research has shown that as we get older, brain cells become dysfunctional especially in an area of the brain called the hippocampus. The hippocampus is where long and short memories stored. If brain cells in this region fail, so does your memory.

Some people experience this is the form of lapses in concentration, forgetfulness, the inability to recall important dates, names, and facts.

This would explain why so many users are experiencing impressive results so quickly.

"After about two or three weeks of taking the recommended dose, I noticed that I was remembering things, regardless of the degree of importance. Also, I noticed I was more alert and able to concentrate.

Virginia

"I am a 51 year-old woman taking your formula for about two months. I recognize a distinct difference is my memory and mental acuity. My mind is razor sharp!" -Linda H., Flowery Branch, GA '

REDUCES STRESS AND ANXIETY

Published, clinical reports show daily dosing with phosphatidylserine not only helps sharpens your mind but also helps "perk you up" and put you in a better mood.

PS helps to manage everyday stress and elevate your mood by lowering your body's production of the hormone cortisol. When cortisol levels are too high for too long you experience fatigue, bad moods and weakness.

This drug-free brainboosting formula enters your bloodstream fast (in as little as thirty minutes).

Officially reviewed the FDA, phosphatidylserine nonprescription ingredient that has a qualified health claim both cognitive dysfunction dementia.

Scientists tune into brain to uncover music's healing power

Program seeks to explore music's effect on health

LAURAN NEERGAARD AP Medical writer

WASHINGTON — Like a friendly Pied Piper, the violinist keeps up a toe-tapping beat as dancers weave through busy hospital hallways and into the chemotherapy unit, patients looking up in surprised delight. Upstairs, a cellist strums an Irish tune for a patient in intensive care.

Music increasingly is becoming a part of patient care — although it's still pretty unusual to see roving performers captivatversity Hospital.

"It takes them away for is beginning to fund. just a few minutes to some other place where they don't have to think about what's going on," said cellist Martha Vance after playing for a patient isolated to avoid infection.

The challenge: Harnessing music to do more than comfort the sick. Now, moving beyond programs like Georgetown's, the National Institutes of Health is bringing together musicians, music therapists and neuroscientists to tap into the brain's circuitry and figure out how.

"The brain is able to compensate for other deficits sometimes by using music to communicate," said NIH Director Dr. Francis Collins, a geneticist who also plays a mean guitar.

To turn that ability into a successful therapy, "it would be a really good thing to know which parts of the brain are still intact to be called into action. To know the cir-

With senior centers increasingly touting arts programs, "having a deeper understanding of how these things are affecting our biology can help us understand how to leverage resources already in our community," noted Wake Forest lead researcher Christina Hugenschmidt.

Unlike music therapy, which works one-on-one toward individual outcomes, the arts and humanities program at Georgetown lets musicians-in-residence play throughout the hospital. Palliative care nurses often seek Vance, the cellist, for patients anxious or in pain. Sometimes she plays for the dying, choosing a gently arrhythmic background.

Julia Langley, who directs Georgetown's program, wants research into the type and dose of music for different health situations: "If we can study arts connections begin to falter. in the same way that science studies medication and other therapeutics, I several brain regions will randomly assign such think we will be doing so the much good."

Tech stock retreat pulls market down

NEW YORK — U.S. stocks declined Tuesday as big technology companies and smaller firms gave up some of their recent gains. Stocks hit record highs over the previous two days as the Republican-backed tax bill made its way through Congress.

Smaller companies in particular have surged because investors feel they will be major beneficiaries of lower corporate tax rates. High-dividend stocks dropped as bond yields rose.

Investors like the proposed tax cut because it would boost corporate profits and likely raise stock prices along with it. The bill would initially cut taxes for most Americans but by 2027 would increase tax bills for most.

While stocks weren't doing much Tuesday, bond prices fell. The yield on the 10-year Treasury note rose to its highest price in more than a month, to 2.45 percent from 2.39 percent late Monday.

Invesco Global Market Strategist Kristina Hooper said two factors are sending bond yields higher: investors are selling bonds to buy stocks as the tax bill appears likely to pass, and they also feel the bill may contribute to inflation.

'There's this expectation that we'll see companies save money on taxes, to put it simply, and spend more in other areas," she said. Investors think "it's smaller-company stocks

The tax bill passed through the House, largely along party lines ahead of a Senate vote scheduled for Tuesday night. The $1.5 trillion package would cut the corporate tax rate to 21 percent from 35 percent, and would slash taxes for the wealthy, with smaller cuts for middle-andlow-income families.

After the close of trading, House Republican leaders said they will have to hold another vote on the bill Wednesday because a few provisions violate Senate rules.

The Standard & Poor's 500 index lost 8.69 points, or 0.3 percent, to 2,681.47. The Dow Jones industrial average shed 37.45 points, or 0.2 percent, to 24,754.75. The Nasdaq composite gave up 30.91 points, or 0.4 percent, to 6,963.85. The Russell 2000 index of Apple fell $1.88, or 1.1 percent, to $174.54 after it closed at a new high on Monday. Visa lost $1.41, or 1.2 percent, to $112.14.

Investors also traded on corporate news. Offshore drilling platform maker McDermott International said it will acquire engineering, procurement and construction services company Chicago Bridge & Iron. The companies valued the deal at $6 billion. McDermott fell 90 cents, or 11.9 percent, to $6.69 and CB&I lost $1.91, or 10.7 percent, to $16.01.

Medical device maker Zimmer Biomet climbed after it named Bryan Hanson to be its new CEO. Hanson most recently led at Medtronic's minimally invasive therapies business. Former CEO David Dvorak left the company in July. Zimmer gained $6.95, or 6.1 percent, to

■ I am responding to the Sunday, Dec. 17, Sound Off regarding pets in stores. I work for a large box store in Crystal River. To all the negative humans coming into retail: I challenge all humans to come into our store happy, smiling, non-demanding, non-critical and in a hurry to go nowhere, whereas our pets are happy with smiles, hugs and happy to see all of us with none of the human negativity. Are you humans up for the challenge? I think not!

■ This is in reference to the call-in in Sound Off on Dec. 18, the person asking folks to lay off their service dog. It's about a Doberman in a store. The person says that if you were concerned about her dog or his dog being a service animal, you should just ask and they would have shown me the tags. My thought is, why don't people with service dogs show courtesy to the rest of us by having their dog's tags on them already? We shouldn't be responsible for asking people if their dogs are service dogs or not. It used to be you had to have them on. Now everybody just runs around and they claim they're service dogs. So you're really opening an opportunity for people to bring their pets in by not putting your tags on your dog.

■ I'm calling in response to the mental giant whose remarks were printed in the paper today about the Dobermans not being aggressive animals. Perhaps that is why everyone always uses to Chihuahuas as guard dogs. And it's also offensive for him or her to say that if we don't like it, we should stay

I just can't think of anything else other than it's offensive. Perhaps it's stupid also comes to mind. It's a store for human beings, not dogs. If his dog needs a recreational activity, perhaps he should take it for a

Thank you, Citrus County Schools, for sharing this amazing story with so many students. Hopefully the book will be in every classroom, shared and discussed.

Great book for a Christmas gift

I received a paperback book titled "The Divinity of Dogs" by Jennifer Shiff on the last Christmas day by a friend. It has been sitting unread since then in my bookcase. One day two weeks ago, I wanted some reading material and went to that shelf and picked it up.

It is filled with stories of miracles inspired by man's best friend. The stories are short, mostly two to four pages in length. It is a spiritual experience reading each story. Several people who wrote of their experiences with a dog and must have been touched by an angel.

You can feel what was in the animal's mind, and it hears your thoughts.

Dogs are now being used to help children read better by reading to the dog. A dementia-touched patient comes back into being their former self from a visit by a dog for an hour or so.

You grieve when your pet is in extreme pain and you must have it "put down." It is losing a family member.

The "Divinity of Dogs" is an experience you must read.

A wonderful Christmas memory

As an introduction, my wife and I were married in June 1957. Shortly after, I attended Tufts College for grad courses in chemistry, after which, my wife and I packed our belongings and headed to Danvers, a town north of Boston where I had been offered a job teaching chemistry.

At that time, Danvers had a population of 29,000; two elementary schools, a large junior high and a senior high school. This was a 1950s conservative community. In the high school, a large banner proclaimed the motto "Ladies And Gentlemen Always." Girls dressed properly and boys wore shirts and ties, jackets or sweaters.

During my first year at the high school, I became friendly with a number of teachers, one in particular - James Olds, whom everyone called "Cassie." He was older than I, a veteran of the Battle of the Bulge, World War II. One day during my second year, I was in the large cafeteria and noticed on the long tables were loads of packages, dolls, teddy bears, etc. I asked Cassie what was going on. He said that the students collected gifts for needy kids. The social worker, nurse and guidance staff determined who the recipients would be, their ages and sex. The students came after school and wrapped and tagged the gifts. This happened after Thanksgiving, and I didn't think much about it after that.

A few days before Christmas, Cassie's wife called and invited Bette and I to their house on the night before Christmas. During our feasting on pizza, Cassie asked me if I would like to help him. I said of course.

He went upstairs and he came down wearing a full Santa outfit with beard and a red coat, and a hat for me. He had three huge bags of toys. We loaded the car and started off before it got too

"Larry," he said, "all I want you to do is come with me with the bag I give you and I'll organizer, Female Veterans and do the rest."

At each house it was an emotional experience to me to see the laughter and joy, some tears and some open mouths and stares of disbelief as the presents were given out. I have never forgotten this wonderful experience. I continued doing this until I moved to another town and school.

James "Cassie" Olds, the most unforgettable person I have ever met. God bless you. May you rest in peace!

Female veteran gets much-needed help

"It is with great zeal that I say a huge thank you. So many things to do with getting myself back on track, with no car and friends who could not do enough, though they sure are trying. There came a time when I needed to reach out, as much as that would be a hard thing for me to do.

"Fortunately, I'm over 70 and a U.S. Army veteran. Unfortunately, I also have MS and my eyes have been compromised by ongoing surgeries to correct these issues. "I feel very lucky to have been able to work with several food banks and senior groups. And while reaching out was more than difficult, I'm so glad that I did. Because the resources my longtime friend Cynthia Henderson (of the Female Veterans Network) knew connected me with Kim Menster (Citrus County Veteran Service Officer) and Josh Langston-White (United Way) who had contacts that filled my home with a couch, recliner, table and chairs. A washer and drver was delivered and set up by Richard Floyd (Citrus County Veterans Coalition). They drove all over Brooksville and took it to my house and installed it, except for electric on the dryer. They had Tinsley electric connect the dryer and install a new plug. So she is ready to go and working. Some requests are harder than others, but they get them

"So, with a big shout-out to everyone who helped, much love and respect.

"A very appreciative female veteran.'

The moral of the story is if you're a veteran in need, there is no reason to be because there are many agencies willing and able to help.

Don't just pull out without looking

Stop pulling out in front of people. I was passing through Homosassa today and saw a car pull out in front and get hit.

It seems to be a common thing down here. About every accident I see on (U.S.) 19 has been where people pull out into traffic. I try driving the speed limit and I don't know how many times a day I have to stomp on my brakes to keep from hitting someone that just feels they can pull out into traffic whenever there's not enough space. So my guess is, with all the speeding we have in the area where people are going 20, 30 mph over the speed limit, that folks still pull out in front of them and there's just not enough time to stop. So take that extra 20 seconds or whatever it is and don't get yourself hurt.

And that there needs an explanation

Just finished reading today's Sound Off, Dec. 13. The person who called in about Ron Kitchen and Sugarmill Woods. I'd like to know what "and that there" means. This person used that same term six times in their Sound Off. I had to giggle. Again, I don't know what "and that there" means.

Please explain.

A chuckle for Christmas

Now in the Christmas season, I would like to repeat a little story which I heard many decades ago. After singing carols, the teacher passed out large papers to her first-grade class, telling them to draw their version of the manger scene. Later, when papers had been collected, the teacher was commenting on them. The paper of one little boy had the characters: Mary holding the Christ child; her husband, Joseph, the carpenter; the three Magi and a mule, but there was also a short, fat man. The teacher asked the little boy who that was. He smiled brightly and quickly said, "Why, that's Round John Virgin." Merry Christmas!

City hall location is simple issue

City hall should be at the mall. That's a pretty easy call. Makes more sense than any place else. It's got tons of room. It would be safe...

I Googled fog lights

Subject is fog lights. In today's paper (Dec. 14), I was accused of not knowing what fog lights are and told I shouldn't be driving if I don't know what fog lights are. Well, maybe the folks are right and I should look up on the internet where fog lights are. Fog lights are on the bumper area, the lower area of the car. One individual said fog lights are yellow. Well, not many of them, but some. If you look and Google fog lights, then you'll see most of them are white. And another item said they always point straight down. Actually, they do blind people and the one article on the internet actually was stating how they refer to people that drive around with them all the time as morons. I'm not saying they're morons; I'm just saying that they're not aware that fog lights do blind people.

Sterling said it will seem strange going inside an airconditioned storefront after so long on the side of the road with his trailer — no more battling bugs or hurriedly securing his stand from those sudden summer storms.

"When the sun set, the mosquitoes would come and there was no place to hide," Sterling joked.

Sterling said he closed his roadside stand Dec. 12 and is concentrating on moving into his new digs.

Wilburn and his family approached him about leasing at the new Stagecoach Square and he decided to give it a shot.

He's still awed by the turn of events and is a little nervous about how well he will do.

"I've never backed down on anything and I'm not going to back down on this," he said.

Meanwhile, Wilburn is seeking more tenants to fill up Stagecoach Square.

Man gets 28 years in plot to behead blogger

BOSTON - A Massachusetts man convicted of conspiring to behead a conservative blogger on behalf of the Islamic State group has been sentenced to 28 years in prison.

David Wright was convicted in October of plotting with his uncle and a Rhode Island man to kill New York resident Pamela Geller, who upset Muslims when she organized a Prophet Muhammad cartoon contest in Garland, Texas. The beheading plot was never carried out.

Wright insists he was living in a fantasy world and never really supported the Islamic State group. The 28-year-old's attorneys had asked for a 16-year sentence.

Feds look at whether train engineer was distracted

MICHAEL BALSAMO HAVEN DALEY Associated Press

DUPONT, Wash. — Investigators are looking into whether the Amtrak engineer whose speeding train plunged off an overpass, killing at least three people, was distracted by the presence of an employee-in-training next to him in the locomotive, a federal official said Tuesday.

The official, who was not authorized to discuss the matter publicly and spoke on condition of anonymity, said investigators want to know whether the engineer lost "situational awareness" because of the second person in the cab.

Jubilant Republicans

GOP on the verge of huge tax overhaul with one hiccup

STEPHEN OHLEMACHER MARCY GORDON Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Jubilant Republicans pushed on Tuesday to the verge of the most sweeping rewrite of the nation's tax laws in more than three decades, a deeply unpopular bill they insist Americans will learn to love when they see their paychecks in the new year. President Donald Trump cheered the lawmakers on, eager to claim his first major legislative victory.

Perhaps emblematic of the stumbles along the way, there was one last hiccup. Speaker Paul Ryan, who has worked years toward the goal of revamping the tax code, gleefully pounded the gavel on the final House vote, but then it turned out it wasn't final after all.

The Senate still expected to pass the legislation Tuesday night, but the plan to send it on to Trump for his signature had to be scrapped. Democrats noted that three provisions violated Senate rules and had to be removed. So the massive bill will be hauled back across the Capitol for the House to re-vote on Wednesday.

GOP House members roared and applauded as their chamber passed the $1.5 trillion package largely along party lines, 227-203. Ryan declared, "This was a promise made. This is a promise kept," as he and other GOP leaders convened a victory news conference moments later.

The Senate was still on track to approve the package that will touch every American taxpayer and every corner of the U.S. economy, providing steep tax cuts for businesses and the wealthy, and more modest help for middle- and low-income families. Despite Republican talk of spending discipline, the bill will push the huge national debt ever higher.

After the delay for a second House vote, the measure then heads to Trump who is aching for a win after 11 months of legislative failures and non-starters. The president tweeted his congratulations to GOP leaders and "all great House Republicans who voted in favor of cutting your taxes!"

Congressional Republicans have repeatedly argued the bill will spur economic growth as corporations, flush with cash, increase wages and hire more workers.

House Speaker Paul Ryan of Wisonsin leaves the House Chamber on Tuesday after voting on the Republican tax bill, on Capitol Hill in Washington. Republicans muscled the most sweeping rewrite of the nation's tax laws in more than three decades through the House.

But they acknowledge they have work to do in convincing everyday Americans. Many voters in surveys see the legislation as a boost to the wealthy, such as Trump and his family, and a minor gain at best for the middle class.

"I don't think we've done a good job messaging," said Rep. Greg Walden, R-Ore. "Now, you're able to look at the final Ryan was positive, even insistent. He declared, "Results are what's going to make this popular." Democrats called the bill a giveaway to corporations and the wealthy, with no likelihood that business owners will use their gains to hire more workers or raise wages. And they mocked the Republicans' contention that the bill will make taxes so simple that millions can file their returns "on a postcard" — an idea repeated often by the president.

"What happened to the postcard? We're going to have to carry around a billboard for tax simplification," declared Rep. Richard Neal of Massachusetts, the top Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee.

Tax cuts for corporations would be permanent while the cuts for individuals would expire in 2026 in order to comply with Senate budget rules. The tax cuts would take effect in January, and workers would start to see changes in the amount of taxes withheld from their paychecks in

A year ago, it was the Hurricanes who had claimed the county title with a fourpoint advantage over the Panthers. But that's just how it goes in this county, according to Lecanto head coach Bob Le-Cours, where the level of competition and talent continues to trend high.

"It was close," LeCours said of the meet. "We've been battling Citrus for 14 years. It's always been tight. But overall, we had a lot of scrappy performances by a lot of first-year lifters. And I think when push came to shove today, the girls responded.'

Lecanto's Kayla Dawes both benchpressed and clean-and-jerked 85 pounds to win the 101-weight class with a total of 170 pounds. Citrus' Jalena Alexander took second at 101 with a total of 150.

CRYSTAL RIVER — Following through on a promise she made three years ago, Emily Hooper broke Crystal River's individual career goals record with her 128th during an 8-0 rout of Belleview on Tuesday.

It took the senior midfielder 43 seconds to tie the mark set by Pirates alum Nicole McPhee in 2011, with Hooper's record-breaking kick coming with 27:27 left in the first half. At that point, the Pirates were already up 4-0, adding four more goals to end the game by mercy rule at halftime.

After 63 games and more than 3,000 minutes played, the moment was a fulfilling one for Hooper, early on this season over her limited performance. in fifth place.

After breaking the single-season goals record also set by McPhee — in her sophomore year with 46, breaking the career record was more challenging than Hooper expected. After missing about half the season with medical issues and struggling ini-

"It's been kind of a rough season and I honestly didn't think I was going to be able to do it at the beginning of the season because of how I was feeling. But honestly, my teammates have been so supportive in everything that I do and without them, I wouldn't have gotten any of my records," Hooper remarked.

Head coach Bill Reyes reflected on how Hooper approached him as a 14-year-old freshman, telling him she was going to break McPhee's record. He ${\bf BOCA~RATON-Lane~Kiffin}$ ended his first Florida Atlantic season with a flourish, with Devin Singletary running for 124 yards and three touchdowns as the Owls rolled past Akron 50-3 in the Boca Raton Bowl on Tuesday night.

Singletary finished with 32 touchdowns this season for the Owls (11-3), who ended the year on a 10-game winning streak and matched the school record for wins in a season — set during the team's run to the Division I-AA semifinals in 2003.

Jeff Driskel threw for 270 yards and two touchdowns, plus ran for two more scores for FAU.

The Owls had a massive turnaround in Kiffin's first year and may have an even brighter future. Earlier Tuesday, a person with knowledge of the negotiations told The Associated Press that FAU and Kiffin have agreed to extend his contract six more years through 2027.

With the Pirates looking at effort it would require, an average of five more matches before the district playoffs, there's no telling where Hooper will end up in the goals column, or where her team will be.

Hooper continues to stay focused on team success rather than herself, praising her newer teammates for their quick progression and improved play. She said she's excited to see where the team goes.

It's that attitude of team first that Reyes respects in Hooper, saying the player is never concerned with accolades.

Bryan Harsin, whose Broncos beat Oregon in the Las Vegas Bowl on Saturday.

Alabama's Nick Saban expressed his frustration with the early signing period, saying, "I have not talked to a coach that's happy with it.'

Still, there are coaches who have embraced it.

Clemson's Dabo Swinney said he liked the early signing period and noted it allows prospects who made their college choices months ago to finalize their decisions.

'Most of our guys are committed, and I think it allows everybody the chance to kind of move on," Swinney said. Here are some things to watch this week during the early signing period.

HOW MANY WILL SIGN?

Because this early signing period is a new thing, nobody knows for sure how many seniors will capitalize on it. Farrell believes about 70 percent of senior prospects will sign this week.

PROSPECTS TO WATCH

At least eight uncommitted top-25 prospects from the 247Sports Composite are expected to sign this week. The list includes defensive ends Micah Parsons, Eyabi Anoma, K.J. Henry and Brenton Cox, offensive tackles Jackson Carman and Cade Mays, offensive guard Jamaree Salyer and receiver Terrace Marshall.

BIG WEEK FOR CLEMSON

The defending national champions already have verbal commitments from two of the nation's top three overall prospects in quarterback Trevor Lawrence and defensive end Xavier Thomas. They're also in play for Salyer, Carman, Mays and Henry among others. "They could potentially have five of the top 10, six of the top 16 players in the country," said Barton Simmons, the director of scouting for 247Sports.

ALABAMA'S CONCERNS

Alabama has topped the 247Sports Composite team recruiting ranking seven straight years but could have a tough time making it eight in a row. Alabama is ranked seventh and should move up this week, but the early signing period could make it difficult for the Crimson Tide to produce its typical February rush with fewer top prospects available at that point.

SWITCHING SCHOOLS As the early signing period approaches, about 50 recruits have withdrawn their verbal commitments over the past week. Farrell says that in many cases, those decisions are being made by the school rather than the prospect. "When coaches aren't commenting on prospects, a decommitment can look like a kid's decision, but we all know those can be mutual, it can be a kid saying that I don't want to go to that school or it could be coaches saying you don't have a spot here," Farrell said. "There's been a lot more decommitments than we've ever had to deal with at this time of year."

Meaningful golf moments

Best shots, and personal favorite, of major champs

DOUG FERGUSON AP golf writer

Jordan Spieth won the British Open with a flourish at the end. Justin Thomas hit 7-iron that had to be perfect for him to seal his first major at the PGA Championship.

Both wonder if they would have been in position to win on Sunday if not for key shots earlier in the week.

It's like that just about every year. There is a signature shot from a major, the one that gets replayed more than the others. And there is another shot — or one moment, as was the case for Masters champion Sergio Garcia — that is just as meaningful to them.

MASTERS

For all the Sunday drama at Augusta National, Sergio Garcia made only one birdie on the back nine in regulation. The signature shot of this Masters, however, led to eagle. After smashing a drive on the par-5 15th, Garcia hit 8-iron that nicked the pin and set up a 15-foot eagle putt to tie Justin Rose for the lead.

"One of the best shots I hit all week," Garcia said.

Just as meaningful to him was the 15th club in his bag — the space between his

Garcia had every reason to believe this major would turn out like so many others when he began the back nine with two bogeys to fall two shots behind, and then watched his tee shot on the 13th bounce off a tree into the hazard.

"Funny enough, most other weeks I would have been thinking, 'Here we go. What's going on?" Garcia said.

Instead, he was determined to make par. After a drop, he hit a baby hook with the 9-iron down the fairway and was in position from 89 yards to save par.

"The most important thing was that I felt calm throughout the whole thing," he said. "That calmness gave me confidence. I was like, 'It's OK. You're doing everything right. You're playing great. It's your time."

And it was.

U.S. OPEN

Brooks Koepka pulled away at Erin Hills with four straight one-putts — a par save on the 13th and three birdies. The clinching moment was his birdie on the par-3 16th, where his 9-iron came back to watching on television or anyone else.

Justin Thomas hits from the bunker on the 18th hole Aug. 13 during the final round of the PGA Championship at the Quail Hollow Club, in Charlotte, N.C. Thomas won his first major with key shots at the start and finish of the tournament.

the front section of the green for a putt that allowed him to go four shots ahead.

"We thought it might be up top, and it was a relief to see it at the bottom and have a putt at it," Koepka said. "I just remember saying, 'Get it there.' I started it on line, and I was looking at it with disbelief that it's going in. In my mind, you are in complete control at that point. The only thing you can do from here is mess it up.

Koepka knew he was in control a few holes earlier, a shot that he recalled without any hesitation.

'The tee shot on the par 5, No. 14," he said. "We could hit 3-wood and get to the bunker, but driver was no good because we couldn't carry it or we had a 20-yard fairway. We actually had to cut this 3-wood up into the wind. We had to take a lot off it. It only wound up 4 yards short of the bunker. We were walking up and I said, 'I think we can go for that par 5 in two."

He put it in the greenside bunker and got up-and-down for birdie.

That's probably a moment a normal person wouldn't think anything of it," he

BRITISH OPEN

Jordan Spieth saw his 50-foot eagle putt that gave him the lead for good at Royal Birkdale differently than anyone

"I knew it was going to bend a little bit to the right as it went down off the slope to the bunker," he said. "And then when it gets to the valley, the hole is on a 3-degree slope going the other way, into and off the right. So it's going to be a downhill left-to-right, and then it double breaks into uphill right-to-left.'

Got that? "Go get that," he told caddie Michael Greller after making the putt.

"I like those putts," he said. "They become total feel. That's what I needed at that point in time, to get the technicality out of it.'

The finish is famous. Overlooked was a shot in the second round that Spieth felt kept him from a mini-meltdown. Right when the rain started pounding, Spieth drove into a pot bunker on No. 10. punched out and then hit his third shot long and to the right. Facing bogey or worse, he chipped in for par.

"I hit a beautiful chip that went in that kept momentum going in the worst of the weather that we experienced that week,' Spieth said. "That chip shot was massive at that point because I was faltering. I could have made bogey or double easy."

PGA CHAMPIONSHIP

Justin Thomas said his stock 7-iron goes 190 yards. He had 199 yards to clear the water on the par-3 17th at Quail

He went with 7-iron.

"I know it's not what I would usually hit." Thomas said. "But it was a situation where I did not want to ease off something. My adrenaline was going so much, I was hitting it well and I could turn it toward the pin. I made a perfect swing."

The ball landed on the front of the green and set up a birdie putt that sent him to the final hole with a three-shot

Much like Spieth, however, Thomas recalled a short-game shot earlier in the tournament that could have turned his fortunes. It was Thursday morning. He started on the back nine and was 2 over with three holes left, starting with the par-5 seventh. That's a birdie hole if he can get it into the fairway. He hit into the water and made bogey.

Then, he flew the green on No. 8, and suddenly an opening-round 75 was a real possibility.

"I could not have been in a worse place," Thomas said. "I was 7 yards over the green on a down slope. And now I have a chip that I have to get up-anddown or I'm 4 over and it just changes everything. Now I go into Friday grinding to make the cut.

'I hit one of the most ridiculous flop shots I've ever hit.'

He birdied the ninth for a 73, shot 66 the next day and was on his way.

JULIE GORHAM/Chronicle

From left: Joe Melito asks 10th-grader Joshua Connell about his design on a '70s model Dodge Challenger on Tuesday, Dec. 12, in the drafting program at Citrus High School. The school is actively looking for a drafting professional to come direct the class, starting in January. The class has been taught by a long-term substitute since the start of the school year. One positive thing about the class, Melito says, is that it is a self-funding program because as students gain their international certification, the school receives funds.

Citrus High School needs new director to continue school's program

JULIE GORHAM Staff writer

cross Citrus County and the nation, schools have been dealing with a shortage of teachers—simply put, not enough college graduates are entering the teaching field.

One difficult-to-fill opening at Citrus High School, however, is for an entirely different reason — subject matter expertise.

"Right now, we need someone to come in and take over our drafting program at Citrus High School," said Assistant Principal Philip McLeod. "They need either a four-year degree with two years drafting experience, or if they don't have a degree, they would need six years drafting experience.'

The job has been open since August and many people have applied, but none have fit the criteria, he said.

This person must love drafting while teaching students; plus, they can build the program to personal interests within state standards.

For the past two years, Joe Melito directed the program, but since he moved to a position in the media center, a longterm substitute has run the class

15 years, but he developed it to what it is now — every student can earn their international drafting certificate,' Melito said. "He came from a mechanical engineering background and loved aviation, with a passion for building model RC airplanes."

So, during Lindsey's 15 years, students focused on drafting and designing airplanes. But, Melito had a love for architecture, so he molded the program to his interests.

Many students recognize the class prepares them for the future, according to Melito.

"Most of our students can take an exam for certification through the American Design Drafting Association, and many go on to engineering or even into the military," Melito said.

Students begin preparing for their certification right away in Drafting I. They spend their first nine weeks drawing with pencils, and then once the task is complete, they move on to state-ofthe-art three-dimensional (3D) mechanical design software.

"We use pretty professional programs like Autodesk, AutoCAD, AutoCAD Architecture and Autodesk Revit," Melito elito noted that drafting being a "Howard Lindsey ran the program for specialty subject, there isn't much work for an instructor to take home.

"Typically, you don't grade work at home; you have the time to do it in the day," Melito said. "You can take stuff home, but only because of your interest in making the program better, thinking of ways to enhance it."

Right now, the school needs someone with an engineering background but who may be semi-retired and wants to share their knowledge with younger generations. And, they need someone by the start of the new year.

"Our substitute is leaving us after Christmas break, so we are desperately looking to fill this position," Melito said. "We have one of the larger groups of the students this year with talent, and we need someone to guide them.

Those interested in the position may access the job applications by going to www.citrus.k12.fl.us, then Employment. and then Job Posting and Complete an

Mini Fact:

Reindeer are strong and work well together as a team. Northern peoples use reindeer to pull sleighs.

It's fun to share stories and legends about animals during the winter holidays. For example, one legend from Europe is that at midnight, as Christmas Eve turns into Christmas Day, animals can speak for one hour. However, animals may not choose to speak to people. And the legend warns that people might not always want to hear what the animals have to say!

The Mini Page looks at some of the real animals that we think of during the winter holiday season.

Reindeer

According to legend, Santa delivers kids' presents from a sleigh pulled by nine reindeer.

Reindeer are the same species, or type, of animal as caribou (KAR-uh-boo). They live in northern Europe, Asia and North America.

Reindeer have long fur with hollow hairs in the outer layer. These hairs trap air to keep them warm.

When food is scarce, they can get by with less food. In winter they eat lichen (LIE-kun), a plantlike organism that resembles moss. It may be the only thing to eat under the snow.

Reindeer's strong legs and large, wide hooves help them stay on top of the snow. Their hooves help them dig through snow to find food. They have long hair on their feet to help them get more traction on the snow.

Donkey

Donkeys are smaller cousins of the horse.

They are slower than horses.

Donkeys are known for their endurance rather than their speed. They can carry heavy loads for long distances. They are able to travel easily over rocky land. They also do well in dry climates.

Eco Note

Living things are suited to their environment. This is called adaptation. For instance, although jackrabbits and Arctic hares belong to the same group of mammals, they have adapted to live in very different places. Jackrabbits are suited to a hot, dry climate and would not survive in the Arctic. Arctic hares thrive in the frozen tundra and could not survive in a desert. Within any species, individuals that are well-suited to their environment are more likely to survive long enough to

2017 Red Ribbon Essay winners honored

Special to the Chronicle

The Citrus County Board of County Commissioners acknowledged and congratulated the Citrus County Anti-Drug Coalition 2017 Red Ribbon Winners at their regular Nov. 14 meeting. The winners of the annual essay contest are as follows:

The goal of Red Ribbon Week, National Bullying Prevention Month, Unity Day, the Board of Commissioners, Street Team Citrus and the Anti-Drug Coalition of Citrus County is to involve families, schools, businesses, churches, law enforcement agencies and service organizations in all aspects of the campaign and establish an atmosphere that supports awareness, education, and ongoing initiatives to prevent illegal drug use and bullying.

Wildlife park to focus on whooping cranes today

Susan Strawbridge
Park services specialist

Whooping cranes will be highlighted during the month of December at Ellie Schiller Homosassa Springs Wildlife State Park.

The park is currently home to a pair of whooping cranes, Peepers and Levi, who live in a natural habitat with a pond surrounded by grassy banks.

Wanda Easton from Tampa will present an Operation Migration program at 1 p.m. today, Dec. 20, in the Florida Room at the park's Visitor Center on U.S. 19 in Homosassa Springs. She will discuss Operation Migration and their partnership with several government and nonprofit organizations to form the Whooping Crane Eastern Partnership (WCEP).

Under the WCEP umbrella, these organizations work together to safeguard the rarest crane in the world.

Easton has been a supporter of Operation Migration for many years and has worked with whooping cranes as a docent at Tampa's Lowry Park Zoo.

The Endangered Whooping Cranes

The magnificent whooping crane (grus Americana) is North America's tallest bird measuring 52 inches tall with a wingspan of 87 inches, and a weight of 12.8 pounds. They can live 20 to 25 years in the wild

The whooping crane is considerably larger than the more common Sandhill crane. Its distinctive white plumage is accented with black primaries, a bright red crown, and a heavy, dull yellow-colored bill. Juveniles are white with a rusty red head and neck and have rusty red feathers over the rest of their bodies.

Whooping cranes are also one of the most endangered birds in North America. In 1941, only 15 individual cranes remained on the Texas coast, but through conservation and management programs this flock has slowly increased to over 150 individuals.

American ornithologist and environmentalist Robert Porter Allen achieved worldwide attention for his rescue operations of the whooping crane in the 1940s and 1950s. Public education along with management and protection programs are resulting in increasing populations in Idaho and in Florida.

Whooping cranes perform elaborate displays to attract mates. Both males and females jump up and down, bobbing their heads, flapping their wings and calling loudly.

They are also excellent flyers, using wind and thermal gusts. If they catch a strong gust of wind, they can glide on it for a distance without flapping their wings.

Their song is a piercing trumpet-like ker-loo ker-lee-loo. It can be heard for more than 2 miles.

This volume is possible as a result of a 5-foot-long trachea coiled within the keel of the breast bone.

The whooping crane's diet consists of fish, frogs, small mammals, mollusks, crustaceans, corn, other grains, as well as, roots of water plants. These birds favor marshy habitats and travel in family

Nearly three weeks ago, I reviewed a new book by Danny Roth, a Londoner. Hard on the heels of that comes another book of the same type but with a different publisher: "Outsmart the Bridge Experts" (HNB).

Roth sets 60 declarer-play and defense problems where he believes that the original writer's analysis was inaccurate. I usually agreed with him, but not totally in defense? East could not open one notrump, because it would have shown 14-16 points. South made a normal pre-emptive jump overcall promising little more than a respectable seven-card suit. No one else had a reason to compete.

Roth, probably correctly, suggests that this is a constructed deal. If the defense begins with three rounds of diamonds, declarer ruffs and ought to draw two rounds of trumps. (Roth recommends immediately ruffing losers in hand.) Then, when South sees the 4-1 break, he plays a club to dummy and ruffs a diamond. (If East trumps in, declarer discards his spade loser.) South continues with a club to dummy, a club ruff, a spade to dummy and the last club. If East pitches his final spade, declarer ruffs and loses the last two tricks to East's trumps.

The best — and winning — defense is for East to overtake at trick one (or trick two) and to shift to anything. Roth recommends a trump, but I think the spade king is preferable to remove one of dummy's entries before declarer starts ruffing in his hand.

ear Annie: I have a loving daughter, and I respect her husband greatly. I have visited from across the country countless times. I am 84, and they have two grown children. Everyone is happy when we are together. The only issue as far as I'm concerned is that the hubby, although generous and kind, is overly domineering, bordering on being a tyrant, and a nut about managing things, eispley electronics. On a recent visit of mine, my

DEAR ANNIE

daughter mentioned that he had installed cameras in several places in their house because I was there. It was supposedly so he can see the entryways to their home from his cellphone for security purposes. He installed them, however, so that he can both see and hear virtually everything that goes on in their house. He has even called her from his office a few times to say, "What room are you in? I can't see you." She is about the most hardworking and honest and kindest woman a man could ever expect. He is a successful and important provider. They have never had any marital conflict about cheating or anything. She has no way of knowing whether his snooping gadgets are on or off.

She says that it's his thing and that there's no use in fighting about it. However, it disgusts me, and I don't think I will be able to visit their home again if I'm being monitored. It's not moral or proper. It's an invasion of privacy.

Should I mention this to him or just stop going there? He would probably be grossly offended, seeing as he is allegedly "the master of the house." Not seeing them would be devastating to me because my daughter is my closest living relative and I love her dearly. We have never had a real argument since the day she was born. —

Loving Gramps Needs Advice Dear Loving Gramps: I agree with you that all that surveillance seems a bit creepy. If this is part of a larger pattern of controlling behavior, it could indicate emotional abuse. (Call the National Domestic Violence Hotline, at 800-799-7233, for guidance.) But unless and until your daughter comes to you with such concerns, there's not much you can do. Why not invite them over to your house rather than create a conflict in their marriage where there may be none? Dear Annie: I have two grandsons in the military, and I am very proud of them. Each Christmas, I send each a card and a nice check. One I hear from as soon as he opens his mail, but I don't hear at all from the other. The first year, I reminded the parents several times before I received a very nice thank-you letter. This past year, I said nothing and received no thank-you. This year, I want to cut him off (to get his attention) and then give him another chance next year. What advice would you offer me in this situation? —

Wisconsin Grandpa Dear Wisconsin Grandpa: You shouldn't have to jump through hoops trying to train your grandchildren to write thank-you notes. This year, do only as much as you feel inclined to do. Perhaps send a card, but no check, so he knows you're thinking of him and you're not thinking of him

To the grandchildren reading this, let this be a reminder of just how much a simple thank-vou note means.

Send your questions for Annie Lane to dearannie@ creators.com.

The Department will issue the permit with the attached conditions unless a timely pe tition for an administrative hearing is filed under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, within fourteen days of receipt of notice. The procedures for petitioning for a hearing are set forth below.

A person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department's proposed permitting decision may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. The petition must contain the information set forth below and must be filed (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000.

Under Rule 62-110.106(4), Florida Administrative Code, a person may request an extension of the time for filing a petition for an administrative hearing. The request must be filled (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel before the end of the time period for filing a petition for an administrative hearing.

Petitions filed by any persons other than those entitled to written notice under Section 120.60(3), Florida Statutes, must be filed within fourteen days of publication of the notice or within fourteen days of receipt of the written notice, whichever occurs first. Section 120.60(3), Florida Statutes, however, also allows that any person who has asked the Department in writing for notice of agency action may file a petition within fourteen days of receipt of such notice, regardless of the date of publication.

The petitioner shall mail a copy of the petition to the applicant at the address indi-Ine peritioner snall mail a copy of the perition to the applicant or the address indicated above at the time of filling. The failure of any person to fille a petition or request for an extension of time within fourteen days of receipt of notice shall constitute a waiver of that person's right to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. Any subsequent intervention (in a proceeding initiated by another party) will be only at the discretion of the presiding officer upon the filling of a motion in compliance with Rule 28- 106.205, Florida Administrative Code.

A petition that disputes the material facts on which the Department's action is based must contain the following information, as indicated in Rule 28-106.201, Florida Administrative Code:
